School Contract Awarded

The Seminole County School Board has awarded a 2.5 million project for the expansion and additions to Goldsboro Elementary School to the Orlando based firm of Aagaard-Juergensen. The board unanimously approved the contract with a base bid $87,389 under the projected budget. Six firms bid on the project.

The board had rebid the project because previous bids exceeded the board's budget by $370,111.

Aagaard-Juergensen contract price will save the school board around $20,000 on the project, according to the board.

When completed, the Sanford school will accommodate 60 more students than the 674 it could hold last year. Additions to the school will include 12 classrooms, new office space and improvements to existing structures, such as new fire alarms.

Work on the Goldsboro improvements should begin late this month. Jack Lubenow, a project architect for the school board's facilities department, said. The project is scheduled to be finished by May 1, 1988.

The school board also awarded a $39,808.98 bid for a dust collection system at Teague Middle School to Thomas-McCormick, Inc. The firm, which is already working on projects at Lawton Elementary and Lake View Middle School, turned in the only bid on the project.

Winning Lassies

Washingtonians Seek Statehood

It's understandable why District of Columbia officials want to make the capital district — minus a federal government enclave — the nation's 51st state, to be called New Columbia. The nearly 700,000 residents of Washington, D.C., have no voting representatives in Congress, only a non-voting delegate. That amounts, literally, to taxation without representation, an untenable situation in the world's greatest democracy. Statehood would automatically give the area two senators and at least one member of the House of Representatives.

Yet, however compelling the argument for giving Washington residents representation, statehood will create more problems than it solves. The White House, the Capitol and other federal buildings would remain in a separate federal enclave known as Washington, D.C., and there's not much chance anymore that the national government would become a prisoner of the state in which it is located, as some of the nation's founders had feared. But making the 67-square-mile urban area around the government center a state unto itself would be awkward. State and federal jurisdictions are likely to be in constant conflict on everything from liquor taxes to taxi fares.

There would undoubtedly be financial problems as well. The district currently receives about 17 percent of its operating revenue from federal grants, which it could lose. At the same time, the new state would be required to take on responsibilities currently paid for by the federal government — prosecution of criminal suspects, jails, court security and civil servants' benefits. The additional costs are estimated at more than $100 million annually.

Local officials in Washington are pushing for statehood ignoring a previous national rebuff — a constitutional amendment that would have given the district two senators and representation in the House — failed in 1985 when only 16 of the necessary 38 states ratified it. But that's still the best option for them. If statehood bills, sponsored by Sen. Edward Kennedy and Walter Fauntroy, the district's non-voting representative in Congress, keep the issue alive, maybe it will have been worthwhile. Eventually, maybe they'll pressure the states to vote to give Washington residents a voice in federal government.

Aid For Dying

Heroin is one of the most vicious and addictive drugs known to the human race. Once the heroin habit is formed it is extremely difficult if not impossible to kick.

People who are hooked on this terrible drug become desperate when they cannot obtain it. Their desperation often causes them to rob and even kill in order to obtain money to support the habit. For many years law enforcement agencies have said that heroin addiction is one of the major causes of violent crime in the United States.

Because of the terrible impact of heroin on society, its use is illegal and possession and dealing are illegal. But there is one group of people for whom heroin use should be legal.

Terminally ill cancer patients suffer from excruciating pain. Their suffering often cannot be relieved by pain-killing medicine, but it has been found that heroin does alleviate the suffering for cancer victims.

For this reason a bill has been introduced in Congress that would permit the use of heroin in carefully controlled circumstances. It has been called the Compassionate Pain Relief Act, and it is similar to laws in Canada and Britain.

There is little medical science can do to relieve the suffering of terminally ill cancer patients. And passage of the Compassionate Pain Relief Act would be a humane action to ease the torture during their last days for persons who suffer the agonizing pain of cancer.

Judiciary Committee - Bork's First Obstacle

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first obstacle positioned astride Robert Bork's path to the Supreme Court is the Senate Judiciary Committee, and that should not be seen, by any means, as merely a minor obstruction to confirmation.

This committee, with its rich history of both good and evil, has the task of interrogating President Reagan's latest, and probably last, nominee to the high court.

And it also has immense power over the Bork appointment: To approve it and give Bork an important start in the confirmation process; to reject and doom it; to send it to the Senate without recommendation.

What, and who, is it that Bork faces? It is not, as Bork well knows, the Judiciary Committee that in 1982 approved him as a member of the Circuit Court of Appeals by voice vote after a brief hearing.

Nor, for that matter, is it the same Senate that routinely confirmed him the same year by voice vote.

At that time, Bork did not have a record of opinions, although there was a history of writings that stamped him as a conservative. Now, however, he has five years of handing down decisions.

There was some interest on his role in the Watergate scandal — he was the unknown solicitor general who fired special prosecutor Archibald Cox — but Bork's claim that he carried out the hit to prevent wholesale resignations at the top levels of the Justice Department and because he knew the investigation would continue, seemed to have eliminated any doubts.

As a nominee for the Supreme Court, however, the firing of Cox will be used against him. So will his views on abortion, civil rights, affirmative action, antitrust enforcement and other areas where he has solidified his credentials as a conservative.

The 14-member Judiciary Committee — eight Democrats and six Republicans — poses a serious problem for Bork, not so much because he is more conservative than he was five years ago but because his confirmation could tip the balance on the Supreme Court.

The decision, then, becomes purely political and, for some committee members, much easier.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., as an example, has already as well as cast his vote. It is no. Others on the committee are equally rooted in their support or their opposition.

Among the six Republicans, the only possible stray is Sen. Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania. Sens. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Orrin Hatch of Utah, Alan Simpson of Wyoming, Charles Grassley of Iowa and Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire are almost certain to support the White House.

If the Republicans vote as a bloc, they will still have to pick up at least two Democrats to win approval of the Bork nomination. The question is which two.

Chairman Joseph Biden of Delaware and Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, even if they felt Bork a good appointment (which is doubtful) could not vote for him. They are campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination and a vote for Bork would bring either or both campaigns to an abrupt end.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Leftists Ignore History

WASHINGTON — Allan Bloom, author of The Closing of the American Mind, makes the important point that students ignore history and that universities lack moral purpose. It's not only students, of course, that ignore history. Their elders, including many who sit in Congress, are dangerously deficient in historical comprehension.

I was reminded of that in reading about the Iran-Contra investigation. It was clear that the members of the investigating committee, with a few exceptions, have an historical horizon that extends only to Watergate and the Vietnam War. They don't understand the extent of the president's constitutional mandate in foreign affairs and defense, and seemingly haven't knowledge of events such as President Roosevelt's transfer of destroyers to Britain without any warrant from Congress — a transfer indicative of presidential authority.

As for the universities' lack of moral purpose, that has been evident for years. Many colleges and universities are in a state of moral collapse. At Dartmouth College students receive a "safe sex" kit that, according to Dartmouth Professor Jeffrey Hart, is designed to promote sick homosexual practices.

The unbalanced character of college and university faculties is scandalous. Senior officials of the United States have been shouted down at university gatherings, while furiously hostile anti-American speakers receive standing ovations. One can cite major educational institutions where students hear only one side — the left side — of public and intellectual issues. The reason is that faculty members and administrators have closed minds; they are determined that students not hear opposing views.

Dr. Bloom also makes the point that the absurd and hurtful notions of the 1960s are still very much with us. The "hidden premise" of that era, he says, was that somehow there's nothing to be learned from the past, "that the simple instincts or sentiments of the young would do." He also observes that "The ideology of passion has come to dominate America's young. They generally believe that feelings are deeper than reason and that the two are in opposition." To use a 1960s phrase, "doing one's own thing" has become the ultimate goal.

