Investigators get crime scene van

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's technical services investigators have a new $20,000 crime scene van equipped to provide around the clock access to crime scenes.

The unit is equipped with dual batteries, a generator lighting system and continuous air conditioning which allows investigators to work through the night to recover clues. It also houses all portable equipment, such as cameras and a laser used by the division.

Computers blamed for rotten egg odor

DETROIT (UPI) — Attention owners of certain GM vans: Don't blame that rotten egg smell on your companion. It's the fault of the computer.

General Motors Corp. has discovered that under certain conditions, 1987 Chevrolet Astro and GMC Safari vans with a 4-cylinder engine and overdrive transmissions spew an exhaust with the unmistakable smell of rotten eggs.

GM has issued a service bulletin to dealers with instructions on how to fix the problem. Among the remedies is replacement of the on-board computer that monitors the "fuel mix" in the engine.

The computer in question is used only in vans with overdrive transmission, a GM service technician who asked not to be named told The Detroit News. An improper fuel mix results in the buildup of a sulfur and hydrogen mixture, causing the odor, the technician said.

American TV show goes down under

NEW YORK (UPI) — Getting around the strike by the Writers Guild of America is no Mission Impossible for one television network.

A new Australian-made retread of the once popular show will be ready for presentation on ABC's fall schedule, it was announced Wednesday.

Scripts for the 13 episodes of "Mission: Impossible" have been ordered from Paramount Network Television and will be drawn from the 171 screenplays written for the series from 1965-1973. They will be shot in Australia with a new cast and locations.

Brandon Stoddard, president of ABC Entertainment, said casting currently is under way. Production will begin in September and the new episodes will be available for the prime time fall schedule.

Lightning causes blast

By WAYNE MIZE

SANFORD — The explosion of an amused fuel storage tank after it was struck by lightning rocked the area around the Sanford Municipal Airport early Wednesday evening.

No one was injured by the blast, which was felt in nearby neighborhoods and knocked down a chain-link fence more than 40 yards away.

The empty, buried 55,000-gallon tank was located just off Catapult Road near the airport entrance at Airport Boulevard. The explosion created a giant fire ball, according to fire department personnel on the scene.

Longwood gets new director

County loses 2nd official

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — For the second time in less than a month the city of Longwood has lured a Seminole County official to a position in city government.

James Rick Holt, the county's director of facilities management, has been selected by City Administrator Gene DeMarie to fill the finance director's slot.

Holt, 42, of 352 Cable Drive in Longwood, is scheduled to report to work for the city July 25 at an annual salary of $41,000, which could increase if his six-month evaluation proves satisfactory. The position is funded at $35,000 with a proposed increase of $1,750.

In his present position, which he has held since Jan. 7, 1986, Holt is paid $41,000 a year. He is in charge of construction and maintenance at all facilities owned or leased by the county. Holt began work with the county on Oct. 31, 1977 as an administrative assistant in the public works department, serving as chief financial officer.

He called his decision to take the Longwood position "basically a career move," saying he wants to get back to working a finance job.

Holt has a bachelor's degree in business administration, majoring in finance and accounting, and a master's degree in management, both from Rollins College, Winter Park.

Originally from Alexandria, Va., Holt is a former U.S. Air Force staff sergeant. He met and married his wife, Julia, while in Basic in Orlando in 1965. They have two children, Sean, 10, and Jennifer, 7.

Prior to working for the county, Holt was employed by Red Lobster and Walt Disney World during their construction. DeMarie said he chose Holt over the 111 other applicants because of his background in government and experience with computers, and his degrees.

Mary Triplett became acting finance director in September 1987 after former finance director Barry Weeks resigned rather than be fired. Triplett, who has received high praise for her work over the past year, is essential in straightening out the unacceptable conditions of the county's financial services, a job supported by the prime-time finance director, but was passed up.

Jane Casselberry, staff writer, budget and accounting, noted that since the finance department recommended she govern the new position of accounting supervisor at a base salary of $25,000 a year on the condition she obtain her college degree within a year, the position is budgeted for the proposed 1988-89 fiscal year at $24,250, which is less than the current $23,800.

Triplett said she prefers not to have the broad background and experience to handle the job primarily, but has the basic education and experience to be of great benefit to the department.

Judge's proposal may affect his land

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler offered a set of compromise guidelines last week in an effort to end annexation battles between the county and Sanford — a compromise that may have a direct effect on a piece of land he and three family members want the city to annex.

In fact, the Leffler land may not be annexed at all if Sanford follows the guidelines.

On May 2, Leffler and three other owners, Elizabeth L. Bush and Lilla L. Walling Leffler's sisters, and Mary W. Leffler, his sister-in-law, sought annexation of a 119-acre parcel of land west of the city extending from the Sanford coastline (Rt. 102) to Lake Monroe.

Since January 1987, Leffler has presided over a Seminole County appeal of a proposed Sanford annexation of a 12-acre tract of land northwest of State Road 427 and North Way. Last July he ruled that Sanford's annexation of a 20-acre portion of the land was legal — a decision the county opposes and seeks a rehearing to reconsider.

Leffler has also heard another county city annexation battle over a 20-acre tract north of the other contested 12-acre tract. He has issued no decisions in that case.

Leffler is not an owner of either tract of contested land. But last week in an effort to end annexation wars between the city and the county, Leffler issued a list of general guidelines the city and county could follow to help simplify the complex and sometimes vague state annexation laws. Those guidelines might be followed in consideration of Leffler's annexation request.

Brooke S. Kennedy, executive director of the Florida Judicial Qualifications Commission, said the Florida Supreme Court has never considered a case where a judge has offered guidelines in a case that might affect a separate personal interest.

The state Code of Judicial Conduct states a judge could disqualify himself from a case where his impartiality might be questioned in instances where he is the spouse of a person of the third degree or

Brantley named commerce secretary

By United Press International

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Lt. Gov. Bobby Brantley will become Florida's new Secretary of Commerce and veteran lawmaker Peter Dunbar will be Gov. Bob Martinez's new chief of staff following a major reshuffling of the governor's office.

The changes in his executive staff were prompted by the resignations of Secretary of Commerce Jeb Bush and General Counsel Joe Spicola, Martinez said Wednesday.

Bush and Spicola will leave in September. Spicola is returning to his private legal practice and Bush to join the presidential campaign of his father, Vice President George Bush.

"I don't see a dramatic change in how business is done. We're just changing some faces," Martinez said.

Brantley will take over as commerce secretary following Bush's Sept. 30 departure. He will serve double duty as both lieutenant governor and commerce secretary.

Brantley will be paid only one salary, the $85,656 he receives as lieutenant governor. Bush's $79,675 salary will stay in the state's general reserve fund.

Former Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixson played the same dual role in the later years of former Gov.

Bob Graham's administration.

Dunbar, who has represented parts of Pinellas and Pasco counties for 10 years, will join the governor's staff in early September. He said he has not yet decided when he will resign his legislative post, but that he will do so before he begins to draw his new $76,000-a-year salary.

Dunbar, R-Crystal Beach, said his district is heavily Republican and that he does not expect the Democrats to capitalize on his departure to gain a House seat.

In addition to his duties as Martinez' top lawyer, Dunbar

Man arrested for tampering with grave

JANE CASSELLBERRY — A 22-year-old man was arrested for grave tampering and warrants have been requested for the arrests of three juveniles in the same case.

The four are accused of removing a body from a grave in a cemetery at the end of Orange Lane in Casselberry Saturday. The exposed body, which had been hit in the face with a piece of metal, was found in the cemetery Sunday, Casselberry Police Lt. Durham said today.

Gatch said the man accused of damaging the corpse, Jason A. Lund of 401 Blue Bell St., Casselberry, was arrested at home about 10:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Police received an anonymous tip that solved the case, Gatch said.

The vandalism was apparently done for fun, he said. A couple of graves at that location were tampered with last year, but no arrests were made, Gatch said.

Lund was held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

POLICE BRIEFS

Thief steals pizza, cash

SANFORD — A hungry thief made off with cash and dinner for four after robbing a delivery man for Hungry Howies pizza at 9:30 p.m., Wednesday.

Joseph Pfommer, 20, was making deliveries for Hungry Howies at Ridgewood Arms Apartments, 2580 Ridgewood Ave., when he was threatened by a man, who demanded the food and money, according to the police report.

According to the police report, the robber, described as being 5 feet 10 inches tall and 155 pounds, made off with two pizzas, two quarts of soda, a sandwich, salad and $110 in cash, total value $126.

There was no weapon shown or implied by the robber, according to police.

Jail escapee, helper captured

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies report the capture of a man who escaped from an Orange County jail Jan. 31 and the arrest of another man on suspicion of aiding an escape.

The escapee, William Wallace Presley, 30, of Forest Ave., Sanford, is being held without bond, pending transfer to Orange County. The man accused of aiding him, Terrence Cunningham, 26, of the same address, remains in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Both were arrested at 3 p.m. Wednesday on Lake Markham Road at Canal Street.

Deputies said Cunningham worked with Presley, lived with him and has associated with him since Presley's escape from jail.

Arrested on prostitution count

SANFORD — A transvestite, who has been arrested numerous times by Sanford police on charges of prostitution has been arrested again.

Barry Latray Bradwell, 22, of 415 Bay Ave., Sanford, whom police say dresses like a woman, was arrested at 10:56 p.m. Wednesday after he allegedly offered to have sex with an undercover policeman for $20.

Bradwell allegedly ran from police after the deal was reportedly made on Fourth Street. He was captured hiding in a house at 509 E. Sixth St., and was also booked on a charge of trespassing in an occupied dwelling in addition to the prostitution count. He remains jailed in lieu of $500 bond.

Witness captures man with gun

CASSELBERRY — A man captured by a witness after he allegedly ran out of a restaurant with a stolen purse, was booked on suspicion of carrying a concealed firearm.

Casselberry police report they arrived at Mellon's, 512 E. State Road 436, Casselberry, at about 11:45 p.m. to find the suspected purse snatcher, John Delmedico, 27, of 2718 Wright Ave., Winter Park, being held on the ground by the witness.

Police ordered the suspect to get up and report finding a loaded, .22-caliber pistol where he had been lying.

There was no report of Delmedico being charged in connection with the alleged purse theft. He was arrested on the weapons charge and remains jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Recovered goods result in arrests

WINTER SPRINGS — Two men accused of burglarizing a Winter Park house Tuesday and storing stolen goods at their house, were arrested after the slates of one of the suspects told the victim the stolen goods were at her house.

The victim, Carolyn Ann Thompson, 30, of 218 Sorrento Circle, recovered her two bicycles, television and stereo sets, with a total value of $4,300 from a garage at 511 E. Edgemon Drive, Winter Springs, at about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

She notified Seminole County sheriff's deputies of the find and that brought the arrests at about 3 a.m. today.

Jeffrey Wayne Lewis, 23, and Robert Harley Waldron, 20, both of 51 N. Edgerton Drive, have been booked on suspicion of burglary and grand theft. They were released on $1,000 bond each.

Accused of trying to sell stolen car

OVIDO — While the owner of a $13,000 car stolen in Orange County Wednesday was filing a report with officials there, Ovido police report capturing a man who allegedly was at that same time trying to sell the 1988 Pontiac in Ovido.

Gerald Mason Gatton, 37, of 529 Friar Road, Winter Park, was booked on suspicion of grand theft auto and is free on $1,000 bond to appear in court Aug. 8.

He was arrested at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday at B. J.'s Market, 419 Avenue B, Ovido. Ovido police reported confirming that the car was stolen and waited for the owner to complete his theft report for Orange County sheriff's deputies before they arrested Gatton in the theft and returned the car to the owner, a police report said.

