PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Gone was the Geraldine Ferraro who dances onstage, flirts with the camera and wisecracks through her speeches. The born New Yorker even spoke slowly.

Ferraro seemed far more subdued in Thursday's vice presidential debate in Philadelphia than in any previous public appearance. She rarely smiled. Her gaze was steady and sometimes her stern answers sounded like the teacher she used to be.

She seemed determined to prove herself capable and firm enough to take over as president if necessary.

She defended her lack of experience in government by citing her years as a prosecutor and a teacher.

"I wasn't born at the age of 43 when I entered Congress," she said, adding that jobs aren't always par'ount. "It's how you approach problems and what your values are. I can make the hard decisions."

Her staccato speech, sometimes difficult to understand outside Queens, she slowed considerably. After the debate was over and she was celebrating at a raucous rally afterward, Ferraro sounded more like herself.

"You're wonderful. Incredible," an ebullient Ferraro told a crowd of 5,000 who whistled, clapped and shouted themselves hoarse chanting her name. Behind her a torrent of red, white and blue balloons were unleashed against a backdrop of the American flag.

Clearly pleased, Ferraro teased, "You have to admit, two out of two (debates) ain't bad."

DER Picks Another Fight With Sanford

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Calling investigating concerns of the state Department of Environmental Regulation like "chasing a will of the wisp," Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said the state agency is now complaining that drainage water that empties into Lake Monroe may be contributing to lake pollution.

Knowles said city personnel have done analyses on storm drainage and the water in the lake and there is no difference in the quality of the water from either source.

"We have asked to meet with DER officials about this latest issue to show them the proof," he said.

But this is just one of the problems the city has on-going with DER. A hearing is scheduled in Tallahassee for Feb. 11-13, 1985 on Sanford's appeal of a DER order refusing to permit the city to continue dumping its treated sewer effluent into Lake Monroe. Knowles says the effluent is purer than the lake water.

The order is being fought, not only as a matter of principle, but mostly because of the very expensive alternative facing the city.

In any event it is going to cost the city money, but it is far less expensive to update and expand the city sewer plant on Poplar Avenue and continue dumping into Lake Monroe than it will be to pipe the effluent to a site some miles away using spray irrigation there as a method of effluent disposal.

City estimates are that it will cost about $9 million to update the present plant, with the state paying about a third of the cost.

The estimated cost for the more sophisticated spray irrigation disposal is $32 million with the state to pay about $9 million of that cost.

Under the spray irrigation method, effluent is sprayed over a tract of land with the soils purifying the effluent before it seeps into the aquifer.

"The state's regulations and requirements will impact heavily the local users," Knowles said. "The work required in either case will result in a substantial rate increase for Sanford water and sewer customers." The amount of the increase depends on the city's ability to win the appeal.

Knowles said the February hearing will be conducted by the state on rules and regulations of the state, administered and interpreted by the state.

"The city has factual evidence and expert testimony" and the city "can win on the basis of objectivity, logic and reason. However, the hearing can be lost on politics."

"At a project cost of $32 million, the city would be justified in pursuing every avenue of relief for the local users," including the courts, Knowles said.

While the city is preparing its case against the DER for the February hearing, other city projects are continuing, Knowles said.

He cited the downtown improvement project, about three weeks behind its schedule because of the rains.

The project, estimated to cost in total about $300,000, is slated to be stopped temporarily from Dec. 1 until Jan. 1, 1985 so the downtown Christmas shopping season will not be disrupted.

The schedule calls for the improvements to be completed in January.

At the new well field off Oregon Avenue, a 16 inch well is being drilled. Rather than drill a smaller well, solely for test purposes, to be abandoned later, Knowles said, he and staff have enough experience in city wells to immediately go to a full fledged one which can be connected into the water system later. A test well would have cost about $20,000 and would have had no further use, he said. The full-fledged 16 inch well is costing about $45,000.

Once approval is given by various state agencies for the well, the city will be spending about $141,000 to carry the raw water from the well to the water plant on Country Club Road for processing.

Other costs for the well field include the purchase of the 24.5 acre site for $170,000; state required studies, $10,930; security fencing, $1,000; electrical service $2,000.

Death-In-Childbirth Suit May Proceed

A Sanford man has received the legal go-ahead to continue legal action against several doctors for the 1979 death of his wife during a caesarian section at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Lee Whack won an appeal of an order dismissing his complaint against the doctors because it was filed after the statute of limitations took effect.

According to the appeal papers, Sylvia Whack died Nov. 12, 1979 while undergoing a caesarian section at the hospital. Whack, as personal representative of his wife, filed a complaint against the hospital and Drs. W. Vincent Roberts, Stephen R. Phillips, and Thomas Richards.

The complaint was filed Nov. 18, 1981, two years and six days after the death of his wife. Whack alleged in the complaint that all defendants were negligent and the doctors involved committed medical malpractice.

Roberts and Phillips filed a motion to dismiss the complaint asserting that Whack filed six days after the applicable statute of limitations took effect. They also said Whack did not state the cause of the action and had not filed a claim with the county, which ran the hospital at the time.

The appeal court, basing its opinion Oct. 2, said an action for medical malpractice must be filed within two years from the time the alleged incident occurred or within two years from the time the incident is discovered, but no later than four years after it allegedly occurred.

The appeal justices said Whack did not file suit until he received an autopsy report that was not consistent with the pathologist's diagnosis.

"This," the justices wrote, "raises a question of fact concerning the cause of death and the existence of malpractice. It is clear that the appellant could not have discovered this question without the autopsy report."

The case has been remanded to the Circuit Court.

Central Incinerator Proposed

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles is calling on the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County to undertake a study on the feasibility of creating a central trash incineration facility.

He is asking, with the city commission's blessing, that a study group be created to include representatives of all seven cities, the county, and commercial and private refuse collection services.

"Correctly located," Knowles said, "this facility could eliminate the need for all existing transfer stations, county refuse transportation equipment and reduce heavy equipment needs at the county's Osceola landfill near Oviedo."

The only need for a landfill would be for the burial of the incinerator residue, he said.

"Present incineration science has now developed modular type incinerators to allow expansion with growth," Knowles said, adding small units could be located at the county's transfer stations.

Knowles is making his suggestion in light of the recent rate increases adopted by the county commission for the disposal of garbage and trash at its landfill.

Where the rate was $7.75 per ton at the landfill, beginning Dec. 1 it will be $15 per ton. And the rates for commercial haulers using the transfer stations is being raised from $9.75 per ton to $18.

And he also put the city commission on notice that refuse collection rates must be raised to homeowners and other classes of city customers by Dec. 1 as a result.

A month ago, he said the fee to households would have to be increased from $8.50 per month to about $9.66.

Knowles said a study on solid waste disposal in Seminole County several years ago zeroed in on the conversion of solid waste into energy.

"That study did not go far enough," he said. "It did not address the whole problem and did not allow for consideration of the private industry proposing a possible solution."

"Another look is indicated," Knowles said.

City Commissioner Eddie Keith, Sanford's representative on the Council of Local Governments, said he will bring the issue before the organization at its November meeting. —Donna Estes

Turnaround In Works

Producer Prices Fall .2%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Producer prices fell 0.2 percent in September, as lower food and energy costs combined to provide the biggest drop in wholesale prices in 21 months, the Labor Department said today.

The decline in the department's Producer Price Index surprised many private analysts, who expected a fairly stiff increase, and followed a 0.1 percent decline in August.

But an increase, perhaps substantial, is already in the works for October's report because of a shift upward in gasoline prices, a department analyst said.

For the year through September wholesale inflation is running at a rate of only 1.9 percent, when figured annually, well below the pace virtually every leading forecaster expected by now.

Wholesale prices do not directly affect what consumers pay at the cash register. But they establish trends that form a basis for consumer prices several weeks or months later.

Food prices went down 0.4 percent, matching their move down in June.

Gasoline prices, mostly sampled in August, dropped 0.5 percent and overall energy costs fell 0.8 percent, less than half the downward movement in the previous two months.

The Producer Price Index for September is 289.8, equivalent to a cost of $2.898 for goods that cost business $1.000 in 1967.

The 0.2 percent decline, after seasonal adjustment, was the largest since January 1983's 0.7 percent reverse. The decline was 0.7 percent before adjustment.

The stabilization of world oil prices along with increased demand for petroleum is removing one of the biggest plus factors for the wholesale index.

But natural gas cost 2 percent less in September, just before the heating season got under

Both Sides Claim Victory In Vice Presidential Debate

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — George Bush, claiming victory in the vice presidential debate, says it will help the Republican ticket "blow Fritz Mondale away," but Geraldine Ferraro is calling herself the winner and proclaims: "Two out of two ain't bad."

The two vice presidential candidates generally battled on equal footing in their Thursday night contest. In light of Walter Mondale's strong showing in his debate with President Reagan, the vice presidential showdown took on heightened importance as both presidential campaigns strived for momentum.

"I never felt so great in my life," Bush said after the contest. "I am absolutely convinced that we've turned this thing around. I believe President Reagan is going to blow Fritz Mondale away."

Ferraro told a rally of 5,000 supporters: "Now that was fun. You have to admit, two out of two ain't bad," referring to Sunday's presidential debate in Louisville. "We have not yet begun to fight."

In Miami, Mondale said he was pleased with his running mate's performance, saying it showed "the difference between a cheerleader on the one side and a leader on the other."

An early poll sampling by ABC News taken right after the debate found that 43 percent of those queried felt Bush had won, to 32 percent who thought Ferraro had taken the bout. The remaining 25 percent was undecided.

Ferraro flies to Madison, Wis., today to join Mondale for a rally on the steps of the state capitol, and then stumps in the Chicago area. Bush campaigns on his own in Elizabeth, N.J., and Birmingham, Ala., while Reagan takes a whistle stop train trip through Ohio.