The Army Gets In Movie Director's Seat

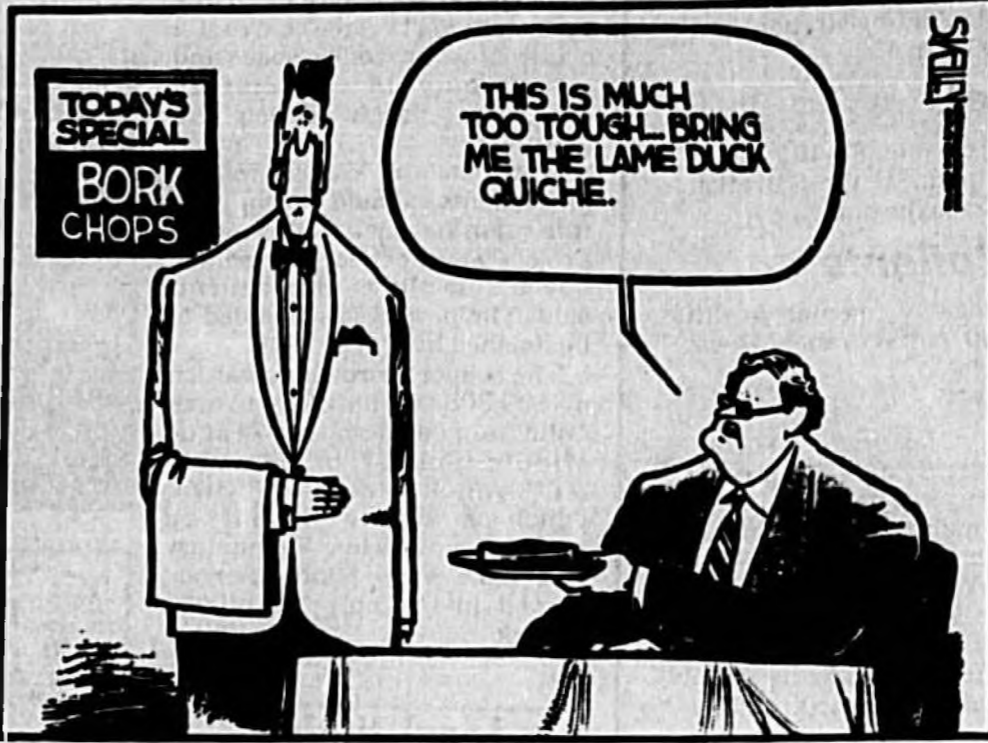

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — For a moviemaker interested in apparent authenticity and genuine economy, there's nothing like cooperation from the U.S. armed services. The Pentagon has historically provided background locations, military hardware and even masses of uniformed extras to Hollywood producers when asked.

But there's a price to be paid for this cooperation, and Francis Ford Coppola paid through the nose for the Army's help in making "Gardens of Stone." Released earlier this year to mixed reviews, the movie is set during the Vietnam era, but focuses sympathetically on Army men and their families back home.

The specific unit is the Army's "Old Guard," the spit-and-polish outfit at Fort Myer, Va., which does ceremonial escort duty for the president, stands guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and performs funeral processions at Arlington National Cemetery.

VINCENT CARROLL

No Death Knell

Liberals should put away their long faces. The nomination of Judge Robert Bork to the Supreme Court may not signal the twilight of their cause. It could even open up opportunities.

Assume, for the moment, that Bork survives the hysterics of Sen. Edward Kennedy, the measured sanctimony of Sen. Joe Biden, the broadsides of every civil rights group in the land — and that he is confirmed in a narrow vote.

Assume, further, that in the next couple of years the court limits or reverses Roe v. Wade, the 1973 landmark case guaranteeing a woman's right to abortion.

That would kick the issue back to the states, into the tumult of elected legislatures. In that arena, those who support abortion rights would have no choice — and here's the good news for the left — but to organize and fight.

To understand the galvanizing nature of such efforts, recall what Roe v. Wade itself did for the conservative movement. No other event was as vital to the birth of the "religious right," which in turn rallied to Ronald Reagan's 1980 coalition.

In the wake of the 1973 ruling, many conservative fundamentalists jerked to life after years of political apathy. Suddenly they felt under siege.

They hadn't much liked the general drift of American culture anyway — what was being taught in their schools (or, in many cases, not taught) and what often appeared on their TV screens. Finally the Supreme Court, repudiating 197 years of national practice, goaded this anxiety into action. One of the most relentless, single-minded movements of recent times was born: the anti-abortion crusade.

Admittedly, the overturning of Roe v. Wade offers the unpleasant prospect of 50 separate battles over abortion in 50 states. These will be tiresome not only for the partisans but for those who don't feel strongly one way or the other.

Worse, the fight could be repeated annually in some places.

But, then, democracy has always been untidy. One of the dangers of judicial activism — and a good reason to support Bork's confirmation — is that imperial courts can sap democratic instincts. People lapse into the habit of leaving difficult matters up to judges, never coming to grips with issues over which they no longer exert influence.

Even when aggressive courts don't erode citizen involvement, they distort the political process by narrowing attention to themselves.

This has occurred not only with abortion. Notice how modern efforts to ban the death penalty invariably focus on the courtroom. Yet there is another, more democratic way to outlaw capital punishment: Convince legislators to do the job.

Michigan abolished the death penalty in 1846. Back then it wouldn't have occurred to most social movements to concentrate on the Supreme Court for help.

Pro-choice advocates often describe their opponents as a small, fanatical fringe. This isn't fair, but polls do suggest well over a third of Americans favor the right to abortion under any circumstances.

Plastic Demand Increases

By AL ROSSITER JR.,
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Plastics will continue to replace glass, paper and metal in packaging and other consumer goods and will be deployed more often at the expense of metals in structural uses during the next 13 years, according to a study for an industry group.

The study, released by The Society of the Plastics Industry, said design engineers are comfortable with plastics. As a result, many new products will initially be made with plastics rather than with metal first and later with plastic as is usually the case.

The United States' use of plastics of all kinds increased from 19 billion pounds to 48 billion pounds between 1970 and 1985 and the study estimates that plastics demand will reach 76 billion pounds in the nation by the year 2000.

Packaging accounted for 30 percent of plastics uses in 1985 followed by building and construction uses at 23 percent and consumer products at 8 percent. Other uses including electrical components, transportation and inks.

The study, prepared by Chem Systems Inc., of Tarrytown, N.Y., predicts that the packaging industry will remain the primary consumer of plastics by the turn of the century, thanks to smaller family size, increasing numbers of working adults and the graying of America.

Americans will want more food packages that can be heated in a microwave oven, more single-portion servings and more plastic packages for juices and snack foods, the study predicted. It also forecast technology that will permit pasteurization of products such as baby foods, seafood and beer in plastic containers.

Expanded use of aseptic plastic packages, which retard spoilage and allow room-temperature storage of perishable commodities, will reduce the need for freezer and refrigerator space, the study report said.

It also said the disposal of plastic waste will continue to be a concern by 2000 as well as threats plastics pose to marine life such as seals becoming entangled in plastic fishing nets, fish and turtles eating plastic bags because of their resemblance to jelly fish and birds eating plastic pellets because they look like fish eggs.

NATION IN BRIEF

Tanker Escort Date May Change; Aspin, Dole Blamed For Leaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Angry White House officials say they may change the date for the first Navy escort of a Kuwaiti oil tanker flying the American flag now that members of Congress have revealed a U.S. plan to begin the run July 22.

Lawmakers mentioned the start-up date upon emerging from a top-level private briefing by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and other officials Tuesday evening. They said they were told three more escort missions in the volatile Persian Gulf were planned for next month, the first scheduled Aug. 6.

Exposure of the dates infuriated the White House, and officials there reacted promptly by saying the schedule might be changed because it was publicized.

The specific start-up date was mentioned publicly by at least two lawmakers: House Armed Services Committee Chairman Les Aspin, D-Wis., and Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas.

Jury Selection Said Illegal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — News media lawyers argue the judge overseeing the perjury trial of former White House aide Michael Deaver is illegally holding jury selection in secret, while Deaver's lawyer insists it will ensure his client's right to a fair trial.

U.S. District Judge Thomas Jackson Tuesday gave members of the jury pool the choice of being questioned in public or private. When only a handful agreed to public interviews in the courtroom, he resumed questioning in a private room in the U.S. District courthouse.

