I-4 lane closing for tonight

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The outside, right lane of Interstate 4 between State Roads 434 and 436 will be closed tonight beginning at 8 p.m. Crews will be placing beams across the interstate for the Central Parkway bridge. The lane will reopen at 6 a.m. the next morning.

County road work underway

SANFORD — Only two Seminole County road projects are scheduled to be underway this week. Work continues on the $6.7 million widening of Lake Mary Boulevard between Markham Woods Road and Country Club Road. The road, when completed in May 1993, will have four lanes between Markham Woods Road and Interstate 4, six lanes from I-4 to Rinehart Road and four lanes from Rinehart Road to Country Club Road. Work is expected to begin this week to rejuvenate the asphalt on Markham Road from County Road 431 to Markham Woods Road. The project will be complete August 9. It will cost $260,000.

FHP plans checkpoints

SANFORD — The Florida Highway Patrol may stage daytime checkpoints on area roads during the next two weeks. The checkpoints are set up to check driver's registration and auto equipment. If criminal violations are found, such as drunken driving, arrests may be made. The checks could occur at any time on any road scheduled for the week as time and manpower allows. This week, through Thursday, checkpoints may occur on the following roads: County Road 15, Gen. J.C. Hutchison Parkway, Marquette Road, Orange Boulevard, Old Lake Mary Road, State Road 426 and Persimmon Avenue. During the week of Aug. 9 to Aug. 15, checkpoints may occur at the following roads: Airport Boulevard, C.R. 15, Markham Road, Orange Boulevard, Osceola Road, Upsala Road and Persimmon Avenue.

Woman claims age record

MENDOTA, Calif. — An 88-year-old woman who said her husband had "never let me do anything even close to this" is claiming a record as the oldest woman ever to sky dive. Hazel Stout, of Portland, Ore., parachuted from a plane 10,500 feet over central California on Saturday. If her jump is accepted by the Guinness Book of World Records, it would shatter the mark set by an 80-year-old Briton, Sylvia Brett, in 1986. "My husband, when he was alive, never let me do anything even close to this," Stout said. "He wouldn't even let me cross the street alone. He's probably turning over in his grave right now." Parachuting is just the most recent of numerous adventures Stout has tried since her husband died 11 years ago. In recent years, she's gone ice fishing, broken a foot while body surfing in Hawaii and slid along waterfalls that tumble over granite shelves in New Hampshire.

Certificate of Need

Hospital a step closer to open heart program

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital is another step closer to receiving a long sought-after open heart program. The hospital is seeking a CON, a certificate of need. The hospital had first applied for a CON over two years ago. HRS denied the application. Central Florida Regional Hospital then appealed to the 5th District Court of Appeals requesting that the matter be reconsidered.

The court issued a ruling on June 6, which declared the decision reversed, but a 15 day window was left open for an appeal.

Now, word has been received that the Court of Appeals has overturned the earlier ruling by HRS which denied certification. The Court denied a motion for rehearing by Adventist Health System/Sunbelt, Inc., (Florida Hospital), filed June 21, and declared Humana Hospital-Lucerne's motion for rehearing filed July 5 as stricken.

The hospital's Director of Marketing Lisa Schultz said the next possibility is for the other two hospitals to ask for a ruling from the State Supreme Court. "The question would be whether or not the Supreme Court believes it has jurisdiction over this matter," she said. "If the Court says no, then the most recent decision will stand."

Schultz said whenever the CON is finally granted, the hospital can set construction of the project into motion by possibly as early as Thanksgiving of this year, although the actual start date for the open heart surgery will still have to be established.

Both of the two Orlando area hospitals, Lucerne and Florida Hospital, have CON approval for open heart surgery.

If the Central Florida Regional Hospital is granted the certificate of need, Schultz said, "We would be able to provide the people of this area with open heart surgery, which will prevent them from having to drive to Orlando or some other distant hospitals." She added, "Considering the age of many people in Central Florida, this is

Longwood honors six for efforts

LONGWOOD — Six area public safety officers were honored in Longwood last night. Plaques were presented for heroic efforts during a recent Babe Ruth League baseball game.

Singled out for special honors during last night's Longwood City Commission meeting, were Longwood Police Officers Steve Falk and Carl Strohsal and Sgt. Stephante Ryan, Longwood Firefighter W. G. Ryan, and Seminole County Deputies Capt. Marty Labrusiano and Sgt. Dave K. Smith.

Awards were presented by State Representative Frank Stone, Boston Red Sox baseball player Bernie Carbo and Longwood Babe Ruth Baseball President Steve Palumbo.

During a Babe Ruth State Tournament, July 12, at Longwood's Candyland Park, several still unidentified persons manufactured explosive devices, bombs, and placed them at the ball park. Two devices exploded without injuring any persons, however a third was located immediately following the initial explosions. The bomb was reported to be active and contained a liquid acid.

The law enforcement officers and firefighters were able to evacuate the area, and later intentionally explode the bomb without any damage or injuries.

The police then searched the area and located the persons who

Soap Box Derby winners await national competition in Akron

SANFORD — The two winners of the Soap Box Derby races in Sanford, July 13, are now in Akron, Ohio. They are reported anxiously awaiting the start of this Saturday's National finals.

Sanford City Recreation Director Mike Kirby has received word that both winners arrived in Akron Monday. The two are Will Perry, 13, of Titusville, who won the Masters Division race, and Jessica Twandell, 10, also of Titusville, who won the Kid Car Division.

The two have already been given special honors in Akron for the excellent way in which their cars were prepared. "It's called the V.I.P. competition," Kirby said. "There are many extremely specific requirements for the various cars entered in the national race. They check for weight, height, balance, and many other things, and only those cars that are classified as perfect

ACB founder says county reducing board powers

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A founder of Seminole County's Animal Control Board decries what she says are efforts to gut the powers of the board that oversees county animal regulations.

"Why are we changing something we know has functioned for 16 years," said Diane Alberts. "I wrote this by copying portions of various other ordinances. We didn't invent anything new here."

But the county officials who operate the Animal Control Department say times have changed.

"Before, we didn't have a good management structure so we needed someone to guide them," said Frank Kirk, acting animal control official. "Now, we try to operate the department as a business so we do not need that input."

In 1974 Alberts helped create Seminole County's animal control ordinance which has since served as a model for other ordinances throughout the country. It created the animal control board to sit as judge and jury to determine if certain animals are vicious and should be destroyed.

While controversies raged throughout the country about pit bulls, the county's ordinance continued to function blindly. Regardless of the type animal that bites or injures someone, these animals are reviewed by the board to determine if they are vicious and should be destroyed.

The ordinance also gave the board the authority to recommend new ordinances or changes to commissioners, recommend changes in operations of the animal control shelter and animal control functions and review the annual department budget. The ordinance required the board to meet at least four times a year or whenever the chairman calls a meeting.

Commission unanimously votes on inn

By NICK PFEIFAU

LONGWOOD — The Longwood City Commission took action toward considering a new city hall last night. It is only the first step however, in what could prove to be a rather long walk.

The matter centers on the possibility of the city purchasing the old Longwood Village Inn, to be used as a city hall. No purchase price has been announced by the city or the building's owners, CNL Properties, Inc.

The commissioners voted unanimously on the first reading of an ordinance that would authorize the matter to be placed on the November 5 ballot. In making the motion to accept the first reading, Commissioner Rex Anderson said, "I want to bring this matter out, in order to give the citizens their right to decide through their vote."

Anderson asked City Administrator Don Terry to explain that the purchase, "is in no way included in this coming year's budget."

Terry assured the commission it was not. "What this is for," Terry said, "is so we can determine if we can make a purchase or lease-purchase

Student faces expulsion over gun

FORT LAUDERDALE — A high school student who took a gun from a troubled peer is facing expulsion for handling a firearm in school.

The Broward School District's firearms policy demands automatic expulsion for anyone who handles a gun. Tuesday, the school board will debate whether that applies to Ryan Goldstein, 17, of Ely High School.

Last week, board members discussed revising the policy to add a measure of discretion.

"We have to do something," board member Diana Wasserman said. "We could affect his chances for college or whatever. We don't know."

The School Board cannot take away his diploma, but they can place a retroactive expulsion on his transcript.

On March 19, near the end of Goldstein's school year, a troubled student went to him. Goldstein had served as a peer counselor in the school for two years.

As Goldstein and the other student talked, the student pulled out a loaded Colt .45-caliber automatic pistol, Goldstein said.

The student made threats against another Ely student. Goldstein took the handgun away and unloaded it.

"To this day, I still think I did the right thing. It's not everyday someone has a Colt .45 shoved in his face," Goldstein said.

But his mistake was in not turning in the gun right away, school administrators said. Instead, he hid it off campus.

Trooper awarded plaque

MELBOURNE — A Florida State Trooper was awarded a plaque by a grateful family he rescued three times in one evening.

Dave Holloway, a Melbourne resident, has been a state trooper for six months. He first met the Brooks family of Fort Lauderdale when he helped them change a tire on Interstate 95 around 9:30 p.m. June 15.

At the first rescue Holloway told the Brooks, who were traveling to a church convention in Oklahoma, that it was rare for a trooper to show up so quickly.

"They were lucky that I had happened to go by there because we only had five to seven troopers out there at one time and they could have been there for a while," Holloway said.

After changing the van's flat tire, Holloway tracked down a reckless driver. Later, at a Cocoa exit, he pulled over to help a disabled vehicle with a flat tire. He said he had a good laugh when he saw it was the same family.

"They said 'After you told us the odds are slim that a trooper would come by and find us, we just knew that we would be here all night,'" Holloway said.

After calling a tow truck, Holloway took three of the five passengers in his car to the hotel.

Then the tow truck started acting up.

