

Congress Heads Home For Christmas

Catch-All $606 Billion Spending Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The 100th Congress approved a historic economic compact with President Reagan early today, cutting the federal budget deficit by $76 billion and approving a $606 billion catch-all spending bill, which included hotly disputed new aid for the Contra rebels.

The delicate agreement between the White House and congressional leaders came within one vote of defeat, however, when the House approved the spending measure 209-208 in a cliffhanger not decided until the final ballot was cast

The Senate then quickly gave its approval to the giant money bill 59-30 in the windup of a marathon session that lasted deep into the early morning hours on Tuesday.

Congress first approved the deficit reduction plan, 237-181 in the House and 61-28 in the Senate, before tackling the more controversial spending measure.

The companion bills were sent to President Reagan for his signature, and Congress, chafing to get away for the Christmas holiday, was ready to go home for the year. Lawmakers planned to return later this morning for formal adjournment.

In a surprise action, Congress pushed through a major housing bill during the night to extend permanently the authority of the Federal Housing Administration to guarantee home mortgage loans. The bill inaugurates several new programs to help low- and middle-income families. It has the backing of the White House.

Despite protests of a large number of liberals, incensed because the bill included 88.1 million for the Contra rebels in Nicaragua, the House approved the spending legislation.

Republicans, who held back in large numbers on the tax-raising deficit bill, railied to provide the margin of victory, barely enough to offset defecting Democrats. Republicans provided 93 votes and Democrats 118 for the combined total of 209, pushed by their leaders, who were desperately trying to bring the session to a close.

As late as Monday evening, the delicate contract between the White House and congressional leaders threatened to fall apart and a tenuous agreement to provide more money for the Contran was ready to blow up.

But administration lobbyists, including White House chief of staff Howard Baker, repeatedly warned that Reagan was ready to shut down the: novernment by veining the spending bill. They, finally forced Congress into accepting the Contraaid agreement and dropping a liberal-backed section that would have written into law the fairness doctrine for broadcasters.

Together, the two bills are designed to implement a deficit cutting agreement negotiated by Reagan and congressional leaders after the stock market crash to restore confidence in the economy with new taxes and spending cuts.

Beaten and split, the liberals mustered a final-See Budget, Page 10A

Commissioners Praise Sanford's Growth Plan By Nancy Bimmons Herald Staff Writer

City Manager Frank Falson called Sanford's proposed comprehensive plan for growth and development, which is an update of the plan first adopted 10 years ago, "a very good plan which eliminates gaps and inconsistencies in the present plan" during a city workshop session Monday.

Sanford City Commissioners also praised the plan, which is scheduled for second reading next week at the regular city commission meeting. City Planner Jay Marder said that he believes the state approves the plan.

Falson told commissioners that Sanford's plan is far ahead of comprehensive plans in some jurisdictions. Marder also explained some changes he recommends be made in the plan. stemming from input from the Seminole County Commission and the East Central Florida Planning Council.

Longwood City Administrator Ron Waller, faced with an uncertain job future when the new commission takes over Jan. 4. made a last ditch effort Monday night to salvage what he could while he still had the votes.

Waller was successful in getting approval for payment for compensatory time he said was owed himself and Police Chief Greg Manning, but failed in attempt to get his employment contract with the city changed to require a one year notice rather than the one month notice it calls for.

Waller said he reviewed his contract recently when getting his comp time together and discovered it states one month rather than the one year to which he thought the city had agreed. The original contract was signed in March 1986 and was extended in June 1987 to June 1, 1989. If he is dismissed for anything other than doing something illegal, the commission would have to pay him the one month salary. Waller receives an annual salary of $43.812 plus $3.290 FICA and $5,862 retirement fund.

The commission voted Monday night 3-2 to pay Waller and Manning for comp time without knowing what it would cost or where the money was coming from. Waller said after the meeting his 382% hours comp time dates from April 1986 to May 1987 at 819.97 an hour and totale 87.841.79 and Marsing has 558 comp hours which will total approximately $11,000.

The comp time was ac-cumulated under the old personnel policy when the city administrator was allowed to accumulate comp time.

The motion to pay made by Commissioner Harvey Smerilson was supported by Mayor Ed

Crystal Lake Contamination Is Subject Of Renewed Study

By Brian Hedberg Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary City Commissioners have authorized a study to begin on the sewage contamination of Crystal Lake, almost three months after the study was set on a back burner and the issue re-routed to a committee.

In a commission meeting Oct. 1, then-Commissioner Kenneth King was to have begun working with city staff to develop a proposal for competitive bids on the study. That plan never got off the ground, said City Manager Bob Norris.

"I don't know how long it's been since they've identified the problem," Norris said. "They just haven't followed up with a full-fledged study."

The $10,300 Fecal Coliform Study, awarded Thursday to Camp Dresser & McKee Inc. of Maitland, will attempt to find out exactly what is the source of contamination and make a remedial recommendation. The company has said it will complete the study eight weeks after Lake Mary gives it the green light to proceed.

Search Continues For Altamonte Springs Men

By Brad Church Herald Staff Writer

The Coast Guard continued its search today for a pleasure boat with an Altamonte Springs man and three companions aboard, which failed to return to Cape Canaveral Sunday night after what was planned as a 12-hour fishing trip.

The 21-foot Chris Craft. owned an operated by John DeGoes, 39, Riverbend Apartments, Altamonte Springs, left Cape Canaveral at 6:30 a.m. Sunday. Also aboard are Frank Daughtery, 44, also of Aliamonte Springs; and James Meulemans, 39, of Apopka and his 12-year-old son, Jalme.

DeGoes told his wife, Donna. that the group planned to fish along Pelican Flats. 30 miles offshore, and return to Cape Canaveral about 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Mrs. DeGoes reported the boat missing at 9:45 p.m. Sunday.

Coast Guard boats and aircraft crisscrossed the Pelican Flats area Monday, then moved north Monday night thinking the boat may have drifted.

A Coast Guard helicopter and jet fanned over about a 130-square mile area Monday night in an effort to spot flares the lost boat may have launched, but without success.

A Coast Guard spokesman said today both boats and aircraft were searching the waters in the Pellean Flats area and were widening the area of the search. No distress signal from the boat has been received.

DeGoes and Meulemans are both employed by AT&T in Orlando and often fish together. Both are considered experienced boaters who are familiar with the waters off Cape Canaveral.

Legislative Session Needed For Malpractice Crisis, Poll Shows

A survey conducted on behalf of the Florida Medical Association indicates that three-quarters of Florida voters think a special legislative session should be called to deal with the medical malpractice solution, and that the majority think the current justice system is the primary cause of the malpractice problem.

