By LEE MUELLER
NEW YORK (NEA)—This is the age of the Vanishing Unturned Stone, a time when scientific inquiry among other things has leaped the wall of conventional investigation to run amok in way-out pastures.

With certain personality traits determined by standard psychological tests. From this data, Wiggins was able to determine what kind of men prefer women with, say, large tops, small bottoms and slender legs.

Big Men-On-Campus, he discovered, like girls with ample tops, moderate to small bottoms and moderate legs. Ascetic types on the other hand, prefer girls with moderate tops, small bottoms and moderate legs.

Wiggins' "Losers" like Reubenque figures. Big To date, the Wiggins have not done research involving women's taste in men, but that takes—along with other related fields of inquiry—is being undertaken in other parts of the country.

Dr. Jerry Wiggins, 39, a professor of psychology at the University of Illinois, says this is not true; that today's news reporting techniques only make current research sound kinky. "There always have been some pretty farout investigation going out," he said.

There are people, for instance, who might find kinky the investigation Wiggins and his wife are conducting. The Wigginses and a colleague, Judith Conger, are attempting to determine just what makes a member of the opposite sex physically attractive.

Wiggins' research began with his theory that personality is determined by the way society reacts to our bodies. "Persons with valued characteristics will be treated differently—and reacted differently—than persons who do not have them," he said.

Research included the testing of 95 undergraduate males to determine their body preferences in females. For hours, the men peered at black and white silhouettes of women being flashed on a screen. Men, he found, do prefer emphasis of one body component or another and the preferences correlate

Soil Needs Organic Matter

By DAVID DeVOLL
Extension Agent

The success of your flower garden may depend on how you prepare soil for annual plants. If you continue to grow plants in the same soil, the soil aggregates will break down into smaller aggregates, reducing the air available to roots.

Soil improvement starts with adding organic matter. Well-rotted manure or compost may be spread over the surface and mixed into the soil to a depth of six inches. Peat moss is an excellent soil amendment and is a good soil builder.

Peat moss, which is available at garden stores, should be spread at the ratio of 4 to 5 cubic feet per 100 square feet of bed. If soil tests show that the soil is acid, it may be advisable to add from 2 to 5 pounds of lime per 100 square feet. As for fertilizer spread 2 pounds of 6-6-6 or 6-4-8 per 100 square feet of flower bed.

Spread the organic matter, the bed. Turn the soil until it is uniformly mixed. When the soil is well mixed, level off the bed, plant your flowers, and water the entire bed thoroughly with a sprinkler, providing the equivalent of 1.5 inches of rain. If planting is to be done later, settle the bed by watering, but wait until the soil is dry enough to work before planting. It may be necessary to do a little extra watering until the soil settles.

Harvest Time For S'berries

By LOUISE L. GILL
Home Economics Agent

While March winds blow in many parts of the country, fresh red strawberries are being harvested in southern Florida.

Did you know that the strawberry is the only fruit with seeds on the outside? First shipments of strawberries come from Southern Florida in January, and then production increases, gradually spreading north and west into many parts of the country before tapering off in the fall. Strawberries are in best supply in May and June.

Look for berries with full red color and a bright luster, firm flesh, and the cap stem still attached. The berries should be dry and clean, and usually medium to small berries have better eating quality than large ones.

In most containers of strawberries you will likely find a few that are less desirable than others. Try to look at some of the berries down in the container to be sure that they are reasonably free from defects or decay.

You might like to try strawberry pie, made from fresh Florida strawberries. Strawberry Pie Fill a flaky, already baked, 8-inch pie crust or tart shells with large, ripe strawberries. Make a sauce from 1 cup small berries by crushing, simmering with 1/2 cup sugar, and straining through cheese cloth. You'll need about 1 cup of sweetened juice. Thicken this with 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch. Cook until sauce is clear. Add a little butter to give a glazed, brilliant look to the sauce.

REAP New Name For ACP Plan

By FRANK JASA
County Agricultural Agent

The name has been changed and the program has been adjusted to meet present needs, but conservation remains its primary goal.

REAP (Rural Environmental Assistance Program) replaced the ACP program which was the principal channel through which the Federal Government, in the national interest and for the public good, shares with farmers and ranchers the cost of carrying out approved soil, water, woodland, wildlife conservation and pollution abatement practices on their land. Emphasis is on practices which are of an enduring nature and which will contribute to the control of soil, water and air pollution.

This voluntary program was in operation long before "pollution" and "ecology" became everyday terms and farmlands all over the country have benefited from improvements made possible through this program.

Farmers and ranchers wishing to apply for REAP cost-sharing may file requests with the County ASCS office with the initial sign-up ending April 9, 1971. Late filed requests will be accepted through the remainder of the program year. In Seminole County, the REAP office is open Monday and Tuesday at the Agri-Center on Highway 17-92.

Charlene Powers Trial Under Way

By MARION BETHEA
Trial began this morning in Circuit Court in the case of Mrs. Charlene Powers, charged with second degree murder in the February 1970 death of her two-year-old daughter, Lana Bennett.

Prosecuting for the state is Assistant State Attorney David Porter, Brevard County, and Assistant State Attorneys Thomas Speer and Fred Leone, Seminole. Defense attorney is Mrs. Powers' former employer, Clark Jennings, Winter Park.

Several veniremen were excused this morning due to physical disability and one due to the fact that he is acquainted with the defendant. The attractive defendant was attired in a cocoa pant suit. During interrogation of the venire, she glanced briefly at each prospective juror, conferred with her attorney and made hurried notations.

There will be a six-man jury with two alternates, and the case is anticipated to consume most of the week. The first of the venire to be interrogated was Mrs. Willa Mae Hood, Sanford zoo superintendent. When questioned as to whether she had read newspaper publicity concerning the case, she replied, "I don't have time." In reply to a query as to whether controversy over the zoo would affect her verdict upon the case, if selected, she said, "No, God will take care of that."

While the proceedings were taking place, a civil trial was beginning in Court Room A before Judge Dominick Salfi. The case is expected to last five days. Plaintiff is C. B. Franklin versus Dr. George Starke.

