

Happy New Year

ENTIRE COUNTRY SHIVERS IN GRASP OF COLD THAT BEATS ALL RECORDS

EVEN FLORIDA HAS TWO COLD NIGHTS OF LOW PRESSURE

Florida people hardly ever have cause to complain of the weather for this state usually has the finest brand of this article especially in the winter time but this winter has broken all records for a steady brand of cold and disagreeable weather.

Something new in meteorology and weather history has been produced by the cold wave which is bringing near disaster to the growers and truckers of the state this week.

Just what the damage to the headed lettuce and cabbage and other vegetables in this section will be is problematical at this time as the weather has not warmed up sufficiently to estimate.

There were many reports of the snow that fell at Jacksonville and other points farther north and there were even some people here in Sanford who saw snowflakes early Sunday morning.

The cold registered here Sunday was 28 and the thermometer went down last night almost that far, making two very cold nights in succession.

It will take several days to determine just what this phenomenal cold snap has damaged.

Methodist church. During his two years pastorate here Dr. Hilburn has been a most faithful worker, endeavoring at all times to further the interests of his church and the work of God in which he was engaged.

Ocala Party Here

A live bunch of Marion county boosters were here Saturday enroute home from the state educational meeting at Daytona and stopped over here a few minutes to visit the Herald editor.

Postoffice Is All Right

Several of the state papers are commenting on the good work done at holiday time by their postoffice force and we want to add a line or two in behalf of the Sanford postoffice.

Red Cross New Quarters

The Red Cross Society has moved its quarters from the Elks Club to rooms in the Pico Block corner of First street and Railroad Way.

SEMINOLE COMPANY EQUIPPED

THE GUARDS NOW HAVE THE GUNS AND UNIFORMS

The Seminole County Guards are in fine shape now and with the non-commissioned officers school every Tuesday night and the regular drill every Friday night the boys are being trained for regular service and if they are called upon to render service to their country they can be depended upon to do their full duty.

The uniforms are all here now and are being distributed to every squad in the county and with the excellent Winchester rifles that will shoot as far and as straight as any army rifle made the Seminole Guards are as well equipped as any body of men in the United States.

Every day that dawns shows the wisdom of those who first fostered the idea of having a body of well trained competent men in this county and the boys who have gone to the front who were members of the guards have found that the training of the boys here in Sanford has boosted them up a notch in the regular service.

Y. M. C. A. TO REACH ABOVE MARK

TWENTY MILLIONS WILL BE SPENT IN UNITED STATES

Atlanta Ga. Jan. 1.—Though the latest report issued by the War Work Council Y. M. C. A. from New York City shows $1,602,372 raised by the seven states comprising the Southeastern Military Department during the recent campaign it is safe to state that the total now exceeds $1,800,000 according to Executive Secretary S. A. Ackley.

Tennessee leads the southern states having subscribed over $400,000. Georgia has jumped from fifth to second place since the December 1st report with $351,580 raised. The other five states have also over subscribed their quotas in the following order: North Carolina, Alabama, South Carolina, Mississippi and Florida.

A national increase of $2,000,000 in subscriptions this month is estimated; $50,153,054 being the country wide total previously reported. This $17,000,000 over subscription has saved the day for the Army "Y." Before the War Department made known its additional calls upon the Red Triangle its budget for nine months ending June 30 1918 called for an expenditure of $35,000,000.

It can be roughly estimated now that $20,000,000 of this fund will be spent for work among enlisted men in the United States. The budget appearance of the guards.

They have been given everything from the school of the soldier to actual guard mount and Captain Dinger expects in the near future to give them a real hike in the country and camp at night where they will get a touch of the real thing.

SOUNDS LIKE PLOT TO BOMB OUR CAPITAL FOUND IN TALLAHASSEE get October 1st estimated $11,120,000 but demands since have nearly doubled.

When General Pershing requested the Army "Y" to take over the canteen service in France an outlay of $5,000,000 not in the budget was made necessary.

In France with our boys 1,500 secretaries will be used. About half that number was previously estimated. There are now 500 secretaries serving French Italian and Russian soldiers at the request of their respective governments their numbers increasing on an average of 100 monthly.

With army Y. M. C. A. "huts" valued at over $700,000 and over 500 secretaries on active service in twenty five training camps forts and naval stations of the southeast this department now has the largest equipment and personnel in the United States.

Orlando Merchants Easy To be touched for $60 in cash and an order of $75 in merchandise is not very amusing but this is the plight which R. C. Woodberry of the Woodberry Company is in today after an experience with several smooth chaps who were supposed to be from Sanford Fla.

The same old trick of presenting a check for a larger amount than the cost of the goods was worked to good advantage. As related by Mr. Woodberry Wilbur Mason and E. R. Mason came to his store to purchase a grocery business. The stock purchased amounted to $75. In payment of this E. R. Mason presented a check for $95.00.

Mr. Woodberry was notified several days later by his bank that the check had been returned. Upon investigation it was found that Mason brothers were not known in Sanford and the bill of goods which Mr. Woodberry had shipped there had never been called for.

Woman's Club Notes Tomorrow Wednesday the 2nd is the day for the general club business meeting. It is hoped that every member will be present or in accordance with the rule furnish the treasurer Mrs. Geo. Fox with sufficient reason for her absence.

Lake county commissioners have called an election to be held January 15th to decide whether or not compulsory dipping of cattle shall prevail in that county.

Estimates show the Government Printing Office will use 100,000,000 pounds of paper, costing about $4,000,000 this year.

LITTLE GIRL PICKED UP NOTE OF PECULIAR NATURE

The following weird tale comes from Tallahassee and sounds more like April 1st than Jan. 1st. It appeared in yesterday's Tampa Tribune:

Tallahassee Jan. 1.—As a result of what local Chief of Police E. R. Isler believes to be a deep-laid plot to blow up the state capitol Gov. Catta has ordered an adequate guard placed around the state house grounds tonight and each night in future with orders to shoot "any unidentified person who attempts to enter without giving a full statement of his business."

The governor this afternoon told the chief of police to arm the men who have volunteered for the purpose "with shot guns loaded with buck shot."

Late Saturday evening the little daughter of Photographer Max Bein found a note concealed and acrefully packed in an English walnut shell between the capitol and her father's studio. The note could not be read except by holding it before a mirror and contained this message:

"Bombs are ready; don't fail me capitol is unguarded; meet me tonight at home."

Mrs. Bein to whom her little daughter ran with her find could make nothing out of the note but sent for the chief of police. He deciphered its language by holding it before a mirror when it became most legible. He reported the matter to the secretary of state in the absence from the city of the governor. The night force of State Comptroller Ernest Amos went home. Walter McLin and H. Clay Crawford volunteered to guard the capitol Saturday night and did so forcing all passers by to take the street the chief having armed each one of them with a revolver.

Today Chief Isler called upon the governor and his secretary showed them the cleverly prepared note and handed them a full report of the matter in which he reminded the governor that "we are at war with the most treacherous and damnable race on earth." The result was that the executive came immediately to his office this afternoon consulted with his secretary of state and private secretary and ordered the establishing of a large posse about the state house tonight and in future. The chief said tonight:

"The governor did not regard it as a joke and said that if it were this is no time for jokes of that nature. He told me to take every precaution to protect the state property here."

As no bombs were found in the capitol and no strangers attempted to enter the authorities believe the note went astray but that had it reached its destination a shapeless pile of brick might have told the story this morning.

Red Cross Notes

The work rooms located in the Pico Block are now open to the public and it is urged upon all who can to come and help the work along. Rooms are open from 8:30 to 12 and from 1:30 to 4:30.

The Post Office Department has established coastwise parcel-post water routes to facilitate service for the cantonments, which will operate to relieve war-time railroad congestion.

NEW YEAR BELLS

By Alfred Tennyson

Ring out wild bells, to the wild sky, The flying cloud, the frosty light; The year is dying in the night. Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new, Ring, happy bells, across the snow; The year is going, let him go; Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind For those that here we see no more; Ring out the feud of rich and poor, Ring in redress for all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying party, And ancient forms of party strife; Ring in the nobler modes of life, With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out the want, the care, the sin, The faithless coldness of the times; Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes, But ring the fuller minstrel in.

Ring out false pride in place and blood, The civic slander and the spite; Ring in the love of truth and right, Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease, Ring out the narrowing lust of gold, Ring out the thousand wars of old, Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free, The larger heart, the kindlier hand; Ring out the darkness of the land, Ring in the Christ that is to be.

AMUSEMENT

The Slacker.

"The Slacker" is a nation's devotion and a nation's problem expressed in visible form. No American can see it without feeling a deeper love and appreciation for his country than he ever knew before. In the story, Margaret Christy and Robert Wallace have been engaged for two years, but he shows no desire to get married until war is declared. The announcement is made that single men will be called first. Then he hurries to the altar. His wife, intensely patriotic plunges into recruiting work. Her relatives and friends enlist but her husband does not. Finally she learns the truth, he is a slacker. Shame and anguish overcome her. How she meets her problem is told in a masterly way which will thrill the spine of the nation. The Slacker is a production for which every loyal American will give profound thanks.

This picture will be at the Lyric Theatre, Monday, Dec. 31.

"The Slacker" at Lyric Monday

"A play that will thrill the nation." Written and directed by William Christy Cabanne with the star supreme, Emily Stevens.

From "The Slacker:"

"Not all the fighting can be done by those who go to war."

"Peace is wonderful, but the fearful, uncertain peace of one who fears a thief in the night, is not peace."

"Yes, a slacker! I only wish the word were a whip with which I could lash you across the face!"

"It is terrible that the contest had to come; but isn't it glorious to know that we have the will and the courage to grapple with the menace?"

"This family cannot contain one slacker!"

Lyric Monday

The Story.—Marguerite Christy and Robert Wallace have been engaged for two years, but still he does not ask her to set a date for the wedding. War is declared. Because single males are to be called first, he now hides behind a woman's skirt and insists on an immediate marriage. Marguerite is intensely patriotic and does active work in recruiting. Her young men friends and relatives all enlist except her husband. Finally she learns why he married her. She determines to make a man of him for the sake of the little life that is to come and she succeeds. A passion of patriotism is born in Robert Wallace's heart, and he gives himself unreservedly to his country. Great heights of nobility, sacrifice and patriotic fervor are reached in this sublime photodrama.

"SERVANT" AN ABUSED WORD

President of United States, Heads of Banks, Ministers, Physicians, Are in Same Class.

It is a pity that we have allowed opprobrium to attach to the good old word "servant," opprobrium utterly unmerited. Talk about "help," or the latest equivalent, "maid," used quite inappropriately, says the Youth's Companion, does not alter circumstances in the least, nor is there any reason why we should wish them altered. "Every one who is worth anything is a servant. The merchant serves his customers. If he serves them not well, they discharge him. The lawyer serves his clients, the minister his parishioners, the doctor his patients. The president of a bank is a servant, and so is the president of a railway. The president of the United States is the hired servant of the people of the United States, and few servants in any occupation are more abused by their masters."