Red tide crawls up coast

ST. PETERSBURG — A red tide has extended its reach from the beaches of middle Sarasota County to southern Pinellas County, researchers said.

Thousands of dead fish have washed up on shore as the wave of poisonous, plant-like organisms made its slow crawl northward, Beverly Roberts, a researcher with the state Department of Natural Resources, said Monday.

The DNR has recommended no shellfishing in the affected area. On Monday, they added Boca Ciega Bay to that ban.

Red tide concentrations were first found last week off the coast of Manatee and Sarasota counties. A toxin is released by microscopic red tide algae when it blooms, often giving the water a murky brownish-red tint.

Shellfish can accumulate high concentrations of red tide toxin. When eaten by humans, the shellfish can cause serious illness. Red tide also kills fish and can be blown ashore and cause respiratory problems in humans.

Accused murderer takes stand

ST. PETERSBURG — John C. Barrett, accused of botching a murder plot to kill a woman, testified Monday that he was only standing by as four men at the scene were killed instead.

The 26-year-old Melrose man is accused of being hired by Dorsey Sanders III to kill Sanders' mother, JoAnn Sanders, on Aug. 3, 1990. Authorities believe Barrett instead killed four men at her Floral City home.

He could face death in the electric chair if convicted of first-degree murder in the shootings of Jerry Lee Clark, Robert Hemingway, Lawrence Johnson and Roger Wilson. Barrett also faces one count of conspiracy to commit murder.

Assistant State Attorney Anthony Tattl concluded the state's case Monday, after three hours of testimony by evidence experts.

One of the most damaging pieces of evidence presented by the state was a towel found in a search of Barrett's home. Blood and hair strands on the towel matched those of Wilson, according to a report by the FBI. Some of the blood also matched Clark and Barrett.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Job discrimination complaints rise

Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — The number of job discrimination complaints filed in Florida is soaring to record numbers, with 10,700 new complaints in the last year.

Complaints against Florida employers climbed steadily from 2,218 in 1980 to 10,146 in 1990, the Sun-Sentinel in Fort Lauderdale reported Monday.

The fiscal year ending in June brought 10,700 new complaints, according to the Florida Commission on Human Relations.

The recession, recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions and rhetoric about "job quotas" have contributed to the problem of job discrimination in the state, said Ronald McElrath, executive director of the commission.

"Over the last eight to 10 years, the message has been that maybe discrimination is not as taboo as it used to be," McElrath said. "And when times are hard, employers look out for folks closest to them. They identify with the ones who go to their church, their country club — people like themselves."

Those who investigate the complaints say minority and women workers are becoming more assertive at a time when more employers feel they can get away with practices once deemed discriminatory.

In Washington and Tallahassee, civil rights bills designed to help victims of job discrimination bring their cases to court have spurred bitter debates over what constitutes discrimination.

Opponents of the legislation, including employer groups, see discrimination today as a series of individual exceptions, not a systemic problem requiring class-action suits.

Supporters argue that discrimination is widespread and that much of it is subtle and indirect.

The increase in complaints filed is not a definite indicator that job discrimination is on the rise.

Some complaints prove groundless. Many people complain, but cannot prove their cases. An untold number of others are victims of discrimination but never complain.

But the figures do at the least show a rising tide of frustration.

State natural resources director announces October resignation

By BILL BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — With government and environmental leaders already discussing a successor, the head of Florida's Department of Natural Resources announced he would resign this fall.

Though his departure was rumored in connection with investigations of DNR's Florida Marine Patrol, department Executive Director Tom Gardner said through an aide that those probes didn't hasten his exit.

He said he would resign Oct. 22, and planned to become a consultant for state agencies.

Gardner, 45, began work for state government in June 1989 as a personnel technician in the Department of Administration. He had been executive director of the Department of Natural Resources since July 1, 1987.

In announcing his resignation, he thanked Chiles and the Cabinet for their backing in disputes over natural resources issues which "always seem to infringe on someone's property or perceived personal rights."

"The support has been there when it was needed," he said in a news release.

Gardner said he was resigning because, "I feel the need to embark on a new career path with new challenges and new opportunities."

Spokeswoman Shari Naftzinger said his departure wasn't connected with the Marine Patrol investigations.

"He knew the press would see a link, but there really wasn't a link. He just felt the time was right," Naftzinger said.

She said Gardner delayed leaving until Oct. 22 because he thought the Marine Patrol probes would be done by then and didn't want to leave before they were completed.

She said Gardner wouldn't comment beyond his news release.

Pregnant woman killed; man charged

Associated Press

MILTON, Fla. — A Florida Panhandle man was being held Monday on an open count of murder in the beating death of a woman who was about nine months pregnant, authorities said.

The open count means a grand jury will decide whether to indict Jimmie Ralph Archie and if so the degree of homicide for the death of Marian Anita Jackson and possibly that of her fetus, which also died.

Archie, 47, a laborer, lived off and on with the 31-year-old victim at her Milton apartment, said police Capt. Bob Young. He was unsure whether the fetus had been fathered by Archie.

Paramedics were called to Ms. Jackson's apartment Saturday afternoon and took her to Santa Rosa Medical Center where she was pronounced dead. Doctors tried but failed to save the baby's life.

Archie was at the apartment when paramedics arrived and he accompanied them to the hospital, Young said.

Lawmaker would track child molesters

Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH — U.S. Rep. Craig T. James announced Monday he would co-sponsor legislation to establish a national computer network for tracking child molesters.

The National Child Abusers Registration Act would make it more difficult for convicted child molesters to move from one state to another, abusing new children in each area, James said in a statement from his district office.

"Under our proposal, one phone call is all it would take for local police to gather key background information that could protect an innocent child," said James, R-DeLand.

An individual convicted of a crime against children would be permanently registered with the Justice Department's National Crime Information Center. Local day care centers, schools, Little Leagues and other children's organizations could then access the computer to verify that prospective employees to do not have prior child abuse convictions.

"You only have to look at the statistics to tell that we have a problem," James said.

A study found that 74 percent of imprisoned offenders had one or more prior convictions for a sexual offense against a child, he said. Another study found that typical offenders molest an average of 117 children.

"They can freely remain close and have personal contact with children without anyone learning the truth about their past," James said. "I think we need to change that."

Stolen cars pass through Florida

Associated Press

Roadways in the island nations of the Caribbean are teeming with pilfered BMWs, fully loaded Mercedes, Nissan Pathfinders and Jeep Wagoneers — many of which came through ports in the Sunshine State.

Estimates of the number of stolen cars shipped through Florida ports, mostly through terminals on the East Coast, range as high as 3,000 a month.

"They're not just Florida cars. Some cars from as far away as New York and New Jersey are stolen and transported down here," Lt. Jacques DeRemer, head of the Miami-based Auto Theft Task Force, told The Tampa Tribune in an article Sunday.

U.S. Customs officials say crooks have capitalized on a state decision in February to save $880,000 a year by dropping a program for inspecting cars before they are exported.

Customs officials say they're scrambling to fill the inspection gap, but the work is time-consuming and manpower is short.

The total value of stolen cars shipped from Florida this year is expected to soar past $600 million, authorities say. Once the cars hit foreign shores, their values double, even triple.

The export of stolen cars, one Miami detective said, is a "fabulously profitable business."

It's also a highly sophisticated one.

Thieves cruise neighborhoods from Miami to New York, making computerized inventory of cars they may later steal. Specialists doctor identification plates and supply phony titles and bills of sale.

Some cars are driven south by couriers; others are trucked in.

Sometimes, they're loaded aboard freighters and are chained to the deck in full view. At other times, thieves work under cover of darkness.

"Late at night, with their tires screeching and their headlights out, an entire fleet of cars can race on board a ship and be headed to the islands an hour later. And there will be no one there to know the difference," said Ziggy Zablocki, a Broward County auto-theft investigator who also heads the Florida Auto Crime Intelligence Unit.

Some autos stolen lately included Bill Cosby's BMW and Gerardo Rivera's Land Cruiser. Both were stolen earlier this year from the garages of their Manhattan apartments and were bound for the islands before police found them and shipped them back north.

In Miami, a multiagency group has been established by Metro-Dade police that includes agents from Miami, U.S. Customs and the FBI to stop the flow of stolen cars.

Miami detectives seized 75 late-model, four-wheel drive trucks in the last year, all stolen around New York, all found scattered in driveways and warehouses around Dade County and all headed to the Dominican Republic. Police in May arrested Jaime Diaz, 40, the man they say masterminded the thefts. Diaz is being held in a federal lockup on a $1 million bond.

But while the bust netted $2 million worth of autos, it caused hardly a ripple in the flood of stolen cars passing through Florida's ports.

Suspected robber nabbed

A car driven by James Roosevelt Little, 31, 514 Palmtoe Ave., Sanford, was stopped by a Sanford Police officer at 6th Street and Hickory Avenue Sunday. According to a report, the officer said Little appeared to be nervous and was clutching a bag on his lap. The bag reportedly contained an amount of jewelry.

As the officer conducted his investigation, a report was received from another officer who was investigating the theft of jewelry, worth an estimated $600, from a residence at 621 Park Ave. in Sanford. Some of the jewelry was identified by its owner from the owner's initials engraved on it.

According to the police report, Little said officers he had purchased the bag of jewelry from another person, for $30, and was not the robber.

Little was arrested on charges of grand theft and possession of stolen property. He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Cocaine shows up in a strange place

As Seminole County Sheriff's deputy Kenneth Kaiser was cleaning his patrol car at his Sanford home last week, he found a battle under the rear seat. A check revealed the bottle contained several pieces of crack cocaine.

It's believed the cocaine may have been hidden by a person who had been apprehended and transported in the patrol car, several weeks ago. The cocaine was taken to the sheriff's office where it has been earmarked for destruction.

