

Humphrey: It's MY Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, stung by a Senate Watergate Committee staff report on his 1972 presidential campaign finances, says he did nothing illegal in using more than $100,000 of his own money in his campaign and concealing that fact from the public.

"With the Lord Jesus Christ as my guide, that was as honest a deal as kissing your mother," the Minnesota Democrat said.

Humphrey, in a sometimes emotional, late-night telephone call to an Associated Press reporter Thursday, said the money represented "a lifetime of investment" by himself and his wife Muriel.

Humphrey said he omitted any mention of the use of personal funds when he voluntarily disclosed his finances during Democratic presidential primaries because at that time the law didn't require full disclosure and because he wanted to conceal the matter from his family.

"I didn't like to have to contribute that money, but we had to do it if we were going to campaign," Humphrey said.

Humphrey said the Watergate staff report was written by a Republican staff member, Donald Sanders, and he said he resented the tone and implications of the report. "It just ends up that you look like a burglar," he said.

Meanwhile, the committee staff on Thursday circulated a new report dealing with presidential campaign finances of Democrats George McGovern and John V. Lindsay.

It said McGovern is campaigning for Senate re-election this year with the aid of $340,417 in left-over 1972 presidential funds. It said he shifted these funds out of presidential campaign committees while these committees were forcing creditors to write off $35,322 as bad debts. Such transfer of funds has been used by other candidates and the report did not challenge its legality.

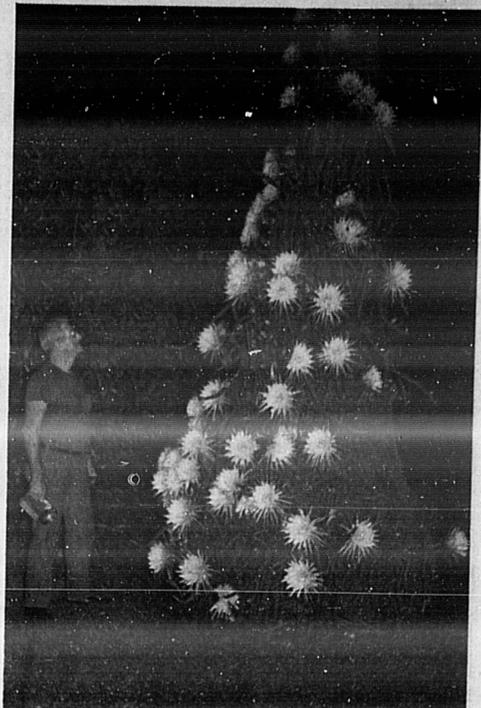

But it said the maneuver raises a question of whether McGovern violated at least the spirit of the federal law banning corporate gifts to federal candidates.

A McGovern spokesman, John Holm, said the left-over presidential money was shifted to the Senate race on the orders of several state and local presidential finance chairmen who controlled the money. Holm said McGovern would try to keep the senators on the Watergate committee from adopting the staff's findings.

The report said $10,000 in cash was raised for former New York Mayor Lindsay's presidential campaign by a city Highway Department official who solicited the money from two contractors who later got a $1.7-million job to supply the city with asphalt.

It said the money, in $20 bills stuffed into an envelope, passed through the hands of Lindsay's top campaign aide, Richard Aurelio, and cannot be accounted for.

Aurelio responded by calling the report an example of "sloppy reporting by the committee staff" and said all the cash had been properly recorded and reported publicly. The committee staff's review of Lindsay finance records "fails to reveal any recording of the cash contributions.

66th Year, No. 266 Price 10 Cents

By John A. Spolski

Who sees the age of chivalry is dead. There was this car in line at the Sanford Atlantic Bank drive-in, when all of a sudden, smoke and flames leaped out from under the hood.

The fire department was called. Before they arrived on the scene, an unidentified young man got out of his car, took off his shirt and fought the flames several minutes while trying to put out the blaze.

His shirt was destroyed. If I knew the identity of this individual, he would certainly receive our Clock-watcher's salute of "Mister Good Citizen!"

From the "hot" line (in this case, burned-up) . . . "How can the city of Sanford, via its utility tax, charge tax on a tax?"

This reader cited his latest electric bill wherein the infamous fuel adjustment charge (another way of saying tax) was added to his regular charges for kilowatt hours used. And then Sanford comes along and taxes him another 10 per cent!

It's bad enough that all of us are presently struggling to pay these exorbitant light bills. It doesn't seem fair to add to the burden with this additional taxation.