Suspect Held In One Incident

2 Weekend Rapes Reported

By BILL SCOTT
The rash of Sanford and Seminole County reported rape cases continued during the weekend with two physical assaults, bringing to five the number of such county incidents in the past week.

A 17-year-old Sanford high school girl was ravished in a Sunday pre-dawn assault at an east Sanford residence by a stocky, masked, pistol-toting man, who entered the house, tied up the family and raped the daughter in a separate bedroom.

County authorities have arrested a 24-year-old Winter Park man after a 27-year-old Orlando woman told police the man assaulted her in an orange grove near Forest City.

Det. Sgt. William Lykens and Roy Williams are conducting an extensive investigation into the Sanford report that came at 4:25 a.m. Sunday when a Sanford businessman called police and reported his home was entered and his daughter raped by a man wearing a stocking mask and brandishing a .32 caliber pistol.

Det. Lykens said there were no visible signs of entry into the house indicating the door may not have been locked. The incident reportedly happened about 3 a.m. when the wife was then tied by the assailant, who covered all his victims' mouths with tape. The daughter was removed to an adjoining bedroom where she was raped.

County To Act On 3 Bond Issues For Two Buildings And Park Land

David Gunby, fiscal agent for the county, will present a resolution to the County Commission tomorrow asking approval for the issuance of certificates of indebtedness for new construction.

Included in the issue is the juvenile detention facility in the amount of $250,000 which will require the annual debt service of .081 mill; the mental health and incompetency facility, $225,000 requiring a debt service of .101 mill and the land acquisition for park and recreation purposes, $1,680,750 with a debt service of .523 mill.

In other business the commission will hear a report from Joel Kinney regarding the U.S. Geological Survey urban water problem study. Jessie Comer will appear regarding Peach Avenue extension paving participation.

There will be a decision relative to zoning at "The Springs." County Attorney Harold Johnson will give a report upon a Florida Power Corporation agreement.

There will be a decision relative to platting of Winter Woods units 4 and 5. This matter was continued from Feb. 16, at which time several residents of the area waited most of the day for the developers to show, in vain.

Fred Collington will appear relative to Florida Junior College Week proclamation.

There will be a discussion relative to additional facilities for the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Public hearings will include rezoning from A-1 to RM-2 property on the north side of Lake Mary Boulevard; an appeal against the decision of the Board of Adjustment for a special exception to allow a guest house with kitchen facilities in an A-1 zone in Longwood Hills; rezoning from A-1 to RM-2, property on the south of Lake Harney Road; rezoning from A-1 to C-2, property on SR 436 and Howell Branch Road; rezoning from A-1 to C-2, property east of the easterly right-of-way line of U.S. 17-92; amendment to zoning regulations to include PUD Districts; vacating and abandoning of Northgate plat.

It was cocktail time in a crowded motel room Saturday night and the predominantly male, conservatively dressed legislators were loosening up after a day of gloomy testimony about Florida's drug-kid problem.

"No matter what I tell my father about marijuana, about drugs, he's positive the boys just want to get the girls stoned so they can take them to bed, because that's the way his generation used booze," said the 23-year-old University of Florida graduate student, a reformer drug user.

"A lot of his generation think that when kids get stoned, they have fantastic sexual experiences and they just want to groove in the woods all day making love," she added. "That is not what the drug scene is like."

Woman, Boy Victims Of Beatings

A Sanford mother has been arrested for beating her six-year-old son with a board and a wire and an 80-year-old Lake Mary woman was pistol-whipped by two robbers in week-end incidents reported by Sanford and Seminole County authorities.

Sanford police have arrested Shirley McGill, apartment 77, William Clark Courts, after police, acting on a telephoned complaint, found her son, Her-Cbert, battered and bleeding in bed.

Det. Sgt. Roy Williams reported the woman had been charged with assault and battery, and had bonded out of jail after her arrest.

According to the report filed by Lt. Charles B. Fagan Jr., police investigated a complaint and found the six-year-old son with marks on the neck, both legs, rear and several other places.

Fagan reported seeing evidence of bleeding on the bed covering where the child lay asleep.

The board and wire allegedly used by the woman were confiscated as evidence and turned over to Det. Williams for further investigation.

Sheriff John Palk and Chief Investigator L. J. Kriz have requested that persons living in the vicinity of Mary Williams, 80, Lake Mary Boulevard, contact the sheriff's office if they observed a car in the area near the woman's house about 9 p.m. Saturday.

Kriz stated the woman, who lived alone since the Feb. 13 death of Ira Williams, her husband, was beaten by two men and robbed sometime before (Continued on Page 2A, Col. 6)

Legislators Here Wed.

Legislation pertaining to Seminole County political subdivisions will be considered by the Seminole-Orange County legislative delegation at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the courthouse.

Subjects on the agenda are: municipality incorporation, taxpayers' complaints, Sanford Airport authority, a school request relative to purchases, charter change for Casselberry, small claims court bill seeking increase in salaries, and three county measures on a study commission, annexation and population acts.

Viets Achieving Objectives Three Red Supply Lines Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commander of South Vietnamese forces in Laos said today that his troops have seized three main junctions on the Ho Chi Minh trail and are achieving two objectives of their drive—destroying North Vietnamese bases and cutting the supply network.
Speaking to newsmen at his forward headquarters in Ham Nghi, Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam said his troops had advanced to road junctions at Ban Dong, Muong Nong and Sepone.

GIs' Pullout Eyed

By LEWIS GULICK, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's announcement next month of further troop withdrawals from Vietnam is likely to spur an already growing debate over what U.S. forces — if any — should remain for an indefinite period after 1972.
Nixon's announcement is expected to span several more months of troop pullouts. As of a week ago official records indicated 326,200 U.S. troops were in Vietnam.
With U.S. forces in South Vietnam expected by defense officials to be down by nearly 100,000 over the next six months, and assuming subsequent withdrawals continue at their current rate of 12,000 a month, the number remaining by the end of next year would be under 50,000.
This falls within the general number of American troops many U.S. government experts envision as needed for an indeterminate period as the Saigon government moves toward self-sufficiency.
The Saigon government moves toward self-sufficiency — a sizable American action on the ground is already largely over — but for advising, training and to provide some logistics support.
The opposing view, expressed publicly by critics of Nixon's Vietnam policy, is that all U.S. troops should be brought home as quickly as possible. Keeping any troops there, they say, would only perpetuate a bad U.S. involvement.
Nixon so far has avoided a public commitment to any specific timetable for total withdrawal of American forces.
On the one hand he has said several times "our goal is to get all Americans out of Vietnam as soon as we can."