The telephone survey was conducted by Hamilton. Frederick & Schneiders, a national public opinion research non-economic damages in

For The Holidays By Fred H. Cooper Herald Staff Writer

Doesn't this weather just get you in the Christmas spirit quickly? Just perfect. Now, don't get angry if, while you're reading this, it begins to rain a little. Just might happen late this afternoon and early tomorrow. Actually, there's a very good chance it will rain off and on through early Wednesday afternoon. Then, as they say, this too will pass. Then come back on Thursday.

Now let's talk serious weather. Christmas Eve, late afternoon. There is an excellent chance of light showers which will make the roads slick and driving more difficult. There will also be a likely increase in traffic due to late shoppers. Please don't party too much at one of the many holiday celebrations going on Thursday and crash. We don't want to lose any of our avid weather readers. Christmas spirit is love and giving of yourself - not giving of your life in a crash.

That shower likelihood will probably vanish on Christmas Day. Skies will be partly cloudy, temperatures should range from lows in the high 50s to highs in the low 80s. Winds should be from the west to southwest. Altogether, a really nice day.

If you're planning to drive north for Christmas, you'll find the weather worsening the further you drive. Once you leave the South, you're in deep trouble. Temperatures range from lows in the 30s and 40s in Georgia and Carolinas to ridiculously low levels way up in yankeeland.

Matter of fact, the highest temperatures in the nation yesterday was down at Fort Meyers - 85 degrees. High in Seminole County was 80. Lowest in the nation, if you really want to know, was

World's Children Deserve Help

This year's "State of the World's Children," the annual report from the United Nations Children's Fund. tells of the continued precarious state of many of the world's children, but also of remarkable progress in saving lives. Though several million children continue to die each year from malnutrition and preventable diseases, some 2 million are now being saved. They are being saved by two of the most effective and least expensive methods in the history of health care--immunization and oral rehydration.

Immunization is the success story of the decade. Ten years ago, less than 5 percent of the developing world's infants were vaccinated against diseases that were killing 4.5 million children a year. This year, im-munization has reached 50 percent for DPT vaccine and 40 percent for measles and is now saving more than 1 million lives annually. The immunization push of the 1980s has now reached 50 percent of the developing world's children.

The greatest killer of the world's children-with 3 million young victims a year-is still the dehydration caused by diarrheal disease. Yet dehydration, UNICEF reports, "can now be prevented by a technique that is so simple that any parent can use it, so cheap that any parent can afford it, so effective that it is rapidly becoming the treatment of choice in the most advanced hospitals of the Western world."

That technique is oral rehydration therapy (ORT), which was almost unknown five years ago. Today, approximately 20 percent of the world's families are using ORT, and the therapy is estimated to be preventing more than 600,000 deaths each year. Together with other low-cost child-protection methods-breast-feeding, better weaning. spacing births at least two years apart-ORT and immunization could save the lives of up to 7 million children a year. These methods could protect the normal physical and mental growth of many millions more.

Perhaps the most heartening portions of the UNICEF report are the reports from nation after nation that are putting into practice these basic and inexpensive methods of child protecton. In Turkey, for example, some hool teach (Moslem prayer leaders) have helped to treble the nation's immunization coverage. In Columbia, parish priests are using premarital and pre-baptism counseling sessions to advise parents on the importance of breast-feeding. immunization and growth monitoring. Even in Beirut, warfare has come to a halt at times while health teams have administered mass vaccinations. The report also emphasizes the threat to children of "financial famine." UNICEF contends that the net flow of finance in the world is now heavily from the poor countries to the rich. Balancing all new aid and loans against the flow back of debt and interest payments, the report concludes that approximately $27 billion a year is now flowing fromn the developing nations to the industrialized world. The nations themselves have made their share of mistakes, but debt-service costs, low export earnings and declining levels of aid have made the problem worse. Fortunately, UNICEF Itself continues to receive adequate support. This year, its budget has been increased 8 percent to $500 million. Eighty-one percent comes from governments, 19 percent from private sources, including the worldwide sale of UNICEF greeting cards.

Answer To The Deficit: Cut The Fat

WASHINGTON - It is beginning to dawn on our prodigal politicians that they cannot go on running up the national debt. Government spending is too high and growing too fast. Something simply must be done to reduce the deficit and stabilize the government's finances - or the whole economy will collapse.

Congress is under intense pressure, therefore, to reduce the deficit. But Congress is also under pressure not to cut back any government programs or projects. Most members don't really want to cut spending; they would rather increase taxes

Thereby, they can deflate the deficit and still keep on spending. Thus they can avoid the political crats and beneficiaries who will

meanwhile, is in serious financial trouble. One way or the other, the taxpayers will have to bail it out. The government must raise taxes. cut its spending or print more dollars. A tax increase will come out of the taxpayers' pockets. A spending cut will reduce their government services. More dollars will decrease the value of the dollars they own.

But there is another simple, painless solution by which Congress can reduce the deficit on schedule - indeed, it can double the reduction - without increasing taxes. All Congress needs to do is slash government waste. This won't aggrieve anyone except the bureau-have to give up some of their extravagances. But of course, these are the people who it doesn't want to irritate.

There is a conspiracy in Washington, therefore, to condition the taxpayers for a tax hike. They have been told there's no option to swallowing the bitter pill. For the federal spendthrifts want the public to believe that no pork is left in the budget, that no waste can be eliminated.

As co-chairman of the Grace Commission, I can tell you this is a lie. Enough fat can be slashed. enough extravagance eliminated. enough cash saved from going down the drain, to meet the scheduled deficit reductions without raising taxes

Under the leadership of industrialist J. Peter Grace, the Grace

Commission has demonstrated its ability to locate, identify and eliminate waste. Last year, President Reagan ordered the Office of Management and Budget to check how many of the commission's costcutting recommendations had been implemented and how much money had been saved. The OMB conducted a survey of all government agencies. Its conclusion: The Grace Commission has saved an astounding $69.5 billion.

This incredible savings reduced the deficit by 26 percent in the last flacal year. Yet no just obligation went unpaid; no federal program was impaired. All that happened was that a few bureaucrats lost some promotions and privileges. and the federal government was left a little more lean and efficient.

Soviets Can't Be Trusted

WASHINGTON-Democracies have a difficult time dealing with totalitarian governments. This is a fact that the American people need to bear in mind in connection with the Reagan-Gorbachev summit.

Totalitarian regimes have clearly defined strategic objectives that cover every aspect of their international relations. They don't separate economic goals from military objectives. They have massive disin-formation campaigns designed to influence public opinion in the democracies. They have militant negotiating methods which make it difficult, if not impossible, for democracies to achieve anything substantial in a negotiation. They don't depend on public relations successes, whereas the democracies have to resort to public relations work in an effort to get government decisions approved by legislators and the public. Totalitarian regimes aren't hampered by media organizations, whereas the media form a virtual fourth branch of government in the United States. Their word is not their bond. Lying is the totalitarian way of life.

The historical record shows that the United States has never won a negotiation with the Soviet Union.