In looking over this particular bill, it really doesn't seem like it would amount to too awfully much, but . . .

The fuel adjustment amounts to an average of $15 per customer these days, which means Sanford is collecting another $150 from the consumer . . . ON THE FUEL ADJUSTMENT ALONE!

Now just for the fun of it, supposing we have 7,000 connections in the city. And if we multiply that times $150 . . . lemme see, that's an extra $10,500 per month windfall, right? Hm'mmmmm.

Ge, it's hard to believe. On July 1 actor James Cagney will be 70. (Watching him do his "Thing" in TV's Yankee Doodle Dandy has me remembering Cagney as the original "Fountain of Youth".)

School Board Changes Negotiator's Contract

By MARK WEINTZ
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board has formally adopted the state guidelines for negotiations and ordered the contract of their hired negotiator, Dr. Jerry Lee Hart, to be rewritten from a flat-fee of $10,000 to a per diem schedule.

Board members also voted to rescind the negotiation policy of Dr. Jerry Lee Hart because neither side complied with the stipulations of the policy in the specified time.

The Seminole Education Association (SEA) had charged Hart's policy was "unilateral and negative and intended to prompt non-compliance in order to preclude the negotiations."

The board also voted to formally adopt the new state guidelines on negotiations.

Swofford Faces Grand Jury

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

Former Altamonte Springs mayor Lawrence Swofford kept his promised date with the Seminole Grand Jury today, marching into the courthouse shortly before 11 a.m.

The 38-year-old political veteran, looking directly at the jury, walked down the hall arm-in-arm with former city bookkeeper Carol Eustale, also scheduled as a witness.

The grand jury has reportedly been probing the relations of Swofford and various city officials with land developers, contractors and builders.

Sources have told The Herald that Christmas gifts of money in unmarked envelopes, cases of liquor, and shipments of meat to past and present city officials are being examined.

Also being closely scrutinized are campaign contributions from developers and building industry, the sources indicate.

Witnesses last week reportedly detailed earlier public charges Swofford and other city officials intervened in behalf of builders, contractors and developers to waive or relax city building and fire codes.

Rains Hit Casselberry Hardest

By MARK WEINTZ
Herald Staff Writer

Torrential rain during the past four days has flooded streets and lowlands in Seminole County, with the "worst damage" occurring in Casselberry where city workers have worked around the clock spreading chlorine on raw sewage that spewed onto streets around an overburdened sewage pump station.

"I have nothing to hide. I've never had anything to hide," Swofford added, charging "the boys" (several young past and present city officials who have charged him with wrongdoing) with being out to get him.

Testifying Thursday for more than an hour was Altamonte City Councilman Helen Keyser, Seminole County Planner Roger Neiswander, and former city and county building official Joseph Turanchik also appeared.

Wednesday, the grand jurors heard from developer Lester Mandell, a Swofford campaign contributor who formerly owned the Altamonte Mall site, and Mrs. Lorraine Schreiner, who recently quit after 10 years as Mandell's personal secretary.

Other witnesses Wednesday included developers Lester Zimmerman and Wilson Knott, former building official Frank Jenner, clothier Leslie Gibbs, and former fireman Don Harkins.

Wednesday, Swofford told the Herald he ordered Harkins to stop "harrasing property owners" by inspectors, saying he did so because Harkins was a volunteer and not on the city payroll.

However, Harkins Thursday told the Herald, he was on the city payroll for more than a year. Tom Siegfried, the man through whom Swofford said he relayed the call-off orders actually took his place on the city payroll, Harkins added.

Harkins testimony was expected to back up the earlier testimony of Siegfried, now city fire chief, and Gary Kaiser, former fire chief and presently Seminole County fire administrator.

Siegrfried and Kaiser earlier told The Herald Swofford fought their attempts to enforce fire codes, and that a survey carried out this year on the orders of Mayor Norman Floyd show that most multi-story buildings built under Swofford's administration are in "substantial violation" of city fire codes.

It was also reported the Rolling Hills area was affected by flooding, but no homes were reported to be damaged.

Adair said the levels of the lakes are "way up" and "that is a desirable benefit" of the excess rain.

WEATHER

Yesterday's high 73 low 33.8 inches of rain yesterday in Sanford, and 4.38 inches in Casselberry. The June rainfall total for Sanford is 14.23 inches, and 24.22 inches in Casselberry. Casselberry had 10.91 inches this week. Daytona Beach tides for Saturday — high 4:29 a.m., 5:08 p.m.; low 10:34 a.m., 11:26 p.m.; Port Canaveral — high 4:04 a.m., 4:58 p.m.; low 10:27 a.m., 11:02 p.m.