Service, well and faithfully performed, is the only real dignity, and all the outward pomp and insignia of rank are but badges of service, and disgraceful if they are not earned.

Service is life. It is only when we are doing something to serve the large movement of the world what we are entitled to live in it, that we really do live in it. Life is measured by usefulness. Of all the varied affliction that swift-footed age can bring, none is more oppressive than the sense of diminished capacity for service.

Not to be ministered unto, but to minister, not to be served, but to serve, is the utterance of the highest authority in spiritual matters. There is but one disgrace connected with service of any kind, and that is to serve ill. Let us perform whatever service falls to us, large or small, high or low, with all the zeal and all the strength that is in us. Then we shall be sure that when we depart we shall be missed, if only a little; and there is no more solid satisfaction in the world than that.

Meaning of Western Reserve.

The phrase Western Reserve means northern Ohio, but it originated in Connecticut. When Connecticut, in 1786, ceded her western lands to the United States she reserved a large tract adjoining Pennsylvania, now forming the northeastern corner of Ohio, which for several years was called the Connecticut reserve and then Western Reserve. Complete cession of the reservation was made in 1800.

Avoiding Trouble.

How much trouble he avoids who does not look to see what his neighbor says, or does or thinks, but only to what he does himself, that it may be just and pure.—Marcus Aurelius.

BRITAIN'S FLEET READY TO FIGHT

Most Powerful Aggregation of Superfighting Vessels Ever Assembled.

HOLD MOCK BATTLES DAILY

Is Governed by One of the Most Efficient Business Administrations in History—Every Vessel Provisioned for Two Months.

London.—Britain's grand fleet is not only the greatest and most powerful aggregation of superfighting vessels ever assembled by a nation but is undoubtedly governed by one of the most efficient business administrations in naval history. The enormous outpouring of treasure in money and supplies required to keep the grand fleet in condition to leap at a moment's notice for an engagement with the enemy accomplishes maximum results. After a week's visit with the fleet, the New York Sun's correspondent was able to obtain a general idea of the results attained and of the plans upon which this enormous fighting force operates.

Primarily the grand fleet is protecting England from an attack by the German fleet. Since the beginning of the war Germany has known of the existence of this superior force lying silently in wait at its base in northern waters and the thought of contact with it has kept the Teuton navy well within protected harbors.

Secondarily the British battle cruiser squadrons are acting as a protecting force for the Scandinavian traffic, and now that America has brought into being a line of communications across the Atlantic, Britain's fleet acts as a guardian for that vital thread of shipping. Every hour since the declaration of war in 1914 the fleet has been in readiness, and its maintenance under such a long strain will constitute one of the glorious chapters in the history of naval affairs.

Provisioned for Two Months.

In the fleet are some thousands of vessels of every kind, aside from the battle cruisers themselves. Each of the cruiser carries a complement of from eight hundred to a thousand men, making in a human element well up into six figures. The exact data cannot be given, but the enormity would almost be beyond conception even if put down in terms of hundreds of thousands. Just one item that seemed impressive and which brought up visions of the herculean tasks confronting the commanders of the fleet was the statement that each cruiser must be continually supplied with two months' provisions of food, oil and everything else that would be needed by a small-sized city in case of siege.

His majesty's ship St. Vincent is of the battleship type, built in 1908, and it was aboard her that I lived during my visit. She was engaged at the time in daylight target practice, carried out within the harbor in conjunction with the other vessels that made up the squadron. Every man was in his fighting position, carrying out his duties just as if the squadron were attacking an enemy. They were firing small shells through sub-caliber guns inside the monsters that are ordinarily used in battle.

Mock Engagement Every Day.

Heldes this actual practice of engaging the enemy the entire fleet carries out daily a mock engagement directed from the flagship. This is done altogether on paper, the admiral of the fleet sending out messages giving the imaginary location of his vessels. At a given hour he sends out a message saying the enemy is sighted in a certain position. The fleet is supposed to be sailing at a given speed and when the various vessels come within range they proceed to engage the enemy. On paper many German fleets have been sunk and many allied ships have sunk to Davy Jones' locker. Another method of keeping the men involved in the fighting is through a war "game," in which the whole fleet is plotted out on charts and certain men designated to command the enemy vessels, directing their movements and playing their wits and knowledge against others who are supposed to be commanding British cruisers.

The same methods are used aboard all the hundreds of craft that dot the harbor. There is continued movement. One squadron is always in action some place on the water between the dreary brown hills or is steaming out to sea for patrol. Submarines disappear and reappear constantly and are sworn at by captains who are attempting to keep some target in line.

Throughout the whole of the seemingly confused mass of ships there is order and system. Daily or weekly charts show the efficiency of each boat. Not a tin can nor a bone is wasted, and the economy of each ship is known down to the last penny.

Find Cave of Winds.

Columbus, Kan.—A "cave of winds" has been discovered in the Columbus-Miami mining field near the state line north of Quapaw. The wind is so strong the miners declare their lamps are blown out the moment they enter. But that is not the only peculiar feature of the cave. It was once filled with water, but the pumps of another mining company, more than a mile away, has drained it. When the pumps are not working, water accumulates.

Water Covers 80,000,000 Acres. According to the scientists of the geological survey, there are in the neighborhood of 80,000,000 acres of good land in the United States which is more or less covered with water. This, at the lowest calculation, represents a country bigger than Great Britain and Ireland.

Not Divisible.

Tunkingham met Hukby in the street, an Hukby said, "I'm a little short, and should like to ask you a conundrum in mental arithmetic." "Proceed," said Tunkingham. "Well," said Hukby, "suppose you had ten dollars in your pocket, and I should ask you for five, how much would remain?" "Ten!" was the prompt answer.

Another year begins today. May it be a happy and prosperous one for all of us.

The best New Year's resolution that we can make is to pay cash for everything we buy in the year 1918.

Everything has been raised except the subscription price of The Herald and this remains the same. Please reciprocate by keeping up your subscription.

Editor Bob Holly of the Sanford Herald has become deeply humiliated because of the fact that he had a severe attack of the German measles.

It may help the government some to take over Sanford's old trolley line. Bob Holly would be a fine engineer, and Forrest Lake would look good as conductor or fireman.

Just tell Orlando merchants you are from Sanford and you can get all the credit you want. They even take wooden checks down there. They have probably heard about money growing on trees in Sanford.

Resolve that you will be an active member of the Sanford Board of Trade during the year and not only help by your membership fee but by your presence at all the meetings. The Board of Trade is the only organization that will hold the present status of the county and keep up the good work of boosting.

Charlie Leffer, a former Sanford boy is assisting in organizing the county guards in Dade county. Charlie is a former member of the state troops, being captain of the Sanford company and he knows the value of trained troops in time of trouble and every sensible man knows that there will be trouble in Florida before the war is over.

Behind the clouds is the sun still shining and despite the cold wave over Florida we can look for plenty of fine weather in the future. An early winter means an early spring and an early spring in the states to the north of us means bountiful crops that will help to win the war. To those visitors among us from the north who have been uncomfortable in the "Sunny South" we wish to say that your own state in the north is much colder and if it is 28 here it is probably below zero in your state.

"MY COUNTRY 'TIS OF THEE"
The light is more precious than peace, and we shall fight for the thing which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy for the rights of those who submit authority to have a voice in their own governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion by right by such a peace as will give every man the right to live in peace and safety to all nations and make the world at last free. To such a task we can dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have, with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace which she has treasured. God which she can do no other.—Woodrow Wilson.

No nation can hold its place in the world, or do any work really worth doing, unless it stands ready to guard its rights with an armed hand. That orderly liberty which is both the foundation and the captivation of our civilization which can be gained and kept only by men who are willing to fight for an ideal; who hold high the love of honor, love of faith, love of flag and love of country.—Theodore Roosevelt.

"Two principles have stood face to face from the beginning of time and will ever continue to struggle. The one is the common right of humanity; the other is the divine right of kings."—Abraham Lincoln.

"Do justice to all, and never forget that we are Americans."—George Washington.

"God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it."—Daniel Webster.

"Let us run high the old flag, the old, the true flag; the flag of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln; the flag of government of, for and by the people; the flag of national faith held sacred and of national honor unstained; the flag of human rights and of good example to all nations; the flag of true civilization, peace and good will to man."—Carl Schurz.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our Country, right or wrong."—Stephen Decatur.

"This is my ambition for America; that wherever an American citizen may go upon the earth he will be honored and loved, because he represents a nation that has nothing but justice and kindness for all races of men."—Charles Edward Jefferson.

TOO MUCH FOR THE BIG ONES
Even the metropolitan press is finding its facilities strained to handle the immense amount of free publicity matter that is being sent to the newspapers. The city papers print from sixteen to sixty pages daily; and if they, with that much space and being issued daily are unequal to the task of publishing all this free matter, how can country weeklies like the Herald handle it?

Among other big dailies that are finding the task too heavy for them is the Tampa Tribune which, a few days ago, contained these paragraphs:
"If these bureau heads would see to it that communications sent out along conservation lines are of twenty lines instead of twenty columns' length the papers would carry more of them."

The Tribune has about thirty days' solid matter on its hooks from the various departments on conservation lines. The majority of the articles would make over two columns. A word to the wise.—Punta Gorda Herald.

ANOTHER MANIFESTATION OF KULTUR

Of the loot taken from the Church of the Holy Sepulchre by the defeated and retreating Turks the famous ostensory or monstrance of brilliant has been sent to the Kaiser in Berlin to take its place beside similar relics collected by the Imperial German government's troops or those of its allies in the course of the war.

The trophy of war will unquestionably please its new possessor. It will serve as evidence of the acquisition of kultur by the Turks. It will constitute an enduring testimonial to the efficiency that Prussian masters have imposed on their cobelligerents.

No commander except a Turk corrupted by Prussian overlords would loot the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. If any man suggested to General Allenby the conqueror of Jerusalem that he should remove from the church its sacred vessels to send to King George he would be expelled from the camp; if an insane man should gather them up and escape with them to France or Italy or Petrograd or Japan or to any of the other countries allied against Germany he would be punished and they would be returned. The Bolsheviks might rob the church but the Russian people would scorn the act.

But the Prussian system is different. The world learned of it in the Boer uprising. It reaches out for the astronomical instruments of China and it accepts the monstrance from the Church of the Holy Sepulchre; and the Kaiser will keep the monstrance if he can. For such is the nature of kultur.—New York Sun.

Dr. Miller Local Surgeon

Dr. Oliver J. Miller has received the appointment as local surgeon for the Florida East Coast Railway. His territory will probably be as far as Titusville. Dr. Miller is division medical examiner for the A. C. L. Railway and his position with the East Coast was given him in recognition of his valuable services with the A. C. L. He will now act as medical examiner for the East Coast Railway employees since each employee is required to undergo medical examination before entering the service. Dr. Miller accepted this position with the proviso that it will be in force only until Dr. Neal returns from the army Dr. Neal being formerly local surgeon for the East Coast Railway.

