NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1 (AP)—Attendance at softball games throughout the United States during 1943 will total approximately 105,000,000, President Raymond Johnson of the Amateur Softball Association of America said today.

The ASA has nearly 50,000 teams in more than 400 camps and naval bases, Johnson said. "We have anywhere from eight teams at some of the smaller flying fields to 2000 at the Great Lakes naval training station," he explained. "Approximately 280,000 civilian teams took part in county, district, city and state tournaments in 12 regional tournaments this week-end for qualification into the 11th annual international tournament to be held in Detroit Sept. 17-20. In addition, 2000 high schools averaging eight teams each, competed in the scholastic program last spring."

Johnson estimated that at least 60 soldiers and sailors will see each game on the posts and naval bases and with each team playing twice a week during the 12 week season, 5,000,000 spectators would see service games alone.

Using the same estimated attendance per game, he said, 280,000 civilians teams playing twice a week should draw 98,000,000 and if the 24,000 high school teams averaged only 30 spectators per game, they would draw

The softball president stated there are at least 600,000 service men playing softball in the United States and probably a sixth that many playing in foreign countries. China said that Maj. Gen. Clare "Only recently a story out of L. Chennault pitched a softball game for a bomber base over there and won, 17-13. "A short time ago I had a letter from a lieutenant in North Africa," Johnson said, "stating that he attended a game late in June which attracted 6000 service men."

Player Limit Has Brought Change Of Tactics For Reds

By HARRY J. PRAWLEY SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Because of the war, a more diversified attack is being presented this season by the Washington Redskins, professional football champions. Arthur (Dutch) Bergman, new Redskins mentor, says the change in tactics was prompted principally by the new player limit which reduces pro squads from 33 to 25. "Fitting the plays to the material at hand is more important than ever this year," says Bergman, formerly of Notre Dame and Catholic University. "We are going to find it difficult to make replacements. "Under this new limitation every backfield man has learned the plays and signals for at least two positions — and possibly three. "The Redskins still have Sammy Baugh, the aerial wizard, and another talented passer in Leroy Zimmerman, former San Jose (Calif.) State College star, to pace the overhead attack, but a sound ground attack is receiving equal attention. Bergman faced a major task rebuilding the Redskins because he lost one team to the armed forces, including such stars as Kl. Aldrich of Texas Christian, Ed Belton of Notre Dame, Eddie Clera of Tennessee, Al Krueger, the Southern California pass receiver, Steve Juwuk of Notre Dame and Dick Todd of Texas A & M. "We must obtain a release from the draft board, and we are waiting both their funds and their time. Dr. B.F. ### Farm Workers Are Warned To Stay Where They Are

ATLANTA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Agricultural workers who have been migrating to key industrial centers without proper releases from former employers and their draft boards, were warned Monday that they are wanted both by their funds and their time. Dr. B.F. ### STUFFED EGGPLANT IN HALF SHELL

Excellent, unlike to busy days, some always to be available. Most people think it takes "doctoring" to be tasty. Prepared this way it is truly delicious—just what the doctor ordered.

- 1 medium eggplant
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine, salt
- 1 cup buttered crumbs
- 1 cup water

Cut the eggplant in half lengthwise and scoop out the pulp, leaving the rim about 1/4 inch thick. Cover the shells with cold water and allow them to stand for 20 minutes. Chop the pulp, add onion and bread crumbs. Heat the butter or margarine in the frying pan, add the pulp mixture, add saute for about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add water and salt and pepper to taste. Drain and wipe the shells, sprinkle each with salt and pepper, and fill them with the mixture. Cover with the buttered crumbs. Place in a baking dish or pan, shells down, and pour a little hot water around them; keep adding hot water in the pan if it cooks away. Bake about 1 1/2 hour in moderate oven, 375 degrees F. Serve hot.

STUFFED EGGPLANT IN HALF SHELL is a new bread recipe from the book "THRIFTY COOKING FOR WARTIME" by Alice S. Whit-Smit, published by the Macmillan Company, New York.