Mostly cloudy through Saturday with occasional rain and scattered thundershowers. Some locally heavy rains likely today. Highs mostly in low 80s. Low tonight in 70s. Rain probability 80 per cent today, 40 per cent tonight and 60 per cent Saturday.

Torrential rains subsided over west-central Florida, but new downpours drenched the Appalachians and Atlantic coastal states today and spread north.

Rainfall of 8 to 15 inches was common in Florida over a four-day period beginning Monday. Flood damage was estimated at more than $12 million in the St. Petersburg-Tampa area alone.

Christian Took $63,074 'Gift'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Former education commissioner Floyd Christian has admitted receiving $63,074.57 that a Leon County grand jury contends he received illegally and then lied about.

However, he denied wrongdoing. The admission and denial were made in 19 motions filed Thursday in Leon County Circuit Court as Christian sought to have 19 counts of bribery, perjury and conspiracy dismissed.

The precise nature of Christian's motions were not clear but he apparently intends to argue that the money was legally received.

The indictment charges that Christian accepted unlawful payment from businesses of Robert Bussey, a former business associate, and lied to the grand jury and a legislative committee when asked if he had taken the money.

Oil Swindle Denied

NEW YORK (AP) — The former board chairman of the Home-Strike Production Co. says reports that the oil drilling firm enticed big-name investors into a multimillion dollar swindle are inaccurate and misleading. Robert S. Trippett, 56, said in a telephone interview Thursday night "not a single one of the allegations against me has ever been proven in fact." The Wall Street Journal said earlier this week that the firm lured prominent persons into investing $130 million in the oil venture — all but $30 million of which was lost. The 2,000 investors — including actors, politicians and prominent business figures — bought participation rights in the company's oil drilling explorations, many in hopes of getting tax shelters. Early investors were paid off with money from later investors, often arbitrary sums unrelated to the amount of investment, the Journal said. But most lost money, the paper said.

Nixon On Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting that Congress has not done its part to control federal spending, President Nixon has rejected a request from 54 senators that he submit proposals for balancing the fiscal 1975 budget. The senators, both Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives, had asked the President in a letter last week to suggest where changes could be made to balance income and expenses in the spending plan for the fiscal year starting Monday. Nixon recalled that he told Congress last year, in submitting his 1974 budget, that "the surest way to avoid inflation or higher taxes or both is for Congress to join me in a concerted effort to control federal spending."

N. Koreans Attack

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean government said three North Korean patrol boats today attacked and presumably sank a South Korean patrol craft guarding fishing boats off the east coast of Korea. A North Korean broadcast said the South Korean boat was sunk after it made a surprise attack on a routine navy patrol off the North Korean coast. Neither government said how many crewmen were aboard but the Pyongyang broadcast said several South Koreans were taken prisoner. A South Korean defense ministry spokesman said the battle occurred near the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. The North Korean account said the boat was intercepted about six miles north of the DMZ.

Parliamentarian Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lewis Deschler, parliamentarian of the House for the last 46 years, has submitted his resignation. Deschler, 69, was lauded Thursday by Vice President Gerald R. Ford, Speaker Carl Albert and others. Deschler's resignation is effective Sunday. No successor has been named.

Nixon, Brezhnev In Serious Summit Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev got down to the business of their third summit meeting today. "We have a list that is long," said Brezhnev, stretching his arms wide for an inquiring American newsmen. And first on it "is the strengthening of friendly relations." "The main talks are just beginning today," said the Soviet ambassador to Moscow, William G. Hyland, director of the State Department Intelligence and Research Bureau, and Maj. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, a national security adviser on the presidential staff. Flanking Brezhnev were Premier Nikolai Podgorny and President Alexei Kosygin, with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Anatoly F. Dobrynin, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, further down the list. The two leaders met privately — with only interpreters present — for 70 minutes shortly after the President and Mrs. "Peace and friendship," said another. "For everybody," said Nixon, "for the whole world, the Russian people and the American people and the people of the two countries." This morning was Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger; State Department counselor Helmut Sonnenfeldt, an arms specialist; Walter Stoessel, the U.S. ambassador to Moscow; William G. Hyland, director of the State Department Intelligence and Research Bureau, and Maj. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, a national security adviser on the presidential staff.

