King Memorialized In Capitol

By United Press International

Martin Luther King Jr., the "reluctant leader" of the civil rights movement, is taking his place beside other American heroes memorialized in the nation's capital, where much of his dream was transformed into reality.

A bust of the slain activist was to be unveiled in the Capitol Rotunda today in a ceremony attended by King's widow, Coretta, other members of his family and members of Congress.

The dedication of the statue is one of many events across the nation leading up to the first observance Monday of the national holiday commemorating King's life.

President Reagan, in a speech to elementary school students in the nation's capital Wednesday, King's 57th birthday, saluted the civil rights leader as "a great man who wrested justice from the heart of a great country."

"It takes a lot of guts not to hit back when someone is hitting you — and he had that kind of guts," Reagan said. He added the nation has "a long way to go" before it overcomes racial prejudice.

The president's late afternoon Oval Office talk with Coretta Scott King today will follow his posthumous presentation of the congressional gold medal to the widow of Roy Wilkins, who headed the NAACP during the civil rights struggle.

Two decades ago Reagan criticized the King-led demonstrations and opposed the landmark civil rights legislation of the 1960s while governor of California.

In a television interview, Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young, one of King's closest lieutenants in the civil rights movement of the 1960s, said "I think of him as being a very reluctant leader. It was not until 1963 that Martin began to take

College Sets $100,000-Up Auction Goal

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole Community College Foundation kicked off its "Dream Auction '86" fundraiser Wednesday morning with an on-campus breakfast.

Foundation co-chairman Dede Schaffner told the gathering last year's first auction was "a tremendous success" with over $100,000 raised. She said this year's goal is again $100,000, but hopes it will again be exceeded.

As was the case last year, the money raised from the auction will be combined with contributions from the state and go into a continuing scholarship fund. The state will kick in $4 for each $6 raised in the drive.

The auction will take place Thursday, February 20, at the Sheraton Maitland, and a ticket sell-out is expected. Four hundred people attended last

New Charges In Land Spat

Citizens' Rights Abused, Sanford Attorneys Allege

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County abused its citizens' rights and the state's laws when agreeing to purchase Yankee Lake, according to Sanford attorneys, who are calling upon the Florida constitution and its Government in the Sunshine statutes to prove their allegations.

The charges were termed "creative" today, by Deputy County Attorney Bob McMillan, who said if a ruling was made in Sanford's favor, "it would probably derail their (wastewater management) program as well."

The county, he said, "is very confident — unless they make new laws."

The allegations were filed Wednesday, as amended pleadings in the city's condemnation proceeding to obtain Yankee Lake. In essence, they officially acknowledge the county's Dec. 23 entry in the suit by seeking to have the county removed from it.

To effect this, Sanford attorneys allege the purchase of Yankee Lake was undertaken with methods that violated the constitution and several portions of the Sunshine law.

The constitutional issue addresses the alleged lack of "public benefit" that resulted when the county agreed to pay Jeno Paulucci $7.5 million and provide his Heathrow development with sewage treatment at the plant it hopes to build at Yankee Lake.

City co-counsel Thomas Julin said today, "The public's best interests are not served under the agreement because it is far from the property's fair market value."

Julin said the city's $5,567,000 appraisal of Yankee Lake will be used to demonstrate the unconstitutionality of the county's purchase.

'The public's best interests are not served under the agreement because it is far from the property's fair market value.'

In the realm of the Sunshine law, Sanford attorneys have leveled charges against county commissioners and staff members. Julin said Sanford has targeted the laws prohibiting elected representatives from discussing official business in private and staff from clandestinely acting as advisory committees to these representatives.

According to the amended pleading, "Two or more members of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners conducted one or more meetings to discuss the (purchase) contract."

The city also charges the same regarding alleged discussions to modify the contract.

Although Julin declined to name the commissioners, he said, "We feel we have enough evidence to make the charges."

Much of the information the allegations are based on was provided by the county, he said, when it furnished Yankee Lake and Heathrow data to the city last week.

Sanford also contends that the county's administrator, Ken Hooper, its director of environmental services, Jim Bible and its attorney, Nikki Clayton, negotiated for Yankee Lake and kept the county commission abreast of their efforts during private discussions.

