Olympic Boycott Proves Successful

Although the Russians are trumpeting claims of victory, the U.S.-led boycott of the Moscow Olympic Games has dealt the Soviet Union a major propaganda defeat.
When the deadline for entering Olympic teams fell recently, 85 nations had formally accepted invitations to compete. Fifty-six others had either joined the boycott or remained undecided.

Predictably, Russia's propaganda machine has been turned upon the United States, which "ass accused of inadmissible 'attempts to use international sport as an instrument of political pressure.'" This is irony of a high order. The Soviet Union itself boycotted the Olympic Games from 1920 to 1952, and threatened to boycott the Mexico City Games in 1968 in order to force the exclusion of South Africa.

But what about the vice presidential candidate? Here again Reagan looks out upon luxury, he can hardly be wrong, and he is now considering three basic models.

Seabrook Disorder

The record shows there have been 17 demonstrations at the site of the Seabrook nuclear power plant in New Hampshire since 1978. We would dispute that number. At some point, the assaults by anti-nuclear forces at the Seabrook site became something other than demonstrations.
A demonstration, in our book, is a gathering in a public place of persons in large or small numbers to express their support of a cause or their opposition to someone else's cause.

The 1,000 persons who carried out an operation at Seabrook recently did not arrive with the usual paraphernalia of demonstrators. They carried wire-cutters, hacksaws and grappling hooks with the announced intention of breaching a chain-link fence and "occupying" the site to prevent further construction work on the plant.

They were met, as they expected to be, by state troopers and National Guardsmen sworn to uphold trespassing laws. They suffered injuries, as they expected, when troopers and guardsmen tried to keep them from breaking the law. Some of them were arrested, as they expected and probably hoped to be.

Protest demonstrations on a controversial issue like nuclear power can be expected and should be tolerated. But the "Coalition for Direct Action at Seabrook" — which conducted the recent attack — is not a group of demonstrators. Time will tell, perhaps, what it really is.

Reagan Has Lock On Vote

Ronald Reagan now sits amid a luxury of political riches. He has the nomination. And, shhh, he has the election, shocking as it may be to say so — a prime signal being that James Reston of the New York Times has begun to reconcile himself to a Reagan victory in November. And Reagan also has an able and attractive group from which to choose his vice president.

Barring a major war, the election seems bagged. Assuming that Reagan carries California, where he now holds a wide lead over Carter, Reagan starts with a Western base of 109 electoral votes. No one believes that Reagan can lose Texas, so add another 26, or Florida, add another 17. The latest polls show Reagan leading overall in the South 50 to 40 percent. Conceding Georgia to Carter, that's 135, including Florida.

In New York, John Anderson, running on the Liberal Party line, will split the Democratic vote and Reagan has an excellent chance of carrying the state with its 41 electoral votes. Even with Anderson in the picture, Carter will probably carry Massachusetts, but in the rest of New England it will be Reagan. On to the Midwest. Indiana is certain, and probably Ohio. The border state crescent looks good. It takes only 270 votes to wrap it up.

But what about the vice presidential candidate? Here again Reagan looks out upon luxury, he can hardly be wrong, and he is now considering three basic models.

Model Number One. As in all three models, the vice presidential nominee must be credible as a potential president, to neutralize the always lurking age issue. But, so goes the argument for this model, the nominee should complement Reagan's style and personality. One of Reagan's gaps is experience in foreign affairs. The vice presidential nominee should have some Reagan is a Westerner. The vee should appeal to Easterners, suburbanites, Ivy Leaguers.

Model Number One points to George Bush or Howard Baker. But Baker has become a highly symbolic enemy for the right to life people, and if Baker is the nominee, Elton McCormack will be on the ballot in New York state — possibly costing Reagan New York. Also, Baker is valuable where he is, as Republican leader in the Senate. Model Number One therefore really points to Bush, who, indeed demonstrated electoral clout in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Connecticut.

Model Number Two addresses itself to the economic issue and to the demographic future of the Republican Party. New York Rep. Jack Kemp has carried out a quiet revolution within the GOP. He has shifted the focus from dreary matters like budget-cutting and belt-tightening to jobs and increased production and lower taxes. Kemp is one of the only Republicans to have new ideas about rejuvenating the inner cities. He is the only Republican who could win, year after year, in a union town like Buffalo, N.Y.

Psychologically, Kemp is a Roosevelt in conservative disguise, a job-and-production man with powerful appeal to blue-collar defectors from the Democrats.

Ex-Agent Details CIA Deceptions

WASHINGTON — A veteran CIA agent has just written an explosive book, charging that the agency's top brass have repeatedly lied about its secret operations to the public, the Congress and even the president. The revelations could stymie the congressional campaign to loosen the leash on the CIA.
The agent, Ralph McGehee, spent 25 years with the CIA in a variety of assignments. He has produced an unpublished manuscript that details many of the CIA's arguments for greater secrecy. My associate Dale Van Atta interviewed McGehee, and was allowed to examine the book-length manuscript.
McGehee is no Philip Agee, out to destroy the CIA by identifying former colleagues and endangering their lives. But his disillusionment runs deep, and he lays out the reasons for it articulately on moral grounds.
"I did not reach my apostasy easily," he explains, noting that he chose the CIA for a career in 1954, fresh out of Notre Dame, where he played four years on undefeated football teams.
Essentially, McGehee charges that the CIA uses secrecy to cover up incompetence, bureaucratic bungling and illegal activities. "Other than identity of sources and any unique technological collection processes,"

BUSINESS TODAY Pensions Not Closed

By LEROY POPE UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — One doesn't have to wait for retirement to have use of pension money; a participant often can borrow against vested interest in pension and profit-sharing plans.

Steven H. Adler, a New York pension consultant, says these loans can be used, for example, to put children through college, to help finance a new home or for a wide variety of worthwhile purposes.

Adler said only a small proportion of participants in the 600,000 such plans in force avail themselves of the privilege. He said such loans have been made from only 50 of the 700 plans his firm manages.

Anyone in a corporate pension plan — including professionals such as doctors or dentists who are incorporated — whose firm has arranged for such loans can apply for an amount up to their vested interest in the pension.

If, for example, one has a vested interest of $40,000 in either "golden variety pension" or profit-sharing plans he or she can borrow up to that amount against it, Adler said.

You will pay interest — relatively high — on such a loan even though technically it is your own money you have withdrawn. Adler said the rate is pegged to percentage point above the prime rate.

Until the present double-digit inflation era and resulting record interest rates, the interest on pension loans — more than loans against insurance policies for example — was one of the principal reasons such loans were not attractive.
But the rate now compares more favorably with the 11-13 percent one pays for a personal he writes, the CIA "does not have any secrets to protect."

Here are some of McGehee's charges:
— "It has been my observation that most everything an agency official says about the agency is either false or so misleading as to convey a greatly false impression," he declares.
— "Every word in public announcements by CIA officials should be examined for deception. For instance, the word 'covertly' as in 'we currently no longer employ American journalists as CIA operatives' may mean nothing more than that the newsmen were fired in time for the announcement and then rehired."
— "Articles on the CIA in Time and Newsweek two years ago 'drew upon official CIA sources who continued their policy of undeviating dishonesty.' For example, one of the stories reported that a human agent provided the first solid evidence that China was about to get off an atom bomb, 'whereby accepting the key establishments.' McGehee had personally been assigned to check that claim and found it to be untrue — but it suited the purposes of CIA brass who wanted to justify use of human agents."
— "President Ford was given a glowing and have someone pointing a finger at me."

It's a good thing the city doubled the size of its commission chambers as the space has been filled at recent meetings. Longwood residents may overreact at times over issues concerning their neighborhoods, but you can no longer call them apathetic. Just about any given issue can arouse the populace enough to sign petitions and come out to meetings with blood in their eyes.

Longwood City Attorney Marvin Rooks asked the Longwood City Commission for more time to perfect the anti-radijaly-lap dancing ordinance for the city. "I'm still doing some work on lap dancing," he said. "Does your wife know about this?" he was asked. "It is strictly academic," he hastily explained.
Who said legal research was dull?

ROBERT WALTERS

Election Reforms Needed

WASHINGTON (NEA) — An important revision of the federal law governing the financing of political campaigns, necessary to restrain the influence of wealthy special interest groups, is in danger of being scuttled by Congress.
The measure would for the first time establish a ceiling on the aggregate amount of campaign contributions a candidate for the House or the Senate could receive from political-action committees.