Nixon began their visit Thursday. Aides said they mapped the agenda for Nixon's week-long stay and started negotiations toward limiting nuclear weapons and improving trade between the two countries. The White House press office said Nixon and Brezhnev expressed "mutual conviction" that their talks would "make a new contribution to the further development of relations between the Soviet Union and the United States and in this way to the strengthening of universal peace." Later, at a Kremlin banquet, Brezhnev attacked American opponents of Soviet-American détente "who favor whipping up the arms race" and reverting to the days of the Cold War. The Communist party chief mentioned no names, saying, "Our American friends know better and in more detail than we about those who oppose international détente." But he said these persons were probably unwilling or unable "to take a sober look at the realities of the present-day world." "We are confident, however, that the peoples will support those who seek to assure their peaceful future, and tranquility for millions of people, not only those who sow enmity and distrust," Brezhnev declared. "The most important objective of Soviet and American leaders 'is undoubtedly the reduction—and subsequently the complete removal—of the possibility of war between our two states,' he added. "If he and Nixon could contribute toward this end, 'future generations will remember us with kind words,' Brezhnev said. "Nixon in reply assured his host that détente is 'overwhelmingly supported by the people of the United States.' He agreed that 'we have many problems yet to negotiate' and pledged that he would strive for agreements giving 'every individual in each of our countries a positive life in peace, because it is in the interest of two peoples with different systems of government that establish relations that will not be broken in the future.' Nixon said that since his first summit meeting with Brezhnev in 1972, their two countries had moved "from confrontation to coexistence to cooperation." He also forecast a fourth such meeting next year, saying to Brezhnev: "I trust that on your next visit to the United States you will be able to see more of our country." Nixon's schedule today included a visit to the tomb of the Soviet Union's Unknown Soldier to leave a wreath, more talks with Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders, and an evening at the Bolshoi Theater. Mrs. Nixon was to visit a Moscow Circus training school and attend a tea given for her by Mrs. Brezhnev.

Impeach Panel Hears St. Clair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comments from some House Judiciary Committee members suggest presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair has failed to punch any holes in the committee's impeachment case. "It's very helpful, but I don't know if it's convincing," Rep. Henry P. Smith III, R-N.Y., said of St. Clair's presentation on Thursday. "I think most of us were not persuaded of anything," said Rep. George E. Danielson, D-Calif. St. Clair, stating President Nixon's side of matters under investigation, winds up his two-day presentation today. The view that St. Clair had left intact the framework of evidence constructed by Judiciary Committee special counsel John Doar was shared by Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., one of Nixon's strongest supporters. Asked whether St. Clair had contradicted Doar's presentation, Wiggins said, "I think not. He tended to give it a different emphasis."

Defense Brass In Dark On Nixon's Nuclear Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and the military chiefs are in the dark as to what specific nuclear arrangements President Nixon has decided to exercise in his Moscow negotiations. The recommendations of Schlesinger and the Joint Chiefs of Staff were presented at a National Security Council meeting presided over by Nixon last Friday. But sources say Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left for Europe on Tuesday without telling defense leaders what options the President has decided to exercise in his Moscow negotiations. Schlesinger has indicated he would go along with an "agreement in principle" to limit deployment of advanced missiles with multiple warheads. But Schlesinger has said such an agreement would have to be safeguarded with means for verification to protect against cheating. Key Pentagon officials widely hold that the Russians will get down to real give-and-take bargaining until the last year of the temporary agreement, that they see no need to rush into another interim pact with possible hazards.

Chrysler Prices Up $60

By OWEN ULLMANN Associated Press Writer DETROIT (AP) — In a move that could kick off a fourth round of price wars in the 1974 model year, Chrysler Corp. says it is passing on a major price boost by the steel industry. The average $60 increase will be about $60 a vehicle, or 1.4 per cent. Chrysler said Thursday it was raising prices on cars and trucks because of the higher steel costs. The average $60 increase covers base price and special features and will be effective next Monday. The announcement came little more than a month after U.S. auto makers said they anticipated no further price increases until 1975 models are introduced in September. A General Motors spokesman declined on Thursday to rule out a new GM price hike. "Obviously this additional steel cost increase will have to be considered in our continuing view of prices," he said. Ford had no comment. American Motors said it had no plans for an immediate increase. The industry's price increases are being met by some Republicans that he was "nitpicking." Rep. Edward Mevinsky, D-Iowa, upon learning that St. Clair has not listened to all the White House tapes involved in the inquiry, but is relying on the edited transcripts, said he may not have all the facts he needs to defend Nixon. Part of St. Clair's problem is that the case worked up by Doar and his staff includes nearly all the evidence helpful to Nixon that St. Clair presented. St. Clair was limited to taking the same evidence and emphasizing its positive aspects for Nixon's case. "Doar highlighted some points and St. Clair highlighted others," Smith said. "Naturally, St. Clair highlighted that part of the testimony that in his estimate buttressed his claim that the President had no knowledge of the Watergate break-in and did not participate in the cover-up."

