Mafia figures, headed by alleged underworld head Meyer Lansky, convened a meeting in Alcapulco Mexico eight years ago reminiscent of the syndicate conference of the 1950s, according to Porter. The Mexico meeting was designed to map the spread of casino gambling and control of that enterprise, said Porter. "They targeted two areas," said Porter, "Atlantic City, N. J. and Miami, Florida. The first part of their plan has come to pass. Now they are working on the second half." "In exchange for immediate gratification, our first ancestors

U.N. Protester Immolates Self At Geneva Headquarters

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — A young woman, who said she belonged to a mysterious organization known as Proutist Universal, telephoned UPI Monday evening and asked for a cameraman to film a demonstration and her "spectacular," to criticize the U.N. for "not doing its job."

Half an hour later, she burned herself to death in front of Europe's U.N. headquarters - the first immolation ever at the world body. Swiss police refused to disclose her identity, but in London, Scotland Yard said a 24-yearold Australian, Lynette Phillips, was deported after threatening to immolate herself outside Parliament. She was believed to have gone to the continent. The spokesman could not confirm the deported woman was the same one who turned herself into a human torch in

Vance: 'Hotel Diplomacy'

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) - Secretary of State Cyrus Vance is back at work on his longest and busiest mission yet at the United Nations — wooing the diplomatic world for support for the Camp David accords. The taciturn secretary wasn't giving any details and his underlings were saying little more about the dawn-to-dusk rounds of "hotel diplomacy" that Vance is pursuing in advance of the start of Israeli-Egyptian peace talks starting Oct. 12 in Washington.

Sadat: Military Shakeup

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - President Anwar Sadat today ordered a military shakeup involving his two highest officers as Egypt prepared for peace treaty talks with Israel in Washington next week. A presidential decree broadcast by official Cairo Radio said Gen. Mohammed Gamassy, Deputy Premier and War Minister in the outgoing government of Premier Mamdouh Salem, and Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Mohanned Ali Fahmi, have been appointed military advisers to the president.

Quads Born To Japan Woman

TOKYO (UPI) — A 30-year-old Japanese woman has given birth to quadruplets — all of them girls — without the help of fertility drugs, hospital officials said today. The officials said Mrs. Ayako Takeda and the babies were in fair condition a day after their birth Monday. The babies' weights ranged from 5.06 pounds to 6.16 pounds.

Senators Want Smith Visa

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A group of 27 senators who invited Prime Minister Ian Smith to come explain Rhodesia's controversial "internal settlement" to Congress is pressuring the administration to give him a visa. So far the State Department has delayed a decision, saying the issue is still being reviewed by high officials.

Even before she regained consciousness, Binnie was undergoing physical therapy. Mrs. Brinkhaus and her husband Henry left their jobs for eight weeks to go to Gainseville and be with Binnie. Mrs. Brinkhaus had enough vacation she could afford to leave. However, her husband had to quit his job as a counselor for alcoholics to remain near his stepchild.

Celery City Printing, Sanford, is densting tickets for the concert; The Ark Tavern, Sanford, is holding a proceeds night Oct. 21 donating part of the evening's profits to Binnie and the concert. Local rock group Pegasus is headlining the bands donating their time to play for the concert. Mike Shanson is in the process of lining up the bands and is seeking more groups to play.

Asked about the concert, Binnie exhibits ex-citement. She raised for left arm in the air and miled broadly. She wants to attend. Her friends say she may be able to join the concert crowd for an hour or two. Dinnie disagrees and points to the numbers three and four on her board.

Binnie refuses to use the wheelchair provided for her and has jobed that she will push Mary in the wheelchair at the concurt. Looking back un how far Binnie has come, her mother reflects: "I wish I could have done some of it for her. For sheer embarrassment and potential damage to national security, few of the CIA's sublicized gaffes of recent years can match the security lapse that allowed the theft and sale to a Soviet agent of the operating manual for the United States' most sophisticated spy satellites.

For starters, the Senate is abuzz with speculation that Soviet knowledge of the satellites' more workings could enable the Russians to foil the satellites' photographic intelligence-gathering function.

Since the photographs taken by these 12 KH-11 satellites are the primary means of verifying So-viet compliance with the terms of any strategic arms limitation agreement, anything that in-terferes with this mission jeopardizes the whole arms negotiation process.

Although the CIA refuses, of course, to coment, there are published reports that the Soviets have already begun to experiment with countermeasures intended to temporarily blind the satellites' cameras.

Beyond its implications for SALT, this Soviet intelligence coup has raised the most serious questions about the CIA's own security

According to the FBI, whose agents arrested a 23-year-old former CIA employee for allegedly selling the manual to a Soviet agent for $3,000, the 85-page manual was missing for months, perhaps as long as a year, before CIA, officials realized it was gone. Reportedly, only three copies of the manual exist.

That the Central Intelligence Agency could permit such grossly careless security procedures is almost beyond belief. The Senate Select Committeee on Intelligence is currently compiling a report on this incident's impact on the SALT talks.