A Chief Is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith. "He'll Print 'em"--- So Says Saunterer.

Sundown
"When the wounded in hospitals come to die," says a British officer, "their last request, in a great number of cases is for the prayer, 'Now I lay me down to sleep.'"

When my sun of life is low,
When the dew shadows creep,
Say for me before I go,
"Now I lay me down to sleep."

I am at the journey's end,
I have sown and I must reap;
There are no more ways to mend—
Now I lay me down to sleep.

Nothing more, to doubt or dare—
Nothing more to give or keep;
Say for me the children's prayer,
"Now I lay me down to sleep."

Who has learned along the way—
Primrose path or stony steep—
More of wisdom than to say,
"Now I lay me down to sleep."

What have you more wise to tell
When the shadows round me creep
All is over, all is well—
Now I lay me down to sleep.
B. L. T., Chicago Tribune.

All that peace talk of Germany and Austria is not on the surface. I firmly believe that Germany is tired of the war and Austria would have laid down long ago if that country was not controlled by Germany. Out of all this peace talk will come something definite in the early spring and about the time that America gets ready to launch a big drive it would not surprise me if the German people did not rise up and take the Kaiser off the throne and establish a republic and end the war.

With lettuce going to waste in the fields all around Sanford there was none to be had at the local groceries last Saturday morning. This seems strange indeed and demonstrates more than words can tell that my city market idea was good last spring and is good now. It shows that the consumer should be supplied by the producer direct especially in our case here in Sanford where we have the greatest vegetable section that the world has ever produced and yet the folks in this city are forced to forego the pleasure of eating vegetables or they are forced to pay as much or more for the vegetables than the people of New York City. All of which recalls what I said many times about the real benefits to be derived from a city market and this idea should be revived at once. I told W. P. Stone of Union avenue my tale of woe Saturday afternoon and that big hearted gentleman went to his farm and brought me in several heads of fine lettuce but others of my friends here are not so lucky and numbers of families are without lettuce and other vegetables especially where they depend upon the groceries for them. This should not be and our visitors who come here expect plenty of vegetables and they should be able to get them at all times.

Thorndyke in the Palm Beach Post gets off the following pungent article:

"You may have seen notices that this government is to take steps to show the people in Florida how to take the fish from these waters, properly dress and clean them, and ship them in lead cars to northern markets." So? Goodness gracious, Annie, we've been doing that same little stunt for the several past years, and surely I've never heard tell that the work was done improperly. Once in awhile the government is a trifle, just a trifle, behind. A few months ago the authorities in Washington issued a lot of matter telling of how potatoes could be used in various mixtures with flour. Many figured the plan had been but recently thought out, but the grand dames in little New England were working that same stunt long before the Centennial exposition in old Philly in 1876. It wouldn't surprise me to any time learn that the government believed that it would be possible to produce oranges and grapefruit in Florida—if some one from the pomological department up there would come down and show us how to do it. Yes, sir."

A few years ago the great cry of "efficiency" went up from a thousand big business enterprises over the country and, the younger men were given preference over the older ones in the mistaken idea that an older man could not deliver the goods. While I am not in the young man's class any more I feel young enough to give any one of the young ones a race for the money and know that I can do as much as any of them. Now that the war is on and the young men are going to the front the older ones are found to be in as good shape as the young men and in many instances in much better shape. And those too old are being placed in the important positions made vacant by the young soldiers. Thus necessity will bring big business back to first principles that a man is never too old as long as he can deliver the goods. Dr. Hirschberg of John Hopkins University gives us some good points in the following:

When is a man old?
Don't throw up your hands and look for an answer in that ubiquitous, eternal, worn, rusty and overworked statement, "as old as his arteries." This stupidly perpetuated error is nowhere near the truth.

A man is as old as his memory is acute and recent. This is a part of the solved riddle. If you have as sharp cut, sharp and emphatic a memory for recent events as for youthful adventures, the snows and storms of bygone years, you are youthful, though you be a nonagenarian.

The period of senility begins in many men in their twenties. Then they become full of dry rot and as set as plaster of paris in a cast. The instant you are sure you know as much as can be known, even about your own business, you are an old fossil.

Laplace was seventy-eight when the Stygian shades threw their death mantle over him. Still he was a very much younger man, perhaps, than you, friend reader, because he had traveled, studied, investigated and learned much, yet admitted that "what we know is nothing; what we do not know is immense."

Briefly a man is an antiquated old relic frequently when his stature stops growing. His mind and senses often cease to grow with his bones. He settles down to his work and his domestic contentment in his twenties and is still there in his eighties.

One man, I know has held the same position for thirty years. He is seventy.

"I have only held two jobs in my life," he boasts. "I was a horse car driver for twenty years and turnkey for thirty."

Wonderful, grand! How youth and age envy him.

Yet they should not. Such men are decrepit and senile in their stanchest, most vigorous physical period. They are in a rut and never grow or learn. They never forget anything and they never learn anything.

Montaigne was senile at thirty-eight, in the vigor of his days, because he then returned to his castle. Sir Walter Scott was old at fifty-five, because he stopped studying, learning and experiencing new things.

The satisfied contented man, as one writer puts it, "full of his little stock of principles, prejudices, ideas and methods at twenty-five or thirty-five, is a mindy old, worn out weed, a remnant that has been cut off and ceased to grow."

A broad-minded, open thinking man never grows old. The reason "old men" and "elderly persons" are not given positions usually is not because of bent backs, gray hairs and wrinkles, but because most employers, from bitter experience have found out that they will learn little or nothing that is new. They seek rather to force their own prejudices and dogmatic ideas upon those around them.

Plumbers, carpenters, musicians, doctors and mechanics often become aged and set in the early twenties. It seems to be in the nature of living flesh to become thus crystallized and molded so that the muscles and senses resist a change in new directions.

Plumbers and others, when told by professors of physics or architects to do a piece of work in a new way or to them in a strange way will insist that "it can't be done." They will fight for their antiquated idea or method.

Youth, irrespective of the flight of seasons or the passage of years, consists largely in a capacity to do the things that have been done their old ways, as an entrenched habit for years, in a new and better way.

Youth means quick change, sharp senses and adaptable muscles. It spells a wonderful ingenuity to take in strange and wholly different situations, events and opportunities in a quick and better way. It is the susceptibility of the senses, muscles and other tissues. Radically new ideas, often contradictory to lifelong convictions, when they are absorbed and accepted quickly by any alert intelligent person, suggest that he is very young, though his years number ninety and nine.

Philadelphia Evening Ledger. "He is the man who wins a commission. Disagreeable as he may be in the office, in the training camp, his stern demeanor attracts the attention of the powers that be. The namby-pamby, pleasant voiced person does not easily learn to rap out his orders with the action of a steel rat trap, however great his book learning may be. There must be a streak of grouchiness in a good line officer."

"But the slouch is in worse repute than ever. Dr. Hibben, in welcoming the Princeton students to the opening of the fall term, referred to a letter he had received from the adjutant general, who gave 'slouchiness of manner, carriage, mind and disposition as the chief cause of failure to win army commissions. The college president urged that students spruce up generally. It is easy enough to recover from slouchiness of garb and carriage; but it is not so easy to make the mind behave. Students should take heed, but the teacher must play his part, too. Too much of our teaching is perfunctory and permits the students' mind to browse about at ease."

ABOUT THE TOBACCO KITS

Slow Deliveries to France Make Slow Replies
Mr. R. J. Holly Herald Sanford Fla.

Dear Sir:—We have been very anxious for some time to speed up the acknowledgements by postal cards of the tobacco kits sent to our soldiers in France and we have had our representatives in France make an investigation. He has just cabled us as follows:

"1600 cases kits on hand American Red Cross. Will all be delivered by Christmas."

As you know before we presented to you for consideration the Tobacco Fund plan we had secured the cooperation of the American Red Cross to transport all kits to France and deliver them to the boys. Major Murphy is head of the American Red Cross in France and all shipments are consigned to him. The first shipment of kits was made to him in August and while the transportation to the other side is not so much delayed when the goods reach Bordeaux or any port in France the congestion of the railroad service is so great that the time they arrive in Paris is very uncertain and it is not safe to figure on goods being delivered in Paris under two or three months. Then there is considerable delay occasioned by the necessity of reshipment from Paris to our troops.

We are writing you about this as your readers may have felt some anxiety due to the fact that not many postal cards have been received as yet. However now that we understand thoroughly why deliveries are so slow and furthermore as we know there are so many kits on hand that will be delivered by Xmas we feel that you might want to tell your readers if they should ask the information that we have been able to give you.

Very truly yours

Beacham Wants Your Number

All proprietors of hotels and restaurants operating in the state of Florida are notified to send in their names and addresses at once to Federal Food Administrator Braxton Beacham at Orlando Florida.

This notification is issued for the purpose of getting a complete list of the restaurant and hotel proprietors that they may be acquainted with the future plans of the United States Food Administration. All hotels whether large or small are included in this notification as are all restaurants and cafes regardless of their size of the extent of their patronage.

Following receipt of names and addresses which must be sent in promptly Administrator Beacham will send other notices direct to the proprietors so that they may have first hand knowledge of what is expected of them in the future. Part of the plans of the food administration will be directed toward giving valuable advice and assistance to the hotel and restaurant men and Mr. Beacham desires each one to act quickly in sending in name and address so that no delay may be had in thoroughly posting those who cater to the needs of the traveling public.

Letter From Forrest Gatchel

The following letter from Forrest Gatchel at Key West to Capt. Dingle of the Seminole Guards will be interesting to his many Sanford friends:

December 26th, 1917.
C. H. Dingle Capt. County Guards, Sanford Fla.

Dear Friend:
Just to let you know that I am settled down now in the service of "Uncle Sam" for the duration of the war or unless something happens to me.

I am stationed at Key West with about 500 men.
We will be here for at least three months. Some will probably leave earlier than that just as fast as the training is completed they are put on ships and sent away.

We arrived at this camp just about two hours after a new ruling came from Washington that all recruits be put in detention for two weeks therefore we will be released New Years Day.

This is a fine crowd here including officers and we get the very best of good things to eat.

You can tell the boys that if they are called to the colors they will certainly appreciate the training and experience they derive from the County Guard organization. I certainly do appreciate it very much.

This is one of the many different kinds of writing material that the Y. M. C. A. furnishes us and all the boys use it too.

With best wishes for continued success of the County Guards I remain

Very truly yours
Forrest E. Gatchel.

Fertilizers for Spring—Order Now

The importance of ordering early your spring fertilizers cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The railroads are overwhelmed with traffic—moving troops and supplies, and hauling the increased tonnage of nearly every line of business.

Only a small fraction of the 60,000 cars ordinarily used to haul the fertilizer tonnage of the South will be available this season.

Order early. Use an ample supply of high-grade, dependable fertilizer. You can afford to be more generous than usual, for today a barrel of potatoes or a box of fruit will buy more fertilizer than in normal times.
Armour fertilizers for spring are ready—fertilizers of proved crop-making quality—to meet every need of crop and soil. Get in touch with our agent today or write for special circular describing our complete line.