Arrested after car chase

SANFORD — A man who allegedly tried to flee from a Seminole County sheriff's deputy after the man's car reportedly blocked the road on 18th Street was captured after a chase to a shopping center parking lot.

The deputy reported that when he first confronted Paul Wesley Smith, 26, of 127 Hays Drive, Smith was in his car, which was parked in the street with the engine running. He was allegedly holding onto the arm of another man who was standing at the car. The deputy ordered Smith to release the other man. After the man was freed, Smith allegedly sped away, to be captured when he stopped on 25th Street at Airport Boulevard.

The arrest was made at 8:33 p.m. Wednesday. Smith was cited with fleeing to elude police, reckless driving and possession of marijuana. He remains jailed in lieu of $500 bond.

Burglaries and thefts reported

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have burglarized the house and shed of Robert A. Bumgardner, of 5415 Orange Blvd., Paola, Wednesday. Stolen were two tool boxes and tools with a combined value of $310, a $50 tape player and a $15 knife.

Also reported to law enforcement agencies: ●Jill A. Marselle, of 1399 Windy Ridge Court, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies her $150 purse containing $120 in cash and a $65 check was stolen from her car at Lake Howell Plaza, State Road 436, Camelberry, Wednesday.

●A $100 entertainment system, six cassette tapes valued at $20 and a $70 television set were stolen between July 1 and July 4 from the house of Michael Stirling, of 675 Stanford Drive, Altamonte Springs, according to a report filed with sheriff's deputies Wednesday.

●Gay Lee Taylor, of 581 Carlisle Ave., Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies his 1972 Volkswagen dune buggy value at $1,200 was stolen Wednesday.

●A 1977 Thunderbird owned by Harold Bishop, of 200 Fern Park Blvd., Fern Park, was stolen Wednesday from Cumberland Farms, Oxford Road, Fern Park. A sheriff's report valued the car at $1,000.

●Four bronze vases with a combined value of $1,200 were reported stolen from graves at Highland Memory Garden, State Road 436, Apopka, Wednesday. A sheriff's report said the thefts occurred between May 28 and July 8.

●Arthur Johnston of Tampa, reported to sheriff's deputies his 1965 Chevrolet pickup truck valued at $3,500 was stolen Tuesday or Wednesday from the Day's Inn, State Road 46, west of Sanford.

●Sheriff's deputies report that a burglar stole $400 and a $50 cash drawer at about 8 a.m. Wednesday from the House of Babes, 6400 U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park.

●Steven Williams, of 45 George St., Altamonte Springs, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect, whom he alleges stole a $500 gold necklace from his neck on Teakwood Avenue at Jackson Street, Altamonte Springs, at about 6:40 p.m. Wednesday. Williams said he believed the robber had a gun in his pocket. The robber fled after ripping the chain from William's neck.

Boat motor thefts increase

By WAYNE HIZE
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A rash of thefts of outboard boat motors in the city during the last 10 days has police suspecting a possible theft ring.

According to police reports, seven outboard boat motors have been stolen during the last 10 days, including two Wednesday.

"There really is no consistency to the pattern," said Police Chief Steven Harriett, noting that the thefts have occurred throughout the city. "It is just a rash outboard motor thefts."

Wednesday, the theft of an outboard motor was reported by John Drott of Longwood. The motor, valued at $400, was taken off his 42-foot power boat at the Lake Monroe harbor marina.

Also on Wednesday, Fedor Rivero, 104 E. Coleman Circle, reported the theft of a motor valued at $1,000 off his boat which was parked in his driveway.

Harriett said the accessibility of the motors makes them easy prey for thieves. "Most of the time they are left outside and are very accessible. Of course, the (black) market for them is the biggest factor. Most of them are stolen on order."

Harriett suggests extra precautions be taken by owners to guard against theft.

"It might be a good idea to take extra security measures with boats and motors," said Harriett. "Of course, any lock can be broken," he adds.

Animal abuse investigated

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies have taken over the investigation of an alleged case of animal abuse at the request of the state attorney's office.

Sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said the Humane Society of Seminole County volunteered to investigate the near-drowning of a dog by three boys June 24. However, Hughey said prosecutors asked him to take over the investigation because the initial probe did not provide information needed to develop a criminal case.

The 4-month-old, female part German shepherd dog was rescued from a retention pond at the Lincoln Heights sewage treatment plant in that Sanford subdivision. Justin Thomas pulled the dog, which was bound with electrical cord, from the water. He told officials he saw three boys torture the dog and throw it into the water. Three suspects have been identified in the case, according to Humane Society reports.

Immediately after the rescue, Thomas took the dog to the Humane Society south of Sanford. From there it was transported to the Lake Mary Veterinary Clinic. Dr. Joseph Vaughan III reported the dog was in critical condition and was treated for shock and fluid in its lungs.

It took extensive hospital care to save the dog, Vaughan reported.

Raisin folk expert may inspect groves

By FRED H. COOPER
Herald staff writer

Happy Holiday, citizens! For those of you who got an early start on celebrating Bastille Day one point needs to be clarified. The Jacques did not storm the Sanford jail late yesterday afternoon. That explosion was a lightning bolt to a giant tank out at the airport. Just relax and remember, correct partying procedures for this day call for shrimp, crawfish and appropriate liquors, not physical activity unless it's dancing.

You've probably noticed the clouds overhead and know that they're there because it's a cloudy day. This has its benefits since the temperature will probably not get to 90 degrees. It dropped to the lower 70s last night and will likely do the same tonight. Rain? About a 50-50 chance this afternoon.

We've gotten a serious inquiry regarding raisin people. This high-ranking promoter with one of the world's largest marketing firms called to suggest a power-lunch at Hardees to check out the California Raisin People. He really didn't know any better, but got a crash course in raisin tree culture. When advised that these people in the Sunshine State were homegrown on trees and not produced by the old-fashioned vine methods of the folks out in California, he was skeptical at first but finally recognized truth. He seemed interested in knowing how Seminolians grow raisins with boom-boxes, surfboards and skateboards already affixed. He was told to check the groves and go buy a hamburger, and raisin biscuit, and maybe he'd understand. Watch out for him - probably wearing a Hawaiian shirt, light blue shorts, white socks and winged oxfords. He's from Atlanta.

If you were hot yesterday, think about the folks out at Laughlin, Nevada where it was 112 degrees. You can also consider the frozen countenances of citizens of Gunnison where the thermometer hit 39 degrees.

Thunderstorms doused the bone-dry Tennessee Valley with its heaviest rainfall of the year and boosted the water level of the dwindling Mississippi River, but a bleak 30-day forecast shows no lasting break in this summer's drought across the nation's Farm Belt.

Heavy rains swept from the Great Lakes to the mid-Atlantic Coast states as scattered storms spread across the Tennessee Valley and lower Ohio Valley into the southern Appalachians Wednesday. Most of the rest of the nation was dry.

The National Weather Service released its 30-day forecast Wednesday, predicting below-average rainfall and above-normal temperatures for most drought-stricken areas of the Plains, Midwest, and Southeast.

Kentucky farmers, their fields parched and livestock feed supplies depleted by the drought, got some relief from the sky - hay. The first shipment of 300 tons from Oregon landed aboard a cargo plane at Standford Field in Louisville, moving the state's first lady to tears.

"It's a very emotional moment for me," said Martha Wilkinson, wife of Gov. Wallace Wilkinson. "You may have seen the tear coming down my face. You have to be a farmer to fully understand the desperation of this situation, and I am a farmer. I grew up on a farm and I still am a farmer."

(Reports by United Press International and data provided by the National Weather Service were used in compiling this report.)

Local Report

The high temperature in Sanford Monday was 92 degrees and the overnight low was 73 as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. Recorded rainfall totalled 1.14 inch.

Probe targets beach renourishment

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorney General Bob Butterworth says more investigations are ongoing following the revelation of "unconscionable" bid-rigging on beach restoration projects.

Butterworth said Wednesday he had filed civil antitrust charges against two out-of-state companies and one corporate officer for rigging bids on a 1984 beach renourishment project in Delray Beach.

He said additional antitrust investigations are underway into similar projects involving at least five other Florida beaches or harbors. He declined to identify the projects while the investigations are in progress.

The suit, filed in Palm Beach County circuit court, names Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company of Oak Brook, Ill., and American Dredging Company of Camden, N.J. Also named was August D. Pistilli, president of American Dredging.

The state is seeking $1 million from each company and $100,000 from Pistilli.

State leaders feast on freebies

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Special interest groups lavished Florida lawmakers with gifts last year including trips, tickets to the opera and amusement parks, gator meat and decorative toilet seats.

The gifts from lobbyists, banks, insurance companies, chambers of commerce and individuals were legally permissible. State law permits elected officials to accept freebies as long as they report any gifts worth more than $100.

The Legislature weakened the law this year by raising the reporting limit from $25.

"I think the gift-giving has gotten out of hand, but I don't think it makes a hill of beans difference to anybody," said Sen. Bob Johnson, R-Sarasota, who reported gifts including a $200 duck hunting jaunt given by Occidental Chemical Corp.

But Common Cause and Public Citizen, two government watchdog organizations, said the gift-giving is unethical and scandalous.

Independent drug raid probe demanded

MIAMI (UPI) — A civil rights group says it will give police one week to respond to a request for an independent probe of their drug raid on the home of a black preacher who maintains his innocence.

The raid by police turned up no drugs, but police insist they targeted the right house. Neighbors say the narcotics squad and SWAT team raided the wrong home, that it was the place next door they suspected of being a drug den.

Expressway boss charged

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — The former executive director of the Sawgrass Expressway faces charges of racketeering, accepting unlawful compensation and misdemeanor perjury, investigators said.

Officers in the Broward County Sheriff's Office Organized Crime Division said Wednesday John Gerren committed the crimes in connection with his direction of construction on the $200 million highway west of Fort Lauderdale.

Investigators said other charges are pending against Frank and Louis Stramaglia, the owners of Vito's Trucking and Excavating, one of the highway's major contractors.

Two Vito's employees, Carlos Mora and John Musa, were arrested on charges of unlawful dredging or filling.

Contra recruiting indictment panned

United Press International

MIAMI — Contra leader Adolfo Calero's brother and six conservative activists were encouraged by the Reagan administration to recruit mercenaries to fight Nicaragua's government and never should have been indicted for violating the Neutrality Act, a defense lawyer charged.

The seven-count indictment, returned June 28 by a federal grand jury in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and unsealed Wednesday, alleged that the seven men recruited the soldiers of fortune in southern Florida and other parts of the country "to participate in military expeditions and enterprises against the Nicaraguan government."

Mario Calero, the Contra leader's brother; conservative activist Thomas Posey of Alabama; Jack "Colonel Flaco" Terrell; Joe

"Tirador" Adams; Maco Stewart, a Texas oil baron; Jose Coutin, and Alex Martinez each were charged with violating and conspiring to violate the Neutrality Act, a nearly 200-year-old law that bans Americans from trying to overthrow a foreign government.

"Incredibly, Tom Posey is facing the possibility of going to jail for doing what President Reagan asked him to do — helping freedom fighters against communism," said Steve Allen, head of the Freedom Fighters Defense Fund in Birmingham, Ala., which is raising money for Posey's defense.

Posey's lawyer, Doug Jones, who said his client and his group, Civilian Material Assistance, never made any secret of their actions and were encouraged by the Reagan administration to contribute to the fight against the Sandinistas.

"They could have investigated this case by reading the newspapers," Jones said. "They were encouraged to do what they were doing. Nobody ever told them to stop."

A Justice Department spokesman, John Russell, denied the claim, saying, "We have never authorized American citizens to engage in warlike activity."