The CIA is studying its own internal security procedures. Necessarily, much of what these investigations reveal will never be made public. But the people have every right to insist that the Senate ratify a SALT treaty only if it has absolute confidence in CIA assurances that our own verification or sovier compliance uninterrupted

And disclosures of crookedness thus far "may represent only the tip of the iceberg." It's a sad state of affairs. The people are prone to suspect a lot of fraud in the various government agencies and the GSA probe certainly doesn't improve their confidence. Some 74 GSA investigators are working with U.S. attorneys across the nation and day by day they uncover more cases of fraud and corruption in the massive agency which oversees lederal buildings and property.

In one case, a government employee gave her GSA credit card to a parking lot attendant in exchange for a free parking space. He quickly used the card to purchase $80,000 in goods which he sold for his own profit. A former Army officer working for the GSA in Chicago managed to steal somewhere between $300,000 and $000,000 in the agency's merchandise. In another case an arms control agency employee used a GSA credit card to purchase $350,500 worth of film which he sold. Many of those caught received only suspended sentences.

And on top of everything, GSA administrators who complained about the fraud often were repremanded and sent to

Issue Be Enough?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — During the ride from New York's LaGuardia Airport to Spanish Harlem on the first leg of the GOP's recent crosscountry tax cut campaign, Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland told the local advance man he had just one question.

The crack got the guffaw it deserved, but the needle unquestionably drew blood. For wherever they went on their three-day trip from New York to California, Republican barnstormers encountered similar problems. For the first time in memory, the national GOP has put itself out in front of the curve of American politics with an issue that allows its candidates to be wholeheartedly for something instead of perpetually on the defensive.

Yet it is far from clear that Republicans will reap the benefits of the tax cut issue they are so vigorously championing once voters step in the polling booth this November.

The Democrats didn't maintain their political dominance for the last 40 years by missing signals from the electorate. Ever since Proposition 13 swept California by a 2 to 1 margin, Democrats have acrambled to climb on

They have three major advantages the Republicans cannot match, and the biggest is simply the accumulated voting habits of a majority of the American people. Spanish Harlem isn't the only place where there's no such word as "Republican," Old loyalties run despindend, and it will take more than one lasted—and one campaign—to overcome the visceral identification many waters feel with the look.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 2 to 1 in the House, and they are past masters at the art of milking incumbency for all it's worth.

Finally, there is the longstar of most voters to choose between candidates on the basis of character, style, ethnic identification, party loyalty — any and everything except for issues. For the most part, even in seats where there is no content of the body in question. Unlike standard radio-assay processes, the surrounding the patient and a machine that seats where there is no incumbent, the Democrats this year have more appealing candidates than the Republicans — who lack a viable farm system at the state and local level.

None of which is to sea the state and local level. None of which is to say that the tax issue doesn't cut, or that Republicans are wasting time to pursue it with such vehemence.

The wiretap case came to the court from New York. Lawrence Dalia got a five-year sentence in connection with the 1973 hijacking in Brooklyn of a $250,000 truckload of polyester fabric.

FBI agents got some of their evidence against Dalia by a "bug," or hidden microphone. They had gotten a court order to install the microphone, but Dalia contended they also should have gotten a specific order allowing them to break in and install it.

The evidence they got that way should have been thrown appeals on searches of new to the following carrificates or certificate or certificate

Recall Petitions Misdated?

Winter Springs City Councilman Laurent Pellerin today challenged the sufficiency and the legality of a petition sent to Seminole Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce for certification seeking his ouster

In addition, said Pellerin, on 37 pages of the petition, the name of the circulator is not included within the notarised statement by the notary public.

The notary on most of the contested pages, Betty Ash, was not available for comment today on how one page of the potition

Mrs. Norten and City Attorney Thomas Long were to see Mrs. Bruce teday to strike certain names from the petition. But, said Sandy Geard, Mrs. Bruce's office manager, the petition will be Pollerin said the names under question total 20. If they are stricten, he said, the petition will have an insefficient number of voters' signatures and have to be discarded.

"It would seem to me there ought to be something in the state recall last that would require semeone with authority to check out patitions of this sert before they are sent to the supervisor of elections," Pellerin said today.

"This mean has been going on since June. All I've done is try to do my duty and fulfill the responsibilities of my office as I new them." he said.

ming violated," said Polierin, who added he has no intention o politing let's office.

The state law on recall requires two separate petitions. The first was circulated in June.

State law requires that 15 percent of the registered voters sign the petition. Total number required is 300. The deletion of 20 names of the 320 will leave a balance of only 300.

Pellorin also said he will be walking the city today, calling on

The patition committee headed by a former federally funded Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) city employee, Charles Mert, charged Pellerin with malfeasance, different city council po missessence, neglect of daty and incomposence in office.

Pellerin denied the charges, saying the potition for his removal from office was a direct result of problems within the fire department. Pelierin, as the city's fire commissioner, led the effort to have firemen certified in compliance with state law. As a result several firemen who could not comply with the state requirements for firefighters lest their john.

Earlier this week it was reported that a similar potition against Councilman John Daniels can not be certified by Mrs. Bruce in time to have the matter of his removal placed on the ballet in the
