Waiting For Heart Transplant, Lake Mary Woman Finds She's Cured

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

"I know it's a miracle," said Jackie Quick of Lake Mary, said of her healing. "God has fixed me all up. I believe it's God's work, not the doctors."

Mrs. Quick, who suffered congestive heart failure in April 1984, has been on a waiting list for a heart transplant at the Texas Heart Institute, Houston, for nine months. Her activities have been extremely limited and she could not talk or walk without getting out of breath.

Now her problem is to keep from overdoing.

Last week Mrs. Quick went to Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville to attempt to get on the list at the new heart transplant center there. On Tuesday nurses reported the heart monitor showed her heart was under a lot of stress and no one was allowed in her room without permission.

But on Wednesday the doctors discovered to their amazement after extensive testing and retesting that the dead heart muscle had healed and her heart was functioning only 1 percent below normal and her kidney and liver functions were working perfectly.

Today she said the medical team at Shands is meeting to go over the tests and try to determine what happened and whether any further medication or treatment is called for instead of deciding whether she should be on their transplant waiting list.

The heart transplant surgeon at Shands, Dr. Michael Carmichael didn't come in with the rest of the team but came in by himself to tell us what the results were. You're going to be told they other doctors don't understand," said Carmichael, "but I'm going to give you my opinion. God gave me ability and talent to do surgery, but he does the healing. If I were you I'd go home and share the victory."

That is what Mrs. Quick and her husband have been doing — on the phone with friends and relatives in several states who had been praying for her and Sunday in the worship service at First Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary.

A year ago this month they did a heart catheter test at Florida Hospital in Orlando and informed me I had end-stage cardiomyopathy, a chronic disorder of the heart muscle and my heart had only a 19 percent output left," said Mrs. Quick. "They said a heart transplant was my only chance and they would medicate me until a heart could be found."

In May 1984 Mrs. Quick was taken to Houston where she underwent extensive tests and doctors including renowned transplant surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley, evaluated them and determined she was a suitable candidate for a transplant.

They told her it would probably be two months before a heart was found but nine months passed and she didn't hear from the Houston facility.

Then she heard about the new Shands transplant program.

A diabetic, Mrs. Quick was taking 100 units of insulin a day and doctors said this was probably causing

Boys Win State Championship; Girls Break Speed Records

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High School's boys and girls track teams recorded the greatest sports double in the school's history Saturday when coach Ken Brauman's boys won the state championship and coach Emory Blake's girls finished fourth in the 71st Annual State 4A High School Track and Field Meet at Showalter Field.

The boys used first place finishes by a pair of juniors — Billy Penick and Alvin Jones — en route to a 17-point (80.33) victory over Hialeah Miami Lakes. Penick won the mile and Jones took the triple jump.

"Fifty points is usually unheard of in a state meet," said Brauffman. "We might have scored as many as 60 points if Clifton Campbell hadn't been injured."

Campbell ranked the No. 1 440-yard dash runner going into the meet, had a two yard lead with 100 yards to go when he injured his left ankle. "I was just going to turn it on," said the Auburn University bound senior.

Then I heard a pop in my ankle. I had that guy (Buchholz) Tyrone Kemp beat.

Campbell's injury necessitated shuffling two of the relay teams, but Brauffman said a strong performance by senior Deron Thompson and key relief roles by senior Ken Temple and Frank Barnett made the difference.

"I knew Cliff (Campbell) wasn't going to be able to run," said Thompson. "I just called everybody together and said we have to win this for coach (Brauffman) and Cliff."

Seminole, which held a nine-point lead entering the last event, was nipped at the wire in the mile relay by Buchholz Miami Lakes didn't score any points in the final event, however, and eight more points for Seminole gave it a 17-point victory.

It would have been nice to win that final event, said Thompson. "But we're the state champs."

We're the best team in the state.

In addition to individual championships by Jones and Penick, junior Leo Peterson finished second in the long jump and the triple jump. Barnett, a senior, finished second in the 120-yard high hurdles. The foursome of Pat Davis, Brown, Thompson and Barnett was a close second in the 440 relay. Seminole's mile-medley team of Barnett, Thompson, Eric Martin and Penick finished fourth.

Blake's girls, meanwhile, recorded their highest finish in history. Orlando Oak Ridge, using its superiority in the field events, won with 36.5 points. Orlando Evans (34), Jacksonville Rihaldt (32) and Seminole (31) completed the closely compacted top four.

The 1 1/2 points in the field events gave them (Oak Ridge) enough points to put them out of reach of everybody," Blake said. "With all the sprinters I've got coming up next year and the others I have coming back I'm going to be looking hard to find some field events people."

Shownda Martin was the individual standout for the girls. The freshman phenom electrified the crowd of over 7,000 with a state record run of 2:10.2 in the 880-yard run. Martin received a standing ovation after her performance topped the record by over three seconds.

and did it in state champion style, Blake said.

Seniors Katrina Walker and Glenda Bass closed out their careers by joining freshmen Dorchelle Webster and Martin to set a record in the mile relay with a time of 3:48.2. Walker, Bass, Webster and Sheila Crawford combined to win the mile-medley relay. Walker also took third place in the 440-dash.

"First and fourth, that's not bad is it?" said Seminole Principal Wayne Epps. "The boys had real good leadership from the seniors. It's a good time to come home with the big prize."

1st Circuit Court Trial Recorded On Tape

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The familiar and the unfamiliar were being used in separate circuit courtrooms today in Seminole County as different reporting methods were being used to record jury selection and trial proceedings.

A tape recorder was being used for the trial of a Winter Park man charged with burglary and grand theft, the first time a mechanical device has been used in criminal circuit court in county as the sole recording means. And the usual court reporter taking notes was being used in the trial of a Tall man also charged with burglary.

The electronic recording method, already used in county court, was introduced by the Seminole County Commission after debate whether the tape recorder and its technician cost less than a court reporter. Court reporters claim the electronic system and its county hired operator cost more than court reporters who work independently.

The tape recorder is being used in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Robert H. McGregor. The first circuit criminal case to be electronically recorded is that of Larry Edward Evans, 27, of Winter Park. He was arrested July 11, 1983 and is charged with burglary and six counts of grand theft.

McGregor is expected to use the electronic system throughout the week during four trials.

In the trial using the traditional court reporter, Stephen William Bradley, 41, of Tall is on trial before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr.

Mize, however, had to borrow jurors from McGregor today because of a high number of no-shows among notified jurors. Of 91 people notified to be at the courthouse today for jury duty, 10 were absent. Since circuit court juries are selected first any shortage will be felt in county court which uses the same jury pool, a judge's assistant said. Unheeded, perhaps, was the case last week of a Lake Mary man who was jailed and fined $100 for failing to show up for jury duty the second time.

In the Bradley case, according to court records, a Casselberry man discovered a burglar inside his home and caught him as the man tried to flee.

The victim and his wife discovered the man rifling the woman's purse when they entered their home Nov. 29. The man ran with the purse, which was dropped outside the couple's home, a police report said.

The male victim pursued the suspect and caught him in a wooded area near his home.

Also today, workers in special protective clothing began removal of asbestos in courthouse ceilings.

Pope Met With Fierce Protests In The Netherlands

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI) — Some 2,000 protesters, some in clerical costumes, confronted riot police today outside the International Court of Justice before Pope John Paul II's speech to the United Nations body.

Young people objecting to the Vatican's ban on artificial birth control launched gas-filled condoms — donated by a family planning group. Some protesters marched brazenly past burly police officers with the contraceptive devices tied around their necks.

If the pope could be pregnant, abortion would be a sacrament, one banner carried by demonstrators proclaimed.

Protesters ranged from homosexuals and lesbians — dressed as priests and nuns — to manicured members of the peace movement Pax Christi denouncing the Vatican's stand on Nicaragua.

A group of 150 demonstrators said they had officially dropped out of the Catholic religion at the town hall earlier in the day because of their objections to church policy.

"I have de-registered myself because the Vatican is authoritarian and undemocratic and denies women the right to choose whether they can have abortion," said Else Kruijk, a mother of two dressed in a nun's costume. "I am not against the pope. It is what he represents that revolts me."