SANFORD BOARD OF TRADE MADE GREAT RECORD IN THE PAST YEAR

BIG MEETING NEXT TUESDAY ELECTION OF OFFICERS

On next Tuesday January 8th the annual election of the Sanford Board of Trade will be held at the court house at 7:30 p. m.

Other things equally as important will be recalled at the annual election and it is hoped that the entire membership will be present.

It is no longer a question of what the Board of Trade will do or can do it is what it has already done for us and can do for all concerned.

Like some organizations it has no income save its loyal members and this is its wonderful value.

There are to be elected next Tuesday night a president first and second vice presidents and six members as governors.

AUTO LICENSES BIG

Will Bring Money in the County Road Fund

Tallahassee Jan. 3.—Twenty four thousand applications for automobile license tags were properly made the comptroller and that many tags mailed out before midnight of the last day of 1917.

Chief Easters turned back three men who came here yesterday morning refusing to allow them to get off the boat from Tampa.

After the expenses of the comptroller are subtracted from the total amount of moneys collected from automobile licenses 85 per cent of the remainder goes back to the various counties the amount they receive being based upon the assessed valuation of each county.

WIRE TAPPERS HERE

Were Scared Off Before They Had Time to Fleece Any Victims

The game of wire tapping as old as the hills and almost as ancient as the gold brick scheme seems to be popular in Florida every winter and it takes all the vigilance of our officers to keep the rich tourists from falling into the snare of the well dressed gentlemen who through the Florida cities looking for whom they can devour.

This week two slick individuals landed here going to one of the local hotels and driving a Hudson car made themselves most conspicuous on the streets.

Wire Tappers Urged to Go by Police Acting on an urgent request by the city police four men known to be crooks and suspected of attempting to operate the old "wire tapping" game left St. Petersburg Saturday after they have been "tipped off" to Mayor Al F. Lang.

ITALIANS START YEAR IN VICTORY

WINTER MAY WIN FOR ITALIANS IN THE ALPS

Italian troops have won the first victory recorded in the new year. The defensive line from Lake Garda to the Adriatic has been strengthened by the Italian success in driving the Austro Germans from the Zenson bridgehead on the western bank of the Piave which they had held since mid-November.

While holding strong positions in the mountain region from Asiago across the Brenta to the Piave the Italian front along the Piave is now intact. The enemy has replied only with artillery to the French stroke which gained valuable positions in the Monte Tomba region.

The weather apparently also is coming to the aid of the hard pressed Italian army which has had little rest since the Austro German drive began late in October.

On the western front the coming of 1918 was welcomed by strong artillery duels in the Ypres Cambrai and Verdun areas.

With the entire Cossack territory reported against the Bolsheviks Gen. Malininski troops are advancing toward Moscow and fighting with the Bolsheviks has been resumed at least about 200 miles south of Moscow.

The situation in the Roumanian front is reported to be very serious, the Roumanians having rebelled against Bolshevik agents.

Train service between Riga and Petrograd has been re-established.

A report has been received in London that the members of the American railway mission to Russia stationed at Irkutsk Siberia have been arrested by the Bolsheviks.

New declarations regarding German peace terms will be issued within ten days according to a Munich Bavaria statement.

Circuit Court Next Tuesday

Circuit Court for Seminole county meets here beginning next Tuesday. Judge Perkins will preside and State Attorney Joseph Jones will be the prosecutor.

RECENT COLD BRINGS UP OLD TALES

FLORIDA SUFFERED FROM COLD IN EARLY DAYS

The recent cold snap has set the oldest inhabitant to recounting his reminiscences which he does in an interesting way and at considerable length in Monday's issue of the Times-Union.

The year 1816 was known all through the north as "the year without a summer." Every month in the year there was a frost.

In 1741 there was a snow storm which extended over most of Florida. The inhabitants long afterwards spoke of it as an extraordinary white rain.

The school department of the fair will surpass everything of the sort ever held in the state.

There will be a state High School meet and a cantata in which 300 children will take part.

The fruit vegetable and field crops departments bid fair to be away beyond the average.

There will be a government exhibit sent by the Agricultural department and in fact every division of the fair will be a wonderful demonstration of what can be gathered together to instruct and entertain the thousands of people who attend.

Among the entertaining features will be a great display of fireworks parades by several military and civic organizations each day contributing a share.

It will be seen from these statistics that a fall of the temperature below freezing point 32 degrees has occurred many times and that by no great injury was inflicted upon the trees. It is only when the freezes have occurred in February when the sap was up and new growth started that the trees were greatly injured.

Sub-Tropical Mid-Winter Fair

It is a well recognized fact that for seven years past the Mid-Winter Fair held at Orlando has surpassed like exhibitions held anywhere in the south.

Letters on file in the secretary's office were informed by men who make a business of visiting officially all the fairs state and county held in the south declare that the Sub-Tropical Mid-Winter Fair at Orlando beats them all.

Notwithstanding the fact that nearly all Florida fairs have been called off this season on account of the war the officials of the Mid-Winter Orlando Fair early decided to continue as usual and if possible to surpass all previous efforts.

The premium list for the eighth annual fair is before us and it would appear that they have made good in their preparation for the fair to be held from Feb. 12th to 15th.

Many important features are still in embryo but of those that are scheduled we note that the poultry show will eclipse anything heretofore held in Florida.

The stock department will also be away ahead of anything held for special effects have been made to secure large herds of short horns Jersey Guernseys Bull Angus Ayrshires and others and several car loads are promised from without the state as well as a splendid exhibit of fifteen hundred or more head of the very finest.

The hog department will come in for a large share of attention as a number of large exhibits of Duroc Hampshire Poland China Berkshire and others will compete.

The National Berkshire Congress will meet in Orlando during the fair as well as several poultry associations which means that there will be thousands of delegates.

COUNTY HAS A GRAND TOTAL OF 1012 MEMBERS

The Seminole County Chapter Red Cross now has a total of 1012 members. Before the Christmas drive there were 415 members and the holiday campaign brought in a total of 601 new members and in addition quite a neat sum in donations.

Bad weather ushered in the campaign and delayed its being launched for at least three days. It was also inconsistent because of the weather to have any general rally but aside from this the efficient labor of the many workers is seen and deeply appreciated by those in charge of the campaign.

The Red Cross headquarters are now rooms 1 and 2 in the old Coast Line office building.

Mrs. Chase chairman of the purchasing committee is laying in a nice stock of material and it is hoped to provide ample material for the many workers who are volunteering for service.

This valuable work should be kept going. It is not only serving the soldiers of this country and the allies but demonstrated its great value in the recent Halifax disaster and the earthquake of Guatemala sending aid in the way of food and clothing to these stricken people.

A BUNCH OF INTERESTING ITEMS FROM CORRESPONDENTS—EVENTS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY—EFFICIENT REPORTERS FOR THE HERALD

EAST SANFORD

The portion of our last week's letter did not get in the paper containing part of the account of the Xmas entertainment at Moore's Station church. The idea of the grown-ups was well carried out in the songs and there were readings by Mrs. Ellsworth and last but far the best of the whole evening was a beautiful Christmas story given by Mrs. Ira D. Martin in a most charming manner.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Williams from town and their children Sarah, Elizabeth and Frederick were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stone and family of Cameron avenue on New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Squire of Cameron avenue had as New Year dinner guests Mrs. W. E. Squires Herbert Squire and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Chorpensing and their young people.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lewis of Detroit Mich. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Tyler a portion of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are to remain in Sanford some time this being their second winter here.

Miss Clara Allways of St. Louis Mo. is the guest of her grand par and Mrs. John Pezole of Beardall avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Baily and children of Arabiay Ga. have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Wilson for some time. They may decide to become residents here.

For the second time this season the growers cut lettuce on Sunday to save it from the frost. The crops are not hurt nearly as much as was feared they would be and every one is appreciative of the fact.

Snowflakes were noticed here on Sunday morning and Monday evening.

Mrs. French from near Boston Mass. has arrived to remain for the winter with her brother C. M. Stowe of Cameron avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard of Cameron avenue have been entertaining their relative Roger Montgomery from Georgia for some time.

Mrs. Lynch and Miss Hoffenbach of Ft. Valley Ga. arrived yesterday at the Howard home for a visit.

Mrs. Moses Jackson and two little daughters and Miss Mollie Kinard returned on Monday from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Charleston S. C.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

Jesse Lee and wife with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Stedt spent a pleasant Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee on the West Side.

We understand there was a Christmas gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ehrenberger also.

Dr. Denton was called out Wednesday for little Russel son of H. G. Lundquist and wife who was threatened with blood poisoning from an infected bruise.

Elmer Tyner who has employment with Stempers market for the holidays made a trip to Windermere Monday for his little sister Eleanores.

Mrs. Munson wife of Capt. Munson of the Savannah line and her little daughter Josephine have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lundquist. As Girihl Nyland who was well known as her girlhood days were spent here.

If the cold weather will kill out the malaria from the system evidently we won't need to go north for we have had genuine articles for the last week going for three nights below freezing and a little sleet and snow thrown in for good measure.

Mrs. Ericson and children were calling in Grapeville at the home of Mrs. Hudgins Mrs. Lundquist and Ballinger while the latter spent a pleasant afternoon with her on Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. J. E. Lundquist and her guests Mrs. Munson and little daughter with Mrs. E. F. Lundquist and Marian and Adrian were calling at the home of Mrs. H. G. Lundquist on Friday.

Margaret Ericson visited at Mrs. DeForest's on Friday learning how to knit some wristlets for the Red Cross while the former visited with Mrs. Swanson in the interest of this work.

WEST GENEVA AVENUE

Mr. George Mansfield left last Wednesday morning for Tampa after taking Xmas with his aunt Mrs. J. E. Vaughn.

We have had some cold weather for the last few days. Sunday we had a little snow and Monday a little sleet but not much. The orange trees are badly burned with the cold.

Mrs. Neal Culp and children Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Will Robinson and daughter Gladys Robinson and Mr. Jack Thompson and wife from DeLand were pleasant callers of Mrs. Vaughn New Year's evening.

O how thankful we all ought to be to think we have lived to see another Happy New Year.

Mrs. Willie King left last Saturday for Miami after spending pleasant Xmas with his folks Mr. and Mrs. Will Robinson.

We truly hope this year will be a happy and a prosperous year to one all on earth. May God bless us all.

LONGWOOD PICK UPS

The ladies of the Civic League gave a silver tea-New Year's afternoon the proceeds to go to the Red Cross.

Geo. B. Upchurch of Birmingham Ala. is the guest of Mrs. Geo. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Cray and two children motored up Sunday from Tampa and returned Wednesday.

Miss Eva McQuarters of Orlando spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waits left for McIntosh Wednesday, where they will visit relatives and friends.

Miss Maud Entzinger is visiting friends in Sanford.

Will Entzinger returned to his Home in North Carolina Wednesday. It rains blows and snows and we are getting weary.

Be still sad hearts some time Florida sunshine will make us cheery.

