TALES FROM ALIBI IKE
Well, we hit two out of three. That's better than Spurrer during the first quarter of the Orange Bowl the other night. We picked John Alexander and Joe Baker. . . We missed on the school board race. We said Evans. . . it was Wharton.

On March 7 of last year a Sanford resident and his son were killed in an auto crash. A $600,000 suit was issued against the city and the pre-trial conference is scheduled for Jan. 10. . . Case probably will come to court in February. . . No overtures for an out-of-court settlement as yet.

A CONVERSATION WITH JOHN ALEXANDER, COUNTY COMMISSION CHAIRMAN—
REPORTER—Can I see that space allocation survey?
ALEXANDER—Not until next Tuesday.

REPORTER—What are the cost estimates for the new courthouse?
ALEXANDER—You'll find out next Tuesday.

It wasn't long ago that a county commissioner said re-alignment of Sand Lake Road wouldn't cost the county anything. "We've got the manpower," he told residents of the area. . . Thus far $8,500 has been appropriated for the project and the people were told yesterday that the bulldozer will be in by the time you read this paragraph.

How did you all make out with your Christmas bonuses? Well, if you were a nurse or aide at the hospital you got a $3 gift certificate.

Memo from the Jaycees — Distinguished service award nominations close next week. . . You can vote for any guy or lass between the ages of 21-25. . . They don't have to be a Jaycee. . . Just as long as they have done something for the community. . . Check with the Jaycee Information Bldg. on French Ave. for more details.

Oh, yes, Jaycee week starts the 15th with the banquet Jan. 21. . . Tom Adams will be here.

During Christmas week a family in Osteen was burned out. . . Well, not many people know it but the local police brought out a truck load of goods and some loot for the family.

Seminole Community Action has borrowed some $2,500 from a local bank to pay off some of their debts.

"Action" is having internal problems as well. . . Secretary Helen Gleason (she was named Head Start director a few weeks ago) is quitting this week.

AND we're still waiting for the directors to meet to legalize their last election.

Thought while sitting out the Big Doings in the state capital: Seminole is well represented in the legislature—experience: Mack Cleveland, long time service in the halls of the capitol (both House and Senate). . . Bill Reedy, well regarded, extensive Tallahassee experience. . . Tom McDonald, Sanford City Commission experience, but a neophyte in state circles, a worker, dedicated, eager to make a good record. . . Others not so intimately associated with us, but eager to make a good go of the new appointment. . . Dan Wright in the Treasurer's office still ought to think kindly of us after all, Seminole has treated him well. . . Willard Peebles presence on the Road Commission gives us a friend in that court — and brother, do we NEED it?!! . . . Just gotta get out "arteries of traffic" in phase to handle the load. . . And that historic relic, Osteen Bridge? Yipee! PLEEEZE, Osteen Department, QUICK!!! . . .