Pyramid Sales Returning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two recent alleged investment frauds that may have cost investors more than $100 million have prompted the Securities and Exchange Commission to warn anew about special financial offerings. "Recent fraudulent schemes have been promoted by claims of a quick and high rate of return on money invested," the agency said Thursday. "Unfortunately, these investments often were stimulated by tips and rumors spread by friends, relatives and neighbors." The SEC warned especially of so-called "Ponzi" or pyramid-type schemes whereby early investors are repaid with money obtained from later investors but where the operation itself yields little, if any, income. Among the warning signals the SEC listed for potential investors were: —Promises of spectacular returns of profits far above those normally expected. —Sales approaches from strangers. —Telephone calls from strangers, particularly from other cities, encouraging a particular investment. —Use of post office box numbers in connection with communications on investment opportunities. —Failure to receive full written information about the people involved, the terms of the offering, the financial condition of the enterprise and its prior business record.

Editorial Market In Test On Food Prices

The continuing disparity between wholesale and retail food prices is giving the free market message a mixed reception. The policies of the administration are severe test. The often outspoken Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butts has consistently maintained that law of supply and demand would keep food prices at a more equitable level than any artificial controls.

However, housewives can dispute Mr. Butts by citing meat prices that remain inflated despite the fact that the prices of livestock on the hoof have drifted 25 to 40 per cent lower over the past eight months. Many beef farmers are on the verge of bankruptcy as a result.

Not surprisingly then, proposals are offered for government intervention. So far, the administration and Congress are taking aim only at the middlemen who have been paying the lower prices for cattle, hogs and chickens but have not been passing the savings on to their customers. Stronger words were undoubtedly heard at the recent White House meeting among top-level administration officials, cattle growers and grocery chain operators.

Fortunately, the administration continues to resist the imposition of controls on beef imports.

Controls might bring a temporary lift to the depressed cattle market, but they would run directly counter to the broad U.S. policy of doing away with restrictive protectionist policies that inhibit the free world trade in many commodities.

Are Leaks Worse Than Deception?

By DON OAKLEY
The Herald Services
This matter of "leaks" needs more thoughtful discussion than it has been getting.

Assume the worst: that anybody in government who leaks information to the press must have an axe to grind or enemy to get; that reporters are more eager for a scoop or editors more interested in getting a jump on the competition than they are in exercising responsible judgment; that the disclosure of government secrets harms the United States.

Even assuming the worst — and it is assuming much more than is warranted by any existing body of evidence — the sad fact remains that neither the news media nor the American public could get along without leaks, the way the game of government has been played in this democracy since the past few administrations.

The current controversy centers on what presidential speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan has called systematic "leaks" from "weasels in the hen house" — the House Judiciary Committee, constituting "nameless, faceless character assassination" of the President, the secretary of state and other officials.

The recent leaks naming the President have been variations on the old Watergate theme of "What did he know and when did he know it?" Those concerning Secretary of State Henry Kissinger allege that in 1969 when he was President Nixon's chief national security advisor, he either initiated, or at least permitted if not approved, wire taps on 13 members of his staff and four reporters in an attempt to trace the source of certain "national security" leaks.

Kissinger, as everyone knows, stunned the nation by threatening to resign if his

Eavesdropping Enigma Defies Simple Solution

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER

One of the most serious problems on which Watergate has focused public attention is the need to drastically overhaul our laws concerning eavesdropping and related conduct. The Ervin Committee is expected to deal with this topic in its forthcoming report, and one can only hope the senators do a fair and thorough job.

Espionage, of course, is nothing new. Among rival sovereign nations it has always been regarded as an absolute necessity. Nothing was more famous than Henry Stimson's famous remark, as he abolished our military decoding facility between the two world wars, "Gentlemen do not read each other's mail." In the service of their country, gentlemen must certainly do, and always have.