3 Aliens Perish In Desert

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — A Border Patrol rescue team saved 22 badly dehydrated members of a group of illegal aliens being smuggled into the United States, but three were found dead in the desert where temperatures had soared past 115 degrees, authorities said.

One of the survivors apparently tried to kill himself rather than suffer the agony of dying of thirst and was hospitalized with a knife wound to his throat. A second man remained hospitalized at Yuma Regional Medical Center with kidney problems caused by dehydration. Both were expected to live.

'Ollieomania' May Be Short Lived

Psychologists Analyze North's Appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's love affair with Oliver North can be traced to the Marine's rugged good looks and knack to portray, real or imagined, heroic traits and a bluntness, honest, human behavior experts said Tuesday.

Psychiatrists and psychologists said the nation's rush to embrace North, the self-described "fall guy" in the Iran-Contra scandal, may wane, however, by the passage of time and a closer scrutiny of his noble image and deceptive actions.

"My guess is that he won't last long (as a hero). That's a prediction," said Dr. Frank Farley, a psychologist at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, Wis., who has studied for several years what the nation sees in its heroes.

Lt. Col. Ollie North

'The packaging of Oliver North is what's being judged and responded to now, not so much the content.'

"He seems to be more of a passing hero — like we see in (rock singer) Bruce Springsteen and (tough-guy actor) Clint Eastwood," said Farley, adding that both these celebrities have popped up in his hero polls.

Lt. Col. North, who took the stand in Congress a week ago Tuesday vowing to tell all — "the good, the bad and the ugly," which, by the way, is the title of an old Eastwood flick — has been scoring well himself in public opinion polls.

Americans do not necessarily see North as a hero, but they generally view him as a patriot, one who did his best to serve his country and who was unfairly dumped by the White House when the renegade Iran-Contra operation was exposed.

"The country is falling in love with the guy," said Dr. John McGrath, a psychiatrist in Washington, D.C. "I think a good part of it is that he's able to appear relentlessly certain about Lella Alson, a speech coach in Philadelphia who has helped corporate executives, politicians and athletes communicate more effectively, said North is a star public speaker.

"After the show is over, I think his popularity may wane a little with certain groups, but others, I don't know," she said. "Look what happened with Ronald Reagan," long considered a master communicator.

Alson said, "North is doing well because he is handsome. He portrays an image of strength, loyalty, humility. He uses home-spun speech. He says such things as 'I know in my heart 'neat idea' — he says everything but 'goah and golly'."

"You'd have to suspect that North, being a Marine, has another vocabulary," Alson said. "But it doesn't hurt him to use this language. He also gives a sense of patriotism. He says, 'I'm the type of guy who salutes and charges up the hill.'"

"When you watch him you see a cross between (actors) Jimmy Stewart and Henry Fonda in their younger years," she said. "You see those marvelous blue eyes trained not to look away. He has a wonderful eye gaze and when people have that you get the sense they are telling the truth."

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, a member of the congressional Iran-contra panel is known for his bluntness. Asked why Americans are so enamored with North, Brooks said: "They like people who jump on Congress."

Farley, who has surveyed people on what they consider constitutes a hero, said North, a decorated Vietnam veteran, seems to have most of the qualities: "courage and strength

... kind, loving, generous ... intelligent."

Farley said another basic ingredient of being a hero is honesty and said, when it comes to North, "That is the biggest hangup. That is the one I think we are all wrestling with. Is Ollie lying?"

Psychiatrist McGrath said, "Suppose a year from now, North decides to run for Congress. Do you think all those people in love with him now would come up with contributions?"

"I think we'd see a different process. I think the record of what he advocated and did would be more closely scrutinized and the American people would then make a judgment."

McGrath refused to predict America's future assessment of North, but he said, "The packaging of Oliver North is what's being judged and responded to now, not so much the content."

Orlando 'Ollie Rally' Tonight

ORLANDO — Shouts of "Go Ollie, Go" are predicted tonight by organizers at an Ollie North support rally scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at Howard Johnson's, Colonial Dr. (State Road 50) at Interstate 4 in Orlando.

Sponsored by the Young Republican Club, a spokesman said the rally is intended as a non-partisan show of support for the fired National Security Council aide.

NASA Names Atlas-Centaur Accident Investigation Panel

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — In a painfully familiar exercise, a new accident investigation panel was named Tuesday to look into a launch pad mishap that gutted a second stage fuel tank, indefinitely grounding NASA's last Atlas-Centaur rocket.

"There are a lot of long faces," said a NASA official. "We didn't need any more problems."

The accident occurred about 11 a.m. Monday at the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station near the Kennedy Space Center when engineers were removing work platforms around the rocket's unfueled Centaur second stage.

A platform somehow hit the $12 million stage, rupturing its pressurized, $4 million liquid-hydrogen fuel tank.

Four General Dynamics Space Division workers were slightly injured as they ran from the area. All four were treated at the scene and released.

The launch, which had been scheduled for this fall, was put on hold until at least next year.

An agency source said James Odom, director of science and engineering at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., will head an accident investigation, the fourth agency accident probe since the Challenger disaster.

Videotape of the damage showed the thin-skinned tank, which was pressurized to maintain structural integrity, appeared to have ruptured and buckled when it was hit or punctured by the launch pad work platform.

"I'd say about one-half of the side wall of the liquid hydrogen tank was split and bent outward by the pressure," NASA spokesman Hugh Harris said. "It was extensively damaged. The hydrogen tank, the walls of it, are broken, the metal has been ruptured. The hydrogen tank appears to be not repairable."

The $78 million rocket is NASA's last Atlas-Centaur in a program that began in the early 1960s. The agency decided to phase out the workhorse rockets and other unmanned launchers when the decision was made in the 1970s to rely on the space shuttle as the nation's premier launcher.

Agency spokesman George Diller said engineers plan to ship the damaged stage back to the General Dynamics plant in San Diego so undamaged components can be removed. A replacement hydrogen tank will have to be built, but the production line now is closed.

The two-stage Atlas-Centaur rocket originally was scheduled for launch later this month to carry an $83 million military FleetSatCom communications satellite into orbit but blastoff was delayed for a series of nose cone tests.

Compounding the schedule, engineers discovered an oxygen leak last week in one of the Centaur's two rocket engines. Workers were getting ready to lift the Centaur so the suspect engine could be removed for repairs when the accident happened Monday.

The last Atlas-Centaur launched March 26, also carrying a FleetSatCom satellite, was destroyed less than a minute after blastoff when it was struck by multiple lightning bolts.

