After heated debate, lakefront development heads for citizens' vote

By Nick Pfeiff

SANFORD - The Sanford City Commission meeting Monday may go down in history for drawing the largest audience, and for lasting longer than any recent commission meeting.

Discussion of just one of the items pertaining to the proposed development of Fort Mellon Park for a hotel/conference center began at approximately 7:10 p.m. and concluded at almost 11:30. The item that first drew public comment pertains to an ordinance, on second reading, to allow the city to seek a clear title for the land. The clear title would be necessary if the development plans are finalized.

There were four separate items to come before the commission pertaining to the park development, and with a considerable amount of public input on each matter. Others pertained to the change required in the city's comprehensive plan to allow the development, another called for a public referendum to decide if the city could pursue the project, and the fourth item was an extension requested by the developer beyond the time of the referendum.

As a result, the meeting did not conclude until 1:40 a.m. Monday, and that, only because a number of items scheduled for consideration were tabled.

"I think it's great to have this kind of public debate on the matter," Mayor Larry Dale commented this morning. Dale allowed everyone who wished, to speak on the matter. Regarding the ordinance pertaining to the title clearing, a total of 30 persons spoke, with Mayor Dale not giving any time limitations. Some were brief while others were lengthy and read from prepared statements. One of the opponents, Doug Groseclose, even reverted to the use of a slide presentation.

Of the 30 who spoke, 15 were for the development while 15 were against the matter. Both sides of the proposal packed the city commission chambers. Many were carrying signs, and the proponents wore T-shirts promoting the development. Former Sanford City Commissioner Lon Howell, who is helping head a citizens group promoting the development, spent the evening handing out the T-shirts, giving one to each of the city commissioners.

Former Sanford City Manager Bill Simmons, who was on hand briefly, along with his wife, to receive an award from the commission, both proudly wore the T-shirts.

At times, the meeting appeared to get out of hand, with opposing sides giving cat-calls to speakers. After banging the gavel a number of SEMINOLE COUNTY - One issue will be TV or not TV. Another is what to do on U.S. Highway 17-92. Perhaps bigger than both of these is a joint planning agreement between Seminole County and the city of Oviedo.

At 9 a.m. this morning, the Board of County Commissioners began a busy workday and public hearing sessions that will be the last before next Tuesday's Republican primaries.

By nightfall Sept. 1, the makeup of the five-member commission could be changed significantly. If either of the incumbents - Chairman Randy Morris or Win Adams - lose, there would be a 90 degree shift from the moderate branch of the party to the right.

What politics spill into today's meetings is difficult to predict. There shouldn't be that many controversies. Much of the agenda has been thrashed out and agreed upon by both sides. Even the agreement with Time Warner Communications relating to provisions of a local government/educational access channel is a given.

"I'm for the TV plan as long as it doesn't cost us anything," Commissioner Grant Maloy said Monday. County Commission hearings and School Board meetings would be among the activities to be televised.

County staff has been working with the City of Oviedo to develop a Joint Planning Agreement. Provisions that are being discussed address the future annexation boundary for the city, future land use designations within the joint planning area, water and sewerage provisions and first response in fire/rescue.

Oviedo was the only city in the county not on the previous first response.

Also to be discussed are modifications to the U.S. 17-92 Redevelopment Plan. The boundaries for the plan were shaped to enable the existing community redevelopment areas in Casselberry and Sanford be able to maintain their respective redevelopment authority while working in coordination with each other. As a result, several parcels in the unincorporated Fern Park area were not included in the U.S. 17-92 Corridor Redevelopment Area.

Transportation group views alternative plan to light rail

By Tony Tinsle
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

ORLANDO - Members of a committee of the regional authority on transportation coordination and planning had an opportunity recently to view plans for a personal rapid transit system, an alternative to the controversial light rail.

The Transportation Technical Committee (TTC) of Metropolitan Orlando listened to a presentation by engineer and inventor Ken Crowder of Ripley, Ky. Crowder detailed his Tri-Point Transit, an alternate rail system. His concept includes open seating for loading, wheelchair and freight accommodation, micro steering, short turning radius, two-wheel suspension and radar pacing and control. Cost-effective transit cars would depart every three to five minutes from strategically placed stations, cutting waiting time dramatically. Space needed for the system would be minimal compared to railroad cars.

Crowder said of his system that it is faster, safer and cheaper to use than other systems. His invention is the result of 80 years of research.

Crowder claimed that this system also travels at a rate between 45 and 200 miles per hour.

After his presentation, Crowder was asked to stay to answer any questions.

In other business, Recommendations and an update were given in the I-4 urban design guidelines/Eastern Regional Gateway on the I-4 bridge project.