Posey and Mario Calero, 53, of New Orleans, appeared at a news conference after they and other defendants surrendered to authorities and were released on their own recognizance Wednesday.

Calero said he merely helped volunteers get to Central America to "train in the basics" without them getting involved in the fighting, and that he did not consider this a crime.

"We have never asked for anyone to fight our battles," he said. "We will furnish the blood, we will furnish the sacrifice, just give us the means to fight communism."

Merkle blasts Mack's endorsement by North

By MICHAEL MOLINE
United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Rep. Connie Mack's recruitment of Oliver North for campaign appearances shows his acceptance of the "pernicious" theory the ends justify the means, says Mack opponent Robert Merkle.

Merkle, who officially qualified Wednesday as Mack's opponent in the GOP Senate primary, said Mack compromised his conservative credentials by describing North as "an American hero who has reaffirmed America's belief in freedom."

"I find it curious that Mr. Mack, in a state that has the worst crime problem in the nation, would ask the parents of this state to put him in the Senate while espousing the position that the ends justify the means," Merkle said.

"No conservative, it seems to me, should be comfortable with the proposition that the ends justify the means — that somebody can rise above the law."

"A conservative who advances that view forfeits any claim to legitimacy in terms of credibly advocating conservative policies across the board."

Merkle served six years as U.S. attorney for the middle district of Florida, which stretches from Jacksonville to Tampa. He recently won the conviction of Colombian drug kingpin Carlos Lehder during a lengthy trial in Jacksonville.

He acknowledged North is popular in some quarters but compared his justification for the secrecy surrounding the Iran-Contra affair — that Congress could not be trusted with the information — to Lehder's remarks that, "When it comes to the good of my country, I leave my misgivings at the door."

"It's a pernicious notion," Merkle said.

Merkle said he presumes North innocent until convicted of the charges leveled against him by a federal special prosecutor investigating the sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of the profits to the Nicaraguan rebels.

North, a decorated war hero, has admitted destroying documents and lying to Congress about the affair.

North will receive $37,000 for appearances on Mack's behalf in Orlando and Fort Lauderdale Aug. 11.

Mack represents Cape Coral in Congress and had the endorsements of most state Republican leaders well before Merkle began considering the race. Most party leaders did their best to discourage Merkle's candidacy, saying it could weaken the primary winner in the general election.

He decided to press on anyway and his underfunded campaign was expected to win the support of the anti-abortion movement. Merkle says Mack has a weak record on abortion.

Midges create messy problem

Harmony in Florida's ecology is orchestrated by a very delicate ecosystem. Discords have been evident in recent years caused by human ad libs. It has been a case of cause and effect but too often the cause was motivated by good intentions that lacked any concept of the effects. It is possible that Sanford is now falling victim to one such result.

The household monster of just a few decades ago was the palmetto bug which caused both fear and revulsion when first seen. Yet these frightful looking little beasts did a great job of gobbling mosquitoes. Then, with the advent of state-of-the-art mosquito control devices, the pesky insect became but a memory in most homes. Ditching, diking and canals, designed for flood and drainage control, gradually eliminated mosquito breeding sites.

The mosquito and insect larvae are vital parts of the food chain, a real delicacy to many fish and animals. Eliminate one and the other suffers as is witnessed by the declining numbers of tarpon, bonefish and eels in Florida saltwaters, and population drops in catfish, bream and bass in freshwater. Each hole in the ecosystem strangles strange sideshows.

The midge is such an anachronism. It just shouldn't be around. They should have all been served as dessert to deserving fishes long ago. Even the most committed environmentalists are repelled by the midge onslaught along Lake Monroe. Talk of food-chains, balances in nature and all pedantic platitudes about survival of species has a hollow ring when all you see is a scourge of tiny, obnoxious insects called midges.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is calling for help. The Sanford City Commission is trying to help. Even the world's foremost expert in midges is giving us his own cure. Sanford is a city beset on its waterfront. It is hoped that its crisis will be heard. Right now the purple martins are Sanford's front line of defense. Let's hope the reserves arrive before these favored birds keel over from obesity.

A lesson for all

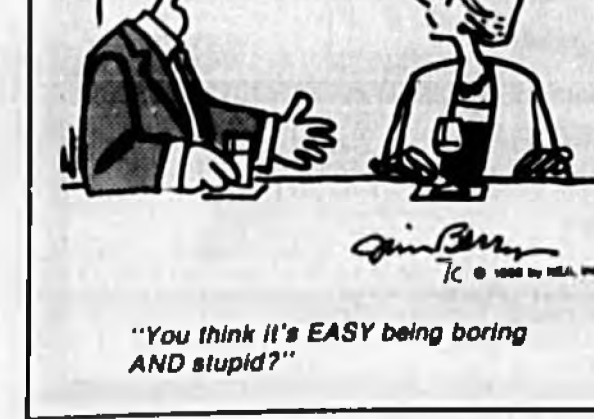

Two incidents within the past few days serve as added reminders of the tragic results which can follow failures in using good sense. Both involved young people but each should serve as a lesson to all.

A college student visiting in Central Florida was arrested and charged with kidnapping a four-year-old girl. He maintained his innocence and yesterday a jury quickly agreed with him. However he had spent many nights in jail and missed his college graduation. After the verdict was returned he said he was drunk at the time and admitted to having a drinking problem. He described his misadventure as the dumbest thing he'd ever done.

One of the greatest quarterbacks ever to play in the NFL arrived in Tampa to visit his son only to discover his lifeless body on the floor in his home. Medical evidence now indicates that the young man died as a result of protracted cocaine use.

Two stories of two young men, one now dead and one now faced with repairing a tangled life. Both abused dangerous substances. Let us hope the lessons are not lost.

Is Jackson truthful? Time to figure it out

Consider this strange view of politics: Unless you have reason to think that a candidate is not telling the truth, assume that he is telling the truth.

Until notified otherwise (which will come in a moment), let us assume that Rev. Jesse Jackson is telling the truth on most matters.

Now, despite the fact that Gov. Michael Dukakis has far more than enough convention delegates to get nominated, Jackson has refused to conclude his campaign. This has caused what has been described as "growing exasperation" in the Dukakis camp. And here is our truth test. Here is what Jackson said on July 9, 1988:

"Ours is an endless campaign. Those who look for the campaign to end are lacking a sense of history.... I'm continuing to build a progressive coalition.... The threat is not that we are going to walk out. The threat is that we may stay and expand and build and grow and make a difference...."

Listen carefully, Jackson says he will campaign endlessly to build a progressive coalition that will expand, and sooner or later, capture

WILLIAM RUSHER

Paying Jackson's price

Michael Dukakis's selection of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as his running mate doesn't exactly make the pulse pound harder, but then neither does the selection of the alternative possibilities. The problem of choosing a vice presidential candidate, however, wasn't half so delicate as the selection of the vice president of Jesse Jackson threatens to be.

To the private exasperation of the Dukakis forces, Jackson has kept right on running even though he can no longer win, and will show up on July 18 in Atlanta with several hundred delegates, thousands of impassioned followers, and a de facto veto over everything that happens there except the nominations of Dukakis and Bentsen.

At the convention's end, on or about July 21, it is absolutely essential that Jesse Jackson appear on the convention platform with a wide grin on his face, raising the arms of the two candidates in a gesture of triumph. The problem for Michael Dukakis is how to bring this about.

We, say, I think, be confident that Jackson knows he wouldn't have the vice presidential nomination. But he is forgivingly proud of all that his candidacy this year has managed to achieve, and he will surely insist upon a very substantial reward in return for his enthusiastic support of the Democratic ticket. What will he demand?

To hear Jackson talk, what he wants most of all are for certain liberal and leftist planks to be included in the Democratic platform. But Jackson's primary intention is to trade his support for something more substantial than words in a platform, even if Dukakis forces were reckless enough to agree to them.

In all likelihood Dukakis would be willing to pledge, secretly but solemnly, that he will make sure that Jackson's Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. After all, a black Republican — Samuel R. Pierce, Jr. — has held that post in Ronald Reagan's Cabinet from the very beginning of his first administration.

But would Jackson — a candidate for the Democratic nomination — care for anything other than the promise of it has the disadvantage that it is utterly empty if Dukakis is defeated in November.

That is why I continue to believe, as I predicted in this column in mid-April, that Jackson will demand — and receive — the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee.

Americans voice concern over downed jet

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spier

WASHINGTON — The downing of an Iranian airliner over the turbulent Persian Gulf has triggered apprehension in Americans throughout the country who are wondering what will happen next. Here are the best answers we can provide.

A Lebanon, Pa., reader assumes that Iran will again use terrorists to strike back at the United States. Do we have positive evidence, she asks, that terrorists are controlled by Teheran? And if we really know that Iran is responsible for kidnappings, hijackings and bombings, "why don't we retaliate against Iran for these outrages?"

Most revolutionary regimes go through a chaotic stage before they settle down. In Iran, Ayatollah Khomeini has continued to deliberately stir up chaos. He presides over a bubbling, flaming volcano of his own creation.

the Democratic Party. This theme is echoed by officials of the Rainbow Coalition, a group dominated by radical activists. Rainbow national director Jack O'Dell has said, "...the Rainbow Coalition will be set up as an institutionalized political movement representing a clear alternative to the one-party system with two names: 'Democratic' and 'Republican'."

Further backing for the idea of Jackson-telling-the-truth from his recent actions: As part of his endless campaign he is busying an estimated 10-15,000 followers into Atlanta demonstrations. He has set up major platform debates; he may have his own name put in nomination for vice president. As he says, "We go to Atlanta not to rest but to work."

Not in his just a last-minute convention operation. Earlier, Jackson operatives were able to get seven state Democratic conventions to insert pro-Palestinian language in the state platforms. And, bowing to pressure from Jackson delegates, the Democratic National Committee has changed its rules for future nominating cycles.

ROBERT WALTERS

Chopping down an economy

SCOTIA, Calif. (NEA) — Massive redwood logs — some weighing more than 50 tons and measuring almost 8 feet in diameter — rumbled metal chute and into a Pacific Lumber Co. mill here on California's North Coast.

In a motion that appears to be as effortless as slicing a knife through a stick of butter, a huge hand saw swiftly and silently cut through the thick logs so that none is longer than 32 feet when it enters the mill to be processed into lumber.

The mill and others owned by PL are working at an accelerated pace these days because the company's new owner has more than doubled the rate at which it harvests redwoods. From 140 million board feet in 1985 and previous years to 350 million in 1987 and 1988.

Indeed, PL today is a very different company than it was prior to 1985, when it was purchased by the Maxxam Group Inc., whose board chairman is Charles E. Hurwitz, a reclusive, Houston-based financier. Founded in 1969, PL operated for more than 20 years as a profitable but pedestrian, company, usually solicitous toward its two most valuable assets — its employees and its forest.

PL's personnel policy precluded layoffs. Every child of every worker who went to college received an $8,000 scholarship annually from the firm's timber stands were treated almost as kindly. More than three-fourths of the trees on its 194,000 acres of forest land were redwoods, making PL the world's largest private owner of the valuable species.

On its own land, PL remained committed to selective harvesting and sustained yield policies, allowing new redwoods to grow back faster than old trees were cut. Hurwitz, however, has never made such a pledge. Instead, he has radically changed PL's operations — demanding that more trees be cut faster, opening more mills, hiring more people and authorizing more overtime to process the redwoods.

Although timber companies here must secure the approval of the California Department of Forestry before proceeding with their harvesting plans, that agency has been notorious for routinely granting "rubber stamp" authorization of proposals submitted to it.