With as many as 50 million viewers watching, the two candidates clashed on abortion, civil rights, foreign and economic policy, and their individual tax returns.

The most heated moment of the 82-minute exchange erupted over Lebanon — with Ferraro warning Bush about his "patronizing attitude" toward her grasp of foreign policy.

The sharp exchange began with a Ferraro attack on Reagan's policies in Nicaragua. "When I think of the things they're doing in Central America, supporting a covert war, I don't support that kind of activity."

Bush replied: "I think I just heard Mrs. Ferraro say that she would do away with all covert actions. If so, that has very serious ramifications, as the intelligence community knows. This is very serious business."

The remarks clearly struck a nerve in his opponent, prompting Ferraro to snap: "I almost resent, Vice President Bush, your patronizing attitude that you have to teach me about foreign policy."

"Please don't categorize my actions," she warned. "Leave the interpretations to the American people."

In other areas, Bush said he was wed to the president's policies "every step of the way" —

Deadly Case Of Child Neglect

Like parents everywhere, the Indiana couple held and rocked their newborn child when he became ill. As the infant's condition worsened, the coughing and congestion racked his tiny frame and his breathing grew labored, the parents prayed fervently for his deliverance.

And after he died of pneumonia for which they sought no medical treatment because of their religious beliefs, the parents were convicted of child neglect and reckless homicide and sentenced to five years in prison each.

A harsh sentence? Perhaps. The judge, who could have given the pair up to 12 years in prison each and fine them a total of $20,000, confessed that the penalty had given him more concern than any other he had handed down in 20 years on the bench. Yet he declared: "We can't tolerate human sacrifice in the name of religion."

And so we can't. True, the parents, who belong to a sect known as Faith Assembly that shuns medical care, appeared to love their son and acted in accordance with what they believed to be the baby's best interests. They based their defense on an exemption in Indiana's child neglect law that permits parents of a sick child to substitute prayer for medicine. But as the prosecutor noted, the law does not allow parents to withhold medical care from children in danger of dying.

The judge presumably intended to deter others from following the same practice in his decision to send the couple to prison. That is a worthy goal, although it's not altogether clear whether such a stiff sentence will deter religious zealots such as these. Indeed, the mother in this case (pregnant with her fourth child) says she will continue to shun medical care for her children.

Nevertheless, society cannot allow such behavior to go unpunished; while an adult may have the right to follow his beliefs right to the casket, the courts have recognized over and over that a parent may not do the same with his child. To deny medical care to a dying child is to kill the child, no matter how well-intentioned the reason.

Oklahoma High

Oklahoma was one of the last states to become part of the Union — the 47th, to be precise, in 1907 — and it's been in no big hurry to become the last of the states to go wet, either. That's wet, as in liquor-by-the-drink. It's illegal there, even though it's a stricture so much honored in the breach that everyone calls the present situation liquor-by-the-wink.

The latest round in the battle to end this time-honored hypocrisy was won a few days ago by the Wets, who finally succeeded — on the third try — in narrowly winning voter approval to allow wine and liquor to be sold in restaurants and taverns, which now can legally sell only low-alcohol beer, derisively known in some quarters as "Sunday beer." In fact, many of them sell drinks in violation of the law.

But before anyone orders up the champagne, there's another stopper. The voters merely gave the Legislature authority to draft enabling legislation allowing each and every one of Oklahoma's 77 counties to conduct separate referendums on booze-over-the-bar.

Opponents have bowed to fight the proposal in every county, and it's worth noting that 60 of those counties voted no. Only Tulsa and Oklahoma City and a few other heavily populated areas were ready for this free-spirited move.

For the time being, then, Oklahomans who drink had better hang onto their brown bags.

BERRY'S WORLD

Rick Brunson

Seminole County public school students and Dividend school volunteers will be able to go to Walt Disney World at a special reduced price Nov. 2. On that day, which is a non-attendance day for the schools, Disney is having an "America Hooray Day" in honor of the national presidential election, according to Dede Schaffner of the Dividends.

Students will receive a packet of information on the elections to broaden their understanding of the nation's political process. They will also be able to participate in a mock election and a debate. In addition to its regular attractions, Disney will have special entertainment.

Admission price for students and Dividend volunteers wearing their name tags will be $13.50, including transportation to and from pick-up points in the county. Children 9 and under must be accompanied by an adult. The special price is good only for tickets pre-sold at the schools.

For every Seminole student who attends "America Hooray Day," the Dividends will receive $1 from Disney. Free admission will be given to Dividend workers chaperoning groups of 10 students on the buses. Anyone interested in chaperoning may call 834-8211.

The buses will load at Altamonte Elementary, Forest City Elementary, Lake Mary High School, Red Bug Elementary and Sanford Middle School. Boarding will be at 7:30 a.m. with departure for Disney at 8 a.m. Buses will leave the theme park at 7 p.m.

The Parents and Teachers Association has come up with a formula designed to raise children who are "helpful, considerate, and sensitive to the needs of others."

In the October issue of PTA Today, Thomas Lickona, a professor and psychologist, says the main ingredient necessary to raise caring children is the positive example of parents. The parents' own caring attitudes, coupled with limiting exposure to bad examples (as exhibited often on television), will greatly influence a child's moral development, Lickona said.

Other important ingredients in the formula are spending quality time with children, which helps them value themselves. Discussing everyday experiences at the dinner table is a good place to start.

Giving children responsible family roles without pay will make them contributing family members and more helpful individuals, Lickona writes. In addition to helping out at home, children should be taught to care for people outside the family, such as cutting an elderly neighbor's lawn.

Lastly, Lickona said children should be sensitized to the feelings of others. It's here where kids can be the most cruel to other kids.

Help children understand the hurt of a child who is locked out of a game or made fun of by others, Lickona says. Parents should tell children that when a kid is put down, it really hurts.

All's Quiet At Berkeley

Twenty years ago this autumn, the Berkeley campus of the University of California exploded with the so-called free speech movement. It began a decade or more of militant and often violent protest that made Berkeley synonymous with student radicalism.

Things are very different at Berkeley these days. The San Francisco Bay Area is still a center of radicalism in America, but the students at Berkeley are headed in a different direction.

The London Times recently published a detailed report on Berkeley. It said that the campus, which cradled the protest activities of the 1960s and 1970s, has become a stronghold of conservatism. Students are sporting "Re-elect Reagan" badges in record numbers.

According to the Times, a survey of the Berkeley campus indicated that as many as 80 percent of the students will vote for Mr. Reagan. The leftism of yesteryear seems to be in eclipse. A survey of freshmen last year revealed that only nine percent expected to be involved in any student protests. By contrast, 70 percent had attended a religious service in the past year and 92.8 percent expected to take their degrees and obtain regular employment.

The student conservatism to be found at Berkeley is evident at many campuses around the nation. As one 24-year-old law student told the Times, "The days when you can wave signs all day, study only three days before finals, and get a job with an English degree are gone."

The new mood is reflected in the courses that appeal to students at Berkeley. The proportion of students studying social sciences has dropped from 20 percent to 14 percent in the last 10 years. Today, the most popular undergraduate classes are business and computer sciences.

Today, there is a new realism. Young people in colleges and universities realize that the "greening" notion is absurd, that life is demanding. In order to enjoy a good life, one has to work hard and acquire skills and special knowledge. Moreover, today's college students appreciate the competitiveness of life. They have turned away from the wild schemes that Berkeley symbolized 15 or 20 years ago.

Prior to 1964, Berkeley had a great reputation as a center of scholarship. Undoubtedly, it has much to offer in future.

The excesses of a bad period in American history have no place in a new era of campus moderation and responsibility.

CIA Snoop Follows Family Line

WASHINGTON — The CIA is apparently back in business on American college campuses, less than a decade after it was slapped down by Congress for covertly financing student groups and paying youthful undercover agents to spy on campus "radicals."

This time the CIA's infiltration of academia may actually be legal, under a 1981 executive order signed by President Reagan. It allows the spy agency to collect "significant" intelligence secretly within the United States as long as the espionage isn't aimed at the domestic activities of American citizens or corporations.

An investigation by my associates Dale Van Atta and Indy Badhwar indicates that from September 1982 to May 1983, the CIA paid a Hawaiian student to spy on foreigners at two colleges and a Mormon tourist attraction on Oahu.

If the student spy's information was indeed "significant," the CIA

INTELLIGENCE FAILURE

The Nomenklatura

NEW YORK (NEA) — One of communism's attractions (they are not numerous) has always been the contention that at least it does away with the phenomenon of classes — those social layers, so evident in all other forms of society, which so often result in certain privileged groups exploiting their fellow men. As Marx analyzed capitalist societies, the bourgeois class, by virtue of its ownership of property, contrives to exploit the workers (proletariat), who have only their labor to sell. If a capitalist society can be overthrown and replaced by a socialist one, ruled by a "dictatorship of the proletariat," the class struggle will by definition end (since there will no longer be two classes, but only one), and everyone will work constructively together.

The Soviet Union makes a serious pretense of being an authentically socialist society, well along the road to this utopia. Practically nobody in the Soviet Union itself really believes this, and only the most invincibly naive elsewhere; but the question "Who really runs the Soviet Union?" is nevertheless a good one, and the true answer is remarkably elusive. In Stalin's day, of course, the top banana was Stalin — no doubt about it. But this was more a product of Stalin's personal ascendancy than of a systemic bias in favor of a single despot. Today the summit of the Soviet system seems to be occupied by an amorphous committee, consisting of the members of the Politburo (but perhaps not quite all members of the Politburo) and arguably certain others as well: a few high-ranking military men, for example. Below this top group, running a country the size of the Soviet Union, are hundreds of thousands of other talented people as well. But who are they?