About 1,000 police officers were marshalled in The Hague to fend off a resurgence of the rioting that that marred John Paul's visit to Utrecht Sunday.

Police were investigating a bomb found late Sunday less than 2 miles from where the pope was staying in The Hague.

Dotson Free, But His Name Still Hasn't Been Cleared

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gary Dotson is free today, but his release from prison has not solved the mystery of whether Catherine Crowell Webb lied eight years ago after she said Dotson raped her — or this spring when she changed her story.

Gov. James Thompson Sunday commuted Dotson's 25- to 50-year sentence to time served. But he refused to accept Webb's claim that she had not been raped in 1977 or to pardon

Dotson, who vowed to clear his name and prove his innocence at a new trial.

Thompson said the testimony of 24 witnesses, including Webb and Dotson, during a three-day hearing before the Prisoner Review Board convinced him that Dotson was proved guilty beyond reasonable doubt at his 1979 trial.

"If anything, the evidence before me was stronger than at the trial," Thompson said. "I

Best Of The Worst: Beyond A Dark And Stormy Night

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — The winning sentence in an international contest for terrible writing features a flirtatious ape astronaut.

The 1985 fourth annual Bulwer-Lytton Fiction contest, conducted by the San Jose State University English department, drew 10,000 entries from 50 states and 40 countries.

Martha Simpson of Glastonbury, Conn., won the grand prize, a home computer, for this atrocity:

The countdown stalled at T-minus 69 seconds when Destree, the first female ape to go up in space, winked at me slyly and pouted her thick, rubbery lips unmistakably — the first of many such advances during what would prove to be the longest, and most memorable, space voyage of my career.

The contest is named for the 19th century English novelist Lord Edward Bulwer-Lytton, who began a novel titled Paul Clifford with the unforgettably dull sentence: "It was a dark and stormy night the rain fell in torrents except at occasional intervals."

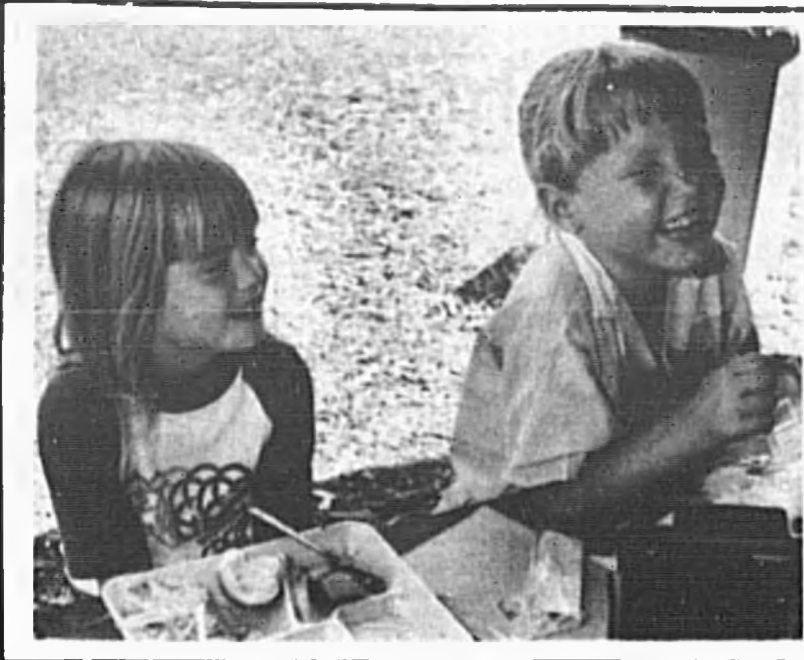

Other winning sentences in the bad-writing contest included:

"Her ample bosom quivered in the night air like a whale trying to scratch its back," by Kevin Landerdale of Pasadena, Calif.

"Sylvia's skin was exquisite, soft and pearly. Leonard loved the way it looked tacked to his wall," Cynthia Conyers of Aguanga, Calif.

Rescuers Search For Fire Clues

52 Die In Stadium Blaze

BRADFORD, England (UPI) — Firefighters searched the charred remains of a soccer stadium grandstand for clues to the cause of a blaze that killed at least 52 people while officials tackled the gruesome task of identifying the bodies.

Bradford police said Sunday many of the victims in England's worst sports tragedy were children and the elderly. Medical authorities were trying to identify the bodies — many of them burned beyond recognition — by jewelry and dental records.

Another 211 were injured in the blaze Saturday and police said 24 people were unaccounted for.

At least 55 of the injured were still being treated in hospitals and six of them were in critical condition. Hospital officials said at least 30 of the injured would have to undergo major plastic surgery.

Police Chief John Sampson said he was still uncertain about the cause of the fire, which swept through the wooden grandstand packed with fans during a televised soccer game at Bradford stadium, 200 miles north of London.

Firefighters, who had recovered 52 bodies by late Sunday, were searching the burned-out wreckage for clues.

Some witnesses said a smoke bomb was thrown just before the fire started, while others spoke of seeing children playing with matches.

"I am not prepared to come down on either side," Sampson said. He added the origin of the fire was believed to be underneath a seat.

Sampson said the "fire was so intense that identification is the great problem. Most victims were burned beyond recognition and will have to be identified by jewelry, dental records and other possessions."

West Yorkshire Fire Chief Graham Karren said the Bradford City soccer club had been warned about the need to improve its safety precautions six months ago.

Some people died in their seats as molten tar cascaded from the roof, setting their clothes on fire. Others were crushed to death as fans pushed against locked gates in the rear of the stand in a rush to escape.

Anti-Terrorists Run Amok

Probe Planned Into Car Bombing That Killed 80

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The vice chairman of the Senate intelligence committee says he has started an inquiry into several CIA operations, including an agency-trained anti-terrorism squad that went on a "runaway" mission — a March car bombing that killed 80 people in Lebanon.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., said Sunday he wants to know more about several operations, particularly ones about which he believes the committee was not fully informed — including the Middle East counterterrorism squad created on an order signed by President Reagan.

"We're going to review six or seven operations on our own," Leahy said, adding that he did not know of the Lebanon plan until he was asked about it a month ago. He refused to give further details.

The Washington Post reported Sunday that Reagan personally approved the covert operation to train squads of counterterrorists to strike groups suspected of planning attacks on U.S. facilities.

Citing unidentified sources, the Post said members of one of the U.S.-backed units, composed of Lebanese intelligence personnel and other foreigners, "went out on a runaway mission and hired others in Lebanon to detonate a massive car bomb outside the Beirut residence of a militant Shiite leader believed to be behind

A Lebanese intelligence source said the bombing mission was carried out 'to show we are strong ... You've got to stop terrorism with terrorism.'

terrorist attacks on U.S. installations."

Neither the White House nor the State Department would comment on the story.

"We never discuss intelligence matters," deputy White House press secretary Robert Sims said Sunday.

The Post quoted sources as saying that following the rogue March 8 mission, "immediate steps were taken" by the CIA and the administration "to cancel the entire covert operation."

About 80 people were killed and more than 200 injured in the bombing but its apparent target — Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah, leader of the Shiite Muslim Party of God — escaped unhurt.

While U.S. sources "emphatically" denied prior knowledge of the bombing, the Post said, Lebanese intelligence sources indicated they were aware of the mission.

"My service did the Fadlallah bombing," a Lebanese intelligence source was quoted as saying. "I believe it was done to show we are strong ... You've got to stop terrorism with terrorism."

Reagan approved the covert anti-terrorism program last year, according to the sources, following a series of attacks on U.S. Embassy and Marine facilities in Lebanon in 1983 and 1984. U.S. intelligence reports have linked the Fadlallah group to the attacks.

The State Department and the White House pushed to establish the CIA operation, the newspaper reported, in part because of Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger's reluctance to use conventional force in dealing with terrorism.

The Post said the congressional committees responsible for intelligence matters were briefed on the operation last year but it also said Reagan "specifically directed" that only the committees' chairmen and vice chairmen be informed.

It was unclear whether the new chairmen of the committees, who took office in January, were briefed.