So. Vietnam Air Force Self-Sufficient In Year

By FRED S. HOFFMAN, AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Air Force officials predict the South Vietnamese air force will become self-sufficient in about a year for operations against enemy forces inside South Vietnam.
At the same time, the Americans say the Vietnamese pilots will be able to hit portions of North Vietnamese supply routes in Laos but they will not have capability to go North and resume the bombing by themselves.
The U.S. experts suggest that by spring of 1972 the U.S. Air Force role in Southeast Asia may be reduced chiefly to supervising VNAF training and expansion have emphasized ability to support troops in the field. Accordingly, about 35 to 40 per cent of its air fleet will be made up of helicopters that can be used to carry troops to battle and cover them with rocket and machine-gun fire.
In recent months, the U.S. Air Force has increased stress on improving the VNAF's bombing power built mainly around the A-1J light strike jet, which carries a much lighter weapons load than U.S. attack planes.

Two Tax Districts Considered

By HILL SCOTT
An interesting discussion of a proposal to establish two county tax districts for two Seminole County hospitals is on tonight's agenda of the Seminole Memorial Hospital trustee meeting.
The discussion is expected to center around a proposal that persons living in South Seminole be taxed to support a hospital to be constructed in that area and those persons living in northern Seminole be taxed to support the present Seminole Memorial Hospital, which is partially funded by South Seminole residents, but is partially used, since most patients living there are treated by Orange County and South Seminole physicians, who do not use the existing facility.
If another hospital is built, then south county residents would establish a separate tax district for its support, while north county taxpayers would continue to fund the present medical facilities.

Britons To Leave Pakistan

By ARTHUR GAYSHON, Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The British government has advised the 1,000 Britons in East Pakistan to leave the country because of the threat of civil war if their presence is not essential.
The Foreign Office said it had no reports of any Britons being injured in the turbulence that has gripped Dacca, the capital of East Pakistan, for the past week. But the advice to leave was given by Deputy High Commissioner Frank Sarfent as a precaution.

Prime Minister Resigns

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Defense Minister Malcolm Fraser has resigned in a government crisis prompted by reports that he was critical of the Australian army's role in Vietnam. Prime Minister John Gorton's press secretary said today.
The spokesman said the Cabinet was meeting today, without Fraser, to discuss the situation. Fraser had no comment but said he would make a statement in the House of Representatives Tuesday.
Observers said the resignation could touch off a new movement to replace Gorton as leader of the Liberal party. The prime minister denied that the chief of the army general staff told him Fraser was disloyal to the service.

drug programs in general.
"Most programs are set up by adults for kids while the kids know 10 times as much about drugs as the adults," she said. "If there were a program set up by kids for kids there's a tiny chance the kids will really groove on it, really accept it."
She attributes the success of the Corner Drug Store to that approach. The "store" was financed largely by her speaking engagements until it got a state grant last June.
The drug store is now, however, in a four-bedroom brick house near the university where about 80 volunteers working in four-hour shifts operate an around-the-clock "break-out service."
"We offer all kinds of counseling and we have plug-ins to professional people, but the basis of the program is kids who are helping other kids," she said.
From the outside, the house looks like any other on the block.
"We've got one room the kids painted psychedelic, but the rest looks like a normal old house," she said. "There's a kitchen and four bedrooms. There are beds in all the bedrooms because sometimes we need to bring the kids down from bad trips and sometimes we need to just be with them alone. Close them off."
Miss Eisenstadt, who has experimented with several hallucinogens, including LSD and mescaline, gave up drugs completely about three years ago.
"The cops were looking for an excuse to bust us then, but we have got a working arrangement with them now," she said. "Also, I had to get a reputation established among the head of the police department's informant. I wanted them to know that Barbara can be with you when you do drugs, but she won't go near them."

Jittery Youth Surrenders Skyjacker Changes Mind

MIAMI (AP) — A jittery young gunman hijacked a National Airlines jet at Mobile, Ala., today, then decided in flight to surrender to authorities, the airline said today.
The plane was heading for Canada when the pilot indicated by radio he had changed course over Tennessee and was due to arrive at Miami International Airport at 11:59 a.m. EST.
The gunmen had permitted the 38 passengers and four stewards to disembark before ordering the pilot to fly to Montreal, Canada.
The plane was National's flight 475, which originated at Pensacola, Fla. Mobile was its first stop and it was scheduled to continue to New Orleans.

Squatters In Vehicles Bother Frisco Police

THE SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The stuff out for the rats or they use street recyclables, which means the city is doing their garbage collecting for them.
"None of these mobile living quarters is connected with sewer lines. Some of the better housed people dump wastes into street sewers with pretty disagreeable results when there is no rain for flushing."
"First it was the 'flower children' invading the Haight-Ashbury district during the mid-1960s," said David P. Roche, head of the police department's legal affairs office. "Now we've got the 'garbage children' scattered all over the city."
They've squatted with their vans, trucks, campers, buses and cars in some of the most scenic areas near marinas, waterfront, beaches and parks. To combat the problem, the police and health departments will ask the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to enact a new police code section barring anyone from living in the parked vehicles between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.
Violators would be liable to a maximum fine of $1,000 and six months in jail.
"It is aimed solely at squatters who take up residency in their vehicles on the streets, parks and other public places," Roche said.
"It would not affect legitimate tourists and families traveling in campers, trailers or autos, who usually do not camp out like gypsies in a metropolitan city," he added. "They could still come here and park while they sight-see or visit."
A health department spokesman said the practice of squatting in vehicles began about two years ago.
"There's no garbage collection for these nomads," Roche said. "So either they just throw

Support Of Arts: A Practical Curative Measure

We are reprinting the following astute and perceptive editorial from the Daytona Beach Morning Journal as it is in line with our basic thinking that removal of causes is the best remedy:

A legislator who takes his responsibilities very seriously asked this writer recently why he should support appropriations for the arts when there are such crying and visible needs as prisons, hospitals, roads, and schools which need money so badly.