Wanted man located

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies located Eugene Frederick Williams, 29, of Orange City, near S.R. 46 and Interstate 4 Sunday. Williams had been wanted on a warrant issued in Putnam County, Florida, for failing to appear to answer burglary charges. He is being held in the John E. Polk Correctional Facility awaiting transferral to Putnam County.

Officer narrowly misses injury, suspect arrested

SANFORD — A Sanford police officer reported narrowly missing injury when a man fired a rifle at him Monday night. His squad car received a wounded fender, however.

Officer Gregory Smith reported he arrived at 216 Justin Way at about 9:45 p.m. after police received a complaint about an intoxicated man. Smith reported that when he rang the door bell and stood at the side of the door, an explosion shattered concrete and damaged the door. The bullet pierced the front fender of his squad car, Smith wrote.

Smith wrote he looked inside the window and saw Patrick H.

Huff, 49, standing behind the door with a rifle. He ran to the side of the house, but Huff turned on the porch light and emerged from the house, arms raised, saying "Come on," Smith wrote.

Huff was arrested and charged with attempted murder of a policeman and use of a firearm during commission of a felony. He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held without bond. Smith reported Huff told him police had been harassing him since an incident several months ago and he wanted to embarrass them.

reportedly manufactured and placed the device at the park. The suspects reportedly have confessed to the crime and were later charged with a second degree felony which could result in a sentence of 15 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

The honors were bestowed on the officers by Robert Tolson, Commissioner of the Babe Ruth Baseball League, professional baseball player Bernie Carbo of the Boston Red Sox, Seminole County Sheriff Don Bodey, and the mayor and members of the Longwood City Commission.

In addition to the individual honors, Stone presented the National Babe Ruth Professional Award to the City of Longwood, with City Administrator Don Terry, Police Chief Greg Manning and Fire Chief C. Chapman accepting it. Stone described the award as "a medal handed out, but particularly deserved by the City of Longwood, the law enforcement officers and fire fighters." An additional plaque was presented to Mayor Hank Hardy who accepted it on behalf of the City of Longwood.

A large audience of friends and co-workers, and many young baseball players were on hand for the ceremony. Following the presentations, a large cake was shared, specially decorated for the young ball players, which gave the city commission meeting a party atmosphere.

The commission chambers was packed with a standing room only crowd for the honors. As it concluded however, Babe Ruth League team members and others who attended the special observance departed, leaving just 23 persons on hand for the remainder of the city commission meeting.

Honesty reward for woman who returned $23,000

Associated Press

POMPANO BEACH — Honesty was the reward for a woman who found $23,000 in her car and returned it to a vacationing couple.

April Bodey, 21, discovered a burgundy travel bag in the back seat of her car when she arrived home from a Tupperware party. Inside were $12,500 in cash, $10,850 in traveler's checks and two Colombian passports.

Fearing it might be drug money, she called Pompano Beach police.

Officer John McCabe used a rental car agreement, plane tickets and receipts found in the bag to track down its owners in a Sarasota hotel.

It turned out that the Columbian couple, who recently began a month-long vacation in the United States, mistakenly had placed the bag in Bodey's car at a Florida Turnpike service plaza, police said.

They reclaimed their money and thanked Bodey for her honesty but didn't offer a reward.

"There are honest people and good police officers around. That's what this incident shows," said the man, 61, who asked that his name not be published because he was carrying so much cash.

520 kids attend 'Super Saturday'

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — About 100 kids from Seminole County joined 400 other children from central Florida on a movie trip to Pleasure Island Saturday.

The trip's transportation was provided by Tri-County Transit as part of their weekly summer "Super Saturday" program, co-sponsored by Walt Disney World. The children are members of Boys and Girls Club and include children from Sanford, Midway and other sections of the county.

"It went off without a hitch," said Tri-County spokesman Suzanne Stearns. "We had 520 kids. They get to talking to their friends you know."

The kids were treated to a Disney movie, "The Rescuers Down Under," and popcorn, followed by lunch aboard the "Empress Lilly" Riverboat before returning home Saturday afternoon.

Walt Disney World has sponsored the weekly trips for low-income children. Tri-County drivers volunteer their time to pick up the kids and take them to the Super Saturday locations.

The program was organized by Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley and other Tri-County authority members as a way to orient children to bus travel. Tri-County is also sponsoring the "Dime Time" program for children.

School-aged children can use each dime ticket to ride anywhere in the Tri-County Seminole and Orange County service area. Books of 10 tickets can be purchased from area schools.

Two fathers keep promises

Associated Press

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Nearly five years ago, when he buried his son, Joseph Viscido promised he would track down the person who killed him.

"I've never broken a promise to that kid in my life," Viscido said.

Last September, after Viscido provided what police say was invaluable help, Carl Stephen Rosati was indicted on charges of murdering 26-year-old Joseph Viscido Jr.

It was then that Carl H. Rosati made a vow to his son: He would do everything he could to prove his innocence.

Florida authorities say Rosati, 31, and Peter Dallas forced their way into the younger Viscido's Deerfield Beach apartment in October 1986 to steal cocaine. During a struggle, Viscido, a champion surfer, was shot in the head.

Dallas, indicted with Rosati, has pleaded guilty to second-degree murder. He is expected to testify against Rosati and a third man, Peter Roussonicoles, when the case goes to trial.

Rosati maintains he was in Rhode Island, running his health spa and planning his wedding, when Viscido was killed. Twenty-two witnesses corroborated his story in court, but six witnesses placed him in Florida.

Viscido and the authorities have released few details about the case. But police have said they believe Roussonicoles set up the robbery and Dallas and Rosati were the gunmen.

The Rhode Island Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered Rosati extradited to Florida for trial.

The order ended an extradition battle that spanned nearly a year and took its toll on both fathers.

The elder Rosati, 64, was hospitalized for five weeks with a heart condition. The prominent Rhode Island developer has sat through 20 court appearances during eight months of hearings.

If his son is convicted, he could be sentenced to die in the electric chair.

In May, Rosati's father appealed to U.S. Attorney General Dick Thornburgh to investigate the way Florida authorities

Woman struck, killed by train is identified

SANFORD — The Seminole County Sheriff's Department has determined the identity of the woman who was struck and killed by a CSX freight train in Longwood Monday morning.

According to Sheriff's spokesman George Proechel, the woman has been identified as 22 year old Kirsten Sumrall, of 3100 Old Winter Garden Road, Orlando. Proechel said the woman was originally from Marietta, Georgia, and had been handled the case.

"For the last 240 days of our lives my wife, our son, our daughter, and I have been victimized, persecuted and terrorized by the American judicial system," he wrote. "My family has spent the last eight months living this nightmare."

Viscido also speaks of the nightmare he said began when he lost his only son. At one point, he said, he was driven by grief to playing Russian roulette. "I put a gun to my head and pulled the trigger," he said from his waterfront home in Pompano Beach, Fla. "I just couldn't live without my son."

He said he learned of his son's cocaine abuse three months before he was killed and had persuaded him to undergo treatment.

in Central Florida for three months, employed by Universal Studios. "She was reportedly last seen at J.J. Whispers, at 12:30 Monday morning," Proechel said, "and we found her car on Miller Road in Longwood, a quarter-mile from where she was killed."

Proechel said the reasons behind the death have not been determined as yet. An investigation into the incident is continuing.

Deal with the devil?

The disclosure that the government of South African President F.W. de Klerk secretly provided financial backing to Inkatha, the moderate black political party, is troubling for several reasons. Chief among these is that it renews fears that the white government has sought to undermine the legitimate struggle of South Africa's black population to obtain freedom and democracy.

Moreover, de Klerk's clandestine interference on Inkatha's behalf sows added mistrust between the government and the African National Congress, which is the country's largest political movement and a bitter rival of Inkatha. This only further clouds the prospects for negotiations on a new constitution to extend political rights to all South Africans.

The ANC's deputy president, Walter Sisulu, asserts that the disclosure confirms that the violence in the black townships was "perpetrated by this government in cahoots with Inkatha." ANC President Nelson Mandela demanded that Law and Order Minister Adriaan Vlok and Defense Minister Magnus Malan resign as a condition for talks between the ANC and the government on a new constitution.

Vlok has admitted he overran donations of nearly $700,000 to Inkatha, which he said were necessary to help end political violence and to oppose trade sanctions that were isolating South Africa. Inkatha was the leading black political organization to oppose the sanctions imposed by the United States and other nations.

As it is, Mandela warned, the two sides are on a "collision course" that could undo much of the progress that has been made in recent months.

It remains to be seen exactly how damaging this scandal will be. President de Klerk said he ordered payments to Inkatha stopped last year following an internal investigation into covert government operations. Inkatha leader Mangosuthu Buthelezzi insisted that neither he nor other party leaders knew about the payments, although he said he would "deal with devil" if it would bring South African peace and democracy. And Mandela suggests the ANC may be mollified if Vlok and Malan step down.

South Africa has made much progress in its march toward multiracial democracy. The path that lies ahead for the white government and the black majority is fraught with many obstacles and untimely diversions — like the revelation of covert payments to Inkatha. But it remains in the best interests of all parties to set aside these differences and begin negotiations promptly on a new and just constitution.

President gets around

George Bush has logged more travel miles than any other president in history, including trips to 32 foreign countries and nearly every state in the union. The president's foreign travel has helped to make him a master player on the world scene. But at home, he might as well be flying around the country with the shades drawn on Air Force One. Bush's domestic policy, or lack thereof, shows that his travels have taught him very little about what America needs.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

De Klerk fosters democratic forces

Suppose Gorbachev's critics in Moscow discovered and revealed that his regime had secretly paid $100,000 to the new Democratic Reform Movement, launched by Eduard Shevardnadze and others, to help it lobby for Western financial aid to the Soviet Union. Does anybody doubt that this would be taken as further proof of Gorbachev's determination to strengthen and work through the country's nascent democratic institutions, and accord to his eternal credit?