Baker Promises To Push NAS Industrial Potential

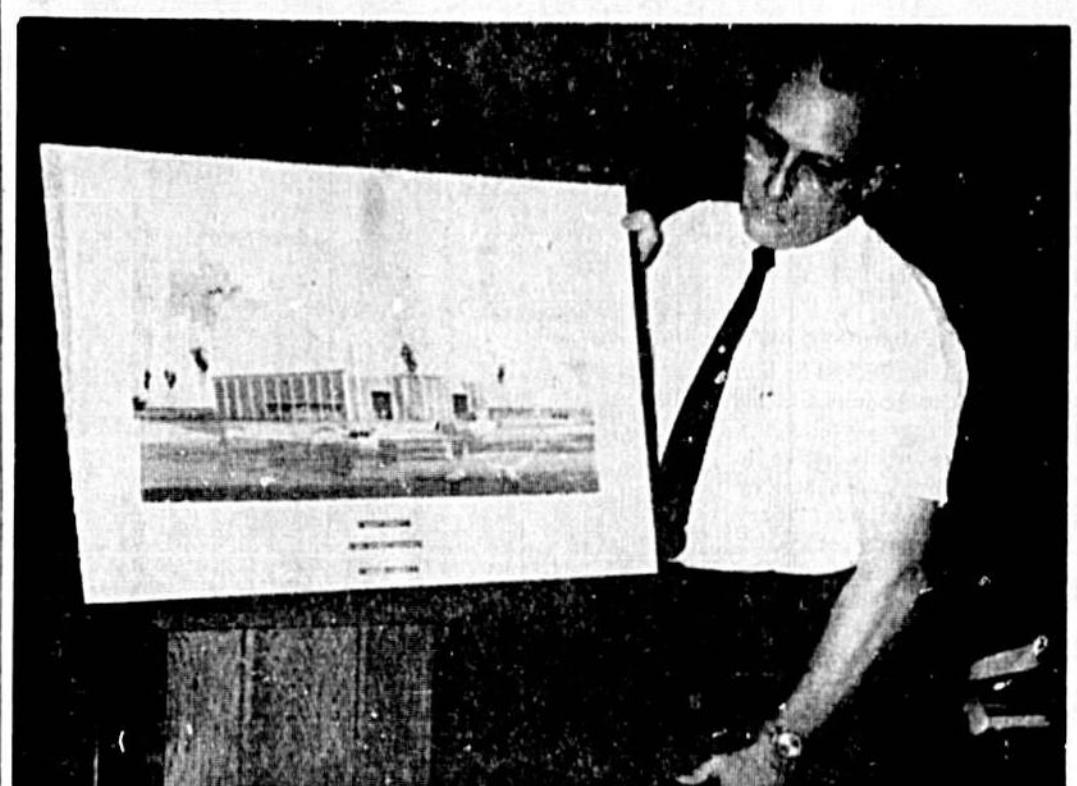

Newly elected Sanford Mayor Joe Baker today promised to work toward the ultimate "industrial potential" of the Sanford Naval Air Station as his key project of the year.

Baker, elected at the city's reorganizational meeting last night emphasized "this is the outstanding project of the year and we plan to work with the proper committees to realize this goal."

The new mayor, who will serve his second term as Sanford's head of state, was mayor in 1961 and has been on the board since 1959.

Ask Dismissal Of Courthouse Suit

Motion has been filed in the Circuit Court by Harold Johnson, an attorney for the county, asking dismissal of the injunction action brought against the county to prohibit further expenditures for the new courthouse.

A. K. SHOEMAKER JR. presents rendering of the dry storage building to the commission. (Herald Photo)

The motion charges the "Honorable Court lacks jurisdiction over the Defendants (the County Commission) in that the Courts have no power to invade the administrative duties of public officials in the absence of a showing of fraud, gross abuse or bad faith." The motion further charges Plaintiff's (Robert Tucker, W. T. Pratt Jr. and James F. Latner) complaint contains no such facts.

Motion to dismiss was predicated on the grounds the complaint "fails to allege clearly and definitely every fact necessary for the relief sought."

It declares the complaint "fails to allege ultimate facts and merely alleges conclusions and opinions and fails to allege the plaintiffs are sustaining or will sustain any special or irreparable damage or any harm different in kind from the community at large."

Hearing to assign a judge to preside at the court trial is scheduled for 2:45 Friday afternoon before Judge Vassar Carlton.

Farm Bureau Mum On Agent Need

Recommendation as to whether Seminole County should continue with a home economics agent will be presented to the County Commission next Tuesday by the Seminole County Farm Bureau, it was reported today by President W. W. Tyre.

Commissioners requested the recommendation from the Farm Bureau following the retirement of Miss Myrtle Wilson.

Tyre said today a Farm Bureau extension committee is studying the need for an agent but will make known its recommendation Tuesday to the County Commission.

Miss Helen Holstein, district director of home economics agents at the University of Florida, Gainesville, informed The Herald today that 10 Florida counties do not have home economics agents. She added 50 counties do have agents and one is served by an Indian agent.