This is written to answer him and all those on a community, state or national level who want to weigh each appropriation conscientiously against the good it will do for their community, state or nation now and 10 years from now.

It may seem a roundabout way of answering to point out that recent studies have shown that an astonishingly high percentage of shoplifting is done by middle aged women who steal, not because they need things, but because they are frustrated by their empty lives and somehow feel that life has cheated them.

Is such frustration also the reason that our mental hospitals and prisons are overflowing? Is it the reason that a growing drug culture is alluring to young people who find that the only way to "enjoy" life is through blotting it out with drugs?

How much of our hard earned tax money goes now for the "pound of cure" in these cases instead of the "ounce of prevention"?

Casting aside rhetoric, how can the arts help with this ounce of prevention? Let's look at the answer at various levels.

For the ghetto child, the arts are part of the bootstrap by which he can lift himself from a dead-end cycle of poverty and the crime and drugs which find a basic foothold there.

Groups such as the Miami Arts Council provide him with creative outlets in crafts, theater, music and arts which help him understand this world and consider himself as a worthwhile member of it. This self image, psychiatrists have pointed out, is the basic step toward becoming a successful, participating member of society.

What of the middle class and upper class child? It provides him with enrichment which helps him, too, to become a more worthwhile citizen. The activities which keep him away from becoming a potential drug addict or shoplifter must not only occupy his time but occupy his spirit.

When he goes to a museum or sees a fine theatrical performance or meets and works with artists, he is equipping himself inwardly to deal with a life which will be lived in more and more crowded conditions. Without this sense of an inward identity, he becomes just another number, waiting for social security payments.

And what of the adults? Participation in community arts activities helps that sense of community identification which is so often lacking in Florida communities made up of many transients who have moved here from elsewhere. Where such teamwork is begun, all community projects move forward faster.

As a side benefit not to be overlooked, communities and states which have strong arts programs attract the kind of tourists and permanent residents who in turn enrich the state with the money they have to spend and the creative ideas which they have to offer.

Communities seeking "clean" industry employing high paid personnel do well to consider what kind of music, art, theater and museums they offer these persons as both spectators and participants.

Deciding on where to spend funds is always a matter of priorities. Is it more important to build one huge cloverleaf intersection or to use exactly the same amount to fund every symphony orchestra in the United States for one year?

Roads are important, but we must provide something worthwhile for them to lead to.

Air and water pollution control are vitally important, not only for health's sake but because we want to keep our state with its lovely blues and greens a haven for the eye and the soul.

Why do we care if the state is beautiful? Because there is something of the artist in each of us — because seeing beauty and hearing and participating in artistic endeavors enriches us all as individuals and as a community, a state or a nation.

Uniform Drug Laws

The problem of drug abuse is no longer confined to major urban areas. It has moved into every state.

And penalties for the manufacture, use and sale of illegal drugs should be uniform among the states, as proposed by the American Bar Association.

In recommending a model drug law to be submitted to state legislatures, the ABA followed closely the provisions of a new federal law that went into effect last fall.

Both would make possession of marijuana a misdemeanor and allow leniency in the case of first offenders. Judges could put them on probation.

But repeated violations would result in prison sentences.

The bar group's proposals, which will be brought to the attention of legislators meeting in 45 states, are intended to standardize criminal procedures for dealing with narcotics.

The drug problem now affects every nationality, race and economic level. It is prevalent in rural communities as well as cities. Some law enforcement officials have called drug abuse an epidemic.

But it is handled in varying ways in the different states — and sometimes in different courts within a single state.

A youth charged with possession of marijuana might face a sentence of 10 or 15 years in prison in some areas, particularly in the South. On a similar charge in another state, he might go free on probation.

Neither the ABA's model drug law nor the federal legislation is designed to relieve the pressures on those who traffic in illegal drugs or those who are consistent offenders.

But both would allow mercy for the relatively innocent who are persuaded to seek "conformity" through experimenting with marijuana or drugs.

This part of the ABA plan should be supported. A model law would put a uniform definition on the nationwide problem.

And a touch of compassion for the unwary first offender would not cripple necessarily the rigid crackdown on those who perpetuate and expand the tragedy of narcotic addiction.

Berlin Talks Marking Time

By STEWART HENSLEY
UPI Diplomatic Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is little if any possibility of progress in the allied talks with Russia over access to Red Sea Communist Party Congress in April, according to high officials in the Nixon administration.

They base this view on past experience which shows that Moscow usually freezes its position in international negotiations at a time when it is engaged in inward looking — concentrating on problems in Russia and the Soviet bloc.

The Western allies — the United States, Britain and France — are seeking agreement to guarantee unhindered access of civilians and civilian cargo from West Germany to West Berlin.

They also are seeking some agreement to lessen restrictions on travel to Communist East and East Germany by West and highway cargoes by providing for sealing of shipments at the Western end of the corridor.

Soviet officials in a number of Western capitals have been telling newsmen that unless the Western powers come up with something better there will be no agreement, and relations between Russia and West Germany will revert to the Cold War atmosphere of the 1950s.

That pressure was tied to the fact that West Germany's chancellor, Willy Brandt, has said that he would not submit the pact — which restores Polish possession of former German territory and gives the Communists other concessions — to West Germany's Parliament for ratification until there was a Berlin agreement.

The assumption here was that the Russians were trying to prod Brandt into pressuring the Western allies to settle for less on Berlin. Brandt has not done so.

Strapped States Push Taxes

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — While the Nixon administration, the Congress and the recently assembled governors flailed around over revenue-sharing and alternatives, many states made ready to inflict new fiscal pain on their citizens.

Nobody can predict exactly what the added state tax burden will be on an annual basis. One estimate is upwards of $5 billion. New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller says states and localities together will raise $10 billion in new tax money this year.