The City of Sanford requested that the location be altered to allow the Gateway to be moved

Hurricane force brewing Florida should be spared the brunt

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO - Though Florida will most likely be spared the wrath of Hurricane Bonnie, the storm's effects will be felt this week and local emergency organizations will remain on alert.

Heavy surf conditions have been reported in Daytona Beach where the high tide early today was several feet above normal. Local officials said waves could reach 12 feet later this week as the hurricane gets closer to the coast.

With sustained winds reaching 115 mph and bands stretching for 230 miles, the slow-moving Bonnie is the year's first Atlantic hurricane. Crashing waves have been reported from Florida to New Jersey.

A hurricane watch remains in effect from Savannah, Ga. to the Outer Banks of North Carolina. Based on weather forecaster's models the brunt of the storm could strike within 72 hours and should take a more easterly course.

The American Red Cross continues to make preparations for the potential landfall of Bonnie from the Panhandle to the Keys, according to spokeswoman Victoria Street.

While the hurricane continues to threaten the coast, Street said since the exact path of hurricanes cannot be determined, it is important for residents to have a disaster plan for their family, business and pets.

Early preparation will enable individuals to cope more easily and help them begin their recovery more quickly, Street said.

Typical supplies include three days worth of nonperishable food and water, flashlights, batteries, battery-powered radio, extra medications, cash, a full tank of gas, and special needs for the elderly and infants. For more information on hurricane preparedness, call 855-3211.

The midges have landed! Tote that barge for research

By Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The midges have landed. The midges have landed.

A second barge was towed into Lake Monroe last week to continue research on the pesky flying insects that have plagued the city and its residents for years.

Known as "blind mosquitoes," midges are non-biting cousins of the mosquito that travel in swarms. Midges are more of a nuisance than anything else, said Arshad Ali, professor of aquatic entomology and ecology with the University of Florida research center in Sanford. However, Ali added, some individuals can have extreme allergic reactions to the midges.

"These are non-biting insects that emerge after dark in astronomical numbers and become a nuisance," Ali said, adding that up to one million of the insects can come out each night during the peak season between April and October.

The two barges, which were acquired from a government surplus center in Jacksonville, are part of a research project that will measure the quality and quantity of the insects. The first barge was delivered in July.

A $100,000 grant is funding the study, which will also gauge the effect artificial light has on controlling the midge population.

"They are retaining very good numbers," Ali said.

Each barge measures 90 by 21 feet and is equipped with two 5,000 watt generators that power 14 light panels that measure 7 by 5 feet. The light attracts the midges to the barges where they swarm, die and then drop into collection boxes. No insecticides are used.

Ali and his crew collect the specimens twice each week and continue their studies at

Security company promotes Wright

John Wright, Jr., a 1965 graduate of Crooms High School and former detective sergeant with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, was recently promoted from project manager to general manager of Prosegur Universal Security S.A. Prosegur, a company based in Madrid, Spain, employs over 25,000 people through Central and Latin America, Germany, Italy, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile and Suiza.

Wright is responsible for the myriad security functions of various U.S. government military installations in the Republic of Panama, managing several million dollar contracts and a labor force of over 300 personnel. He still considers Sanford as his home.

While serving with the sheriff's department, he was the recipient of the "Most Outstanding Young Law Enforcement Officer" award for the month of October, 1972, and again in 1973. He subsequently served 22 years in the U.S. Army.

Pentas, the star of the garden

The scientific name comes from a Greek word meaning "five" for the number of petals on the flowers. Originally a native of tropical Africa, Pentas has numerous clusters of star-like flowers that attract hummingbirds and butterflies. Pentas is related botanically to ixora, gardenia, and coffee. It is also known as the Egyptian star or Egyptian star clusters.

The plant: Pentas has a fast, upright to somewhat sprawling growth habit, multi-branched, and woody near the base, growing about 2 to 12 inches tall. It is usually kept 12 to 18 inches tall by pinching off the tips of stems. The plants have opposite, hairy, oval, dark green leaves, 3 to 4 inches long, which are often deeply veined. Flowers are five-lobed, trumpet-shaped, about 1/2 inches in diameter, born in numerous rounded terminal clusters, about 4 inches in diameter, formed on the upper portion of the stem. Flower colors are red, pink, lavender, white, and purple, and in warm weather zones are produced nearly year-round. The variety Orchid Star has rosy lavender flowers. The fruit is a little capsule that contains many small seeds.