The county's sanctioning of

Mayor Calls For Action On Housing Board

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission "must squarely face" the repercussions of A.A. McClanahan's resignation from the Sanford Housing Authority, Mayor Bettye Smith said today.

McClanahan left on Tuesday, after serving six months as chairman.

If heeded, the mayor's call for "decisive action" will replace an apparent complacency the commission has demonstrated this winter by failing to follow through on plans to review the authority's 1985 audit.

"I apologize for my part in that," the mayor said today. "We became involved in so many other things."

The audit review was called for in mid-November. During the interim, Sanford's wastewater program and preparation of a community revitalization grant application took center stage, according to City Manager Frank Faison.

These concerns "kept the commissioners very busy," he said today.

Back in November, Faison also said "until the (audit) matter is cleared up," the housing authority would not be a part of the

Brantley Yearbook Honored

A group of Lake Brantley High School students, led by the school's 1986 yearbook editors, presented the Seminole County School Board Wednesday with a sample of national recognition garnered by their 1985 yearbook and were commended for their work.

The Delmar Company, which publishes yearbooks for schools nationwide, selected the first 16 pages of Lake Brantley's publication, Patriot's Pride, to be used as a national sample this year. Patriot's Pride was selected over 1,200 other yearbooks they published in 1985.

1986 yearbook editors Shari Dubbin and Karyn Weisgerber presented the Delmar sample, titled, A Year Look, Classic Yearbooks. Both young women were associate editors of the 1985 product. Ginger Hakman was the editor.

The sample contains the opening 16 pages of the 1985 yearbook, which includes over 40 full color pictures, sharp layout, and an enthusiastic depiction of student life.

The editors said they were proud to have their yearbook represent the quality of Seminole County's educational system, and the quality of the work they the students produce.

The book was produced at a cost of $52,000, and funded by advertising sales, book sales, and other fund raising projects.

Holiday Closings

Federal offices, post offices, and banks will be closed Monday for the Martin Luther King Jr.'s Birthday federal holiday. County and city offices and schools will remain open.

Seminole Community College will be open, but University of Central Florida classes will be closed from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. for a program to be presented on campus honoring Dr. King.

Clears State Attorney

Grand Jury Indicts Champ Williams

ORLANDO (UPI) — A state grand jury has cleared Orange-Osceola State Attorney Robert Eagan in a corruption probe, but airport restaurateur Charles "Champ" Williams was indicted on 32 counts of allegedly bribing public officials.

Williams has held the exclusive rights to food and beverage sales at Orlando International Airport since 1962, a monopoly on which he reported more than $12 million in gross earnings last year.

"The grand jury has returned an indictment charging (Williams) with racketeering in violation of Florida statute," said Steve Kunz, assistant state attorney. "There are 32 predicate acts alleged, and the time period covers 1974 through and including 1982."

"The predicate acts allege violation of the bribery statutes with respect to various public officials here in Orange County," Kunz said Wednesday.

Investigation was prompted when Williams' son filed a lawsuit alleging his father skimmed money to cheat the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority and used part of the money to bribe officials, including Eagan.

Bruce Williams' suit alleges the bribery was committed to

WORLD IN BRIEF

Thatcher Nagged By Questions Over Helicopter Deal 'Favoritism'

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher escaped one cloudburst but faced another today in a political storm over allegations she favored a U.S. bid competing with a European offer to rescue Britain's only helicopter maker.

Her government defeated a motion Wednesday night for a parliamentary inquiry into the bidding by a vote of 370-217.

But a select committee in the House of Commons has already decided to look into the matter, and lingering doubts promised to keep the issue alive in the public arena.

"There is more yet to come and more questions to be asked," said Michael Mates, a member of Parliament from Thatcher's Conservative Party.

Opposition politicians said the matter was still alive and repeated calls for an inquiry. "There can be no confidence in the government until this matter is cleared up," former Labor Prime Minister James Callaghan said.

Officials Deny Coup In Lesotho

By United Press International

Troops surrounded the office of Prime Minister Leabua Jonathan in Lesotho a day after he ordered five opposition leaders arrested on charges of conspiring with neighboring South Africa to topple his government, diplomats said.