But even within democratic societies, rivals of various sorts — political, commercial, labor — do not necessarily disdain information derived from illicit sources. Suspicious husbands often have their wives followed (and vice versa); corporations steal each other's blueprints, processes, et cetera, on a scale that has given rise to a whole new genre called "industrial espionage"; and you may be sure that most politicians will use any tidbit about the plans or foibles of their opponents that may, by access to top-level government strategy, would the American people have ever learned about it? Would the administration ever have admitted the truth, as it finally did four years later?

Whether he initiated or whether he reluctantly went along with the wire taps, Henry Kissinger was a party to this deception of the public. Americans have a right to know this about the man who is now their secretary of state — and they would not know it had someone not leaked it to them.

Of course, it may be that most people don't really want to know as much about their government as the press thinks they ought to know. The utter absence of repercussions over the Camobodia bombing strongly suggests that this is so.

In that case, if the saying is true that people get the kind of government they deserve, then Americans have got theirs.

We Are Overlooking Real Soviet Threat

By RAY CROMLEY
The Herald Services

A friend who advises the Defense Department on intelligence gathering and in advanced military trends is dependent.

He has a gut feeling the frenetic Russian strategic nuclear buildup may be a diversion. The aim may be, he says, to frighten us so badly we will concentrate single-mindedly on intercontinental weapons and overlook in this department. This would leave the U.S. vulnerable around the world to efficiently-fought local wars in which Soviet clients would be supplied multi-tons of advanced Soviet conventional weapons.

Note that where the preponderance of superior arms is great enough Soviet-backed nations can win their objectives without firing a shot. Make no mistake about it. The Soviet intercontinental missile research and development program is real and dangerous. If both the U.S. and Russia continue their programs at their present pace, Soviet nuclear capacity will be a threat to U.S. security in the 1980s. But my source is convinced the Kremlin, in its own imperialist interests, is not abating at nuclear war or the chance of nuclear war which could leave the USSR devastated.

He believes current evidence makes clear that Leonid Brezhnev and his associates are bent on expanding the Soviet sphere of domination indirectly through revolutionaries, through military action by proxy, and through terror, that is, the fear of what the Soviet Union might do.

SHREVEPORT—(NEA)—In December 1973 the Louisiana Supreme Court ruled Louisiana's obscenity laws unconstitutional. The ruling was the outgrowth of an attempt by the Caddo Parish (County) District Attorney to prevent the showing of Last Tango in Paris.

At the same time that the Court heard this case, it heard one on suppression of allegedly pornographic magazines and another on suppression of a gay magazine. The court ruled that the law was unconstitutional in all three cases.

Part Eleven
This Louisiana has no obscenity case at present. The State Supreme Court ruling has gone up in the U.S. Supreme Court on writ, but the high court has not agreed to hear the appeal.

A dissenting opinion of a state Supreme Court justice may be a sign of how a majority of the people of Louisiana feel. He said in his dissent:

"The holding of the majority declaring the obscenity laws of this state unconstitutional, prospectively and retroactively, leaves the State of Louisiana without any law whatsoever to regulate, limit or proscribe the dissemination or exhibition of obscene pornographic matter, no matter how vile or degrading. Our citizens, young and old, children and adolescents, too, then, are left to the deplorable, dehumanizing and degrading influences of this nefarious trade."

Despite the fact that North Louisiana is Anglo-Saxon and Protestant and generally considered a part of the Bible Belt and that South Louisiana is largely Roman Catholic and therefore proven to oppose porn, there has been very little agitation over the subject in this state.

In addition to the attempts made above to suppress porn mentioned above, there have been less than a half-dozen similar instances in the state.

Perhaps one reason is that the right to distribute pornography has not had many advocates. In the minds of most Louisianians the whole civil rights movement has been associated with race-mixing which is opposed by a majority of the people including, now, many blacks. Therefore, there was no organization to take up for pornography, or freedom of the press, or whatever, when the race issue quieted down following implementation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

There have been no instances where school teachers or librarians were taken to task for use of or circulation of books considered offensive to the past-40 generation.

Louisiana does have a law which prohibits the teaching of sex education in the public schools. This law has been on the books for several years. An attempt will be made to repeal it in the current legislative session. Meanwhile, schools which felt the need of giving sex education have done so through their physical education programs.

It is almost certain that bills will be introduced in the forthcoming session of the Legislature to outlaw obscenity, careful consideration being given to the opinion of the Supreme Court which outlawed the old statute.

Dick Williams Accepts Angels GM Offer

Angels Are Happy About Williams

ANAHEIM (AP) — Dick Williams, who led the Oakland A's to victory in the past two World Series, is leaving his exile from baseball next Monday to manage the California Angels because the offer was "no tremendous I couldn't turn it down."