OPA Expects Price Return To '42 Levels

New Values For Ration Points Given; Meat Is Down But Butter Is Raised

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP) The Office of Price Administration expects the cost of living to be rolled back soon to September, 1942 levels.

"Measures already in operation will eliminate well over half the rise in the cost of living," Deputy OPA Administrator Chester Howles said in a letter to Representative Sabath (D-Fla.). He added that the food stabilization program now being worked out "will, we believe, complete the job."

The OPA yesterday reduced ration point values of lamb, bacon and beef cuts and certain dried and processed vegetables but boosted the ration cost of creamery butter and 13 other processed foods.

The adjustments, effective Sept. 3 through Oct. 2, were dictated by what OPA officials termed "the best meat picture since rationing began and a serious butter outlook."

Shrinking production and regional shortages make it necessary to raise the point value of creamery butter from 10 to 12 points, OPA said.

The ration point value of lamb, which has been a staple in civilian diets since the war, comes shortly after the War Relocation Authority announced quota limitations on livestock slaughtering for September and October.

All lamb and mutton steaks, chops and roasts will be slashed (Continued on Page Two)

Frank Sinkwich Is Unfit For Marines

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Sept. 3. (AP) Frank Sinkwich, All American football player who captained the Georgia 1942 Rose Bowl team, will be honorably discharged from the Marine Corps Sept. 11. The Corps announcement said the discharge was due to the fact that he was "physically unqualified for the officers candidate class."

Knox Reveals Huge Shipping Loss For Japs

Tokyo Radio Claims Two Carriers And 160 Airplanes Used In Marcus Attack

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP) Secretary Frank Knox announced today that one-third of Japan's total merchant shipping, approximately 2,000,000 tons has been destroyed.

The Navy chief said this destruction of one of Japan's most vital resources was chiefly accomplished by American submarines, although all the United Nations' sea and air forces had participated in the sinking.

Radio Tokyo claimed Thursday that the U. S. naval task force which pounded Marcus Island, 1,100 miles southeast of Tokyo, at dawn Wednesday included 160 planes operating from two aircraft carriers.

The U. S. Navy has not disclosed the composition of the raiding force, and the Tokyo radio claims it made no mention of accompanying destroyers or cruisers, which usually escort an aircraft carrier force on combat missions.

The Tokyo radio has said Wednesday that warships also shelled the island.

The enemy broadcast Thursday quoting the second official Japanese announcement on the raid in two days, claimed 12 U. S. planes shot down, but admitted damage to grounded planes, personnel and military facilities on the mid-Pacific island.

On the basis of an enemy report of the size of the raiding force, the losses claimed by the Japs would represent an average of more than 7 per cent of the attack. A recognized "safe" percentage of losses in land-based plane operations is considered to be difficult to reach a carrier-based operation is 10 per cent.

Karliser, Domei, official Japanese news agency, reported in an English language broadcast received by U. S. Government monitors, that the American task force consisted of two carriers, 100 German fighters and "about 90 carrier bombers."

The enemy has not made any claim of damage to the carriers.

Devastation In Berlin After Raid

This scene of Nazi soldiers clearing streets of debris gives some idea of the damage inflicted on Berlin in multiple raids by RAF and U.S. bombers. The task of cleaning up was a difficult one, for as soon as the job was completed Allied planes would appear to drop more incendiaries and fire bombs. This picture, which comes from an Axis source, has been passed by British and U.S. censors. (International Soundphoto)

Tennis Favorite Says Fairer Sex Are Poor Players

NEW YORK Sept. 3. (Special) Louise Broome, the blonde Coleridge bombshell who is the favorite of many to win the current women's national tennis championship at Forest Hills, thinks that girls are pretty poor tennis players considering the time and effort they devote to the game.

An article in the current issue of Collier's Weekly says that the outspoken Miss Broome is rough on the girls, and off court.

"She doesn't think much of them as tennis players and she is candid enough to say so," according to the article. She includes herself in this criticism, admitting that she can beat a fair second flight man once in fifty times.