Miss Holstein and Dr. Betty Jean Brannan, assistant director of the home economics program, U of F, today denied reports that Miss Wilson had been "forced to retire" by the federal government. They said Miss Wilson accepted a federal proposal to retire as of Dec. 31 in order to receive a pension implemented with a cost-of-living bonus.

Miss Holstein also stated she was "not acquainted with the number of home economics agents in the State" (Extension agents' salaries are shared by county, state and federal governments.)

Lormann Set
A. R. Lormann will assume the office of Mayor of the City of Longwood at the reorganizational meeting of the City Council to be held at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Lormann was elected to the office in December. He had previously served as Mayor from 1958 to 1964.

S. J. Davis Jr. will speak on Constitutional Revision at the meeting of the Seminole Women's Club to take place at 8 p.m. today at the Health Center on French Avenue.

Davis served, over the past several months, on the constitution revision committee of the Legislature.

City Gives Tentative OK To Rendering Of Boat Storage Facility

The City Commission gave tentative approval to the Monroe Harbour rendering of the proposed $100,000 dry storage building at the lakefront project.

The rendering was submitted by Contractor A. K. Shoemaker Jr. representing Harold Slama of Harbour Inc. shows the construction will be of masonry, 32 feet high and 110 by 170 feet.

"It looks mighty impressive," said Commissioner V. W. Roberts.

Construction of the facility, which will be used to store boats, is expected to start in late spring.

Completion of the building is expected by the first of February after which city crews will move in to begin laying sewer and water lines while utility companies will be putting down electric, telephone and gas lines.

Buildings will be constructed, parking lots will be laid out and the entire area will be landscaped.

After April 1, dredging will begin for construction of the temporary breakwater to the east of the landfill area, which is intended to break the action of wind and waves and form a protective barrier against hurricanes and storms. Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission regulations forbid any dredging during the shad season.

No firm word has yet been received on beginning construction date for the Holiday Inn Motel complex.

Authorized Supt. R. T. Milwee to proceed with negotiations for possible acquisition of the Wright grocery building to be used, if purchased, for storage, thus releasing more space at the Little Red School House for the "exceptional child program" there.

The program, to be entirely financed by the federal government, will be submitted to the governor's office for acceptance or rejection.

Milwee stated, "There is no chance of participating in a year-around program at this time."

Wharton Re-Elected Chairman

Mason Wharton was re-elected chairman of the School Board at the reorganizational meeting Tuesday evening.

John Evans was elected vice chairman and Mrs. Jean Bryant, the first woman to serve on the board in the history of the county, was seated as a member replacing Dr. A. W. Epps Jr., who had not sought re-election to the post.

A. F. Keeth, recently elected Republican member of the board, was in Tallahassee attending the inauguration of Gov. Claude Kirk and was not present for the meeting.

Both Wharton and Evans have served four years on the board and Wharton is beginning his third year as chairman.

Wharton stated his appreciation on being re-elected and predicted the "next two years will be the most difficult in the history of the schools in Seminole County with many changes."

Accepted the bid of Photo-San Company for audio-visual equipment for the Junior College under the federal NDEA program for two disc players at $195.00 each; two overhead projectors, $115.00 each; two film strip projectors, $97.50 each; two slide projectors, $135.00 each; five projection screens, $47.50 each and two motion picture projectors, $50 each.

No firm word has yet been received on beginning construction date for the Holiday Inn Motel complex.

Big Job Ahead

Now that Joe Baker has taken over the leadership of the City Commission as mayor we wish him well. Joe is a successful businessman and well qualified because of his popularity and personality to assume a leadership in matters of public policy. It will be Joe's responsibility to push for major improvements at the zoo, the Lakewood Development program and annexation. These improvements are a "must" for the growth of Sanford. The mayor, it should be explained, usually is chosen by rotation from among the five member board and is "the front man" for the city appearing frequently as spokesman at public ceremonies.