Planting: In Florida, Pentas is planted during the months of March through August in zones 9-11. The plant is sensitive to cold weather. It can be grown in full sun to partial shade, but do best in at least 4 hours of direct sunlight a day, with night temperatures of 50 to 65 degrees F and day temperatures of 68 degrees F or higher. Ideally, it should receive morning sun and open, light shade during the hottest part of the day. It requires a well-drained, somewhat acid soil, with good moisture. Fertilize frequently. Propagate from stem cuttings at any time. In the southern parts of the state, Pentas may be evergreen, eventually becoming almost shrub-like. In north and central Florida you can purchase new plants each spring and treat them as annuals. It may grow back from the roots in spring in central Florida following a freeze if the roots are not killed by the low temperatures.

Indoor planting: Often Pentas is listed and sold as a greenhouse or indoor plant, and it is a wonderful subject when used this way. If you want to carry your garden plants over the winter instead of purchasing anew each spring, lift them from the garden in early fall, trim them back severely, pot them, and bring them inside to be placed in a sunny window. Fertilize lightly during the winter months.

Propagation: You may obtain new plants for potting by taking tip cuttings in early fall and rooting in either water or in a peat and soil mix. Report in a 50-50 mixture of sand and peat after it is well rooted. Set winter plants in the garden after the soil becomes thoroughly warm in the spring, or gradually expose them to outside conditions and leave them in the pots for patio or porch use. Whether indoors or outdoors, after the plants have begun to show good growth, pinch out all growing tips for low, bushier plants which will produce even more flowering clusters.

Uses: Pentas is often used in border planting, container, hanging basket. It is an attractive small hedge or accent plant and can even be used in flower arrangements. It is a very popular plant in butterfly gardens because its flowers are such favorites that butterflies continuously seek nectar from flowers, feeding from them until almost dark every day. In the garden, massed plantings of Pentas produce the most striking effects and of course attract the most butterflies. Cluster them in groupings of six to 10 plants throughout the border of walks or driveways, use them along the edge of a wooded area, or plant in a solid bed of their own.

Pests and diseases: This plant is very tolerant to insect and disease problems. Occasionally, it may be affected by mites.

Unisex rest rooms are hard for disabled to find

DEAR ABBY: I don't know where the Rev. Virginia Anderson has been the last 10 years or so. She claims the problem of rest rooms where spouses of people with handicaps are allowed in to help them has never been addressed. I assure you it has. I travel all over the United States and Canada, and many cities have men's rest rooms, women's rest rooms and family rest rooms in their shopping complexes. The malls in my home state of Minnesota have them.

Another thing, Abby: In your answer you said, "By the age of 6 or 7, your grandson should be able to use a public rest room without assistance." This may be true, but young children are sometimes afraid of being molested. Parents are looking for children that age who are alone. By the time the opposite sex parent finds out, it's too late. Please think again. I wouldn't even allow a 6- or 7-year-old child to go into a rest room alone in a small town.

INTERESTED BYSTANDER

DEAR INTERESTED BYSTANDER: I will respond to your letter in two parts. First, I apologize for saying that by the age of 6 or 7 a child should be able to use a public rest room without being accompanied by an adult. I didn't consider the possibility that the child could be in danger of being molested.

As to the first part of your letter about rest rooms that are accessible to handicapped people, please read on for a sample of the mail I've received on that subject:

Goff: Manager's rumor is ludicrous

Reports that he is going to become the next Seminole County manager irritate a gentleman and scholar named Bob Goff, who has troubles enough managing to get along with his fellow school board members.

Goodness gracious, scoffs Goff, "this latest rumor is ludicrous. The ones making it up are losers, desperate enough to make up anything that might hurt their opponents."

"My answer to them today," Goff said, "is that I am truly flattered that they hold me in such high esteem to have such a job but I'm going to have to decline. My efforts the next two years will be directed to the school board."

"I'm not stupid enough to waste my time trying to explain the rumors or having to apologize to Gary Kaiser (the current county manager) and anyone else this incredible rumor may affect," Goff said.

The story goes that if Carleen Henley defeats Win Adams in the District 4 Commissioner's race, there would be a vote in November to replace Kaiser and hire Goff. Two of the sitting commissioners - Dick Van Der Weide and Grant Maley - voted against Kaiser a year ago and are supporting Henley today.

"Those backing Adams want you to believe this," Goff said. "That's how desperate they are."

Maley said today that the Goff rumor was "the craziest thing I ever heard - I laughed. The good old boys are at it again. That's all this is. The good old boys network, trying to put down Carleen Henley and Bob West. They thought they could pull it off by associating Bob Goff with these candidates. It wasn't fair to anyone including Mr. Goff."

Goff says that America was founded by individualists who spoke what they thought - men like Thomas Jefferson and John Adams. He said that his purpose as a member of the school board is to improve the education standards for the county. "I'm going to speak up when it calls for it," he said.

"And by the way, don't you think I'd make a good manager?" he said, feigning hurt. Good Goff.

times, Mayor Dale called police Chief Joe Dillard to the front of the room, in case he was needed to possibly evict persons who, the mayor said, "can't control their feelings about this." No one required removal from the chambers.