It is the very considerable achievement of Michael Voslensky, an expatriate Russian professor (of history) now living in Munich, that he has gone to the trouble of identifying and describing these people for Western readers — the first time, as far as I know, that this has ever been done.

For sound historical and other reasons, Voslensky calls this elite the "nomenklatura." Its dirty little secret is that it is, in fact, a new and highly parasitical class, based on power rather than property but exploiting the class below it (the workers and peasants) in the good old-fashioned way. The Soviet Union isn't "classless" after all.

Voslensky may spend a little too much time early on in his book ("Nomenklatura," published by Doubleday) showing how soon and how widely communist practice diverged from Marx's theories, but his description of what happened is wholly convincing: Stalin, as general secretary of the party, controlled its apparatus. The apparatus produced the new administrators and developed rapidly into a new class. Successive purges then replaced the original revolutionaries (the "old Bolsheviks") with careerists, who settled down to enjoy running the country.

ROBERT WALTERS

A Win, Not A Knockout

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Democratic presidential nominee Walter F. Mondale clearly emerged as the "winner" in his first debate with President Reagan — but Republican nominee Reagan remains the likely victor in next month's election.

Most striking about the performance of the two men in the debate was Mondale's ability to outclass Reagan not only on substance, as he was expected to do, but also on style, which long has been considered the president's forte.

Reagan's disappointing showing lends credence to the theory that the president, perhaps displaying signs of advancing age, may be losing his touch as an extraordinarily gifted orator and debater.

On several less publicized occasions earlier this year, the president uncharacteristically stumbled verbally or groped for words while responding to reporters' questions.

Although Reagan committed grievous errors during the debate, he appeared to be uncomfortable and ill-at-ease throughout the event. Even his closing remarks, presumably prepared in advance, were unfocused and uninspiring.

Moreover, Mondale was able to keep Reagan on the defensive throughout the 90-minute confrontation. The president repeatedly was forced to justify the growth of the federal deficit during his tenure and to disavow any intention of reducing Social Security benefits.

While failing to score a hoped-for "knockout," Mondale was far more poised than Reagan. He dominated the discussion of the country's future, a subject which strategists in both parties believe may be crucial in deciding the election.

Mondale also provided an unexpected display of class and grace when he twice praised Reagan — for elevating "the sense of spirit, morale and good feeling in this country," and for agreeing to debate when "he didn't have to."

Finally, Reagan persisted in his long-standing practice of playing fast and loose with the facts. He denied, for example, that his administration has sought to reduce federally subsidized housing for the elderly when it has done precisely that.

Unfortunately for Mondale, however, the presidential election is not a debating contest. After two years of active campaigning, he has been unable to formulate and present to the electorate a coherent, broadly appealing explanation of how he would guide the nation as its president.

got a bargain: He was paid $100 a month for his eight-month undercover mission, he said.

The young spook is Jim Rewald, who was 19 when the CIA recruited him for campus cloak-and-dagger work in July 1982. He had just been accepted for the fall term at Brigham Young University (Hawaii) in Laie, Oahu.

Young Rewald also had impressive family credentials: His father, Ronald Ray Rewald, had earned $8,000 by spying on students for the CIA at the University of Wisconsin in the early 1960s. (It was this sort of domestic espionage activity on college campuses that led to the congressional crackdown on the CIA a decade or so later.)

The elder Rewald is now facing multiple counts of fraud for his involvement in an investment operation he claims was a CIA front.

In an exclusive interview, Jim Rewald said he set out to follow his father's footsteps one night at dinner in the Rewald home. A guest, a CIA agent known as Richard Cavannaugh, asked him, "Would you be interested in collecting information on students?"

Young Rewald accepted on the spot. "It was my chance to start with the CIA before I left college," he explained. "They had known I wanted to join the agency for a couple of years."

Young Rewald signed a contract. His "control" was a Chinese-American agent. For some CIA reason, the case officer was posing as a Japanese named Tadao Suzuki — in the one state where such an ethnic masquerade would likely be spotted by the large Japanese-American population.

For his $100 a month, Rewald was assigned to keep close watch on six visiting students from the People's Republic of China. The CIA wanted information and current photographs.

Rewald diligently clipped articles on the Chinese students from the college newspaper, surreptitiously snapped their pictures, and tailed them to the Polynesian Cultural Center, a tourist attraction next to Brigham Young University-Hawaii.

He also obtained college computer lists with details on the Chinese students' activities by telling the registration office he was working on an ER "sh paper. Once, he said, he rifled the office for further information.

After one semester at BYU, Rewald transferred to Chaminade, a Catholic university in Honolulu. Suzuki was delighted by his recruit's ecumenical enthusiasm. The CIA had about all it needed on the Chinese students at BYU-Hawaii, and the agency had never had a man in place at the Catholic school.

The pickings proved to be slim, though, and Rewald's interest flagged. "I thought it was important work," he said. "But after a while it seemed sort of ridiculous."

Posey Hopes Offense Keeps Rolling

'DeBruise Brothers' Worried About Letdown Against Winless Lyman

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
If high school football wasn't so unpredictable, there would be an easy formula for tonight's game between the Lyman Greyhounds and Seminole's Fighting Seminoles. Kickoff is 8 p.m. at Lyman High School.

• Seminole beat Apopka, 21-7, last week. The Blue Darters were ranked second in the state and were the conference coaches choice to win the Five Star. Seminole is 2-2.

• Lyman lost to Spruce Creek, 13-7, last week. The Hawks were picked to finish last in the conference and had been outscored, 118-20, prior to playing Lyman. The Greyhounds are 0-5.

Simple enough isn't it? The Seminoles are coming off their biggest win in a long, long time. Lyman is coming off its most disgusting loss in a long, long time. Any oddsmaker in his right mind would make the Seminoles a heavy favorite.

Prep Football

Right? Well, maybe. The way Tribe chief Jerry Posey, like most coaches, views it is that Lyman is overdue. The Greyhounds are spoiling for a win, and Posey indicated that some teams are often ripe for an upset after an upset.

"I hope to hell it won't happen," Posey said about a Lyman victory. "We've been preaching on it all week. We weren't real sharp in Tuesday's practice and there was some indication of a letdown, but we looked a lot better Wednesday and today (Thursday)."

Posey may have started early in the week on his overconfidence sermon, but linebackers Bryan and Mike Debose had him beat by two days.

The "DeBruise Brothers," although overjoyed with the victory over Apopka, were quick to put things in perspective — even while teammates were going bonkers beside their lockers last Friday.

"It's a great feeling to come through against a powerhouse (Apopka)," said Bryan. "But we can't get too far off the ground. We gotta come back next week and do it again against Lyman."

"This was a great win," said Mike. "But we can't let it go to our heads. We have to be just as tough against Lyman, even though they haven't won yet."

Lyman's season has been a long one for coach Bill Scott and it's just half over. Injuries hurt the Greyhounds early when they played Boone (21-15) and Colonial (10-0) tough. Youngsters, as in sophomore class, dot their starting lineup. They were blown out in between when Lake Brantley played a near-perfect game (28-6). Two weeks ago, Lake Mary broke three big plays for a 21-0 win. The Spruce Creek disaster followed.

"We got the ball inside Spruce Creek's 48 (-yard line) four times in the first half and couldn't score," lamented Scott. "Our defense did the job. The offense just didn't move the ball."

The defense has been superb at times, although it's had a tendency to give up the big play. Linebacker Mike Henley (45 tackles and 24 assists) is the headhunter. The rugged senior ranks third in the county with 13.8 per game and is the highest ranked two-way performer. Avery Merweather is another hard hitter (26-36). The quick senior is fifth in the defensive stats with 12.4 a game.

Mike Crespo, who roams between linebacker and defensive tackle, is coming on strongly after a slow start. Crespo had two sacks last week. Greg Smith, who missed several weeks with an injury, gives the 'Hounds another sturdy linebacker.

"Their defense is not that bad," warned Posey. "They have had trouble generating any offense. The last couple weeks,

Lake Howell Has To Be Inventive Against 4-0 Rams

By J Richards
Special to the Herald

In high school football, adversity, not necessity, is the mother of invention. And tonight at 8, when the Lake Howell Silver Hawks play host to cross-county rival Lake Mary, the Hawks will have to be very inventive.

The adversity part is simple, says head Hawk Mike Blacaglia. Aside from having a youthful, inexperienced and small squad, his team just lost its second starting halfback. Lost indefinitely after sustaining a pinched nerve in a shoulder during last week's 33-7 loss to Lake Brantley, is senior Steve Inananen.

Coupled with the loss of sophomore runner Dennis Heffner after a 106-yard debut in the team's season opener, the Silver Hawks, 2-3 overall and 1-3 in the Five Star Conference, will have to be especially creative to keep the explosive Lake Mary offense off the field, Blacaglia says.

Lake Mary, with a 4-0 overall and 3-0 conference record, on the other hand has been playing as if it coined the term "win."

But the Rams are in no position to count a victory before it has happened, said a confident but conservative head Coach Harry Nelson.

The Rams, who broached the state's sportswriters' high school football poll for the first time in the school's history this week with a ninth place standing, are still an unknown quantity to Nelson.

"They had to pick someone from this area," Nelson said, downplaying the sportswriters' poll. "We've only played four games, and it's still too early to tell."

Both coaches said they didn't foresee any problems getting their charges up for the game.

"I'm sure Lake Mary remembers last year's score (a 32-6 Lake Howell win)," said Blacaglia. For his part, Nelson admits that he "mentioned" the score to his charges a couple of times this week.