"Considering the time and effort they put into the game, most girls are pretty awful," is the unvarnished manner in which Louise expressed her views to the magazine. "I can understand why men sarcastically call them fugitives from a kitchen stove. The trouble is that they're too ladylike. They're so concerned about looking pretty and making every move a picture that they forget to sock the ball."

"There's so much room for improvement in every girl player I've ever seen that I don't feel flattered when I'm compared to anyone," says the 29-year-old blonde who explains that "over confidence" rather than stage fright "caused her to lose her touch just when victory was within reach and lose the national championship to Miss Pauline Betz last year at Forest Hills.

"As soon as I took the lead in the second set, I talked myself into being too tired to try for every shot. I just lay back and expected to get the breaks. It won't happen again."

BROOKLYN

Dodge manager Leo Durocher may be able to nag umpires all he wants and get away with it, but baseball manners are out at home. That's the gist of a divorce complaint filed by Mrs. Durocher in St. Louis. She charges Leo with being "of a nagging disposition."

American Planes And Warships Play Big Role In Invasion Of European Continent

 Italy's 1941 invasion line cracked yesterday under the powerful impact of five Russian armies which cut the vital Bryansk-Kiev railway, punched out six-mile salients toward Smolensk, and exemplified Axis lines on a new 45-mile offensive front in the northern Donets basin.

The swiftness of the Russian counter-offensive suggested the Germans were making a wholesale retreat toward the Dnieper River in southern Russia, unable to withstand the tripartite force of Russia's newest manpower and motorized equipment.

The Ukraine bastion of Sumy and the middle Donets city of Lyschansk were among the important localities regained, Moscow announced.

Another victorious order of the day by Marshal Stalin which ended with the usual grim ultimatum "to the German invaders" and the daily communique announced the impressive successes.

Nearly 250 cities and villages, many of them rich strategic prizes were recaptured along a 600-mile front, making a total of nearly 1,500 in two days, said the communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Sumy, northern Ukraine industrial and rail center 100 miles northwest of Kharkov, fell to the troops of General Vatutin. Its capture was announced by Stalin, who ordered another victorious salvo from 120 guns at Moscow.

Grover Whalen Is Crystal Gazer Of Post War Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Draw up a chair and take a gander at the fashion world of tomorrow, as dreamed up by that practical crystal gazer Grover Whalen, big chief of the New York World's Fair, ex-police chief of New York and present potentate of Caturamas.

Post-war New York, says Mr. Whalen, will be the world's fashion capital in actual fact, with a vast world fashion center modeled on the lines of the present Rockefeller Center, with designers from all over the world converging here to show their creations, with trans-Atlantic air shuttles and trans-city helicopter taxis rushing buyers, couturiers and fashion experts to the spot.

No corner will a new fall be born on the Champs Elysees on the banks of the Thames, in Calcutta, Moscow or Shanghai, than it will be spent in Manhattan, in the great clearing house in New York, to be viewed, brought, put into mass production and distributed to all Main Streets.

You, Mrs. George Public, will have a grandstand seat at a world-wide style parade, flashed to your own living room by television from a stage-lighted show room in New York. There you will see new fashions being born as models parade before buyers and press. If you look closely you'll probably see the buyer from our local department store in the crowd choosing styles which you can buy in your own home town a few weeks hence.

All this is not just another fantastic post-war dream. A committee representing business, industry and municipal government already is hard at work on the concrete plans, appointed by no less a personage than Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York. The committee is headed by you guessed it—Grover Whalen.

Though the location of the center has been left open to suggestion, the spot most discussed takes in the area from 34th street to 28th street and from Fifth avenue to the East river. In Manhattan, with factories to be located across the river in Queens, the whole connected by the Queens tunnel.

Here's how it will work, if the dream comes true:

Your local buyer (and thousands of other buyers from all over the world) will take a plane after breakfast, land at a New York airport in a matter of hours or minutes, grab a helicopter taxi and land on the roof of the world fashion center in Manhattan.