During the 1974 campaign, candidates for Congress received $12.5 million in PAC donations. That figure soared to $22.5 million in 1976, increased to $34.1 million in 1978 and almost certainly will top $50 million this year. Accounting for most of the growth are business-related PACs, which numbered fewer than 250 at the end of 1974 but proliferated to 1,100 by the close of 1978.

Expenditures by PACs within the pharmaceutical industry, for example, rose from $61,000 in 1976 to $314,000 in 1978, while PAC outlays went from $77,000 to $234,000 in the airline industry and from $214,000 to $502,000 in the chemical industry.

Any naive notions that such expenditures are made by patriots seeking to advance the cause of democracy by providing financial assistance to outstanding public servants can be promptly dispelled by a cursory examination of where the money comes from and where it goes.

Corporations and trade associations invariably concentrate their giving in the areas where their parochial interests can be most efficiently advanced. That usually means contributing to certain members of the congressional committees that have jurisdiction over legislation affecting their industry.

Thus, an average of $23,000 in PAC contributions was received in 1978 by candidates who had no opposition in either the primary or general elections but whose support was being solicited by various special-interest groups.
Similarly, several senior members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which initiates tax legislation that can cost (or save) individual corporations millions of dollars annually, receive more than $100,000 apiece in PAC contributions in 1978.

Federal law currently limits individual PAC contributions to each House and Senate candidate to $10,000 per election year — $5,000 in the primary and $5,000 in the general election.

Last October, however, the House voted 217-196 to amend the law to reduce the maximum amount a candidate could receive in any election year to $6,000 from a single PAC and $70,000 from all PACs collectively.
In addition to thwarting a needed reform, the Senate Republicans are hurting themselves because more than half of all PAC contributions go to the chairman of congressional committees — and they're all Democrats.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

A-Plant Shutdown Causes Daytona, Ormond Blackouts

MIAMI (UPI) — One of two nuclear power generating units at Florida Power & Light Co.'s Turkey Point plant shut down for four hours Tuesday, triggering a series of blackouts along the north Florida coast.

An electronic switch shut down the unit at about 6:40 a.m. causing brief power failures at Daytona Beach, Ormond Beach, Starke and Callahan, Fla., said FP&L spokesman Dave Wolverton.

The Jacksonville Electric Authority, which serves the city of Jacksonville, reported that 28,000 of its customers also were without electricity for 13 minutes, beginning at 6:53 a.m.

FP&L spokesman Dave Wolverton said there was no power failure in Miami or elsewhere in the South Florida area served by the company, Florida's largest electric utility.

Asked why a south Florida plant would have an effect on power only in north Florida, Wolverton replied: "Because that's just the way the system works these days. It's like a giant spider web. Tug it one place and it pulls loose somewhere else."

Probe Of Ship Pilot Likely

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The decision of whether to conduct a hearing on possible disciplinary action against the harbor pilot aboard the freighter Summit Venture when it slammed into the Sunshine Skyway Bridge rests with Nancy Wittenberg, secretary of the state Department of Professional Regulation.

A three-member panel from the Board of Pilot Commissioners ruled Tuesday there was probably cause to move ahead with a full investigation of harbor pilot John Lerro's actions on May 9 when the Summit Venture knocked down a 1,300-foot section of the southbound span of the bridge during a driving rainstorm.

A Greyhound bus and seven other vehicles were plunged into Tampa Bay and 35 people died in the nation's third worst bridge disaster.

The recommendation by the three-member panel Tuesday did not formally assign blame for the tragedy to Lerro's actions.

BBC Contest Winner Says Detective Shot J.R. Ewing

LONDON (UPI) — Who shot J.R. Ewing, the hero of the Dallas TV show? He hired his detective to do it, says the housewife winner of a BBC contest.

Like thousands of other Britons, Leonora Gallantry, a housewife from Crewe, England, sat down in the past two weeks to author a scenario in answer to the question driving the nation crazy.

Her winning entry of J.R. being shot by his own hired detective in Miami or elsewhere in the South Florida area served by the company, Florida's largest electric utility.

211 More Refugees Float Into Key West

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Sealford stragglers are still arriving from Cuba's Mariel harbor, but federal officials in Florida are proceeding to phase out processing operations.

Four boats reached Key West Tuesday with a total of 211 refugees, U.S. Customs agents said.

The totals since the sealford began April 21 had risen to 112,748 refugees — more than twice the population of 10 million. They arrived aboard 1,786 boats. Another 652 vessels arrived empty.

Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, reported that 278 "political elements" left Mariel for Key West Monday. It said there are still 32 boats in Mariel and that Monday three new boats from Florida arrived in Cuba in defiance of President Carter's sealford ban.

Federal Energy Management Agency spokesman David Cobb said the agency has been reducing manpower at Key West and the size of the U.S. Marine detachment, which has been handling security and some logistical functions, also has been cut.

He said the FBI's withdrawal, in addition to the U.S. Marine detachment, will be taken over by the Immigration and Naturalization Service "as part of the normal INS process."

NBA College Draft Golden State Grabs Carroll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even with a mite in front of him, Larry O'Brien, the NBA commissioner, had to struggle to make himself heard over a noisy gallery of basketball buffs in the back doing their best to drown him out.

O'Brien waited until a runner brought him the name of the choice written out by one of those seated at the Warriors' table, and while he was doing so, some self-styled comedian in the back of the room hollered out: "Nancy Lieberman..."

O'Brien ignored it. When the card finally was brought up to him, he glanced at the name on it and declared, "Golden State selects 7-foot-2, 230-pound..."

That was as far as he got before a tremendous earpiercing roar from the mob of spectators muted whatever else he was trying to say.

Carroll's selection by the Warriors was a foregone conclusion after the trade they made with the Boston Celtics Monday. They gave up their own 7-foot center, Robert Parish, and their first-round choice in the draft, which was No. 3 overall, for the Celtics' first and 13th choices.

Carroll is being drafted by the Warriors because of his first choice, and he could hardly help but know it, he certainly didn't offer any such indication before the draft.

Ether, Cocaine Mix Blamed As Pryor Fights For Life

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Richard Pryor told his doctor he was using ether to purify a batch of cocaine—the drug culture's latest fad called "freebase." The mixture flared up and the comedian was overcome by flames.

With fire licking the upper half of his body, Pryor panicked and fled his home in pain, screaming, "I screwed up, man, I screwed up." Police found the comedian, a mile away wandering in shock and he was rushed to the hospital.

Shortly after Pryor was admitted to Sherman Oaks Medical Center's burn ward with third-degree burns from the waist up, a doctor said in burn cases as severe as this the chances for survival were about one in three.

But 24 hours later, doctors said they were "encouraged" because Pryor had spent a comparatively comfortable night and he was "able to answer questions off and on."

Pryor was reported responding to whirlpool treatments to remove charred skin and flesh late Tuesday, Gary Swaye, assistant executive director of the burn ward, said the 38-year-old entertainer was in critical condition but "lucid."

Police said during one of his lucid periods, Pryor told a doctor he had been using so-called "freebase," a smokable form of cocaine and when he lit his cigarette lighter there was a flash of flames.

Highly flammable ether is used in the freebasing process to remove impurities and cutting agents in ordinary street coke so it can be smoked in cigarettes or pipes. Experts say it gives a quicker and greater "rush" than inhaling cocaine through the nose.

Police Lt. Dan Cooke stressed one of cocaine, ether or other flammable liquids were found in Pryor's bedroom, noting investigators did not examine the house until more than 12 hours after the incident.

The department planned no further investigation, he said.

"The case is closed," Cooke said. "All we have is Pryor's own statement to the doctor that he was using freebase."

Cooke said Pryor's elderly aunt, Jenny Pryor, was in the home at the time of the explosion and threw a sheet over her nephew, smothering the flames. But Pryor threw off the sheet and rushed out of the home in "obvious great pain," running for a mile before he was found by two policemen.

Cook Of The Week

First Mate In Charge Of Galley When Sloop Sails

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Ten years ago Paul Robinson retired from the Navy and bought a home for his wife Jeanne and their three daughters in Lake Mary.