The speakers against the development were basically members of Save Our Park, who have spoken at prior meetings.

At the start, it was reported that Doug Groseclose had filed an emergency motion for injunctive relief with Circuit Court. The move would have postponed any action on the part of the city. During the prior work session, Dale said the move was a stalling action which might have drawn the matter out to such length that the developer would possibly have pulled out.

The motion was filed late Friday however, with the intent of bringing it into court on Monday, just prior to the meeting. Catherine Reschmann, of the city attorney's office filed an objection and motion to strike, and at 9:50 a.m. Monday, the motion to strike was granted by Circuit Judge Thomas Freeman.

While Groseclose told the commission it was not a dead issue because the motion to strike was issued. He said it would come back in the court on Sept. 28. Dale however, said the city attorneys had not mentioned anything another date, that the matter was closed.

One new item not made public in the past, was some of the opponents' signs which indicated there may be a hidden attempt in promoting the hotel development, connected with casino gambling.

Lon Howell brought the matter to the forefront in noting a number of what he said were "lies" being spread by the opposition. He said the idea of this being the beginning of bringing gambling to Sanford was, "as big a lie as could be."

The signs read, "Vote No, Mayor Dale's Hotel-Casino." The only opponent to the project who mentioned the casino issue was Arthur Haines who said he and the public were being deceived by the mayor. "This is going to be built with casino development in mind," he said. "They are thinking, 'how can we get this developed for gambling?'"

During various phases, there were also heated one-on-one complaints about various members of the commission.

In response to a comment that she was only following the mayor's lead in the proposal, Commissioner Velma Williams told the audience, "I'm not going to disagree with the mayor just to prove he doesn't control me. I ran on a campaign to bring a hotel into downtown Sanford, and I'm for the convention center one hundred percent." She then proceeded to point out various items including the proposed "new fishing pier, that will enhance the remaining six acres of the park which would not be developed for the hotel or conference center."

Even with all of the pro and con from members of the audience and discussion from members of the commission, each of the motions was unanimously approved by the commission including the second reading of Ordinance 3480 to obtain a clear title, and changes in the comprehensive plan future land use map to allow for the park's use classification to be changed.

The matter pertaining to placing the question on the November 3 General Election ballot was also approved by a unanimous vote.

Dale said this morning that he is excited about the concept of the conference center. "It's been a county proposal from the start," he explained. "It's great to know that Sanford is the top candidate for the regional conference center." During Monday night's meeting it was mentioned several times that other areas, especially Lake Mary, were wooing the county in an attempt to have the conference center located in their city. "It's going to be a valuable asset and an economic center of activity if we can have it right here in Sanford," Dale said.

There's a resolution today to enter a cooperative agreement between Gilchrist, Bakerland and Seminole County. The city and the county have similar populations (370,000) and have similar high tech businesses.

Also on today's agenda a proposal to build the Coast Community Trust within the proposed Water Control Basin, which is to be located north of State Road 484 in the vicinity of the intersection of SR 484 and Turbotville Road. "There are five issues for the 7 p.m. meeting agenda. They include an agenda against the State of Admission in dropping a Special Resolution to permit an Assisted Living Facility, proposed for a 4.5 acre site located on the west side of Main Street, Wards Road, approximately 1 1/2 mile north of Lake Mary Blvd." The commission will be kept quickly busy for the next part on the last get-together before the Sept. 1 elections.

IT TAKES THE RIGHT EXPERIENCE

It takes the right kind of experience to be a Circuit Judge. Diminishing the sense of community

Sanford city commissioners are busy congratulating themselves for a recent reduction in property taxes. The reduction is approximately 50 cents per household for the first year and commissioners promise future reductions in years to come. Commissioners feel it is important to reduce taxes because our millage rate is so much higher than that of other communities (and also because there is a popular, albeit erroneous, belief among politicians that tax reductions are desired by all members of the voting public).

Pardon me, but the reason our millage rate is so high is that our property values are so low. Could it be that our property values are ridiculously low because our government does not provide adequate amenities and services to its citizens? Could it be that the city commissioners and mayor do not think the community is worth investing in?

Pay attention, fellow citizens. City of Sanford elected officials are aggressively pursuing several concepts which would negatively impact our downtown and further diminish the sense of community city-wide.

Our government wants to reduce our downtown waterfront park to a meaningless and insubstantial remnant of its former self surrounded by a conference center, hotel, and entertainment complex. Our government wants to sell City Hall so that Seminole County can use the building for additional offices and locate 1000 parking spaces on our waterfront. Our government wants to build a new City Hall on open space (now used by residents as an informal park) located on 17th St. of all places. Any of these proposals would erode our downtown. If all three are carried out, it is the beginning of the end for downtown.