Here he will check in at a skyscraper hotel, located in the center, make a reservation on the returning night plane at the transportation bureau, then turn to the business at hand. Grouped conveniently in separate buildings, will be the world showrooms for dressers, hats, coats, children's wear, sportswear, accessories and other articles of human clothing.

Picking his showroom, the buyer will see an assembled display of the latest styles from Paris, London, Hollywood, New York and all the rest of the world. He will make his choice, place his order and within the same day it will be in production in workrooms across the East river in Queens, shipped to his store within the week.

At the microphones in Quebec the Prime Minister of Great Britain, Winston Churchill, is pictured as he talked to the British Empire and the world on the latest war developments. Mr. Churchill appeared for an early tripartite conference of foreign ministers to be followed by a meeting of President Roosevelt, Josef Stalin and himself. (International Soundphoto)

Georgia Geechee Girl Is In Shrimp Business

VALONA, Ga.—When the squat little shrimp boats haul up their nets and chug ashoreward with the day's catch, there's a girl waiting for them on the docks at this Georgia seacoast village.

She slender, dark-haired Rita Watson, who speaks with a soft "Geechee" accent. She never had tasted shrimp until less than a year ago, but today she manages a war-shrimp packing company.

One of the few women to direct a fish industry, Rita handles the business end of a net or crive a truck to the load point. She's equally adept at removing heads from the shrimp.

Rita took over when her brother, Hunter Watson, joined the Coast Guard several months ago.

For five years before this Rita had been "shrimping," so it's nothing new to her—the war essential business of packing tons of shrimp for Eastern markets and the fighting forces.

Rita's work begins about 1 o'clock in the afternoon when the first of the nine Watson boats begin nosing up to the dock, shrimp spilling from their sides. The boats are small but seaworthy. They have to be, as the catch is made in the sounds and in the open ocean. It's illegal to drag the shaltered rivers.

A pulley hauls tubs of shrimp to the dock where a crew of men and women sort, wash and "head" the shrimp. Stingers, small sharks, jelly fish, small flounders, trout, crabs and other fish species must be separated from the main crop of shrimp. Rita oversees this job.

An average of 1,200 pounds of shrimp is packed and shipped daily, mainly to New York markets. There was a record haul one day when the run of shrimp was something like a fisherman's dream. Before all hands had left the dock, 9,500 pounds—almost five tons—of shrimp had been packed and shipped to market.

"Ideas for Victory"

FROM G. M. WAR WORKERS

... and General Motors is Rewarding That Spirit at the Rate of a Million Dollars a Year

In all of its 112 plants in 50 states of the United States and Canada, General Motors encourages employe suggestions for aiding war production through a carefully planned system of awards. General Motors has always welcomed suggestions from employes. In fact, there have been similar suggestion plans in various G. M. plants for years, and it was thought that an expansion of these plans in these times would increase war production efficiency.

As a result, G. M. war workers have to date contributed 116,170 written ideas. Yes, written ideas. Many of them good ideas. Victory Ideas. Nearly 20,000 of them have been winning ideas and have been put into operation. For the open mind policy of General Motors accords a fair test to every suggestion.

Eight thousand four hundred ideas were submitted the very first month. They are now coming in at a monthly rate of better than 10,000, or a yearly rate of one idea for every three workers.

Thus, the individual war workers of General Motors are being given full opportunity to add their bit to the continuing contributions of management, supervision and engineering in those activities which deal with increasing production, saving materials, lowering costs and promoting plant safety.

Helping Those Who Help America

In the first 15 months' operation of its plan to reward workers for ideas that assist our war effort, General Motors paid out $660,000 in War Bonds and Stamps. And today the awards are being made at the rate of better than a million dollars a year.

General Motors considers that money well spent. It is a merited reward to those who help America. It is a proper incentive for individual initiative. It is one form of appreciation to those who think as they work—who are not content merely to perform the requirements of their jobs.

We All Can Help!