Though he has retired from the Navy, the Robinsons have not left the sea.

While stationed in Bermuda, the Robinsons learned to sail and it is a pastime they still enjoy. Mrs. Robinson also likes to paint and the walls of their home on Almyra Drive in Lake Mary are decorated with several of the sea and landscapes she did while in Bermuda.

The Robinsons own a 28-foot sloop that they keep in Titusville and have spent six weeks cruising in the Bahamas in addition to shorter trips.

When Mrs. Robinson is not performing duties afloat as first mate she enjoys canning vegetables that they grow in their garden. "I'm a homemaker," she said. "You don't say housewife any more, it's obsolete. It's to be homemaker."

She laughed at what some of the women's libbers might say about that but she said she enjoys the freedom and the fulfillment of being a wife, mother and grandmother of three.

That does not mean she has no outside interests or activities. She is active in her church, the Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints in Sanford, and teaches a cultural refinement class dealing with the cultures of many nations.

In conjunction with sailing, Mrs. Robinson is now studying navigation and plans to put it to practice later this month when she and her husband, plus another couple sail to Bermuda for two weeks.

She is busy acquiring the necessary supplies they will need while at sea. Shopping and planning have to be thorough since the nearest convenience store is not very convenient when you are several hundred miles at sea.

Fresh food is the first to go on a sea voyage and lettuce does not keep very long, she said. Being in charge of the galley, preparing tasty, lettuceless salads can be a challenge.

As a result, Mrs. Robinson has come up with several recipes for salads that show what sailors do when the lettuce runs out. They are also useful for landlubbers who want a change or for when lettuce sells for 75¢ or more a head.

GREEN BEAN & TUNA SALAD
16 oz. can French style green beans
7 oz. can tuna
4 oz. can mushrooms
8 oz. can water chestnuts
Drain liquid from all products and thinly slice the water chestnuts. Sprinkle with soy sauce to taste. Can be used as a light lunch or dinner served with rye crisp or crackers. Serves 2 to 4.

SAUERKRAUT SALAD
1 can sauerkraut
2 oz. jar chopped pimientos
1 tsp. celery seed
1/2 cup onion flakes
2-3rd cup vinegar
1/4 cup oil
1 1/2 cup sugar
Drain sauerkraut and rinse. Toss together first four ingredients. Mix vinegar, oil and sugar together and pour over mixture. If possible allow salad to sit a few hours to let flavors blend.

MEXICAN OMELETTE
2 eggs, lightly beaten
Cheddar cheese, grated
Taco sauce, hot or mild
Butter

Melt butter in omelette pan. Add eggs, lifting edges gently as it cooks. Just before they are set, add a little of the grated cheese and fold over in pan. Spoon taco sauce over omelette and sprinkle with the remaining cheese.

DEAR ABBY: You told NO LOVE-YOU'S IN VEGAS that most guys are reluctant to say "I love you" because they aren't ready to make a commitment. Well, my man made a commitment (marriage) 24 years ago, and he's said "I love you" only twice. The first time was when he came home from a Christmas office party so drunk he could hardly stand up. (That's the only time I ever saw him drunk.)

"I love you," but he just wasn't able to get the words out. Then I realized that although he wasn't a very demonstrative man, he showed his love by putting up with a temperamental wife and doing his best to raise seven kids. He was patient, a good point. Read on for a letter from a woman who's had plenty of "I love you's."

DEAR ABBY: Boy, have I got a message for "NO I LOVE-YOU'S IN VEGAS." I was married for 14 years to a man who told me he loved me every time he turned around.

When I found a receipt in his coat pocket showing that he and "his wife" had stayed at a motel on the edge of town for three days, and I wasn't the Mrs., he told me he loved me.

When I found cigarette butts with lipstick on them in the ashtray of our car — I don't smoke — he told me he loved me.

When women would call him at home and were surprised to learn that he was married, he told me he loved me.

When he lost his wallet and some nice old man brought it back, and I found names, telephone numbers and pictures of pretty girls in it, he told me he loved me.

Well, maybe he did, but I couldn't care less because we aren't married anymore.

TALK'S CHEAP spray it with glue? Then they take half an hour to paint their faces and for what? When their husbands pull them closer for a little kiss or squeeze, they say, "Please, Henry, you'll mess my hair," or "Don't kiss me, you'll smear my makeup."

I thought the whole idea behind looking pretty was to make themselves more huggable and kissable. So why do they put on the bait if they don't want to catch the mouse?

NOT FROM JERSEY DEAR BILL: I've never heard of returning an invitation along with regrets.

Jeanne Robinson checks grocery inventory for Bermuda voyage.

Any canned sandwich meat or preparation.
Margarine or mayonnaise, if you have it.
Dill pickles, sliced lengthwise, very thin or sliced bread-and-butter pickles.
SANDWICHES WITH A CRUNCH
Make sandwiches and use

pickles instead of lettuce. Add sugar together and use as you see fit.

DEAR ABBY: What the matter with women? They roll up their hair in big curlers, then they spray it with glue? Then they take half an hour to paint their faces and for what? When their husbands pull them closer for a little kiss or squeeze, they say, "Please, Henry, you'll mess my hair," or "Don't kiss me, you'll smear my makeup."

I thought the whole idea behind looking pretty was to make themselves more huggable and kissable. So why do they put on the bait if they don't want to catch the mouse?

DEAR BILL: Those women aren't interested in the "catch," they're just testing the bait.

DEAR ABBY: I've never heard of returning an invitation along with regrets.

COCONUT CAKE
This recipe is over 50 years old and is one of Mrs. Robinson's mothers.

3 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/4 flour
2 tsp baking powder
1/4 cup milk

butter, size of a walnut pinch of salt

Beat eggs well. Add sugar and beat. Add dry ingredients. Heat milk and butter and add to first mixture. Pour into 8x12 inch pan and bake for 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Topping
2 tbsp butter
9 tbsp brown sugar
3 tbsp canned milk
1 large can coconut
Cream butter, sugar and milk. Mix in coconut and spread over cake. Place under broiler and brown carefully.

Rice And Vegetables Make Unique Salads

Serve a buffet meal to set the stage for the Spring season. The children will be happy to have hot dogs or cold cuts and you can turn these favorites into a balanced meal by serving them with a hearty rice salad.

Cook up a large pot of rice at one time to make enough rice for several meals because, covered and refrigerated, cooked rice keeps its quality and flavor for six or seven days.

Rice's delicate flavor blends well with many foods — leftovers, vegetables, cheese or meats, such as chicken or roast. And a rice salad goes well with the main course whether hot or cold. If you haven't tried rice in a salad you'll be in for a special treat.

RICE-VEGETABLE SALAD
3 cups cool cooked rice
1 1/4 cups sliced celery
1 package (10 oz.) frozen green peas, cooked and drained
1/4 cup minced onion
1/4 cup diced pimientos
1 cup cubed American process cheese (4 1/2-inch cubes)
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon each salt and seasoned pepper
Combine all ingredients and toss lightly. Chill. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with sliced, hard-cooked eggs and tomato wedges, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Cooking Out Has Become Way Of Life

For many families, cooking out already has become a way of life.

By others just now finding that barbecue barbecues and picnics offer enjoyable cost-saving alternatives to the high costs of vacation and holiday travel and eating out.

Among diehards and newcomers, an important factor in the continuing growth of backyard cookouts is the development of portable LP and natural gas grills which rival the kitchen range in versatility and heat control in food preparation.

Today's outdoor gas grills are available with single or dual burners, the latter with separate temperature controls. The latest grills have color-coded gas control dials and are equipped with built-in igniters which start the fire without matches.

Backyard chefs can prepare complete meals with these grills, including all kinds of meats, seafood, vegetables, fruits and other foods, using direct or indirect cooking.

Motor-driven rollers and other accessories offer further cooking dimensions. The word "grill" really is a misnomer. You can do much more than just grill with these new LP and natural gas "outdoor cooking machines."

There's another plus to backyard barbecuing. Preparing full meals outdoors takes the heat out of the kitchen during warm spring and fall and hot summer months and lets everyone enjoy the outing together, including the chef.