Hurwitz is in the process of methodically destroying the one resource that traditionally has sustained the local economy.

Montazeri, has the religious status and radical credentials, including close ties to the Revolutionary Guards. But he lacks Khomeini's personal charisma and political savvy.

The individual who appears to be gaining the strongest hold on the levers of power is Speaker of the Parliament, Hashemi Rafsanjani, a wily pragmatist who can outpace the ayatollahs and outbraid the radicals if the political mood requires it.

Before the revolution, he was an obscure cleric. He is still outbraked by all the ayatollahs. But the astute Rafsanjani has moved up the leadership ladder, weaving, dodging, manipulating, ever keeping his head in and below the purple line.

Reagan sends Bush to debate U.N. bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President George Bush was sent to a familiar ground at the United Nations today to counter an Iranian resolution condemning the United States for shooting down Iran Air Flight 655 with a threatening F-14 fighter.

Bush, a former U.N. ambassador, arranged to deliver a 20-minute address to the international body, focusing on the need to end the 8-year old Iraq war and to soothe tensions in the volatile Persian Gulf.

Though he was to return to Washington promptly, leaving Ambassador Vernon Walters to handle the U.N. Security Council debate on Iran's urgent request, the vice president's appearance "reflects the importance of these issues that are at stake," White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater said Wednesday.

Fitzwater said Bush would urge the Security Council to "reflect the importance of these issues that are at stake," White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater said Wednesday.

Yet despite that disclaimer, Republicans have touted Bush's foreign policy experience as an advantage over the members of the U.S. diplomatic corps.

Police dispatcher honored for action

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Kim Hunter, a dispatcher for the Altamonte Springs Police Department, is the first civilian employee of the department to receive its Citation of Merit for exemplary service.

Hunter received the award, presented by Mayor Dudley Bates and Police Chief William Liquori, as a result of her performance on June 10 in keeping a potential suicide victim talking for 20 minutes until an officer trained in negotiations could take over.

The man was distraught about his wife's hospitalization and sounded like he had been drinking when he called the police department. Hunter said. He eventually was talked out of his depressed state and hospitalized.

Hunter, 32, has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and has been a dispatcher for the department four years.

The Certificate of Merit, awarded by Chief Liquori, had previously gone to police officers for action that goes beyond the call of duty.

The name Islamic Jihad, or Holy War, has been employed by a number of pro-Iranian Shiite Muslim fundamentalist extremists in Lebanon who have kidnapped Americans and other Westerners in recent years, officials say. There are nine Americans among 10 foreign hostages held in Lebanon.

Another group, the previously unknown Martyrs of the Popular Revolution in Cairo, Egypt, also claimed the attack in a statement delivered to a Western news agency in Moscow west Beirut.

The statement said the ship massacre was in reprisal for the "killing operations executed by the Jewish-Arabian gangs in Palestine, Lebanon and the (Persian) Gulf and the British support for Jewish crimes."

Americans win AAA game, 2-1

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)— Tacoma second baseman Ed Jurak scored from third in the top of the ninth inning on an error by Phoenix shortstop Tony Perezchica Wednesday night to give the American League team a 2-1 win over the National club in the first-ever Triple A all-star game.

Jurak, hitting .314 for Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League, led off the ninth with a triple to right field off Joe Boever of Richmond of the International League. Catcher Bob Geren of Columbus of the International League hit a sharp grounder which Perezchica was unable to handle as Jurak scored the winning run.

Jurak was named most valuable player in the game, played before a sellout crowd of 19,500 at Pilot Field. The game featured the top stars of the American Association, International League and Pacific Coast League paired off on teams based on their parent club's major-league affiliation.

Shriver survives, Fernandez ousted

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)— Pam Shriver, still sluggish and worried about her health, eliminated qualifier Kim Steinmetz 6-2, 6-3 Wednesday to advance to the quarterfinals of the $200,000 Virginia Slims of Newport.

In the day's only upset, No. 6 seed Gigi Fernandez of Puerto Rico was ousted by Ann Henrickson of Mill Valley, Calif., 6-7 (7-5), 6-4, 7-5.

Fernandez was serving at 4-1 in the third set, but she was broken after serving three double faults in a row. Henrickson went on to break her two more times to win the match.

Shriver, the top seed, is recovering from mononucleosis-type symptoms and is trying to work back into shape to defend her title.

"I'm not very pleased because I just don't know what's going on," Shriver said.

Cowboys sign top draft pick Norton

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI)— The Dallas Cowboys said they reached agreement on a contract Wednesday night with second-round draft pick Ken Norton Jr.

Norton, a 6-foot-2, 224-pound linebacker from UCLA, was scheduled to appear at a news conference at the team's training camp at 10 p.m. PDT.

Norton, the son of former heavyweight champion Ken Norton, was the team's only remaining holdout.

Terms of the contract were not released.

MAJOR LEAGUES

The 1988 baseball season, which commenced with the term "balk" on the tips of everybody's tongues, may conclude with fans salivating over first-place chases in four divisions.

The Oakland Athletics, at 54-34 — the best record in baseball, lead the American League West by 5 1-2 games, the biggest cushion of any division front-runner at the start of the second half of the season.

The Detroit Tigers are atop the AL East by three games while the New York Mets have a 3 1-2 game advantage in the National League East and the Los Angeles Dodgers cling to first by 2 1-2 lengths in the NL West.

The A's and Mets threatened to run away and hide, but have allowed their division foes at least to have hope entering the second half of the season.

Both have seen their advantages sliced in half: Oakland led by 11 games, New York owned a 7-game bulge only to drop 4 of 5 before the All-Star break.

Nonetheless, the A's and Mets were pre-season favorites; the other leaders are somewhat of a surprise.

The Tigers, who won their division last season, not only have had to deal with the "repeat jinx," but done so without star right fielder Kirk Gibson, who was granted free agency in the off-season.

Gibson signed with the Dodgers, who finished 1987 in fourth place, 17 games back. Los Angeles generally was not expected to turn itself around so quickly, though the impact of Gibson could not have been forecast.

AL East

Detroit continues to "do it with mirrors," as Manager Sparky Anderson continues to get the most of a no-name crew. Besides the loss of Gibson, the Tigers have seen ace Jack Morris (7-9, 5.24 ERA) limp to the break. Second-year right-hander Jeff Robinson and veteran utility player Luis Salazar have been the most prominent surprise contributors. ... As for the second-place Yankees, Dave Winfield states: "We're better than Detroit, and we'll prove it." New York is 9-8 since Lou Piniella replaced Billy Martin as manager. ... Cleveland's pitching has cooled off considerably. The talk in Boston has centered about the firing of Manager John McNamara. Milwaukee, Toronto, and of course Baltimore, have failed to make a run.

AL West

Oakland, with its "Murderer's Row" lineup, appeared on its way to an easy summer before slumping in June. Catalyst Carney Lansford saw his 400 average slide about 60 points. And now Dave Parker will miss at least six weeks with a thumb injury. ... The World Series champion Minnesota Twins and Kansas City Royals each have a new life. California has won 17 of 23, though still trails by 12 1-2. Chicago, Texas and Seattle find themselves in familiar territory.

NL East

New York seemed en route to a repeat of its 1986 cakewalk to the division title. Keith Hernandez has missed a month, and maybe another, with a hamstring injury, and Dwight Gooden is 3-5 after an 8-0 start. A pair of "on the rise" clubs, Pittsburgh and Chicago, will give the Mets trouble, said catcher Lance Parrish of last-place Philadelphia: "I anticipate a race, but I would think the Mets will win." ... Montreal has won seven straight. Defending titlist St. Louis has had 14 players on the disabled list.

NL West

Los Angeles has found a leader in Gibson, who made his mark in spring training. Gibson and pitcher Orel Hershiser have carried the Dodgers, who have endured an injury to Pedro Guerrero and a subpar Fernando Valenzuela. "I've seen all the teams, and the Dodgers and Giants will go down in the wire," said reliever Mark Davis of fifth-place San Diego. "I see Houston fading out of it." ... Talent-laden Cincinnati has shown signs of life, winning 7 of 10. Atlanta has just about locked up the cellar.

Dolphins sign top pick

MIAMI (UPI)— The Dolphins signed their No. 1 draft choice, linebacker-defensive end Eric Kumerow of Ohio State, to a four-year contract Wednesday, marking the earliest date in eight years that a Miami top pick has reported to camp.

Kumerow, 6-foot-7, 255 pounds, was the 16th player chosen in the draft. Terms of the deal were not released, but Kumerow's agent, Herb Rudoy, said the agreement is better than the four-year, $1.6 million deal signed by Miami's No. 1 choice a year ago. Last year, Miami took defensive end John Bona with the 16th pick in the draft, and he missed 41 days of camp in a holdout. Kumerow missed three days.

Late Wednesday, the Dolphins also announced they had reached an agreement with George Cooper, fullback, of Ohio State. Three draft picks remain unsigned: second-round choice Jarvis Williams, a safety from Florida; sixth-round pick Melvin Bratton, a fullback from Miami; and eighth-round selection Louis Cheek, a tackle from Texas A&M. Bratton is recovering from knee surgery and likely will not play this season.

"We're very, very satisfied with the numbers," Rudoy said. "To negotiate the deal took about two months, but the last few weeks it's been slow. I came in here today determined to get it done."

Wise anglers watch weather

Wise fishermen always stay abreast of current weather conditions before each fishing trip. It is absolutely critical for offshore anglers to get an accurate marine forecast before venturing out into the ocean.

Most people get their daily weather predictions from either AM or FM radio stations or from television broadcasts. These predictions provide general weather conditions and predictions, and sometimes include a marine forecast.

The predictions made by radio and television weathermen may come from private radar and staff meteorologists, or from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, known as NOAA.

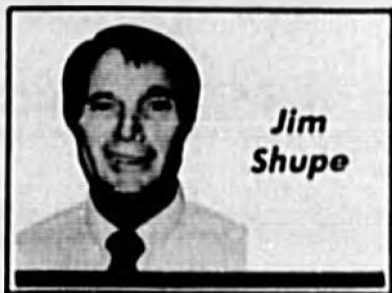

NOAA stations around the country gather raw weather data and process the information to produce periodic forecasts and reports. Boaters with a VHF radio can go directly to the NOAA source by listening in on one of the many weather broadcast stations the administration maintains for exactly that use. The channels marked weather one, two, and three on marine VHF radios tune into these NOAA channels.

Fishermen who do not have a VHF radio would be prudent to purchase a portable weather radio. Designed to operate with batteries or electricity, these radios can be purchased for under $40.00 and provide a continuous weather and marine forecast. Unlike the weather forecasts on the radio or the television, these forecasts are updated every several hours.

Anglers should realize that the marine forecast you hear on the evening television forecast may change before the next morning. This is why all serious anglers should have access to the NOAA weather and marine forecasts.

On the NOAA station I listen to, the marine forecast is updated at 4:30 a.m. I then plan my trip based upon the very latest weather information and marine forecast. It is not at all unusual for the marine forecast to change overnight.

Fishermen can avoid some unpleasant experiences by planning their fishing trips around current NOAA weather information. Don't let unexpected bad weather conditions catch you by surprise.

FISHING FORECAST
Leon Bluff Fish Camp reports that bass fishing is slow, but striper, bream and catfish are biting strong. Good strings of bream are coming from Lake Harney.

Steve Gard at the Osteen Bridge Fish Camp said that Rankin caught a huge 115-pound bass on a 10 pound test line and a small Rapala. The fish was 28 inches long, but had spawned out. It would have probably weighed a pound more earlier in the year. Steve has also weighed in some giant catfish and reports plenty of bream and specks coming from around the pillage of the new bridge.