High Tech Workers In Danger

CUPERTINO, Calif. (NEA) - The facilities used to fabricate computer chips are known in the industry as "clean rooms" - but that's a misnomer because they contain deadly acids, gases and solvents. The companies that produce semiconductors in California's Santa Clara Valley (known as "Silicon Valley") and elsewhere insist that they have taken adequate precautions to protect their employees.

"Stringent work practices in the industry... place a top priority on worker health and safety." claims the Cupertino-based Semiconductor Industry Association, which represents most major firms in the $16 billion per year business.

But the evidence suggests otherwise. An independent analysis done last year showed that workers in California's semiconductor industry suffer three times as many work-related illnesses as those holding other manufacturing jobs and half of those illnesses are attributable to chemical poisoning. In Britain, a 1965 study showed that semicondilctor surface had abnormally high levels of malignant melanoma, a form of skin cancer. In Massachusetts, a 1986 study of pregnant women working on semiconductor production lines showed that they had a markedly higher incidence of miscarriages than their counterparts in the general population. That study found that miscarriages occurred at almost twice the expected rate among women working in an area where concentrated nitric and sulfuric acids are used to etch silicon chips, which then are heated in furnaces with arsine gas. That study was especially demoralizing to the industry because it was commissioned by a leading computer firm, the Digital Equipment Corp. Both DEC and American Telephone & Telegraph subsequently removed pregnant women from potentially hazardous jobs. h But other firms in the industry did not take similar measures, and the SIA sought to diamina the DEC study as too narrow, generally unreliable and otherwise burdened by "significant deficiencies." The SIA promised to commission its own comprehensive, scientific study of long-term health risks. Instead, during the past year, it has appointed a series of task forces, then assigned them to study the need for a study. The industry-sponsored review will not begin until some time next year and will not be completed until at least mid-1990.

FARMING WORLD Farmer Mac OK'd

By Sonja Hillgren UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Charles Sethness, an assistant treasury secretary, offered the first public skepticism about attaching a farm mortgage securities plan to a bailout of the farmer-owned Farm Credit System.

Before a House panel earlier this year, he warned that the competing farm mortgage plan, called a secondary market, would enable banks and insurance companies to lure farmers who are the best credit risks away from the struggling FCS. He said that could impede recovery of the FCS and jeopardize taxpayer aid

The administration repeatedly expressed opposition to the secondary market throughout nearly a year of congressional consideration of a bailout of the FCS, the nation's largest farm lender which has lost $4.8 billion since 1985.

Congress ignored the opponents and insisted on keeping the secondary market in the farm credit bill passed by Congress last weekend and sent it to President Reagan for his signature.

However, congressional skeptics imposed enough constraints on the secondary market so that its supporters are uncertain if it will be viable. Senate staff officials predicted the secondary market could get off the ground in a year but that extra regulation will make it smaller than it might have been.

The major provision of the legislation balls out the FCS by authorizing private sale of up to $4 billion in bonds. The U.S. Treasury will share interest payments with the FCS. The secondary market portion of the bill was advocated by bankers and insurance companies, who Nicknamed Farmer Mac, it would draw more investment capital to agricultural lending and would free up capital for banks to make more loans.

The FCS also would be able to pool loans through Farmer Mac. And the legislation provides for pooling of rural housing loans through Farmer Mac as well.

Controversy over the secondary market held up progress of the legislation in the House last September when Chairman John Dingell, D-Mich., of the Energy and Commerce Committee insisted that it be subject to tougher regulation. To insure investor confidence, he wanted farm mortgage securities to be regulated as tightly as corporate securities.

But when House and Senate negotiators got together last week to resolve differences between the two bills, Dingell won, supported by the administration.

Campaign Turns Democracy Into Videocracy

Only a Dickensian excerpt could sum up 1987, an unbelievable year of Jim and Tammy Bakker, Robert H. Bork, Douglas Ginsburg. Joseph Biden, Michael Dukakis, the Reagan-Gorbachev INF treaty and Gary Hart, Parts I and

It was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity.

But only Gary Hart has stretched incredulity into an obscenity. I wasn't shocked so much by his faking us out as I was irritated at his fouling up my column schedule.

I had planned a column on four reasons why the presidential campaign has bored and turned off the electorate: (1) the candidates' homogenized dullness. (2) television's trivialization of the campaign, (3) the press's pitiless trashing of the candidates, (4) the spirit of the "Age of Lite," which has victimized us all.

Reasons two and three - television's trivialization of the campaign and the press's trashing of the candidates - were inspired by a little-noticed speech at Harvard by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy during ceremonies honoring him for 25 years in the Senate.

And reason four was sparked by a thoughtful feature by Jean Marbella in the Fort Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel. According to impishly sagacious Marbella, the Age of Enlightenment ennobled civilization with great thinkers such as Newton, Voltaire and Hobbes. Today, the Age of Lite titillates us with cult-worshipped vacuums like Vanna White, Max Headroom and Leo Buscaglia. "When was the last time you saw lite spelled right?" pondered Marbella.

If Americans are being wooed by a cornucopia of lowest-common-denominator presidential candidates, Marbella's sparkling analysis suggests that only our empty-headedness is to blame. Yet we are as much the victims as we are the perpetrators.

In Kennedy's eloquent speech, he seemed to be agonizing over which is which. He deplored the "grinding cattle show" the presidential process has become, as well as the "journalistic lens increasingly honed to the prism of People magazine," the "false objectivity" of polls, and "a dangerous dependence on one-liners, since snappy turns of phrase - not substantive policy positions - are what capture the nightly news 30-second 'sound bite.'

How true. But bottom-line responsibility for this "Reaganization of the public dialogue" belongs to the people. Their mouth-gaping fascination with images on the screen has nurtured the change from democracy to videocracy. They've embraced that changeover with all of the enthusiasm of a group of 10-year-olds let loose in a candy factory.

Gary Hart condemns that changeover but shrewdly exploits it to his advantage. "Let the people decide." he declared. Translation: My prime-time coverage will beat your political organization any day of the week.

Some utterances of the articulate globalist also sound like one of funnyman Flip Wilson's legendary lines: "The devil made me do it." Hart still believes the media - and not his torrid trousers - caused his downfail. Worse, many intelligent Americans share his Rasputin vision of the media. Several analyses concede that his self-ordained resurrection has been boosted by "public hostility to the media." the "apparent disdain for the press." and the fact that "the press is too busy picking on other candidates."

Hart got what he deserved when his dalliance with Donna Rice was exposed. But at the same time, journalism is being infected by a virus of holier-than-thou scuttlebutt scavengers who justify their KGB neuroses with an apologia anchored in the sanctuary of the First Amendment. Neither they nor Hart add dignity to the political process.

For Hart's supporters, a favorite anthem will continue to complain, "Hart! The Media Devila Sing."

Shuttle Test Rescheduled

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (UPI) - Engineers rescheduled a critical test firing of the shuttle booster rockets that was aborted over the weekend, but said the weather may not cooperate with Wednesday's planned test.