The game also has a special, though artificial significance. Only in its second full season of varsity contention, the three "Lake" teams in Seminole County are not only natural geographic and conference rivals, Nelson added, but there is a special appeal to claim the title of top lake in the county. With its previous win over Lake Brantley, Lake Mary could make it a clean sweep tonight, and playing a spoiler role in that quest is an unquestioned emotional bonus for the Silver Hawks.

Last year, Lake Brantley clobbered both teams by a combined 55-6 score.

However, a quick look at the two teams' respective records this year offers no clearcut advantage to either squad. Lake Howell drubbed its first two opponents — Bishop Moore and Spruce Creek who have a combined 1-9 record — before losing two narrow games to Seminole (8-0) and DeLand (14-7), who have a combined 5-4 record. The Silver Hawks' 33-7 devastation at the hands of 3-1 Lake Brantley last Friday has put Lake Howell into a must-win situation if the team is to have any remaining hopes of finishing salvaging any claim to the best lake in Seminole County.

Lake Mary's meteoric rise in football circles has come against teams with mixed success levels, at best. The combined record of the Rams' opposition is a dismal 6-13. Bishop Moore and Lyman both holding 0-5 season marks. However, putting up 104 points against just 23 points by the opposition is no sneering matter, despite against whom the points were scored.

The Rams respective 21-10 and 20-13 wins against DeLand and Lake Brantley were followed by 21- and 42-point shutouts of a pair of 0-5 teams, Lyman and Bishop Moore.

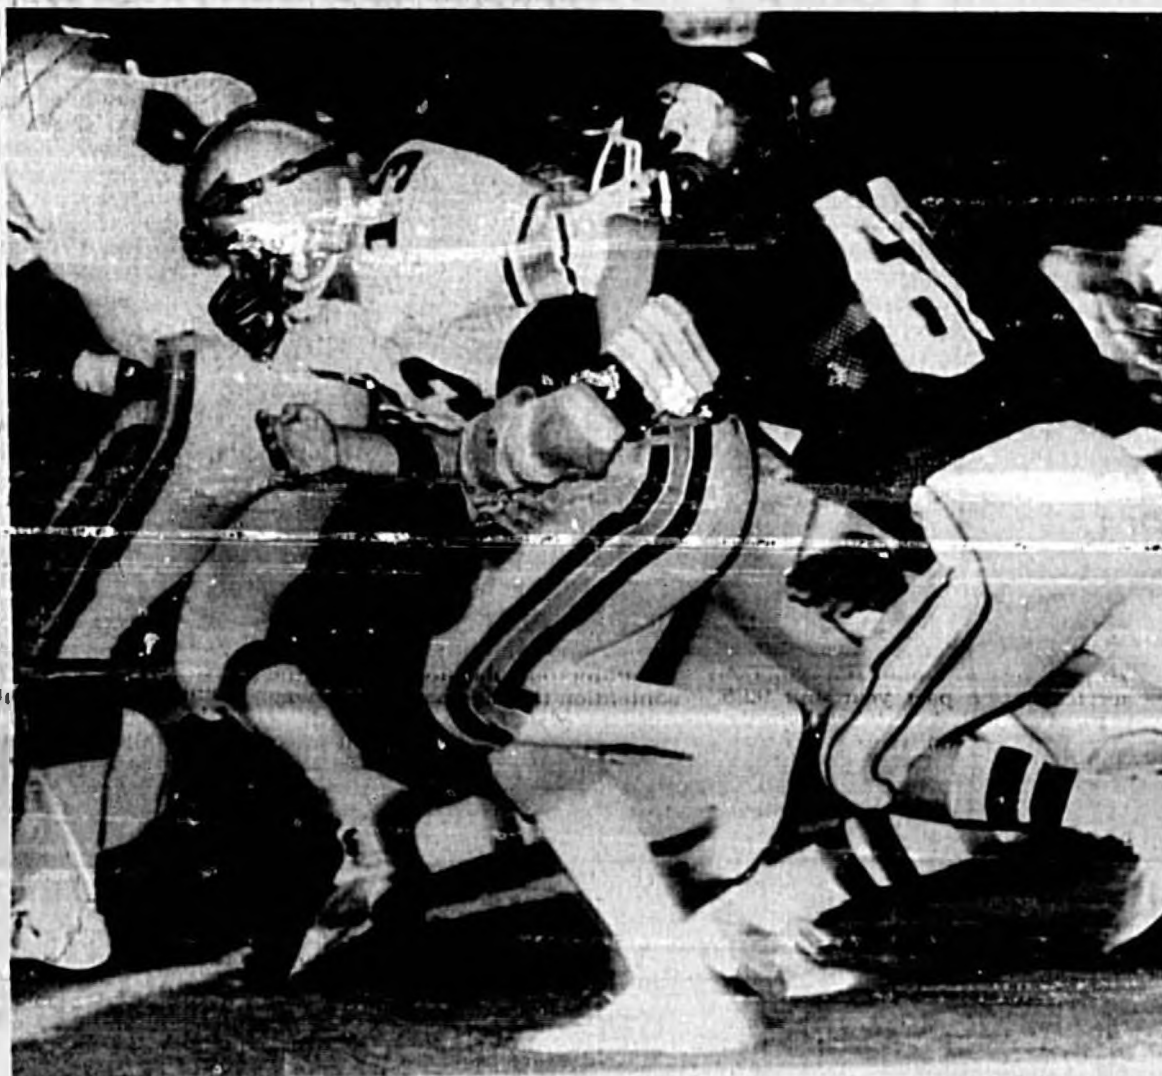

The Rams' 42-0 laughter win over the Hornets last Friday, like the Silver Hawks' 33-7 loss to Lake Brantley, were emotional rivalry games, Nelson suggested, and may not indicate how good — or how bad — either Lake Mary or Lake Howell really is.

Blacaglia, for his part, admits that but for a lost scoring opportunity or three his team could be sitting atop a 4-1 record.

He mentioned four lost fumbles against DeLand that killed sustained drives and the fact his defense did not yield any points to Seminole as factors the offense will have to control if his team is to have a solid chance to upset the Rams.

"We're going to have to play just about perfect

Coach Breaks Leg In Seminole Loss

When coach John Brady saw his best fullback Stewart Gordon go down with a twisted ankle after a 40-yard run, he knew he had problems. Little did he know, it was just the beginning.

Seminole's popular junior varsity football coach went down himself two quarters later. "I saw all the players move out of the way," said Brady. "I just didn't move fast enough. Two guys crashed into me."

The result: a broken leg. "I knew it was either broken or there was some cartilage damage," Brady said from his hospital bed Friday morning. "I just immobilized the knee and coached the rest of the game."

Although his knee was aching, Brady probably felt worse when the final numbers flashed Thursday night at Apopka which showed a 24-15 Blue Darter victory over his Tribe. Seminole, 2-2, plays DeLand at home next Thursday

Seminole started impressively as Gordon broke his 40-yard scamper but then had to leave the game with a twisted knee.

The drive continued, though, and Herbert Hillary eventually scored from 30 yards out. Brady reached into his bag of tricks on the extra point and Darryl Taylor tossed a two-pointer to Eddie Banks from kick formation for an 8-0 lead.

Apopka bounced back with a score, but Seminole retook the lead with some more trickery. Halfback Dwayne Willis head for the right end, then straightened up and tossed a 25-yard TD pass to wideout Sonny Osborn. Willis kicked the Noles into a 15-8 lead. Apopka scored again in the second quarter to cut the margin to 15-12 at halftime.

In the second half, Seminole and Brady both went down as the Blue Darters picked up a touchdown in each period for the nine-point victory.

Forgotten Game: Patriots Meet Bucs

"Hey, remember us? Lake Brantley."

Patriot coach David Tullis didn't exactly use those words, but with two county rivalries — Seminole-Lyman and Lake Mary-Lake Howell — on the schedule and Oviedo taking on Jones in another biggie, it's easy to overlook the Lake Brantley-Mainland game which complete's the Five Star Conference action tonight in the county. Kickoff is 8 p.m. at Lake Brantley.

Tullis, however, isn't overlooking the Buc. "Mainland matches up bad against us," he said Friday morning. "They have a lot of speed and they're real quick on defense. We may have problems with them."

Problems, there might be, but there is a different air of confidence around the Patriot campus. When

Prep Football

Seminole upset Apopka last week. It made the Big Blue's conference chances one game better. The Patriots are just one game back of leader Lake Mary with a 2-1 Five Star slate. Overall, they're 3-1.

The three wins have been impressive. The Pats controlled Colonial in the opener before blowing out Lyman (28-6). A tough loss to Lake Mary (20-13) followed, but after a week off the Patriots came back in fine fashion with a 33-7 victory over Lake Howell.

Biggest of the Big Blue is center Curt Mull. "The Gentle Giant" has not been gentle with opposing noseguards, however. "Unless you coach the offensive line, it's hard to tell you just how good he is," said Tullis about the 6-6, 275-pound senior. "Against Lake Howell, he missed one block. That's one time his man got the tackle. That's outstanding."

Mainland may be quick, but it doesn't compare size-wise to Lake Brantley. Mull, along with linemen Bill Neville and Mark Bousquet have been making it easy for the running backs.

Tullis has been able to run stallions in and out like the Pony Express. Bobby Garrison responded in his first start last week. The hard-running fullback rambled for 100 yards. "I wasn't surprised that Bobby ran well, but I was surprised he got a 100 yards since we used a lot of backs."

Bobby Garrison

Whatever, the Patriots are clicking on all cylinders now. After Mainland tonight, they take on Apopka in a crucial battle next week. Spruce Creek, Seminole and DeLand complete the Five Star slate.