"Things have fallen through the cracks," Leahy said. "I do not want my side to get caught on a Nicaraguan-style problem."

A CIA operation last year to plant mines in Nicaragua's harbors caused a furor because several members of the intelligence committee claimed CIA Director William Casey had not told them enough about the operation.

Second Shot Was The Clincher

'Mercy Killing' Juror Defends Guilty Verdict

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A member of the jury that convicted Roswell Gilbert of first-degree murder in the shooting of his wife says jurors broke down after reaching a verdict but that they are convinced their decision is the right one.

Gilbert, 75, was sentenced to life in prison with a minimum of 25 years before parole for shooting his wife in the head two times March 4 after she pleaded with him to end her suffering from osteoporosis and Alzheimer's disease.

Jurors agreed from the beginning that Gilbert could not be acquitted. They spent more than four hours determining the degree of his guilt. On the third vote, several jurors who had held out for a manslaughter conviction were convinced Gilbert committed first-degree murder.

Juror Tillie Costea told the Fort Lauderdale News and Sun-Sentinel she believed the act was premeditated because of Gilbert's admission that he had considered poisoning Emily, his wife of 51 years.

"After the decision was finalized, everyone broke down," Costea said. "It's the hardest thing for a person to be a juror."

"We were very, very sorry this had to happen and I feel if our community was concerned enough about one another we wouldn't have these situations," she said. "We can see this as a very common thing. As the older people live longer we're all going to be in the same boat some time."

Juror Rosalyn Brodsky said the second shot into the victim's head is what convinced jurors that Gilbert committed first-degree murder.

Brodsky and the other jurors considered Gilbert's motivation, but could not ignore Mrs. Gilbert's condition. She could walk, did things on her own, could communicate and was concerned enough about her appearance to dress well and apply makeup.

Brodsky said her father Oscar Bernstein, a retired New York salesman, first showed symptoms of Alzheimer's disease when he was 79, five years before he died.

She said he was a mild-mannered man who ended up "a drooling, belligerent and mean, repeating, mumbling-to-himself wreck" before he died.

"When you're in a situation like that, you want the person to be out of their misery," she said.

Her mother was old, and Brodsky said she bore most of the responsibility of caring for her father, but she never considered ending his life.

"You love that person so much you wouldn't take his life because tomorrow they could find a cure," she said. "As long as there's life, there's hope."

WORLD IN BRIEF

3 Die In Fighting As Gemayel Seeks Peace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — At least three people died in tank and rocket battles between Christian and Moslem militiamen today as an aide to President Amin Gemayel met with a Moslem militia leader in a bid to end the bloodshed.

Police said at least 17 people were also wounded in nightlong clashes between militias along the Green Line, which divides Beirut into eastern Christian and western Moslem sections. The casualties brought the weekend death toll in the capital to 14 and the number of wounded to 67.

Most of the victims were civilians, police said, who added the fighting forced hundreds of families to take refuge in basement shelters and underground parking lots.

Police said the shelling began to subside at dawn as the latest in a series of frequently violated cease-fire agreements began to take hold.

Earlier Sunday, Druze militia leader Walid Jumblatt charged that the Christian forces were stockpiling weapons for new battles, and also rejected peace with the Christian militia. Jumblatt and Gemayel were meeting today.

Italian Voting Crucial Test

ROME, Italy (UPI) — Italians began voting in two days of local and regional elections that are a crucial test of strength between the largest Communist Party in the West and the center-left coalition government.

Polling places, which were open for 14 hours Sunday, reopened early today.

More than 44 million voters were choosing councils for 15 regions, 86 provinces and 8,562 cities in the two-day elections. The cities include Rome, Milan, Turin and Genoa.

Election officials said initial computer projections will be announced late today and final results early Wednesday.

Although voters were electing only bottom-rung leaders such as provincial councilmen and mayors, the elections could determine whether Socialist Prime Minister Bettino Craxi's five-party center-left coalition remains in power.

Italy's Communist party, the largest in the West, traditionally maintains its distance from Moscow and most of its supporters pay little attention to party ideology.

Israel Won't Talk To PNC Backers

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel imposed stiffer terms for entering peace talks with a Jordanian-Palestinian delegation, ruling out participation by anyone committed to the charter of the Palestine National Council.

Israel has said it would not talk to "declared members" of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The statement Sunday appeared to rule out talks also with members of the PNC, regarded as the Palestinian parliament-in-exile.

Sky-High Pork Barrel

The Reagan administration has apparently advised a foolproof way of ensuring that it can lock in its multibillion-dollar Star Wars space-based anti-missile system without having to go through the long and difficult job of trying to prove the program on its own merits. The method: Turn Star Wars into pork barrel of Congress and the aerospace industry.

According to a study by the Council on Economic Priorities, about 77 percent of all the research and development funds for Star Wars since 1983 has gone to states and districts whose representatives are on the House and Senate committees that must approve funds for the program. By spreading around the R&D projects to most of the major aerospace firms — including McDonnell Douglas, Boeing, Lockheed, Rockwell, TRW, Teledyne and the like — the administration makes sure that Congress has a vested interest in keeping the program going.

The report also warns that Star Wars is rife with potential for conflicts of interest because the contractors "standing to gain the most from deployment of some form of strategic defense have been assigned the technical feasibility and strategic advisability of proceeding beyond the research and development phase."

Since no one really knows how much the Star Wars system could cost — estimates range from tens of billions of dollars to $1 trillion — this pork barreling of the program creates a potential for gross abuse that would make the current scandals involving Pentagon arms procurement, cost overruns and open-ended contracts pale in comparison.

Not So Poor

Which age group in the United States has the highest per capita income and the lowest rate of poverty?

No, it isn't the young urban professionals. It isn't the middle-aged either.

The correct answer is "those 65 and older." Senior citizens as a group average $6,229 in income per capita, $335 more than the national average, according to Reason magazine.

The elderly's poverty rate, after allowance for in-kind benefits, is only 3.3 percent, one-third of the rate of the rest of the population.

Further, since 1970 Social Security benefits have risen by 46 percent in real terms while the average workers' real income declined by 7 percent.

This is not to say that there aren't poor people among the elderly. There are. But attempts of some politicians to picture America's senior citizens as a poverty-stricken mass deserve hard examination. The facts show just the opposite.

The Occupant Is Not All That Brainy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Having trouble hiring enough butlers, maids, dishwashers and other domestic help to do the household chores?

Don't fret. You, too, can own "the smartest house on the block." All it takes, apparently, is a good "home control products" dealer and plenty of money.

"By 1995, half of all homes in America will be intelligent enough to run themselves," says a maker of electric gadgets.

Maybe that prediction, quoted in the magazine High Technology, doesn't sound like much, considering the IQ of your neighbors. I remind you, however, that operating a domicile efficiently takes a bit of gumption.

No longer need American homeowners limit themselves to devices that perform such mundane duties as turning lights on and off or thermostats up and down. Or hire illegal aliens to do it.

Merchandise now on the market can, among other accomplishments, switch on the coffee pot, answer the telephone, select television programs, detect break-ins and trigger burglary alarms.

In short, everything a good watchdog can do, and more, except maybe "go fetch" the morning paper and slobber all over your bedroom slippers.

Moreover, a smart house can do all of this without extensive rewiring jobs. Electrical work isn't cheap, you know. A housecall alone can cost as much as the weekly salary of an upstairs valet.

I am aware, of course, that many homes already have kitchen disposals and trash compactors that reduce the size of the weekly rubbish accumulation. Until we get a home control system that will take out the garbage, however, I'm not buying.

The average robot, or even a handyman from El Salvador, just doesn't hack it.

Some progress may lie in the development of burglary alarms "in which an infrared detector senses the intruder's body heat." But garbage has its own distinctive odor.

Today's computer-directed control systems have names like "Homeminder," "Tomorrowhouse" and "Compu-Home." I want one named "Arrivederci, Aroma."

Here are some of the future possibilities:

—A dishwasher that instructs the water heater not to release water for showers until the dishes are done.

I already own a dishwasher like that. You don't dare take a bath right after it has been running — not unless you like cold showers.

—A washing machine that makes the television buzz or otherwise flashes a message when the laundry is finished.