His leadership, his ability in public relations, his grasp of civic matters can make the mission of the City Commission smoother by selling the program to the people. The job is exacting... demanding... Frankly we are glad the job isn't ours... and we join the entire city in wishing Baker a pleasant and successful year.

Have I Made Myself Clear?

Words — they're wonderful. Used by experts, they can come out so simply, so clearly, so articulately that their meaning is unmistakable. Used by others just as expert, they can be so vague, so obtuse, so circuitous that they successfully fuz up whatever meaning the speaker who straight and hard, no punches pulled, when he said: "Although specific measures can help achieve these results, the most fruitful approach would seem to be to shift the mix of policy so as to permit some easing of monetary policy." How's that for a stunner? Here was something the man on the street could dig. But just in case he couldn't, the wire service carrying the story added: "When government officials talk about shifting the mix of policy, they generally mean either raising taxes, cutting federal spending or both. Sources close to Fowler cautioned against reading more into his words than an assertion that the current slowdown in the economy does not rule out a tax increase." When a speaker has expressed himself so ably that it takes an editorial footnote to give you a clue to what he said, and his buddies have to warn you not to even try to understand it—well, this guy has hit the obfuscatory jackpot. Now, let's see. "Obfuscatory" means...

Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the exception of Vietnam, the Johnson administration is generally optimistic about America's foreign relations in the new year. Washington policymakers hope for notable progress in the negotiations with the Soviets for a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons. They figure the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has survived the initial shock of its military divorce from France and from its new location in Belgium, will reshape its policies to meet new realities. They expect that the years of the Kennedy Round tariff talks will wind up in mid-1967 in agreement on a significant reduction of trade barriers. They find the Latin American scene so heartening that President Johnson plans to journey to Uruguay for a summit meeting in mid-April.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. is predicting by what year the Reds will be quelled. Very cautiously, Lodge forecasts enough headway on the military, political, economic and pacification programs in South Vietnam during 1967 to see "light at the end of the tunnel." In the meantime U.S. strategists admit an ever-present danger that the impact of the war could spread, despite their attempts to localize it. The Soviets are far more likely to put East-West deals in deep freeze while the United States is fighting a Communist campaign, even if Moscow stays out of direct involvement in the shooting. Washington's foreign policy promises to go on far beyond this year. Neither the U.S. military commander there, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, nor the top civilian, Ambassador

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NBA) — Some sources who know members of President Johnson's White House staff insist that these days it is not a "happy ship."

They believe the resignation of top aide Bill D. Moyers focuses fresh attention on the problem, even though they do not question the legitimacy of the personal-financial reasons he gave for his impending departure.

Moyers is said to have been the center of White House infighting from time to time. So, of course, is Myron Watson, the President's appointments secretary and political helper. Internal staff descriptions of just another aide, Joseph Califano, sometimes include the word "rattlesnake."

The President does not seem to have been as successful as he was earlier in his term at giving some of his aides the kind of direct line to his which provides satisfaction rich enough to blur intra-staff differences.

When the open line exists, each man thus privileged feels he has a special niche in the President's sphere and tends to fret less over the competing activities of the others.

Moyers' resignation raises other major points. Since he is the last of the original Johnson men to go, it has a painful air of finality about it. Without his wide-ranging and often imaginative servicing, the President is left largely in the hands of "achiever" technicians with a low quotient of creative ideas.

Those who know staff people assert that it is not enough to argue that turnover at the White House is healthy and normal and every president has

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE B-526: Pauline P., age 17, is the high schooler who wanted to elope. But I coaxed her into rating herself and also her boyfriend on the "Bating Scale for Sweethearts." He rated "Very Poor."

This famous test was developed by confidential interviews with over 1,100 couples who were planning to get married. "What do you admire most in your boy friend?" I would ask the girl.