If the Pats can win the rest — and someone knocks off Lake Mary — the Five Star banner will be flying in Altamonte Springs. — Sam Cook

Heads Will Roll As Lions Try To Upset Jones

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

If you wanted to pick a theme song for tonight's Oviedo-Jones football game it might be, "Some Heads Are Gonna Roll." Oviedo and Jones are a pair of rugged, physical football teams and tonight's Orange Belt Conference clash at Oviedo High promises to be a good one. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

Both teams feature fleet-footed, punishing running backs and a number of powerful defensive performers. The Jones Tigers, the state's third-ranked (3A) team, come in with an impressive string of five straight victories, two over tough 4A Metro Conference opponents. Jones stands at 2-0 in the conference.

The Tigers started the season off with a nail-biting 12-10 win over Orlando Oak Ridge then they turned on the steam with a 38-26 victory over Leesburg, a 36-0 rout of New Smyrna Beach and a 65-0 trouncing of Bishop Moore. Jones made it five straight last week with a 22-17 victory over Orlando Evans.

Meanwhile, Oviedo is off to a 3-1 start including three shutouts. The Lions are 1-1 in conference play. Oviedo opened the season with shutouts of Melbourne, 7-0, and Eustis, 10-0. Oviedo then dropped a 14-0 decision to St. Cloud before rebounding to blank Leesburg, 14-0. The Lions were idle last week. The winner of tonight's game will probably take the district title.

"This is a chance of a lifetime for our kids," said Oviedo coach Jack Blanton. "An upset tonight would give us a great chance at winning the district. Jones has some great backs, but if we don't make any mistakes early, I think our defense can hold them."

That Oviedo defense will have an extremely tough task tonight against what has been an awesome Jones backfield in running backs Darryl Perry (6-0, 200-pounds), Leon Perry (6-2, 215) and Marcus Evans (5-9, 180). All three have the capability to break off the big run and to pick up the tough yards up the middle.

Both Perry's gained over 1,000 yards last season and Evans picked up over 400 before being sidelined with a broken ankle. First-year coach Ernest Swift runs a wishbone offense with the two Perrys (who aren't related) and Evans making up the bulk of the offensive attack. Darryl Perry leads the Tigers in rushing with 514 yards.

Jones is averaging 250 yards rushing per game, fourth in the Central Florida area. In 1984 and its running backs have some huge bodies on the offensive line to run behind. Leading the way is junior tackle Mike Morgan who weighs in at 340 pounds. With Morgan, the Jones offensive line averages 250 pounds.

For Oviedo, the key will be to keep the ball away from Jones' devastating offensive attack. That means ball control on offense. The Lions will depend on running backs Charles "Pop" Bowers and Andrew Smith to keep Oviedo going on offense. Bowers leads Seminole County in rushing with 825 yards on 74 carries (7.1 yards per carry) and Smith is fifth in the county with 182 yards on 52 carries (3.5 yard per carry).

If Oviedo can put together a few sustained scoring drives and hold off Jones' wishbone long enough, a major upset could be in the making.

IN BRIEF

Lady Hawks Show Off Depth With Easy Victory Over Pats

The Lake Howell volleyball team rebounded from a tough loss to Oviedo on Wednesday and, at the same time showed off its depth, in a 15-5, 15-9 victory over Lake Brantley Thursday in Five Star Conference action at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Silver Hawks improved to 8-3 overall and 7-1 in the conference with the win. Lake Howell's only remaining conference game is against winless Apopka.

"It's hard for me to pick a starting six," Lake Howell coach Teresa Tinsley said. "Everyone works really hard in practice and, during the game, I'm confident that I can pick anyone off the bench to go in and do a good job."

In Thursday's match, the Lady Hawks soared to a 11-2 lead in the opening game behind the play of Sandy Gillies and Beth Saunders. "Sandy and Beth did an outstanding job setting," Tinsley said.

Almost everyone played for the Lady Hawks in the second game and Lake Howell built an early 7-1 lead behind the play of Eileen Thiebaut and Anita Cechowski.

Lake Brantley battled back to within one point, 7-6, behind Viola Rodriguez. With the score 9-8, the Lady Hawks scored five straight points to take control 13-8. Kellee Johnson, Jolee's twin sister, served the final two points of the match for Lake Howell. — Chris Pfister

Lemieux Has Smashing Debut

United Press International

What will be remembered from the nine-game debut of the 1984-85 NHL season is the debut of Pittsburgh Penguin Mario Lemieux.

The Penguins had been billing their Oct. 17 home opener as the "Lemieux Debut." The rookie gave NHL fans a sneak preview of things to come Thursday night. No matter that it was on the road, Thursday's game will likely become folklore.

In the first game of his first year, the first shot of the NHL's first pick resulted in his first goal. Pittsburgh eventually lost to Boston 4-3, but the talk was of perhaps the most highly publicized draft choice in league history.

Ray Bourque fired the winning goal past the glove side of goalie Denis Herron, who was screened by Rick Middleton.

In other games, the New York Rangers tied Hartford 4-4, Philadelphia and Washington tied 2-2, Buffalo edged Montreal 4-3, Chicago downed Detroit 7-3, Minnesota beat Toronto 1-0 in overtime, St. Louis beat Calgary 4-2, Edmonton and Los Angeles tied 2-2, and Quebec beat Vancouver 5-2.

Wood, Calfee Lead Southern

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — "Wee" Willie Wood and security salesman Bill Calfee make an unlikely pair to be leading the PGA's $300,000 Southern Open.

Wood, a 5-foot-7, 135-pound rookie out of Oklahoma State is the smallest player on tour and Calfee, who lost his tour exemption by placing 149th on last year's money list, didn't know until Tuesday he was even entered in the tournament.

But the two carded 6-under-par 64s Thursday and find themselves with one stroke leads over '75 champion Hubert Green, Larry Ziegler and Gary Hallberg.

County Teams Take Test Run On DeLand Course

By Chris Pfister
Herald Sports Writer

For Seminole County's cross country teams, Saturday's DeLand Invitational at the DeLand Airport is the last meet of the season before the championship meets begin. It will also give the teams a chance to go up against some of the state's top teams and a look at the course where the state meet will be held.

The meet begins at 10 a.m. with the 1A-2A junior varsity race. The 4A girls junior varsity starts at 2:40 p.m. followed by the 4A boys JV at 3:10, the 4A girls varsity at 3:50 and the 4A boys varsity at 4:10.

At first it seemed the DeLand Airport course would be different for Saturday's meet than it was at last year's state meet. Some coaches who saw the course said the changes weren't for the better. However, the course will be changed back to the old way for Saturday's meet, according to Lake Mary coach Mark Magee.

The Lake Mary's boys team, ranked eighth in the state, is taking a relaxed approach to the meet.

"There will be some good competition there (Largo, Winter Park)," McGee said. "But we're going in relaxed. I'm not spending a lot of time getting the team pumped up because we're going to have to be pumped up the next five weeks (county, conference, district, region, state) after Saturday's meet."

Lake Mary has continued to progress in 1984 and is running well as a pack. The

Cross Country

Rams best displayed that Monday at the Seminole County Postal Run when they placed six runners in the top 10.

"We have nine guys pushing each other in our practices," McGee said. "We're running closer as a pack and continue to improve."

Lake Mary's top runners include Matt Palumbo, Ken Rohr, Harold Pitts, Bob Howard, Jim Shepherd, John Amrhein and Tom Wait. All seven performed well at the Postal Run.

Seminole's boys team is looking for consistency Saturday and hopes to keep it going into the championship meets. Coach Ted Tombros said that inconsistency has been the only thing holding the Tribe back this season.

Number one runner Billy Penick has continued to progress in 1984 along with number two runner Larry Cosby. Kelly Faint and Kelvin Abney have run well at times and Seminole's improvement depends on their consistency. Seminole is also looking for its number five runner, Randy Drury, to start moving up.

"There'll be a lot of quality teams in Saturday's meet and it will give us a chance to see just how far we've come," Seminole coach Ted Tombros said.

While Lyman may not look like its making a whole lot of progress, the Greyhounds have always been strong finishers as they were last season. Look for Lyman to start making its move in the Seminole County Meet led by its top six of Mike Mohler, Steve Grundorf, Wayne Straw, Charles Mullins, Carl Schmalmaack and Tim Jones.

Top-ranked Lake Howell will lead the way in the 4A girls meet. The Lady Hawks have won every meet they've competed in this season led by its top six of Lisa Samocki, Amy Ertel, Nancy Nystrom, Martha Fonseca, Belinda LaSeur and Mary Fonseca.

Seminole, the state's sixth-ranked team, will get a chance to look at the state meet course for the first time Saturday. "It's good for us to run on the DeLand course at least once before the state meet," Tombros said.

The road to the state meet is still a long one and Seminole is looking to keep moving up along the way. Seminole's top six has been moving up consistently. It includes Shownda Martin, Dorchelle Webster, Debbie Coleman, Jennifer Roberts, Katrina Walker and Glenda Bass.

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots have moved up considerably the past few weeks led by the pack of Kim Pacetelli, Joanne Hayward, Michelle Herbst, Kim Lubenow and Karin Sniffin.

Lake Mary is looking to plug up the gap between its third and fourth runners Saturday in preparation for the championship meets. Lake Mary's top three, Sue Kingsbury, Fran Gordon and Heather Heikkila, has run well all season and the Lady Rams are looking for Niki Hays, Liz Stone and Lisa Shelby to fill in the gap.

Tigers, Padres Renew Fight In Historic Park

DETROIT (UPI) — Having established a World Series tradition in Jack Murphy Stadium, the Detroit Tigers and San Diego Padres now aim to continue one in Tiger Stadium.

