SHARKEY STATES HE'S WILLING TO FIGHT ANYBODY

His Commission He Will Sign For Bout With Young 'Strib'

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, heavyweight boxer, today declared his willingness to meet Young Stribling, Max Baucus or any other outstanding member of the heavyweight division. He notified the New York Athletic commission, he said, of his readiness to sign for a 15-round bout with Stribling in New York.

The New York commission has dropped Schmeling of the heavyweight crown which he won on a point from Sharkey. Sharkey's case was prompted, he said, by a statement of the New York commission that they would recognize as winner a Sharkey-Stribling bout as the world's champion. Sharkey won a decision over Schmeling at Miami two years ago. In a statement setting forth his position in the heavyweight ring, Sharkey said, "I am willing to box Stribling within a period of six weeks. I stand ready to meet Max Schmeling any time the commission cares to accept the challenge. As the great Primo Carnera has escaped to the New York commission, I shall welcome a meeting with him. Carnera, in my opinion, is one of the most formidable of the heavyweights."

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The heavyweights, confused and undecided in arguments, marked time Thursday, waiting for the arrival of "Pa" Stribling and his fighting son Bill, before settling finally whether Max Schmeling will fight Stribling in Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland, or whether Stribling will tackle Sharkey in New York.

"Pa" Stribling is due Friday from Miami and is committed tentatively to a championship duel in Chicago early in June with the German, who was stripped of his title by the New York Athletic Commission Tuesday.

William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, went to London Thursday in an effort to sign Jack Sharkey to a contract for a match with Stribling. Carey said it would recognize as the world's champion, but he has no authority over such a matter. He said the match would be in the Madison stadium and the original $50,000 bid for the fight. Stribling is expected to arrive in Chicago this afternoon. A little headway toward a match was made. It appeared the Heart milk farm, which has been under contract to fight the match here in the Madison stadium, had agreed to terms with Lewis but it was not clear that he will agree to any other terms suggested.

Poultry Exhibit Supreme Court Promises To Be Favors Rails In Great Success Bus Line Dispute

(Continued from page one) Action with the rabbit show is a matter of week-old rabbits whose eyes have not yet open. A display exhibit of corn is also on display. The first time a farm product has ever been displayed in conjunction with a poultry, rabbit or egg show in this county.

The winners of the various prizes which have been offered will be announced Saturday night. The names of the judges, has not been announced yet, but it is known that prominent poultrymen, many of them out-of-state residents, will be the judges. Since the show is under the sponsorship of the American Poultry Association, a number of prize ribbons and medals will be given as special awards.

Acceptance by Mr. Johnson, one of the most interesting features in connection with the show is the sale of motion pictures. These pictures depict various methods of poultry raising, egg growing and candling. The shows are held four times daily and have been held at "Tombert's" in the city. The pictures will be featured, including a film entitled "Selecting Good Eggs." Tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock, a special showing will be given of films on brooding and incubating chicks and the raising of pullets. The films have been loaned through the courtesy of the United States Department of Agriculture, and so admission fee is charged for either the movie show or the poultry show itself.

Mr. Simpson, of the American Fur store, a member of the Florida Furriers, is in charge of a well-planned display of furs. Mr. Simpson has been connected with Florida fur service work for many years, and a conversation with him reveals that he is well informed on his subject. His work shows the preparation and the exhibit bears out in a graphic way the fact that no furrier's enemy is as deadly as fire.

The show will continue until late tomorrow night. If local citizens are interested in poultry, rabbit, or egg work, they should come to the exhibit. The exhibit has been open for several days and the popularity of visiting has been increasing.

Florida Will Open Basketball Season With Georgia Team

GAINESVILLE, Jan. 9.—Florida opens her conference basketball schedule at home next Friday night, meeting the University of Georgia. A second game will be played Saturday evening. The Gator hoopers scored an impressive 12-point victory in Jacksonville against a strong independent club to whom the 1933 season triumphantly. Local basketball fans look forward with great interest to the pair of fights with the Gators. NEW ADDITION TO HUDSON LINE

BACHMAN STILL IN LINE FOR JOB WITH CALIFORNIA

His Consideration For Important Coaching Post Seen In Honor

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The consideration which the University of California is giving to Coach Charles W. Bachman, while scouting across the country for a successor to "Nibs" Price, is indeed a compliment to the abilities of the Florida mentor. From official sources, it appears that the field of coaches for the Pacific coast job has narrowed down to six, with Bachman strong in the running.

The University of California is regarded as one of the choicest in the coaching profession. Bachman has no definite idea that he will be asked to take over the job, but he was interviewed by an athletic official of the institution recently in New York.

Bachman has won 23 out of 29 games since he came to Florida three years ago. One game was a tie. A win average of .587 is indeed to be regarded with commanding eyes, and it is no wonder that California should turn to consideration of a man who is one of the present-day standouts in the grid tutoring profession. The consistent success of the south in football also has brought added prestige to coaches in Dixie, and to the game itself.