Barbecued spareribs (Serves 4)
 4 pounds lean pork spareribs (2 racks)
 Salt
 Pepper
 Rosemary
 Lemon juice
 1 cup chili sauce
 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 cup olive oil
 1/4 cup wine vinegar
 1/4 teaspoon hot sauce
 1 cup water
 3 tablespoons green onion, chopped
 1 teaspoon celery seed
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 cloves garlic, minced

Sprinkle spareribs with salt, pepper, crumbled rosemary, and lemon juice. Allow to stand for 1 hour. Meanwhile, combine chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, olive oil, vinegar, hot sauce, water, onions, celery seed, salt and garlic and cook for 5 minutes. Keep this barbecue sauce warm on grill. Place ribs on LP or natural gas grill and cook at low heat about 1 1/2 hours, turning every 15 minutes. Baste frequently the last 1/2 hour, then use the remaining baste as table sauce. Serves 4.

Barbecued potatoes (Serves 4 to 6)
 6 medium-size potatoes
 Butter or margarine

Scrub potatoes and pat dry. Rub skins with soft butter or margarine. Wrap each potato in a double thickness of aluminum foil. Place potatoes on grill and cook at medium heat for 25 to 35 minutes, turning every 5 minutes. To serve, season to taste with butter, salt and pepper. Serves 4 to 6.

Corn in foil (Serves 4 to 6)
 6 ears young tender sweet corn
 Butter or margarine, softened
 Salt and pepper to taste

Strip off corn husks and remove silk. Brush corn with softened butter or margarine and season with salt and pepper. Lay each ear on a double thickness of aluminum foil. Sprinkle with a little water. Wrap foil securely around corn. Place corn on grill and cook at medium heat 15 to 20 minutes, turning often to cook evenly. Serves 4 to 6.

Burgundy Beef Kebabs (Serves 6 to 8)
 6 pounds boneless beef sirloin cut into 1 1/2-inch cubes
 1/4 cup olive oil
 1 garlic clove, minced
 1 bay leaf, crumbled
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/4 cup grated onion
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 Burgundy or dry red wine
 8 cherry tomatoes
 12 large mushroom caps
 2 green peppers, sliced
 3 small white onions, quartered

Combine olive oil, garlic, bay leaf, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, onion and parsley in a bowl. Place cubed meat in bowl and add enough wine to cover. Marinate at least 4 hours or overnight, turning occasionally. Thread beef onto skewers, alternating with mushroom, onion and green pepper. Place tomatoes on separate skewer and place aside. Brush kebabs with marinade and keep remaining marinade warm on grill.

Cook on LP or natural gas grill at medium heat, turning often until meat is browned, about 20 to 25 minutes, depending upon degree of doneness desired. Brush several times with marinade while grilling. Put skewered tomatoes on grill the last couple of minutes. Remove all food from skewers and divide into serving portions on plates. Serves 6 to 8.

Barbecued Rump Roast (Serves 6 to 8)
 3 pounds rump roast
 2 cups water
 2 cups vinegar
 1/4 cup instant minced onion
 1 lemon, sliced
 12 bay leaves
 1 whole black peppercorn
 1 teaspoon seasoned salt

Combine seasoning ingredients in a bowl and mix well. Add roast and let stand 24 hours in refrigerator, turning occasionally. Place roast on LP or natural gas barbecue rotisserie, securing with ties. Place aluminum foil pan under roast to catch juices, positioning Charo-Rok briquets around the pan in the grill. Cook 1 1/2 to 2 hours at medium heat with the grill lid open approximately 1 inch. Baste frequently with remaining marinade. Serve with cooking juices and vegetable garnish. Serves 4 to 6.

Pick A Pepper And Pack It With A Hot Dog Salad

Pick a fresh green pepper. Pack it with a Hot Dog Mac Salad that's sprinkled with corn niblets and before you can say "nutritious," you'll have a meal ready that the whole family will enjoy.

HOT DOG MAC SALAD

- 6 medium green peppers
- 1/2 onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons butter, margarine or oil
- 1 10-oz. can tomato soup
- 1 8-oz. can riblet corn, well drained
- 1 7-oz. package macaroni, cooked
- 1/2 pound sharp cheddar cheese, grated (approximately 2 cups)

Cut tops from green peppers and seed. Parboil peppers for 5 minutes. Sauté onions in shortening until soft and translucent. Combine hot dogs, chopped onions, tomato soup, drained corn, macaroni and 1-1/4 cup grated cheese (reserve 1/4 cup cheese for topping). Fill green peppers with mixture and set in 9 x 9 inch casserole. Sprinkle with reserved cheese. Leftover macaroni mixture may be spooned into casserole around the peppers or baked separately. Bake in 350 degree F. oven for 20 minutes or until heated through. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

CHEEZY DOGS
 IN SPLICED
 6 long Idaho baking potatoes
 3-oz. package cream cheese, softened

4 oz. butter or margarine
 1/4 cup milk, heated
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
 1 tablespoon grated onion
 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 2 eggs
 6 hot dogs
 1 cup sharp Colby cheese, grated

Scrub potatoes thoroughly and rub with vegetable oil. Bake in 400 degree F. oven 30 to 60 minutes, until done. (Do not use microwave oven if possible, as potatoes will be fluffier baked in a conventional oven.) Cut potatoes in half lengthwise. Scoop out centers of potatoes with rounded spoon and place in mixing bowl with butter. Whip until smooth. Heat milk and add cream cheese, seasonings, onion and eggs. Beat at high speed until light and fluffy.

Cut hot dogs in quarters lengthwise, then slice into 1/4-inch pieces. Sauté hot dogs in lightly buttered skillet until just browned.

Using half the hot dogs, place pieces into bottom of potato shells. Mound fluffy potato mixture evenly into shells. Sprinkle with one teaspoon grated cheese and remaining sauteed hot dogs. Return to oven and bake at 400 degree F. for 20 minutes. If potatoes are very cold or partly frozen, increase baking time to 40 to 45 minutes. Stuffed potatoes may be heated quickly in microwave oven.

Include Pork On A Summer Outdoor Menu

Barbecuing a roast of pork, leg of lamb or turkey is a quick way to get the cook out of the kitchen and feed a number of guests a flavorful meal.

Also prepare your side dishes ahead so there is no need to spend all day cooking while everyone else is enjoying a leisurely sit on the patio or a game or croquet or a badminton.

When planning summer outdoorevents, include pork, which is relatively inexpensive when you consider the number of servings per pound for a boned roast. Serve with squash and a fresh fruit salad.

PORK LOIN ROULADE WITH SAVORY STUFFING

- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 (8-ounce) package stuffing mix for pork
- 1/4 cup chopped canned water chestnuts
- 1 5- to 6-pound boned center-cut pork loin roast
- 1/4 cup dry white wine or apple juice
- 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves, crumbled
- 1/2 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crumbled
- 1 teaspoon salt

Heat water, butter or margarine and seasoning packet from stuffing mix to boiling. Cover. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat.

Stir in water chestnuts and bread crumbs from stuffing mix with fork just until crumbs are moistened. Cool to room temperature (or make ahead and refrigerate).

Place pork on cutting board with fat side down. With sharp knife, cut 1/4 way through center of loin muscle, staying parallel to fat, to split in half. Do not cut all the way through. Open pork and fill with some of stuffing mixture. Wrap leftover stuffing in foil to bake on rear of grill area during last 30 minutes of roasting.

Roast loin securely with string crosswise at 1 1/2-inch intervals. Place on grill over drip pan 6 to 8 inches above medium coals. Insert meat thermometer into center of meat. Cover grill. Roast 1 1/2 hours, adding more briquettes to each side of drip pan at end of 1 hour as manufacturer directs.

Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients. Uncover grill. Brush roulade with wine glaze occasionally. Grill 15 to 30 minutes more or until meat thermometer reaches 170 degrees. Place roulade on warm platter. Let stand 15 minutes for easier slicing. Remove strings and slice pork.

If gravy is desired, remove drip pan from coals or use bulb baster to remove drippings. Pour drippings into 2-cup measure or bowl. Spoon fat from drippings. If necessary, add chicken broth or water to make 1 1/2 cups liquid.

In saucepan, combine any leftover glaze with 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Stir in drippings. Cook until bubbly. Serve gravy with pork.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 to 10 servings.