Catch and release snook fishing is alive and well at Sebastian Inlet. Most of the lineside are running from 12-18 pounds and are being caught on jigs and lures. Some big flounder are still being caught by bouncing weighted finger mullet slowly across the rock-infested bottom.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports good fishing with the calm weather. Last weekend was beautiful and offshore trollers had a field day with dolphin and sailfish. Most of the striking fish seemed to be in 140' of water on out to over 200'. Bottom fishing has been slow, with grouper diggers complaining about strong currents. Dirty water has slowed the buoy line, while flounder and sheepshead are the primary targets inside the Port. Trout are running on the slow side in the Bassona and Indian Rivers. There are plenty of reds, but this is catch and release due to the closure.

Jetty jumpers and boaters are once again crowding the New Smyrna jetties with the calm weather. Some good flounder are

Colombian Parra wins 11th stage

MORZINE, France (UPI)— Fabio Parra of Colombia Wednesday won the 11th stage of the Tour de France, the first climb through the Alps, by 20 seconds over Thierry Claveyrolat of France.

Steve Bauer of Canada retained the overall leader's yellow jersey for the fourth straight day. His time of 40 hours, 5 minutes, 20 seconds gives him an 11-second advantage over Jerome Simon of France.

Parra and several other mountain experts — including compatriot Luis Herrera, Pedro Delgado of Spain and Raul Alcalá of Mexico — jumped toward the top of the standings, while sprinters such as Sean Kelly of Ireland and Jean-Francois Bernard of France plummeted.

TOUR DE FRANCE

Parra, 28, finished the 144-mile stage in 6 hours, 4 minutes and 54 seconds. The mountainous stage, which passed through western Switzerland, was the longest of the 21-day Tour.

Parra, who rides for the Kelme team, finished eighth in the Tour in 1985 and sixth last year, but generally has been overshadowed by Herrera.

"I am very happy to have recorded the first Colombian victory of the Tour," said Parra, who is the first Colombian in three years to win a stage. "And now I have put myself among the overall favorites for the Tour."

Nicklaus tees off early

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England, July 14 (UPI)— Jack Nicklaus was pleased but puzzled over his 7:48 a.m. start in Thursday's first round of the British Open.

Nicklaus, a three-time Open champion, said the early tee time was his first in his many appearances at the championship, and though he was "delighted" with it, he wasn't sure what the organizers had in mind.

"It's a sign of either maturity, old age, how you've been playing or luck," the 48-year-old said. "Usually they put the players they don't think have a chance out at about 7:48."

He added hastily that he was sure the organizers hadn't written off his playing partners, American Ray Floyd and Britain's Sam Torrance.

Nicklaus said he hoped the early start would give him a chance to get through his round

BRITISH OPEN

"If the weather holds."

That was by no means certain, since the forecast predicted possible morning thunder showers.

Even so, the treacherous wind could be less of a factor for early players on the Royal Lytham and St. Annes course.

Spain's Severiano Ballesteros, a favorite to repeat his 1979 Open victory at Lytham, was scheduled to start at 8:54 a.m., while defending champion Nick Faldo had a 1:40 p.m. start. Briton Sandy Lyle and American Paul Azinger, runner up to Faldo last year, were to tee off at 3:19 p.m.

After playing three practice rounds at Lytham, where no American professional has ever won an Open, Nicklaus offered some insight into the differences between Britain's traditional golf courses and those in the United States.

"A lot of the courses here have been designed by the nature of the land," said Nicklaus, who has turned his hand to course design in recent years. "Most of the courses in the U.S. are designed on a different basis."

But he denied that American courses were "tricked up" just for the sake of it.

"The courses in the States that we use for our U.S. Opens and some of our PGA Championships, because of the length of the ball — how far it goes — they've had to change some things to try to bring par under control."

"The weather usually brings par under control here," he said. "Basically these are the same courses over the years, but they have added a few different tees every time."

"On our older courses, the

Foster to compete in trials despite broken arm

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Greg Foster, a 1984 Olympic silver medalist in the 110-meter hurdles, intends to compete in the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials despite a broken left forearm and medical advice not to run.

"He's determined to compete," said Bob Kersee, coach for the two-time world champion. "He wants to go out and compete well. He doesn't want to go out and say, 'Look at me. I've got a broken arm. But I gave it my best shot.'"

Hundreds of U.S. athletes begin competition Friday for places on the American squad competing at the Seoul Olympics in September. Twenty men's and 15 women's events will be contested over nine days at Indiana University Track and Field Stadium, considered one of the world's fastest facilities.

Foster broke his arm when he tripped over a hurdle during a training run last week. Recovery has been quick but doctors have told Foster he should not compete.

"He's taking a great risk," Kersee said. "He has 12 screws in the two bones and four plates. Both his doctors, the one who did the surgery and the one for his rehabilitation, keep telling him he's taking a great risk. It would be tough enough for a regular runner. Not only has he got to keep his balance, but you're asking him to go over hurdles at full speed knowing he could fall on that arm."

One advantage Foster has in his comeback effort is scheduling. The 110-meter hurdles competition is July 22 and 23, the final two days of the meet. But Kersee, the husband and coach of heptathlete Jackie Joyner-Kersey, believes Foster will know whether he can compete before the meet begins.

"The next couple of days are going to determine whether he will compete," said Kersee. "He has had a removable cast on his arm up to his shoulder. He did remove the cast Monday. He has had some pretty good workouts. For the next couple of days, we're going into seclusion."

The field for the 110-meter hurdles is one of the toughest in the meet. Roger Kingdom, the 1984 Olympic champion, is rated No. 1 in the world and favored. Renaldo Nehemiah, the world record holder, is ranked second in the world, just ahead of Foster. Tonie Campbell, a winner at last year's World Indoor Track and Field Championships in Indianapolis, is ranked fifth.

"His chances are as good as anybody else's if he can get his timing back and if he can stand the pain," Kersee said. "His pain tolerance is amazing. If it was me, I'd still be in the hospital."

Kersee wanted Foster to take his rehabilitation slowly, but patience has not been among the speedster's virtues.

"I've been trying to take it easy, keep the hurdles low, and he says, 'Take the hurdles up,'" Kersee said. "I've been trying to keep him patient to the point where he can get a brace on his hand.

He's got it there now. We'll have to just wait and see."

Stan Huntman, the U.S. Olympic track coach, said he would be disappointed to lose Foster. But he stands by the U.S. system of selecting athletes on the basis of only their results at the trials.

"This has been debated throughout eternity and every year, the committee unanimously votes that competitors should be decided on the field in head-to-head competition. I prefer it that way. You can't say, 'It's Greg Foster. Let him in.' That opens the door for everybody," Huntman said.

BASEBALL TEAM SWEEPS

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (UPI) — The U.S. Olympic baseball team swept a doubleheader Wednesday from Taiwan, winning 5-1 and 4-0, with the shutout coming on a combined two-hitter by two pitchers.

In the opener at Millington Legion Field near Memphis, one-handed pitching phenom Jim Abbott threw five scoreless innings, allowing three hits and striking out four to earn the win and run his record to 2-0 with the U.S. team.

The U.S. team got solo homers in the third inning from catcher Doug Robbins of Stanford and second baseman Ty Griffin of Georgia Tech.

Left fielder Mickey Morandini of Indiana hit an RBI triple in the fourth. Center fielder Billy Maase of Wake Forest hit an RBI single and designated hitter Ed Sprague of Stanford scored the final run with a sacrifice fly.

In the second game, Ben McDonald of LSU and Charles Nagy of Connecticut combined on the two-hitter, with McDonald earning the win in five innings of one-hit pitching.

The U.S. got single runs in the first, second, fifth and sixth innings.

The U.S. team, now 10-3, plays Taiwan again Thursday in Chattanooga. The U.S. leads the series with Taiwan 4-0.

SAILING TRIALS

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — John Kostecki of San Francisco held his narrow lead in the Soling class at the Olympic Sailing Trials Wednesday with a third-place finish in a race won by Brodie Cobb of Dallas.

Kostecki's closest rival, Gerard Coleman, Newport, R.I., was not among the top 10 finishers, but was still in second place with one throwout made by the scoring computer.

Cobb, who started the day in eighth place, moved to sixth with a 19-second victory over David Curtis, Marblehead, Mass.

In the Star class, leader Mark Reynolds finished ninth while Peter Wright, River Forest, Ill., cruised to his first victory of the regatta by 44 seconds over Jon Londrigan, Springfield, Ill.

Reynolds' wide lead in the 10-race series remained intact. Wright was in third place with one throwout made and Vince Brun, San Diego was in third place.

Nicklaus show 'em how

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (UPI) — After 27 years as a professional golfer, Jack Nicklaus has learned not to tempt fate.

During his practice round at the Royal Lytham and St. Annes club on Wednesday, the 48-year-old treated spectators to some vintage Nicklaus.

"I put three balls in a bunker, and holed the first one. A fellow said, 'Do it again,' so I holed the second one and picked the third one up," Nicklaus said.

Why didn't he go for the third? "You've got to be kidding," he said.

Nicklaus has missed the cut by one stroke in four tournaments this year, but he says his practice rounds at Lytham have been encouraging.

"I've shot three good rounds. I don't know the scores but they were all par or under," Nicklaus said Wednesday. "I'd like to just line them up on my chart and start on Sunday."

With the first round of the Open still a day away, crowds at the Royal Lytham and St. Annes club already totalled 33,700, as opposed to 25,000 at the same stage in 1987. Michael Bonallack, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club said Wednesday.

The biggest ever crowd for the three days preceding the Open was in 1984 at St. Andrews.

BRITISH OPEN

when 41,000 people turned up to watch the practice rounds.

The 18th hole, notorious for its difficult drive, has also been given dropping zones in case players run into the relatively new hazards of the grandstands or the television tower.

"Players are allowed a free drop by the grandstands and the TV tower behind the green," said Alistair Low, chairman of the Championship Committee. "There are a couple of dropping zones on each side of the hole, and it is a question of selecting which is the closest point to where the ball lies."

"If it is against the clubhouse wall, you have to play it where it lies."

The British Open costs $4.75 million to stage this year because of additional security costs and the need to comply with Britain's Sports Grounds Act that specifies standards for grandstands and other public facilities at major events.

Michael Bonallack, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, said the only surplus income comes from television rights, and that is used to fund additional coaching and equipment for British and European golf.

game with San Francisco in London July 31, opened camp a week early this year. After last year's long holdout by Bosa, whose development was further slowed by the players' strike, Miami was intent on getting its top picks in on time this year.

"This year we have a week less to get things done than we did a year ago," said Charley Winner, Miami's director of pro personnel. "There was an urgency to get it (the contract negotiations) done. Eric wanted to be in camp, coach Shula wanted him to be in camp."

Miami is counting on Kumerow to bolster an anemic pass rush that registered only 16 sacks in non-strike games last year. He initially will be used standing up in the Dolphins' base defense, and in a stance on passing downs.

"All the distractions are out of the way," Kumerow said. "Now it's time to play some ball. The most important part right now is to get in here, start learning, start hitting."

At Ohio State, Kumerow had eight sacks in his senior year and four forced fumbles, along with 73 tackles. For Miami coach Don Shula, avoiding a prolonged holdout by a No. 1 pick was a relief. No top pick has reported earlier to the Dolphins since Don McNeal reported on time in 1980.

Kumerow practiced briefly Wednesday, and will be ready for Thursday's practice, which will be the first full-squad workout for the team. There are eight unsigned veterans, including wide receiver Mark Duper.

"We're just so much further ahead now than we were last year at this time," Shula said of the rookie signings. "The thing you envision is (second-year linebacker Rick) Graf on one side, a big, strong, good athlete, then this guy (Kumerow) on the other side."