If a winter storm expected to move through Utah diarupts the test firing again, officials said it would be delayed until the Tuesday after Christman. "If we don't get it off (Wednesday), to continue on would

The full-scale firing is considered important because the Morton Thiokol rocket contains all of NASA's improvements to the O-ring joints whose failure caused the mid-flight explosion of Challenger that killed seven people and put the U.S. space program on hold. The booster is virtually identical to those that will be used to get the United States back in space with the scheduled launch in June of the shuttle Discovery.

The test firing was scrubbed Saturday just one second before ignition after a series of problems, the most serious of which was found when a computer check indicated the giant rocket's ignition system had failed to arm properly.

Vocational Honors Given

Eleven local students were honored recently by the Seminole Vocational Association for their excellence in vocational/technical education.

The students, recognized for the months of November and December, were: Lynda Gerber and Victoria Hughes of Seminole Community College: Rhonda Builard and Brett Jameson of Lake Howell High School in Winter Park: Aylon Baru and Michele Tompkins of Lake Mary High School: Audrey Hernandez and James Richardson of Lyman High School in Longwood; Robert Vaughn and Natascha Watson of Oviedo High School; and MeLinh Yang of Milwee Middle School in Longwood.

The association stated the students as having demonstrated outstanding achievement in preparing for their chosen careers.

Students Are Doing Well

Statewide results of a recent assessment test show that Florida's students are mastering state minimum performance standards, said Education Commissioner Betty Castor.

More than 330,000 Florida students in grades three, five and eight were tested in the October 1987 State Student Assessment Test, Part 1.

State-level composite scores were as follows:

-For third grade, 95 in reading, 93 in writing and 92 in mathematics.

-For fifth grade, 89 in reading, 93 in writing and 88 in mathematics.

-For eighth grade, 89 in reading, 88 in writing and 85 in mathematics.

The composite scores are the average percentage of students achieving each Florida Minimum Student Performance Standard according to grade level and subject. The performance standards, developed by the Department of Education with involvement from state educators, reflect hasic reading, writing and math skills expected of students upon entering their respective grades.

The performance of Florida students has fluctuated little since the assessment tests of 1985 and 1986.

Iraq, Iran Claim Successes In Escalating Gulf War

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) - Iraqi gunners "annihilated" Iranian troops who launched another assault on the south central warfront, inflicting heavy casualties on the attackers while they still were in no-man's land, the Iraqi military said.

Neither version of the events could be verified.

Another Iranian attack evidently was beaten back at Zobaidat, 30 miles farther south, Sunday after a 12-hour battle erupted Saturday night. The combat was the first on the southern warfront in the 7-year war since a major offensive on Basra fizzled out in February.

Doctors say SADS is not just a mild case of the winter blues. but an intense clinical depression that affects an estimated 450,000 people and might be caused by getting too little sunlight.

In the northern hemisphere, the days reach their shortest around the winter solstice, Dec. 22, when the sun reaches its most distant southerly angle over the earth. After that the days begin to lengthen again.

"Anybody who feels seriously depressed should be evaluated by a professional and the risk of suicide has to be seriously considered," said Dr. Martin Keller, a psychlatrist at Massachusetts General who specializes in SADS.

SADS goes well beyond the more common depression, not only in its connection to the seasons but also because it features symptoms not always associated with depression. particularly overeating of high carbohydrate foods and oversleeping.

"They sleep more, but they also sleep poorly," O'Rourke said. "They are capable of going out on a really freezing night, driving five miles and getting a quart of ice cream ... or four croissants."

Most SADS patients gain 15-23 pounds during the winter months, he said. A typical SADS patient also withdraws from social contacts from lack of energy and enthusiasm.

"They'll invariably try to get out of social responsibility. especially if it's kind of an optional situation," O'Rourke said. "They make up excuses not to go."

The flip side of the winter depression, however, is a particularly fervent spring fever when the days lengthen and warm sunlight fills the air.

"It's a two-edged sword. While the winter is difficult, the Researchers are not sure what causes SADS, which was first diagnosed in 1984, but they have focused on a chemical in the brain called scrotonin and a related hormone called melatonin.

Dr. Michael Terman, director of the light therapy unit at the N.Y. State Psychlatric Institute in New York City, exposes SADS patients to special lights equal in intensity to sunlight at dawn, which is known to suppress melatonin secretion.

"What we're doing essentially is replenishing the springtime light environment which is absent in the middle of the winter in northern latitudes," Terman said.

He said the results of light therapy, given in the early morning under a doctor's supervision, are startling.

"Within about three days of such treatment, you get a complete clinical remission of the syndrome," he said. "The sadness lifts."

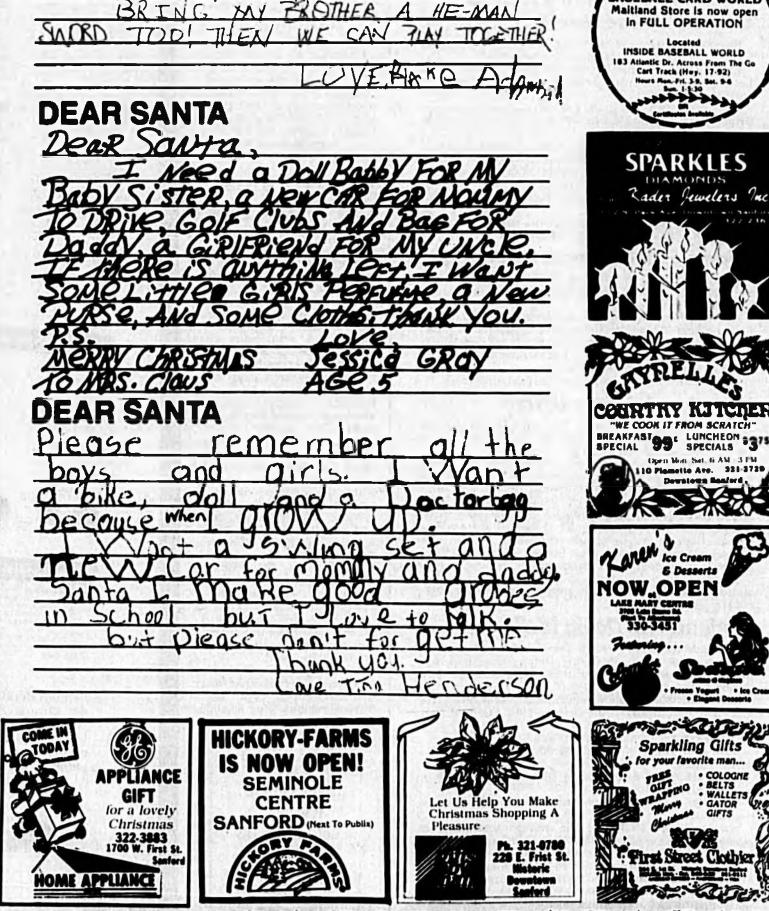

O'Rourke's research has concentrated on using a drug to facilitate production and retention of serotonin in the brain, a drug he said is "extremely effective ... as effective as light." But Keller, who said he likes to be "conservative" before prescribing new treatments, prefers to recommend psychotherapy. and, should that fail, more traditional antidepressant drugs. None of the researchers are sure what causes severe winter sadness, but they seem confldent that the dark winter days set off what may be a genetic predisposition to SADS and its corresponding fair weather enthusiasm.