Yet when it transpired that the South African government of President F.W. de Klerk secretly gave a roughly equal sum of money to Chief Buthelezzi's (Zulu) Inkatha Party, for use in lobbying against the sanctions imposed on South Africa by the outside world, liberals promptly treated the disclosure as discreditable to both de Klerk and Buthelezzi.

The distinction, in the liberals' eyes, is that Nelson Mandela and his African National Congress wear white hats, whereas Chief Buthelezzi and Inkatha wear black ones. We have had it drilled into us by the media for years that the ANC is the sole legitimate political representative of South Africa's blacks, and that "democracy" will come to that country when the present regime turns power over to it. Inkatha, as well as spokesmen for numerous other black, colored, Asian and white constituencies, have been ignored wherever possible, and dismissed contemptuously as tools of the white regime when they had to be discussed at all.

The truth, however, is far otherwise. Inkatha is every bit as opposed to apartheid as the ANC. But it also opposes the ANC (for reasons discussed below), and furthermore has opposed sanctions against South Africa, arguing that they hurt the country's black population first and worst. If there is to be true democracy in South Africa after its blacks get the vote, Inkatha must be a part of the process.

As for the ANC, it is, despite the wonderful press it gets in the West, by long odds the most dangerous obstacle to black democracy in South Africa. A few years ago the U.S. State Department officially confirmed that more than half of the members of the ANC's executive committee were members of the South African Communist Party.

At its recent reorganization meeting the ANC enlarged the executive committee, retiring some members (including a few Communists), and electing new ones (also including Communists). I have not been able to find a tally of the total number of Communists on the new executive committee, but New York Times correspondent Christopher Wren, in a sadly misplaced attempt at humor, reported that they will probably make the organization "more efficient." Indeed they will.

For decades virtually the entire financial support of the ANC, to the tune of many millions of dollars, has come from abroad — primarily from the Soviet Union and China of course, but also from sympathetic Western governments and such allied organizations as the World Council of Churches. We may be sure that these subsidies have increased enormously since Mandela's release from prison.

Now it transpires that the government of President de Klerk has given far smaller sums to Inkatha.

Inkatha is every bit opposed to apartheid as the ANC.

HODDING CARTER

It's time for clampdown

It's not hard to understand why the president spends so much time on foreign policy and foreign trips. He'd be a fool if he didn't, given the great events that have accompanied the formal end of the Cold War. Those memorable embraces with old enemies and stirring plans for new cooperation are good news, plain and simple, and the moment should not be lost.

But what the two-faced god of history has been giving with one hand overseas, he has been taking away with the other here at home. The results are becoming steadily more apparent, results that raise questions and demand activist reaction from our extremely active president.

At root, the most important question is simply this: Has Washington paid strict heed to the performance of the institutions that matter most? And, a related question, has its long love affair with deregulation proved anew that nothing is so blind as love?

The answer to the first question is no. The answer to the second question is yes. From the Department of Housing and Urban Development to the Central Intelligence Agency, to the savings and loan industry, to major domestic banks, to that extraordinary financial bandit, the Bank of Credit and Commerce International, the publicly acknowledged list is packed with examples of criminal misbehavior that went unwatched and unchecked until it was too late.

What is particularly disheartening is the thought that for every executive suite crime, every swindle and every breach of the rules that is publicly known, there are probably a dozen just below the surface. As with icebergs, what you don't see is usually what can hurt you the most, and the tips that have already loomed into view are spectacularly large. And like the Titanic, we are not as invulnerable as we thought we were.

What we have seen is one rip-off of the public, or looting of the public trust, after another, each one seemingly larger or more expensive than the last. The HUD scandal was small potatoes, relatively speaking, probably involving no more than a stray billion or two. The common thieves and bent officials connected with that debacle were penny ante performers compared to the intimate co-conspirators in the savings and loan robberies. There the price tag seems to go up an additional $10 billion every three months, so that today everything from the unexpected spike in the record federal deficit to the long freefall in housing starts can be and is blamed on the S&L mess.

There are those who say that the banking industry's impositions could soon make everyone forget the S&L's. Stupidly greedy real-estate loans competed with the big banks' earlier stupidly greed Third World loans for the Best-in-Class Blue Ribbon for arrogant self-deception. Even while the records are being assessed and blame apportioned, more banks are failing, merging or pulling in their horns.

About the CIA, let it simply be said that Congress, the public and the agency itself are like the Bourbons of France, forgetting nothing and learning nothing from the past. Every seven years or so, it replicates whatever previously brought it into disrepute. That happens because its watchdogs, having learned nothing, accept the premise that it must be freed from the "crippling restraints" that are said to be choking it to death. Once free, it's off to Iran-contra or whatever other extra-legal fun and games present themselves as essential to national security.

As for BCCI, the meets and bounds of its depredations are yet to be measured, but there is good reason to believe that they will prove to have outdistanced all others, past and present, in more than 80 countries. The plunder was immense; the involvement of allegedly reputable men and the see-no-evil attitude of allegedly vigilant government agencies were incredible. What ties all of these examples, and many others, together is they occurred in a political climate that guaranteed them. Unregulated power, whether political or economic, makes corruption inevitable. A supposedly conservative ideology that ignores the most basic of all conservative insights — that man is not perfectible and man's institutions are not trustworthy — is an invitation to evil. The Justice Department, the Federal Reserve, the Treasury Department, the bank examiners, Congress and the presidency itself all deliberately averted their eyes. And evil is what emerged, evil that stole billions, evil that corrupted thousands, evil that declared itself outside and beyond the law.

Regulations alone cannot contain wrongdoing, but without intelligent regulation, rigorously enforced, it is utterly predictable. We've had our fling with deregulation and it was a disaster, economically, politically and morally. It's time to put the clamps back on — hard. It's something the president ought to consider during those brief intervals he is in Washington. Congress might try the same thing.

Has Washington paid strict heed to the institutions that matter most?

Scandal looms at Pentagon

WASHINGTON — An FBI investigation of bribery allegations may split open yet another Pentagon procurement scandal, this one exposing contractors who don't do the work the taxpayers pay them to do.

The early focus of the investigation is on Sooner, Defense of Florida, which took $11 million in advance payments from the Army to build detonation devices, and gave excuses in return.

We reported in 1989 that the Army kept tabs on Sooner money and business, despite many indicators that the small company was not delivering on its end of the bargain. By the time the Pentagon got wise to Sooner, the firm was liquidating its assets in bankruptcy.

Pentagon investigators initially reported that Sooner had been cheating the government. The FBI has since discovered that the Army weapons inspector assigned to monitor the Sooner contract may have been reluctant to blow the whistle on the company because Sooner was giving her gifts.

Army contract specialist Bonnie K. Hurd has admitted in court that she accepted an array of gifts from Sooner executives, including hotel rooms, meals and entertainment when she made 25 trips to the Sooner plant in Lakeland, Fla., over a three-year period. Hurd also admitted that Sooner's chairman bought her son airplane tickets to go to Tampa for spring break in 1985, and also paid his way to Disney World and Busch Gardens.

Hurd's attorney says Hurd was not manipulated by Sooner, and Sooner officials say they weren't trying to get anything from Hurd. But Hurd was convicted last month of accepting bribes. As part of her plea agreement she is cooperating with the ongoing investigation, which sources tell us is spreading fast.

The Justice Department's "Ill Wind" investigation exposed how some top-level Pentagon officials used their insider leverage to the benefit of the highest bidders and the nation's big defense contractors. The Sooner investigation means that the little people were getting in on the act too — small contractors and rank-and-file federal workers all the way down to plant inspectors.

Pentagon sources told our associate Jim Lynch that there have long been tales of bribery and gratuities floating around the Army munitions agency in Rock Island, Ill. — the agency that supervised the Sooner contract. This procurement hub deals exclusively with small munitions manufacturers. The Pentagon often gets a better deal working with the little guys, but sources close to the Pentagon's procurement process tell us that some small contractors get good at conniving the military into believing they can complete a big contract.

Sooner first began making fuses and other small munitions for the Army in 1982. One of its first jobs was to build safety devices for an artillery round. The Army paid Sooner $524,471, but the company apparently never delivered the goods.

The lack of return on investment didn't stop the Army from giving Sooner more contracts. In 1987 the company got an $8.7 million contract to build fuses for 25mm shells on Bradley Fighting Vehicles. At that time, Sooner had already failed to complete five prior contracts.

Before the Army stopped paying Sooner in March 1988, the company had received $12.1 million for six contracts, and there was no return on four of those contracts. Last December, a Sooner official pleaded guilty to participating in a scheme to give the Army fraudulent test results.

Pentagon investigators initially reported that Sooner had been cheating the government.

Diane Albers founded the Animal Control Board

Animal

It was through the oversight provisions of the ordinance that allowed Albers and other members to call for investigations into the Animal Control Department operations twice during the 1980s, leading to the resignations of two previous animal control officials for mismanagement and questions about mistreatment of animals.

The proposed changes drop all provisions to meet except to consider vicious animal hearings. The changes also drop the board's oversight powers and limits it to making recommendations on changes to state animal control laws and county animal control ordinances. Those recommendations must be made to Public Works Director Gary Kaiser, not directly to commissioners.

The new ordinance also drops the board's ability to call meetings, meaning all meetings must be made at the request of the animal control official.

Kirk said the old ordinance was used by some members of the board to attempt to run day-to-day operations of the department.

"One individual has always been making decisions without the consensus of the board," said Kirk, refusing to identify the person. "I just want everybody to play off the same sheet of music."