"Why do you love him? Why does he please you and make you want to get married?" Then the girl would state the good points in her fiancé. After jotting down her specific reasons, I then reversed my query.

"Is there anything about him," I began, "which you don't like?"

"For example, if you could change him without arousing his anger, would you eliminate any of his traits that may now irritate you?"

Whereupon the girl would usually mention several items that she disliked in him.

Then I'd take the second girl and ask her the same questions.

Obviously, many of the good points (traits) often were repeated, as were the bad traits or demerits.

And I also boiled down the thousands of criticisms to the 50 most common demerits. Some of these were trivial, whereas others were very important, so I "weighted" the more crucial items by giving them five points or even 10 points credit.

Remember, too, that each girl was asked about her specific boy friend whom she was engaged to marry and not about boys in general. And the same was true when later quizzes at each engaged male about the girl he had picked for his wife.

The girls listed as demerits such items as the following: Frequently borrows money or "sponges" on his friends. No time sense. Stays too late even when he knows the girl must be up early next morning to get to her job. Among the merits, were such items as: A steady worker or good student. Polite to girl's parents and friends. Fond of children. Regular attendant at church. Neat in appearance and well shaved—not a beatnik. Generous with his money but not a show-off spender! Likes good English and writes interesting, jolly letters. Considerate of his parents and sisters.

Send for these "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, for they help you check him! Satisfaction and thus are excellent insurance against divorce!

A definite feeling exists among some knowledgeable sources that the President is to the growing puzzlement over the President's conduct of his office.

might otherwise be expected. To call them "intimates" is hardly accurate for the most part, though Moyers may have been a singular exception. Plainly, however, Moyers' resignation has added material to the growing puzzlement over the President's conduct of his office.

As to why this should be so, the speculation ranges widely. In the heels of Moyers' announcement, some who know and deal with the staff could not quite shake off the idea that Johnson may have passed a signal that he does not intend to run again in 1968. Inevitably, there is a certain tendency also to lay heavy blame at his door as too hard a taskmaster. The complaints—giving some of his aides the kind of direct line to his which provides satisfaction rich enough to blur intra-staff differences.

Letters

To The Editor

EDITOR, HERALD: I am sorry but I cannot understand your thinking and take exception to your statement appearing in the "Around the County" column, namely, "If the County didn't have a home economics agent it would be saving $4,976 in county funds alone."

I have a daughter who benefited a great deal by attending the 4-H meetings and participating in the programs under the leadership of Myrtle Williams. Home Economics agent, as a matter of fact she hopes to pursue this field, with a spirit of service to others. Even though I am self employed, and spend little time with my daughter, she has become very adept at homemaking—sews her own clothes, manages my household, and even more important to me, is the fact that she and other young ladies who have benefited so much through this program have developed such pleasing personalities, have become self-sufficient, and are an asset to their community. The 4-H program not only teaches them how to work, but affords them with fellowship with others. It is not as you state, "To find out the proper way to preserve jelly and sharp knives." Even if it were only that, the sum of money paid by the county is a pittance compared to the $20,000 or so that many more agents in seven months thru the "Home Economics Community Action" program for merely administrative work and surveys. I hope you will take time to find out more about the excellent work our Home Economics Agent has done during these years, especially with her leadership and guidance of our young people teaching them to be upright and capable citizens.

Dallas-Ft. Worth Airport To Cost $2.5 Million

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP) — The year is 1972, and the jumbo jet sweeps low across the metropolitan area and drops onto a runway 2 1/2 miles long.

A "people mover" sweeps them through the terminal to a luggage counter, where almost instantly they claim 1,500 pieces of luggage.

Some 500 people pour from the airplane as it rolls to a halt at one of 100 gate positions along the two-mile terminal complex.

Some 100 people in fine restaurants, shops and lounges hotly await the arrival of the jet.

This is the proposed North Texas Regional Airport, six years and $250 million from now, billed as the largest and most advanced in the world. It could become a prototype for future airports around the world.