We can do better. A meaningful system of public open space and civic buildings is more than a frivolous amenity for Sanford. These civic spaces provide a setting for a solid community, one in which our residents meet one another, hold public gatherings and celebrate important public events. Civic space provides an environment for our children to learn about neighborliness and about living with all different kinds of people. These civic spaces are a symbol of pride in community and reflect local government's regard for its residents. In short, a system of public spaces is a framework on which we build a true sense of community.

I live in Sanford with my husband and 20-month-old son because our town is different from the typical suburban walled residential developments and strip malls that define many of our neighboring communities. I live here because there is a downtown Post Office to which I can walk and where I often run into friends and acquaintances, rather than just dropping my letters into an anonymous box on a corner. I live here because there is a downtown City Hall which is a focal point for community debate and a symbol of civic pride. I live here because there are public parks with playgrounds, ballfields, and open space.

Fifty cents per year means nothing to me. Yet if everyone's 50 cents were added together, it might make something meaningful for the community. The City could use the money to improve our public parks, or put it toward the cost of a new downtown City Hall and town square. The City could use the money to plant more street trees and improve lighting in our neighborhoods. Keep the 50 cents, commissioners and give it back to the residents in ways that will truly help rebuild this community.

 to an area by the Central Florida Greenway.
 The site for the Gateway was proposed to be in Lake Mary, but in a letter to Metropolitan Orlando, the City of Sanford stated that it would be a mistake to locate the Eastern Regional Gateway too far south as persons coming to this area from the east to shop or travel around the expressway loop would miss the beautiful gateway.
 During the presentation, Mark Callahan from CH2M Hill and Jim Gilman from USBriener, talked and answered questions from the committee bringing out many fundamentals of the project, such as the need for community involvement.

 The update also affirms aesthetic improvements for stormwater management. Preliminary engineering is being done. There was also discussion on the possible design of the bridge with the term retro-innovation being used. This would give the project a more comforting, familiar design.
 Lastly, the motion was made to postpone any immediate plans on the placement of the Gateway until all parties have met.

IN BRIEF
Special training
 SANFORD - Fire organizations within Seminole County's First Response System will take part in special training operations on Sanford airport property today, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Several area fire departments will participate in search and rescue operations as well as live fire suppression training.
 The operations will include controlled fires at 2800 Bear-shall Road, property originally scheduled for demolition, which will be burned on Thursday.
Corrections
 In a story in the Aug. 23, 1988 issue of the Seminole Herald, school board candidate and incumbent Jeanne Morris should have been listed as 54 years of age and married.
 The signature on one letter to the editor was inadvertently omitted in the Aug. 23 issue. The letter was written by Winter Springs resident Harold Scott.

Midge

 the research center well into the night, he said. The large lights are activated about one hour before sunset.
 "About 80 percent of the midges emerge within two hours of darkness," he said.
 The average life span of the midge is about one week with each female laying up to 1,500 eggs. The lake serves as a food source for the midge eggs, which are laid on the water's surface. Once the midges die, they become a food source for the fish. When water levels of the lake are high, then the midge population is lower because their food source diminishes. Current populations are about average, All said. There are more than 20,000 midge species worldwide.

 "In the 1980s there were much higher populations," he said.
 All stressed that the purpose of the program is solely for research to attract and retain the midges. The program would not be used for control.

"This is an experiment, not practical control at this point," he said.
 Based on preliminary findings, All said the lights are working in attracting the midges away from the city. In the future, he said free-standing lights could be installed along the shoreline in unpopulated areas, to control the midges.
 This portion of the research will probably be completed by the end of the year, All said. Additional aspects could be established in 1989.
 Mayor Larry Dale, who had previously expressed concerns over the effects the midge swarms had on tourism and the economy of the city, said he is satisfied with project's progress. "Everything looks good," Dale said.
 Dale also wanted to make clear that this year was slated for research and data collection only. He said hopefully, next year there could be some controls in place.

Making Brunell a pocket passer is a big mistake

SANFORD Jacksonville Jaguar coach Tom Coughlin jokes that there's no way quarterback Mark Brunell will be his second leading rusher again this season.

He's making a mistake and here's why. You don't take a weapon like Mark Brunell out of your offense.

Coughlin has reason for concern. After all, Brunell was almost gone for the season last year after taking a hit on an already gimpy knee during a pre-season game against the New York Giants. Only Brunell's near-miraculous healing powers allowed him to play in Week 3 and he led the Jaguars to a win over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A few years before, Brunell missed much of his junior and senior year at the University of Washington with an injury to the same knee.

So, to avoid another injury, Coughlin has told Brunell to stay home.