WEKIWA AND ETHEL

The Ethel Christmas tree proved quite a success. The children had a nice program and did their best for Santa and who repaid them with the big treat as well as many other nice things.

E. A. Rush with family motored to Everton and Gainesville to spend Christmas week with Mrs. Rush's relatives.

Mrs. R. J. Griffin and children are in Georgia with her people. They are expected home soon.

Minnie Holiday who has been home for the usual Christmas vacation returned to Rollins College Wednesday. Miss Frances who also came home for vacation will return to her school duties in St. Augustine Sunday.

E. O. VonHerbulis is having quite a serious time with a big boil on his wrist. He has had it lanced so we hope it will soon be well.

Grandma Boyd who has been visiting her children in Wekiwa returned to her home in Lakeland Saturday.

Mrs. Hardy Boyd made a short visit to her mother at Mascotte last week.

Mrs. Leightsey has gone for an extended visit with her daughter Mrs. Fillman at Zephyrhills.

Mrs. Bertha Goines is spending a few days here with her sister-in-law Mrs. W. D. Fillman.

Our new comers think this weather is pretty fierce for Florida. But they are glad they are here when they think how bad it must be back up north.

THOMAS NAMES COMMITTEES

President of Press Association Makes His Appointments

Plant City, Jan. 1.—The executive and other committees for the current year have been announced by President Wayne Thomas of the Florida State Press Association, as follows:

Executive—R. J. Holly, Herald, Sanford; Harry L. Brown, Record, St. Augustine; Chris. O. Codrington, News, DeLand; Gilbert D. Leach, Commercial, Leesburg; T. Edw. Fitzgerald, Gazette-News, Daytona.

Constitution and By-Laws—W. A. Russell, News, Palatka; C. H. Walton, News, Advocate, Titusville; J. J. Burch, Breeze, New Smyrna.

Membership—J. T. Barton, Herald, Lake Worth; R. L. Sweger, Times, Quincy; R. B. Brossier, Reporter-Star, Orlando.

Memorials and Resolutions Will M. Traer, Homeseker Jacksonville; J. H. Humphries, Journal Bradentown; A. K. Wilson, Tribune Ft. Pierce.

The executive committee will be called together in the near future probably at DeLand or Sanford or a point in that section for the purpose of fixing the dates for the annual meeting in 1918 and to prepare a program for the same. The place for holding the 1918 meeting was selected at the last meeting of the body held at Jacksonville last June. In fact three places were selected but they are so closely united by good roads that the gathering will not only be interesting but novel. DeLand, Daytona and New Smyrna are the places at which the 1918 sessions will take place and it is planned to spend a day in each of these beautiful Volusia county cities. The association meets as a rule in the spring or early summer and as soon as the executive committee assembles and fixes the time members will begin to lay plans for the meeting.

Send for Buckeye Nursery Catalogue

The man who succeeds is the man who keeps up with the times. He is constantly reading all that he can find about his business getting in touch with new ideas of efficiency and new methods that reduce his cost to the minimum and raise his profits to the maximum.

In citrus growing this is just as true as in any other field. New ideas come out every year that are distinctly worth while. These new ideas are generally first noted by the nurseryman and the nursery catalog is the medium selected to spread them.

Buckeye Nurseries with their thirty seven years experience know how to weed out the poor ideas and their new catalog is a veritable mass of good suggestions to the grower who is just starting or the established grower with years of experience behind him.

This information is put down in plain, everyday language that the citrus grower understands—it is not written by some college professor for some journal published in the heart of a great city but by the man who grows citrus trees for the man who also grows them.

The suggestions in the new Buckeye catalog cover everything in relation to citrus culture from planting and selecting the trees through the packing and shipping and the grower who reads the work and applies the advice which is given will undoubtedly reap his reward through increased groke profits.

The new catalog contains 66 pages with eight pages of color engravings showing fruit in natural colors. The Buckeye people say that this year they have taken the precaution to have enough books printed that everybody can get one. They thought they had last year but the supply was exhausted and this year it is likely to be the same way so you had better write them for one of these catalogs before you forget it—address Buckeye Nurseries 1199 Citizens Bank Building Tampa Fla.

Wages and Community Prosperity

In these days of rising costs and continued feeling that passenger fares and freight rates should be reduced the questions frequently arise: "Where do the railroad earnings go? What becomes of the apparently tremendous receipts from recently increased passenger and freight traffic caused by present conditions?" In short—Who gets the money you and I pay the railroads?

The larger the railroad the greater its budget for operating and other expenses; and naturally the more numerous its army of employees. During the past year everything required to keep a railroad in motion has increased immensely in cost—in some cases almost alarmingly. Yet its passenger fares—its freight rates are the same as long ago. At times it may struggle to keep up with the apparent enormous amount of traffic still in the face of greatly increased expense all along the line it may not increase its revenues by even slightly higher transportation charges.

Wages have increased as well in many cases voluntarily by the railroads. Employees in turn do not—perhaps cannot increase their capacity for work—and additional help is frequently permanently employed in all branches of the service.

The average community along a line of railroad continuously benefits in proportion to the number of railroad men whose homes are there. If the road is prosperous so is the community. Everyone there in business is benefitted. This does not mean merely the property owner to whom rent is paid nor the grocery and general store from which most of his family's requirements come; but it means that down to the little "corner store" the smallest business of all also receives part of his monthly wage. The butcher baker owner of the local dairy the variety store—even the local newspaper—in fact everyone who has something to sell is benefitted. If he has a savings account and many have the bank too makes its profit. Many railroad men are property owners pay all manner of taxes toward the upkeep of their community; and last but not perhaps by a means least the churches in every community all receive a portion of his monthly pay check.

For the ten months ending with October 1917 the Florida East Coast Railway Company has paid in salaries and wages the huge sum of $2,208,766.10—a royal amount of money averaging $220,876.00 per month. This, remember, is for personal services alone and undoubtedly 60 per cent of it trickles back into the community where it was earned. In all counties along its line, large amounts have also been paid by the Florida East Coast Railway for taxes, and much material and supplies of various kinds have been bought locally. In the course of a year several million dollars stays in the locality served as a whole by the railroad.

A railroad therefore becomes an institution dependent on its communities for its prosperity—but in turn aiding largely in the individual prosperity of each community.

Florida is thoroughly interested in castor bean production, the increase in airplanes making it necessary to grow a large crop next year. A castor oil company at Ft. Myers has several hundred acres planted to castor beans, and seeds are being distributed to farmers in the neighborhood. The company is planning to plant 1,000 acres more itself and provide an outlet for farmers' crops. It is estimated that something like 50,000 acres of castor beans must be grown in the United States next year to furnish oil for aircraft engine lubrication.

Shortage of labor in Dade county is causing the farmers to reduce their acreage of various crops, claiming that they cannot pay higher wages for labor than they are now doing.

Men working in many coal mines throughout the country voluntarily cut down the Christmas holiday to keep factory fires burning and houses warm.

The War Trade Board is granting no licenses for the export of commodities containing wool which are necessary for the military or naval uses of the United States.

WORK OF RED CROSS

MRS. SPEER GIVES HISTORY OF MEETING IN JACKSONVILLE

The following report, given by our delegate to the convention in Jacksonville on Dec. 5-6th, Mrs. David Speer, to the Chapter at its last business meeting is so complete in detail and full of information we take pleasure in presenting it for the consideration and enlightenment of the general public.

First I want to thank Seminole County Chapter for making it possible for me to attend the Red Cross convention in Jacksonville and enjoying two of the most pleasant days I've spent since I enlisted in the work.

For three reasons I have written my report:

First—When Dame Nature was dispensing her gifts of eloquence she passed me by.

Second—I was fearful lest I'd forget something important.

Third—I wanted each bit of information under its proper head.

General Conditions

One had only to be in the vicinity of the Windsor Hotel to know that there were Red Cross workers there. Across the street was a banner announcing the convention; on either column as you entered the building were great R. C. flags, on your right as you entered the lobby was the registration booth, presided over by R. C. members in uniform, after registering you were asked to again write your name on a smaller card; this card and a "A. R. C." badge you were asked to pin on your coat; thus all formality of introduction was dispensed with. On every hand were R. C. banners and young ladies in uniform, courteous, kind and pleasing directing the guests to the Japanese room where the convention proper was to be held.

Doubtless many of you know of the beauty of this room with its large, beautiful fountain, having many colored incandescent lights and gaily falling sprays of water, occupying the center of the room. An improvised platform was erected in the farther end of the room, a piano was near and the remaining space was comfortably filled with chairs. In this room with its quaint lanterns, differing in size and color, all shedding the softest light possible, the convention was opened promptly at ten o'clock. I took a chair directly in front of the speaker and about ten feet from the platform.

After the singing of America an address of welcome was made. The speaker said Jacksonville was a city of conventions but this one was unique, in that it was the first R. C. convention.

Dr. Snaveley, director of Bureau of Development gave a talk on organization. I never saw a person more enthused over his work than he is.

During the remainder of the convention different subjects were taken up, one of the most important to the delegate from this chapter being Hospital Garments.

The contractor in this subject was Mrs. John W. Grant, Director of Women's Bureau. Mrs. Grant was excellent, very patient and pleasing. From her talk and from the Jacksonville work room I learned many things. No doubt much of what I say will be of help to those who read the papers but you will bear with me if I repeat some of the things which have been published.

Concerning the garments, bed shirts must be made of cotton flannel, bleached or unbleached; no more collar bands on shirts, all seams and hems must be on outside. Pajamas are made of dark outing. These can be bought in Atlanta from R. C. headquarters at $10.25 per dozen ready cut. This means a great saving of both money and labor.

No more capes are wanted, but pajamas, bed shirts, hot water bottle covers and bandages are called for in quantities.

New patterns are now on the market and have been ordered for our work rooms. These patterns were cut from samples of garments brought direct from Europe and which were found to be the kind best fitted for the present need. Pictorial Review and R. C. patterns are the same.

Headquarters advise buying the best material. It takes no longer to make a garment of good material than one of inferior grade and its life is double. It is said that French soldiers worship a woman. They think we do beautiful work but use cheap material.

There has been some change in the socks also.

What we know as fracture pillows are no longer being made, but in their stead are the trench pillows or a better name is stretcher pillows, which are made of any kind of clean snips, any color and covered with any colored material, cretonne is preferred; they are made 15 x 16. These are specially comfortable to the wounded who are being carried to the hospital.

Convalescent or Belgian Baby blankets are made of cloth or knitted, squares 9 x 9, any color. These squares are then crocheted together making the little blanket 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 yds. Yarn raveled from old sweaters or scarfs is good. A dime's worth will knit a square.

Headquarters reported lovely garments coming from Florida.

Work Room

Jacksonville work room occupied three sides of a very large square. The knitting department is in one section fitted up very much like a cozy living room with rockers, tables, rugs, vases and locker and I noticed that each department had a roller top desk and a record was kept of everything. Quantities of work were displayed in each department.

Occupying one end of the building were three long tables for surgical dressings.