In addition to their contributions of ideas to help win the war, and to the vital importance of their regular jobs in supplying war materials, General Motors men and women are participating in all forms of war activities. They have set aside more than 10 per cent of their wages for War Bonds! War Bonds buy war materials. And the more we give in materials, the fewer lives we'll give for Victory.

Although the War Production Board has ordered the style experts to get rid of frills, it strikes us some of the young ladies have just about had it with them to it.

They are not going to call it 'AMNOT' any more, according to the Orlando Sentinel, because it's 'Turkish' and means 'pervert'. Even so, AMNOT is better than 'AMNOTGOT'.

Seminole County is expected to sell $286,651 in War Bonds during the month of September. That is a lot of money but we're betting on the patriotism of Seminole County citizens.

Another uncomfortable place to go, is just beyond your income. It is just beyond your income. It is just beyond your income.

Although fathers will be drafted in October, it is doubtful if any of them ever get to the fighting front. It takes about a year to train a soldier and by that time the war will be over, or nearly over.

In a New York newspaper is the story of a dog which ran away from home six and one half years ago, to wander more or less aimlessly around the world, only to return to his home a few days ago, joyful as ever at finding his eleven year old master now grown to seventeen.

Somewhat the sentiment in this popular craze "Johnie Got A Zero" doesn't appeal to us. The idea seems to be that if you fail in school getting across every day and flunking your courses, you'll turn out to be a great Army flier and lead the whole Japanese air force. It seems to us that is an aim to the fellows who are really getting the zeroes today. And the chance is if you keep on getting zeroes in school, you'll be rejected for army service when you grow up on the grounds of illiteracy.

We were glad to see our old friend Bill Schmidt in town the other day for the first time since he was six or eight years old. He has been in the army since then. He is now a sergeant and is expected to be promoted to lieutenant next to the 100th Airborne Division.

Nerve War For Nazis

"The Allies are going to invade through Denmark." "They are going to invade through southern Italy." Bang, bang on Berlin. "They are going to invade through Norway." Bang on Hamburg. Bang on Dusseldorf. "They aren't going to invade at all, they are merely going to bomb all Germany to rubble." Bang, whish, boom. "Russia has called Litvinoff back. There is trouble between Stalin and the Roosevelt-Churchill bunch. That means Russia will say what's to be done in Germany. Russia will be much tougher than the others." Bang bang on—"What city was that? It's here? Ach, hell Hitler—let's run!"

So they are running. The wealthy and well-placed are running into Switzerland. The lowly run into the country. When all the people are running from all the cities, where can they go? It's not pleasant in Germany. Nor Italy. It's a nightmare.

Americans ought not fall for all the jitters intended for the Axis. Let them take calmly news reports that sound strange. No matter who was called where or who does or does not invade or what does and what does not constitute a second front the fact remains that the Axis is on the run, and we are winning the war. Anything which worries the enemy tends to shorten it.

Rumors of trouble in the State Department, rumors that Franco is to be armed if he will be good, rumors about Russia—all can be discounted. When the news comes out the real news, factual and dependable—it will be printed where all can read. Meanwhile, Americans should laugh at the torrents of speculation. They should fall back on their own strength and humor—Americans can take it.

Fuel Oil

There were two big mistakes in last winter's handling of the fuel oil situation. One was the continued urging to convert to coal, with the implication that it was a sin if the householder did not do so. The use of oil for heat is comparatively recent, and home-owners who have installed oil burners have had good and sufficient reasons. With the burner once in and perhaps only partly paid for, it would have seemed extravagant and unstable to throw it out again.

The other mistake was the square footage basis for allotting coupons. Take an old country house, 40 by 10 feet on its foundations, with four floors in accumulated use, with ceilings 8 feet and 8 1/2 feet high. Add four outside doors and a great many windows. Put into this house three people who write for a living and spend most of their time at desks. Obviously this house needs more oil than a compact brick house with modern insulation and windowpanes, with three floors, one 8 and the other 7 1/2 feet high. Discrepancies like this were found everywhere, but the people administering OPA could not see why the first people could not keep warm on their allotments.