Military officials in the capital of Maseru denied Wednesday there had been a coup and Western diplomats gave conflicting accounts on the troop movement in Lesotho, which has been crippled by a two-week South African border blockade.

South Africa, which surrounds the mountain kingdom, sealed its borders Jan. 1 to force Jonathan to expel African National Congress guerrillas. Pretoria has charged that the guerrillas use Lesotho as a staging area for terrorist attacks on South Africa.

The African National Congress, outlawed in South Africa, is fighting to end white rule in its homeland. The Pretoria government has demanded that Lesotho expel the guerrillas.

Warsaw Peace Meeting Snubbed

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — About 200 intellectuals, including delegates from Western Europe and the United States, gathered in Warsaw today for a four-day conference on world peace but more than half of those invited did not attend.

The official news agency PAP said the conference on the future of world peace was organized by "Polish scholars and writers."

"The participants of the congress came at their own will, covering in part or fully the costs of their trips and stay in Poland," the news agency said Wednesday.

About 200 intellectuals from 47 countries, including the Soviet Union, China, Finland, West Germany, Greece, Spain, the Netherlands, Britain and the United States, came to Warsaw for the conference. Some 450 people had been invited.

Mental Health Center Director: 'Conflict Of Interest'

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

A proposal by the Seminole County Mental Health Center would take the funding of its alcoholism treatment services out of the hands of the Metropolitan Alcoholism Council (MACO), an area support agency.

The mental health center says it wants to continue providing alcoholism treatment in Seminole County. The county's department of health and human services has recommended that the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services fund these services directly and any new monies or programs be submitted to the Seminole County Commission for approval.

The local mental health center last month decided to close down Crossroads, a residential alcohol treatment center, after an unsuccessful bid to obtain additional state funding. The center had asked for $58,000 in additional funding to operate the financially troubled halfway house.

MACO has pledged to directly continue providing alcohol treatment services in Seminole County directly through the end of June after which it will seek a contract with another agency. MACO had contracted with Seminole mental health to operate Crossroads.

MACO channels state funds from HRS to alcohol treatment programs in Seminole, Osceola and Orange counties.

Yet, MACO's dual role of serving as a provider agency and allocator of state funds presents a conflict of interest, Seminole County Mental Health Center (SCMHC) Executive Director Jim Berko said.

Crossroads received $84,000 of MACO's total $1.5 million budget. While alcohol related problems over the last five years have increased 40 percent in Seminole County, funding from MACO has remained at the same level for at least eight years, thus limiting the treatment services that can be provided, Berko said.

"It is impossible for MACO to be both a provider agency in Seminole, Orange and Osceola and also an allocator of state funds," he said. "Even with the best of intentions, MACO will not fund our Crossroads program as readily as it will its own services."

MACO has proposed to offer treatment services after Jan. 1, when Crossroads closed, to include a male halfway house, a sobering up facility for males, outpatient services for males and females and criminal justice liaison, at a cost of $65,000 for five months.

SCMHC said it has plans to provide a "full range" of alcoholism services in Seminole County through 1989, including detoxification facilities and co-location of alcohol, drug abuse and mental health services. Clients are transported to Orange County for detox.

Health and Human Services Director Dr. Jorge Deju has recommended the county approve SCMHC's proposal to provide services and that HRS directly fund these services in Seminole County. County Commissioners have agreed to meet with HRS district administrators for a work session.

MACO Executive Director Jerry Kinzler said the Alcohol

Drug and Mental Health Council, which makes recommendations to HRS, will meet Friday to decide who will provide alcoholism services in Seminole County.

Kinzler maintained that MACO, like Crossroads and other area treatment agencies in the three counties is in need of more state dollars.

"It is not MACO versus SCMHC, it is Orange and Osceola versus Seminole County, and the only person that loses is the alcoholic," he said.

Seminole County Wants To Improve Its Communications System Services

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County is eyeing the purchase of a $5.5 million state-of-the-art radio and microwave system to improve county services communications, with the hopes that local cities will participate in and help fund the system.