Down the other side was the sewing machine. In here were thirteen sewing machines, chairs, tables and lockers. One machine I noticed had a motor attached. I saw a big dry goods box of stretcher pillows ready to ship. Garments were also on exhibition here.

Surgical Dressings

Every maker of surgical dressings must wear cap and apron. Cap is made of a piece of linen 27 x 27 a wide hem at one end and a narrow one at the other. Different colored caps denoted the extent of your instruction in this work.

Long tables in this department were covered with white oil cloth green is permissible as it is better on the eyes. A chair, a table knife and a rule were provided each worker. Little oil cloth bags were fastened to the edge of the table to receive a few threads of ravelings. Ever so often one lady would wipe the table with a dust cloth to remove whatever foreign substance might have accumulated. The lady in charge gladly explained anything you wished to know. One striking thing about this room was every way you turned you saw the sign "Silence." Those ladies surely went there to work and not to discuss the topics of the day.

The chairman emphasized the fact over and over to be sure your count of surgical dressings is correct have at least three to count and check. A doctor knows the number a bundle should contain, he never counts when putting them into a wound but does count when removing them to the right number; if there was one too many in the bundle that extra one is left and the patient dies. The counter of surgical dressings has in her hands the patient's life. Correct counting is vitally important. Millions of surgical dressings must be piled up in France against the time our boys get there. The world is looking to America for relief and the woman of the land are to play an important part in this work.

Orders

Over and over Dr. Snaveley told us not to be impatient about our orders. He said please use order blanks and send to proper departments do not address an individual. He also said that 10 per cent of the letters received ordering goods were incomplete but please remember we cannot get goods as quickly in time of war as during peace. All orders will be filled as quickly as possible but the demand is terrific.

After January 1st a warehouse will be established in Jacksonville to which our garments will be shipped. We were advised to buy at home if possible as a general thing local merchants contribute liberally to the cause but do not let the work suffer. He also advises having one purchasing agent. Send the work out if preferred—that must be decided locally but get the best output possible. In everything use 10 per cent rule and 90 per cent common sense.

Changes are made as demands change and there is a reason for everything that is done. The reports circulated about garments being refused and sent back are absolutely untrue. Dr. Snaveley says "I would not discourage the noble women of America in this grand work by refusing the product of their labor." Where alterations are really necessary it is done at headquarters. A report was abroad that some one had entered the warehouse and cut up great quantities of sweaters when in reality some mice nibbled three, which were repaired and some good soldier boys are wearing them today. Such reports are disloyal and are usually started by an enemy and should be reported to headquarters at once and their secret service men will investigate it at once. Dr. Snaveley begs that we turn out the work as one immense factory accept changes and work hard some one may be dying while we are arguing and complaining. Every man at headquarters worked all day on Thanksgiving and many Sundays trying to make the boys at Camp Wheeler comfortable.

I am glad to say that Sanford was well up on organization. Every speaker emphasized the selection of officers best fitted for the position. Lose all personality, consider only qualifications. We must forget ourselves—forget our likes and dislikes our favorites and our enemies and work together consider every soldier boy our own boy and work with our whole heart.

The report written by our efficient secretary and read by your delegate was complimented by Dr. Swaveley as being the only report recognizing each branch and auxiliary giving credit to each for number of members enrolled and number of garments made.

On Thursday night the visitors and public generally were entertained at the Duval Theatre with tableaux music and speeches. A wonderful R. C. dog was on exhibition.

Luncheon was served both days in the balcony dining room of the Mason and on Friday we had the pleasure of hearing a stirring address by Major Eugene Roberts, who has just returned from the front and who is visiting his mother in Miami.

In the course of this address Major Roberts told of the work done by the Red Cross of the great necessity of doing more and more over here so that the Red Cross representatives "over there" may be supplied with money and surgical supplies. He pictured in a manner that brought tears to the eyes of his listeners how wounded men, lying perhaps for days without medical aid would cry out in their anguish "What in God's name are the people doing at home" and "Why don't they come and get us?"

O, women in your hours of ease how can you sit idly by and shut your eyes and ears to the call. Does it need some frightful tragedy close at home to bring to your heart the realization that you too must go "over" the top?

We cannot "go over" with the ringing of bullets whizzing about us but we can "go over" by the work of our hands. We can send those boys over the top knowing that behind them stands an army of loyal women at home who are working in devious ways to make that going over easier. We can send them over knowing too that their loved ones will be cared for, as our civilian relief department of the Red Cross will see to that. These women who have enlisted under Mercy's banner are the honorable members of that company who are behind these boys in France. These women are the ones who are going to uphold the tradition of America's womanhood.

The following letters from the Sanford boys in Camp Wheeler show that the efforts of the Woman's Club for their comfort are appreciated:

Camp Wheeler, Dec. 6, 1917. Woman's Club, Sanford, Fla.:

I wish to thank the ladies of the Club for the Christmas package I received yesterday. It was very much appreciated and reminds me soldier boys that we are not forgotten by the folks back home, as we say here.

Again thanking the Club for their kindness, I remain,

Respectfully,
R. O. Weeks,
Co. F 106 Engrs.

Camp Wheeler, Ga., Nov. 26, '17 Woman's Club, Sanford, Fla.:

Dear Ladies: I wish to extend to you all my greatest thanks and appreciation for the most bountiful Christmas box that I received last night. I cut the cake today at dinner, and really it is the best I ever did eat, just like "Mother used to make." I certainly do praise the Woman's Club for their wonderful good work, and they shall always be remembered, either in the trenches or on the field.

We are getting along nicely in our training, in spite of all the illness in camp, although the measles and pneumonia cases are decreasing every day, for they are much better equipped at the base hospital to take care of the patients.

All the Sanford boys join me in sending their best regards. Thanking you all again for the Xmas gift, I remain,

Sincerely, Oscar W. Speer.

Encore Cookies!

We agree with a friend of ours, "A part of every child's education should be cookies—crisp, wholesome cookies."

Of course, if you have been using butter for cookies you may think that cookies, are somewhat of a luxury now-a-days.

But you can now make deliciously crisp cookies by using economical Cottolene instead of using expensive butter. And notice this, too—one-third less of wholesome Cottolene than you would use of butter.

Many careful housekeepers have found that Cottolene, because of its superior richness, goes much farther than other shortenings which they had been using.

Below is a recipe that shows how to make cookies that even expensive butter might be proud of. Try it and see if your children aren't tickled with these delicious Cottolene cookies. See if you aren't delighted with the money-saving.

- 3/4 cup Cottolene
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 level teaspoon soda
- 1 cup butter milk
- 1 level teaspoon salt
- Flour
- 1 1/2 tablespoons Caraway Seeds
- Raisins

Picture No. 1 shows how to start.

1. Cream—Cottolene, add sugar gradually.

2. Beat eggs well.

3. Add to first mixture eggs, soda dissolved in milk, salt, seeds and flour to make a soft dough.

4. Place dough in ice box to chill.

5. Shape cookies, place raisin in center of each and bake.

6. The result? Crisp, wholesome cookies made without a speck of butter.

Of course there is no connection with the attempt to blow up the capitol building at Tallahassee with the desire of Orlando to move the capital to that city.

Not all the well dressed people who come to Florida are rich tourists. Some of them are ordinary crooks and it would be well for the hotel people of Sanford to know just who are their guests.

The law has so many crooks and turns that ordinary crooks can usually get by even after being captured but there is no law that allows crooks and suspicious characters to remain in this city and Mayor Davison and the police force propose to make them move on.

It would be well to wait until the damage to crops is found out before making a yawp about the country going to the demerition box wows. We have had hard knocks before and are here to tell the tale and we expect to have many of them before the war is over. Privations and losses and sorrows show the stuff that men are made of and crying over what has happened never helped matters any.

Despite the high prices of all materials The Herald will give the people the best twice a week newspaper that money and brains can compose and all we ask is that the business men of this city will give us the usual run of advertising. This is the season of advertising and special sales and special runs on reasonable goods should be the order of the day. Make Sanford the trading center of this country and let the people know what you have by advertising your goods in The Herald. It is the only way to keep business going good.

A SALUTORY LESSON

The wholesale handlers of food-stuffs who have been in the habit of unjustifiably raising shipments consigned to them have received a very salutary lesson in the action taken recently by the office of the Food Administration. Mrs. I. Singer & Co., of Ascala, a rejected two cartons of potatoes consigned to them and permitted them to deteriorate. The penalty imposed upon this firm is the revocation of its license. They will not be allowed to handle for sale any potatoes subject to license and in case of any violation of this prohibition they are liable to a fine of not exceeding $5,000 or two years' imprisonment or both. Growers and shippers of perishables will feel additional security now they are convinced that a strong government reputation is held in their hands and will act promptly in their interests. complain. While it is undoubtedly true that combinations generally known as trusts have done much toward boosting prices skywards the reckless granting of credits has had a great deal to do with high prices. The losses caused by bad accounts must be paid by some one and the fellow who pays for what he buys is the one who in the end foots the whole bill.

In other words those who are honest in their dealings with grocers and other merchants also pay the bills of their dishonest neighbors. Some people probably do not mean to be dishonest but live beyond their means going into debt with the vague hope that somehow or other they will be able to meet their obligations. This may not be considered dishonest but the result is exactly the same.

Now is a good time for everyone to turn over a new leaf by determining hereafter to live within their income and buy only those things they know they will be able to pay for. We believe every merchant in Manatee county would hail the new order of things with the greatest pleasure. It would eliminate a lot of bookkeeping as well as many disagreeable features which attend the credit business. We believe the merchants would also be glad to give their patrons the benefit of lower prices which would be possible when losses from bad debts are thus avoided. If however any merchant should seek to get rich too quick by seeking to make unreasonable profits he would probably feel the heavy hand of the food administrator.

At any rate, one of the best resolutions our people can make and keep the New-Year which will soon be with us is to "pay as you go" and don't go beyond your income. — Manatee Journal.

Red Cross Notes

The fact that the Chapter is maintaining a work room in the Pico Block seems to have escaped the minds of the Sanford public.

The doors are open every day from 8:30 to 12 and from 1:30 to 4:30 and it is urged upon those interested to come and lend what assistance they can.

There is still a need of some six chairs standing or rockers and anyone able to donate or lend one or more chairs please send it up to the work rooms.

The following cablegram has been just received by the American Red Cross from the Paris headquarters of the organization:

A report from Evian announces the American Red Cross opened a children's dispensary Tuesday in the garage of the Old Hotel Chatelet near the American Children's Hospital. The Evian hospital was opened ten days earlier with seventy beds and is already over crowded with diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough cases.

The American doctors twice daily examine an average of 250 children arriving from behind the German lines and send contagious cases to the American hospital. Every contagious case thus stopped may mean an epidemic prevented somewhere in France. An American dentist has opened a dental dispensary in the old kitchen with a dental chair improvised from a wire barrel.

Among the last dispensary patients was an underfed boy from Lens. His family of seven had been living two and a half years in the cellar under their totally wrecked house, valued at 100,000 francs. The family was evacuated last April to Luxemburg and lived seven in one room sleeping on straw.