They meet tonight at 8:35 EDT, tied at one victory apiece, in a park that has seen eight previous Fall Classics. The most recent came in 1968, when the Tigers rebounded from a 3-1 deficit to down the St. Louis Cardinals.

"This park is baseball history," said Padres catcher Terry Kennedy. "When you think of some of the great players who have stood in the left-hand side of the batter's box here at Tiger Stadium..."

"There's Ted Williams, the idol, Babe Ruth, all the great ones. The clubhouse here is small and the lockers are tiny and some of the guys were asking 'What's going on here?'"

"But I guess we've been spoiled by the National League technology. This is baseball history and as a baseball fan I'm happy to be a part of it." "It's one of my favorite parks," added San Diego manager Dick Williams. "It's got a lot of history. I like Fenway Park, Wrigley Field and Tiger Stadium. I love it. A five-run lead with two out is not safe here."

A capacity crowd is expected to provide boisterous support for the Tigers, and the weather is expected to cooperate with clear skies and temperatures in the 50s.

Right-hander Milt Wilcox will pitch for the Tigers and left-hander Tim Lollar will take the mound for the Padres.

"This is very special because I've been here with the Tigers for eight years and I could see this team building into a real winner," said Wilcox. "We won the toughest division in baseball with relative ease."

The Series has been dominated by outstanding pitching, which pleases the purists. More significantly, it has provided a substantial amount of lore for a park that until this season had never seen post-season play.

In Game 1, Detroit right fielder Kirk Gibson and second baseman Lou Whitaker combined to throw out Kurt Bevacqua at third base after the runner stumbled rounding second. Undaunted, Bevacqua wrote a fairy tale comeback story in the next game, hitting a game-winning, three-run homer.

His teammates realize the impact the 37-year-old journeyman has had on the Series. They teased him during batting practice Thursday, chanting "Kurt, Kurt, Kurt," and surrounding the batting cage with a drawn-in infield of several players.

"I guess I am," Bevacqua answered when asked if he was surprised at being in the spotlight.

Rams to 5-0 and they will try to make it six straight when it hosts Oviedo next Thursday. The win also keeps the Lake Mary High football record intact. The freshman team is 4-0, the JV 5-0 and the varsity 5-0.

Lake Howell jumped out to an early 6-0 lead Thursday night, but Letterio struck back with two scoring passes to give the Rams a 14-6 halftime lead. The first score came on a 14-yard pass from Letterio to Mike Renaud and the second was a 58-yard bomb from Letterio to David Martin. Ryan Liale booted both conversion kicks.

Lake Mary took control in the second half both offensively and defensively. Letterio's six-yard run in the third quarter gave the Rams a 21-6 lead and, moments later, Brett Moran returned a punt 55 yards for a touchdown for a 28-6 lead.

The Rams final score came in the last 20 seconds of the game when Anthony Hartfield threw a halfback option pass to Martin from 58 yards out. The two-point conversion gave the Rams a 36-8 victory.

Letterio had another fine outing, completing 4 of 12 passes on the night for 150 yards. Liale led the Hawks on the ground with 88 yards on 15 carries and Mike Smith picked up 40 yards on five attempts.

Defensively, Steve Davis had six solo tackles and five assists and Doug Dandy added four solos, one assist and two quarterback sacks.

PATRIOTS DRILL LYMAN
Lake Brantley scored one touchdown in each quarter to post a 28-6 victory over Lyman in freshman football at Lyman High School Thursday night.

Lyman, which has 11 sophomores playing on the varsity, fell to 1-3. The Greyhounds host Lake Howell next Thursday.

The Patriots broke to a 14-0 halftime lead and Lyman's fortunes were further dampened when quarterback Gib Lundquist was knocked out of the game on the last play of the first half.

Donello Garcia came on and did a good job at quarterback," said coach Paul Thomann. "He threw for our only score."

After Lake Brantley had built its lead to 21-0, Garcia found R.J. Nold for a 40-yard scoring pass for Lyman's only score. Penny Glenn was the Hawks' leading ground gainer with 70 yards in seven carries.

Defensively, Thomann cited linebacker Scott King for an outstanding game. King collected 10 tackles and two assists. Cornerback Joe Parker came up with an interception.

they have played a split 4 defense. I don't know if they'll stay in that for us, though. I looked back at films until 1980 and I couldn't ever find them in a split 4 against us."

Posey said he is not an advocate of a split 4, but "it does put more people on the line and supposedly gives you pass support since they can drop off."

Seminole's offensive pass support was much better against Apopka. Senior quarterback Mike Whelchel had his best game to date, something Posey hopes will continue. "Whelchel did a better job of looking and moving," said Posey. "There was only one time that an Apopka blitz hurt us. Whelchel moved out and away from the pressure. One time, he rolled to the other side and hit Jerry Littles for a first down."

Seminole's offense, which had been dormant (one touchdown) all year, came alive in the Apopka win. It wasn't awesome by any means, but when the defense gave it field position — the offense took advantage. The defense forced five turnovers and following three of them, the offense scored TDs.

Posey, nevertheless, isn't yet convinced of its authenticity. "Until we prove that we can move the ball week after week, I'm not sure," he said. "The most important thing about last week is that we moved the ball, and we didn't hurt ourselves. We didn't give the other team anything."

Lyman's offense, meanwhile, has been going to school. Darren Boyesen has some tools, but the sophomore signal caller is receiving his baptism under fire. Mike Sirmons, Robert Thomas and Henley are the running backs. Lyman could only generate 81 yards rushing and 40 passing against Spruce Creek. Wideout Clint Baker (10-145) and Ralph Philpott (8-115) are Boyesen's prime targets.

Going against Seminole's super-charged defense will be an experience for Boyesen. Coach Dave "Mr. Intensity" Mousure's 11 hasn't had a bad quarter since Titusville. Astronaut caught it early for 14 points and returned for seven. An interception return gave away the other seven. Since then, it has limited the opposition to three touchdowns. One of those came in overtime. Another was aided by three penalties. The third was set up by an 80-yard kickoff return to the five-yard line.

Mosure and defensive backfield coach Roger Beathard don't hesitate to gamble. "I was amazed how we could overload the line of scrimmage and get away with it," said Mosure about the Apopka game. "The Brinsons (Fred and nephew Brian), Mike DeRose and Walt Lowry have been putting on tremendous pressure."

The "DeBruise Brothers" still run 1-2 in defense. Mike has 35 solos and 27 assists for 62 tackles. Bryan has 38 and 22 for 60. Mike has recovered three fumbles as has Fred Brinson. Lowry has six sacks and Fred Brinson has four while Mike has three.

The secondary was considered suspect prior to the season, but Beathard has watched his two juniors — Dexter Franklin and Dennis Lawrence — improve each week. Both picked up Headhunter awards last week. Franklin had a great game with six tackles and four assists against Apopka to earn Sanford Optimist and Burger King player of the week laurels.

Deron Thompson, who was at safety, moved to monster to replace steady Brian Brooks, who is still nursing a separated shoulder. Cliff Campbell, who starts at halfback, took over at safety. The Tribe's other injury was to Alan Kendall, who stretched a ligament in his knee. Chuck Thomas will take his place at offensive tackle.

Offensively, Jo-Jo McCloud picked up two TDs last week and Daryl Edgemon hauled in a 40-yard scoring pass from Whelchel. Dexter Jones (8-28) and Campbell (9-41) complete the backfield.

"They do have a young secondary," pointed out Posey. "Whether we can test it or not, I don't know."

Small Meals Can Ease Discomfort Of Hernia

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a sliding hiatal hernia that has caused me to have some very frightening attacks. Some are similar to a heart attack and have even caused me to black out.

This is different from my mother's hiatal hernia. Her food sometimes entered her esophagus at night, but this doesn't seem to happen to me. What is the best type of diet? Can this condition damage the heart or be fatal? Can heavy lifting trigger an attack?

DEAR READER — The most common form of a hiatal hernia is related to an enlarged hole in the diaphragm that permits a portion of the stomach to slide through into the chest. Many people have these and have no symptoms at all.

When symptoms do occur, they are usually related to esophageal reflux, a leakage of acid stomach contents backward into the lower esophagus. Your mother must have had this condition if food came back up when she was lying down. That is why doctors recommend that you should not lie down until your stomach has had time to empty, and why it is helpful to sleep with the head of the bed elevated.

The leakage into the lower esophagus may also cause the esophagus to go into spasm. It literally cramps. That painful spasm can be very much like a heart attack. Severe pain of any origin can cause faintness, or even an actual faint.

I suspect you have esophageal spasms because of leakage. You need to eat small meals and avoid things that increase the stomach acidity. That includes eliminating coffee, tea, colas and alcohol. I have discussed the diet and other measures to cope with such reflux problems in a new issue of The Health Letter, Special Report 18, Hiatal Hernia and Heartburn.

No, a hiatal hernia will not damage your heart nor would it be fatal unless you hemorrhaged from the esophagus. Yes, heavy lifting or anything that causes you to bear down or grunt can aggravate the condition. Increased pressure inside the abdominal cavity tends to force the stomach through that enlarged hole.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What causes elderly persons to become so unsteady in their writing and holding things?

DEAR READER — Such shaking problems are called tremors. They usually occur in older people because of changes in the nervous system. A similar tremor, called essential tremor, can occur in much younger people. The central nervous system has a marvelous ability to induce smooth, coordinated movements, which we often take for granted. Usually we don't think much about this until the ability is impaired.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Avoidance does not just happen when a crashing bore heads your way at a social gathering. It also occurs more than a little at the bridge table.

South became declarer in four spades after a routine auction. He covered the opening lead of the jack of hearts with dummy's queen. When East played his majesty, South remembered about avoidance — he ducked. He certainly didn't want West to get on lead and play a club through dummy's king. South won the heart continuation and played a spade to the ace.