Slide into tackles.

Throw the ball away.

Anything but run.

Bad choice, Tom.

As a pocket quarterback, Brunell is one of the seven or eight best quarterbacks in the NFL. Nothing wrong with that.

Except, if Brunell plays his own scrambling game, making things happen, he's one of the top two, right next to Brett Favre.

Two years ago, Brunell ran at will and was second on the team in rushing. He kept defenses honest and his long run late in the 30-27 win over Denver in the second round of the playoffs, when Brunell pulled off perhaps the NFL play of the year when he scrambled away from a fierce Bronco rush and went for a long gain, cemented the Jaguar win.

He was being an athlete, relying on instinct.

That's what athletes do.

Last year, Brunell was forced to stay in the pocket more often and, although he racked up some big numbers and the Jaguars went 11-5, it wasn't the same offense.

Defenses no longer had to keep a defensive back at home, keeping an eye on Brunell. Wide receivers Jimmy Smith and Kanan McCardell, one of the best tandems in the league, could be double-teamed since Brunell wasn't as much of a threat to run.

But did you notice that when Brunell ran, he never got hurt?

When he stayed in the pocket against New York last year, he did. The year before, Brunell would have taken off and ripped off a big run.

Here's a quiz: Which three NFL quarterbacks have taken the most snaps over the past two years?

Answer: Favre, Drew Bledsoe and Brunell. Sure, Bledsoe is a pocket passer who's been kind of lucky.

Then there's Favre and Brunell who are deadly when chased from the pocket.

Coincidence? Not really. How many athletes know how to curl into a fetal position to take a hit? And how many of them are trained to try to escape the hit and look for more yardage?

That's why Brunell is a weapon. When he's on the run, Smith or McCardell get single coverage. When the Jags have a three or four receiver unit on the field, Brunell has unlimited options.

So if Coughlin wants Brunell to wear a dress and stand in the pocket, he's taking away his biggest weapon.

Let Brunell be Brunell. If he wants to run for 100 yards a game, let him run wild.

Last Season's Mist: I'm convinced that Kansas City Chiefs fans have the same intelligence as other fans or that head.

In the Kansas City Star last week, there was a reader's poll to see if the Chiefs, as expected, should sign Lawrence Phillips (A.K.A. Social Distasteful Drunken Woman Baiter).

That's the same Phillips that has been arrested and charged with assault on a woman, drunken driving, violation of probation and has been kicked off of two football teams despite his untalented talent.

The fans overwhelmingly said that if Phillips can lead them to the Super Bowl, he's worth a chance, baggage or not.

How pathetic.

When will it end?

Surge earn spot in MLRH Final Four at Anaheim

Special to the Herald

LONGWOOD The Major League Roller Hockey (MLRH) Southern Division Champion Orlando Surge edged the Virginia Vultures, 7-6, in the Southern Division Playoff Finals before 662 fans at the InLine State Center in Longwood Saturday night.

The victory avenged the Surge's (19-1-1) only regular season loss, 12-4 to the Vultures (17-8-0) in Richmond on August 9th, and secured a spot in tonight's semifinals in the MLRH Final Four in Anaheim, California.

The win also gives Orlando both the regular season and Southern Division championships.

The Surge, the second seed, will take on the No. 3 seeded Columbus (18-9-1) Hawks at 8:30 p.m. ET.

In the other semifinal, the No. 1 seeded Anaheim (20-0-1) Bullfrogs play the fourth-seeded Brighton (England) Tigers from the United Kingdom Division.

The winners of tonight's games will meet for the championship on Wednesday at 11:30 p.m. ET.

The final could easily match the Surge and Bullfrogs for the third time this season, with each team holding an overtime win on each other's home floor.

The championship game will not go to shootout as, if the two teams are tied at the end of regulation time, it will go to sudden-death overtime.

"This was a tremendous effort from our guys," Orlando head coach Mark Bremer said. "We did everything we needed to do tonight. We kept up the pressure the entire game and wanted it more than them."

An intense game from the start, the Surge jumped out to a 2-0 lead on a power play goal by Jamie Cook, with assists from team captain Kyle Reeves and Jeremy Langlois, with 8:50 left in the first peried and Mike Martens, on assists from Langlois and Cook, with 9:19 left in the half.

But Virginia quickly tied the game at 2-2 as the Vultures scored twice within 18-seconds.

Kurt Mallett broke the ice, scoring a power play goal at 8:59 of the second period on assists from Hugo Belanger and Kevin Kerr.

Jeff Whittle then tied the score at 9:41 on an assist from Kerr.

The Surge regained the lead with 6:08 left in the half on an assisted goal by Reeves, but Virginia forced a haltime tie as Brian Goudie found the net with only 39-seconds left before intermission with assists from Scott Burfoot and Belanger.