The scene mentioned above would be repeated frequently, even simultaneously, as 100,000 people shuffled in and out of the airport each day.

Between 14,000 and 25,000 employees would report to work at the huge air center daily, and millions of dollars would exchange hands each year.

As envisioned, the airport would be a money-maker that would pay for itself. The $218.7 million required for construction would come in revenue bonds, paid off by the year 2000.

Leaders of Dallas and Fort Worth retained Walter Prokosh, a New York consultant, to guide them toward their aerial dream.

"The noise can be controlled really in only one way," Prokosh said, "and that is by having a lot of room around the airport."

He said this is particularly important in the case of the aircraft use for landing and take off. Traffic forecasts indicate an initial requirement of four runways, and ultimate need of six.

"These runways," Prokosh said, "are intended to be 11,000 feet long to begin with in the primary north-south direction, but ultimate expansion of capability to 14,000 feet."

This new concept in airport design, it was proposed, is necessary to meet the demands of the superaircraft which will, in the near future, roll off the production lines.

Ward Named To Md. Job

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Bob Ward, a University of Maryland's first All-America football player, was expected to return as a big man on campus today and be named head coach of his alma mater.

The naming of Ward had been expected since it was confirmed earlier in the week that he had been the only candidate for the post interviewed twice by a screening committee.

Ward served last season as head line coach at the U.S. Military Academy.

Three Houses Sink At Tarpon

TARPON SPRINGS (AP) — Three houses were evacuated here Monday night when sink holes endangered them.

Police said one house at 313 Morgan Street was sinking into a hole 18 feet across and 30 feet deep. It was topped off.

Other smaller holes were spotted in the area. Officer Jim Butler fell into one that opened up before him and was yanked free by a bystander.

Evacuation by submarine divers is often the cause of sink holes.

Malnutrition May Impair Learning And Behavior

Poor nutrition during the first few years of life probably has an adverse effect on a child's later learning and behavior, the Nutrition Foundation reports.

It is well established that retardation of human physiological growth occurs as a result of malnutrition. But only recently has evidence accumulated to suggest that mental development is at risk as well in severe malnutrition.

The Nutrition Foundation, financed by leading companies in the food and allied industries, recently set as one of its major goals the support of scientific studies on the relation between malnutrition and learning and behavior in children.

Studies with laboratory animals have clearly shown that malnutrition, which stunts growth, reduces learning ability, memory and behavior. It seems likely that children who suffer malnutrition are similarly affected. But scientific evidence to establish this point has not been accumulated.

The problem is particularly important to technically underdeveloped countries of the world where there is not enough food. In these countries children more often suffer from poor nutrition than do adults.

If children in these areas are crippled in mind because of poor nutrition in the early months of life, efforts to improve conditions—investments in schools and teachers, for example—are lessened in value.

And the future of the world is threatened if future generations are being damaged in mind and body by malnutrition.

A host of infectious plague children in undeveloped areas. These occur along with malnutrition. Infections and poor nutrition may work together to impair mental as well as physical growth. So well-planned studies are essential in assessing the part played by malnutrition in the development of children.

The Nutrition Foundation and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will hold an international scientific conference on "Malnutrition, Learning and Behavior" in March 1967. Some of the world's leading educators, psychologists and nutritionists are expected to attend.

Florida Living In 2000 AD Is Predicted

Only a generation separates us from a post-holocaust world, a computerized, electronics-aided, and space-oriented society.

This week, All Florida Magazine trains its crystal ball on that world. Charles Jean interviews eminent and space scientists of Cape Kennedy, 1967, on life and living in Florida and the world in 1967, 1990, 2000 A. D.

You will want to read the predictions. Some are now in the laboratory stage.

All Florida Magazine, complete with your TV listings for the week, is distributed with The Sanford Herald.

The Scene, Dec. Four months of new TV have come and gone. So have some shows. Now the so-called Second Season starts. Dick Dale describes the class to a dozen new shows.