1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 cup (8 oz.) plain yogurt
Tart salad greens

Combine first seven ingredients. Gently fold in yogurt. Refrigerate, covered, several hours to allow flavors to blend. Place salad greens in a large bowl; spoon dressing over salad.

BARBECUED BRATISLAVA

Allow 20 to 30 minutes between lighting a charcoal fire and cooking. Cook on coals that are completely covered with gray ash. Coals that are spotted with black or are flaming are much more likely to flare and smoke, and the heat they produce is uneven. Have grill 4 to 8 inches above coals. Grill fully cooked bratwurst 7 to 10 minutes, depending on heat of coals and how brown meat is desired. Rotate with tongs as a fork will pierce the skin and let out the juices. As the bratwurst cooks the skin will split.

Blueberry pie is garnished with small scoops of ice cream (use melon baller or teaspoon) and reserved blueberries.

Touch Of Brandy Brings French Accent To Dessert

Fresh fruit pies are a luxury that few of us enjoy these days. Making a pie isn't that difficult, however... And it is worth every extra loving touch.

Fresh fruits such as blueberries are at their peak now which makes this the right time to prepare a Bretonne blueberry pie.

To save time, you can make the pie-crust dough ahead — during the weekend, for instance — and refrigerate. Or you can make several pie shells at once and freeze the extras for later use; separate them with layers of wax paper.

When you find your favorite fresh fruits at a good price, all you then have to do is make the pie filling and pour it into the shell.

BRETONNE BLUEBERRY PIE

1 quart fresh blueberries, rinsed and drained
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in 2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

1 tablespoon Courvoisier (optional)
1/4 cup slivered, toasted almonds
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Vanilla ice cream

In saucepan, combine 1 cup blueberries, sugar and water. Bring slowly to boil. Cook 10 minutes or until berries are soft. Cool 5 minutes.

Puree in blender or food processor or rub mixture through sieve. Return to saucepan.

Add cornstarch. Cook lightly over moderate heat until mixture is thick.

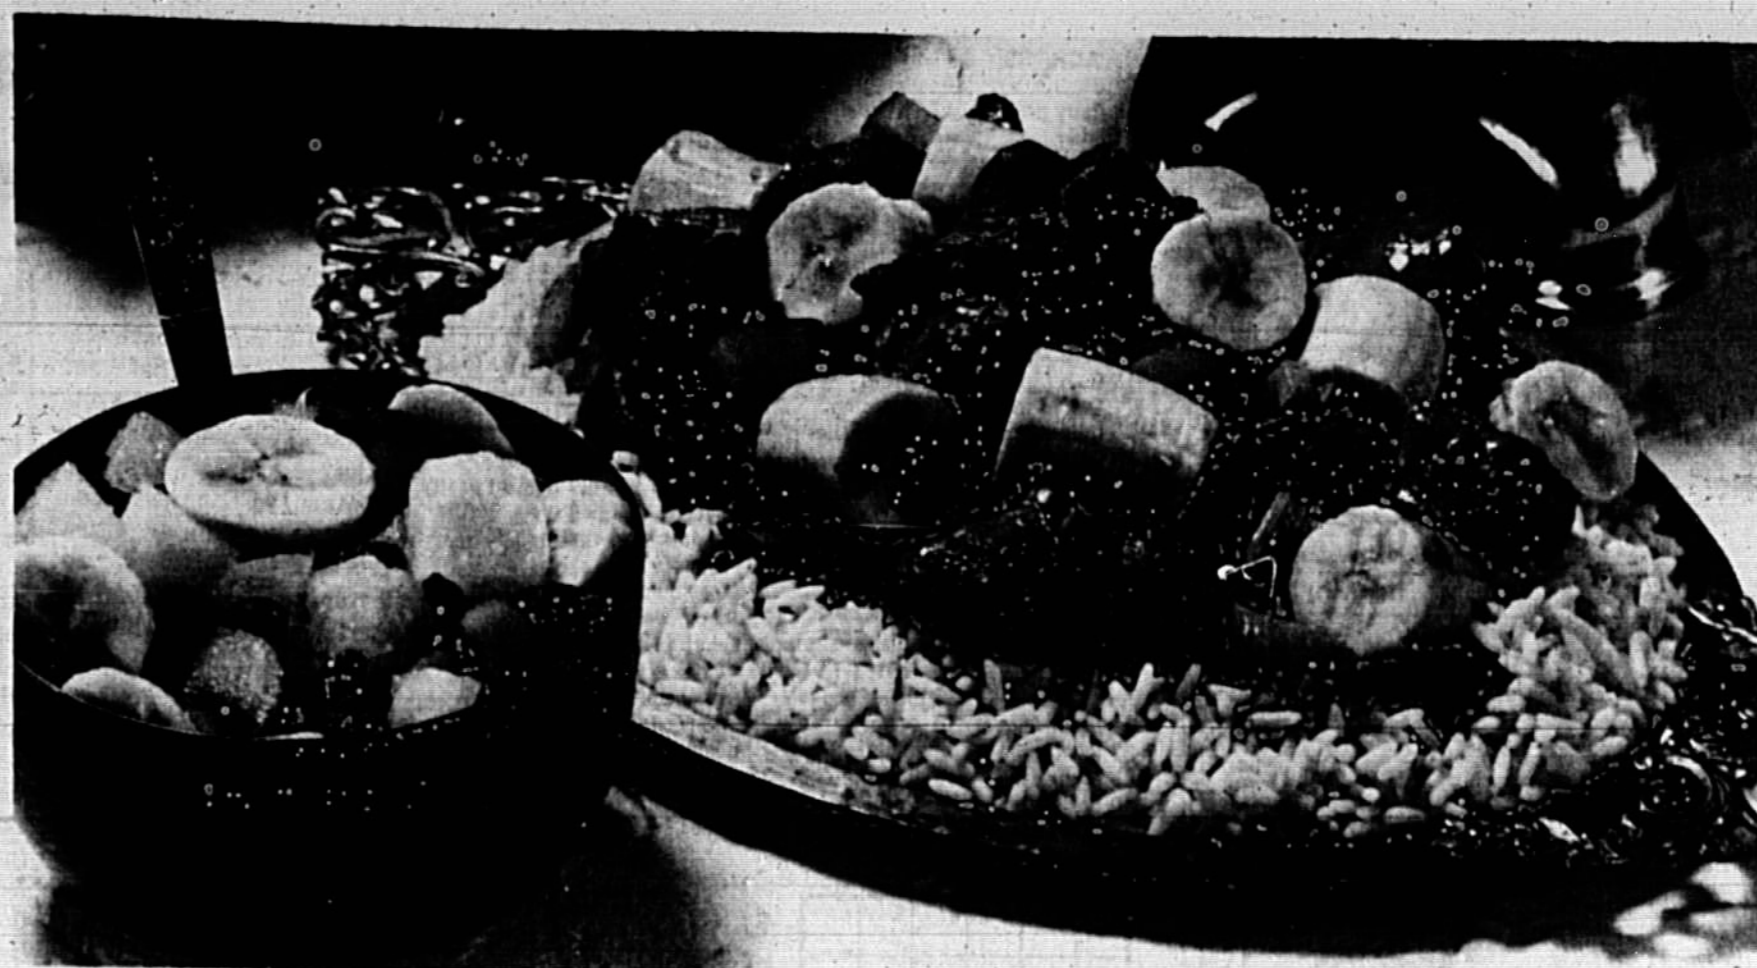

Stir in butter, then Courvoisier, if desired. Cool slightly.

Add slivered almonds. Combine with remaining blueberries, reserving 1/4 cup berries for garnish. Mix gently but thoroughly.

Spoon into pie shell. Refrigerate several hours.

Just before serving, garnish with small scoops of ice cream (use melon baller or teaspoon) and reserve blueberries. This kitchen-tested recipe make 9-inch pie.

You'll imagine you've been transported to exotic India when you dine on Lamb Curry with Bananas and Fruited Banana Curry. Add a plate of crisp papadums (fried bread rounds), for that truly authentic touch.

Curry Dishes Most Popular In The World

Variable curries are one of the most popular dishes in the world. India, Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, and even Hawaii have adapted curries to their own cooking methods, so each version is special and unique.

No matter how different, though, curries of all nations are accompanied by a delightful array of sambals (condiments). And bananas, with their mellow sweetness, are almost always included for their tantalizing contrast to the hot curry spices.