Kaiser said the changes were to make the board answer to county management, not the commission, because the Seminole County Charter makes the county manager responsible for county operations.

Kirk said the five board members present at a June 12 meeting unanimously endorsed the proposed ordinance changes. He said they did not see the ordinance prior to the meeting, nor was the ordinance published on the agenda for the meeting. Kirk said the meeting had been rescheduled from the regularly-scheduled meeting a week before. Albers said she was unable to attend the meeting.

No hearing date has been set for commissioners to review the changes.

Kirby was happy both cars were declared in perfect condition. "Those with V.I.P. ratings can relax and enjoy themselves," Kirby said. "The others will be spending a lot of time working to get their cars up to standards."

Today, the drivers will be officially weighed, then each will be allowed to make a test run on the 964 foot long Derby Downs hill.

Perry will be competing for a $5,000 scholarship, while Twardell will be trying to win the $2,500 scholarship given to the winners of the two categories.

The 14th All-American Soap Box Derby will get underway Saturday with a Champions' parade down the Derby Downs Track, followed by the Celebrities Oil Can Trophy Race held in over-sized Derby Cars.

The actual race will get underway at 11 a.m. adjacent to the Akron-Fulton Municipal Airport and the University of Akron Rubber Bowl. Unless there are any problems caused by weather, the race is expected to take three hours to complete.

The historic DeBary Hall is long overdue for remodeling

Halback top choice for DeBary Hall renovation

By MICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

Although DeBary Hall is on the northern side of Lake Monroe, many Sanford area residents are connected with the proposed remodeling of the old building. The latest is Fred Halback, a former graduate of Seminole High School, who will be very deeply involved.

Halback, owner of Herbert/Halback, Inc., Orlando, has been approved by the Volusia County Commission, to create the restoration site plan for DeBary Hall. Ray Sage, who is on the DeBary Hall, Inc., Executive Board of Directors, said the total project has been estimated at $1.2 to $1.3 million.

The entire restoration project is expected to take several years to complete. The actual start date of the work has not yet been determined.

Sage said, "The State of Florida has had money budgeted for this project but has held onto it for the past five years. Now, they've turned over $250,000 to the Volusia County Parks and Recreation Department for use in the project."

The building is presently the property of the state, who is leasing it for 99 years to the DeBary Hall, Inc., for $1 per year.

Circuit judge to plead guilty to bribe charge

Associated Press

MIAMI — Dade Circuit Judge Roy T. Gelber, one of five current and former local judges under investigation for corruption, will plead guilty to a single charge of taking bribes, a newspaper reported.

Gelber agreed Monday to a plea bargain deal that will include his resignation from the bench and full cooperation with federal investigators working on the two-year-old federal probe dubbed Operation Court Broom, the Miami Herald reported in today's editions.

The Herald quoted unidentified sources as saying Gelber's attorney, Cloud Miller, and Assistant U.S. Attorney John O'Sullivan on Monday reached "agreement in principle" on the plea from the 41-year-old juror.

Gelber, according to the report, is expected to surrender "one morning later this week" in Miami at the U.S. Marshal's office, where he will be arrested and booked. He then is to be taken before a federal judge here to make his plea.

The judge was expected to plead guilty to one count of violating the federal Hobbes Act, which prohibits the taking of money "under color of official right," the sources told the Herald.

Without such a plea, Gelber reportedly could face several racketeering charges from a federal grand jury hearing evidence in the Operation Court Broom case.

If he were to plead guilty to a single Hobbes Act violation count, the sources told the Herald, the judge could face as little as five years in prison, instead of a possible life sentence if convicted on the possible racketeering charges.

Gelber was elected to county bench in 1986. Two years later, he successfully ran for the circuit bench.

An unidentified lawyer told the paper that Gelber could expect to receive favorable treatment from prosecutors if he were to go through with the reported deal.

"Once you plead guilty in a federal case, you are no longer Public Enemy Number One," the lawyer said. "You become government exhibit Number One. You are no longer treated with disdain."

Minister's wife forgives him for adulterous affair

By GUY COATES
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS — The wife of a minister who is suing evangelist Jimmy Swaggart on defamation charges testified Monday that she forgave her husband for an adulterous affair.

Virginia Gorman took the stand after listening to earlier allegations that her husband, the Rev. Marvin Gorman, had affairs with more than 100 women.

Gorman is suing Swaggart for $300 million. He has accused Swaggart of spreading lies about his sex life to get rid of him, a rival televangelist.

Swaggart has denied making the allegations.

Mrs. Gorman, 56, testified that in 1986, her husband confessed he had been involved in an affair with a church worker, wife of another Assembly of God minister.

"I was very shocked, very disappointed but yet I knew I still loved him," she said, adding that she forgave him.

Throughout the marriage "we've had a caring relationship and a great sexual life," Mrs. Gorman said.

During her testimony, Swaggart and Gorman sat at opposite ends of the front row in state district court.

Gorman in 1988 provided pictures of Swaggart with a New Orleans prostitute. That led to Swaggart's ouster from the Assemblies of God, the nation's largest Pentecostal denomination.

Earlier in the trial, missionary Roger Myers testified that a Swaggart Ministries official told him Gorman "had ongoing affairs with more than 100 women and they had come forward to Jimmy Swaggart confessing."

Gorman resigned as pastor of the First Assembly of God Church in New Orleans in 1986 after admitting to one adulterous affair. He filed suit against Swaggart in 1987.

Mrs. Marcos free to travel in U.S.

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Immigration officials cleared the way for Imelda Marcos to return to her homeland by lifting an order that prevented so much as a taxi ride to Brooklyn without permission.

The former Philippine first lady had been required to get U.S. Justice Department approval 48 hours before leaving Manhattan.

The restrictions were lifted Friday, two days after Philippine President Corason Aquino reversed a 5½-year ban on Mrs. Marcos' return to her homeland.

Her lawyer, James Linn, said he had advised her against returning to the Philippines — where she faces tax-evasion charges — because she might be prevented from leaving once she is there.

The U.S. travel restrictions were imposed in June 1989, when federal authorities declared Mrs. Marcos a security threat. Her husband, deposed Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos, died in exile in Hawaii in September 1989.

Mrs. Marcos now may leave the country without permission, but because the Philippine government has her passport, she would need permission to return to the United States, said Immigration and Naturalization Service spokesman Duke Austin.

said the proposal suggested forced sterilization.

The measure by Rep. Billy Clemons was initially accepted Sunday without debate as an amendment to the proposed 1992-93 appropriations bill.

Moments later, Rep. Ron Wilson asked his colleagues to reconsider what they had done.

"It is a very ugly amendment," said Wilson. "It brings back all kinds of horrible things that have happened in the past, with genocidal programs, with programs of sterilization."

The House voted 75-61 to reconsider the amendment, and then Speaker Gib Lewis killed the measure on a parliamentary move, saying that the appropriations bill cannot be used to change general state law.

The proposal would have directed the Texas Department of Human Services to set up a program in which those receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children would receive $300 if they acquired an under-the-skin birth control implant. If they retained the implant for five years, they would be paid an additional $200.

Clemons said the amendment would save the state billions of dollars in welfare spending. Lawmakers are meeting in special session to bridge a $4.8 billion budget gap to cover the cost of current services for the next two years.

"If you prevent a girl from having babies, say from the time she's 17 to the time she's 22, by then she should be more mature to make decisions about family planning," Clemons said.

Wilson criticized the amendment for singling out poor people.

"Some of the most successful individuals in the country come from poor backgrounds," he said.

The contraceptive Norplant, touted as 99 percent effective for most women, was approved by the Food and Drug Administration last December. Once inserted on the underside of a woman's upper arm, the six silicone, matchstick-size rods slowly release a synthetic hormone that prevents pregnancy for up to five years. Its major side effect is irregular menstrual bleeding.

Black attorneys narrowly vote to oppose Thomas' nomination

By DEBRA ROSENBERG
Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS — A national association of black lawyers has come out against Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas in a vote so close that his supporters claimed victory.

nomination, with 31 delegates saying the organization should take no position.

Thomas Duckenfield of Washington, a past president of the association who supports Thomas, said: "I think the important thing is to show the public the vote. A majority does not oppose him."

Previously, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the nation's largest civil rights organization, declared its opposition to Thomas. The Urban League decided to take no position.

The National Bar Association's president, Algenita Scott Davis of Houston, said the group hadn't been decided if it would actively lobby against Thomas.

The association, founded in 1925, has a membership of 14,000 lawyers, judges, legal scholars and law students.

Judge to rule how videotape of alleged rape will air in court

Associated Press

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. — A woman who prosecutors say was raped by a former boyfriend as a video camera recorded the attack is fighting to bar the public and reporters from court when the tape is shown.

"I don't feel this has to be shown to the public," the 29-year-old woman said in The Detroit News on Monday. "They're literally raping me again if they show it to the public. Only the judge, jury, the attorneys and myself have to see it."

A 38-year-old man is scheduled for trial next month on charges of criminal sexual conduct in the case.

The defendant, who made the 20-minute videotape with a hand-held camera, said the woman consented to the act. The woman, however, told police that her former boyfriend threatened to "snap her neck" and kill her cat if she didn't obey him.

Assistant Prosecutor Thomas Landy has recommended showing the video to the jury in court on a monitor visible only to them.

Deborah Servitto, a Macomb County circuit court judge, said she wants to balance the man's right to a fair trial with the woman's right to privacy.

PRO FOOTBALL

Dolphin injured

MIAMI — Miami Dolphins Pro Bowl tackle Richmond Webb tore ligaments in his left knee in Saturday's 19-17 victory over the Los Angeles Raiders in Tokyo and will be out for three to four weeks, the team announced Monday.