In the first week of the American dispensary at Evian over 2,400 children were examined more than 1,000 being between the ages of three and thirteen years.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION IS GOOD

"When some thoughtless person happens to ask 'What has the food administration done for the consumer?' just call attention to the control of prices by the administration," says Food Administrator Braxton Beacham.

"Where would the prices in this country have gone to if it had not been for the food administration regulations? What would have been the price of sugar flour and many other staple commodities if the food administration regulations had not put a stop to speculation? The Civil War prices are still remembered by many older persons and records live to others to study. We know that prices during war times have always been higher but we also know that without control there is no limit to the figures that might be fixed by speculators.

"The person who decries the work of the food administration is usually the person who does not go deep into the subject and makes no allowance for war conditions. We admit that price of food is higher than during pre-war times but we also declare that according to all precedents they would have gone much higher without the restraining hand of Herbert Hoover.

"Another thing the faultfinder must remember is that the food regulations are barely six months old or have been in effect but about six months. Control of prices was a new thing in this country and had to be worked out from the finest point. We could not theorize without analyzing and the way to a perfect system was covered with many difficulties. The American people have been accustomed to but little restraint and therefore do not readily accept new messages of control. But no one can justly complain of the food administration rulings when they consider what might have been done by speculators had there been no control by Government legislation."

HOW TO MAKE SCRAPPLE

Scrapple—a meat and corn meal mush, greatly relished by many—puts to good use such meat as hog heads, hearts, and livers and is a good use for corn meal also. The United States' Department of Agriculture gives the following directions for preparing this dish, excellent for breakfast, luncheon or dinner:

Ingredients

- Whole hog heads, 10 pounds
- Hog liver and hearts, 2½ pound (A small quantity of beef can be used also if desired.)
- Corn meal (yellow or mixed), 6 pounds.
- Backwheat or rye flour, ½ pound
- Spices, as majoram, sage, thyme, and pepper in proportion as desired, or omit those not desired, 2 ounces
- Salt, ½ pound

Liquid in which meat is boiled, use a quantity equal to the total weight of the combined solids.

The proportion of the various ingredients may be varied to suit individual taste.

Directions for Preparing

Clean the hog heads thoroughly, removing the eyes and ear tubes, split the head lengthwise and remove the teeth and the soft bones in and near the nasal cavities. Place the hog heads and other meat into a large kettle or caldron with a liberal quantity of water and cook until the meat falls off the bones. Remove all of the meat and soft tissues from the bones and chop the meat by passing it through a meat grinder. Strain the cooking liquid to remove any small pieces of bone. Place the liquid back into the kettle. Heat to boiling point; at which time slowly add the meal and flour, and stir constantly to prevent the meal from forming into lumps and also to avoid scorching. Boil and stir until the mass becomes thick, and then add the salt, spices, and chopped meat. Boil ten minutes and while still hot pour the product into deep wet molds—bread pans will do. Pour 2 to 4 large spoonfuls of melted lard over the product in the pans. As soon as the product has cooled it is ready for use.

How to Serve

The usual way of serving scrapple is to cut it into slices about one-half inch thick, dust the slices with flour or cracker dust, or dry corn meal, and fry until the outside is somewhat crisp. Serve while hot. Fried apples are good with fried scrapple.

TOMATOES IN FLORIDA

The tomato, from the Spanish "tomato" is the queen of garden products, and Florida is by far the heaviest grower and shipper of this most popular vegetable or fruit in the whole country, says the Marketing Bureau.

The total value of the tomato crop of the United States is more than $40,000,000. This includes local markets and the car shipments of the fresh tomato and the vast output of the canneries. Its rank among vegetables is second only to potatoes.

The plant is believed to be a native of South America. In the sixteenth century it was taken to Europe, where it was grown in flower gardens and on lawns to adorn the surroundings of titled and wealthy people, its beautifully red and pink fruit giving a brightness and richness to the environments of castles and palaces. The cherry or currant tomato, with its fruit in clusters, still grown as an ornament. It has been developed by breeding into a great many varieties and shapes.

Either because of its inviting beauty, blushing color and tenderness, it was long ago thought to be poisonous. Poets have termed them "apples of love." The scientific name, if you wish to know is "Lycopersicon esculentum." The European and American suspicion as to its dangerous nature was probably due to its pungent and its relationship to the poisonous nightshade family.

At first they were not used at all for food; but now tomatoes are eaten practically everywhere in the world. In Italy an oil is made from the seeds. Florida ranks first in the Union in the shipment of the fresh product. Half of the 12,000 cars shipped last year from all the states went out from our state, nearly all during a period (January to May), when we have no competitors, except Texas.

The canneries of the United States packed some 13,000,000 cases, or 312,000,000 cans last year. They were mostly the No. 3 standard quart cans of two pounds that the house wife bought in pre-war days at the grocery, for 10 cents. Restaurant buyers get them in gallon cans. It was the excellence of the canned that put the tomato "on the map," advertised its superior qualities, and popularized it as a standard article of food. A hundred things to eat are canned now, but the tomato is far and away a leader in the canning trade. And this has generally enhanced the value of the green tomato. All the surplus goes into cans, a large yield does not glut the market, and of a poor yield a larger proportion is sold fresh. So the grower with a perishable product is relieved by the canneries of much of his risk. Singular to say there are no large commercial factories in Florida for canning tomatoes. The girls canning clubs, however, are attracting attention to the local importance of it as a canning proposition.

Persons who are compelled to patronize the boarding houses are not happily reminded of the tomato veggie. It used to be dried apples, prunes and apricots that seemed to be the dessert staff of life in such quarters, but now no boarding house table is complete without tomatoes. And what with the great improvement in the size and quality of the fruit and pure food laws of the government, the tomato, fresh and canned, so far from being feared, runs the changes from the humble dish of the poor to the choice dainties of the most exacting cuisine from a portion of stewed canned tomatoes that represents a nickel to "Tomato Andelouse" at 50c per one.

The complete evolution of the tomato dish has not yet been made, much less has it been written, but progress can be reported. We have tomato catsup of many varieties and the word to distinguish it spelled in almost as many ways; tomato soup and bisque, chutney, cocktail, salad, paste, powder, chili sauce and "India Relish," then we served tomatoes pickled and canned, curries, stuffed and preserved, fried green like eggplant, sliced for sandwiches, baked as an apple or onion, stewed to a pudding, sliced crisp and fresh with oil and vinegar. And with suit or sugar if you like them that way; then tomato jelly and dressing and mayonnaise, as pie, as breading for meat and tucked in somehow with eggs for a Spanish omelette; what would the patient little bean be without tomato sauce?

The last report of the Commissioner of Agriculture shows growth in and shipments from nearly every county in Florida with Palm Beach and Dade counties in the lead. The total acreage of the state being about 25,000 acres, with a yield valued at 5¼ million dollars, and during the season of 1916 we sent north 6,428 cars or more than all other shipping states combined. Farmers' Bulletin No. 642, entitled "Tomato Growing in the South," published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., contains practical information for growers. The tomato is subject to various diseases and insects give it trouble. The Experiment Station at Gainesville will give advice to Florida growers who may have difficulty with their plants.

Earthquake Kills 2300

San Salvador Salvador Jan. 2.—Newspapers of this city declare that no fewer than 2500 people lost their lives in the Guatemala earthquake.

Earlier reports on the Guatemala earthquake which began Christmas day declared the loss of life was heavy some estimates reaching 1000. A Guatemala City dispatch of December 31 however said that only a few persons had been killed.

Many persons are going overland from Salvador to Guatemala to investigate the fate of friends.

Telegraphic communication between Salvador and Guatemala is again interrupted.

Flying Squadron Here

Dr. W. F. Youcum Misses Clem Hampton and Christine McDonald, composing the examination board for Florida school teachers are here this week holding teachers' examination in the court house. The three have been named the "Flying Squadron" probably because their duties require that they "fly" from one part of the state to another to hold examinations for the ones that aspire to direct and teach the "Young American idea how to shoot."

The board will finish the examination tomorrow and the eight examinees taking the examinations here will probably learn what they "did" early next week.

Woman's Club Notes

On Wednesday of this week the Club held its general business meeting for January. Mrs. E. M. Galloway presiding and although the weather was a little severe the attendance was good.

After the usual routine of business secretary's report reports from chairman etc. had been disposed of the new business and announcements were called for. Mrs. Galloway made the following announcements that on January 30th the General Club reception would take place at which time all departments would join together in making this an enjoyable affair. This year it being decided to discontinue the custom of having individual receptions as heretofore and combine our talent and efforts in one general reception which no doubt we shall all enjoy and each department will feel its individual responsibility in making this affair a success.

The request of Mrs. W. S. Jennings of Jacksonville to the clubs throughout the state to save and send in tinfoil—any one being thus able to do their bit will please advise Mrs. Galloway. And also the appointment by the president of Mrs. E. D. Brownlee from the club on the Educational Board speaking of Mrs. Brownlee's ability and fitness for the appointment.

A report of $31.00 as the proceeds netted by the board from their rummage sale just had was given by Mrs. Morgan first vice president she announcing also a spring underwear sale to be given by the board about March and asking each member to do a part by making at least one garment for this sale so as to increase sales—hence receipts—as the club is restricting their money-making efforts this year to just a few demands upon the public as possible in order to leave means and time for Red Cross and other war relief work. It is hoped that the few entertainments and sales etc. which must of necessity be held in order to secure the finances necessary to the running expenses of the club will be well aided and patronized.

Mrs. Woodruff secretary Literature Dept. gave us the information that the department had turned over to the Red Cross Chapter the sum of $15.00 for their funds in hand for the furtherance of this good work they feeling that they must do their bit along with all the rest.

The Music Dept. announced an exchange of programs between the DeLand Club and our Music Dept. details to be given later.

Mrs. Moughton chairman Welfare Dept. advised us that the result of the Red Cross Xmas seals sale was a little more than $6 also mentioning the gratification to those responsible for the Community Xmas tree and gifts when they held the shining pleased faces of the recipients—they felt more than repaid for any effort expended.

Mrs. Morse secretary Social Dept. reminded the department members of their business meeting due to be held on Tuesday next Jan. 8th. Social Department members please bear this in mind.

The further interest and assistance of the club members was solicited by Mrs. J. W. Dickens in behalf of the Rest Room she speaking of the work as beneficial to the town and county and to the stranger who comes to us.

Mrs. Dickens also asked us for our support of our Federation Magazine mentioning its beneficial effect on those reading it.

In behalf of Home Economics work Mrs. C. M. Berry chairman mentioned the intention of the department to hold neighborhood meetings in order to introduce and demonstrate certain products. Asking those on the East Side in Mrs. Moughton's neighborhood to go to her house on next Thursday afternoon promptly at 3 o'clock when a demonstration of what can be done with fireless cooker, the making of a sweet potato biscuit and the water glass preservation of eggs will be specialized. Everyone in this neighborhood is invited whether member or not.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens read for the encouragement of club members an article published in the Federation Magazine for December: "What War is Doing to Club Life" by Alice Ames Winter. The article stresses the fact that "Club life taught us to work together to sink all minor difficulties to use direct business methods to understand that unity of effort is the price of efficiency."