Other sambals — both sweet and savory — may include chopped apples, mango, chutney, shredded coconut, and salted nuts. For a spectacular party, serve heaping bowls of curry and rice, surrounded by a colorful assortment of sambals.

Lamb Curry with Bananas puts the most popular of the traditional accompaniments right into the curry itself. Adding delicious ripe banana pieces to the sauce gives it a faint sweetness that perfectly complements the curry and rice. It's an unusual dish, fancy enough to serve to guests, yet easy and economical for family dining.

A side dish you'll want to serve again and again is Fruited Banana Curry. Tart and lovely pink from fresh rhubarb, the curry teams with banana chunks, fresh pineapple and raisins. Curry powder and flaked coconut enhance its splendor. Or it with a curried slice of banana in place of the usual fruited chutney. Or enjoy the fruit curry as an accompaniment to roast pork, chicken, duck, or ham. It's a way of showing off seasonal fruits to their best advantage.

Whenever you add bananas to a main dish, you're adding more than the naturally sweet, good flavor, according to The Banana Bunch, industry-sponsored information center. Bananas supply substantial nutrition, too. They're high in potassium and other essential vitamins and minerals as well. Always in season, bananas are an inexpensive means of making any dinner more exciting.

LAMB CURRY WITH BANANAS

2 tablespoons oil
1 1/2 pounds lamb, cut into 1-inch cubes
1 cup diced onion
2 tablespoons curry powder
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups chicken broth
1 cup water
2 red apples, core'd, cut in chunks
3 medium bananas, cut into 1-inch chunks
2 cups hot, cooked rice

In a large saucepot or Dutch oven, heat oil over medium-high heat; brown lamb on all sides. Remove from skillet; reserve. Saute onion and celery until soft; sprinkle with flour, curry powder, ginger and salt; cook 3 minutes. Stir in chicken broth and water, bring to a boil, reduce heat. Return lamb and saucepot. Simmer, uncovered, 40 minutes or until meat is tender. Stir in apples, cook 5 minutes. Add bananas, heat through. Serve over hot rice. Yield: 6 servings.

FRUITED BANANA CURRY

3 cups sliced fresh pineapple
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon water
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
2 cups sliced, fresh rhubarb
one-third cup dark raisins
3 bananas, sliced
2 tablespoons toasted coconut

In a medium saucepan, combine pineapple, honey, water, curry powder and ginger, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer until pineapple is tender, about 20 to 25 minutes. Add rhubarb and raisins, cook 3 minutes. Remove from heat, let cool, stirring occasionally. Stir in bananas. Sprinkle with toasted coconut. Serve with ham, poultry or pork.

Create Cool Specialties Of The House

It pays to have a few tricks up your sleeve these warm spring and summer days when everyone craves sweet treats that are both cool and rich.

With a supply of these cakes in the freezer, you can create "specialties of the house" that everyone will think you made from scratch. And when you start with frozen cream cheese cakes, you'll be proud to take the credit. Rich with cream cheese, fresh whole eggs and sour cream topping, these baked cheese cakes are scrumptious as is, but why not add your own personal touch?

You might top these cheese cake with cherry pie filling... frozen raspberries...chocolate or butterscotch sauce garnished with nuts...or plain strawberry preserves.

Or try this Apricot Branded Cheese Cake trick. Spread apricot preserves, which have been melted and laced with brandy extract, over the cheese cake when it is partially thawed. Slice into serving portions and thaw completely. Arrange the chocolate curls over the glaze just before serving.

APRICOT BRANDED CHEESE CAKE

1 frozen creamcheese cake (17 oz.)
1-3rd cup apricot preserves
1/4 teaspoon brandy extract
Chocolate curls

Thaw cheese cake according to package directions for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, heat apricot preserves just until melted; force through sieve, if desired. Stir extract into preserves. Spread mixture over top of cheese cake. Continue to thaw according to package directions. Arrange chocolate curls over glaze. Makes 6-8 servings.

To make chocolate curls: With a vegetable parer, slice across the back of a large sweet milk chocolate bar with long, thin strokes. Lift curls with wooden pick.

Beans Part Of Culture, Nutritious

There are those who insist that black beans have been part of Spanish cooking for as long as bullfighting has been part of Spanish culture.

The conquistadors brought black-bean dishes to the New World, where they quickly became a staple of Latin American diets.

A classic Spanish dish now making its way to U.S. tables is picadillo. In Old Spain, "picado" meant minced meat, and picadillo was a combination of minced meat and vegetables—in other words, Spanish hash.

But picadillo is far from the hash that we North Americans know: A good party dish, it is made with black beans, beef, tomatoes, celery, raisins and olives.

Serve picadillo over rice and garnish with green peas and orange segments. Or, as a change of pace, serve it with corn bread or polenta rather than rice.

This combination of flavors and colors makes for a delicious and festive meal that is also nutritious, economical and easy to prepare.

MICHIGAN BEAN PICADILLO
 1 cup Michigan dry black beans
 3 cups water
 1 cup chopped onion
 3 cloves garlic, minced
 1/2 pound beef chuck, cut into thin strips
 1/2 cup olive oil
 1 cup sliced celery
 1 (28-ounce) can peeled whole tomatoes
 2 cups red wine
 1/2 cup raisins
 1/2 cup stuffed green olives
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Cooked rice
 Place beans in large saucepan with water. Bring to boil. Boil 2 minutes.

Remove from heat. Allow to stand for 1 hour.

In large frying pan or saucepan, saute onion, garlic and beef in oil until meat loses pink color.

Add beans, cooking liquid and remaining ingredients, except rice, to same pan. Cover and simmer 2 hours or until beans are fork tender.

Remove cover. Continue cooking until mixture is cooked down and soupy.

Serve with cooked rice. Garnish with green peas and orange segments, if desired.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings, at about 94 cents per serving. (Costs vary regionally).

PICNIC BEAN AND SAUSAGE LOAN

1 pound pork sausage meat
 2 (16-ounce) cans pork and beans in tomato sauce, mashed
 2 cups prepared herb-seasoned stuffing mix
 2 eggs, beaten
 1 cup chopped onion
 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
 1/4 teaspoon basil
 1/4 teaspoon powdered thyme
 1/2 cup ketchup

In medium fry pan, cook sausage until well done. Drain on paper towels. Crumble.

In large bowl, combine sausage with remaining ingredients, mixing well. Spoon into well-greased 9-by-9-inch loaf pan. Level top.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours. For easier serving, let loaf stand 5 minutes at room temperature after removing from oven.

Serve hot with grated Cheddar cheese, tomato sauce, chili sauce or mustard. Serve cold, thinly sliced, on sandwich or salad plate. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

NOTE: To serve outdoors, keep chilled in original pan until serving time. Unmold by running spatula or knife around edge of pan to loosen sides. Slice thinly and serve as suggested above.

Blend Zippy Refreshing Summer Coolers

The blender is such a familiar part of kitchen equipment it's no surprise that it became popular almost forty years ago. But from that first, simple one-speed model to the sleek blenders of the 80's there has been great progress in the capabilities of this marvelous kitchen helper.

While blenders make many culinary chores far faster and simpler, they are absolutely unobtainable when used to whip up refreshing summer coolers. The instant mixing of liquids, crushed ice and air produces a frothy drink to perfectly accompany patio-lounging.

Our three drinks for summer entertaining all include DeKuyper Coconut Amaretto, a luscious new fresh-as-the-80's liqueur that pairs loaded coconut with savory amaretto. Any humid afternoon will feel considerably less hot if you sip Cool-As-A-Cucumber Quencher or Tahiti Capri, a soothing blend of Coconut Amaretto, rum, and pineapple juice.

Blushing Gal Aperitif is a gracious before-dinner portion. Serve it with easy-to-make Deviled Coconut Amaretto Pate, a tangy, slightly sweet, summery appetizer that's whipped up in just minutes in the blender.

DEVILED COCONUT AMARETTO PATE
 1/2 envelope (1 teaspoon) unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup water
 2 cans (4 1/2 ounces each) deviled ham spread

1 1/2 ounces (half of a 3-ounce package) cream cheese
 1/2 cup fresh parsley
 3 tablespoons Coconut Amaretto
 1 1/2 tablespoons chutney
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 Dash ground ginger

In small saucepan mix gelatin with water. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved. In container of electric blender combine ham spread, cream cheese, parsley, Coconut Amaretto, chutney, lemon juice, ginger and dissolved gelatin. Process about 1 minute until mixture is smooth. Pour into a 1 1/2 cup mold. Chill until firm. Serve with crackers. Yield: 4 appetizer portions.