Webb, Miami's first-round draft choice from Texas A&M, didn't miss a snap in a stellar rookie season. The injury, which does not require surgery, puts his status for the season-opener Sept. 1 against Buffalo in jeopardy.

Shula said that either Jack Linn, Jeff Dellenbach or Gene Williams will take Webb's place on the line. Miami allowed an NFL-low 16 sacks in 1990 and Webb, who started at left tackle, was held accountable for only two of them.

Meanwhile, Shula expressed deep concerns over the continuing logjam of unsigned players, including 10 veterans and No. 1 draft choice, receiver Randal Hill.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

FSU signs hurt

TALLAHASSEE — Florida State signs Forest Conoly underwent reconstructive knee surgery Monday, said FSU trainer Randy Oravetz.

Conoly, at 6 feet, 7 inches and 341 pounds, injured a ligament in his right knee during conditioning drills Saturday. FSU team physician Dr. Tom Haney performed the operation.

A graduate of Berlin High School in Berlin, Conn., Conoly was a first team Parade All-American and considered one of the nation's top high school prospects. Oravetz said that the surgery was considered a success but that Conoly would be out indefinitely.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Orlando wins again

ORLANDO — Orlando scored five runs in the third inning without the benefit of a hit en route to an 8-2 victory over Chattanooga Monday, sweeping their four-game Southern League series.

The Lookouts (19-27) led 2-0 in the top of the third after Reggie Sanders homered and Manny Jose tripled and then scored on a sacrifice fly.

But Orlando (27-14) came back in the bottom of the third and racked up five runs after loading the bases with seven walks, a sacrifice fly and a fielder's choice.

Cheo Garcia led the SunRays hitting, going 2-for-4 with a double and three RBIs. Rafael DeLima went 2-for-3 with two RBIs and Jose Marzan went 2-for-4 with a double and scored twice.

Rusty Richards (4-4) was the winner, allowing eight hits, two earned runs and two walks while striking out three in seven innings. Chattanooga's Rodney Ives (1-2) lasted two and 2-3 innings, giving up one hit, five earned runs, six walks and no strikeouts.

Jax loses third straight

JACKSONVILLE — Julian Yan hit a two-run double in the Blue Jays' four-run sixth inning as Knoxville (28-17) won 6-4 Monday, their third straight Southern League victory over Jacksonville (18-24).

Rob Wisniewski (5-9) earned the win after allowing nine hits, six runs, three walks and striking out five in five and 1-3 innings. The loser was Kerry Woodson (1-4).

Knoxville's Mike Maksudian led off the fourth inning with a homer to give the Blue Jays a 2-1 lead. It was 6-1 after the sixth.

One more step to climb

Road weary Colt All-Stars go after World Series flag

From Staff Reports

LAFAYETTE, IN. — Their is no rest for the weary.

With only four days at home since July 8, and only one since July 19, the Seminole PONY League Colt All-Stars will attempt to climb that last wrung in the ladder and become the second straight Florida team to capture the Colt World Series starting today.

The World Series has been divided into two four-team pools with the top two teams from each pool advancing to the final four. Seminole will open play against the Host Area Team at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at 5:30 p.m. they will play the Asia-Pacific representative and then wrap up pool play Saturday at 5:30 p.m. against the North Zone champion. The two best teams from each pool will play in the semifinals next Monday with the two winners of Monday's games advancing to the finals next Tuesday, August 13.

It has been quite a summer for the 15 and 16 year olds from Sanford, Lake Mary and Winter Springs.

Manager Rod Ferguson and coaches Bob Carr and Jack Diemer have put together quite a diverse group that has won mainly with clutch pitching and a strong defense. Members of the team include

Back in June the team traveled to St. Louis and won the Hinny-Minny Invitational Tournament, going undefeated. They then won the Florida State Colt Championship by coming out of the losers bracket to sweep a doubleheader from defending World Series Champion Forest Hills of Tampa July 14.

With the state title in hand the team hit the road for Marietta, Georgia and the Southeast Regional Tournament. They rallied late to win their first two games and then split a doubleheader with the host East Cobb All-Stars to become Southeast Regional Champions and earn another long road trip to Carrollton, Texas for the South Zone tournament.

They lost their opening game 5-2 to Baytown, Texas and stared elimination squarley in the face.

But they battled back to win five games in four days, including a doubleheader sweep on Thursday behind the pitching of Morgan and Churnat, and then a 9-2 revenge victory over Baytown in the finals, thanks to another pitching gem by Diemer, to wrap up the 'Hat Trick' of three tournament titles.

Having won 12 of 15 games the stars will now try to take that last step to complete the quinnella and bring a World Series Championship back to Seminole County.

Tony Zara, 10, of Sabal Pointe, looks down the course confidently early in his round as he watches the flight of his drive (Left). But he shows the frustration of missing a putt as he jumps up as the ball just lips out on the 18th hole. Zara had a tough opening round in the JGA's season-ending tournament shooting a 61.

280-plus take to the links in JGA finale

By ROBBIE STOCK
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Many players in the Junior Golf Association have watched the Sunday afternoon charges of Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, envisioning themselves one day birdieing that last hole for the tournament championship.

Well tomorrow, 280-plus competitors will have the chance to live out their fantasies in the final round of the JGA's season-ending two-day tournament, which concludes today at the Grand Cypress Resort.

Monday's first-round action at Heathrow Country Club featured a college player chasing a high-school junior coming into his own and some strong play in the middle flights, setting up today's showdown on the treacherous North-South course.

Lake Brantley junior Michael Berzovich blistered the long, demanding layout at Heathrow with a three-under-par 69 to grab a three-shot lead in the first flight. Among those chasing Berzovich is Keith Grassing, a second-year player from Florida International University. He and Mark Robinson each trail Berzovich by three shots after even-par 72's. Kevin Ach stands in fourth after a 73. Lake Mary graduate Rob Dazey is in fifth (74). Jeremy Anderson sixth (75).

Calico Jacks wraps up Monday Night League

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The Sanford Recreation Department Men's Monday Night Spring/Summer Slowpitch Softball League came to a close at Pinehurst Park with Calico Jacks unseating the Tim Raines Connection as champions of the league.

TRC had a chance to win its fifth straight Monday night title by either winning a doubleheader or by having Calico Jacks lose a doubleheader.

TRC's hopes were high as they stopped Calico Jacks 6-1 in a completion of a game that was suspended from July 29.

But when TRC dropped an 8-3 decision to the Orlando Softball Club they needed a loss by Calico Jacks for them and Lambert Erectors to get into a tie for the lead. But Calico Jacks ended the suspense by scoring seven runs in the top of the first inning and going on to hammer the Orlando Softball Club 18-3.

The final standings show Calico Jacks with a 12-3 record with TRC and Lambert Erectors just behind at 12-6 and 11-6, respectively. While all three teams could end with six losses Calico Jacks clinches the title because of head-to-head competition.

The remainder of the standings found the Boomtown Boys finishing 3-11 and the Orlando Softball Club 2-14.

TRC led the game with Calico Jacks 4-1 when rain forced a suspension after three innings. TRC added a pair of insurance runs in the fourth inning on a single by Mike Galloway, a double by Ernest Shuler, an error and an RBI double by Keith Acre.

The only other hits Monday night for TRC were singles by Tony Dunkinson and Burnett Washington.

Calico Jacks was only able to come up with singles by Pete Harrison, Scott Farmer and Trey Brassure over the final four innings.

The Orlando Softball Club made its season by holding the perennial front-runners to only three runs and three hits. It was the first on the field victory for the Orlando Softball Club, its other win coming on a forfeit by Calico Jacks.

Doing the damage for the Orlando Softball Club were Joe Burdinski

League action at Chase Park Monday night.

It was a great night for tight, competitive, low-scoring softball action at Chase as all three games were decided in the last inning. Seminole Mobile Radio edged Gator's Dockside 2-1. First Baptist Church squeaked by Gator's

Buccaneers win preseason opener

By CHUCK BELVIN
AP Sports Writer

CLEVELAND — After their first preseason game, coaches Bill Belichick and Richard Williamson were in agreement on one point: They're glad they have three more weeks before the games count.

Williamson's Tampa Bay Buccaneers beat Belichick's Cleveland Browns 23-10 Monday night as three different Buccaneers quarterbacks directed scoring drives.

"I thought overall we got accomplished what we wanted to accomplish," said Williamson, who is running his first training camp after taking over the Bucs for the final three games last season. "It is obvious we have a lot more work to do, but we have three weeks to do it in."

Belichick, the defensive coordinator for the Super Bowl-champion New York Giants last season, didn't see much that he liked.

"Certainly there were a lot more mistakes than great plays," he said. "We had one good drive in the third quarter. We kicked the ball off OK. We had some spots where we were just too inconsistent."

Vinny Testaverde quarterbacked Tampa Bay's first two series, using a no-huddle offense that was effective but that stalled before it got to the end zone. Steve Christie finished off both drives with field goals of 44 and 20 yards.

"I felt very comfortable," said Testaverde, who was 4-of-4 for 44 yards. "I was on target with my passes. I felt good about running the no-huddle offense. It was very effective, and it will get better."

He and Williamson decided earlier in the day they'd try the hurry-up if the situation was right. Good field position — their first two drives started at the Tampa Bay 43 and the Cleveland 44 — convinced them to give it a go.

"I don't think there was any breakdown by the Browns because of the no-huddle," Williamson said. "I don't know if they were expecting it or not. Vinny did a good job of making some good calls. The disappointing thing is that we had an opportunity to put it in, but they stopped us."

Backup quarterbacks Chris Chandler and Jeff Carlson, however, each got the ball into the end zone. Chandler capped an 80-yard drive late in the first half with a 5-yard run and drive for a touchdown; Carlson threw a 15-yard scoring pass to John Harvey in the third quarter.