Not accustomed to sitting out practices, Kumerow drove to St. Thomas University for about 20 minutes Monday and watched the Dolphins workout.

"I know with the sophisticated defenses that they run, to come in three or four weeks late, you're not going to have a handle on what's going on," Kumerow said. "You need three weeks to get (comfortable). Instead of missing three or four weeks, I wanted to get in here now."

BUCS SIGN PUNTER
TAMPA (UPI) — Punter Monte Robbins, a fourth-round draft pick, reached agreement with Tampa Bay Wednesday and the Buccaneers moved closer to signing second-round choice Lars Tate.

Wisconsin tackle Paul Gruber, the fourth player chosen in the draft, remained out of camp and no progress was reported between agent Ralph Cindrich and club negotiator Phil Krueger. Tate, the No. 2 career rusher in Georgia history behind Herschel Walker, flew to Tampa Wednesday as an agreement appeared imminent.

further you hit the ball the more you take off the course, and they've had to do a little tricking up on those."

Of Lytham in particular, Nicklaus said the back nine was as tough as any of the courses on which the British Open is staged.

All of the players have agreed, though some have admitted they find the surroundings, mainly the red brick houses of Lytham St. Annes, less than inspiring.

"Players like the course, it not the surroundings," said Michael Bonallack, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club.

"But you don't notice them if you're playing." He said the course itself offered a hard challenge, especially on the back nine.

"The fairways are fairly flat, and there are not the kind of kicks you get on some courses," Bonallack said. "They are well bunkered — the course is notorious for its bunkers. Unless you hit the ball well off the tee, you are not going to score well."

Juniors seek repeat of opener

The Sanford Junior League All-Stars will look for a repeat of their first-game performance tonight when they take on Edgewater in a losers' bracket game at 6 p.m. at Chase Park. The game was originally scheduled for Wednesday but was rained out.

Ormond Beach and Port Orange will play in the winners' bracket game tonight at 8 at Chase Park.

Sanford opened the District 4 Tournament with a 10-0 rout of New Smyrna Beach in which Maurice Fisher and Anthony "Redman" Roberts combined on a no-hitter. The Juniors then faced Ormond Beach on Tuesday and dropped a 6-5 decision.

So far in the tourney, Sanford has received outstanding pitching but the offense had yet to explode and the defense has been off and on. Should they get everything together and keep it that way, Sanford has a shot at winning the District and advancing to the State Tournament.

The 1988 Sanford Junior All-Stars is dominated by players off the league-champion Knights of Columbus team which lost only one game during the regular season.

The selections from Knights of Columbus include Mike Maples, Roberts, Corey Williams, Demmy Beamon, Bill Kern, Fisher and Matt Wilk.

Ball Motor Line, which finished second and was the only team to defeat KOC, placed six players on the team including Tony Holley, Tyrone Williams, Mike Dillon, Clarence Ferrell, Phillip King and Willie Williams.

Rounding out the team are Kiwanis players Corey Bennett and Al Holt.

AMERICANS OPEN

The Sanford Little American League All-Stars begin their quest for the District 4 title tonight at 8 at Leesburg against Ormond Beach. Sanford is coming off a strong performance in the Sub-District Tournament, which they won for the third year in a row.

Manager Otis Raines has several pitching candidates to choose from with Jamie King and Craig Merckerson the top two hurlers.

Geddes seeks repeat

DANVERS, Mass. (UPI) — For defending champion Jane Geddes, the Boston Five Classic is the right tournament at the right time.

The 1986 U.S. Women's Open champion and a five-time winner in 1987, Geddes is winless this year and in the past 15 weeks has finished better than 21st just once.

"There are a lot of reasons you play good golf. Having a positive outlook and being automatic (in shotmaking) are two main ones and when I'm playing here I have them," she said after Wednesday's pro-am.

"This tournament is perfect timing in the year. You want to have positive thoughts going into the Open (July 21-24), and this is the perfect place to come on the week before it."

The only two-time winner in the nine-year history of the tournament in the northern suburbs of Boston, Geddes will be seeking her third straight victory when the $300,000 event begins Thursday.

She skipped last week's Mayflower Classic at Indianapolis, returning home to Dallas. But Geddes became so edgy and so eager to feel her old confidence again, she came to New England on Saturday.

"For some reason, I'm a good player here. Everything about this course suits me," she said of the hilly, 6,008-yard Fennell layout. "It's a maneuvering golf course. You have to use all the clubs in your bag and I do that well."

She declined to talk about what specifically has gone wrong this year.

"I've had a tough time. I'm trying to make the best of it," she said. "I've kind of made a pact with myself not to focus on the past (weeks)."

None of the tour's top four money-winners is at this event. Laura Davies, the reigning Open champion, Jan Stephenson and Sally Little, winner of the du Maurier Classic two weeks ago, are among the top challengers.

Stephenson once complained that the course was too short. The long-hitting Davies hit a sand wedge or pitch wedge on most of her second shots on the par-4's.

Risen Star's career likely over

By POHLA SMITH
 UPI sports writer

Risen Star's breathtaking 14-length victory in the June 11 Belmont Stakes probably was the last of his short, but brilliant career.

"The odds are stacked against him that he won't race again," trainer and part-owner Louie Rousell III said July 12. "The odds are very bad against him because time is running out."

Under the syndication agreement by which Rousell and partner Ronnie Lamarque sold half of Risen Star to Walmac Farm for more than $7 million, the 3-year-old Secretariat colt is scheduled to retire to a breeding career at the end of the year.

That leaves little time for Risen Star to return to the state of health and fitness Rousell insists is a prerequisite for another start. The colt ran the second-fastest time in Belmont Stakes history with a stress injury to the inside suspensory ligament in his right front leg.

"I took a tremendous chance," Rousell said.

The risk was of further, more serious injury, the kind that might threaten both his racing career and his future as a stud.

No further damage was done during the race, but Rousell is unwilling to take the risk again.

HORSE RACING

"I just will not put the horse back in training until the ligament is healed, and I will not put him back in racing unless the horse is at least as good as he was in the Belmont," Rousell said.

Risen Star has done nothing but walk and uride go therapy since the ailment, but Rousell said diagnostic ultrasound tests taken July 3 showed "minimal healing."

"The vets weren't surprised," Rousell said. "They told me it could take 60 or 90 days. If it's August (before the injury is totally healed), that puts me into October before I can race him, and he's missed all the big races except the Breeders' Cup. It would be tough to take him right there without a race beforehand."

Rousell's position is unhappy news for fans who wanted to see Risen Star race again, but it also is understandable considering the money just invested in the horse by Walmac Farm.

Still, even if he never races again, Risen Star will remain a top candidate for Horse of the Year in the December balloting by racing secretaries, members of the National

Turf Writers Association and employees of The Racing Form.

He already has the statistics necessary for consideration — six victories, a second and a third and earnings of $1.98 million in just eight 1988 starts. He also was voted Breeders' Cup Horse of the Month for June and has been the near-unanimous choice for top-ranking by turfwriters in the two-week-old Top 10 poll sponsored by Thoroughbred Racing Communications.

Lost Code No. 2

Risen Star received 33 of 46 first-place votes in the Thoroughbred Racing Communications poll of turfwriters for the week ending July 11. Lost Code got eight first-place votes and ended up in second place for the second week. The 4-year-old filly Personal Ensign, who is undefeated in nine career starts, got two first-place votes and ranked third, while Alysheba was fourth with one first-place vote. Ranked fifth through 10th respectively were Winning Colors, Bet Twice, Goodbye Halo, Cutlass Reality, Personal Flag and Gulch.

Newspapers should be placed in brown paper bags and taken to the chamber office between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information, contact Linda Bean at 606-8083 or the chamber office at 606-3614.

Confederate sons to hear state speech

ORLANDO — The July 16 meeting of Orlando's 1285 Sons of Confederate Veterans will feature William Mann speaking on the history of Florida in the 1860s war and its contribution to the Confederate war effort.

Mann, an 18-year-old student, won first prize in a recent essay contest writing on Florida's Magnificent Role in the War Between the States. The public is invited to the meeting at noon in Morrison's Cafeteria, 1840 E. Colonial, Orlando.

Also at the meeting will be a report on the recent re-entrenchment of the 1861 Battle of Gettysburg in which Camp Commander William Evans participated.

Volunteering bolsters health, disposition

By JOAN S. MADISON
Special to the Herald

Mother always told us to exercise regularly, eat a well-balanced diet and do something for someone.

Now doctors are giving the same advice, but with a new twist. Of course, we've always known the significance of eating well and exercising, and we know that helping others makes you feel good. However, latest research indicates that helping other people brings real physical benefits, as well as psychological ones.

Researchers at the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center studied 2,700 people for more than a decade. They found that doing regular volunteer work more than any other activity dramatically increased life expectancy and vitality. Not only is it good for your heart, it also improves your immune system. According to the research team, men who did no volunteer work were two and a half times as likely to be dying the study as men who volunteered at least once a week.

Frank Gabrielle, 56, Casselberry, who serves on the Advisory Council for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, got involved in RSVP because he knew first-hand the value of community involvement, he said.

Gabrielle was forced into early retirement as a result of a physical disability stemming from an automobile accident, but he soon discovered that illness was not benefiting him. Prior to the accident he had led an active life. He had owned his own business, conducted tours and worked with people in a variety of ways. A few months after the accident, no longer working, he discovered that boredom and depression had set in.

So he entered the volunteer world. He began working in a hospital as a volunteer and soon found himself president of the Volunteer Council in Arizona, where he was then living.

Moving to Florida was an adjustment, and the first four or five months found him getting bananas. Then he worked through the plants of the University's Senior Center and into a retirement world of activity. He calls himself the Senior Center's president, the Federation of Senior Citizens and has served as chairman of finance fund-raising for RSVP's Advisory Council for the past two years.

What I'm doing is worthwhile, Gabrielle said. I've made lots of helping people. This came natural and now it's a full-time effort. And I enjoy every minute of it. Sometimes I used to go to bed because I had nothing to do, and now I look forward to a day when I have nothing to do.

His body is racked with pain from his accident. His lower back is bowed, and arthritis and emphysema have taken their toll on his body. Still, he said, it keeps me alert. She still tends to her house, garden and yard, but she said she needs to do something. She feels worthwhile and productive. I feel it helps me as much as it helps others. I can't sit still and just hold my hands and look at the walls all day.

Lee helps in the community wherever possible. Recently, she and Lansing enjoyed a day together mowing a table for the American Association of Retired Persons at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce Senior Citizens Committee's Health and Services Fair. It was an opportunity to share and enjoy each other's company.

I'm not giving up until I have to, Lee said. I like going as long as I can.

The March 1988 edition of American Health carried an article by Eileen Beckwith and Alan Laks reporting that the late Dr. Hans Selye, who founded modern stress research, thought helping others could keep one's nervous system from going into overdrive. By doing good for people, Dr. Selye reasoned, you dispel their gratitude and affection, and this warmth will help you. You fit in the stress of life.

Altruism is the warmth with which we buy the social support that sustains us.

Those 60 or older who would like to improve their health through involvement can call the RSVP office in Winter Springs at 327-2141 for more about the wealth of opportunities awaiting them in Seminole County.

Lansing feels so energized that she works three times a week. Her payoff was winning the gold medal for walking at the Golden Age Games in September.

A registered nurse for 31 years, 22 of them in Seminole County, Gabrielle knows first-hand the value of involvement. Although she admits for volunteer work to cooler weather, she looks forward to her work at the American Cancer Society, where she stamps pamphlets, folds and sorts materials, and helps where needed.