Altamonte's Girl Shuts Down Pine Hills

By Chris Fister, Herald Sports Writer

Baseball

PINE HILLS - A girl making the all-star team is nothing new to Little League Baseball. Usually a good topic of discussion amongst parents and fans, rarely, though, do you hear of a girl being an integral or dominant player on a team. The Altamonte Springs Major American League All-Stars have one girl on their 1987 team, but, unlike many of her predecessors, this one is not just a conversation piece. Tuesday night, Pam Davis proved she definitely belongs on what has the potential to be a very successful all-star team as she fired a three-hitter in a 16-3 rout of Pine Hills in the District 14 Division I Area II Tournament at the Pine Hills Little League Complex. "Pam did a super job tonight," Altamonte American manager George Pihakis said. "She was very confident in herself and kept her composure really well." With the victory, Altamonte advances to the winners' bracket final tonight at 7 against another powerhouse, Apopka, at the Eastmonte Complex in Altamonte Springs. Apopka rolled over Rolling Hills, 16-3, in other action Tuesday night. Mike Elliott, a big right-hander, will be on the mound for Altamonte tonight. "Apopka will definitely be our toughest competition," Pihakis said. "They beat us in Top Team Tournament and they have won something like 26 games in a row so I expect a tough game." While she received plenty of offensive support Tuesday, Davis completely shut down the Pine Hills offense as the tall right-hander mixed her hard fastball with a nice offspeed pitch to keep Pine Hills off balance all night. In pitching the three-hit gem, Davis struck out 12, walked three and hit one. Elliott swung the biggest bat for Altamonte Tuesday night as he was 3 for 3, powered two home runs and drove in seven runs. Cornelius Cotton provided some more fireworks for Altamonte as he blasted a grand slam among his three hits on the night. Pablo Abreu was also 3 for 3 and scored three runs in the rout. Elliott blasted a three-run homer in the first inning to give Altamonte the early lead and he blew the game open with a grand slam in the third inning. After Davis struck out the side in the top of the fourth, Altamonte pulled away with seven runs in the bottom of the inning. Andrew Thompson and Grant Wisstrom got the rally started with singles and Davis beat out a bunt for a base hit to load the bases. John Durrant then drove in the first run of the inning with a base hit to left and Abreu followed with a bases loaded walk. Cotton then drilled a shot over the fence in left center for a grand slam. Elliott then showed some blazing speed on the bases as he turned what would ordinarily be a bloop single to right into a triple. Elliott later scored on Thompson's second hit of the inning for a 16-1 Altamonte lead. WHITE KEYS CASSELBERRY Jason White capped off a tremendous offensive game with a two-run triple in the top of the sixth inning to give Casselberry an 11-10 victory over Eustis in the Major League Division II Area I Tournament Tuesday night at Eustis. Casselberry advances to tonight's winners' bracket game against Altamonte National at the Casselberry Little League Complex. First pitch is 7 p.m. Eustis took a 10-7 lead into the sixth inning Tuesday but Casselberry came back within 10-9 when White unloaded his second home run of the game. White, though, was called out for not touching home plate on the homer, but it was still good enough to give Casselberry the lead. The game-winning hit gave Pam Davis was more than a conversation piece Tuesday. The Altamonte Major American right-hander allowed just three hits and struck out 12 in an easy victory over Pine Hills.

White six RBIs for the game. He had earlier hit another three-run homer. Johnny Santos also had a big game for Casselberry as he was 4 for 4 with two RBIs. Brian Gomes was the winning pitcher for Casselberry as he threw the last three innings, allowed no runs and struck out eight.

what the problem is. I can guarantee you that we will be ready to hit the ball on Thursday, though. We have too many good hitters on this team not to be hitting the ball." Altamonte pitcher Andy Spolski went the distance as he yielded only three hits. Spolski struck out eight while walking four. "I felt pretty good out there tonight," Spolski said. "Our defense is playing well, but we need to start to pick things up offensively."

Altamonte got on the board first as it took advantage of some erratic Eustis pitching, and scored three runs in the bottom of first. John Connelly, Greg James, and Neill James all walked to fill the bases. Dan Hendrick then got an easy RBI as he walked, forcing Connelly in and keeping the bags full. After Greg James got picked off third, Curt Prom reached on an infield single to load the bases again. Cooper was then nailed for a balk, scoring Neill James.

in the sixth frame. "I was just going for a base hit in the second," Bullock, who hit three homers during the regular season, said. "I knew if I got a hit it would open up the game."

It was Oviedo, though, which opened quickly. After Altamonte jumped on loser Chris Wisdom for two runs, Oviedo wadded Harmer in the bottom of the first inning. Shifty Chad Shaw drilled Harmer's first pitch into the left field corner for a double. When the relay trickled toward the mound, Shaw raced to third. When Harmer and catcher Mike Lyons both went to retrieve it, Shaw alertly scampered home for a 1-0 lead.

Tim Slavik, who had two hits, then looped a single to right and Andy Taylor reached on an error. Bellhorn, who clobbered 16 regular-season homers, followed with a scorching liner over the center field fence and onto the Senior League Field. "Mark Bellhorn just punished that ball," Reclar said. "Bellhorn is the best 12-year-old hitter I've ever seen," coach Harmer added. Altamonte's second inning, nonetheless, turned the game around. Ben Hurst, Lyons and William Ramirez each drew one-walks to load the bases. Wisdom came back to fan Danny Anson but Brain Saunders, who slugged a solo homer in the fourth frame, reached on an error by the shortstop to cut the lead to 4-3. Harmer then walked to force home a run for a 4-4 tie. Bullock then jumped on a 2-2 fastball and sent it over the left field fence for his grand slam and an 8-4 lead. In the fourth, Saunders' homer knocked out Wisdom in favor of lefty Octavio Torres for a 9-4 lead. In the sixth, Anson singled, moved to second on an error, alertly stole third on the pitcher and scored on Bullock's fielder's choice. "We knew this was a pretty important game to win," Saunders said. "The pitcher (Wisdom) was throwing ideal speed." Oviedo manager Tank Boston said his squad would be back. "We'll see Altamonte again," he said. "I'm sure of that. We just had that one bad inning (second), then we settled down."

Seniors Drop Bizarre Opener; Clark Keeps Oviedo Alive, 6-1

By Chris Fister, Herald Sports Writer

PINE HILLS - The Altamonte Senior American League All-Stars could tell right off the bat Tuesday night that they were in trouble. No, the inmates from the neighboring Orange County Detention Center weren't hopping over the center field fence and wreaking havoc, but manager Jay Williams felt the "inadequate" umpires were making life miserable for the visiting Altamonte team which wound up dropping a 5-3 decision to Pine Hills in the opening round of the District 14 Division I Area II Tournament. Altamonte is now forced to the losers' bracket where it plays today at 5:30 at Pine Hills against Apopka. Tuesday night's chaos started when the originally scheduled umpires, from West Oak Ridge, failed to show up for the game. Pine Hills then had to go to a pair of backup unps, one of which was grabbed out of the stands. That's when the trouble began. In the top of the first inning, Pine Hills' John Lafferty drew a walk-off Altamonte starter Marc Loyd. Lafferty then stole second and attempted to steal third. The throw from catcher Curt Carlson was right on the money and well ahead of the sliding Lafferty but the home plate umpire called him safe. "I asked the home plate umpire who's call it was," Williams said. "And he said, 'Who knows?'" The umpire must have taken offense with Williams' remark as he proceeded to peel off his chest protector and shin guards and walked off the field. The ump then shed his shirt before jumping in his vehicle and vacating the premises. "That was really ridiculous," Williams said. "I've never seen an umpire quit a game before." District 14 Administrator Don Crawford said umpiring has been a big problem in all-star tournaments this year. "The show of umpires for the Top Team Tournament was excellent but it has been very poor for the all-stars," Crawford said. "It's the worst I've seen in 15 years. It's absolute stupidity for something like that (at Pine Hills) to happen. We are going to do something about the situation with the umpires." After the home plate umpire walked off, Pine Hills scrambled to find a second substitute home plate umpire and the game continued with what Williams described as "third level umpires who weren't qualified to call an all-star game." Pine Hills eventually picked up a run in the first inning when Lafferty scored on a sacrifice fly by Bruce Barringer. Pine Hills then took a 3-0 lead with two runs on one hit in the third inning. Altamonte finally got to Pine Hills starter Jeff Johnson in the bottom of the third. Paul Bowen unloaded a drive to deep center field that went for a triple and he scored when Carlson drilled a single up the middle. Carlson stole second and took third on a wild pitch. Carlson then made a heads up baserunning maneuver when he tagged up and dashed home with no one covering on the bases. That's when the trouble began. In the top of the first inning, Pine Hills' John Lafferty drew a walk-off Altamonte starter Marc Loyd. Lafferty then stole second and attempted to steal third. The throw from catcher Curt Carlson was right on the money and well ahead of the sliding Lafferty but the home plate umpire called him safe. "I asked the home plate umpire who's call it was," Williams said. "And he said, 'Who knows?'" OVIEDO DUMPS DORA

Dwayne Clark fired a two-hitter, leading Oviedo to a 6-1 victory over Mount Dora on Tuesday night in losers' bracket action of the District 14 Division II Area I baseball Tournament. The victory keeps Oviedo alive as it will host Eustis tonight at 7. Eustis lost to Altamonte, 5-2, on Tuesday night. The winner of tonight's game will face Altamonte on Thursday night in Oviedo. "I was really happy with the way we played tonight," Oviedo coach Kelly Fore said. "That first game (a 6-1 loss to Altamonte on Monday) was a tough game to lose. I hope that we win tonight, because I'd like to have another shot at Altamonte." Fore said that Brian MacInness will be on the hill against Eustis tonight. Clark went the distance as he fanned 10 while walking only one. "Danny was in control tonight," Fore said. "He was throwing the ball just great." A 17-hit offense backed Clark up. Vince Hollis led the way as went three-for-four with a triple, a double and a single. Jon Williams chipped in with three singles while Todd Tocco had an RBI double and a single. Danny Mello got in on the act as he doubled and singled as did MacInness. Josh Seward, "Bubba" Fore, Steve Coffie, and John Knutson all registered hits for Oviedo. - Scott Sander