Kendall Trainor added a 43-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

Cleveland scored on a 35-yard field goal by Matt Stover in the second quarter and a 3-yard run by rookie free agent Archie Herring in the third. Herring, a longshot to make the team, played at nearby Youngstown State University.

"This is the team I grew up with, with the Kardiac Kids and Brian Sipe and Doug Dieken and all those guys. I love the Browns," Herring said.

George Hemingway, a rookie prospect from Colorado, set up Herring's touchdown with runs of 31 and 7 yards.

Other than that, Cleveland accomplished little on offense. Bernie Kosar started at quarterback but completed only 2-of-5 passes for 13 yards. Hemingway gained 46 yards rushing and Derrick Gainer was next with 16 yards.

Overall, Tampa Bay outgained Cleveland 294-133 in total offensive yards.

In fourth flight action, Mark Thiesen holds a six-stroke lead over Andrew Brennan after a first-round 96. Ben Katterfield (104) and Scott Adelman (106) also plan to make a run at Thiesen. Chad Ankey in fifth (109), Bryan Stevens sixth (110), and Brian Pirke seventh (115).

Rick Siodyko, who has placed in four tournaments this summer, leads a pack of contenders in fifth flight following a 43. Scott Mankovich trails Siodyko by just one shot. Tommy Pinwall stands two back. Justin Biggs and Matthew Brennan are bigger shouting distance after they each shot a 46 on Heathrow's front nine. Jason Traeder is in sixth (47), and Brian Craver and Chris Bogdan are tied for seventh (48).

Craig Craver edged out to a one-shot advantage in sixth flight after his 57 on Heathrow's finishing nine. Joshua Johnson stands one shot back. Bo Morrison and Dave Hensch are within two of the leader. Also within striking distance: Scott Hogeboom (60), Craig Buchanan (61), and Thomas Brundage (63).

Adrienne Bailey and Robin Rhein are tied for the girl's 13-and-over flight lead following rounds of 84. Heather Holkamp who won the East Central Chapter tournament earlier this season, is three behind the leaders. Arnie Girard occupies fourth place after an 88 while Megan Breen holds down fifth following an 89. Kelly Donovan is in sixth (102), Kristin Cloe seventh (105).

Anne Scholz jumped out to a three-shot lead in the girl's 12-and-under division. Her 59 was three better than Bronwyn Kohn's 62. Julie Komurke 69, who has triumphed in six of seven starts this summer, stands 10 back of Scholz. Rounding out the flight were Jennifer Keefe (78), Terra Traeder (85), Sarah Braddock (90), Katie Donovan (95), and Angela Katterfield (109).

The pee wee division stands log-jammed after the first day of play. Zach Greinke and Chase Freeman each shot a 13 to tie for the lead. Freeman posted an 11 last week at Timacuan while Greinke has finished in the top seven four times this summer. Brian Rozier is two back after a 15 while Joel Roycik 16 and Merrick Ann Park each posted a 16. Bill Duks (17) and Dustin Ankey (18) are also in reach of the lead.

Steve Laurence of First Baptist Church sets himself for a groundball at Chase Park Monday night. Laurence had three hits, scored one run and drove in another as the Baptists split a pair of games 8-7.

Providing the offense for Seminole Mobile Radio were Milliron (two singles, run scored), Greg Wells (two singles), Wilson (single, RBI), Bracken, Wallace and Ted Freycenet (one single each) and Burleson (run scored).

Doing the hitting for Gator's Dockside were Jason Miller (double, single), Mike Kirby (two singles), Hysell (single, RBI), Deen, Lloyd Wall and Jerry Crutchfield (one single each) and Pike (run scored).

The First Baptist Church-Gator's Dockside contest was just as exciting with the game being tied 3-3 after seven innings.

It was another two out rally that proved to be the difference as First Baptist scored three runs after two were out in the eighth inning. Jack Eltonhead and Bob Barbour singled ahead an RBI single by Jeff Bethany and a two RBI single by Robert Jones.

Gator's Dockside scored one run and had the tying runs in scoring position in the bottom of the eighth with one out but once again could not get the clutch hit.

Doing the damage for First Baptist Church were Jones (three singles, two RBIs), Bethany (three singles, run scored, RBI), Eltonhead (two singles, run scored, RBI), Sid Brock (two singles, RBI), Steve Laurence (single, run scored, RBI), Barbour and Billy and Tom Gracey (one single and one run

The last game of the season turned out a rout quickly. With Roger Lacroy on first with a single and two outs the flood gates opened. David S evened a single and Scott Farmer ripped a two-RBI triple. Rob Parker singled in Farmer and Brassure ripped a two-run home run. Willy Harrison doubled and scored on a Tony Flores single and Flores scored on a double by Chris Tighe.

Making kids safe

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago our son, "Al," got his girlfriend, "Tara," pregnant. Tara was 15 and Al was 18 at the time. A week after our grandson was born, Tara's parents kicked her out of their house, so we took her and the baby into our home where we lived happily as a family.

As time went on, Tara got pregnant again - also from our son - and when she became of age to marry without her parents' consent, she and Al selected a date in September (1990). Al was a college student living at our home with Tara and the babies.

One month before the wedding, Al was killed in an auto accident. During his funeral, we treated Tara as his widow.

Tara has since reconciled with her parents, and she and her children have moved back with them. She is now 19, but she doesn't date yet because she's still grieving for Al. We hope that one day she will have a normal life but she is not interested yet. She attends all of our family functions, birthdays, weddings, Christmas, Easter, Mother's Day, etc. just as though she were Al's widow.

Abby, we feel that it may be an embarrassment to her when we introduce her as "Tara, the mother of our grandchildren." Since she and Al were never married, she is not technically our daughter-in-law. So, how should she be introduced?

AL'S FATHER IN GEORGIA
DEAR FATHER: Introduce her as "Tara, the mother of our grandchildren." Your family and close friends will know the background, and casual acquaintances and strangers do not need to know her history. Or ask Tara how she would like to be introduced and abide by her wishes.

another, a biracial child; and one who is our daughter by birth.

We belong to a local adoptive-parent support group where we have heard every imaginable story about encounters with prejudice and insensitivity. We have also learned how to handle such questions.

When asking what seems to be an impertinent question, it is best to assume that there was no harm intended.

For example, one woman asked if my Korean daughter was "mine." When I responded, "Yes," she asked, "How much did she cost?"

When asked, "What happened to her 'real' mother?" a good response would be, "I have been married to her for more than 20 years."

When asked, "Are they your natural children?" I say, "We don't use any preservatives or artificial ingredients."

By answering good-naturedly, and with a little humor, parents can communicate two very important lessons to their children: how they can one day handle such questions, should the need arise; and at the same time demonstrate that since the parents are not embarrassed by their family, neither should the children be.

ROBERT KLAHN, PRESIDENT, RAINBOW FAMILIES, TOLEDO, OHIO

DEAR ROBERT: Thank you for your helpful suggestions, as well as your eye-opening letter.

Families interested in information about adoption can contact Adoptive Families of America, 333 Highway 100 North, Minneapolis, Minn. 55422. You will be provided a free information packet upon request. No self-addressed, stamped envelope is required.

DEAR ABBY: I am praying that you can give me some guidance. My husband of many years uses credit cards constantly. He has no pension and has never believed in life insurance or having a savings account. Social Security is his only income.

I have learned that he owes approximately $8,000. I believe he pays his monthly dues from each of his credit cards. In turn, I have no idea how many cards he holds, and I have never signed for any of his credit cards.

We each have our own checking accounts at different banks. I am forced to work full-time because of the many times I have had to come to his financial aid. He is now past 80. I am 69. My concern is that in the event that he should die before I do, would I be held responsible for his debts?

WORRIED IN CALIFORNIA
DEAR WORRIED: Because you are living in a community property state you are indeed responsible for your husband's debts if he predeceases you. You would be wise to consult an attorney.

DEAR ABBY: My heart went out to "Guilty in Antigo, Wis." - the smoker who was made to feel like a leper by society because she smokes.

I am not a smoker, but my mother was. I have inhaled my share of secondhand smoke, which, in turn, may have made me more tolerant of smokers today, but non-smokers should check their own bad habits before looking down their noses at smokers.

Put me next to a smoker anytime on an airplane, in a restaurant or theater, before you put me next to a squawling baby or a loud, obnoxious person! Most of my friends who smoke go outside to do so out of consideration for non-smokers, but how many people do you see actually leaving a restaurant or a theater when their child acts up?

What I'm saying is, we all have habits and/or actions that may annoy others.

If smoking is the only bad habit "Guilty in Antigo" has, I'd love to have her over for coffee and a cigarette sometime. If she can handle my nail-biting and gossiping, I can handle her cigarette-smoking.