The known details are extricate. Pennsylvania, with the wolf growling at the door, needs $1.5 billion or more to get through the next 18 months. Newly installed Democratic Gov. Milton Shapp has pinned his rescue hopes on a 1 per cent personal income tax. Rockefeller seeks an additional $1.1 billion per year through broad proposals that would raise $275 million more in personal income levies, $120 million in corporate income taxes, $41 million extra in business taxes, and other sizable amounts through a higher sales tax and tripled fees for a wide range of licenses and services.

In Ohio, a state without a personal income tax, Gov. John Gilligan is asking for increased taxes to finance education, welfare and mental health. The request will, of course, be in the hundreds of millions.

California's Gov. Ronald Reagan, in presenting an austerity budget with slashes in welfare and other services, declined to propose new taxes. But his state faces a deficit of $70 million, and the legislature will have to come up with the new money somehow.

Texas' Gov. Preston Smith is proposing a $400 million deficit for the year ahead, and is starting a $450 million bond issue to cover the excess outlays.

Michigan's Gov. William Milliken is also strapped for funds, and proposes income tax increases on persons, corpora-

Cookies Provide Camp Cash

So you're up to here in Girl Scout Cookies and are wondering just where all that money goes anyway — besides you gave at the office and doesn't the United Fund take care of the Girl Scouts?

Well, admit it: those cookies weren't half bad! Besides these days when our children are being subjected to all kinds of pressures, temptations and propaganda from those who would subvert them, never begrudge a cent you give to the Girl Scouts!

Girl Scouting is celebrating its 50th birthday this week and honoring its founder, Juliette Low, but it is as old as the love of the outdoors and the staff of up-to-date as a space launch at Cape Kennedy.

In a day when every minority is clamoring for a piece of the pie, it is fitting that what is probably the world's oldest and most disadvantaged minority should begin to get its long-denied recognition.

This is the happy report of Dr. Dean Trembly, a member of the California State Polytechnic College counseling staff.

Trembly notes that manufacturers are making more and more things for left-handed people — scissors, fishing rods, golf clubs, baseball gloves, bowling balls, rifles and shotguns, potato peelers and apple corers and can openers, iron and ironing boards, pencil sharpeners, dental instruments,

Migrant Areas Eyed

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (AP) — Legislators begin a three-day tour of migrant areas today for a first hand look at housing and working conditions.

"There's no limit on the subject matter of the hearings," said Weissbrodt, a Miami Democrat.

Legislators visit Belle Glade and Pahokee Monday, Immokalee Tuesday and Bartow. Winter seabor, chairman of the Joint Legislative Commission on Migrant Labor, which is conducting the tour.

The commission is touring migrant areas, then holding public hearings inviting field workers to air their complaints.

"People are tired," he said. "The tours are really insulting. You're taken as a clown or something to play with," he said when commission plans were first made public.

Weekend Traffic Toll Reaches 12 In Florida

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a teen-ager in what police described as a 100-mile-per-hour dash over tiny Boca Rica Key Sunday night raised to 12 the number of persons killed on Florida's roads this weekend.

The Highway Patrol reported 18-year-old Marshall Cabrera of Key West was apparently racing a second car along State Road 3 when he struck a bridge abutment at the Boca Rica overpass at a speed "in excess of 100 m.p.h."

Cabrera was thrown from the car upon impact and was struck by the second vehicle which dragged him for 150 feet, officers said.

Cabrera's accident followed a two-car collision in Pinellas Park which took the lives of two passengers Sunday.

Police said Loretta Pernal, 32, of Tampa, died when the auto in which she was riding was struck broadside on State Road 884. A passenger in the

Miami High School On Brink Of Warfare

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Central High School stood at the brink of racial warfare once again last week and some of the 3,000 pupils looked back at the trouble, saying they would understand one another.

Reconstruct the muddled concrete Central with the latest statistics and it sounds like a prototype urban school.

Half the pupils are white, 36 per cent black and 14 per cent with Spanish surnames. The neighborhood is shifting from predominantly white to mostly black. There have been three principals in four years. There is a history of racial incidents.

"Where kids look at me and they figure right away I can dance and play athletics that I want to be judged for myself and not for the uniform (pointing to his skin I wear)," said 16-year-old junior class president John Toney.

Football coach and student council member Charles (Chick) Puetter, 37, and white, sees it a different way.

"I think blacks have a big hangup because they think every white man in the world is out to get them. I think coaches are prejudiced against whites; they think blacks are more athletically inclined."

And Ed Marquez, 47, Key Club President and a student with a Spanish background sums it up:

"If there's one thing whites and blacks agree on here, it's that we don't understand each other."

Metro police and school see the forces had to step in last Thursday when opposing groups of blacks and whites threatened to erupt in violence. Seventeen separate assaults built up to the confrontation.

But Marquez whose mother is American and father Cuban, said he saw hope for the situation.

INTRODUCING THE WORLD'S SMALLEST ELECTRONIC CALCULATOR BY SHARP AND A PRICE TAG TO MATCH.

SMOKEY WILL GET $990, 944

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Under Gov. Reubin Askew's recommended budget the state would spend $99,914 for Smokey the Bear message and other public relations activities by the Division of Forestry.

The forestry division would spend $236,943 of the money for Smokey the Bear message and other public relations activities by the Division of Forestry.

John Bethea, director of the forestry division, said the expenditures should be considered "fire prevention" instead of public relations.

"It's been said if you can get an individual to plant a tree, that's fire prevention," he said. "If you can convince people that trees are important, that's fire prevention."

However, the division also has a recommended allocation of $1.8 million for another category called "fire prevention and control."

This money is to go for salaries and expenses.

Besides the public relations activities covered by the $99,914 allocation, some of the money is to be spent for classroom instruction and outdoor education centers.

By CECELIA FARMER
Members of Sanford Woman's Club enjoyed an unusually interesting program and elected new officers at the general business meeting and luncheon meeting, March 3.

Mrs. John F. Wilson was elected first vice president; Mrs. James Wade, third vice president and Miss Edna Cliftenden, recording secretary.
Other board members were elected for two year terms in 1970 and department officers were elected at their February meetings. All will be installed in June.