Williams, 45, agreed to serve with the Angels through the 1977 American League season for what is believed to be at least $100,000 a year. He succeeds Bobby Winkles, first coach of the California Angels, who was lightheaded in last place in the Western Division.

"I'm quite happy they called me and I'm quite happy to be returning to baseball," Williams said from his Riviera Beach, Fla., home. He has been in private business since A's owner Charles O. Finley blocked his being hired as manager of the New York Yankees.

Williams quit the A's after the 1973 World Series and Finley, after allowing the Angels to approach Williams, requested the lifting of a court injunction in San Francisco that prevented Williams from managing any team except Oakland through 1975.

The fiery field leader said he missed baseball, but when asked if he would have taken any offer, he said, "No sir! Definitely not."

Cochey Herzog will direct the Angels until Williams arrives late Sunday or early Monday because of East Coast commitments that include a charity game in Hartford, Conn.

Angel General Manager Harry Dalton reached agreement with Williams about 12 hours and "six or seven" phone calls after he first reached Williams and learned he was interested.

"The salary, (the contract) longevity and the locality," said Williams, persuaded him to come to the Angels. "I was raised in Southern California, in Pasadena, and I still have family, my parents, out there," he said.

He indicated he will retain the Angels' coaching staff. "I will spend time between now and Monday studying my charts on the Angels from the past three years," he said.

"It will take me a few days to gather my thoughts and then I'll present them to Harry Dalton and the coaches."

Dalton said Winkles was fired because the team was going badly. Gene Autry, Angels board chairman, said Finley "didn't ask for compensation. We did this on a friendship basis."

ANAHEIM (AP) — The last-place California Angels will be happy to see Dick Williams — but they don't see him as a guaranteed messiah leading them to the pennant in 1974.

But veteran Frank Robinson, California's designated hitter and the only man to be Most Valuable Player in both major leagues, sees qualities in Williams that no man has brought to the helm of the Angels.

"He's a tough, no-nonsense guy who has a record of turning things around. He did it at Boston in his first year."

Williams, besides managing Oakland to World Series triumphs the past two seasons, led Boston to the pennant in 1967, his rookie year as a big-league manager.

Robinson said Williams is a far cry from the "easy-going" managers—Bill Ripken, Lefty Phillips, Del Rice and Bobby Winkles—the Angels have had since 1961, when they were formed in the American League's expansion.

Winkles was fired Thursday, about six hours before Williams agreed to take the job.

McGlothen Gets 11th Win To Lead National League

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

How many more games would Larry McGlothen like to win? How about one... "I'd like to get us into the World Series."

He's going to win a lot more than just one, though. He's already won more games than anybody else in the National League.

The refugee from the American League's Boston Red Sox twirled a fancy four-hitter for his 11th victory of the season, a 6-1 breeze over the New York Mets.

In Thursday night's other National League games, Chicago edged Montreal 5-4, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 6-3 and San Francisco topped San Diego 4-2.

"I'm not doing anything different than I did last year, except maybe I'm throwing a few more strikes," McGlothen said, comparing his 11-3 season and 2.92 earned-run average with 1973's 1-3 mark and 8.22 ERA at Boston.

The Red Sox gave me a chance to pitch early last season. I just didn't win."

The Cubs got all the scoring they needed—barely—with a four-run fifth inning. And Oscar Zamora gave them the relief pitching they needed—barely—to hang on and beat Montreal.

Dave Concepcion ripped a three-run homer in the fourth inning to give the Reds their triumph over Atlanta, moving them within six games of idle West Division-leading Los Angeles and adding the Braves with their third straight loss.

Perry's 'Pause' Is Working Out

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitcher Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians has reduced all his cap-tugging and uniform-torching mound mannerisms to one: the Pause.

After a batter is out, Perry smoothes the mound front to back to eliminate anything that might give a hit a bounce, then he walks back to the rubber.

There he stands, his back to the plate, seemingly staring at the crowd while he makes the traditional infield rounds. But it stops in third baseman

Buddy Bell's glove until Gaylord's ready.

It's a matter of concentration, Perry says. "I'm getting myself together to go get 'em."

The last one he hits is out of there. I want some time to think about the next one."

The Pause must be working. Perry goes after his 14th straight victory tonight against Boston.

All that leaves third baseman Bill Holm holding the ball, or maybe he's looking into his glove to kill time. When Perry's ready, he turns to third.