They Built Their Own Science Center. Many cities and schools will be interested in what St. Petersburg citizens did when they wanted a science lab for children and didn't have any public funds.

Pinstrippers . . . and People. University of Florida coeds find there is more to life than pep rallies and football. They discover the secret of service at the student infirmary.

The lake beds at Edwards form the world's largest waterfowl airfield. Firm clay makes the natural runways stretch 11 miles.

Cleaning Woman Gets Honors
ALDERSHOT, England (UPI)—The major general was there. So was the tank and so were the troops in full array. It was all for Mrs. Rosanna Bunker, head cleaning woman at the Aldershot Army Catering Corps center. The ceremony marked the award to her of the British Empire Medal for her skill in training employees in the art of keeping the Corps' pots and pans sparkling clean.

"I'LL TAKE IT"
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Dorothy Rita telephoned an airline office to reserve a ticket to St. Louis.

"Please call back in an hour," a harried clerk said, "our electronic computer isn't working."

An hour later she called back and a young woman answered.

"The computer's still off," she explained.

"You mean I still can't make a reservation?"

"No," replied the clerk, obviously a computer hater, "I'll take it."

S & L Seeks To Thaw Out Frozen Market

First Federal Savings and Loan Association closed out 1966 with assets of $21,692,007.22, according to President E. C. Harper Sr., who said that the figure represented an advance over the one for 1965.

"This is the best year we have just closed, wasn't easy. We are most grateful for the continuing confidence of our existing account holders and those who have home loans with us."

The fluctuations in the money market, nationally, have been reflected in the local picture, Harper said. Yields, safety, availability, convenience—all have had a bearing on savers' attitudes as to where they would put their savings—advances.

"In the hectic year that has just closed, wasn't easy. We are most grateful for the continuing confidence of our existing account holders and those who have home loans with us."

The fluctuations in the money market, nationally, have been reflected in the local picture, Harper said. Yields, safety, ings that were in short supply because of the boom in buying, he added. First Federal ended 1966 with almost the same savings figure that was on the books at last year-end, the $61, officer said.

Loans were considerably less than in 1965. It was reported, for then $2,500,000 was loaned, and the total for the 12 months just closed would be "something more than just a third of that figure."

The reserves and surplus on the books now, the statement shows, amount to $2,364,269.54, a good increase over the 1965 figure—"and one of the best in the state when related to the savings outstanding."

During the year (in October) savings certificates were introduced into the savings picture, going to talk at all . . .

'Garbage War' Ends
MELTON MOWBRAY, England (UPI)—The "war of the dustbins" (garbage cans) smelted up Bill Richardson's neighborhood for weeks before it was settled. Garbage collectors refused to empty Richardson's bin because, they claimed, it was too big and heavy. He refused to get a new one. Town councilor Noel Watts finally cleared the atmosphere by digging into his own pocket to buy Richardson a new dustbin—standard size.

Too Late For Polly
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—A resident of Caseyville, Ill., wrote a letter to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch saying she had a chance to buy a seven-year-old parrot that had never been trained to speak.

"It's too late to teach it!" the woman asked. The newspaper checked a bird store and replied: "It's too late. Only young tame parrots can be taught to talk . . . If a parrot hasn't started talking by the time it is about one year old, it isn't going to talk at all . . ."

Halted Wife Boon To Man Out To Win

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who wants to be boss at home should choose a wife who works but he should beware of those determinedly independent wives with hair fluttering under their shoulders.

That is the advice of Dr. William Jennings Bryan Jr., a California doctor, lawyer, and hypnotist who makes instant personality appraisals by taking into account the clothes people wear.

This talent has been of particular value to F. Lee Bailey, the famous defense lawyer who has never lost a case. Although Bailey does not need any help in choosing a wife—he has a lovely one who wears hats—he has called upon Dr. Bryan on several occasions to help him select prospective jurors.