It's helpful, Lee said. It helps me both mentally and physically because it

Chill out at summer winterland

ORLANDO — As Florida's summer continues to edge the mercury higher, Orlando, Fla., has resorted to bringing winter to central Florida.

The resort's second annual Big Chill event will take place Saturday, July 16, with a carnival-like atmosphere of miles, blocked parking lots, trees, lights and a cool breeze. The event is free and open to all. A suggested fee of $5 is suggested for parking. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to charity.

DEAR ABBY

Some states will blot out original criminal offenses

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you published a letter from "Depressed Down South," a nursing student who had been convicted of shoplifting. She worried constantly about how this might affect her future employment prospects.

Your recommendation to get counseling to help "Depressed" deal with her emotional problems is right on the money. But there is something else she can do that can put her fears to rest.

Abby, many states have laws that permit a one-time offender to have the conviction and/or arrest record expunged, erased and/or set aside. Depressed should contact a criminal defense lawyer in her state to look into the availability of that procedure. If the conviction is set aside, some states even have laws that permit job applicants to truthfully state that they have never been arrested much less convicted.

If any of your readers have a similar problem and don't know the name of a criminal defense lawyer to consult, they should write or call National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, 1110 Vermont Ave. N.W., Suite 1150, Washington, D.C. 20005. Telephone: 202-872-8088.

And to "Depressed," good luck!

ASSOCIATION OF CRIMINAL DEFENSE LAWYERS

DEAR MR. HINGSON: Thank you for some valuable information that could turn some lives around. One mistake does not a loser make. Justice is sometimes tempered with mercy.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my early 60s. Several months ago I started going to baseball games, symphony concerts and the theater with a gentleman whose wife died a year ago. I really enjoyed his company. Two weeks ago he called and asked me to accompany him to a function in the middle of the week. I had to decline because I had previous engagement with friends. Since then he hasn't called me. I don't know whether he's angry, hurt or out of town.

Should I call him, and, if I do, what excuse do I use for calling? I miss his companionship and the nice place he used to take me.

STRANDED IN ST. LOUIS

DEAR STRANDED: Call him. You don't need a "real reason." You miss him. You're past the age of playing games, so tell him the truth and invite him over for a home-cooked dinner.

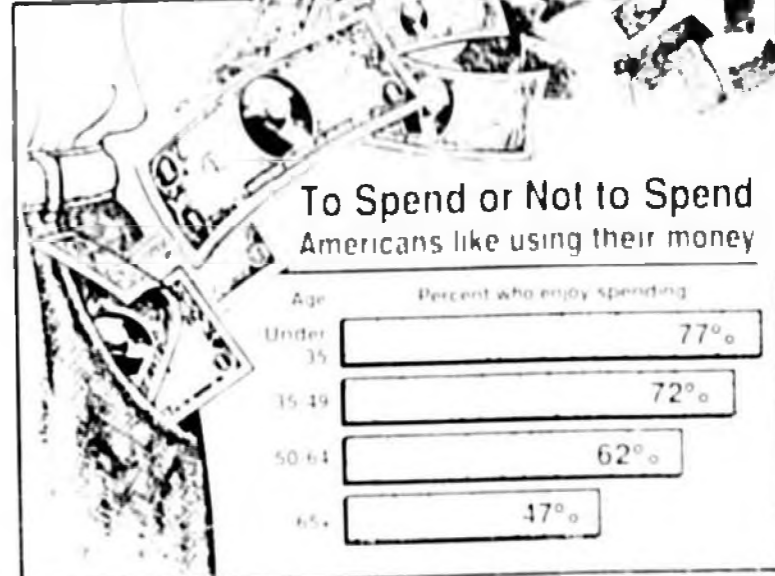

DEAR ABBY: Here's a tip for all those people who are bothered by moochers who want to visit them during the season. When we retired to Florida nine years ago, I promised myself we wouldn't operate a motel for moochers, so I made my second bedroom into a sewing room. Now, when anybody calls and wants to visit, I tell them we will be happy to reserve a room for them at a nearby motel — then I ask how much they want to pay. That solves the problem.

I do not care to be stuck with dirty sheets and towels and vacationing folks who keep different hours.

If they get mad and don't want to come that suits us fine.

'NO VACANCIES' IN FLORIDA

"Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential."

Less than half of all adults age 65 or over enjoy spending money, but more than three quarters of those under age 35 like to spend.

Reach into your memory banks, share a vacation

The year is 1926. You are admiring the architecture of an ancient church in Venzone, Italy, when the ground beneath you begins to tremble. Luckily, you are not inside the structure, and you stumble away from the building into an open field. As the quake continues for a terrifying 90 seconds, nearby houses cave in like sandcastles.

It is 1986. You are visiting your folks' farm in North Carolina where days and days of alternating drought and downpours have dwindled the harvest down to nearly nothing. Despite all indicators pointing to a financial crisis in your parents' lives, your family reunion lifts the gloom and becomes a wonderful time of affection and drawing closer.

Truth is stranger than fiction, so they say, and we at the Sanford Herald believe it. That's why we know everybody has at least one vacation experience that would make interesting reading. In celebration of summer the favorite time for getaways, we invite our readers to tell us about it. My Beliefs: It's Not Vacation.

In entering your contest, follow these instructions: Type or print clearly your name, street address, city and daytime phone number at the top of your entry. Then write your vacation experience, good or bad, without embellishing the truth.

Write as much of as little as you want, but the Herald reserves the right to edit as necessary. Mail to: Vacation, The People Editor, P.O. Box 1637, Sanford, Fla. 32771. Or bring to our offices at 300 N. French Ave. Deadline for entries is noon on Monday, Aug. 1.

The top winners in the categories of best and worst vacations will have their experiences featured in the Aug. 14 edition of the Herald. Photographs should not be mailed, but winners will be asked permission to reprint any available photos from their vacation.

Large blood cells mean something is wrong

DEAR DR. GOTT: What causes enlarged blood cells?
DEAR READER: Blood cells enlarge when, during their formation, their structure is altered. This can happen in red blood cells if the pigment molecule (hemoglobin) is disrupted by a congenital abnormality (such as thalassemia) or by a nutritional deficiency (such as pernicious anemia, a lack of vitamin B12).

Ordinarily, blood cells are not released into the circulation until they are mature. Immature forms are larger than adult blood cells. Therefore, large blood cells may indicate that young cells are being inappropriately pressed into service. Leukemic white cells are very young and quite large. In addition, in the presence of hemorrhage, young (and large) red blood cells may appear in the circulation.

Large blood cells almost always mean that something is wrong and should be investigated.
DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter is 38 and had a hysterectomy two years ago. The doctor accidentally cut the bladder and she's had trouble controlling her urine since. What are her options?
DEAR READER: Her primary option is to consider having the damage repaired. She should seek an opinion from a gynecologist who is familiar with the complications of hysterectomy and who is knowledgeable about reconstructive surgery. Your daughter's other option is, in my opinion, less attractive: to wear a pad and put up with an unpleasant situation. It seems to me that what she needs now is more information on which to make future decisions. I believe that another gynecological opinion is in order. To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, "An Informed Approach to Surgery."

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has a problem with foot odor. He has tried numerous foot powders but his feet just dry out and crack. He has tried all leather shoes and launders his socks daily, but it just gets worse. Do you have any suggestions, short of gas masks for the family?
DEAR READER: The presence of odor, cracking and peeling suggests that your husband may have a chronic skin infection of his feet. Various yeasts can cause this condition

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The game can be cruel, particularly when the partnership presses to an aggressive contract with duplication of values. In today's deal, North and South were using the bidding system in which an immediate two-over-one response commits the partnership to getting to game. After South had bid two hearts, North could simply raise to three, setting the trump suit and leaving room for slam exploration. South was right in thinking that his partner had some slam interest. However, was it right for South to bid as much as he did?

South had 16 high-card points, but more important, he had a strong trump holding (A-Q). He also had aces in both minors. So he cue-bid four diamonds, and then, even after North bid only four hearts, continued by showing his ace of clubs. That was enough for North, who forthwith bid six hearts. The slam was not hopeless. O, a good day, the club king would be outside, hearts would divide 3-2, and the spade suit would behave (either the king with East or the suit dividing 3-3). Still, needing all those favorable breaks made the odds for making the slam poor.

There were many valued values in the combined cards. After reading this, excuse, you have probably guessed that your hapless columnist was the poor devil who got to slam and went set.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books. (C) 1988. NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bode Osoi
YOUR BIRTHDAY
July 15, 1988

A way to finally fulfill a secret ambition you've been nurturing may be found in the year ahead. It's more of a pleasurable than material nature.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Generosity begets generosity today, so when dealing with others, try to treat them exactly as you would like to be treated yourself. You'll get by giving. Cancer, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year following your birthday. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The one thing you do not want to be today is a loner. If you are not included in any special plans, initiate an activity yourself with a few of your favorite friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Authority over others in a delicate matter should be back in your firm hands today, in order to achieve your objective. It will now be up to you to lead by example.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Use gentle measures with people you have dealings with today. You'll find they'll be far more powerful than issuing forceful demands.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There are indications that someone might do something extra special for you today that might not be done for others. It's best not to broadcast what occurs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Something that you may have to decide today will prove to be a wise decision if based on unselfishness. Make equity your objective.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today will be very fulfilling if you can devote some time to a labor of love. In fact, try to make it a priority.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have recently won to your colors a very helpful ally. You will begin to see evidence of this when you need cooperation the most.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you are in a creative mood today, why don't you make some of those little artistic changes around the house you've been dwelling on lately?

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone who is very fond of you has been busy devising pleasant plans that include you. You may learn about them today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A family member who has your interest at heart may play a key role today in helping you get something you want to add to your list of possessions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Charm, humor and tact will be tools you'll effectively use today to win over others to your way of thinking and doing. Say it with a smile.

Loggers' greed may defoliate, destroy Amazon

By BRIAN NICHOLSON
United Press International

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — What price a mahogany dining table? The answer is sobering: the possibility of hotter summers, flooded beach towns, more drought for U.S. farmers and a slightly diminished chance of a cure for AIDS—not to mention extinction for countless butterflies, monkeys and parrots.

Those are some of the results threatened by the deforestation of the Amazon.

Ecology experts, meeting recently in Rio de Janeiro under the auspices of the International Tropical Timber organization and the World Wildlife Fund, warned that unless action is taken urgently, the world's last great rain forest will be destroyed by chainsaws within a decade.

"We must change history," said Dr. Russell Mittermeier, science vice president of the fund, in an interview. "Otherwise we can kiss off all the Amazon."

The Amazon basin is bigger than Western Europe or India. At least 11,000 square miles is destroyed each year—a square city block every 10 seconds.

Large-scale logging is the main future threat. Lumberjacks might take just one good tree from each area the size of a football field, but their tractors open paths for land-hungry peasants who swarm in to slash and burn the forest, clearing fields for cultivation.

Many African and Asian forests will be logged out this century, scientists say. Japanese, French and German firms are turning to South America, which has 60 percent of tropical forest reserves but supplies only 5 percent of the world's quality timber.

This is bad news for drought-hit American farmers. Scientists say the "greenhouse effect" in the upper atmosphere, caused in part by carbon dioxide from automobile exhaust and factory chimneys, is a major culprit of the U.S. drought.

Without the Amazon forest cover, there'll be more carbon dioxide. The forest soaks up huge quantities of CO<sub>2</sub>, which plants breathe in the first step of photosynthesis.

"Already, we're locked into an inevitable world temperature rise," Mittermeier said.

Polar ice will melt gradually and oceans rise, perhaps by 1 to 4 feet within two generations, scientists say, exposing low-lying cities like Miami and Rio de Janeiro to flooding.