My house already has a device like that, too. It's located on the kitchen stove and it's called a timer.

Set the timer when you start the washer and it will buzz when the laundry is done. The only problem is finding a housekeeper who will leave the TV long enough to transfer the clothes to the dryer.

—Ovens and toasters that tell smoke alarms to ignore modest levels of smoke when food is cooking.

The main problem here is ascertaining what constitutes a "modest" level of smoke. When I'm cooking something, I need smoke detectors that not only turn their heads but also hold their noses.

Master Drawings On Loan

By Frank T. Coogoo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Gallery of Art opened a priceless exhibition Sunday of 100 master drawings on loan from a Hungarian museum and never before seen in this country.

The drawings from the Budapest Museum of Fine Arts include masterpieces by Leonardo da Vinci, Giovanni Domenico Tiepolo, Vincent van Gogh, Albrecht Durer, Rembrandt and Raphael. They represent the largest number of works from Hungary ever to be loaned as a group.

J. Carter Brown, director of the National Gallery, invited reporters recently to a luncheon to discuss the exhibition, the first major collection a Hungarian museum has sent to the United States.

"This is just a superstar group," Brown said in referring to the drawings. "There's nothing held back."

It took nearly three years of negotiations between United States and Hungary to make the exhibition possible. The exhibition was underwritten by a grant from Occidental Petroleum Corp. and is sponsored by the Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities.

Ferenc Merenyi, director of the state-owned Budapest museum, said the works by 86 German, Italian, Dutch and French masters encompass the art of drawing from the 15th to the early 20th centuries.

"We regard this exhibition an important manifestation of the cultural collaboration between the United States and Hungary, and we hope that it will be enjoyed by the American public," Merenyi said.

The drawings are considered priceless. One gallery official said top drawings by Leonardo da Vinci have sold on the open market for $5 million and "the three in the exhibition are as good if not better than those."

The Leonardo drawings include two studies of warriors' heads. They are thought to be cartoons for the Palazzo Vecchio fresco of the Battle of Anghiari. The battle commemorated the Florentines' victory over the Milanese in 1440.

The exhibition can be seen in Washington through July 14 after which it travels to the Art Institute of Chicago (July 27 through Sept. 22) and to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (Oct. 10 through Dec. 8).

Oman Bullying U.S. Into Bases Contract

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

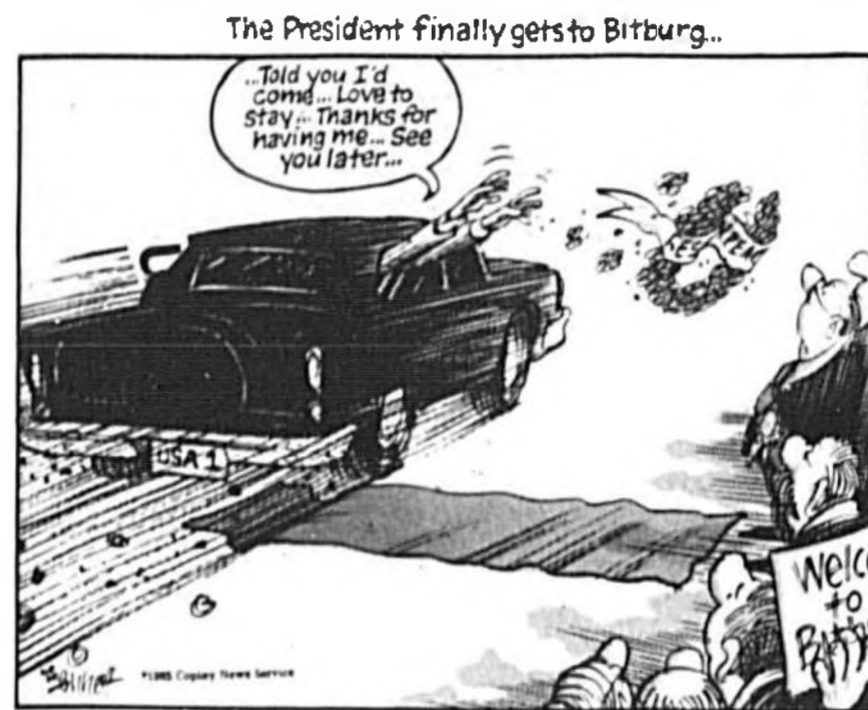

WASHINGTON — There must be something fishy about a multi-million-dollar Pentagon contract that's being held up because of inquiries from us. But that's what appears to have happened to a $50 million contract for the operation of three U.S.-built military bases in the strategic sultanate of Oman.

At the insistence of the sultan and his British advisers, the caretaking contract was supposed to be awarded to a British firm, Airwork Ltd., which took on an American partner, Vinnell Corp., to make the deal less offensive to the Pentagon.

The Pentagon and other U.S. agencies didn't want to turn over super-secret American code machines and other equipment to a foreign company.

But as we've reported, the sultan of Oman is an absolute ruler whose whim is law in the desert nation that dominates the vital Strait of Hormuz.

If the contract doesn't go to the British firm, the United States

Beyond Bush, Kemp

Republican professionals are beginning to look beyond Ronald Reagan and toward 1988, and while it would be an exaggeration to say that they do so with fear and trembling, they nevertheless do so with some uneasiness.

Vice President Bush and New York Rep. Jack Kemp are running all-out, with Bush putting together a high-powered staff and Kemp also organized. Bush himself has been increasingly visible and Kemp is pursuing a schedule of nationwide public appearances that might kill weaker flesh. There is much talk of a possible Bush-Kemp ticket, though both men are clearly going for the top spot at this stage.

Yet while Reagan would be a hard act to follow for any contender, both Bush and Kemp do have some vulnerabilities.

Bush is an able and courageous man who flew in the Pacific war, was captain of the baseball team at Yale and made a fortune in the Texas oil business, yet he remains unable to shake the preppy Eastern Ivy League image. He is felt to be an instinctive establishmentarian, afraid to venture into "voodoo economics" and maybe weak on the so-called social issues. Though he seems to have the support of Jerry Falwell, can he keep the New Right social conservatives in Republican coalition?

Then, too, Bush did well enough in his televised debate with John Zaccaro's wife, but how would he do against Mario Cuomo?

The New York governor is emerging as a Democratic front-runner, and he is a formidable verbal artist. Many political professionals believe the Cuomo would eat Bush alive over nationwide TV. That may not be true, but it is a widespread judgment.

Jack Kemp, on the other hand, is a formidable speaker and might well eat Bush alive over nationwide TV. That may not be true, but it is a widespread judgment.

Under these circumstances, Republicans have been casting their gaze on other possibilities. Jeane Kirkpatrick is a formidable intellect, turned in a brilliant performance at the United Nations, and made one of the memorable speeches at the Dallas convention. Today, a woman could make it to the presidency.

George Deukmejian has been an enormously successful governor of California and is considered unbeatable in 1986. Though he is not an especially effective TV performer, he could be a factor in 1988. And, of course, we have Sen. Robert Dole and former Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker.

But Republicans gazing down the road toward a probable contest with Mario Cuomo see no grounds for complacency.

Cutbacks Hurt War On Cancer

By Al Rosalter Jr.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cancer is an expensive disease, and so is research to find ways to cure it.

But in these days of budget cutbacks, the government is considering reducing its support of the war on cancer.

Most federal funding for cancer studies goes to the National Cancer Institute, an arm of the National Institutes of Health. President Reagan has asked Congress to cut the NCI budget from $1.190 billion for the current fiscal year to $1.126 billion for fiscal 1986.

Supporters of the cancer program are up in arms.

Dr. Gerald Murphy, immediate past president of the American Cancer Society, told a House subcommittee that any reduction in funding for the government's National Cancer Institute "would be like throwing a boulder into the path of a marathon runner just before the finish line."

Murphy said research supported by the cancer institute during the past decade "has brought us to the brink of discoveries as profound as man has ever made."

"To interrupt this progress would be a national tragedy."

Murphy, who is director of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., asked on behalf of the cancer society for an increase in cancer institute funding to $1.3 billion for fiscal 1986.