Mrs. B. R. Crumley was chairman of the nominating committee assisted by Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom, Mrs. F. J. Harris, Mrs. Thomas Cain and Mrs. H. W. Rucker.
Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith presented the program, "A Brief Glimpse of Europe" and showed colored slides of points of interest that she and her husband visited during a three-week tour in 1970. They visited and took pictures in England, France, Italy, Germany, Denmark and Switzerland. Mr. Smith assisted her with the slides while she narrated and described the various scenes.

Mrs. Stanley Pierce was chairman of hostesses for the luncheon preceding the meeting. Other hostesses were Mrs. C. L. Swinney, Mrs. Thomas Cain, Mrs. Earl Weldon, Mrs. Earl Faust, Mrs. Hood Coker, Mrs. Mary E. Thompson and Mrs. R. D. Wesley.
Mrs. Rose Southward, president conducted the business session and announced that club members had been invited to attend a Sorosis Club program, March 14, to hear Elizabeth A. Kovachewich. For further information call Mrs. Southward. She also stated that the roof repair work would start this week.

Club members will be hostesses at a reception for the March 13 Seminole Mutual Concert. ESO chairman, Mrs. Rucker announced that a book review will be held March 24. The Social Department meets March 16 and the annual membership fee is being planned, date announced later. Attractive place mats and two year purse calendar (a club project) will be on sale at each meeting.
Mrs. Fred Neal, wife of the pastor of the Congregational Christian Church, was introduced as a guest and Mrs. Woodrow W. Clark a new member was welcomed. The Home Life Department is planning a fashion show by Penneys on March 20.

Regular Police Force Patrols Facilities

Schools Of Miami Have Back To Wall

By NICK TATTO
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Gruff ex-FBI agent John Tyler leads a 77-man police force which averages 40 arrests a month on campus, says and other crimes committed within a community of 240,000 children.

Dade County's public school system tried Tyler as its first and only cop in 1959. Now the Department of Security Services has a whopping $12 million budget and Tyler is an $18,200-a-year executive.

The nation's sixth largest school system with 240 centers and $300 million in property to protect has had its back to the wall since social problems like drugs and racial hatred spilled over into the schools, Tyler said.

"Perhaps it's a tired thing to say, but I think parents have to be more concerned about their children," said the 53-year-old father of four.

"Often times we apprehend a youngster for breaking windows and take him home and the parents are unhappy that we interfered with his enjoyment.

Youngsters have no respect for property or authority," said Carl R. Arnold, a Miami parent. "The mother of a son who attends racially troubled Miami Central High School recently stood up at a meeting with school officials and said she thought a police guard was necessary."

"I don't know anymore if my son will be home from school at 3 o'clock or if I'll be getting a call from the hospital that he was bawled up in the halls," she said.

Mrs. William Lee, chairman of the Parent Teacher Association council for Dade County, said parents have mixed emotions about whether there are outside sports programs working with youth.

"The majority think it is better to have this school police force rather than use the local police. They are a part of the school scene and can understand and have been instructed how to deal with adolescents," Mrs. Lee said.

School Supt. Dr. E. L. Whitlam said the job of Tyler's investigators and patrolmen is more preventative and oriented towards property protection than normal police work.

"I hope we can look for a period when it (crime) declines but that is tied in with the whole state of society's problems," Whitlam said.

And he stresses his own. They must have three years experience in law enforcement for the $8,000 they get a year job as investigator.

Oviedo Principal Makes Announcement

Stumpf Gets Oviedo Grid Nod

By LARRY NEELY
Herald Sports Writer

Ralph Stumpf was given the nod Friday by Oviedo High School principal Keith Stone to assume the reins of the football team as head grid coach. Stumpf is currently the athletic director at OHS and has been working closely with coach of the various sports in an effort to expand the athletic program at the school.

Before coming to Oviedo, Stumpf was the head football coach and athletic director at Seminole High School in Sanford. Stumpf is in his third year at Oviedo and in his 15th year in the Seminole County school system. While at Seminole Stumpf established a winning streak of 31 games with the junior varsity football team which is the longest winning streak in Central Florida.

At Oviedo Stumpf is one of the hardest working individuals in the athletic program at Oviedo. He is ever present at all the high school athletic events and puts in several hours after school each day.

For his efforts Stumpf is held in high regard by the Oviedo coaches. OHS basketball coach Dave Miller termed Stumpf one of the finest ever and a tremendous asset to the school. Miller cited instances where Stumpf would come in the dressing room before games and do the taping, relieving him (Miller) of the taping and the soreness of the feet. This year also marked Oviedo's entrance into the Orange Belt Conference which Stumpf was instrumental in. He also organized the Oviedo chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Stumpf is active in the Oviedo Athletic Boosters Club.

When contacted by The Herald Stumpf said that he was extremely happy over the appointment and added that he would have his work cut out for him. He said that he had not given any consideration as yet to the appointment of assistant coaches.

Records Are Shattered At Bowling Tournament

Records were only made to be broken, and so the five bowlers of the Betty Natale's Pro Shop team of the Sanford City League went ahead and broke last year's high team record.

Paced by the outstanding bowling of Reggie Simpson's 633 Chuck Stimely's 221,601 and lefty Jim Lamb's 611, this year's team event winners posted a combined 3086 including handicap. Simpson's high single was a 235 while Lamb shot a 232.

A close battle developed for the number two spot between Jet Lambert (3041) and Zales Jewellers (3031) with John A. Spokalski rolling a 225-640 and teammate Jerry Farella coming in with 225-669 for the lanes. Heading the strike parade for the jewelers was Jack Kanner's 234-632 combination. Ray Cepoyra bowled a triple, 640 team), 221-615 (doubles) and 241-592 (singles) while Kanner's were in the same order) 234-632, 222-577 and 241-631.

Courtesy Manager Rod MacLay and Pete Duggan announced that the prize money and trophies would be awarded at the annual banquet scheduled for Saturday, March 27 at 7 p.m. at The Trophy Lounge.