"Maybe (it's) the price you have to pay in the winter for being better than average in summertime," O'Rourke said.

Herald Sports Writer LAKE MARY - Tammy Scott said she doesn't remember much about the final, winning save she made, but that's probably because she was delirious after the entire Lake Mary team piled on top of her.

After a well-played 80 minutes of soccer between the Lady Rams and Lyman's Lady Greyhounds ended in a 0-0 tie, the teams went right to penalty kicks. And it was two saves by Scott that enabled the Lady Rams to pull out the victory in the semifinals of the Burger King Classic Tournament Monday night before 301 fans at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Rams, ranked seventh in the state, improved to 11-2 for the season and advance to the tournament finals tonight at 8 against No. 4 Lake Brantley. Lyman, 6-5, will go against Melbourne in the third place game tonight at 6. It will be the first time in tournament history Lyman has not played in the finals.

In the shootout (each team gets five penalty kicks per round) Lyman and Lake Mary had each converted two of their first four shots. Michelle Padilla then put the third on in for Lake Mary and Lyman needed one from Julia Callarman to send it into a second round of PKs. Callarman got off a hard shot toward the left corner of the net but Scott made a diving stop of the ball to end the match and send the Lady Rams scurrying to congratulate their goalkeeper.

"I just watched her (Callarman's) foot and the ball, I didn't anticipate." Scott said. "I really don't like to be put on the spot like that so I was nervous. But I wasn't frightened. I've been in two penalty kicks situati tions before and this is the first one l've won." loto

O'Rourke's research has concentrated on using a drug to facilitate production and retention of serotonin in the brain, a drug he said is "extremely effective ... as effective as light."

But Keller, who said he likes to be "conservative" before prescribing new treatments, prefers to recommend psychotherapy. and, should that fail, more traditional antidepressant drugs. None of the researchers are sure what causes severe winter sadness, but they seem confident that the dark winter days set off what may be a genetic predisposition to SADS and its corresponding fair weather enthuslasm.

"Maybe (it's) the price you have to pay in the winter for being better than average in summertime," O'Rourke said.

Lady Patriots Unload On No. 1 Melbourne, 5-0

Shootout: Lady Rams Top Lyman

By Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer LAKE MARY — Tammy Scott said she doesn't remember much about the final, winning save she made, but that's probably because she was delirious after the entire Lake Mary team piled on top of her.

After a well-played 80 minutes of soccer between the Lady Rams and Lyman's Lady Greyhounds ended in a 0-0 tie. the teams went right to penalty kicks. And it was two saves by Scott that enabled the Lady Rams to pull out the victory in the semifinals of the Burger King Classic Tournament Monday night before 301 fans at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Rams, ranked seventh in the state, improved to 11-2 for the season and advance to the tournament finals tonight at 8 against No. 4 Lake Brantley. Lyman, 6-5, will go against Melbourne in the third place game tonight at 6. It will be the first time in tournament history Lyman has not played in the finals.

In the shootout (each team gets five penalty kicks per round) Lyman and Lake Mary had each converted two of their first four shots. Michelle Padilla then put the third on in for Lake Mary and Lyman needed one from Julia Callarman to send it into a second round of PKs. Callarman got off a hard shot toward the left corner of the net but Scott made a diving stop of the ball to end the match and send the Lady Rams scurrying to congratulate their goalkeeper.

"I just watched her (Callarman's) foot and the ball, I didn't anticipate," Scott said. "I really don't like to be put on the spot like that so I was nervous. But I wasn't frightened. I've been in two penalty kicklesitues tions before and this is the first one l've won." 1010

What's On Your Christmas List?

With Christmas just in the offing, its time to think of what you'd like. For the avid fisherman or boater perhaps the ideal gift would be something to tell him the depth of water and perhaps a method of determining if there are fish at his favorite fishing hole or enable him to locate a hot spot for those lunkers. With the refinements of miniature electronics a fantastic array of black and white and color fishfinder/depth indicators to now possible.

It sure beats a lead line or asking one of your buddies to tell you the location of his favorite fishing hole. Today even the most novice fisherman can scan the deep by looking at a tiny display bolted at his helm. The recent technological revolution in echo sounders has brought to new heights the sophistication of both deptheounders and fishfinders.

Now, fish are color-coded while at the same time a stream of alpha-numeric details such as boat speed, loran position, water temperature and time of day flesh on the screen.

Most of the marine electronics catalogs are showing a variety of brands featuring vivid color CTR electronic video displays similar to the ones used in color television or computers or LCDs like the ones used in digital wristwatches. While they are similar to paper recorders as they show a historical picture of the bottom over which you have passed, they have electronic components instead of mechanical devices. With a color fishfinder, the internal computer distinguishes between strong echo returns and faint ones, and then presents this information graphically on the screen. Different colors denote echo strength. Red will indicate a very strong echo as from a hard bottom, whereas, a blue color will indicate no echo return. The most popular models will have a display of from five to eight different colors unit. Over time, an experienced angler can learn to distinguish between different species of fish by the colora in which they appear on the fishfinder and the type and composition of the boltom.

depending on the make of the

Some of the features being touted are: Automatic bottom tracking, surface water temperatures, cumulative distance logs. boat speeds in tenths of a mile. picture freeze, zoom ability. alarma and memory so that you can retrace your steps or plug into a VCR. Costs are as little as $450 for a color unit or $250 for a black and white unit.

BOATER Depthsounders consist of two basic units, the transducer and the indicator. The transducer is the critical part of the system. Many choices are available and the one you choose must fit your particular needs. Two basic frequencies are available, the 200KHZ and the 50KHZ deepwater transducer.

The 200KHZ transducer uses a plate or crystal that oscillates within the transducer at about 200,000 cycles per second, well above the sound level that humans can hear. At 200KHZ. the transducer can provide 25 waits of power effective at depths up to 600 feet; at 100 feet it will provide a 14 foot diameter image giving a highly detailed image of the ocean floor.

At deeper depths, a 50KHZ transducer can usually provide crisper pictures. This transducer oscillates at 50,000 cycles per second and uses a lengthier time between pulses for sounding deeper depths. At 100 watts of output power the SOKHZ transducer can provide accuracy at depths down to 3000 feet. A transducer should then obviously be selected for the waters you fish or else discrimination losses are going to occur and resolution will affect your picture quality.