He said any appropriation less than that "would cause the momentum of research to dissipate and would waste much of the effort and investment of previous years."

Murphy said the cancer society, which will spend $74 million in private funds on cancer this year, estimates $1.5 billion in federal money would be required to maintain the present pace of cancer research.

The costs of treating and caring for a person with cancer are high. A 1983 study, Murphy said, showed that the average American who died of cancer ran up bills of more than $22,000 in medical expenses during the last year of life.

This adds to the government's bill because most victims of cancer are elderly people and the 1983 survey showed that Medicare paid for treatment of almost 88 percent of cancer patients over the age of 65.

Tribe Tracks Down State Title

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

WINTER PARK — Michael Timpson, Hialeah Miami Lakes' spectacular senior, was everything Seminole track coach Ken Brauman thought he would be Saturday. The Penn State-bound Timpson won the 120-yard and 330-yard hurdles, the long jump and the 220 dash.

Four firsts and 28 points from one individual are usually enough to propel any team to the State 4A Track and Field Meet title at Showalter Field.

But as Timpson and his Trojan teammates found out, they weren't taking on just any team. They were pitted against a determined band of Seminole's Fighting Seminoles. And 28 points from Timpson and five more from his teammates just weren't going to be enough on a balmy evening before over 7,000 wildly cheering fans.

Ignited by 18 points in the jumping events from Alvin Jones and Leo Peterson, sustained with a mile victory by Billy Penick and a second place in the 120 hurdles by Frank Barnett and capped by several spirited performances in three relays, Seminole ran away with the 4A boys title Saturday with 50 points.

The 17-point victory earned the second track and field championship in the school's history. Gainesville Buchholz was a distant third with 20 points.

The first title came in 1966. Coach Dick Williams, a former county commission chairman, was the coach. His 1A (comparable to 3A now) team scored 36 points to edge Daytona Beach Seabreeze (35) and DeLand (34) for the title. Bill Frisbey won 100 in 9.7, still a Seminole record and Rick Wallstrom won 180 low hurdles. The 880 relay and sprint medley teams also won while a third in mile relay earned the one-point victory.

Brauman, enjoying his third Florida state championship in 13 years, saluted Timpson for a grand performance but was even prouder of his team for showing itself as the class of the state despite some unforeseen adversity.

"It was the Michael Timpson show. He is a great individual," said Brauman. "But, a great team won the state championship. That's the way it should be."

Brauman and his boys will get no argument after Saturday's performance. The second-year Seminole coach, who won two 3A titles in 11 years at Palatka, had toughened his Tribe by running against the best the state had to offer all season.

The Seminoles had won every meet they entered and the state was the final test. "Our goal this week was to have the best state meet anyone has ever had," said Brauman. "We probably would have, too, if Cliff Campbell hadn't gotten hurt."

Herald Photos by Rob Peery

"But the points we lost there (440 dash), we gained in the long jump. Penick ran a tremendous race and Deron Thompson kept us in both relays."

The adversity was Campbell. The top 440 dash man in the state all year had a two-yard lead with 100 yards to go when he said he heard something pop just above his left ankle. Campbell hobbled in the best he could but couldn't place in the top six.

Seminole, as expected, established its superiority early. Peterson, a junior with senior eligibility, placed second to Timpson in the long jump with a leap of 23-3/4 and Jones was sixth with a jump of 22-7/8. Timpson set a state mark with a leap of 25-1. Timpson's first place gave Miami Lakes seven points while the second and sixth gave Seminole six.

It was the only time Lakes would lead. Dissatisfied with his effort in the long jump, Jones, after a few insightful words from Brauman, leaped to first place in the triple jump with a personal best of 49-5/8. Peterson chipped in a second-place finish with an effort of 48-5/8.

The 12 points gave Seminole 16 from the jumping events, the start Brauman had wanted to open the competition. "It was really ridiculous that they (Jones and Peterson) were sitting in third and fourth place after the prelims," said Brauman about his triple jumpers. "But both have performed all year. When the chips are down, they compete. We talked a little bit but they knew what they had to do."

And they did. Jones, sitting in fourth place, leaped past Peterson and the rest of the field on his final jump. "Leo scared me. I didn't want to lose to him," said Jones. "I was having trouble rebounding (second stage of hop, skip and jump)."

"When I was crouching down for my final jump, I thought, I'm not going to let that guy (Lake Worth Leonard's Courtney Hawkins) beat me and I'm not going to let Leo beat me. I hit the rebound well and when I saw how close I was to the pit, I really went for it."

Jones accounted for eight points and Peterson totaled 10. "I wanted to win and it was important for me to win," Peterson said about his two second places. "But it was more important for us to win the meet. This is a great feeling."

The great feeling inched somewhat higher when Penick ran away with the mile. Adhering to his usual "rabbit strategy," the blond-haired junior broke from the pack quickly. He ran a 58-second first quarter to take a 12-yard lead. Penick hit the half mile in 2:04 to expand his lead to 20 yards. When he turned into the gun lap at 3:11, he was 40 yards ahead of Largo's Matt Farnen.

"I just ran my regular race... get ahead," said an ecstatic Penick. "When I went out, I expected someone to come with me but they didn't. During the last 220 yards, I heard the announcer say that Farnen was making a move."

"I thought, well, second place would be nice. But then I thought, no it wouldn't. I want to win."

Which he did by following some fundamental advice from Brauman to win by seven yards in a personal and school record best of 4:18. "I heard him (Farnen) coming but I just kept my form and working my arms," said Penick. The seven points upped Seminole's total to 25 one-third of the way through the meet.

The 440 relay was next and the quartet of Pat Davis, Louis Brown, Thompson and Barnett was a close second in 42.1. "Frank (Barnett) ran as good a split as I've seen him run," said Brauman. "If Deron hadn't stepped on his foot, we might have won that."

Brauman had expected the Tribe to pick up six to nine points in the 440 dash but Campbell's injury and Martin's seventh-place finish were just out of the money.

The Tribe depth, however, paid dividends in the mile medley and mile relays. Timpson, who earlier nipped Barnett in the 120 hurdles as both were timed in 13.5, won the 330 intermediate hurdles in a state record 36.5 and tied the state mark in the 220 dash with a 20.8 to pull Miami Lakes within striking range.

Brauman then inserted Barnett for Campbell in the medley relay to join Louis Brown, Thompson and Penick. Although Penick faded in his 880 split, the Noles still picked up a valuable fourth place for four points with their 3:42.2 time.

Philpott Thanks Coach Huggins With 6-10 Leap

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

David Huggins coached his last meet Saturday. The popular Lyman coach is giving up track and field to go into the ministry later this year. During his era at Lyman, Huggins' special touch has directed the careers of many great performers.

Saturday night at Showalter Field, Lyman junior Ralph Philpott said thank you for all who have prospered from Huggins' directives.

Philpott, a 6-4 junior, stunned the field at the State 4A Track and Field Meet by leaping a 6-10 to win the high jump. It was an incredible effort — one that is SIX inches better than his previous best.

And one that Huggins will never forget. "That was one of the highlights of my career," said an emotional Huggins after the leap. "Imagine, a young man doing something like that at my last meet."

It was something. "What a time to go over your personal record by six inches," gushed Lyman assistant Joe Laughlin. "And he did it in borrowed shoes."

"I was thinking that it was coach Huggins last meet," said Philpott. "That was a big part of it. He was helping me practice every day and was really pushing me."