Raider Golfing Ace Paces Team To Win

RALPH STUMPF, new head football coach at Oviedo High School, could qualify easily as one of the most faithful fans of Oviedo sports. He might not have a perfect record of attendance, but it would come mighty close. During basketball season he labored as much as the coaches and as athletic director will probably do so in the future as well. (Larry Neely Photo) play was Charlie Leekert's 79, along with Hal Marchant and Ed Leskovec, who finished with 79 and 81 respectively.

Jim Rickenbacker, the reigning member of the Raider linksmen, had his worst day ever as a poor mental attitude and poor shooting led to a disastrous 89.

Gordon's 89 tied the school record set by Jim Ashley two years back. The talented golfer from Altamonte Springs could conceivably break that mark before this year's campaign closes.

Dayton Beach will bring his linksmen out for an 18 hole match tomorrow at 1:00 p. m. The Raiders will go over victory number three.

A well-known mathematician once decreed that 35 and 34 were 69. That number in the sport of golf usually symbolizes excellence. 69 is just the score Billy Gordon, captain of Seminole Junior College's Golf team, fired on Hayfair Country Club's 72-par layout.

Captain Billy is one of the Orlando area's top notch golfers and he started out with the intent to let it be known last Thursday. Although Seminole was running away from her opponent, St. Johns River Junior College, it was Gordon's shotmaking that kept the Raider linksmen.

The Raiders fired a four-man total of 301 to the visitors 318. Behind Gordon's phenomenal

Frazier Sees A Win; Clay Is Still Talking

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — "He's a knockout, he's a nut, he's a pest, hell tonight at Madison Square Garden will beat him inside of ten rounds," says Joe Frazier.

"He's just a homemade champion, an amateur, ugly and awkward—it will be no contest, I will win," boasts Muhammad Ali.

With these bitter broadsides, Frazier, the grim, buzz saw slugging, and Ali, the arrogant and a garrulous craftsman, plugged their verbal cannon and awaited the 10:40 p.m. bell tolling at Madison Square Garden for the projected $30 million, unparalleled sports spectacle that will decide the undisputed king of the heavyweights.

Las Vegas has made Frazier, the nation's unofficial "Briar of ODDS," reflecting Ali's overseas popularity, rate Muhammad the Matador an 11 to 1 edge.

Jimmy "The Greek" Spinks, the nation's unofficial "Briar of ODDS," calls it an even "pick'em" fight. The viewing audience is expected to number 200 million—live and electronic. The fight will be shown on closed circuit television in 370 locations in the United States, plus additional ones in Canada and the United Kingdom. This year also marked Oviedo's entrance into the Orange Belt Conference which Stumpf was instrumental in. He also organized the Oviedo chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Stumpf is active in the Oviedo Athletic Boosters Club.

When contacted by The Herald Stumpf said that he was extremely happy over the appointment and added that he would have his work cut out for him. He said that he had not given any consideration as yet to the appointment of assistant coaches.

Windfall From The Fight?

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier and Muhammad Ali are guaranteed $2.5 million apiece for tonight's heavyweight championship fight. The promoters hope for a similar amount if the financial fallout is making others happy as well.

Cab drivers, bartenders, restaurant owners and hotel managers were generally enthusiastic about prospects for a minor windfall on the eve of the scheduled 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

"We don't even have a closet vacant," said an assistant manager at the Hotel Manhattan. "There are many in the hotel who came all the way from Italy for the fight."

"Three tours from England have brought us more than 600 extras," said management at the Penn Garden Hotel. "Our bars are already jammed."

"The nice thing about fight fans is that they're big spenders, probably big spenders than any other sports crowd," said assistant manager John Hock at the Statter Hilton.

Lions Sink To M. C. C.

By LARRY NEELY
Herald Sports Writer

At the expense of the Oviedo Lions the Melbourne Central Catholic nine struck for their fifth consecutive win of the season Friday afternoon in Melbourne. The Lion diamond squad held a one run advantage after a fourth inning score to break open a scoreless game. The Oviedo team managed to hold their ground until the bottom of the sixth inning when the Melbourne team came out with two hits including a bases loaded double which got his three RBI's.

Sophomore hurler, Louie Tulp had shut out the Melbourne team until the sixth and Stephen Colbert was brought in for relief. Oviedo baseball coach Jim Courier was more than satisfied with Tulp's performance as he has been on the mound for only a little more than two weeks since the completion of the reg season.

Oviedo will be back in action tomorrow at John Courier

Latest Indignity Tied To Queen E

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A crude, wooden out-house tucked to the hood of the tier Queen Elizabeth has been logged as the latest indignity to be heaped on the British monarch.

The Queen puffed slightly from Port Everglades, Fla., Feb. 10 and now sits stranded at the West Indies island of Aruba undergoing weeks of repairs to her boiler system.

Mrs. Peter DeLise, wife of a British crewmember and one of four women aboard, has written a letter to Fort Lauderdale friends about a swarm of problems on the trip.

Fire, theft and a chronic shortage of drinking water were noted in Mrs. DeLise's letter. Most shocking to Mrs. DeLise was the construction of a toilet shed over the side—and right under her porthole.

"You have never seen anything like it," Mrs. DeLise wrote Valentine's Day. "The World's Greatest Luxury Liner with bottoms over the side."

With 290 Chinese crewmen, 20 Brits and the three other wives, the Queen, rechristened the SS Seawise Universe, had expected to make the West Indies for a fuel and water stop in five days.

But a critical water shortage and engine trouble brought her to port under two after two weeks. Here are excerpts from the letter to Fort Lauderdale friends about a swarm of problems on the trip.

Nixon Sees Days Of Tension And Difficulty Ahead But Optimistic

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon says there are days of tension and difficulty ahead but he is optimistic that the Middle East cease-fire has expired, but he is optimistic the United States and the Soviet Union can exert enough influence to keep the situation restrained.

The situation in my view is somewhat different than in 1967 due to the fact that there is closer communication between the (big) powers and both sides have been through a war," the President said in an interview with UPI.