Rebounding Green 2-Hits Orlando

After suffering a knee injury in spring football practice, Lake Brantley's Randy Green was making slow progress on the baseball field this summer. But on Tuesday night, Green was on the rebound as he tossed a two-hitter and had a two-run single, leading the Lake Brantley American Legion team to a 5-2 victory over Orlando Post 286 at Lake Brantley High School. Brantley, 15-4, will have a busy week as it will travel to Winter Park tonight, Apopka on Thursday and Lyman on Friday. "I've been bringing Randy along kind of slowly this summer," Lake Brantley manager Jerry Thurston said. "He really came out tonight and did a heck of a job." Green went five innings and fanned seven. Dalton Reed pitched the final two innings for Brantley and didn't give up a run. Brantley pounded out eight hits in the game as Jim "Mongo" Morse led the way with four RBI. Green chipped in with two ribbies while Jerry Thurston cracked a solo homer. Reed helped himself as went 2 for 4. Shane Stuffedt, Mark Gabrovic, and Ricky Shelman each registered hits for Lake Brantley. - Scott Sander

Microwave Magic

Teach Kids To Make Snacks

Summertime is a good time to teach kids how to make their own snacks and how to use the microwave correctly. They probably know how already without much instruction from an adult, but just a few simple basics on the oven operation might prevent a mishap.

Then give them a simple recipe for food stuffs they love, and have the ingredients on hand, they'll be happy to prepare their favorites. These recipes make great after school treats too. All have been tested and approved by kids in a microwave cooking class for kids.

This recipe makes enough for a small group or for several after school snacks. It is high protein and easy to prepare.

PIZZA BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
1 can pizza or spaghetti sauce
3 cups shredded Mozzarella cheese
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
1 teaspoon ground oregano
12-14 hamburger buns, split

Crumble ground beef and onion in a 2-quart casserole. Microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes or until no longer pink, stirring once to break meat into smaller pieces. Drain and set aside until cool. Stir in pizza sauce, 2 cups Mozzarella cheese, parsley, and oregano until well blended.

Arrange buns cut side up. Spoon about 2 tablespoons of mixture on each bun half, spreading evenly. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. (about 1 teaspoon per sandwich.) Place 8 sandwiches on a microwave-safe plate. Microwave on 100% power 2-2½ minutes or until heated and cheese melts. To heat less than 8 sandwiches allow ½ to ¾ minute for each.

Another really easy fun snack. Tell the kids to double the recipe. The adults like these too.

CRUNCHY HOT DOG SNACKS

2 hotdogs (cut in bite-size pieces)
½ cup barbecue sauce
2 cups corn chips (crushed)
toothpicks
Put hotdog pieces on toothpicks. Dip in barbecue sauce and roll in cornchips. Place in a circle on a paper plate. Microwave on 100% power 1-1½ minutes.

Kids will enjoy making and eating this refreshing treat on a stick. Easy on the budget too.

FROZEN PUDDING ON A STICK

2 cups milk
1 package (3 ounces) pudding and pie filling mix (not instant)
5 paper cups (not waxed) 5 ounce size
5 wooden sticks or plastic spoons

Pour milk in a 4-cup glass measure. Add pudding mix, stir to combine.

Microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes until mixture just boils, stir several times.

Divide pudding among cups. Insert stick in center. Cover with foil, pushing stick handles through foil. Freeze 4-5 hours until solid. Store in freezer. Hold pop under water for a few seconds for easy removal from cup.

Chocolate and peanut butter melt very quickly because of their high fat content. Candy can be prepared in minutes.

PEANUT CLUSTERS

1 package (12 ounces) milk chocolate pieces
½ cup creamy peanut butter
1½ cups salted peanuts
Combine chocolate pieces and peanut butter in a 2-quart microwave safe casserole.

Microwave on 100% power 1½-2 minutes or until chocolate pieces are melted, stirring twice.

Stir in peanuts. Drop by teaspoonful onto waxed paper. Cool until set.

For a variation substitute 1½ cups crisp rice cereal, granola, coconut, or mixed nuts.

HOT APPLE SNACKS

2 Apples
2 teaspoons honey
Cinnamon

Peel apples. Quarter and remove cores. Cut each quarter in half to make 16 pieces. Place in a small shallow, casserole (2 cups). Drizzle with honey. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Cover with lid or plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes or until just about tender.

Let stand a few minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Use apples that hold their shape when cooked such as Delicious, Rome, or Winesap.

CHEESY POPCORN NIBBLES

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 quarts popped corn
¼ cup grated American cheese
¼ cup Parmesan cheese

Microwave butter in 1-cup glass measure on 100% power for 30 to 45 seconds or until melted. Pour butter evenly over popcorn, sprinkle with grated cheese. Stir to coat. Microwave on 100% power, 1-1½ minutes or until heated, stirring once.

Cook Of The Week

Former Georgia Beauty Queen Flavors Meals With A Healthy Southern Accent

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Rosemary Pirtle, our attractive Cook of the Week, makes it look so simple. That is being a homemaker with a full-time job and a young, active family. A former contestant in the Miss Georgia beauty pageant, she believes strongly in maintaining a good physical exercise program such as aerobics, swimming, jogging and walking. "Swimming is supposedly the best form of exercise," she says, "because there is no stress on your joints. Along with exercise, I think nutrition and diet play an important part in general overall health."

Mrs. Pirtle, a descendant of George Walton, one of the original signers of the Constitution, is also the daughter of the late Frances Walton, a Seminole County educator, and D.G. Walton, who retired from the military to spend another 20-odd years in the wholesale seed business. Her mother may be remembered as a teacher and principal for over 30 years in the county. She was one of the principals of Westside Grammar School and was the principal who converted the old Oviedo High School into Lawton Elementary. "She opened Eastbrook Elementary at the south end of the county," says Mrs. Pirtle, "and was its only principal until she died. With Mom teaching and busy taking courses toward her master's and that type of thing, there were nights I'd begin to get supper going, so there are some basic sauces and just very basic cooking things that I learned from her. She was a typical, southern cook with very good basic recipes. She always tried to have very good, well balanced meals."

Born in Jacksonville, our cook has been a Sanfordite since kindergarten age, and remembers being in the first 4-year graduating class at Seminole High School. "We started as freshmen," she recalls, "and were actually the first full class to go all four years at the new Seminole High at the time. That was back in 1965," she adds, laughing. Mrs. Pirtle has one sister, Glenda Walton, who lives in the Sanford area, but, she says, "we're 10 years apart in age, so we were almost like two 'only children.'" They each had a horse, however, and riding carefree throughout the countryside was a pleasant pastime. With her own childhood friends, Mrs. Pirtle remembers "riding all over the county, long before the interstate was built. We'd follow the railroad lines and the dirt roads and all that, so we grew up seeing a lot of changes in the county," she says.

All through high school, Mrs. Pirtle was active in the swimming, diving and tumbling clubs, and she carried these interests through her four years at Tift College, Forsyth, Ga. Her entry in the Miss Georgia pageant included a tumbling routine, "but that was before tumbling and gymnastics were the 'in' thing," she explains. Her experience with the pageant, she says, "was a lot of fun, very interesting and eye-opening," she adds. She also notes that she has just been to what is probably the last class reunion at Tift, whose doors will be closing to students. "It was kind of sad," she says. "I believe they used some of the older buildings as a hospital during the Civil War. There are a lot of historical landmarks on the campus." An accomplished swimmer, our cook also continued her waterworks in college, converting from competitive swimming to water ballet.