If East had played the queen or jack, declarer would have returned to his hand with the diamond ace to play another trump toward dummy's K-10.

Since an honor had not appeared, South played the spade king. West now was able to gain the lead by trumping the third round of diamonds. His club lead allowed the ace and queen of clubs in the East hand to set the contract.

South had the right idea, but he needed to extend his caution to greater lengths. On the first lead of spades, he should play dummy's 10. This will probably lose the trick, but it will enable declarer to draw trumps without allowing West to gain the lead.

The reward for exercising such caution will be two overtricks, since declarer's losing clubs go off on the long diamonds, and a heart loser can be ruffed in dummy.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 13, 1984

This coming year you will be able to make a number of favorable changes in your lifestyle which you have been hoping to do but couldn't up until this point in time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It will turn out to be more fun entertaining at home today than going out on the town. In fact, the larger the group, the merrier. The Matchmaker wheel reveals your compatibility to all signs, as well as showing you to which signs you are best suited romantically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You should be more fortunate today in being able to get in touch with persons you couldn't reach earlier in the week. Start dialing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec.

21) When properly motivated, you are capable of outstanding accomplishments today, especially in areas which could benefit you materially or financially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be the one who sets the pace today, rather than waiting on others to take the lead. The leader's role suits you more comfortably than it does your peers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you have something of importance to accomplish today, try to do it off by yourself, free from outside influences or distractions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll be welcome and well received by friends today who might have treated you a bit coolly lately. Let bygones be bygones.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Raise your sights a trifle higher than usual today because thinking big will stimulate your enthusiasm and might even encourage Lady Luck to assist you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you are endowed with the power of persuasion. Persons who vigorously resisted your ideas before can now be turned around to your way of thinking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have an important dealing today with a person born under the sign of Capricorn, everything should work out beneficially for all concerned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Partnership situations should work out to your advantage today, especially if you are teamed up with someone who is both bold and wise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today is a good day to call upon persons whose help you need to advance a pet project. Try to get together in the afternoon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're apt to be willing to run risks in areas others may shy away from. Trust your luck but don't push it to extremes.

Modest Swimwear Is Available To Women

DEAR READERS: "Mad in Madison" wrote: "If you know where a woman can buy a modest one-piece bathing suit, please let me know. I am a senior citizen whose doctor has recommended swimming as a healthful exercise, but I am no Venus in bathing suit!" etc.

I told "Mad" I would have to search far. Hundreds of readers sent pages from the catalogs of Sear-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J.C. Penney and National, all featuring beautifully styled, modest bathing suits such as I have not seen in many years. There were one-piece (some skirted), not-too-revealing swimsuits, available in all sizes for women of all ages. And the prices were right, too.

Another surprise: The Lane Bryant stores, known for dressing the larger women, carry stylish, conservative bathing suits from size 14 and up.

Many readers suggested shopping at medical supply shops. They said the bathing suits designed especially for women who had had mastectomies are good-looking, have built-in bras, and were purchased by many women who have not had mastectomies. (Look under "Prosthetic Appliances" in the Yellow Pages of your telephone directory.)

All maternity shops feature

Dear Abby

modest, non-revealing swimwear, some with matching cover-up jackets, suitable for non-pregnant women.

Another idea: Leotards, now popular for exercise and dancing classes, can double for swimwear. They're comfortable, good-looking, modest and reasonably priced.

And last but not least, make your own. Stretch-and-sew fabrics and patterns are available in shops and department stores.

So, women, we need not be slaves to fashion. The abbreviated bikini is only for the lean, the young, the hairless and the brave. But fortunately, we do have some choices — when we know where to look.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were going to take our grandchildren, ages 8 and 10, to the movies last Saturday, and we ended up having ice cream and going home without seeing a movie.

Do you know why? I will tell you why. There were nine movies playing, and not one was a family movie. They were all rated PG, PG-13 and R.

Abby, the movies used to be a family pleasure. Why doesn't the movie industry make family entertainment anymore? We have to see reruns of "Snow White" and "Bambi" until we have them memorized.

We need some good, funny, clean, old-fashioned movies! Abby, whatever happened to Laurel and Hardy?

GRANDPA IN APPLE VALLEY, CALIF.

DEAR GRANDPA: The same thing that happened to Abbott and Costello (they died.)

Movie moguls, are you listening?

Bean Sprouts Adaptable For Variety Of Dishes

If you think bean sprouts are used only in Oriental cooking, it may surprise you to find out how adaptable they are for a wide variety of dishes, including salads, soups, breads, and casseroles. Sprouts are easy to grow, and they're a good source of protein, as well as many vitamins and minerals. In addition to being very nutritious, sprouts are inexpensive. A half-cup of dried beans will explode into a quart of sprouts, costing about a penny a serving. And, there isn't just one kind of bean sprout, either.

The best place to begin is to describe exactly what bean sprouts are. A bean sprout is a germinated bean seed. If conditions are right, and development isn't interrupted, a sprout will eventually become a new plant. But, if you want sprouts for eating, you treat the seeds quite differently than you would for planting in the garden. To produce sprouts, the seeds are allowed to develop for a few days in a warm, dark, humid location. Then, this development is stopped by placing the sprouts in a refrigerator. The sprouts should be eaten within three to five days after germination.

Several kinds of bean seeds are used for sprouting. Probably the most popular is the Mung bean — perhaps because of its long association with oriental cooking. Mung beans are small brown seeds, which grow in three- to four-inch blackish pods. These are produced on the Mung bean plant, which is one to two feet tall. Mung beans are not well adapted to Florida's humid climate. But, if you want to try, give them the same care as ordinary bush-type green beans. The only difference is that the pods should be allowed to mature and dry on the bushes before the Mung beans are harvested for sprouting.

Fortunately, you don't have to grow your own Mung beans to have homegrown sprouts of this variety. Over 23-million pounds of Mung beans are produced each year in the southwestern United States. These beans are readily available at most natural foods stores and some supermarkets. When buying the beans for sprouting, one pound of beans will yield about six pounds of sprouts.

Another bean commonly used for sprouting is the soybean. In Florida, the Verday, Disoy, Banel, and Green Giant soybean varieties produce good green crops and many seed pods. However, the pods of these plants must be harvested when the beans are in the mature green stage, rather than being left in the field to dry on the vine. Actually, soybeans grown in the home garden should be used as a fresh vegetable. If you want to try germinating soybean sprouts, you should buy the dried beans sold specifically for that purpose.

A number of other seeds and grains are used to produce sprouts, also. These include: alfalfa, wheat, flax, lentils, chick peas and sunflowers. You do have a large variety from which to choose.

Many methods of sprouting beans seem to give good results. The first step in sprouting is the same for all methods. After buying some beans or seeds sold specifically for sprouting, sort them carefully, choosing only clean, whole specimens. Thoroughly wash about a quarter cup of those you select. Place them in a bowl or jar, and cover them with lukewarm water. Let the beans stand overnight. By morning, they should have expanded to about three times their dry size. Rinse them well and pour off all excess water.

One method is to place a couple of tablespoons of the soaked beans in a quart jar and cover the top securely with nylon mesh or cheesecloth. Turn the jar on its side so the beans form a thin layer. Then place the jar in a warm, dark, humid location.

The next step is very important. At least three times a day, until the sprouts are ready, pour lukewarm water into the jar, swirl it around, and drain it off. The seeds should be kept moist, but not wet.

Depending on the beans or seeds you're using, sprouts will develop in three to five days. Rinse and drain the sprouts as soon as they reach optimum length and before rootlets appear. If you're germinating Mung beans, the sprouts should be one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half inches long when they're harvested. Alfalfa sprouts are best when they're about one-inch long. Soybean sprouts should be no longer than one-half inch before harvest. Sesame and sunflower sprouts should be used as soon as they're visible.

A second method is to spread a couple of tablespoons of soaked beans on several layers of dampened paper towels, fitted into a colander, or perforated plastic tray. Wrap the container in a black plastic bag, but leave the opening loose, to allow ventilation. As with the first method, the seeds must be rinsed thoroughly, three times each day. When the sprouts first appear, you can replace the black plastic bag with a clear one, so you'll be able to tell when the sprouts have reached their proper length for harvesting.

Regardless of which method you choose, the sprouts must be used or stored as soon as they reach proper size. If you don't plan to eat them immediately, place them in a covered container in the refrigerator. They'll keep three to five days.

Happy gardening!

Housebound Role Reversal

'Who's The Boss?' Cutesy, But Well Done

By David Handler

"Who's the Boss?" is a cozy, pleasant little ABC sitcom about a Brooklyn tough guy who becomes the live-in housekeeper for an elegant Connecticut career woman.

Tony Danza, the tattooed prize fighter from "Taxi," plays Tony Micelli, an ex-ballplayer and a widower with a tomboy daughter, Samantha (Alysa Milano). When she starts coming home from school with black eyes, he decides it's time to leave the city.

He lands a job as a live-in "Mr. Goodmop" for Angela Bower (Judith Light), a divorced advertising executive with a son, Jonathan (Danny Pintauro) she can't control and a big suburban home she can't keep clean.

Trouble is, she doesn't know she has hired Tony and doesn't like the idea. Turns out her flighty mother, Mona (Katherine Helmond), gave him the job.

"Don't be a sexist," Mona tells her. "A man can do meaningless, unproductive work just as well as a woman." Besides, she adds, "It doesn't hurt that he's a hunk."

Angela agrees to give Tony a shot. She doesn't regret it. Tony has a winning way with Jonathan. He even gets the kid to eat eggs for breakfast, instead of sugary cereal.

"Isn't there anything else?" whines Jonathan.

"Yeah," Tony shoots back. "Hunger."