County Director of Public Safety Gary Kaiser unveiled plans for the 800 megahertz system before county commissioners, which asked county staff to delve further into the possibility of bringing the communications system on line.

The county will finalize a proposal with Motorola, from which it would purchase the system, and seek financing bids. It will also determine how cities who participate in the county's first response program, now or in the future, can pay their fair share for the cost of the system.

Overcrowding of channels and interference have caused the county's communications system to deteriorate in the last two to three years, Kaiser said. The 800 megahertz "trunking" system would upgrade the communications network in terms of clarity, voice transmissions and distance reached as well as bring in first response users, he said.

The network is called a trunking system because it allows computer controlled sharing of channels similar to the concept used by the telephone companies, Kaiser said.

The county has first response agreements with Altamonte Springs and Longwood. Casselberry has approved a similar agreement and Sanford is considering going into the program, but the participation of both is pending implementation of the new communications system.

Kaiser said the system could be brought on line within 15 months and would be utilized by the sheriff's department, public safety and other county divisions. It would allow expansion through the purchase of additional trunk lines, about $350,000 for a pair, for future users.

County Administrator Ken Hooper said the county would finance the purchase through its general fund and the budgets of other departments which use the system. He said the county could use its state sales tax revenues as backing to obtain the bank loan.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said the county should fund the start-up of the system rather than asking the cities to help initially, that it would discourage them from participating in first response with the county. Later, users of the system would help pay for maintenance and equipment.

The county agreed to poll cities about their future communications needs and proposed that a possible start-up fee for those who enter the system after it goes on line be looked at.

One advantage to the system, Polk said, is that it features a "lockout" which would make it difficult to monitor law enforcement radio frequencies.

Longwood Firm Gets SCC New Roof Contract

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Six buildings on the campus of Seminole Community College get new roofs at a cost of $348,002 as a result of action taken by the college's Board of Trustees during the panel's regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

C.E.I. Industries, Longwood, was awarded the contract pending a final study of the company's financial status. Their bid was nearly $35,000 lower than the next low bid of $382,850, submitted by the Butler Corporation.

Research of previous C.E.I. customers indicated the company had a good track record in quality and durability of construction, and that it was responsive to customers' needs. It was reported to the board.

The financial check of the company was suggested to ensure it would be available at a future date for repairs under warranty if needed.

It was anticipated the re-roofing construction will begin 10 days after the company is notified it has been awarded the bid, which may take place next week. The project is to take 120 days, and be completed prior to summer's rainy season.

Included in the project are the student center, E facility wing, F facility wing, vocational building, I building, and the administration building. The new roofs will be able to withstand winds of up to 120 mph. Trustees were told.

The nearly completed roofing project on the science and library buildings will get a late modification of two new exhaust fans to improve the air circulation in the science and biology labs. The cost of adding the exhaust units is $2,850.

Bears Begin Safe And Secure Preparation

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Amid security rivaling its stifling defense, the Chicago Bears will practice indoors for several days beginning today at the University of Illinois before leaving next week for the Super Bowl.

"We've been excited ever since they called me," said Peter Schnabel, the manager of the posh hotel in neighboring Urbana at which the Bears will stay until the weekend.

Coach Mike Ditka wanted to practice at the Illinois football field before the playoffs, but an inflatable bubble, which provides warmth as well as protection from fans, reporters and photographers, was still on the ground.

The bubble, inflated in late December, covers a $1.75 million artificial turf at Illinois' Memorial Stadium.

The Bears arrived at Willard Airport south of Champaign Wednesday afternoon and will practice today, Friday and Saturday, a spokesman said.

The club is due back in Chicago

Saturday night before leaving next week for New Orleans to face the New England Patriots.

Warned of the tight security surrounding the Bears' brief visit to central Illinois, most fans did not expect to bump into Walter Payton or Jim McMahon.

"I'm hoping to," said Mike Roche, who works at a record store where the "Super Bowl Shuffle" is reported to be selling well. "Well, to tell you the truth, I don't think the odds (of seeing a player) are very good."

Stella Hedderman, who works at a candy shop in the small mall adjoining the Bears' hotel, is one of the many rookie football fans the Bears have attracted. She became interested this season in the Bears, she said, at the prodding of her son-in-law.