These days, Mrs. Pirtle divides her precious time between home and business. At work, she manages a branch office of the Abbott & Cobb Seed Company in Lake Mary, selling large quantities of the product to some local farmers with the bulk of the business going to south Florida and the Zellwood area. "We developed that new corn," she says. "It's an ultra-sweet hybrid corn called Summer Sweet. We also have Summer Sweet peppers which mature to gold instead of red and they're very sweet." Her pretty smile can be seen in the pages of the seed company's colorful catalog which is distributed to customers. Before her entry into the seed business, Mrs. Pirtle used her B.S. degree in education to teach for a short time at Forest City Elementary School during the 1981-82 school year.

At that time Mrs. Pirtle was a single parent with three handsome sons. Christopher Scott, 12½, will be attending Greenwood Lakes Middle School for the fall term and is "the naturalist in the family," says his mother, alluding to her son's interest in snakes and other wildlife. He is also a Boy Scout and enjoys tennis, swimming and surfing. A budding artist, he was awarded a scholarship to a weekly session at the Orlando Museum of Art, formerly Loch Haven Art Center. "He loves detailed sketching," says Mrs. Pirtle, "of wildlife and airplane models mostly."

Mrs. Pirtle is also the mother of twins, John and Matthew Scott, almost 9. "Technically," she says, "John is older because they were born one minute apart." They also enjoy swimming and tennis and are planning to attend the Summer Fun Program sponsored by the Local School Advisory Committee program at Idyllwild School to take part in the arts and crafts activities. Matthew, an aspiring poet, is a recipient of the Patchwork award for his work titled, "Dale the Pale Whale" their "works of art." Rob's children, Mike and Melissa, are grown and have careers of their own, but visit as often as they can. Mike services electronic equipment for NCR, and "Missy" puts a smile on visitors' faces as Minnie Mouse at Epcot.

While many of her personal projects have been put on the back burner while her family is older and her schedule lightens, Mrs. Pirtle looks ahead to when she can resume her singing with the SCC Community Chorus. She is also planning to join a DAR chapter in the future, and would like to be part of an environmental group. She is also a talented artist and plans to get involved in an arts society one day.

"But, at the moment, I'm finding that with full-time motherhood and a full-time job, my time is very short," she explains. Her needlework has also taken a back seat in recent years, but she hopes to be able to finish a Norman Rockwell design in needlepoint in addition to a bicentennial work in patriotic colors. "I have a lot of those on-going," she laughs.

The Pirtles enjoy having friends for dinner occasionally, and chicken and veal dishes are among the favorite entrees. The children favor chicken and fish, "and they love pasta salads," says Mrs. Pirtle. "They like hamburgers cooked on the grill," she says. "They think that's great. I don't go heavy on the desserts at all, especially with them. I give them treats, but I keep it light. I try to keep a lot of fruit around, but I don't bake a lot of cakes. If I bake cookies, it's just at special times of the year or if I just happen to feel like it. But I don't keep them around the house just for munchies, because they basically don't need it. I try to keep it well supervised when it gets distributed. I don't let them just come in the kitchen and munch."

Mrs. Pirtle gives her husband much credit for his expertise at the grill and his helpfulness in the kitchen. "He likes to do certain little specialties," she says. "Like with steaks we usually have sauteed onions and mushroom caps as a side dish or on top of the steaks, and he likes to do that."

Perhaps the most helpful addition to Mrs. Pirtle's busy lifestyle has been the home food service that she subscribes to. "I find that I do not have to constantly look for the good buys or the specials in the different meat departments to buy a large quantity," she says. "I find that just knowing it's in the freezer and I don't have to go looking for it ... I just go for my staples or something new. SKILLET CHOPS 'N RICE

4 pork chops (1 pound) salt and pepper to taste 1 can French onion soup 1 soup can of water 1/4 cup chopped celery (optional)

In skillet, brown chops; pour off fat. Season with salt, pepper. Add soup, water, celery, thyme. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Stir in rice. Cover and cook 20 minutes longer, or until chops and rice are tender. Serves 4. Recipe may be doubled if cooking for a larger crowd.

EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

1-2 pounds eggplant 2 eggs 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese (4 ounces) 1 can mushroom soup 1 teaspoon sugar 1/4 cup chopped onion 1 cup cracker crumbs 1/2 stick melted butter or margarine

Peel and cut up eggplant. Cook in salted water 3-4 minutes until tender. Drain. Add soup, beaten eggs, sugar, onion and cheese to eggplant. Mix cracker crumbs with melted butter. Add 1/2 of crumbs to mixture. Bake 30 minutes at 350°. Take out of oven and top with remaining crumbs. Bake 25 minutes more, or until topping is crisp. Serves 4 to 6. 1 to 2 pounds of squash, washed and sliced, may be used in place of eggplant.

HURRY-UP YEAST ROLLS

Dissolve 1 package active dry yeast in 1/4 cup warm water. Mix in 2 1/2 cups Bisquick. Beat vigorously. Turn dough onto surface well dusted with Bisquick. Knead until smooth, about 20 times. Shape into rolls (crescent, pocketbook, etc.) Place on well-greased pan. Cover with towel and let rise about one hour. Bake at 400° for 10-15 minutes. Serve hot.

CHICKEN GOULASH

2 cups chicken broth 1 cup uncooked rice 1/4 cup butter 1 small onion, sliced 1 can sliced mushrooms, drained 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken 1 green pepper cut in thin strips 1/2 cup diced celery salt and pepper to taste 1/4 cup light cream, evaporated milk, or milk

Melt butter, cook and stir mushrooms and onions until onions are tender. Add chicken broth and heat to boiling. Stir in rice, reduce heat. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover and cook 10-15 minutes longer. Serves 6 to 8.

MOM'S ROAST

1 rump roast (2 to 3 pounds) 2-3 small onions, thickly sliced 4 to 6 medium carrots, pared and sliced 4 to 5 medium potatoes (or omit potatoes and substitute with rice)

Worcestershire sauce A-1 sauce Heinz 57 sauce Salt, pepper, garlic salt Sprinkle roast liberally with salt, garlic salt and pepper to taste. In large, deep skillet, brown roast well on all sides. After browning, turn heat down. Place sliced onions on top of roast and all around sides. Sprinkle Worcestershire sauce over roast and onions. Do the same with A-1 sauce. Use less of the Heinz 57 sauce. Cover skillet and simmer for one hour. (The roast will usually produce enough of its own juice to cook in.) Check after 15-20 minutes. If there's not much juice, add 1/2 to 1 cup water with 1 bouillon cube to the roast. After 1 hour, add carrots and potatoes. If potatoes are not used, cook rice in a separate pot and serve on the side with gravy. Cook approximately 1 hour more or until vegetables are tender. Thicken skillet juices to make gravy. Cooking time and servings will vary, depending on weight of roast.

CANDIED FRUIT CAKES

1 pound pecans (4 cups) 1 pound pitted dates 3/4 cup candied cherries 1 pound candied pineapple 3/4 cup sifted flour 1/4 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 eggs

Combine nuts and fruits in a large bowl. Sift in flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Mix well, using hands. (Greasing hands helps.) Beat eggs until foamy. Add to fruit mixture and blend well. Pack in small baking cups filling them full (rounded). Bake in slow 300° oven 40 minutes. Yield: 30. These store well in gift tins and make excellent gifts at Christmas time for those away from home.

PECAN CARROT CAKE

2 cups sifted flour 2 teaspoons baking soda 2 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons cinnamon 1 1/2 cups sugar 1 cup vegetable oil 4 eggs 2 cups grated carrots 2 cups chopped pecans

Measure and sift together dry ingredients. Blend in vegetable oil and eggs. Fold in grated carrots and chopped pecans. Use only one mixing bowl. Pour into greased and floured cake pans. Bake at 350° for 25-30 minutes. Makes two layers.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

2 packages cream cheese (3 ounces each) 2 tablespoons margarine, softened 2 teaspoons vanilla 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar 1/2 cup chopped pecans (optional)

In small mixing bowl, combine softened cream cheese, margarine and vanilla. Beat at low speed on electric mixer until light. Gradually add sifted confectioners' sugar, beating until fluffy. If necessary, add milk to make frosting of spreading consistency. Stir in chopped pecans. If desired, spread evenly on cooled cake layers.