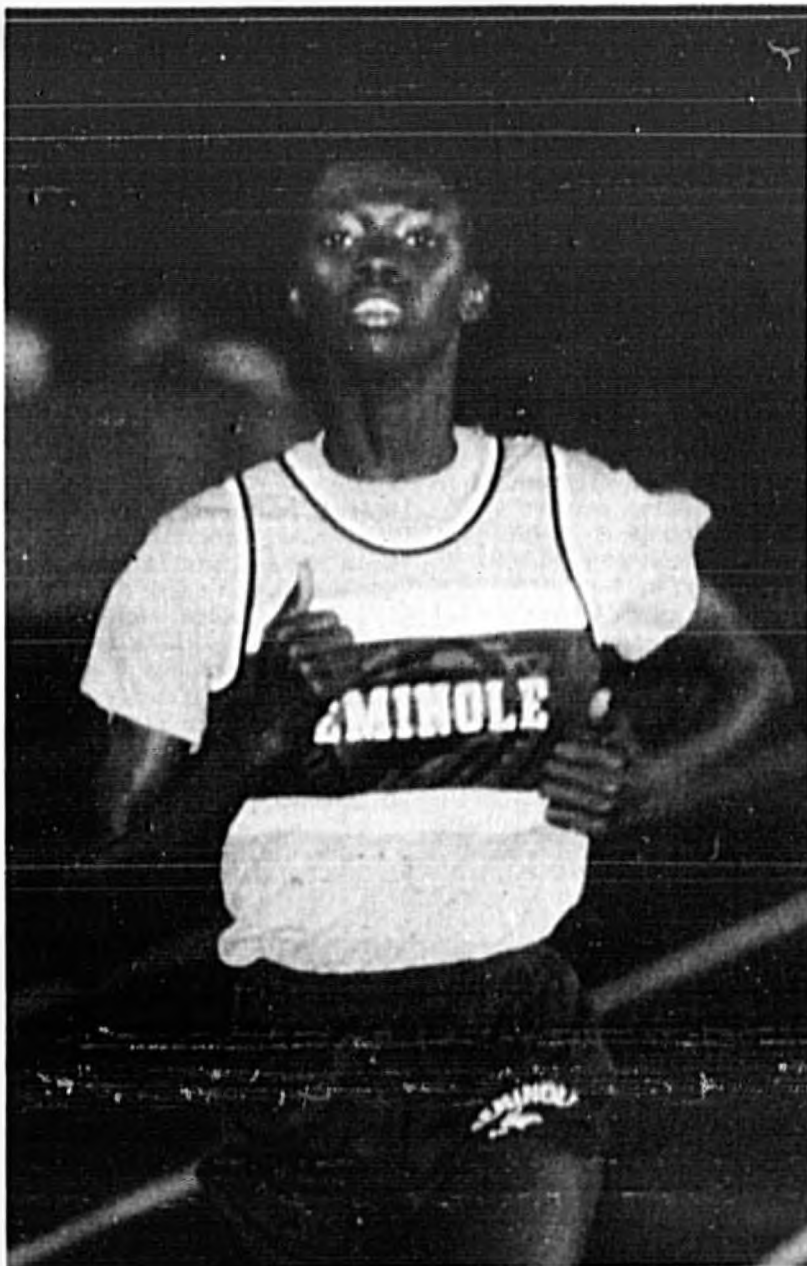

"Since it was his last meet, the least I could do was win it for him."

Philpott, who had been bothered by shin splints and fallen arches, said he knew he could win when he sailed over 6-6. "I hadn't missed yet and when I made 6-6 easy and the other guys struggled, I knew I could win it," he said.

Philpott missed his first two tries at 6-6 but slipped over on the third to clinch the win. He missed once at 6-9 but made it on his second. Philpott missed his first at 6-10 and then cleared his second as the bar wiggled precariously — but stayed on.

"Ralph was really pumped," said Huggins. "He almost made 7-4 on his second try."

Philpott agreed. "I was over 7-0 feet, but that last 4 of inch got me." He said about his attempt at breaking the 7-0 state record.

Shownda Martin cruises along en route to a state record in the 880 run. Martin, a Seminole freshman, broke the standard by over three seconds.

Shownda Shows 'Em How Martin Draws Standing Ovation For Record Romp

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER PARK — Saturday night's 4A State Championships marked the end of the outstanding careers of three Seminole High mainstays but it was also a showcase for a pair of athletes who will be around for a while longer.

Two of those seniors, Glenda Bass and Trina Walker, along with freshmen Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster combined to lead Sanford's Lady Seminoles to a fourth-place finish in the 4A State Meet at Showalter Field.

Orlando Oak Ridge's Lady Pioneers reclaimed the state title with 36 1/2 points compared to 34 for last year's winner, Orlando Evans, 32 for Jacksonville Raines and 31 for Seminole. Oak Ridge has won the championship four of the last five years.

While the team title was not to be for the Lady Seminoles, they turned in a number of the top performances in the meet:

- Martin obliterated the state record in the 880 run as she blazed to a time of 2:10.2. The freshman phenom also kept alive her streak of breaking a record in every meet she's run in this season.

- Webster, Walker and Bass all ran legs on both the mile medley and mile relay teams which took home state titles. The mile relay team broke the meet record.

- Walker, after suffering from a hip pointer the last two weeks, took third in the open quarter-

Track/Field

Oak Ridge jumped out to a big lead early as it scored 13 1/2 points in the field events. Of the other three teams in contention, Evans, Raines and Seminole, only Raines scored in the field events (three points in the long jump).

"The 13 1/2 points in the field events gave them (Oak Ridge) enough points to put them out of reach of everybody," Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "With all the sprinters I've got coming up next year, and the others I have coming back, I'm going to be looking hard to find some field events people."

As she has done all season long, Martin went right out and took control in the 880 and again wasn't pushed. Martin won the half mile by more than 10 seconds as the next closest competitor, Taravella's Mary Ravenswinter, finished at 2:20.3. Martin's time of 2:10.2 shattered the old state record of 2:13.9 set by Carolyn Beck of Clearwater in 1980.

"Shownda kept her streak going and did it in state championship style," Blake said. "We still don't know Shownda's peak. She still wasn't pushed. She always runs confident. She's young as a competitor, but performs as veteran. I'm hoping she gets some good competition in the Golden South Classic. It would be a good experience for her."

After the race was over and the record broken, Martin was walking off the track when she received a standing ovation from the crowd. The total attendance Saturday was over 7,000 fans.

"The ovation was just super," said Blake. "She was one of the highlights in the girls meet."

Seminole also established a new state record in the mile relay as the team of Bass, Martin, Webster and Walker finished in 3:48.2, destroying the old mark of 3:51.0 by Jacksonville Ribault in 1982. There were three state records broken Saturday and one tied.

"Every time we've run our top people we've gone under four minutes," Blake said. "There was never any question we could do it. A lot of the credit goes to Nate Perkins. He's the man behind the scene that helps the girls out a lot. You don't hear much of him but he's the guy that puts in the workouts to make sure everybody's ready."

Bass started off the mile relay with a 440 split of 58.9 and Bass handed off to Martin about the same time Jacksonville Raines made its first exchange. Martin lotted out to the lead in the first 110 yards and ran a sizzling 54.7 split. Webster then took over with Seminole already in command of the race.

Webster ran a 57.6 and the Tribe had a big lead when Walker took the baton for the last leg. Walker could have

Gordon Grabs 2nd In 440 — Samocki Excels In Distances

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER PARK — Since suffering double leg cramps early in the 1985 track season, senior Fran "Flash" Gordon has come back a long way. Lake Howell sophomore Lisa Samocki keeps coming. And Lake Mary senior Jill Buddenhagen has practically come out of nowhere.

Gordon, Samocki and Buddenhagen were three Seminole County athletes who shined brightly at the 4A State Championships Saturday night at Showalter Field.

- Gordon, who has qualified for four state meets for Lake Mary High, ran an outstanding race in the open quarter and took second. Gordon has placed in 3 of the 4 state meets in which she has qualified.

- In taking second in the mile and third in the two mile, Samocki lowered her school records in both events. She also defeated Winter Park's Kim Bovis (in the mile) for the first time this season.

- Buddenhagen, who only scored five points all last season, changed her strategy for the two mile run and it paid off as she took fifth place in the state.

For Florida State-bound Gordon, it was a fine ending to a magnificent career at Lake Mary High. Gordon has been plagued by injuries most of the season but showed what kind of athlete she is by coming back to place second in the state in the 440.

Fort Lauderdale Dillard's Bertha Dooley was just too strong for Gordon as she won with a time of 55.4, just three tenths of a second off the meet record. Gordon came in with a season's best time of 57.1, three tenths off her career best.

"I went out fast like I should have but then tightened up a little," said Gordon, who was also second in the state last year. "But I tried to hang on and I never gave up the whole race. They say you can't repeat, but I repeated."