If you fish both shallow and deep waters, choose a deptheounder that is capable of handling both 200 and 50KHZ transducers. The only required accessory for this installation is a transducer switch box.

Pelluer, Ruzek Lead Cowboys Over Rams, 29-21

ANAHEIM. Calif. (UPI) - While seemingly countless NFL teams ponder playoff possililites, players like Roger Ruzek and Steve Pelluer of the Dalias Cowboys consider the question of job security.

Both pleased Dallas Cosch Tom Landry Monday night - Rusek booted a club-record five field goals and Pelluer threw for 183 yards and one touchdown, helping the Cowboys defeat the Rams 29-21 and eliminate Los Angeles from wild-card contention.

"Ruzek ranks with the better kickers in the league," Landry said. "He's my Pro Bowl pick right now. I thought Steve played well. He handled himself very well."

The Cowboys, who will be postsesson speciators for the second straight year, improved to 6-8 and snapped the Rams' five-game winning streak. Los Angeles is also 6-6.

Ruzek, a former New Jersey General who kicked four field goals in a game earlier this year to tie three other Cowboys, was 5 for 5 to increase his season record to 22 of 25 field-goal tries, 88 percent. The Dallas mark is .815 by Rafael Septien in 1983.

This team is made up of winners," Ruzek said. "We're not a bunch of losers. We know we're a better ballelub than our record shows. We all wanted to go home and have a happier Christman and this gives us a happier Christmas."

Pelluer, 1-9 as a starter entering the game, was 15 of 30 with no interceptions. His TD toss was 27 yards to Doug Coebie in the third quarter.

"I'm very optimistic about the future," said Pelluer, who started for Danny White. "I'm confident in my ability."

Herschel Walker, who rushed for 108 yards, also had a 1-yard acoring run for the Cowboys. Tony Dorsett became the fourth NFL player to rush for 12,000 yards, gaining 52 for a total of Jim Everett scored on a L-yard quarterback keeper for the Rams before leaving early in the fourth quarter with a bone chip in his right ankle. He was 12 of 24 for 189 yards and two interceptions.

"It (the ankle) doesn't feel good right now, but losing this game feels worse," Everett said.

Steve Dils threw a 15-yard TD pass to Kevin House with 2:38 remaining. Charles White, the NFL's leading rusher, gained 66 yards for a season total of 1.279. White, who had gone over 100 yards in five consecutive games, rambled in from the 8 in the second quarter for the Rams' other TD.

The Rams' wild-card hopes hinged on victories over the Cowboys and San Francisco and triumphs next week by Washington over Minnesota and St. Louis over the Cowboys.

"We were just trying to beat Dallas," Rams Coach John Robinson said. "I don't think we wavered from that all. We knew Dallas could play the kind of game they did."

Dallas drove 80 yards on its opening possession to a 7-0 lead. Pelluer was 2 of 2 in the march. including a 24-yard sideline pass to Walker. Walker put the Cowboys ahead with 8:17 to go when he slashed left from the 1.

The Rams tied it 7-7 when they followed Ron Brown's 45-yard kickoff return with a 54-yard, eight-play march. Everett connected on passes of 20 yards to Damone Johnson and 29 to Brown before Charles White darted through the line and burst in from the 8 with 5:23 remaining in the quarter.

Charles White fumbled on the Rams' next possession and linebacker Jeff Rohrer recovered at Los Angeles 24. Seven plays later, Ruzek kicked a 24-yard field goal to put the Cowboys up 10-7 with 24 seconds remaining in the opening quarter.

Dallas extended its lead to 13-7 with 9:16 left in the half when Ruzek kicked a 42-yard field goal despite being run into by Jerry Gray. Pelluer. apparently against the wishes of the sidelines. chose to take the points rather than an automatic first down.

The Rams could have closed to 13-10 with less than two minutes remaining, but elected to take Mike Lansford's 45-yard field goal off the scoreboard when Michael Downs was caught offsides on fourth-and-two at the Dailas 28. Two plays later, Everett threw for Johnson over the middle and linebacker Jease Penn intercepted at the 16 with 54 seconds to go.

Dallas moved quickly downfield and, helped by a 21-yard pass from Pellucr to Kelvin Martin. went shead 18-7 with six seconds to play when Ruzek kicked a 44-yard field goal.

Ruzek's fourth field goal pushed the Dallas advantage to 19-7 2:44 into the third quarter. Gray again ran into Ruzek and, after much deliberation, the Cowboys accepted the points.

Dallas cornerback Everson Walls picked off an Everett pass at the Los Angeles 39.4.1-2 minutes later and the Cowboys took full advantage. After Tony Domett rushed for gains of 10 and 2 yards. Pelluer pump-faked and hit tight end Doug Cosbie for a 27-yard TD pass and 26-7 lead. Free safety Nolan Cromwell fell on the play.

The Rams moved within 26-14 on an Everett 1-yard scoring run with 2:42 to go in the quarter.

Ruzek's fifth field goal, a 37-yarder, came with 4:33 left. The Rams closed to 29-21 on Dils' TD throw.

"I'm looking forward to starting next week, but I'm not happy with the circumstances." Dils said.

BEARS' ANDERSON MAY MISS PLAYOFTS

LAKE FOREST, III. (UPI) - Neal Anderson, the Chicago Bears' leading rusher and receiver, will miss Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Raiders and is doubtful for the playoffs.

Bears Coach Mike Ditka also said Monday quarterback Jim McMahon will miss his third straight game and All-Pro offensive tackle Jimbo Covert will also miss the regular season finale against the Raiders.

Anderson suffered a second degree knee sprain in Chicago's 34-21 loss against Seattle.

"It's the same injury Otis Wilson had and Otis missed four weeks," Ditks said. "I'd say he's very doubtful for the playoffs."

Anderson leads the Bears with 586 yards in 129 carries. He is also the club's leading receiver with 47 catches for 467 yards. He suffered the knee injury in the third quarter when Seattle's Brian Bosworth recovered Anderson's fumble to set up a Scahawka' score.

GLANVILLE CHASTISES MEDIA

HOUSTON (UPI) - Houston Otlers Coach Jerry Glanville, his team assured a spot in the AFC playoffs for the first time in seven years if it beats Cincinnati next weekend, had more than the Bengats on his mind Monday.

Glanville, who came under fire from Pitisburgh Coach Chuck Noll following Houston's 24-16 victory Sunday, chastised the media for continually bringing up questions about allegations from NFL teams that the Ollers are using cheap shots on the field.

Glanville even showed clips from the Steelers-Otlers game which he claimed showed the Steelers guilty of late or questionable hits.

"The defense played unbellevable," Lyman coach Laura Rountree said. "Julia (Callarman) saved us all night long and Debble (Generalli) came on and did an excellent job in place of Tammy Fulsang (ankle injury)."

The second half saw few scoring opportunities as Lake Mary took seven shots and Lyman three. Lake Mary's defense, led by Amy Alexander and Brooke Taylor, was every bit as tough as Lyman's.