Broken Wedding Plans Change 'I Do' To 'I Sue'

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I became engaged last Christmas. We set our wedding date for June. When Joe (not his real name) proposed to me, he revealed that he had lived with a girl before I knew him. She became pregnant; he didn't want to marry her; she had the baby. Joe convinced me, and my mother and father, that he had no obligation whatsoever to this woman or the child — that his attorney had settled it with her and her attorney. Joe is 29 and I am 24.

Two weeks before our wedding date, Joe told me that he had been "suddenly" served with papers for child support, and he decided to support this child, and ask for visiting rights as well! Because our life together would be changed drastically, and because I think Joe lied to me about his obligation to his child, I called the wedding off.

My parents spent thousands of dollars preparing for our wedding — the deposit on the hall (not refundable), my gown and trousseau, engraved invitations, deposit for flowers, etc. I think Joe should repay my parents for all this. Joe disagrees because I'm the one who called the wedding off, (I called it off because he misrepresented himself and his intentions.) I need your opinion.

BROKENHEARTED IN N.J. DEAR BROKENHEARTED: I'm in your corner. Retain an attorney and have him work it out with Joe's attorney. (I hope that Joe has his attorney on a retainer. If he hasn't, he should.) Rejoice. You could have married this man. I think you (and your parents) got off cheap.

DEAR ABBY: I am surprised at the number of men who tell me dirty jokes, then act annoyed when I don't react with a giggle, smirk or wink.

Frankly, I find this kind of talk embarrassing. Am I a prude? If you say I should loosen up, I'll try, but I was taught to be ... A LADY

DEAR LADY: Loosen up? No way! Let the offenders know you don't appreciate that kind of talk. If you don't object at the onset, the "jokes" will get dirtier and dirtier.

dialect — not Southern. However, your letter was entertaining, and you-ah sense of humah is stellah, fellah!

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I are both married. We decided to take a weekend trip together — just the two of us. Just as our plans were coming together, she comes up with a "proposition" — if I lose 10 pounds before we leave, she will buy me a new outfit while we're out of town. Mind you, I am 5 foot 6 and weigh 125 pounds. I am by no means "fat," but she would like to make me think I am. She's always telling me that if there is something I want, she'll give it to me if I "tone up" or lose weight.

I am tired of her finding fault with me when she is just one size smaller than I am. Is there some way I can tell her how I feel without hurting her feelings, although she has hurt mine more than once?

UP TO HERE IN CHARLOTTE, N.C.

DEAR HURT: Why do you think it would hurt your sister's feelings if you were to tell her truthfully that she hurts your feelings when she suggests you are overweight when you're not? That's the only way to get her off you back. Try it. You'll like it. And don't worry about whether she likes it or not.

The "weight" you'll lose will be the burden of your sister's hostility. And telling her will "tone up" your self-esteem like no other exercise.

Pasta Primavera Good Any Season

By Alleen Claire NEA Food Editor

Pasta fits well into menus planned to increase healthy carbohydrates in the diet.

PASTA PRIMAVERA WITH SHRIMP

1 (13 1/4-ounce) can chicken broth 1/4 cup dry white wine 1 pound medium shrimp, shelled and deveined 2 cups broccoli florets 1/4 cup sweet red pepper, cut in thin strips 1/2 cup green onion, cut in thin strips 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed 1 1/2 teaspoons dried basil 1/4 teaspoon crushed dried red pepper 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons cornstarch 1 cup half-and-half

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

8 ounces ridged mostaccioli or large macaroni, cooked, drained

In large skillet, bring broth and wine to boil over high heat. Add shrimp, broccoli, sweet red pepper, green onions, garlic, basil, dried red pepper and salt. Stirring occasionally, cook uncovered 2 to 3 minutes or just until shrimp turn pink and vegetables are tender-crisp. In small bowl, stir cornstarch and half-and-half until smooth. Add to skillet. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in Parmesan. Spoon over pasta; toss before serving. If desired, serve with additional grated Parmesan cheese. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Food for Thought

by Bill Painter

Chilled soup, richly flavored with curry, is wonderful in summer. Sauté onion, garlic and apple in butter and curry, then simmer with chicken broth, a large baking potato, a slice of ginger and salt and pepper. Puree. Serve with yogurt swirled through.

Keep your microwave oven clean; it cooks faster that way. Wipe up splatters while the oven is still moist and steamy.

Stuffed cherry tomatoes are super cocktail finger food. Fill with pesto or anchovy-olive tapenade. (Reduce oil slightly for firmer, neater filling.)

To top ice cream gloriously, sauté 1 1/2 cups fresh pineapple chunks in butter, brown sugar and a touch of ground cloves. Cool a moment, add 1/4 cup bourbon, and heat again until syrupy.

Brunch For A Bunch

Enjoy No-Fuss Summertime Grilled Treats

Take time for a change of pace; prepare brunch on your barbecue grill. Eliminate the usual messy frying associated with typical breakfast fare. Instead, prepare a fire in your barbecue grill, sit back and enjoy no-fuss summertime cooking.

Mexican Brunch Peppers is a unique combination of eggs, bread crumbs, green chilies and seasonings, spooned into green pepper halves. The pepper halves are wrapped in heavy duty aluminum foil and grilled in a covered grill for 20 to 25 minutes. The peppers cook faster and more evenly, without burning, when wrapped in heavy duty aluminum foil. After cooking, top these souffle-like peppers with cheddar cheese, picante salsa and sour cream for the perfect finishing touch!

Accompany this zesty entree with grilled sausages. To cook fresh sausages, sprinkle them with 1 to 2 tablespoons water and wrap in heavy duty aluminum foil. Grill 10 minutes, then remove from the foil and finish grilling until browned and heated through.

For additional barbecue recipes, from appetizers to dessert, order the free brochure "Savor the Summer" from The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens. It is full of a variety of new barbecue ideas including grilled nachos, Szechwan kabobs, spicy beef fajitas with grill-warmed tortillas, a brunch frittata and side dish vegetables. Also included are step-by-step directions for making a variety of foil accessories for easy grill-top cooking. For your free brochure, write to The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens, "Savor the Summer," P.O. Box C032003, Dept. FE-70, Richmond, Va. 23281-2003.

MEXICAN BRUNCH PEPPERS

1 medium onion, sliced
4 small green peppers
8 eggs, beaten
2 cups crumbled bread crumbs

1 can (4 ounces) bread crumbs
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ground cumin
½ cup (2 ounces) shredded cheddar cheese

Picante salsa
Dairy sour cream

Line fire bowl of a covered grill with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil. Puncture foil at grill vent openings. Tear off four 12x18-inch sheets of heavy duty aluminum foil. Place onion slices in center of each foil sheet. Cut green peppers in half lengthwise; remove seeds. Place two pepper halves on top of onion slices on each foil sheet. Combine eggs, bread crumbs, chilies, garlic and seasonings; mix well. Spoon 2 tablespoons of mixture into center of each pepper half. Wrap in foil. Cook in covered grill over medium-hot coals 20 to 25 minutes or until eggs are set. Remove from grill; carefully open packets. Top each pepper with a tablespoon of shredded cheese. Serve topped with salsa and sour cream.

Annual Freeze-Off An Ice Cream Trip

By John DeMers
UPI Food Editor
SULPHER SPRINGS, Texas (UPI) — You can learn a lot about homemade ice cream eating 63 varieties at a single sitting — especially if you're surrounded by experts who discuss an entry's "meltdown" with straight faces.

The Texas State Homemade Ice Cream Contest, a celebration of all things dairy that hopes to go national soon, proved an education and a half when it came to the traditional stuff too many people take for granted.

Hosted by Hopkins County (which boasts no fewer than 460 dairies), the self-described "freeze-off" is an opportunity for contestants, farmers and agriculture officials to figure out just what's important in an ice cream.

It's also an opportunity to eat a whole lot of it.