Club life taught us public spirit. Club women were prepared to take up the leadership among their fellow women. These are the trained women. America demands women who think women who know—women who act who see little things little and big things big women trained to public service. The very matters to which we have been giving our energies are those now chosen by the government in its hour of trial for women's activities. Now below all the superstructure of war work we know that a united country—a real United States—is the first requisite of suc-

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon's home was the scene of a very lovely dance Tuesday evening. Miss Norma Herndon entertained in honor of Miss Margery Clay Miss Sarita Lake and Reginald Holly. The decorations were in true Christmas style. The Herndon home never looked more attractive. The young people invited were Harry Lewis May Thrasher Reginald Holly Frances Chappell Henry Ball Frances Gonzales J. D. Woodruff Helen Peck G. W. Spencer Dorothy Rumph Hawkins Connelly Agnes Dumas Walter Connelly Dorothy Waring Ed. Betts Ethel and Florence Henry Fern Ward Edmund Meisch Elizabeth Stafford Royal Klintworth Virginia Brady Randall Chase Helen Keating from Daytona Sidney Chase Benjamin Whitner Ruth McDaniel Israel Kanner Helen Hand Max Stewart Esther Miller Hume Rumph Gladys Morris Frank Woodruff Annette Harber Noris Lewis Sarita Lake Jack Leach Marjorie Clay Norma Herndon. Visitors from Daytona Ernest Green Raymond Green.

The Woman's Club Dance is looked forward to with much pleasure from year to year. These dances have been given for the past ten years. They were started by the old Welaka Club which formed itself into the Woman's Club about four years ago. Mrs. Forrest Lake was the first president of the Welaka Club and it was under her regime that these annual dances originated and it is sincerely hoped that they will never be abandoned as they are truly delightful. This year there were no refreshments but delicious punch was served and McIntosh's Orchestra from Orlando furnished the music. The decorations were very simple. A big American flag which means so much to us these days was hung between two of the pillars in the attractive dining room at the Hotel Carnes. Potted plants wrapped in red crepe paper were on the mantels. The reception committee were Mrs. Ernest Galloway president of the Woman's Club Mrs. E. K. Morse who was hostess Mrs. Hal Wight vice chairman of the Social Department and Mrs. Walter Morgan 1st vice president Woman's Club.

Mrs. Galloway wore white lace with crepe trimming.

Mrs. Morse lavender Georgette over lavender taffeta.

Mrs. Wight white embroidered net with touches of yellow.

Mrs. Morgan apricot crepe metecr silver trimming.

Mrs. Keeler black taffeta and jet.

Miss Mettinger black colored net.

Mrs. Herbert Lyman an imported gown of embroidered crepe de chene.

Mrs. Puleston black silk net with silver lace.

Mrs. Smith white pussy willow taffeta with iridescent trimming.

Mrs. Wilson black silk net over white lace gold slippers.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens white crepe de chene.

Miss Parramore white Georgette crepe.

Miss Wilkie black net.

Mrs. Thigpen Mechin lace over yellow and white striped taffeta.

Mrs. W. P. Carter green georgette over white.

Mrs. Deane Turner gray silk with touches of pink.

Mrs. Fetter apricot satin.

Mrs. Kirby white taffeta.

Miss Kolb blue braided brocaded satin with silver lace trimmings.

The grand march was led by Mrs. W. H. Wight and Mr. F. A. W. Brown. Mrs. J. W. Wallace who looked most attractive in flesh colored net over silver cloth with pearl trimming served punch. Others present were Mrs. Vorce Mr. and Mrs. Ball Mrs. Parramore Mrs. Hayden Mrs. Lyman Wood, Miss Martha Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest

Mrs. T. W. Getzen gave a moving picture party last evening to her cousins Hawkins and Walter Connelly. The young people met at Mrs. A. P. Connelly's and went to the Star Theatre. The rest of the evening was spent very delightfully at Mrs. Getzen's home. Mr. and Mrs. Getzen and Mr. and Mrs. Grovenstein chaperoned the young people. The guests were Margery Clay Norma Herndon Sarita Lake Dorothy Rumph Dorothy Waring Agnes Dumas Ethel and Florence Henry Helen Peck Helen Shelton May Thrasher Frances Chappell Hawkins and Walter Connelly Harry Lewis Henry Ball Alfred Robinson Hume Rumph J. D. Woodruff Leslie Roller Jack Leach Max Stewart G. W. Spencer Israel Kanner.

The fourth annual reception given by Rev. Mr. Peck and his mother Mrs. Johnathan Peck was greatly enjoyed by all of those fortunate enough to be present. The Parish House looked very homelike and attractive. Holly wreaths bamboo and mistletoe adorned the walls. The tea table was very lovely. Within the center was a Xmas basket filled with poinsettias and holly. Red candles with red shades cast a most cheerful glow. Mrs. G. F. Smith and Mrs. Allan Jones poured tea. Delicious refreshments were served all during the evening. The music by Dr. and Mrs. Butts was one of the features of the evening.

Mrs. W. A. Thigpen entertained the Every Week Bridge Club at her attractive home on Park avenue Wednesday afternoon. The prize a pair of silk hose was won by Mrs. Thomas A. Neal. The guests were Mrs. Neal Mrs. Keeler of Westfield N. I. Mrs. Barnes Mrs. V. Mrs. Smith Mrs. Cobbett Mrs. McLaughlin and Miss Wilkie.

MARY BROWNE, PLACED SECOND IN LIST

WORLD'S GREATEST WOMAN TENNIS PLAYERS.

When "Smiling Mary" Browne carried off the honors from Miss Molla Bjurstedt in the two months' Red Cross series, she was given the unofficial crown of "world's greatest tennis player" among the feminine leaders.

of Miss Browne over Miss Bjurstedt in the East-West series last March, the total assumes the following aspect:

Table with 4 columns: Matches, Sets, Games. Rows for Miss Browne and Miss Bjurstedt.

Skill and Education Tested. This indicates a sure superiority in both endurance and skill on the part of the California candidate.

It has been suggested that perhaps Miss Bjurstedt is below the form she displayed when first she came to this country, and which enabled her to twice win the United States championship.

It may be; but it is also true that none knows just what was Miss Bjurstedt's "best" at that time, since America's best, Miss Browne and Mrs. Bundy, were in retirement.

An interesting sidelight to the situation was suggested by Fred Alexander, former national doubles champion and internationalist, who recently was here with the Red Cross tour.

Mrs. Bundy, as May Sutton, won the national championship in 1904 at an age said to have been under eighteen. Thereafter she forfeited her United States championship rights in order to go abroad and play in the women's "All-comers" and national championship, in England.

But it is not to be considered that Mrs. Bundy is out of the running, by any means. We have two recent "lines" on this wonderful woman player, of whom it was said at one time that there were not over a dozen men in the United States able to defeat her.

Two years ago Mrs. Bundy and Miss Bjurstedt played three matches, exhibition, two of which were won by the American girl.

Mrs. Bundy defeated Miss Bjurstedt, 7-5, 9-7.

Miss Browne defeated Miss Bjurstedt, 7-5, 6-0.

Mrs. Bundy defeated Miss Browne, 11-0, 6-3.

Here is a direct line and a new one; and events have since justified the conclusion that the proper ranking of the three best players in the world today is:

- No. 1—Mrs. May Sutton Bundy. No. 2—Miss Mary K. Browne. No. 3—Miss Molla Bjurstedt.

The Tuna Angler.

Southern California, and Santa Catalina Island in particular, has produced two game fishes pre-eminent in the annals of the world's sport, says the American Angler.

To obtain the full enjoyment of tuna angling the rod should be of 10 ounces, the line No. 21 and the fish should not weigh more than 200 pounds.

Curing Elephant's Cold.

A circus man, caught in the net of curing an elephant of a cold, was dared to take his own medicine. He declined, but invited the interviewer to return the next day and see the elephant cured.

Children and Fairies.

To the children fairies stand for all the wonderful and unpredictable possibilities of life, for all the magic of it, its charm of unexpectedness, says the Atlantic Monthly.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(By the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

PLENTY OF JOBS.

Peoria, Ill., was for half a century the whisky-manufacturing center of the United States. Its five great distilleries, the largest in the world, furnished 35 per cent of the whisky of the country.

CONSISTENT INCONSISTENCY.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, an opponent of prohibition, voted for the submission to the states of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution.

NOW ALL'S CHANGED.

There was a time when it was a natural part of a soldier's existence to drink and carouse. That day is past with the soldier sworn to defend his country's flag and representing the power and dignity of the nation.

CAPACITY OF HIS LOVE.

My native city has treated me badly," said a drunken vagabond, "but I love her still." "Probably," replied a gentleman, "her still is about all you do love."—The Australian Son of Temperance.

A WAR NECESSITY.

PUDDLES, A CAT FISHERMAN

Emulated Skill of His Master, and Enjoyed Diving In and Fetching Out the Dogfish.

The English naturalist, Francis Buckland, once told a story of a fisherman of Portsmouth, England; whose cat, Puddles, emulated in his peculiar way the fishing skill of his master.

He was the wonderfulest water cat as ever came out of Portsmouth harbor, was Puddles. He used to go out a-fishin' with me every night.

When it was fine he used to wick up at the bow of the boat and sit a-watchin' the dogfish. They used to come alongside by the thousands at a time, and when they was thick all about he'd dive in and fetch 'em out.

I learnt him the water myself. One day, when he was a kitten, I took him down to the sea to wash him and brush the fleas out of him, and in a week he could swim after a feather or a cork.—Youth's Companion.

GAMES OF SIAMESE KIDDIES

Girls Play Keeping House, With Dried Clay Dollies—Boys Jump Rope and Roll Marbles.

When the Siamese folks get up in the morning they do not go to the washstand to wash their faces, for the simple reason that Siamese houses can boast no such article of furniture, says an exchanger.

So our little Siamese friend just runs down to the foot of the ladder—far the house is built on posts—to a large jar of water with a coconut shell dipper. There she washes her face by throwing the water over her hands and rubbing them over her face.

The boys of Siam are very fond of pitching coins, and spend much of their time in this game. They play leap-frog and very often jump the rope.

As the streets in Siam are almost all rivers and canals, the Siamese boys and girls early learn to row, and paddle their little boats almost as soon as they learn to swim, which they do when they are only four or five years old.

WOMAN WANTS FARM WORK

Following the Harrow and Milking the Cows Have No Terrors for Her.

Chicago.—Following the harrow and milking cows offer no terrors to one Chicago woman—Mrs. Mae Egger. She wants to do a "big bit" by the country, and believes she can do the most on a farm.

"I want to do my part for the country, and believe I can do it best on a farm," she said. "I am strong and willing to do anything or go anywhere. I can do all kinds of farm work, having had such experience. I want a job the year around."