The best scoring opportunity for Lyman came midway through the second half when a shot hit off the crossbar and bounced in front of the goal where a Lyman player had a chance to knock it in but Scott pounced on it just in time for the Karen Mott answered for Lyman to tie it at 1-1. Michelle Mattingly made it 2-1 Lake Mary and it stayed that way when Randi Huddleston's shot bounced off the crossbar.

The Lady Rams had a chance to go up 3-1 but Carr knocked down a line shot by Alexander. Lyman again couldn't get the equalizer as Scott made a nice save of Bonnie Steeves' PK.

Dana Hoover had a chance to insure at least a second round of play for Lake Mary but Carr made another diving save to keep it at 2-1. Kerry Musante then evened the shootout as she chipped a shot into the upper left comer.

Padilla then came on for Lake Mary and made a nice shot inside the right post for a 3-2 lead and Scott sealed the win for the Lady Rams by saving Callarman's PK.

DeLand's Lady Bulldogs managed just four shots on goal Monday, but made good on two of them en route to a 2-1 victory over Seminole High in consolation bracket play.

DeLand Improved to 2-8 while the Lady Seminoles dropped to 3-6. Seminole took 17 shots on goal but could only score once, that a first-half score by Cindy Benge off Melissa Shuckman's assist that gave Seminole a 1-0 lead.

"Those were two impressively placed corner kicks by Julie (DelRusso)." Halbig said. "You can't get them much better than that.

Melbourne did have a threat late in the half when Dena Minning-wenz drilled a shot from 10 yards out, but Kurz made the save with one second left to preserve the 2-0 lead.

The Lady Patriots put a big nail in Melbourne's coffin only five minutes into the second half and once again it was set up by a corner kick. This time, Dejunior Jennifer McMaster IRusso's kick was jammed in front of the goal and bounced out to about 15 yards where senior Debble Bray collected it and fired a shot past Melbourne backup keeper Patty Masterson for a 3-0 lead.

Less than three minutes later. DelRusso intercepted a pass and unloaded a shot inside the right post for a 4-0 Lake Braniley cushion.

Melbourne's best chance in the second half came with 2:35 remaining when Kelley Barnes hit a rocket shot that Kurz made a diving, finger-tip save of to preserve the shutout.

DelRusso then put the finishing touches on when she got open on the left flank and drilled in her second goal to make the final 5-0.

Melbourne did outshoot the Lady Patriots, 19-9, but Brantley took advantage of its opportunities. The Lady Bulldogs were frutstrated by Brantley's tight defense and Kurz did a tremendous job with 12 saves.

city Commissioner John Y. Mercer saked Marder if he had addressed and responded to the comments made by the county and the Regional Planning Council Marder said yes.

Marder pointed out that one subject dealt with in the proposed plan is wetlands (areas such as swamps and lakes). Mayor Bettye Bmith noted that one of the benefits of having a comprehensive plan is "to say that we do care about our wetlands, and about our environment, and in microcoam this is what we're going to do."

Lynette Dennis and Dave Gunter opposed the motion because they had not known it was coming up at the meeting as it wasn't on the agenda and no details were supplied by Waller. Waller refused to tell Gunter whether or not he had discussed the requests with one or more of the other commissioners in advance saying it was not pertinent.

After the motion passed. Gunter asked Waller if the money was in the budget to pay the comp time and was told, "We don't have the money in the budget."

Smerilson then made a motion to take it out of the contingency fund.

Former city commissioner Larry Goldberg got into the discussion after a motion was made by Smerilson to substitute one year for one month in Waller's contract and seconded by Myers. He said he was mayor at the time and remembered it was one year not one month

City Clerk Don Terry, always reticent to speak out, did so at that point. "I am not going to just all here and listen to this. I distinctly remember that it was 30 days and he signed the contract that way." Terry said.

After the meeting Golberg changed his mind and decided he remembered it was 30 days not a year.

Lormann, who was willing to go along with six months, joined Dennis and Gunter in voting against changing the contract. City Attorney Michael Kramer said he had a problem with changing it to six months as that would be different than just making a correction.

Smerilson said. "The two commissioners have been talking and have decided what they are going to do with Waller and have already named his replacement."

Gunter replied, "I hope you can proof that, because there has been no talk."

Lormann said. "I had hoped the new commission would give Hardy said, "That was the straw that broke the camel's back. I would support a resolution for his dismissal.

Dennis and Gunter, who have locked horns with the city administrator several times during their first year in office, gave him unsatisfactory and minimally unsatisfactory marks on his job performance in their recent evaluation and called for his dismissal unless he shaped up this month. show of opposition to Contra aid when the bill reached the House floor.

Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., called further aid to the Contras a "fruitless battle" and Rep. Mike Lowry, D-Wash., told colleagues if they voted for the bill "it goes against everything you have talked about."

But Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., one of the negotiators, said, "I have always opposed aid to the Contras and I still do." Nevertheless, Obey said he would vote for the compromise.

Lashing out at Senate Democrats for buckling in the negotiations. Obey said the anti-Contra forces achieved major concessions and pleaded with his fellow liberals not to "let the perfect become the enemy of the good."

The deficit cutting measure also drew opposition, mostly from Republicans.

"I don't think that all of us got what we wanted. As a matter of fact, there are many people who are disappointed ... and I share that disappointment," said House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-III., a key figure in negotiating the deficit reduction tax provisions. But he added, "The result is a fair compromise.

Neither side got everything they wanted."

Rep. Jack Buechner, R-Mo., however, argued the bill did not do enough to cut the deficit.

'We didn't have the guts. We had the opportunity, but we didn't take advantage of it," Buechner said. "I would just like to say about this budget: Bah, humbug."

The grueling task of putting together the spending bill continued until 10 p.m. when Senate-House negotiators finally reached an agreement after a full day of round-robin meetings that involved Baker. Treasury Secretary James Baker and budget director James Miller.

The last stumbling block was the "fairness doctrine." which was dropped at the last moment. It would have required broadcasters to air opposing views, a long-time Federal Com-munications Commission rule abolished by the Reagan administration.

President Reagan had told a White House photo session earlier in the day he planned to veto the entire $606 billion appropriations package, needed to finance the government through next September, if it included the fairness doctrine.

Similiarily, Reagan said he would veto the bill if it did not contain more aid for the Contras.

Battered by repeated threats of a veto, Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd, showing the strains of constant negotiations, said, "The strains of constant negotiations, said, biggest problems are these veto threats."

During the weekend, the administration and rebellious Democrats reached a finely worded agreement essentially providing another $6.1 million for the Contras.

The measure also would allow previously authorized - but thus far undelivered - military supplies to be shipped until Jan. 12.

Grandma's Photo Album Keeps Families Together

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say about your advising the hostess to remove, ahead o time, any and all pictures that could be offensive or hurtful to her guests. This refers to the mother-in-law who kept framed pictures of her son and his first wife prominently displayed. which hurt the feelings of her son's second wife.