"Fran ran her race just like we had mapped her out to do it," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "She didn't try to go out and do anything crazy. Fran has come back a long, long way from the middle of season when she had those double leg cramps. To now be running a 67.1 is great."

"She proved she can go out and run a good 220 and a good 330," added Gibson. "All it takes now is to for her to be a little stronger in last 110. Maybe she can come back and give Dooley a run in the Golden South Classic."

Samocki concluded an

Hernandez Makes Mother's Day With Call, Homer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Keith Hernandez had just put on the sweatshirt he wears under his pinstriped Mets' uniform and was making sure it fit comfortably by pulling on the elbows. He glanced up at the clubhouse clock.

"Let's see," he said as much to himself as to anyone else. "It's 11 o'clock here so that means it's 8 there in San Francisco. A little too early. She's still sleeping. I'll wait a little longer."

A half hour or so before, Vern Hoescheit, the Mets' bullpen coach, had made a point of going around the clubhouse reminding everyone, veteran and rookie alike, not to forget what day it was. No matter whatever else they did, Hoescheit told them, they should remember to call their mother.

He didn't have to bother telling Dave Johnson, the Mets' manager. Busy as he was huddling with General Manager Frank Cashen concerning Darryl Strawberry's disablement, scheduled operation and roster changes it necessitated, Johnson never would forget to call his mother, Florence.

Certainly not on Mother's Day. He phoned her early Sunday morning at her home in San Antonio and she told him she'd see him in Houston when he gets there with the team this Wednesday.

Hernandez didn't have to be reminded what day it was, either. His mother, Jacquelin, still a relatively young woman and a very gracious one, suffers from rheumatoid arthritis. She has been afflicted with it now for the past 20 years. It is an extremely painful condition from which only limited relief is obtained.

Quite naturally, her condition is a source of constant concern to her youngest son, Keith, her other son, Gary, and her husband, John, both of whom played in the St. Louis Cardinals' organization before Keith did.

"I could never begin to count the times she held dinner for us," reflected the Mets' first baseman, who shared National League MVP honors with Willie Stargell in 1979 and who seems to be making a bid for the award again this season.

"Dad would be out hitting ground balls to my brother and me until after it got dark and we'd be late for dinner a lot of times, but mom would always keep it warm for us," Hernandez said.

"When I started playing in the Little League, she never missed a game. She took all kinds of moving pictures of my brother and I playing ball. Those movies are priceless now. She worked the concession stand when I played in the Little League. Sometimes, when dad would get real mad, when my brother and me would be in hot water with him, my mother would be the buffer. She'd take our side."

Hernandez' features softened. A smile came over his face. The kind anyone could see but only he could know everything about.

"I love my mother," he suddenly volunteered. "I've got a great one. She still comes out to watch me a lot whenever we play in San Francisco. I think she has seen me play about 80 percent of the games out there. The only games she misses is when it gets too cold in Candlestick Park."

Hernandez waited a while Sunday and then called his mother in San Francisco. She was fixing breakfast for his father and getting ready to watch the Mets-Phillies game on TV. That was possible with the help of the satellite dish her son had bought for the family.

Keith talked with his mother and father before going out to play the Phillies.

Before finishing his conversation with his mother, she said to him, "Now you take good care of yourself and remember, I love you, son."

In the first inning, Hernandez hammered one of Ken Gross' pitches over the right-field fence for his third home run of the season, helping the Mets make a three-game sweep over the Phillies, 3-2.

In her living room more than 3,000 miles away in San Francisco, Jacquelin Hernandez saw it all.

It was the perfect Mother's Day gift for her although her son has something else planned for her he hasn't told her about yet. Her first trip to the Big Apple.

Cooper's HR Stops Skid For Brewers

United Press International
The Milwaukee Brewers were on a three-game losing skid when Cecil Cooper applied the brakes.

Cooper's first homer of the year capped a five-run fifth inning Sunday to lead the Brewers to a 7-4 victory over the California Angels.

"You're always excited when you do something well," said Cooper, one of the top home run hitters in the American League before back ailments curtailed his power last year. "If you're going to get it, that's a good time, especially when it helps your club."

Paul Householder opened the fifth with a walk and took third on Jim Gantner's single. Ed Romero grounded to third baseman Bobby Grich, who threw home in time to get Householder, but catcher Bob Boone dropped the throw for an error. Paul Molitor then bunted for a single to load the bases and chase starter Kirk McCaskill, 0-3.

Dion James forced in Gantner with an RBI groundout before Cooper unloaded his homer over the right-field wall.

The victory ended Milwaukee's three-game losing streak and prevented them from being the sole occupants of last place in the American League East instead of cohabitants with the Cleveland Indians.

Rollie Fingers nailed three batters in order in the ninth to pick up his third save of the season and 327th of his career.

"When he's right, he'll get those left-handers out," said Manager George Bamberger. "The other kid (Bob Gibson) was pitching pretty good and I didn't want to disturb anything, but then they got two men on."

Blue Jays 9, Mariners 5
At Toronto, Damaso Garcia went 3-for-4 and Rance Mulliniks drove in two runs to lead the Blue Jays to a sweep of their three-game series. Dave Stieb, 3-3, went 5 1-3 innings for the victory. Jim Beattie, 1-4, took the loss.

Twins 7, Orioles 3
At Baltimore, Randy Bush had a first-inning grand slam and two doubles and Frank Viola, 6-2, hurled a four-hitter to lead the Twins. Fred Lynn hit a three-run homer in the ninth for the Orioles — his third consecutive ninth-inning homer in the series.

A's 5, Red Sox 3
At Boston, Don Sutton gave up four hits in seven innings and Alfredo Griffin delivered a sacrifice fly in the eighth to carry the A's. Sutton, 3-3, allowed three solo homers for the win, including two to Tony Armas. Rogers Clemens, 3-4, struck out nine, but took the loss.

Royals 6, Yankees 5
At Kansas City, Mo., pinch-hitter Jim Sundberg's bases-loaded single in the ninth to make a winner of Dan Quisenberry, 3-2. With the infield and outfield drawn in, Sundberg hit a drive off Dave Righetti, 1-2. The hit enabled Kansas City to snap a streak of 10 straight losses to the Yankees.

Indians 6, Rangers 0
At Arlington, Texas, Bert Blyleven fired a six-hitter and pinch-hitter Tony Bernazard snapped a scoreless tie with an RBI single in the seventh inning to lead the Indians. For Blyleven, 2-3, it was his second shutout of the season and 48th of his career. Dickie Noles, 2-3, took the loss.

White Sox 4, Tigers 0
At Chicago, Floyd Bannister, 2-3, tossed a seven-hitter and struck out 11 to pace the White Sox. The left-hander walked one and did not allow a Tiger to reach third base. Jack Morris, 4-4, went the distance for Detroit, yielding six hits and taking the loss.

Tim Raines fouls off a pitch in spring training. Raines came out of his slump with three hits Sunday as the Expos blanked the Braves for the fourth straight time.

Raines Snaps Slump, Expos Blank Atlanta

MONTREAL (UPI) — Right-hander David Palmer had no choice. Winning was no longer enough for the Montreal Expos pitching staff. Shutout hurling is the order.

Palmer combined with Jeff Reardon on a six-hit shutout Sunday afternoon as Montreal blanked the Atlanta Braves 4-0, allowing the Expos to notch their club-record fourth straight shutout.

Expos pitchers have thrown a club-record 39 straight scoreless innings.

"Everyone in this ball park is throwing a shutout," Palmer said. "The pressure was also on me to hold them scoreless."

It was Palmer's longest outing of the season, eight innings. "It wasn't easy because I had two bad innings," he added.

In the fourth inning, the Braves loaded the bases but Palmer struck out Rafael Ramirez to end the threat. In the seventh, Claudell Washington grounded out with runners on first and third.

Reardon finished off by throwing the last inning. Atlanta starter Craig McMurtrey, 0-1, took the loss.

"I wasn't disappointed to give way to Jeff," Palmer mentioned. "With all these shutouts we're getting lately, the bullpen isn't getting any work."

offensive hero, going 3-for-3. "It was about time I came out of my slump," said Raines, who was batting .238 going into Sunday's game. "It's great to contribute when the team is going like this."