Thousands of people suffering similar discomforts could and did get by, but had that house contained the grandma and young children of a few years gone, the family could not have done so.

The first year of OPA was one of inexperience in such matters. These and other difficulties should be ironed out before the cold of the coming winter.

Try This Marriage-Happiness Test

Will HE make a good husband? Any girl who would like to know (and which one doesn't?) just has to answer Yes or No to these questions from sociologist Ann Brown Wilcox's "marriage-happiness" test in the September issue of Romantic Story:

- 1. Does he have at least one brother or sister?
2. Is (was) the marriage of his parents happy?
3. Is he conservative in morals and politics?
4. Will he be at least 22 years old at the time of marriage?
5. Does he discuss his problems with you?
6. Does he treat subordinates with consideration?
7. Does he often take the lead in living up a dull party?
8. Is his emotional temperament stable?
9. Has his employment record been regular?
10. Is his circle of friends large?
11. Does he have a savings account?
12. Have you known him two years or more?
13. Do both your parents approve of him?
14. Do you like his friends?
15. Does he desire children?
16. Can he be pleasant to someone he dislikes?
17. Does he feel at ease in a social group?
18. Is he glad to accept responsibility?

Now total the number of questions to which you answered yes. If your score is 18, your boy friend will make a perfect husband—or else you cheated. If it's between 14 and 18, your marriage is a most excellent chance of being a success. If it's between 9 and 13, you will have your marital problems, but you'll be happy together if you use tact and understanding. If you scored less than 9, think twice before you marry the guy.

Gifted Child Isn't Necessarily Genius Or Even A Prodigy

By ARIENE WOLF AP Features Writer NEW YORK—It's no compliment to call little Johnny a prodigy. And it's inaccurate to call him a genius, no matter how many gold stars he brings home from school.

That's the theory of Professor Harvey W. Zorbaugh, head of New York University's Clinic for Gifted Children, only organization of its kind in the world, he says.

"Prodigy means, literally, does too soon," the professor points out. "And genius means that years after a person is dead, civilization decides that he made some extraordinary contribution."

"But there are gifted and talented children," he says. "Gifted children are America's most precious natural resource—the leaders of tomorrow. Whether they use their unusual capabilities for the destruction of civilization or its improvement depends on education."

Special Needs Gifted children have very special educational needs. Professor Zorbaugh believes. They learn in different ways, need constant repetition, and usually make out best with the project method of study.

Professor Zorbaugh, who described in 1925 that nothing was known about gifted children, and started to find out about them, when they will have special educational facilities right through college and graduate study. He hopes that as interest gradually increases in the problems of these youngsters, and as parents and educators become more aware of their needs, the gifted child will be able to get the kind of training he requires in any city in the country, in any educational bracket.

2,500 Children Since gifted youngsters may sometimes become frustrated, ill-adjusted problem children unless they get this special training, the purpose of the clinic is to help them get the education they need. In New York, they may be recommended to special classes conducted by the Board of Education. Parents are told how the child is likely to develop and in what direction.

Professor Zorbaugh has worked with some 2,500 gifted youngsters from 4 to 12 years of age in the last 16 years. Although it's difficult to define exactly what psychologists mean when they say a child is gifted, chances are he has an IQ of 130 or over, putting him in the top 1% group of intelligence for his age. He has great potential ability—he's versatile in interests and abilities, and can apply what he knows to new situations. He's well organized emotionally.

But a merely talented child—one who has some special ability such as mathematics or art—isn't necessarily gifted in the psychological sense. "A talented child won't go anywhere creatively without intelligence," Professor Zorbaugh believes. "It takes great visual ability, for example, to make a good mathematician an engineer."

Of the approximately 350 children who came to the clinic during the year, about 80% prove themselves really gifted after going through a series of interviews and tests conducted by the staff of 8 and various consultants.