"Oh, I think they're going to take it," Hedderman, 60, said of the Bears' chances against New England. "Of course, I don't know too much about it."

At the Embassy Tavern, within walking distance of the Bears' hotel, co-owner Paul Wirth promised peace and quiet for any player who may want an evening drink. But he conceded he expected only fans at his bar because the players "are going to be working pretty hard."

Wirth is doing some shopping in case he runs into Ditka.

"I've been looking around town for a 'genius' button so when Ditka comes into town I can give it to him," he said.

PATRIOTS: SEPTEMBER PAST
FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — In the Chicago Bears' second game of the season, they easily beat New England, 20-7. But the Patriots say their Super Bowl opponents should not draw too much solace from September.

"Since that game we've improved tremendously. We aren't anything similar to that team the Bears played then," Patriots safety Fred Marion said during a news conference Wednesday.

The loss came during New England's 2-3 start, but the team went on to win 12 of its next 14 games. During the last four weeks, the team's rushing attack has thrived, averaging 198 yards per game.

In their Sept. 15 loss to the Bears, the Patriots gained just 27 yards rushing on 16 carries, a 1.2 yard average. The longest run was 7 yards by Tony Collins, who led New England with 19 yards rushing. The Bears sacked quarterback Tony Eason six times.

"Our offense was still experimenting then," wide receiver Stanley Morgan said. "We were seeing how certain things would work. And our offensive line was really banged up then.

"The only healthy linemen were Steve Moore and Brian Holloway. This time, everyone's healthy."

Head coach Raymond Berry said he has been watching films of Chicago's famed defense and noted "their scheme is good and the mix is good. It is kind of confusing to watch and it is certainly confusing to play against."

Buddy Ryan, in his eighth season as Chicago's defensive coordinator, has provided the kind of consistency and stability that makes a winner, Berry said.

"When Jim Ringo and I were both assistant coaches on the Patriots team of 1980, we said that the best defensive system we faced that year was Chicago's. Now they are just reaping the benefits," said Berry.

The Bears have a 17-1 mark entering the Super Bowl, and the one loss makes it easier on New England, according to Morgan.

Softball Club: 'Aretha Day' Set For March

The Seminole Softball Club has set up the Aretha Riggins Fund at the Atlantic Bank on First Street in Sanford.

SSC spokesman Charlie Simms also said it will donate all concessions from its Opening Day on March 1, which will be "Aretha Riggins Day."

Aretha, stricken with the rare Landry-Guillain-Barre Syndrome, is currently hospitalized at Florida South in Orlando.

The following is the text of a proclamation for the Aretha Riggins Fund and Aretha Riggins Day by the board of directors of the Seminole Softball Club:

We, the Board of Directors of Seminole Softball Club, Inc., do hereby proclaim Saturday, March 1, 1986, opening day of the softball season, as "Aretha Riggins Day," in honor of a special athlete in her determined struggle to overcome a rare and paralyzing disease known as Landry-Guillain-Barre Syndrome.

As a member of the Seminole Softball Club, Aretha Riggins helped lead her Forest City 1 team to the League Championship in 1985. Selected as a member of the 15 and under tournament team, Aretha helped lead the Seminole Savages to a third place finish in the ASA Southern Regional qualifier and the team's second consecutive trip to the ASA National Tournament where she helped her team to a third place finish, the best ever for a team from Central Florida.

For all of the joy and excitement Aretha Riggins has given to the members of the Seminole Softball Club and in tribute of her determination and ever present enthusiasm, we proclaim this our gift and our thanks to her in her time of need.

We further proclaim that all proceeds above our costs generated on this day be placed in the "Aretha Riggins Fund," to be set up to offset the cost of medical and other related expenses involved in the treatment of this disease.

May God bless you with a full and speedy recovery, Aretha.

Antiperspirants And Deodorants Differ

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Do you know of any deodorants that do not contain aluminum chlorohydrate?