"The Amazon might even be hiding a cure for AIDS," said Mittermeier.

Many advances in biotechnology come from copying nature, according to his view. Tropical plants have given man antiseptics, surgical muscle relaxants, dental cements and treatments for dysentery, malaria, hypertension, schizophrenia and glaucoma.

Dr. Freddy Freezailah, the Malaysian executive director of the tropical timber organization, said any bid to save forests will fail unless governments resolve the social pressures.

"Often the problem lies outside the forest," Freezailah said.

One proposed solution is to increase the value of the jungle. A study near Iquitos in Peru analyzed the cost of all fruits, nuts, vegetables, medicines, thatching materials, game animals, wood and latex that an area of jungle can produce on a constant, sustainable basis.

If the jungle were chopped down, peasants would have to buy those products elsewhere.

The study found that forest can be worth four times as much as it is when transformed into a cattle ranch.

Politicians in Amazon countries argue that rich nations should pay more for hardwood, and that lucrative wood processing industries be moved from developed nations to the forest regions.

These changes would make forests worth more. Local governments would have a greater incentive to invest in forest management and conservation. But these proposals mean higher prices and fewer jobs for industrialized nations.

Freezailah said solutions must vary from one region to another. Some forest cover should be retained and managed, but other parts can be cut down and replaced with a different crop or tree.

So far the 41-nation Tropical Timber organization has $2 million for research, only partly for the Amazon. Its administrators want a budget of $100 million over five years.

Freezailah said even that wouldn't guarantee the Amazon's survival, "but it would help."

There were some absent faces in the Amazon debate: those of the Indians. Some 200,000 Indians live in Brazil alone, dependent on the Amazon for fishing and game.

"We're all ashamed to admit it," said Adam Markham, a forestry campaign officer for the Wildlife Fund. "but we just talk wood, because wood is money. One Indian told us we treat his forest, his home, like a corpse, to be preyed upon."

Jackson may wage fight at convention

By United Press International

CHICAGO — A combative Jesse Jackson raised the prospect Wednesday that he may wage a fight on the floor of next week's Democratic National Convention for the party's vice presidential nomination.

A day after Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis angered Jackson's backers by selecting Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as his running mate, the civil rights leader told a news conference, "It is at least an open question" whether the nomination will become a divisive battle in the forum that Democratic leaders hoped would forge a unified party going into the fall campaign.

Jackson said, "I'm not suggesting that I will compete for a place on the ticket, but the floor is wide open on Thursday night," when Dukakis is to propose Bentsen as the party's vice presidential nominee at the Atlanta convention.

In another indication of the Jackson camp's unhappiness with Dukakis, the prospective Democratic presidential nominee, Jackson's convention manager, Ron Brown, said in Atlanta that negotiations with the Dukakis forces — mostly dealing with the party's platform — have been "put on hold until we develop a winning strategy."

Jackson, who flew back to Chicago from Washington Wednesday, told the news conference he hopes that before Monday's convention start, "Our party, with a commitment to win in November, would take a serious look at our constituency groups and think in terms of shared responsibility."

"Surely the wing of the party I have helped to revive has won its share of responsibility," said Jackson, who drew nearly 7 million votes in the 1988 primaries, mainly from young people, blacks and liberals.

"So far the progressive wing, those who have renewed the party, those who have revived it, those most loyal to the party, are not part of any equation, or any process of inclusion," he said.

"I'm not" considering a floor fight, Jackson said, "but if a full floor contest were to take place, there is room for it in the rules. This has happened before."

Jackson held a pre-convention pep rally late Wednesday at Operation PUSH, a self-help minority group he founded 20 years ago. Speaking to several hundred supporters and delegates in a humid hall, Jackson drew sustained applause when he dropped hints of a possible vice presidential bid. "We're going to Atlanta ... following the rules. We will ratify the vice presidential nominee of our choice following the rules," Jackson said.

The Rev. Willie Barrow, executive director of PUSH and a Jackson delegate, drew applause herself when she said, "We're going to elect a president. We're going to elect a vice president."

Asked if she expected Jackson to seek the vice presidency, Barrow said, "I think so. That's our desire."

Earlier, Frank Watkins, Jackson's political director, said, "There are people in the campaign who feel (the vice presidential nomination) should be taken to the floor." Maxine Waters, a member of the California Assembly and top Jackson campaign official, raised the possibility of a floor fight over the ticket in a Tuesday interview on ABC's "Nightline."

Tennessee businessman John Hooker, an informal adviser traveling with the campaign, said Jackson "is taking it one step at a time. He is listening to all points of view."

Bentsen called Jackson before the civil rights leader left Washington for what Jackson described as a "courtesy call."

34 groups get permits to demonstrate at Omni

By United Press International

ATLANTA — Demonstrations ranging from an AIDS "die-in" by gay activists to anti-civil rights speeches by white supremacists will be held outside next week's Democratic National Convention, authorities said Wednesday.

At least 34 different groups have received permits from the city to hold protest rallies in two parking lots across the street from the Omni Convention Center, where the Democrats will open their quadrennial gathering Monday.

The demonstrations will begin Sunday and run through Thursday.

The city of Atlanta has given each group about 90 minutes at the parking lots, an area of about 2 acres that can hold up to 30,000 people and will be equipped with a sound stage and a microphone.

The Nationalist Movement, a white supremacist organization from Mississippi, will begin the week's protests with anti-civil rights demonstrations Sunday, followed by a gay rights group and a rally by animal rights organizations.

Thousands of demonstrators, perhaps as many as 30,000, are expected to show up through the week, police Sgt. S.M. Wilson said.

"We're going to have uniformed personnel out in the area, around the demonstration site and around the assembly areas," Wilson said, adding that police will keep demonstrators from moving into the streets but will try to avoid large numbers of arrests.

"In a situation like this, a great deal of restraint would be used to prevent that. That is not our intent," he said.

As the convention opens Monday, among those groups demonstrating will be March On!, a Los Angeles organization to promote understanding of people with AIDS.

The group will stage a "die-in" in which a participant will drop to the ground as the name of a person who has died of AIDS is read aloud.

Many of the organizations, such as the American Indian Movement, will be speaking in support of Jesse Jackson or independent presidential candidate Lenora Fulani, 35, a black psychologist from New York.

Speaking on foreign policy issues will be the Palestine Solidarity Committee, the Atlanta Committee on Latin America, which opposes U.S. intervention in Central America, and the U.S.-Congo Friendship Committee, which opposes the government of President Mobutu Sese Seko of Zaire.

On Wednesday will be the National Forget-Me-Not POW/MIA Association, which contends that there are still hundreds of American prisoners of war held in Southeast Asia.

More obscure groups include No Business as Usual, a coalition that contends the Democratic and Republican parties are heading toward global nuclear war to protect capitalism and the People's Review of Vice Laws, which advocates the legalization of all illegal drugs.

An "alternative convention" featuring music and speakers such as 1980s LSD guru Timothy Leary, comedian and former presidential candidate Pat Paulsen and American Indian Movement founder Russell Means will be held all week at the Metroplex, a rock club on Marietta Street.

Metroplex owner Paul Cornwell said he also hopes to get Abbie Hoffman on the podium. The five-hour program costs $20 each night or $100 for the week.

Dukakis, Bentsen face task of appealing to minorities

By United Press International

WASHINGTON — One week from the final night of the Democratic National Convention, presidential candidate Michael Dukakis and running mate Lloyd Bentsen are having more trouble than they hoped trying to win enthusiastic support from followers of rival Jesse Jackson.

Amid signs Jackson may fight Dukakis on platform issues and may challenge Bentsen for the vice presidential spot, a number of black leaders are saying the Massachusetts governor and the Texas senator will have to reach strongly to minorities to ensure hard work for the party in the fall.

Dukakis and Bentsen made their first campaign swing together Wednesday, moving through the nation's capital with a pair of crucial stops where they tried hard to sell their pro-presidential ticket to Jackson supporters.

However, with many black activists upset that U.S. civil rights leader was not tapped for Dukakis's running mate, the two met a generally cool reception at the 79th NAACP convention and were told at a meeting with black lawmakers that they need to send black Americans a new signal to show their concern.

Dukakis, who tried to stress his commitment to minority issues during his NAACP speech, later played down the polite but restrained reaction of the crowd, saying, "I understand there were a great many people in that room who were actively involved in the Jackson candidacy, who care very deeply about it and are disappointed they didn't win."

Dukakis said even though he did not select Jackson, he wants to have further discussions with the black preacher and hopes the man who ran second to him in the primary elections will be "deeply involved in the campaign."

After Bentsen's selection was announced Tuesday, less than 24 hours after Jackson finally declared in public his desire for the vice presidential slot, the loser said he would support the ticket but withheld a full endorsement and noted stiffly that he learned from news reporters Bentsen was the choice.

Dukakis asserted Wednesday that he tried to contact Jackson Tuesday morning but could not reach him, finally apologizing when contact was made that news of the selection had leaked.

In one of the many signs that Jackson forces were upset, Ron Brown, his national convention manager, said negotiations with the Dukakis camp — mostly dealing with the party's platform — had been "put on hold until we develop a winning strategy."

Should Jackson not push hard for the ticket, there is concern among Democrats about whether the large numbers of new voters he has registered would support Dukakis and Bentsen in the race against Vice President George Bush.

Several of the black House members who met with Dukakis and Bentsen Wednesday said they believe it will be important for Jackson to take an active role in the drive for the White House.

Bentsen still planning to run for re-election to senate post

By United Press International

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis's choice for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, said Wednesday he will run on the national ticket and for re-election to the Senate.

Bentsen, the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, also said he decided to accept the second spot on the Democratic ticket after he was assured he would be a "trusted adviser" in a Dukakis administration.

In a news conference — their first together since the ticket was completed Tuesday — Dukakis and Bentsen said they did not believe it would be a problem if Bentsen voted in the Senate against Dukakis's position on some issues during the fall election campaign.

The two men differ on several matters, including aid to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels — Bentsen has supported aid to the rebels, Dukakis is against it.

However, Dukakis noted, "If, as we hope, we are elected in November, then the relationship will change."

"One of the reasons I picked Lloyd Bentsen ... was he will challenge me," Dukakis said.

Bentsen, who is up for re-election this year, said he would keep his name on the ballot in Texas because if he did not, the seat would automatically go to his Republican challenger, Rep. Beau Boulter.

"I can't get off the ticket in Texas," Bentsen said. "If I were to step off the ticket, that would forfeit it to the Republican challenger and I can't do that. There's no way that I can do that."

Under a 1959 Texas law, which Lyndon Johnson of Texas used when he ran with John Kennedy in 1960, Bentsen is allowed to run for both jobs in the same election but he would have to resign the Senate seat if Dukakis wins the White House.

In that event, Texas Gov. William Clements, a Republican, would appoint someone to fill the seat until a special election could be held in 1989.

Because no Democrat could replace him on the ballot now, the Senate election would automatically go to Boulter if Bentsen withdrew from the race.

The law — known as the "LBJ rule" — was adopted by the Texas Legislature when Johnson was preparing in 1959 to run for president the next year.

Bentsen, who had said he was not interested in being vice president, said Wednesday he accepted the spot on the Dukakis ticket because he is convinced that "I could be a trusted adviser to the next president of the United States."

Bentsen added that he does not believe an issue will be made of last year's revelations that he had charged Washington lobbyists $10,000 each to attend a monthly breakfast with him, with the money going to his re-election effort.

When news of the "Chairman's Club" was reported, Bentsen acknowledged he made a mistake and returned the money.

He repeated Wednesday that formation of the club was a mistake.