Very often, it's the parents who bring Johnny in because they're sure he's gifted. One father told his 3 1/2-year-old son after the boy had engaged his parent in a discussion on infinity. The clinic discovered a little girl who was reading upside down, had really learned to read before she entered school, and was being "bored" with ordinary methods. Two "deaf" children weren't deaf at all—they just got tired of answering questions that were old hat to them.

Wage Hearing To Be Held For Warehousing

ATLANTA, Sept. 3, (Special.)—Sept. 16 has been designated as a date on which a public hearing will be held with respect to an industry committee recommendation for the adoption of a minimum wage of 49 cents an hour in the warehousing, warehousing, and other distribution industries.

This was announced in Atlanta today by James G. Johnson, Regional Director of the Wage and Hour Division of the U.S. Department of Labor. The hearing will be held in the Division's office at 162 West 43rd Street, New York City and will begin at 10 o'clock. Administrator L. Batchelor Walling or someone designated by him will hear testimony and take evidence supporting or opposing the industry committee's recommendation.

The industry employs approximately 800,000 covered employees of whom approximately 55,000 now earn less than 40 cents an hour.

The word "tank" was meaningless when first applied to modern fighting machines by the British in 1915. It was used as a blind to conceal the true nature of the experimental machine then under construction.

U. S. - Australian Force Lands On Lae, New Guinea

Maneuver, Supported By Air and Navy Power, Cuts Off Jap Supply Line

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 6, (AP)—Allied troops have landed "in force" on the coast of Huon gulf, east of Lae, New Guinea, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Lae is one of the principal Japanese strongholds in New Guinea. It is approximately 15 miles northeast of Balimuna, where American and Australian troops have been closing in on the Japanese airbases.

Striking a new land blow in the battle for central New Guinea, Allied forces, comprised principally of Australian jungle fighters, landed in force along the coast Saturday.

General MacArthur, in the New Guinea field in personal command of operations, is assisted by General Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of Allied land forces, Vice Admiral Carpenter, commander of naval forces and Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the air force.

"The investment of Lae has begun," General MacArthur announced.

The landing was supported by air and naval force and was preceded by a naval bombardment.

Landing craft were protected by a smoke screen down by according naval vessels.

Observers at General MacArthur's headquarters said the maneuver cut off the enemy forces in the Lae area from reinforcements and separated them from the main Japanese bodies at Finshafen, 60 miles east of Lae on the Huon gulf, and from other Japanese forces on the coast.

General MacArthur said the landing was supported by air and naval force and was preceded by a naval bombardment.

Allied naval vessels shelled Lae before and during the landing to the east and thus held the enemy's attention until beachheads were established.

1942 Death Rate Found Lowest In Medical History

Severe Shortage Of Doctors For Civilians To Continue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6, (AP)—Civilian America is fat and healthy despite stresses of wartime living. The national death rate for 1942, the first full year of war, was 10.8 per thousand, the lowest in medical history.

Two births were recorded for every death during the year. The national birth rate for 1942 was 20.7 per thousand, the first time in decades it doubled the death rate.

The OWI is reported to have predicted a continuing shortage of physicians while the armed services' recruiting schedule calls for an enrollment of 55,000 doctors by the end of 1943. This will leave 84,000 "effective" physicians to care for 120,000,000 civilian Americans.

Villainous Simians Foiled Trying To Kidnap Baby Monk

A foiled kidnapping plot, hatched among various Rhesus monkeys at Monkey Island yesterday afternoon, nearly resulted in the loss of a baby monkey. One of the Rhesus "kidnappers" reached down through the one and a half inch mesh of the cage and picked up the baby monkey off Preacher's perch, whereupon Preacher, in his spick and span white uniform, leaped the wall of the moat, waded to the island, took the baby monkey from the protesting kidnappers and returned it to the grateful Preacher.

Preacher, Sept. 6, Moughton stated this morning had been moved with her offspring away from the island to a separate cage.

The covering on the leopard cage has now been removed, and the baby leopard may now be seen, he added.

Story Of Eighth Air Force Written By Miami Man

MIAMI, Sept. 6, (Special)—Florida's fly through the pages of the new book, "Skyway to Berlin," published Sept. 6, by Capt. J. Edgar Lee, Jr., of the "Miami" newspaper.