Alabama's 24 to 0 victory at the Rose bowl occasioned no surprise among University of Florida football players. Prior to the New Year's classic, most of the Gator gridder's predicted at least a three touchdown victory for the Tide.

One of young Gator Florida football followers, "Bologny" of the 1933 Alabama team was interviewed. "Bologny" said that the 1933 Harvard team in the next strongest outfit Florida has met, at least in recent years. The Tennessee team of 1932 was ranked ahead of the Gators who won against the Tide in 1932, and again last fall, but the 1934 team is a different proposition.

Followers of Florida football to recent years became familiar with the grid exploits of "Red" Hether and Jimmy Stale. The Florida squad, and alternate captain of 1933, reported their football exploits in halcyon games. Betas at Dallas, Tex., and Steele at the Pacific coast. All great accounts of the Florida athletes with starting lineups.

Cy Williams, former outstanding Gator tackle, who with "A. J. Newell" and "Gator" Hether, took a change into the football world, said he will play, and playing, according to Tom Thayer, noted sports football official and writer, perhaps the greatest half of any football team among the grid, such a compliment from Thayer is certainly a high honor. Williams, who played with the Gators after Glendon Walker, after a season of play under the coaching of a new coach, reported that he is now a football player in Miami.

THREE KILLED IN MIAMI WHEN PLANE FALLS

lay had to be dug out.
The bodies were scarred and incinerated almost beyond recognition and identification was delayed on this account.
Department of commerce officials and officials of the air force opened an investigation immediately.
Judges ordered the next case run at once and no announcement of the tragedy was made to the 7,000 persons at the field.
The plane had not been entered in any of the events of the week.
The tragedy was the first fatality in the history of three All-American air meets here. Last year, Mary Heath, British flyer, was forced to land on the field during a dead stick landing contest two years ago. Last year, minor damage was received by two planes as one pancaked on to the other in taking off from an adjoining field. A tailless motor glider, piloted by Major B. L. Smith, made a forced landing during an exhibition flight Thursday but neither plane nor pilot was hurt.
Dr. Smalley, cousin of one of the dead men, and the other members of the party, had planned to stop in St. Petersburg on route north. Smalley has lived in St. Petersburg during the winter for several years, and was well known in Florida aviation circles.
Les Bowman, Los Angeles, piloted his Monocoupe around a 15-mile course at an average speed of 147.64 miles per hour to win the race for cabin planes of 50 to 800 cubic displacement. E. S. Whilden Jr., Charlotte, N. C., in a Cessna was second with a speed of 132.779 miles per hour. An Catnahan, Bloomington, Ill., in a Monocoupe, third, 128.183 miles per hour, and C. F. Wheeler, Fort Myers, Fla. in a Monocoupe, fourth, 118.964 miles per hour.
George Meisner, Chicago, in a single-motored Sikorsky, won a stunt race for amphibians, the second time in two days, with Art Caperton, Chicago, in an Ireland Privateer, taking second. The pilots left Municipal Airport, near to Biscayne Bay, where they landed, picked up a dummy body and returned to the field. Meisner's time was 17:05.00.
Service planes gave an exhibition of billowing maneuvers (top line) of the afternoon's aerobatics. The "Doodle Bug" plane was put through its side slipping and banking paces and while an autogyro plane, or "flying windmill," piloted by James G. Ray, Philadelphia, climbed into the air under motor power only to settle quietly to the ground at will of the pilot, with its windmill acting as a brake on the vertical descent.
The Hialeah trophy race for 30 miles, feature of the day's events, was won by John H. Livingston, Aurora, Ill., who won his Monocoupe over the finish line barely a few days ahead of Earl Boyland, Dallas, Texas, in a Cessna. Livingston's time was 19:19.24 an hour. Boyland averaged 168.825 miles an hour. The event was a free for all race under 600 cubic inch displacement.

Nye Will Strive To Deprive Davis Of Senate Seat

be consistent and refrain from offering such a resolution if others did not do it. The situation is not changed as a result of our later investigations but with the record remaining as it does I will have to offer a resolution dealing the seat vacant.
I have not discussed this with the committee. It would not be a committee resolution because that is not a function of the committee. The investigation shows that $1,200,000 is about the figure involved in the primary and general election campaigns in Pennsylvania.
Nye said he would not attempt to estimate how much of the total was spent in Davis' behalf, but called attention to testimony of one witness before his committee to the effect that had Davis kept the only candidate the expenditure would have been $1,000,000.
Brown, the gubernatorial candidate, headed the ticket which included five others for state offices.
Asked what he would do if members of his committee opposed his move, the North Dakota senator said he would offer the amendment resolution anyway.
"It is not a pleasant thing to do," he said, "but it will be a determined effort to see that the situation is cleared up as soon as possible."
Davis, the gubernatorial candidate, headed the ticket which included five others for state offices.