TAHITI CAPRI
 1/2 cup (4 ounces) pineapple juice
 6 tablespoons (3 ounces) Coconut Amaretto
 2 tablespoons (1 ounce) light rum
 1/2 cup crushed ice
 1/4 cup (2 ounces) club soda
 Pineapple spears (optional)

In container of electric blender combine pineapple juice, Coconut Amaretto, rum and ice. Process about 1 minute. Pour over ice cubes in 8-ounce glasses; top with club soda. Garnish with pineapple spears, if desired. Yield: 2 servings.

BLUSHING GAL APERITIF
 1/2 cup crushed ice
 6 tablespoons (3 ounces) Coconut Amaretto
 2 tablespoons (1 ounce) gin
 2 egg whites
 2 tablespoons (1 ounce) lemon juice
 1 teaspoon grenadine

Combine all ingredients in container of electric blender. Process on high speed 1 minute. Pour into coupe or tulip-shaped glasses. Yield: 2 servings.

Sunny Summer Salads Spelled S-U-P-E-R

Few salad ingredients are as flavorful and attractive as fresh, jewel-like fruits.

And now is the time to feature these colorful nuggets from nature in creative salads for appetizers, side dishes, main dishes and desserts.

Why now? Many fresh fruits are in peak supply during the warmer months, and when supplies are high, fruits are generally more flavorful and less expensive.

Plus, there's nothing more refreshing when the temperature rises than a wonderful, cool salad studded with beautiful fruits. When you include fresh fruit salads on your menu, be sure they are at their best by following these fundamental buying and storage guidelines.

At the store, look for firm, unblemished fruits. Citrus fruits, pineapples and melons should feel heavy for their actual size. While apples and oranges are best bought at full maturity, bananas, peaches, pears, melons and pineapples can be ripened at room temperature in a fruit bowl or loosely closed bag. Ripened fruit should be stored in a cool, dry place or in the refrigerator.

Once you get your fruit treasures home from the market, stretch your imagination and experiment with creative salad settings and combinations.

Thousands Of Fish Die In St. Johns

Rain Sent Pollutants Into River: Officials

By JANE CASSELLBERY
Herald Staff Writer

Thousands of fish are floating dead or dying in the St. Johns River between Lake Monroe and Lake Harney from what some say is lack of oxygen.

Many residents of both the Volusia and Seminole Counties' sides of the river are expressing concern today not only about the mammoth fish kill, but the prospect that the river they love itself may be dying.

J.T. Turnipseed, president of the Friends of the St. Johns, who inspected the area of the kill by boat Wednesday afternoon, described the scene: "Half way between Lemon Bluff and Lake Harney is the worst area," he said, "we counted up to 500 dead fish and then quit—there must be thousands. They are mostly scale fish—bass, shiner-crackers and what looks like millions of small shad all dead. We also saw some dead catfish and even a dead sting ray."

Turnipseed said two young men camped along the shore were catching the blue crab and bass that had come up to the shallows desperately seeking oxygen.

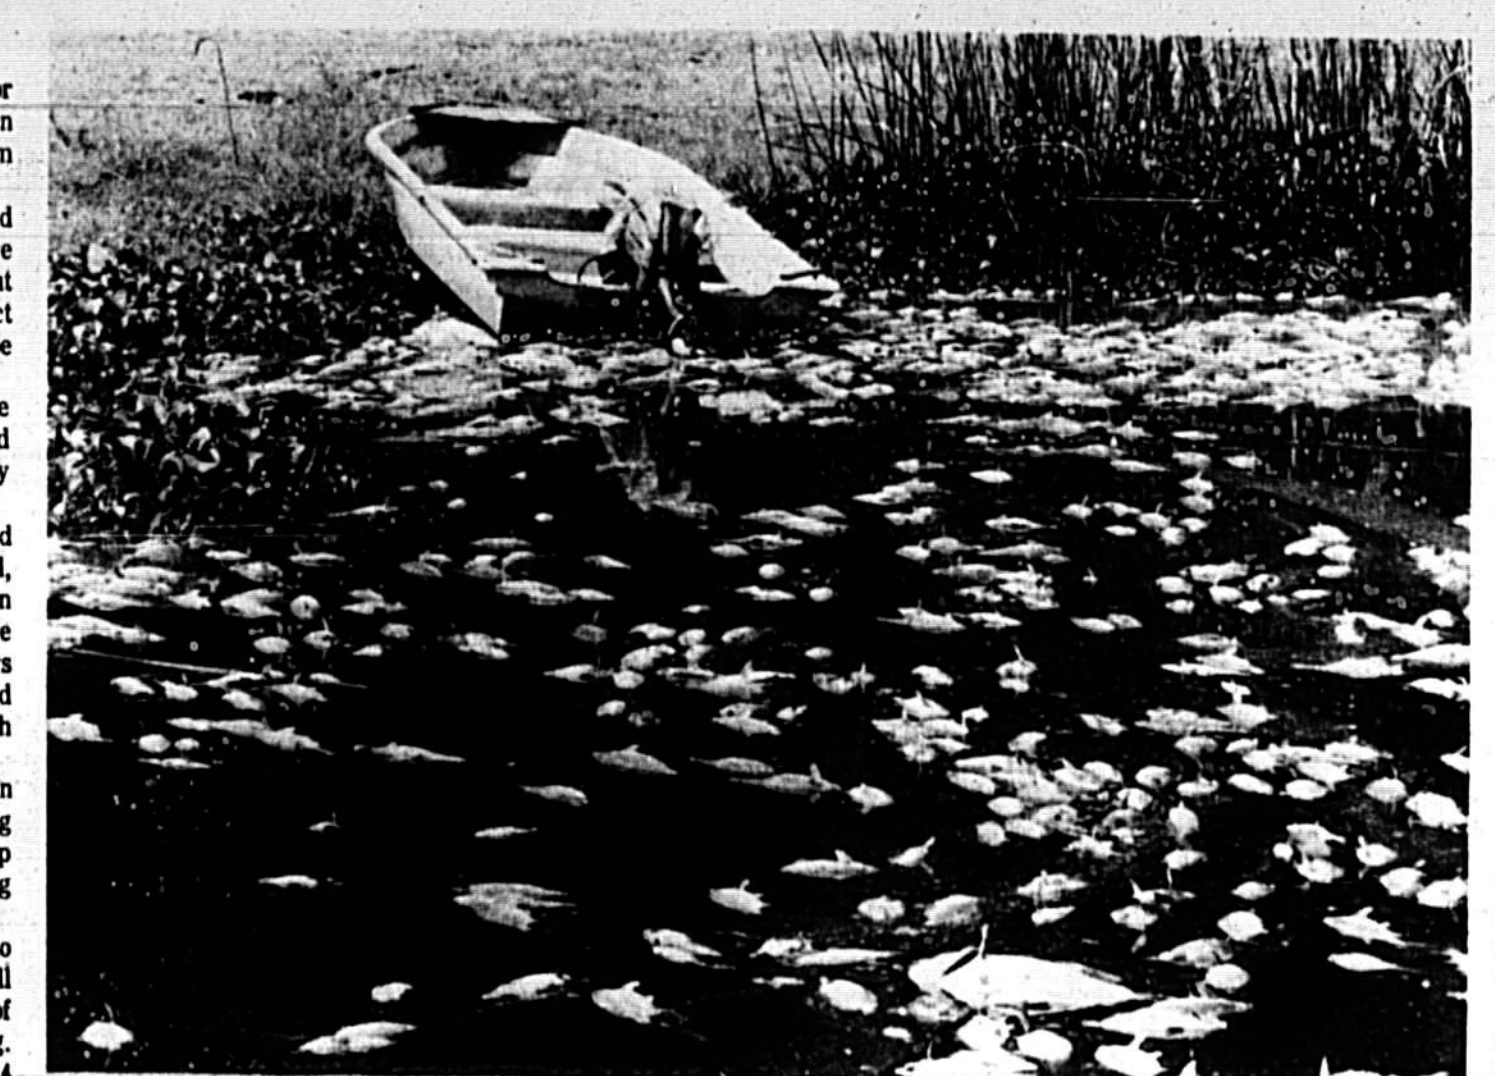

People in boats also were trying to catch the bass in the water that were still breathing, he said. "There were bass of all sizes from 4 to 20 inches long. Although some looked about 10 to 14 pounds, they were bloated and probably weighed less," he added.