DEAR READER — Aluminum salts are not used as deodorants; they function as antiperspirants. Therefore, when you purchase a deodorant, check the container to see if it contains aluminum. Many nationally distributed deodorants are aluminum-free; check labels to see if aluminum is included.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Why is there such a controversy among doctors over taking INH? I was exposed to tuberculosis. My PPD was positive at 15 millimeters, and a followup X-ray shows a calcified area in my lung. One doctor tells me to take INH, while two others tell me I should not, but they won't tell me why.

DEAR READER — Isoniazide (INH) is an effective anti-tuberculosis medicine that is useful in the treatment of active disease. Many patients who have been exposed to TB develop inactive, calcified scar tissue in their lungs. They do not need treatment because, in most cases, the tuberculosis germs have been taken care of by the body's natural defenses. True, the inactive infection can activate at a later time; then treatment would be necessary.

In your case, the lung has walled off the TB infection and built a shell around it. You probably don't need INH now, but you will require medical supervision to detect any future activation of the infection. Doctors often hesitate to use INH (unless necessary), because the drug can cause serious side effects, including nerve damage, eye disorders, bone-marrow suppression and a hepatitis-like liver reaction.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am an 18-year-old male and I have "bumps" on the underside of my penis. Recently one of them got slightly bigger, turned red and is sore. Are these penile warts? If I need to go to a doctor, should I go to a dermatologist, a urologist or a regular doctor?

DEAR READER — Your problem does not sound like venereal warts. Start with a regular doctor, because the infection you describe may be easily cured with antibiotics. If, because of the personal nature of your difficulty, you feel awkward seeing a family doctor, go to a VD clinic of the type sponsored by municipal agencies in most large towns and cities.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Today's deal illustrates the vicissitudes of bridge. Because the North-South pair was using weak no-trump openings, South opened one no-trump on 13 high-card points. East now had an opportunity to make a lead-directing double of two clubs. The five of clubs opening lead, followed by slight misjudgment in the play, resulted in declarer's going down three. The bidding by North and South cannot really be faulted.

In the replay South opened one club. North responded one diamond and South made his normal rebid of one spade. North bid three no-trump, which ended the auction. East was now on opening lead and selected the 10 of clubs, again a choice that no one would really criticize. But look at the difference. The North declarer ducked the club around to his jack and next played to the queen of diamonds. West might have posed a problem for declarer by returning the diamond jack, but instead played back the 10 of spades. It was now too late to keep North from taking nine tricks, and in fact West, whose hand got tightened up in the red suits, wound up letting declarer make an overtrick.

On this particular deal of our team's seven-board Swiss-team match at the North American Championships in Winnipeg, we gained 11 international match-points (IMPs). Since the results for the other six boards were the same at both tables, this deal won the match for us. Yes, duplicate bridge team competition is a game of skill, but this deal shows that there is still plenty of old-fashioned luck involved. Sorry, opponents.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
JANUARY 17, 1968
 Strong new ambitions will stir in you in the year ahead. You'll raise your sights and aim for bigger targets. Success is likely, but you'll have to earn it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The heavy demands of others on your time and talents today are likely to severely restrict your mobility. A resentful attitude will only make matters worse. Major changes are ahead for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unsound plans will mire today and could even cause you additional complications. Take time to lay out a blueprint that will work.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An extensive price tag is no assurance of quality today, either in merchandise or pleasurable activities. The more you spend, the less you may get.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are too forceful or assertive today, it will turn the very people whose help you need most against you. Use your smarts and be tactful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be optimistic regarding the outcome of events today, but also be logical. Don't embellish reality with rosy brushstrokes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to be extra cautious in your commercial affairs today. Don't allow anyone to push you into something that requires more study.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Agreements you enter into today must provide equal benefits to both parties. If the deal is lopsided, it will shortly collapse of its own weight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be willing to help others today, provided it's your own idea. But you might resent being asked to do things you didn't think of first.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today, guard against tendencies to be overly possessive of the one you love. Instead of drawing this person closer to you, it will push him or her away.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For the sake of harmony on the homefront today, avoid bringing up issues that put you and your mate in opposing positions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your productivity could be at a low ebb today. It won't be due to an absence of good ideas, but because you'll want others to execute them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those days where you may only get what you truly earn. If you're looking for something for nothing, it's likely you'll be disappointed.