Abby, I have four children-30 to 37 years old-and each has an "ex." In my front room I have pictures of all four of my children with their present spouses. But in My albums, I have many pictures of all my children with their first mates.

With the bitterness and anger that follow most divorces, many pictures are destroyed, and Grandma is usually the only one who hangs onto pictures of cveryone who was ever in the family-regardless of what happens to the marriages. I plan to give all my pictures to my grandchildren just as soon as they are old enough to appreciate them. My pictures will probably be the only ones they will ever have that show their real father and mother together.

How anyone could feel right destroying such pictures is beyond me.

DEAR GRANDMA: May God bless you for your good sense and 20-20 hindsight. Pictures are a part of history, and one cannot rewrite history.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from

"Learned the Hard Way," whose wife claimed she accidentally threw out his stash of gold coins hidden in a shoe box in a closet. reminded me of this: Many years ago when I was a traveling salesman in Sioux City, Iowa, I needed a little cash to go on the road, so I asked my wife if she had any. She said she didn't so later that day. I borrowed some. I then went to take a shower before leaving town and I found $200 in bills hidden in the back of the linen closet. I stuck it in my pocket, took off, and let her

A few days later when I called home, the wife asked me if I found some money in the linen closet. I said "How could I find it. if there wasn't any?" We are now divorced.

DEAR SENSORS: At the risk of upsetting those who "hate" poetry, here it is:

Split Verdict In Howard Beach Attack

By Barbara Goldberg NEW YORK (UPI) - Blacks and whites alike denounced the split verdict in the trial of four whites for the Howard Beach attack that came to symbolize racism in America. But the mother of the young black man who died said. "God in the end did what was right."

Three defendants were convicted Monday night of manslaughter in the mob attack on a black man who was chased onto a busy highway and killed a year ago, but the jury acquitted them of murder charges and cleared one defendant altogether.

The decision by the jury that deliberated nearly 100 hours over 12 days after a 3-month trial ignited protests in the courtroom. A woman unfurled a red banner reading. "Murderers, Murderers" and others chanted at the jury. "You let them get away with murder."

But police said white and black neighborhoods throughout the city were calm early today despite civil rights protests by more than 500 people that led to 73 arrests Monday before the jury returned the verdicts. The "Day of Outrage" to protest racial violence snarled subway lines and blocked the Brooklyn Bridge.

After the verdict, a "strategy" meeting by more than 125 black leaders at a Brooklyn high school late in the evening was to culminate in a march on the precinct where those arrested were held, but the protest failed to materialize.

'I am pleased with the verdict," said Jean Griffith, 42, mother of Michael Griffith, 23, who was killed in Howard Beach. "God in the end did what was right."

Cedric Sandiford, 37, who survived the attack, said he was "very happy and pleased."

As word of the manslaughter convictions raced through the predominately white Queens neighborhood of Howard Beach, residents gathered outside the New Park Pizza parlor and a bowling alley across the street. Two black walked by and were briefly taunted by whites, but there was no violence.

"We are surprised. I don't think it is fair." said James Scoca, 53, a Howard Beach resident for three years. Scoca said the attack was not racially motivated, but merely a confrontation between groups of young men. "Words must have been said, that's probably what started it," he said. "The racial thing is a lot of nonsense."

It was outside the New Park Pizza parlor where a gang of whites wielding a baseball bat and sticks confronted three black men in the first hour of Dec. 20, 1986. A car carrying Griffith, Sandiford and another black broke down. They then ventured into Howard Beach to use a phone when the mob chased them.

Griffith dashed onto a busy highway, was run down by a car and killed. Sandiford was caught and beaten with the bat and tree limbs, and Timothy Grimes, 20, fled to escape serious injury. Jon Lester and Scott Kern, both 18, were cleared of second-degree murder charges but convicted of second-degree manslaughter. They were each acquitted of attempted murder. second-degree assault and first-degree riot, but found guilty of first-degree assault and of conspiracy. Lester was also cleared of inciting to riot.

Jason Ladone, 17, was convicted of manalaughter and first-degree assault, but cleared of second-degree attempted murder, second-degree assault and first-degree riot.

Michael Pirone, 18, was cleared of manslaughter, assault and riot charges.

The special prosecutor, Charles Hypes, said, "When Cedric finished testifying in the grand jury last January I made a promise. I said no one could bring Michael back, but I promised to do everything humanly possible to punish those who killed him.

The manslaughter and first-degree assault charges both carry a maximum penalty of 15 years in Jall.

After the verdict, Kern closed his eyes and appeared close to tears. Lester and Ladone remained impassive. Pirone let go with a huge sigh of relief and his family cheered.

Highlights, Lowlights Of New Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Here are the highlights of the Senate-House conference agreement on the wide-ranging $606 billion spending bill and the $76 billion deficit reduction bills passed by Congress.

Taxes

Tax provisions in the deficit reduction bill would raise $23 billion in additional revenues during the next two years. This includes a three-year extension of the current 3 percent federal tax on telephone service, limits on interest deductions for nome-equity loans and new requirements that employers pay Social Security taxes on tips earned by their service workers. Most of the tax provisions are aimed at large corporations and the wealthy.

Contra Ald

The spending bill would provide $8.1 million in humanitarian aid for the Contra rebels fighting the Sandinista government in Nicaragua, allows mixed abipments to include lethal weapons and sets a showdown vote Feb. 4 on any further U.S. assistance.

Nuclear-Weste

The deficit reduction bill contains legislation to locate the nation's first permanent nuclear waste dump in Nevada and end consideration of alternative sites in Washington and Texas. It also provides conditional authorization for construction of a temporary "monitored retrievable storage" facility. Work on the so-called MRS facility would proceed only after the permanent repository begins receiving waste shipments. The legislation would kill the search for possible sites in eastern states for a second permanent repository.

penalties against some 60 cities that do not comply with federal standards for carbon monoxide and ozone by the end of the year.

Airplane Smoking

The spending bill carries language banning smoking on all flights of two hours or less. Federal Pay

The spending bill would give most federal employees a 2 percent pay raise this year. The pay raise would not apply to judges, top federal officials and members of Congress. Aid to Pakistan

The spending bill clears the way for $480 million in economic and military aid to Pakistan. The bill allows continued assistance if the White House waives current law that prohibits aid to countries that have the capability to build nuclear weapons but which refuse to allow international inspections of their nuclear facilities.

Stinger Missile Sale

The spending bill would allow the administration to sell between 60 to 70 shoulder-fired. anti-aircraft Stinger missiles to the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Bahrain. Missiles that are not used. would have to be returned to the United States after 18 months or sooner if other air defense systems are established.

Japanese Contracts

A provision in the spending bill would effectively prevent Japanese construction companies from bidding for some federally funded projects unless U.S. companies are permitted to go after construction projects in Japan.