Buie Boycotts School Board Meet

Lack Of Cooperation By Angel Blamed For 'Skipping' Session

A. P. BUIE JR.
by BILL SCOTT

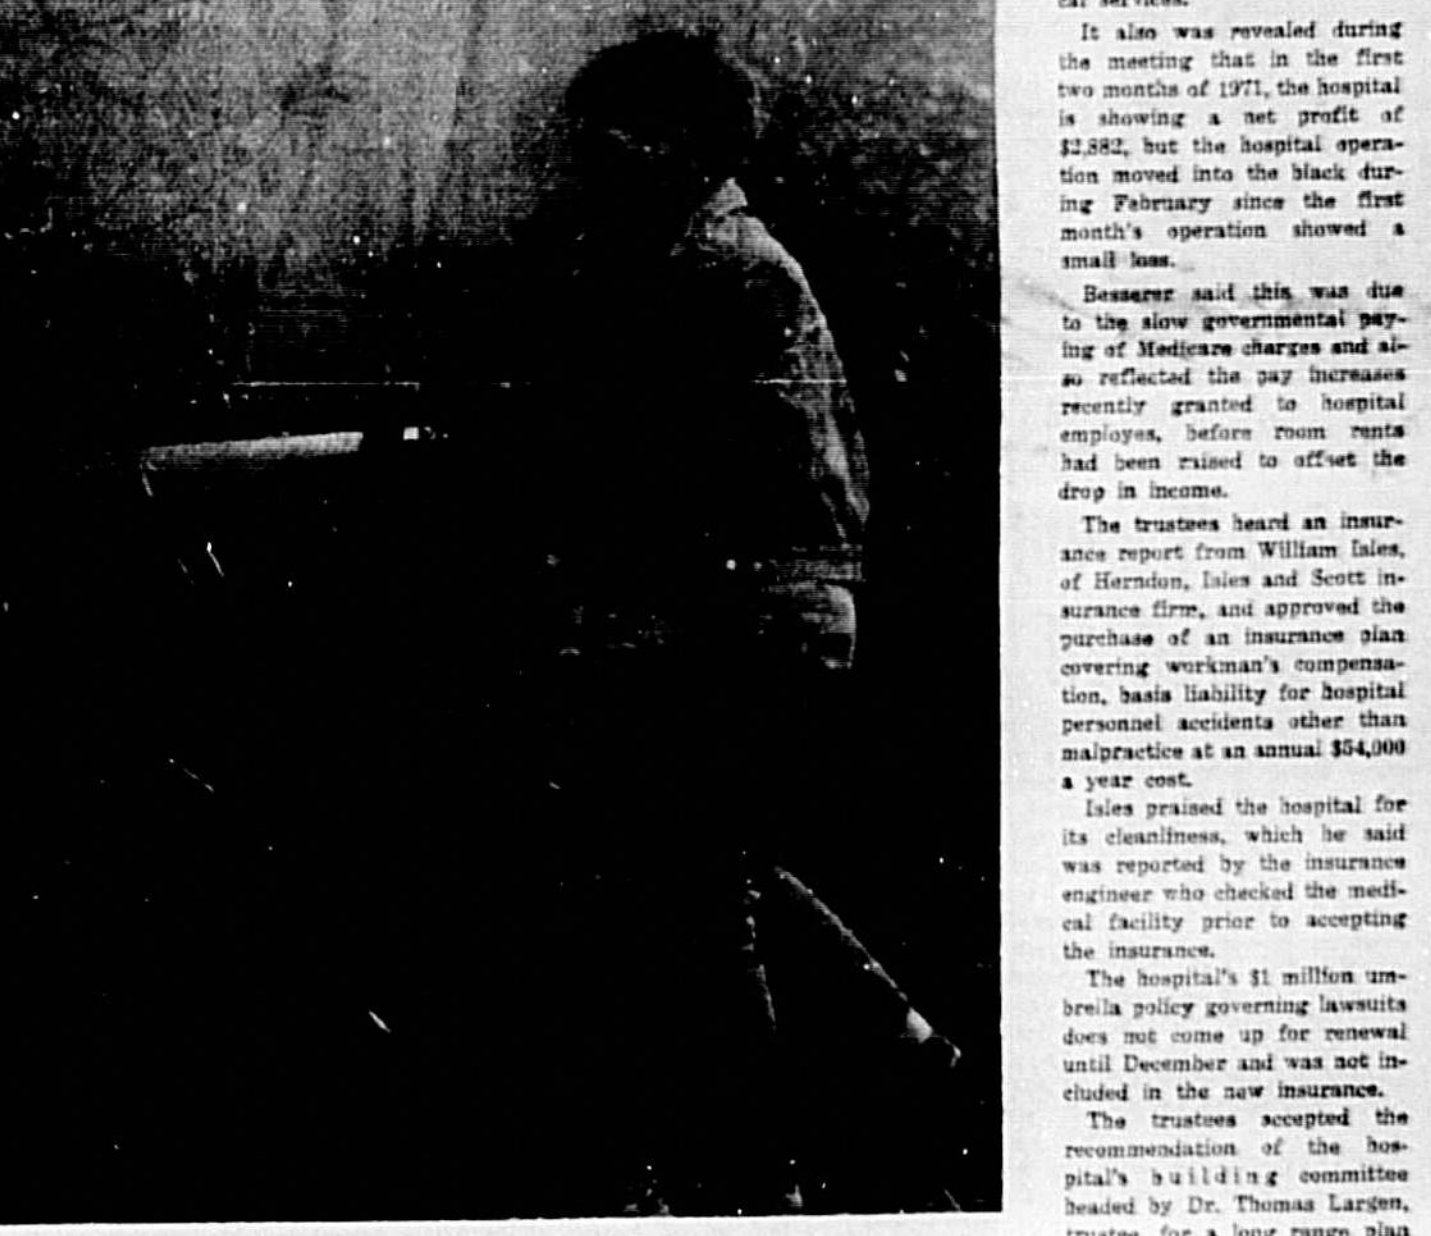

A letter from A. P. Buie Jr., one of the five board members, was delivered to other board members shortly before a scheduled session with school administrative personnel and Supt. John Angel outlining the board member's position regarding information that he (Buie) had requested from the superintendent but not made available.

The discussion evolved around double sessions which have been projected for the 1971-72 school year at Lyman High School, in the district that Buie resides.