"There's nothing scientific about judging anything," said Eugene Dunham, milk market administrator for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. "I look at these beauty contests on TV, and I don't always agree with the judging of those."

All subjectivity aside, Dunham proved an invaluable guide for the novice aware only that ice cream should be cold and vaguely creamy.

With contributions from other experts on the judging panel, he identified the six elements that separate a good homemade ice cream from, well, just homemade ice cream.

Flavor, said Dunham, counts first and foremost. An ice cream's flavor should be "typical, pleasant and desirable." Strawberry should taste like strawberry, for instance, as opposed to tasting like lemon. And though some ice creams taste "cooked" like custard, they should never taste scorched.

The next two characteristics, texture and body, are closely related. Texture is mostly a matter of smoothness, with some room for differences of interpretation. This is also true of body, as with wine a reference to the weight of an ice cream on the tongue.

Color counts in homemade ice cream, and the color should be natural. As Dunham put it to the Texas panel: "If you're judging vanilla ice cream, it shouldn't be pink or blue."

Finally, ice creams were judged as "recipes" by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Entries proved fairly traditional, that is to say untrendy. There were no cilantro and pork rind ice creams, or anything using goat cheese and shitake mushrooms.

Vanilla, in fact, proved the most popular flavor, showing the sheer diversity of definitions that can be attached to something that seems simple.

For the record, Gladys Howell won Best of Show for her Texas Cookies and Cream, with the other awards going to Jenny Hanby for Vanilla, Reggie Lepley for fruit, Cletus Millsap for three categories (chocolate, nut and candy) and Susan Burroughs for Mixed Flavor.

And also for the record, Hopkins County is working through its congressman in Washington to have the annual freeze-off declared America's one official ice cream contest — even though it's sure to attract plenty of "cranks" each year.

Here are three of the recipes that took home prizes:

TEXAS COOKIES AND CREAM

1 can Eagle Brand condensed milk
7 eggs
2 cups sugar
2 pints milk
1 quart half and half
2 Tbsp vanilla extract
1 bag Oreo cookies, chopped

Mix together the Eagle Brand, eggs, sugar, milk, half and half and vanilla extract. Freeze, either in hand-cranked or automatic ice cream maker. When finished, blend in the chopped-up cookies and freeze again.

LEMON VELVET

4 cups sugar
Juice of 8 lemons
5 half-pint cartons whipping cream
1 Tbsp lemon extract
Milk

Mix the sugar and lemon juice, then add the whipping cream, lemon extract and enough milk to fill a 4-5 quart old-fashioned ice cream freezer. Freeze for about 30 minutes.

VANILLA

4 eggs
2 ½ cups sugar
3-4 cups milk
4 cups whipping cream
1 Tbsp vanilla

Beat the eggs until they are light and fluffy, then add the sugar gradually, beating until the mixture thickens. Shake the cream cartons to dissolve any lumps, then add the cream a carton at a time. Beat after each carton. Add enough milk to make the mixture thin but not watery, then freeze.

Scarring May Cause Continued Discomfort

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had my gallbladder and appendix removed three years ago. Since then, I've had discomfort from my lower rib cage to my stomach, parallel with the stitches. All tests are negative. What might be wrong?

DEAR DR. GOTT — Scar tissue, at the site of previous surgery, can remain sensitive and painful for many months, particularly when the scar shrinks with time, which is normal. Your symptoms may be the result of surgery, but you'd best check with your surgeon to make sure that there isn't another cause for your discomfort.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Some time ago a reader asked you for information on breast-reduction surgery. Her inquiry prompts me to share my experience.

At 59, after 40 years of carrying pendulous breasts (and at least 15 years of resulting back trouble, neck pain, frozen shoulder and fungus under the breasts), I sought a plastic surgeon. My decision to have the surgery was a last resort. The operation was difficult, but I was thrilled to go from a 36EE to 36B, and all my symptoms disappeared. Despite the pain, inconvenience and cost, I now wish I had had the operation years ago.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Plastic surgery can be of enormous benefit to women whose breasts are too large. Thank you for writing.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What can you tell me about neuritis? My doctor says it will last six to nine months and he is treating me with Xanax.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Neuritis is nerve swelling. It causes pain and can result from a variety of conditions, including infection and pressure on the nerve. Xanax, a mild tranquilizer, helps patients cope with discomfort until the swelling can be treated or disappears by itself.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I began working in a factory and almost immediately began to have ringing and buzzing noises in my ears. An ear, nose and throat doctor attributes the noises to partial nerve loss because of noise exposure. I quit my job, but the ear problems continue. What's my next step?

DEAR DR. GOTT — Excessive environmental noise can cause permanent deafness that is associated with tinnitus (ringing in the ears). The noise actually causes the death of hearing-sensitive cells within the ears. Once the damage has been done, it is permanent. Make every effort to protect your ears from future noise, such as from electronic amplifiers and power tools. If the hearing loss is really severe, a hearing aid may help.

Does your medical coverage match your needs? Dr. Gott's new Health Report, INSURING YOUR GOOD HEALTH, explains the ins and outs of medical insurance and Medicare.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

No, ladies and gentlemen, the bidding diagram does not contain a misprint. The four-heart bid by North was a transfer bid, and South was only adhering to the convention when he bid four spades. If you employ such a bid, you can call it a Jacoby transfer bid at the four-level or you can call it a Texas transfer, but it is a good idea to discuss it with your partner before the game. Conventions like this one require partnership agreement.

Declarer ruffed the opening lead, drew trumps ending in dummy and took a heart finesse. After winning the heart queen, West realized that three club tricks were needed to set the contract. He therefore led the club queen, playing East for the A-J of clubs. Down one.

The contract can be assured after the opening lead if declarer makes the right avoidance plays.

First let him throw a heart from dummy at trick one. East will win his diamond ace and presumably return a heart. Declarer wins the ace, draws the defenders' trumps and then plays the king and 10 of hearts. When West comes up with the queen, declarer can ruff and return to his hand with a spade to shed a club from dummy on the fourth heart. Even if West plays a low heart on the 10, South can play a club from dummy. Should East then win the heart queen, he will not be able to attack the club king in dummy, and declarer will make 10 tricks by getting rid of another low club in dummy on his fourth heart.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
JULY 16, 1987

Goals you've been unable to achieve in the past can be reached in the year ahead. Continue to put forth your best effort and victory will be yours.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) To succeed, you must keep your mind firmly fixed upon your objective. If not, even small distractions could cause you to drift off course. Major changes are ahead for Cancers in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be aware of your limitations today. If you can't manage something alone, turn it over to someone who can.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today, you may need to make changes you believe to be for the good of others as well as yourself. Be aware that your measures may not be well received.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may have to put up with someone today who bores you to tears in order to get cooperation on a matter of personal importance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The methods you employ today could be annoying to your co-workers. Perhaps it would be better in the long run to try tackling difficult tasks unaided.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Some minor obstacles may pop up today, but don't let them cause you to back out of a fun commitment. These small obstructions will take care of themselves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) No matter how trivial they may appear to you, it's best not to discuss family issues with outsiders today. A loved one's feelings may be hurt if you do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Shortcuts aren't likely to work out well today. In fact, you may have to resort to an antiquated procedure to accomplish a tedious chore.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Competitive career conditions tend to favor you today. If you're determined and willing to try harder than your competition, you'll be the one who walks away with the order.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Have faith in your ideas today, but by the same token, try to keep an open mind. Your ideas could be improved upon by the suggestions of others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to prejudice business situations today. If given half a chance, someone you're dubious about may offer you a better deal than you'd give him.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Let price be your guide today, especially if you're in the company of free-spending acquaintances. Do what's best for your purse.

If you find an advertised price that is lower than Scotty's, bring us the local, current ad and we'll match their price and give you 10% off. Excludes electronics, appliances, auto equipment and the competitor's price in the mail. (Excludes items of 100 lbs. or more weight.) This offer applies only to identical items with the same manufacturer and model number and we must have the item in stock. No returns. No ad errors. No clearance. Scotty's reserves the right to limit quantities. Available only for cash and carry sales.