Dr. Bryan was with Bailey in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard trial and in Freehold, N.J., recently to assist in picking the jury which eventually acquitted Dr. Carl Copolino of charges of having murdered a neighbor.

The partly 40-year-old doctor, who directs the American Institute of Hypnotism in Los Angeles, believes that although clothes do not make the man, they reveal almost unfailingly what the man is like.

"Suspect a person of having very little self-confidence if his dress is not characteristic of his profession," says the doctor.

"If a man is a banker and doesn't dress like the average one—expensive and conservative—don't really think of himself as a banker, or at least not a good one. He probably secretly believes he ought to be something more. He has problems."

As for women, he says, "The exhibitionist, the girl who flaunts her sex on the outside is covering up for a lack of fire on the inside."

The really sexy woman, he claims, is tastefully dressed, very well groomed, a real Patricia. "She has confidence, self-knowledge, and a good reason."

"That girl with free flowing hair and little hair for her face is, in the doctor's opinion, young, in dependent and determined not to be dominated by men."

How does Dr. Bryan dress? "I'm the Ivy League type dresser. I like university life. I am fascinated by minds, and how these can help people achieve their goals."

Wilt Chamberlain Goes Zero For Five

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain has a chance to make two free throws and he's in trouble. But give him just one more inch... and you're dead.

Chamberlain recaptured in one mighty swoop after missing five straight from the first time he shot in the Philadelphia 76ers' 108-102 overtime victory over New York Tuesday night. Bill Cunningham scored seven of his game-high 36 points in the extra session after Hal Greer's three-point play had pulled the 76ers even with 21 seconds remaining in regulation play.

But it was a sixth effort by Chamberlain that kept the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division leaders alive in the frantic final minute of the fourth quarter.

With 45 seconds to play and the Knicks clinging to a 133-122 lead — the remainder of a 12-point bulge they'd squandered in the closing minutes — Wilt was clobbered under the boards and went to the line for two shots. He missed both, but grabbed the rebound, went up for another shot — and was fouled again. With the Knicks over their foul limit, Wilt was given two more free throws and a bonus shot.

He missed them all, but muddled through again and picked off the rebound, then stuffed it in.

Seconds later, Greer came through with the three-point shot that tied it up 133-133. The 76ers smothered New York in the overtime period and extended their current winning string to 10 games. They have lost only three of 30 starts.

Chamberlain connected on only five of 17 free throw attempts. But he shot 15 for 18 from the floor for a 33-point total and pulled down 33 rebounds.

Philadelphia's victory, after Detroit trimmed Baltimore 137-110 in the doubleheader opener, kept the 76ers seven games ahead of second-place Boston in the East.

The Celtics beat San Francisco 126-121 in overtime and the Chicago Bulls downed Cincinnati 116-111 in Tuesday night's other game.

Famed Racing Boat Driver Killed

CONISTON, England (AP) — Donald Malcolm Campbell's jet hydroplane speedboat, Bluebird, somersaulted and sank today racing on Lake Coniston and the man who lived for speed was feared killed.

Campbell was traveling at an estimated 300 miles an hour. An explosion was reported as the boat went down. Wreckage strewn to the surface but there was no sign of Campbell.

During trial runs in his hydroplane speedcraft he has had narrow escapes — twice hitting a bird while traveling at over 200 miles an hour.

In 1954 he achieved 403.1 miles per hour in his gas turbine car Bluebird and 276.3 miles per hour on water in his jet hydroplane speed boat of the same name.

Bell Creek, Top Choice At SOKC

Top Candidate Providence, R.I. (AP) — Leonard Jardine, 29, an assistant football coach at Purdue since 1954, was reported today to be a top candidate for the Brown University coaching job vacated by the resignation of John McLaughry last month.

Both of them over the longer route. Favored in the race, however, will be Lapino who also has scored two wins.

Senior quarterback Mickey Beard of Newton Mass, set a Dartmouth record last fall by passing for 13 touchdowns.