Among the stories in the book, published by Robbs Merrill, is that of the Flying Fortress, the "Kitty Hawk" bomber, piloted by Lieut. Clarence L. Thacker of Kissimmee.

Thacker and his crew elected to turn back on three motors, after the fourth had been shot out, to rescue with supporting fire two other Flying Fortresses that were under attack by Nazi fighters.

The authors, both former newspapermen, have been on the scene with the Eighth Air Force since almost the beginning of its operations in the European Theater, serving as press-relations officers.

They felt that too many good combat stories were getting away in the outlines of the war, and decided to combine them in a book.

Mal. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commanding the U. S. Army Eighth Air Force, says of the authors in his foreword: "They saw, they recorded, they 'swatted out' from the rest of us those lean, chill winter months of 1942. They were a part of the growing organization that saw our men and planes demonstrate early in 1943 that Hitler's so-called 'Fortress of Europe' does not have an impenetrable ceiling."

"They saw the Eighth Air Force extend its daylight invasion into the Ruhr and other vital areas of the Reich in the summer of 1942—the first daylight raid of a strategy that will reach to Berlin and beyond. The book captures the spirit of the Eighth Air Force and the men who make it a superior combat team."

Willis, who is survived by a wife, Martha Lee Willis, a member of the Sanford Chapter of the Red Cross, was employed as a fireman for the force in addition to his other duties.

Allied Forces Throw Claw-Like Pincers To Take 40 Italian Towns

Nation Pulpwood Shortage Becomes Acute, Says Cole

C. Of C. Leader Looks To Florida Forest Owners For Help

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 6, (Special)—The nation is looking to Florida forest owners for help in meeting the pulpwood shortage of 2,500,000 cords now threatening our war effort.

Harold Cole, executive vice president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, said today that the U. S. War Department is stressing the need for more forest products for the maintenance of our tremendous military operations.

"However," he pointed out, "pulpwood should not be cut and shipped to any company without first having made arrangements with the company and securing instructions and specifications from the company. Pulpwood mills have brokers in the field authorized to act for them and their names can be obtained from county agricultural agents or district foresters."

Continuation on the present scale of the record growth in Florida business activity is probably the best thing that could happen in the state today.

Expansion at the rate expected during the past year, with its attendant prosperity, but maintained over the long run will be in some jeopardy over the short run. Levels of business activity will remain high for a year or more but the period of a sustained growth is over, the review stated.

All prognostications are of course subject to the hazards of war, but a consolidation of the major economic influences operating in the state indicates a necessity for careful planning against foreseeable setbacks.

War production in Florida is probably the primary cause of shipbuilding, which accounted for almost one third in 1942's manufacturing payroll and will probably account for one half in 1943. Along with the country's present shipbuilding program will continue in the laps of the war gods, but it obviously will not be a major factor in the state's economy for some time to come.

To date few practical suggestions have come forward for postwar utilization of Florida yards, with their some 60,000 workers, at more than a very small fraction of their total capacity.

Armed services training of the state's youth is probably the most important factor in the state's economy for some time to come.

As agriculture, a record volume of a record price boosted Florida farm income to almost unbelievable heights in the season that closed July 31st. Duplication of that record volume in the season just opening is contingent upon, among other things, weather and labor supply, and can be no more than a hope.

Prices are now under consideration but indications are that they probably will not average much, if any higher, under the administration's plan to cut back the cost of living.

Many of our municipalities are completing splendid public works programs to take up the postwar employment slack, but this, while admirable, does not supply more than a temporary solution to the problem. Our industries must be equally alert to the need and make their plans for a permanent solution.

The Mount Evans highway in Clear Creek county, Colorado, is the highest automobile road in the United States.

Casa Blanca, architectural masterpiece in Porto Rico, was built for the family of Ponce de Leon.

America's cash farm income from marketing in 1942 has been estimated at 15 billion dollars.