There is, however, one problem — Tony keeps butting into Angela's personal life. One night, for instance, she brings a date home for a late-night bite to eat.

Tony thinks he hears a prowler, barges in to find them wrestling around on the kitchen floor. He almost murders the guy — who turns out to be Angela's boss.

The boss is about to decide who the new agency head will be. Angela is in the running. He has invited her to his country house for the weekend. She has said yes.

Tony is horrified.

"My weekend has nothing to do with my promotion," she huffs.

"You'll never know unless you don't go," he insists.

"Who are you, Jiminy Cricket?" she demands.

But she realizes Tony is right. She refuses the weekend and gets the job anyway. It would have been more interesting if she hadn't but these are, after all, the days of warm, happy sitcoms.

The big issues here are matters like her "dainties." Tony is too embarrassed to wash them. "If I worked for you," she says, "I'd wash your whatevers." "My whatevers ain't pink," he replies.

Or her bathroom — he won't go in there because he thinks it's her private domain. She says her private domain could use a cleaning. He agrees, and is pleased to discover she has a giant bathtub. He decides to use it one evening, unaware she has come home and is using it herself.

There is an attraction between Angela and Tony, but it isn't overplayed. He's a simple, loyal guy filled with native wisdom — Hazel with big muscles. She's a modern career woman with a lot going for her and a lot of flaws.

There's absolutely nothing new, but good performances bring it off. ABC originally aired "Who's the Boss?" on Thursdays, opposite CBS's "Magnum, P.I." and NBC's powerful sitcom lineup, but have since moved it to Tuesday nights. That's a good sign: "Who's the Boss?" deserves a better chance.

Jaded

Age, Color Most Crucial Aspects In Selecting A Piece Of This Rock

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

If you think green when you think of jade, your thinking isn't 100 percent correct, unless perhaps you're thinking of the amount of your 'green' (money) that it would take to amass a fine collection of this super-hard stone.

Jade, which symbolizes the mysteries of the Orient, comes in a spectrum of shades — about 100 hues that range from an almost black green, through an array of ever-lightening greens and into white. The color sidetracks into a prized yellow-white stone which is called mutton fat because of its resemblance to sheep's fat.

Jade "is exciting to someone who understands it," said Winter Park antiques dealer R.T. Rademacher. And the 55-year-old Rademacher, who "was raised in China during the summer in the family warehouse going over jade," understands the stone well enough to have written books on its hold over its admirers.

Johnny Cohen of New Orleans, who treasures over 300 pieces of jade in his personal collection, said when you buy jade you buy beauty.

"You buy jade not for its investment value, but for its beauty. The value, because it is a limited commodity, never goes down, but when I buy jade it's a personal thing," said Cohen, whose gallery holds one of the largest jade collections in the Western world with pieces ranging in value from $2,000 to $400,000.

Rademacher said the appeal of jade, which for centuries has fascinated the Oriental mind and is now admired in the West as well, is that it is "just a gorgeous stone."

A stone so gorgeous and durable that the Chinese who "had mountains of it" and who revere age and longevity assigned "spiritual feelings to every piece of jade, even if it was a piece of crap," he said.

"Everything in China is related to age and the reverence of ancestors as well as their ancestors' possessions. Jade pieces are handed down from generation to generation."

But for the contemporary Western collector, Rademacher said, "Color is your preference," along with the age of the piece if it has been transformed into a work of art. The quality of the artist's work always figures into the value of a piece of jade which has been sculpted into an article of jewelry, a vase or any figure or form which a patient artisan has given it, he said.

And to work with jade, patience is a must. It's a very painstaking business to cut and coax jade, which rivals a diamond in hardness, into a desired form, Rademacher said.

The technique of the jade artist has change little over the centuries, except for the addition of power-polishing tools to the hand wheels, diamond drills and diamond pointed instruments which have always been the tools of the jade cutting trade, Rademacher said.

Modern artists produce a smoother product, he said, and that is one way you can tell a new piece of jade work from an antique which will have sharp edges on its surface unless they have been worn down through centuries of handling.

But it still takes time to produce jade art. Japanese artists, Rademacher said, have been working for the past five years and have yet to complete a $1 million jade sculpture commissioned by American industrialist Armand Hammer.

That piece, which is less than one foot square, features an Oriental grotto scene complete with tiny people.

If that's a little out of your financial reach, you might try jade jewelry. But be forewarned, if you buy a new piece in a top quality jewelry store, it will be 10 years before its resale value will reach what you paid for it, Rademacher said.

Despite that, he said jade is "more valuable per weight than a diamond" and is abundant in many areas of the world, including North America. It is, however, very costly to mine because of its density. But American jade, he said, is more loose in strata and is less dense and thus less valuable than Chinese jade.

Those who have amassed collections of jade, perhaps on military tours of duty in the Far East in the first half of the 20th Century, have an assortment of treasures so valuable, Rademacher said, that they shroud them with secrecy and protect them with insurance and burglar alarms.

"Most of these people ... don't want somebody to come in their house and just go whish and snatch it away," he said.

There's more to jade than green as this cover from a 15th Century Chinese plaque shows. Both the green Niessons and leaves on the tree and the white flowers as well as the flaming white and green water are jade. The value of the plaque, which belonged to a Chinese emperor as well as the Rockefeller, is $25,000. The piece hangs in a Winter Park antique shop.

What A Hoo! Sullivan And Bogart Twins?

DEAR DICK — An acquaintance told me recently that she read somewhere that Ed Sullivan and Humphrey Bogart were twin brothers. Did she read right or was it a misprint? — Mrs. T.P., Warren, Mich.

It's not true, not even close. Ed and Bogie were not twins, not brothers, not even remotely related. I have a feeling your friend needs new glasses. Or, at least, better quality reading material.

DEAR DICK — We spent several years overseas and when we got home I became a Jim Varney fan while watching the last few episodes of "The Roustabouts." My sister says he and Ernest P. Worrell, who does commercials for KAMR in Amarillo, Texas, are the same person. Is that true? — G.M.N., Clovis, N.M.

Yes, Varney has a good thing going with his

Ask Dick Kleiner

"Ernest" commercials, which he does for many stations. He tailors them to the individual requirements of whichever station hires him.

DEAR DICK — As a young man I fell in love with Valerie Bertinelli. I have seen almost every episode of "One Day at a Time" and I have watched three of her movies, "The Princess and the Cabbie," "I Was a Mail-Order Bride" and "The Seduction of Gina." I read that was all she did but my sister says she saw another one. Can you tell me the title of it? — R.E.D., Rock Hill, S.C.

I know of two other things Valerie did — a TV movie called "The Promise of Love," and the CBS Festival of Lively Arts For Young People production of "The Secret of Charles Dickens," in which she played Dickens' daughter.

DEAR DICK — Can you find out for us if a very good picture from years ago will be shown on TV again? It is "Leave Her to Heaven," with Gene Tierney and Cornel Wilde.

As the years go by, the chances of old pictures like that one showing up on TV again grow slimmer.

NBC Slides Crawls Back Into The Cellar In Nielsen Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS for the second consecutive time last week won the prime time ratings, with NBC slipping out of the No. 2 slot and back into its familiar third place in the second week of the 1984-85 TV season.

The A.C. Nielsen prime time ratings for the week ending Oct. 7 gave CBS an 18.5 rating and a 30 percent share of the audience, ABC a 16.0 rating with a 26 share and NBC a 15.9 rating with a 26 share.

Most of ABC's regular programming was pre-empted last week by the American and National League baseball playoffs and the only program the network had on the list of the Top 10 shows was the dramatic conclusion of the final Chicago Cubs-San Diego Padres game that ran over into prime time on Sunday.

NBC's new situation comedy "The Bill Cosby Show" kept CBS's popular "Magnum, P.I." off the Top 10 list for the second consecutive week.

In the evening news category, "CBS Evening News with Dan Rather" was No. 1 with an 11.9 rating. ABC's "World News Tonight" had a 10 rating and "NBC Nightly News" had an 9.7. Shares were not available.

Top 10 prime time shows for the week ending Oct. 7, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co. were:

1. Dallas (CBS)
2. CBS Wednesday Night Movie (He's Not Your Son)
3. CBS Monday Movie Special (Passions)
4. Simon and Simon (CBS)
5. The Bill Cosby Show (NBC)
6. The A-Team (NBC)
7. Baseball playoff (rivalry) (ABC)
8. Knots Landing (CBS)
9. Family Ties (NBC)
10. Murder She Wrote (CBS)

Hoffman Stars In 'Salesman'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dustin Hoffman decided to return to the stage in Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" because he didn't want to wait three years between good roles the way he did between "Kramer vs. Kramer" and "Tootsie." Unlike previous TV productions of the Miller play, the CBS presentation will not be truncated. It will run the full three hours.

...Jade

"There has always been an interest in jade collecting. But most of the people who really want to own it and collect it can't afford it. The older collectors can come in and pay $500, $1,000...$5,000 for a small piece of jade, but there aren't that many who would who don't already have a similar piece in their collection."
Rademacher advises those on a small income who are enthralled with jade to start small, buy older pieces imported around 1940.
"They haven't got antique value as such. But you can get a quality stone and the mountings for the small pieces of jewelry are quite beautiful," he said, adding that a single-stone, ladies jade and gold ring from that era can be picked up for about $100.

But again the color and the quality of the stone figures into the value. A small circle pin of jadeite, the most prized of all jades with its imperial green, clear-glass character, will sell for up to $150,000.
"Jadeite is the most valuable stone in the world," Rademacher said.
Other stones, including soft soapstone and coral have been passed off as jade, he said; so for the novice entering the jade market, Rademacher advises that you "know your dealer and know there's no such thing as a bargain in jade."