Orlando took control of the contest in the third period as Reeves scored twice, the first coming at 11:17 (on assists from Jason Shroy and Cook) and the second on a power play at 9:51 (with assists by Cook and Langlois).

The lead was short-lived, however, as the Vultures came back with a pair of power play goals.

Mallett netted the first on an assist from Belanger at 8:13 and the tying goal came off the stick of Alan Savage, again with an assist from Belanger, with 8:31 left in the third period.

Things started to look bad for the Surge as Virginia took its first lead of the game, 6-4, with 9-seconds left in the game as Kerr found the net on an assist from Burfoot.

But the home team was not to be denied as Martens scored just 10-seconds later, at 7:50, on an assist from Langlois to tie the game at 6-6.

Goalie Steve Vesina faced 50 shots and recorded 44 saves on the Orlando Surge edged the Virginia Vultures, 7-6, in the Major League Roller Hockey Southern Division Playoff Finals at the InLine State Center Saturday night. Vesina and the Surge will meet the Columbus Hawks in the MLRH semifinals tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Martens then blasted home the game-winner three-and-a-half minutes later (4:23) on a power play with help from Reeves and Cook.

Orlando's defense, and goalie Steve Vesina, took over from there, holding the Vultures scoreless the rest of the way. INCLUDING THE FINAL 50-seconds when Virginia pulled its goalie and went with an extra attacker.

The Surge made their shots count, scoring on seven of 29 chances, while the Vultures only counted on six of 50 attempts.

Orlando also dominated on the power play, scoring on four of five tries.

Virginia was not had either, scoring on three of seven power play opportunities.

Providing the offense for the Surge were Reeves (three goals, two assists), Martens (three goals), Cook (one goal, four assists), Langlois (four goals) and Shroy (one assist).

Vesina played 47:40 minutes, facing the 50 shots and coming up with 44 saves.

Contributing to the Vultures' offensive attack were Mallett (two goals), Kerr (one goal, two assists), Goudie and Savage (two goal each), Belanger (three assists) and Burfoot (two assists).

Allen played 47:10 in goal for Virginia and was credited with 19 assists.

Hinshaw helps UCF's offense shine in second scrimmage

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO Dante Culpepper completed 10 of 15 passes for 247 yards and two touchdowns and also rushed for 38 yards, including a 15-yard touchdown, Saturday in the second fall scrimmage of the year at the University of Central Florida.

The scrimmage was a reversal of fortunes from a week ago for the offense as Culpepper and backup quarterback Jason Thorpe led the first and second offensive units to six touchdowns on the day, compared to only a touchdown and a field goal last week.

The first unit scored on four of its seven drives on the day, while the second team scored on two of six attempts.

"Collectively, we were much more cohesive than last week," Culpepper said. "Everyone was much more familiar with the offensive scheme."

"My big message to these guys was that we've got to have more consistency in effort and attitude," coach Mike Brunell said. "We've got talent on this football team, but we've got to come out every day with a dominant attitude to get accomplished what our goals are. Collectively we did that and defensively we let down a little bit."

The starters opened the scrimmage with a 70-yard scoring drive in which Culpepper was four-of-five for 57 yards, including a 14-yard touchdown pass to Kenny Clark.

Clark, Culpepper's cousin and former high school teammate at Ocala's Vanguard High School, was the leading receiver on the day. He caught four passes - for 115 yards and two touchdowns, including a 50 yarder.

"Kenny's undervalued in the past, but lately he's been playing like I know he can play," Culpepper said. "He's making great catches, taking short two or three yard passes and turning them into a 50 yard gain."

"We always know he was going to be a real good college receiver and he's getting there," Brunell said. "I'm real happy for Kenny. He's playing with a lot of confidence and he's a big help for us."

Late May High School graduate Tyson Hinshaw, the captain of the year for Brunell after moving to receiver from third string quarterback, caught three passes for 82 yards and a touchdown, while Matt Reinhardt caught three passes for 39 yards and Charles Lee had two receptions for 72 yards.

Shakir Burley, UCF's leading receiver from a year ago, was out with a collarbone injury, but was expected back Monday.

Edward Maki carried the ball 10 times for 30 yards and a touchdown and Omar Howard had six rushes for 20 yards and a touchdown. Starting tailback Mike Grant missed the scrimmage because of cut on his forehead.

The defense registered only two sacks on the day, compared to 10 a week ago. They did, however, pick off five passes.

Reginald Doster intercepted a deep ball from Culpepper and Mike Huleman intercepted a screen pass from Thorpe, who was six of 14 for 137 yards and a touchdown, and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown.

Why were blood clots fatal?