The Expos took a two-run lead when Tim Wallach singled. Herm Winningham walked and Sal Butera singled home Wallach. With runners at first and third, Butera was picked off, but Raines' triple brought home Winningham to make it 3-0.

In the third, Dan Driessen hit his fifth homer of the year to increase the lead to 4-0.

Montreal manager Buck Rodgers was happy to see Raines hitting the ball again.

"Tim is stinging the ball," Rodgers said. "I knew it was just a matter of time."

Including Wednesday's shutout in New York, the Braves have been blanked for 36 consecutive innings, a club record.

Gott Turns Around Trot, Blasts Nip Cards

United Press International
In his first three years in the major leagues, the only home run trot Jim Gott ever made was back to the dugout after giving up one. Sunday, he took the more enjoyable route around the base paths.

Twice. The right-hander, who before this season had never taken a major-league at bat, blasted two solo homers to twice rally the Giants and pave the way for San Francisco's 5-4 10-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

In addition to becoming the first pitcher to hit two home runs in one game since Met Walt Terrell in 1983, Gott laid down a sacrifice bunt to help the Giants score another run.

"I was a home run hitter in high school," said Gott, who came to the Giants from the Toronto Blue Jays in an off-season deal for Gary Lavelle.

But before this year, I had only had one at-bat as a professional. That was in Double-A and the pitcher I faced was Scott Garretts (now Gott's teammate) and he struck me out on three straight pitches."

Garretts, 2-1, came on in the 10th to pick up the victory. Gott pitched the first seven innings.

San Francisco got its game-winning run from a source almost as unlikely as Gott.

David Green, who entered the game with just four hits in 50 at bats this season, singled home Chili Davis from second base with one out in the 10th to nail down the triumph. Green was 3-for-5 on the day.

N.L. Baseball

St. Louis had tied the score 4-4 in the ninth when Ozzie Smith hit a solo homer, his second.

Both of Gott's homers came off Bob Forsch and each time tied the score.

In other games, Houston outslugged Cincinnati 10-5, Montreal blanked Atlanta 4-0, San Diego beat Chicago 5-3.

Astros 10, Reds 5

At Cincinnati, Phil Garner singled in a run to break a 3-3 tie in the fifth and Mark Bailey, Bill Doran and Denny Walling homered to power Houston. Bob Knepper, 4-0, pitched five innings to earn the victory and Jeff Calhoun finished for his second save. Jay Tibbs, 2-5, took the loss.

Padres 5, Cubs 3

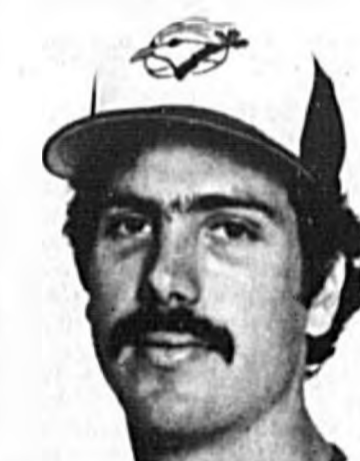

At San Diego, Dave Dravecky, 2-2, and Rich Gossage combined on a seven-hitter and the Padres took advantage of a two-run throwing error by first baseman Keith Moreland to post the victory. Dravecky won his second straight game and Gossage notched his ninth save. Dick Ruthven, 1-2, suffered the defeat.

Mets 5, Phillies 2

At New York, Danny Heep went 2-for-4 and scored the winning run to spark New York to its sixth straight victory. Ron Darling, 3-1, was the winner and Jesse Orosco finished for his fourth save. Kevin Gross saw his record slide to 2-4, while Philadelphia lost its sixth in a row.

Dodgers 2, Pirates 0

At Los Angeles, Bobby Castillo, making his first NL start since 1981, pitched a

Milk, Egg Allergy? Take Calcium Pills

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 9-year-old son has been allergic to various things all his life. He was recently diagnosed as being allergic to milk and eggs. How can he replace the calcium and protein he will miss?

DEAR READER — Children who are allergic to eggs usually have to avoid eggs in any form; this is not too difficult. Youngsters who are sensitive to milk, however, are usually allergic to the sugar (lactose) in milk. Therefore, they can often eat milk products in which the lactose has been degraded. Your son may be able to eat yogurt and lactose-free milk.

If that is not possible, you can provide the non-milk calcium he needs by using calcium pills. There are a number of chewable brands made for children.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 78 and in good health except for one thing. I do not have a cold, but I cough a lot. I have sneezing spells and my nose runs.

DEAR READER — If your coughing is not due to lung or heart disease, you probably have an inhalational allergy. Simply stated, you are breathing in some substance that is irritating your nose and throat. Tobacco smoke, fumes and vapors are obvious causes of this condition; but some people can react to unlikely things such as feathers, the fecal matter of dust mites, animal hair and material used for clothing.

I suggest that you see an allergist who can help you identify the factors causing your excess mucus secretions. If the factors are unavoidable, you may be helped by desensitization injections.

DEAR DR. GOTT — For the last year I have suffered from bursitis. What can I do to get rid of the pain and the burning in my left hip and leg? I have used ice and a heat massage.

DEAR READER — Most joints in the body are lined by a thin but tough membrane called a bursa. This sac holds in the fluid that lubricates the joints. Sometimes the bursa becomes inflamed, and bursitis results. Anti-inflammatory medication, heat and rest are usually suffi-

Dr. Gott

I would feel more comfortable — and I know you would, too — if you had an examination to determine the cause of your pain. Once the source is defined, the treatment can be tailored to the problem.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Pre-empting with a long suit has one main disadvantage: You inform your opponents that you are probably short in other suits. A declarer has to remember that tables of probability of distribution do not apply when one defender is known to have a long suit.

After North had responded one no-trump to South's one-spade opening, East jumped to three diamonds — a pre-emptive bid in his methods. Although the strength of the South hand would not ordinarily justify his jumping to three hearts over one no-trump, he had sufficient values to show his second suit at the three level when the three-diamond bid took away bidding room.

North was happy to raise to game, even though his diamond king was poorly placed. The defense started with two diamond tricks. Next came a club, and declarer took the ace. A spade was played to the queen in dummy and a heart back to the king.

The contract was safe, but a decision needed to be made for the overtrick. Normally when declarer is missing four cards including the queen, the best chance according to probability tables is to play for the drop.

When East is known to have great length in the diamond suit, the right play changes. Declarer led the heart jack and let it ride. When East showed out, South ruffed a low spade, cashed the heart ace, dropping the queen, and ruffed a club back to his hand.

The spades were now established to take care of dummy's remaining club losers.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MAY 14, 1985

Do not be reluctant in the year ahead to request business favors from people you've been kind to in the past. They'll be eager to repay old debts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When you make a commitment today others will hold you to your word. Don't promise to do things you doubt you can carry out. Major changes are ahead for Taurus in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail #1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Complex instructions given to you by another should not be committed only to memory today. To be on the safe side, get out your pad and take notes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

The only thing that counts today is when you cross the finish line. Don't be someone who gets a fast start and then loses interest in the race.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) People whose support you need will back off today if they think you are disguising your true motives. Lay all of your cards on the table.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Plan your moves carefully today so that you don't get mired in a sticky situation where it becomes necessary for others to pull you out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's important that you know when to stop selling today or you might make a good deal for yourself and then talk the other guy out of it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Focus completely on the activity at hand today. If you decide upon a fun involvement, don't feel guilty about duties you're temporarily shelving.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

The aspects indicate that you may have a tendency today to cater to your wasteful whims regardless of what your common sense tells you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not be too hasty to point the finger of blame at others today without examining your own behavior. You may be the culprit, not they.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Poor decisions will be the result in important matters today if you worry too much about the ifs and maybes instead of concentrating on the here and now.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is not a good day to do business with friends. When dealing with pals, you might make unwise concessions. Instead of driving a hard bargain.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Put your faith in one who has proven loyal to you previously, not in an individual who you hope may be able to do something for you in the future.

by Leonard Starr