NOT PERFECT IN WESTMINSTER, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter signed "Real Adoptive Parent" from a mother who was upset by insensitive questions. My wife and I are the parents of three girls: one, an adopted Korean-born child;

Just a few of the family from The Cattle Ranch Family Steak House.
"Whata Ya Waitin Fer"...Come To The Cattle Ranch Steak House
 Wee Doggie!...I jes' got to tell ya 'bout this eatin' place I jes' found. The proper name is The Cattle Ranch Family Steak House, but from what I hear tell, folks jes' call it "Cattleman's". It's been here in these parts for more than seven years, but some folks don't seem to know 'bout it yet.
 I'm jes' not one to back down on a dare, so I jes' had to give the Cattle Ranch "6 Pound Challenge" a try. They say for folks to come on in and find out if they are a cowboy or a green horn. The bet is to see if you can eat a six pound steak, with all the fixin's, salad, potato and bread, in one hour and fifteen minutes. And if you can, your vittles is free. I tell you that is some eatin'! Well, I was able to down the whole thing, and ya know what they gave me? An authentic certificate to show the world that I whooped the "6 Pound Challenge". There's even pictures on the wall showin' all the 185 folks whose given it a try. I hear tell there was a tiny little thing, a girl only 114 pounds who ate the whole thing and then had two desserts afterwards.
 Well, anyway, let me tell ya some more about the restaurant. Their most popular item is the Cow Girl T-Bone, a mere 16 ounces. They also have the Cow Boy Porterhouse, 32 ounces, a strip, filet and fried shrimp. For the little cowpokes, they have hamburgers and cheese burgers. And if you have a hankerin' for a burger, they've got a double Rancher (burger) for any cowpokes.
 The Cattle Ranch only serves aged beef, cut on the premises and never frozen. Everything 'is cooked over a good ole wood fire, usin' orange wood, and all steaks are accented with a secret recipe special seasoning. There's even a guide on the menu on how to order your steaks cooked, and your darn tootin', how you order it is how your gonna get it. Ya can even wet your whistle at the Long Horn Saloon, where you'll find a full bar, "assorted Wild West wines" and souvenir drinks, such as Lynchburg Lemonade and Tennessee Mud (when available). You can even keep the glass when you're done with your souvenir drink.
 I guess it ain't hard to see why folks come from all over to eat at the Cattle Ranch. Owners Hank and Marilyn Callagher are such friendly folks, they make everyone feel like family, even folks who come all the way from Titusville. Speakin' a family, jes' 'bout everyone who works there is family, or may as well be! Now let's see if I can recall all of those folks names. There's Hank and Marilyn; their children, Vicki, Cindy, Rhonda and David; Marilyn's sister, Joyce, and her daughters, Suzi and Maria; Hank and Marilyn's sons-in-law, Gil and Rick; and future son-in-law, Billy. Even Russell and Birch have been with the "family" since they opened the place seven years ago. You jes' 'bout can't get more hometown than that. Hank and Marilyn say, "we're the kind of place where you don't have to get all gussied up in a suit and tie to enjoy a great meal."
 Seems to me everyone ought to jes' run right over to The Cattle Ranch Family Steak House jes' to see what's goin' on. If you have a lot of folks you want to feed, like a party, group banquet, business function or a bus tour group, why not give them a call, at 321-5761, for details. They can be very accommodating. The Cattle Ranch opens seven days a week at 5:00 pm. Week nights they close at 10:00 pm; Friday and Saturday they are open 'till 11:00 pm. If you want to take the "6 Pound Challenge", you best call ahead (24 hours) cause that piece of meat is so big it could take all day to cook it. (A $15.00 deposit is also required for the "6 Pound Challenge".) The Cattle Ranch Family Steak House is located at 2700 South Sanford Avenue, on the "west" side. Wee Doggie!

"Growth With Honor" At Page Private School

In 1914 (1914-1959) the school moved to a new larger campus.

In 1959, great changes were taking place. While building a new campus which was to be named Page Day School - an opportunity came up to acquire the Brown Day School in Beverly Hills, which Mr. and Mrs. Earle Vaughan immediately purchased. This acquisition made possible a dream come true. It had long been a dream of Earle and Edith Vaughan (Superintendents, 1937-1977) to establish a co-educational school.

Mrs. Della Page Gibbs died in 1947, Major Robert Adams Gibbs in 1952. They were succeeded by their son-in-law and daughter, Earle R. and Edith C. Vaughan. Both had attended Page and were graduates of the school. Mrs. Edith Vaughan passed away in 1977, and Mr. Earle Vaughan retired the following year. Their children, also graduates of the school, took over the running of the schools and the carrying out of the original purpose. Mr. Russell Vaughan is Superintendent in California, and Dr. Charlene Vaughan Luna is the superintendent of the Florida Page Private Schools. Mr. Charles Vaughan became President, succeeding his father, with his office based in the new administration building at Costa Mesa, California.

The Seminole Campus was founded in 1986, at the former site of Grace United Methodist Church, on Airport Boulevard. This campus has recently completed a 6,000 square foot, ten classroom edition which will accommodate an additional 200 students.

The University Park Campus was established in 1989, located on University Boulevard, west of the University Boulevard, west of the University of Central Florida campus. University Park is completing a new, nine-classroom building that will be operational for the fall term.

There are a total of four California campuses and two Florida campuses.

Page Private School, Inc. is grateful to Central Florida for their wonderful reception since they came to this state.

The fully accredited school has teachers who are also certified in CPR, First Aid and Water Safety Instruction.

Page School accepts children from age 2 to grade 6. Basic academic subjects are taught in the traditional departmentalized system. This means that grades 1 through 6 change classes, like in high school, to a teacher that teaches his or her own specialty, including Spanish, computer and swimming in the private on-campus pool. Instruction is on an individual level, with 15 to 18 students to a class. Teachers and admin. work closely with the parents in every aspect of the child's well-rounded development. One strength is development of positive self-esteem through their many motivational programs which include recognition of academic achievement, citizenship, school service and improvement in any area.

One of Page's strengths is parent involvement. They take an active role in their child's academic and social growth. There is over 100% parent participation in their school programs.

Page School offers a well-rounded curriculum from the basic three R's to Spanish, History, science and dance.

The Spanish program starts at age 2. Computer begins at age 2 also.

Tutoring is available at no extra charge. Exceptional students are constantly challenged with new studies, individual attention and after school tutoring for the students.

The Page School has both an academic and summer camp program. While field trips are scheduled once a month during the school year, these activities are expanded to twice a month in the summer and included such variety as museums, day train trips to Kissimmee, Sea World and Watermania.

Page School is open from 8:30 AM to 6:30 PM. Academic hours are from 8:30 AM to 3:45 PM. Part-time and full-time programs are available as well as pre-school and pre-kindergarten. The school day begins with an assembly period which includes the "Pledge of Allegiance" and any announcements. The children receive a nutritious, well-balanced hot lunch, if they do not bring their own.

Kindergarten through 6th grade wear the Page School uniform. It takes the mind set away from who's wearing what and puts that energy into positive academic development and encourages individualization through other avenues, not to mention being a convenience for the parents. This saves parents time and money on the purchase of new school clothes year after year.

The family atmosphere at Page is most special. When you enter Page you enter the Page family. There are two mottos held by Page Schools: Growth with Honor and Academic Success with each child's potential realized.

And then there is the dedication of the staff. The average faculty member has been with Page four years and the school has been here five. Charlene is going into her 20th year with Page.

Page Schools rates are so reasonable that some parents are probably paying as much at an established daycare as they would for their child's education and daycare.

For more information on Page Private School and what it can mean to you and your child, contact Dr. Luna at the 323-6771 or come by and visit them at their open house, Saturday, August 10, from 10:00 AM to 12 Noon, at 118 W. Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

Anti-virus drug treats shingles

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife does not suffer from depression, yet her doctor put her on an anti-depressant for shingles. Why was this done?
DEAR READER: You got me. I've never used anti-depressants to treat shingles, nor have I heard of anyone who has.

Shingles, an acute, painful virus infection of certain nerves in the skin, may cause depression because the disease is so uncomfortable. However, Zovirax (acyclovir), an anti-virus drug, is the preferred treatment. Sometimes prednisone, a type of cortisone, is used to reduce inflammation that is unremitting and severe. But anti-depressant drugs will not affect the herpes virus that causes shingles.

Perhaps your doctor is experimenting with a new therapy. Ask about this because, in my opinion, your wife would be better served by taking other medicines.

Because untreated shingles can be complicated by chronic, knife-like pains called post-herpetic neuralgia, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Managing Chronic Pain."

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've experienced a change in the sound of my voice and have been diagnosed as having a paralyzed vocal cord. I've seen an ENT specialist, yet I would like information on how I got this condition.

DEAR READER: Each of the two vocal cords is activated by a nerve. When this nerve is injured, the vocal cord becomes paralyzed. Therefore, your doctor must investigate the cause of the paralysis, which could be due to trauma (especially after surgery on the thyroid gland which lies close to the nerve), a tumor (pressing on the nerve) or a neurological disorder (such as multiple sclerosis or stroke). Additional, mechanical causes of vocal cord paralysis include aortic

MEDICINE

aneurysm (ballooning out of the upper aorta), lead poisoning and virus infection of the nerves. I don't know how or why you developed this condition, but I believe your ear-nose-and-throat doctor should do more than merely note the paralysis on examination. You should have a CT scan (with X-rays) or an MRI scan (using electromagnetic waves) to search for a growth or other correctable cause. The vocal cord paralysis is simply a symptom; now you need a diagnosis.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
 In most sports these days, the top performers get younger and younger. But not in bridge. Teenagers win grand slam tennis titles, but when was the last time someone as young as that represented the United States in a world bridge championship? Never.

The key reason is experience. There is so much to bridge that it takes many, many years to climb the ladder of success. Even world champions come across situations they haven't met before. However, everyone has to start somewhere.

Would you have found the right play as East on today's deal? North's two-spade cue-bid showed at least a limit raise in hearts. This is a modern treatment that is used more often by experts than the old-fashioned game-forcing cue-bid.

After West leads the spade king, how do you plan the defense? At the time, the spade king was covered by the four, two and six. West continued with two more top spades. Declarer ruffed in the dummy, cashed the Q-J of hearts, crossed to hand with a club, drew East's two remaining trumps and led a diamond. West went in with the ace to save the overtrick.

"I had hoped to score a trump trick," said East ruefully.

"Well, maybe you could have," responded his more experienced partner.

"How?"

"By playing the spade eight at trick one. Declarer would think you were echoing with a doubleton, so probably he would ruff the third round of spades high. Then you would score a trump trick, and we would defeat the game."

This is the type of deceptive