DEAR DR. GOTT: My sister had a blood clot in her leg. Five months later, she got clots in her lungs. After 12 days in the intensive care unit on a respirator, she went back to her room; then she got more clots and died. Her doctor said it was because she was overweight, but she wasn't that heavy. He won't answer my questions or talk to me at all.

DEAR READER: Your sister seems to have died from a pulmonary embolism, a blood clot that was carried in the circulation from the leg to the lungs, where it became wedged. Although this is a serious and sometimes fatal condition, it is treatable. Some doctors use heparin to prevent clots from forming in the leg veins; other physicians may give streptokinase, a drug that dissolves clots once they have formed.

I think it's odd that the doctor won't answer your questions. In similar circumstances, I would be more than willing to explain your sister's condition, because the outcome was disastrous and I think you have a right to know what happened and why.

Overweight people may have a higher incidence of pulmonary embolism; however, obesity was not the cause of her death. She died of a treatable disease.

I could not assess your sister's treatment without fully reviewing her records, so I cannot say whether or not her doctor was negligent. I can, however, say that his attitude is reprehensible and needs improving. Call the chief of staff at the hospital at which your sister was a patient; ask him or her to help you. This may be an instance where a little professional pressure from your doctor's colleagues might produce the answers you need.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Blood - Denatians & Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2917, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 30, married and have a 5-year-old son. We've been trying for three years to have another child. After many tests, my doctor put me on Clomid and progesterone for four months. I still can't get pregnant. Now he's suggesting that I take...

Robitussin cough syrup to get pregnant. Have you ever heard of this?
DEAR READER: It sounds peculiar, but taking Robitussin under the guidance of a doctor can help some women become pregnant. The cough mixture contains guaifenesin, a substance that thins mucus. If your cervical canal secretes mucus that is so thick that it prevents penetration by sperm, Robitussin can reduce mucus viscosity and permit fertilization to take place. Please don't become alarmed and think, as one of my patients did, that you could get pregnant just by drinking cough syrup; there's more to it than that.

Count those winners too

By Phillip Alder

If you read a beginner's book, the author will recommend that declarer count top tricks in a no-trump contract, but loses when in a suit contract. All well and good, but when there is a trump suit, it is a good idea to count winners as well. Sometimes this will point you in the right direction.

As an example, there are two obvious lines of play in this six-spade contract. What are they, and which is the better? West leads the heart queen.

Counting his losers and finding some only in clubs, declarer thought he needed a 2-3 club split. So, he won with the heart ace, drew trumps, and played two rounds of clubs. However,

East happily took two tricks in the suit to defeat the slam.

Now let's count winners. There are 11: six spades, two hearts, two diamonds and one club. Therefore, one more trick is required. This could come from clubs, but a 2-3 split is only a 40 percent shot. If the missing diamonds split 4-3 — a 62 percent probability — dummy's fifth diamond can be established. And if the diamonds don't behave, declarer can fall back on the clubs.

This is the right line: Win with the heart ace, play a diamond to dummy's king, ruff a diamond in hand, return to dummy with a trump, and ruff another diamond in hand. Have they split 4-3? If not, draw trumps and play for the 2-2 club break. But when the diamonds do divide favorably, draw trumps, play a club to dummy's ace, and cash the king-six of diamonds, discarding two club losers from hand.

Count losers and winners.

Three secret ambitions you fell were out of reach have strong chances of being achieved in the year ahead. Unusual circumstances could bring success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Financial hunches should not be treated indifferently today. Your instincts for making or saving money could be impressive; don't be afraid to push them to the limit. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) In a conversation with a friend today, you might be told valuable information that could lead to something of substance. Listen carefully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Don't be disturbed if your ears ring a bit today. Others will talk about you, but their comments are complimentary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) The way to win friends and influence people today is to be sincerely interested in what interests them. Helping others will be especially beneficial.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something important may be presented to you today. You stand to gain from what others ignore.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) One-on-one relationships will be both worthwhile and convivial today if companions are presented with the same freedom of choice you expect from yourself. Be open-minded.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 19) Someone else's problems may require attention today. Be cheerful; his/her demands won't be too weighty.

ARIES (March 20-April 18) People you associate with will have a strong influence over your moves today. Try to select companions who know how to appreciate the "big easy."

Taurus (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to invite others to your place. Limit your guest list, however; a small group will be more enjoyable than a large one.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) People you've been trying to get in touch with for business or social reasons can be reached today. Keep calling until you make your connections.

Cancer (June 21-July 21) Be sure to compare prices when shopping today. You won't find super bargains, but email or savings will accumulate and surprise you.

Leo (July 22-Aug. 22) Your strong suit today will pertain to involvements that stimulate your thinking processes. Let others use their muscles while you utilize your mind.