"Green algae bloom that covers the river is caused by pollution," Turnipseed said. "If the current was flowing, it would have been swept away, but there has been none the last few months."

In fact, Mrs. Elsie W. Lacey of Lemon Bluff notes that the hyacinths, debris and dead fish on the river seem to be drifting south, which for the St. Johns is upstream. "We think it's important," she said, "as the Friends of the St. Johns have been trying to do, to make everyone aware of the danger of losing our important natural resource."

"I would like to do something, but what can I do? Take a drinking straw and blow oxygen in the water?"

Claude Creel, who lives on the river near the Ocoola landfill at Geneva, a point where the situation is worse, said the fish began dying Tuesday afternoon. He noticed that on that cloudy day the silvery green algae which had covered then be back to normal.

"There are a lot more fish in the river than people think," he said. But he said until the plankton bloom clears, the fish, under stress due to a lack of oxygen, will not be interested in taking bait.

McKinny said officials will not remove the dead fish and their disposal will be left to nature.

"They should sink in a day or two," he said, adding that a cleanup job would be "monumental."

"The St. Johns has been green for some time, this has been building up," he said. Soklaski said the only way to permanently prevent the kills is to "eliminate the people" from the banks of the river, and eliminate fertilizer and waste water runoffs which pump nutrients into the waterway.

DEIR and game commission officers were out on the river this morning testing the water to determine exactly how bad the situation is, and to make sure the problem is clearing by itself, agency spokesmen said.

the surface disappeared before the fish were stricken. "It's a mess," said Creel. "The smell is terrible and if it gets any worse we may have to move out for a few days till it clears up."

Creel said a neighbor with a dip net pulled out five bass over 10 pounds that were still breathing and 15 bass from 5 to 10 pounds. He counted "35 to 40" bass over 10 pounds which were already dead.

Many small fish were in the shallow water trying to get air, he said. "It's a shame to see something as pretty as the river die because of a man-made mess."

Creel commented. He said just across the river from his place is a big slough, which serves as a breeding and spawning ground for bass.

"We need to stop the nutrients from flowing into Lake Harney from the Econ River," said Creel. "We need to collect enough money to sue the government agencies and then we may force them to save the river."

Vic Levitt, who lives at Lemon Bluff, said the water level in the river is 2 or 3 feet below normal partly due to the lack of rain and partly because the water is being dammed and diverted into canals at the headwaters by agricultural interests and at Lake Washington the water is being used for water in the Melbourne area.

Turnipseed said that after trying to call the Department of Environmental Regulations and the Environmental Protection Agency without success, he finally called the U.S. EPA office in Atlanta. He said the official there expressed concern and noted that they had refused to go along with a request that the process to delete the nitrates and phosphates from the discharge be eliminated from Iron Bridge regional sewage treatment plant being built in Southeast Seminole County.

Others complained that the Game and Freshwater Fish Commission and other local agencies brought little response and officials seemed unconcerned.

Turnipseed said the G&FW Commission told him the fish kills were "common." "This is not common in clean water," he said. "This river is in more serious condition than Lake Topokalgia in Osceola County and we need to get federal and state agencies out to see what is happening. The St. Johns River Water District won't even talk about it."

This largemouth bass was among the many dead fish now floating in the algae covered river.

Lake Mary, DOT Say Syndicate Off Track

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A syndicate's plans to build a $14-million quarter-horse racetrack have run into roadblocks from two governmental agencies — the State Department of Transportation and the city of Lake Mary.

Marc Robinson, head of a group of investors planning the facility, said today the track is to be located on 152 acres south of Lake Mary Boulevard. The group has a contract to purchase the Lake Mary property. Lake Mary will not have to worry about traffic problems from the track because "we are going to build an interchange," he said. The group already has preliminary approval for the Interstate-4 interchange from both the DOT and the federal government, he added.

However, Bill McKelvey, deputy district engineer of the DOT's Deland office, said today: "It is highly unlikely that an interchange could be built where the Sunshine Park people propose to build one."

McKelvey said a representative from a consulting engineering firm, Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, talked to DOT "planning people" on June 3. "They wanted to know about the possibility of locating an interchange 1.3 miles south of the existing Lake Mary interchange," McKelvey said.

McKelvey said existing DOT policy calls for a minimum spacing between interchanges of three miles in rural areas. "The consultants went away with the understanding an interchange would have to be three miles away. Three miles away they would come into an area where the DOT plans to build a rest area," he said.

Meanwhile, Lake Mary City Manager Phil Kulgas said today the city council has expressed its opposition to a racetrack being constructed in the city. He added the city has received quite a few telephone calls from the Crossings, a planned unit development near the proposed racetrack site, opposing the idea.

Robinson continued in his refusal to reveal the names of associates in the syndicate, adding an announcement will be made later this month. Robinson said the current plan is to have quarter-horse racing at the track, adding he needs state legislative approval for stable help; recreation, Olympic size pool, game room, tennis courts, recreational vehicle parking and a trailer park for trainers coming in with their families.

Robinson said plans also include a mature club to be held on Saturdays giving those wishing to get involved in the sport a starting point—a place where they can learn about the care of horses and about racing. Starters, announcers and judges can be trained in the club, he said.

He said he will still attempt to gain a harness racing permit, which will require either legislative approval or approval by the people in an election.

Robinson asked the county several months ago for cost estimates for holding a referendum on the question of a harness racetrack. After researching the law, County Administrator Roger Neiswander said a special election would have to be called.

The question could not, according to law, be considered at a regular election. Costs for holding a special election, Neiswander informed Robinson, would be $20,000 and the money would have to be posted in advance.

Sunshine Park plans ground-breaking in November for the facilities and racing possibly by October, 1981, depending on what dates are approved by the state.

Robinson said according to the master plan and land planning underway, the development of the 152-acre racetrack includes: a five-eighths mile track; a one-quarter mile chute for quarter-horses; parking for 3,500 cars; clubhouse with dining facilities large enough to serve 500 persons and clubhouse seating for 1,100.

He said, in addition, the grandstand will seat close to 2,000. Robinson said other amenities planned include a beauty shop, barber shop and gift shop, restaurant and food concession.

Other facilities on site, he said, will include 20 fireproof bars with sprinklers to house 800 horses initially; a separate half-mile training track; base ball and exhibition field; housing for stable help; recreation, Olympic size pool; game room; tennis courts; recreational vehicle parking and a trailer park for trainers coming in with their families.

Robinson said plans also include a mature club to be held on Saturdays giving those wishing to get involved in the sport a starting point—a place where they can learn about the care of horses and about racing. Starters, announcers and judges can be trained in the club, he said.

Electronics Firm Coming To Altamonte

The Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA) this morning approved issuing $4.4 million in industrial revenue bonds, assuring an electronics firm will locate in Altamonte Springs.

The firm, Sun World Circuits, Inc., is expected to employ 125 to 200 people by 1982.

SCIDA Director Jim Daniel said the bonds will be used to finance a $3 million plant, land acquisition and equipment.

Plant sales, which had ground almost to a halt about a month ago because bank interest rates were higher, have picked up, according to Daniel.

"It's gotten a lot better, things have loosened up," he said.

Daniel explained that SCIDA is a "pass through" agency which approves bond issues to encourage industry to locate in Seminole County, but does not do the financing. Southeast First National Bank of Miami has agreed to handle the bonds.

Interest on the bonds are exempt from federal taxes.

Don Field Circuits is expected to build a 30,000-square-foot plant that will produce printed circuit boards for electronics manufacturers throughout the southwest. The firm has an option on three lots south of Sunshine Lane in Altamonte Springs. It plans to hire from the local area at starting salaries of $3.50 per hour.

Daniel said the SCIDA board this morning also discussed other industry prospects for the county including three product distributors and a Japanese electronics firm. The board will meet again July 2.