Aluminum Boat: Inside 'Tack' In America's Cup Sea Trials

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The 12-meter yacht Courageous remained undefeated in America's Cup preliminary trials Thursday, and the pretails favorite, Mariner, is feeling the pressure.

"We began blowing smoke early, and I'm afraid our flame has gone out," said Mariner skipper Ted Turner of Atlanta.

The woes of Turner's aluminum 12-meter vessel continued Thursday. She was able to beat the aging wooden trial horse, Valiant, by one minute, 45 seconds—a less than impressive performance, considering the beatings Valiant has been taking from the other two boats. And in her second race, which was later abandoned, Mariner was trailing 7-year-old Intrepid by 10 minutes at the first turning mark.

The white-hulled Courageous, one of two new metal yachts in this year's competition, is now 3-0 with victories over her two serious rivals Intrepid and Mariner.

The boats will race again Friday and Saturday and then perform in observation trials in July and August before a defender is selected. The Cup races, against a challenger from either France or Australia, will begin Sept. 10.

Courageous also was leading Valiant in her second race of the day when it was abandoned by the race committee for lack of wind.

The preliminary races are being held to determine a prospective defender of the America's Cup. Present indications are that Courageous will take the role.

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Jacksonville Sharks of the World Football League cut eight players to trim their roster to the limit of 60 they can carry until their first game.

Released were guards Howard Cochran, Doug Faust and Jeff Cannon, defensive ends offensive Lawrence and Tom Freistroffer, offensive tackle Frank Laasy, center Bart Goforth, and defensive back Alex Hollie.

All are rookies except Lasky and Hollie, who have played in the National Football League.

The Sharks will get a line on their strength in a scrimmage with the Birmingham Americans of the WFL at Daytona Beach Saturday.

Third Straight Over Par Golf Winner Possible

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — The distinct possibility of a third consecutive week with an over-par winner has arisen from the first round of the 1974 Western Open Golf Tournament.

Only Bob Goalby, Frank Beard and obscure rookie Gary McCord—all with 70s—could break par-71 Thursday on the 7,000-yard National Golf Club course, a new layout the touring pros are playing for the first time.

And Goalby, 43, a former Masters champion, predicted the eventual winner will be in plus-par figures.

"I don't think anyone can shoot four good rounds here," he said. "There is too much water, too many problems, too many chances to make a mistake."

World's Biggest Tennis Has Some 'Classic' Fans

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The district line trampled through the picturesque English countryside from Teeswater to suburban Wimbledon.

A small, gray-haired lady, sitting in one of the cushioned seats, worked away diligently on her crocheting while chatting with a grandmotherly companion sitting beside her.

"I'm tip young Bjorn Borg today—he is a nice chappy, indeed," she said, not taking her eyes away from her busy needle.

"Yes, he hits a beautiful forehand," added the companion. "And Chris—hope we do not lose her so early."

Don't be fuelish.

Energy is valuable. Expensive, too. So turn off lights, TV sets and electric appliances as soon as you're finished with them. You'll save on energy. You'll save on your utility bill. And these days, those are savings too good to pass up!

With no attempt to prejudice the action, it appears that the wonderful game of tennis, now enjoying an unprecedented popularity boom as a participant sport, is locking itself into an endless war with the AUNCA dispute which has threatened to wreck American Olympic teams.

Big-time tennis, as a spectator sport, has to suffer. Such feuds and controversies only tend to turn people off. Tennis is destroying the goose that is in the process of laying the golden egg.

The Wimbledon fields were tied to impotency by bans and boycotts the past two years. Then the fusing factions came together to bring all the best players together again on the manicured lawns of the best tournament of the world.

So here we go again. From the tennis courts to the law courts. Nobody wins. Tennis loses.

Lyman Hosts AAU Track, Wrestling Meets

By J. RICHARDS Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Upwards of 1,000 young athletes, boys and girls from 5 to 17 years of age will congregate Saturday from 9 a.m. to sometime after sunset in a pair of Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) — Seminole County, YMCA hosted state track championships and a take-down wrestling tournament.

Max Clark, Seminole County YMCA director and associate County, YMCA who coaches the Lyman High School track team, say competition for nine- and under, 10-11 and 12-13-year-olds will begin field events at 6 p.m. with running events at 7 p.m.

Inside the school's gymnasium, under the watchful eye of Seminole County's master wrestling coach, Lyman's Bill Scott, who has put Central Florida high school wrestling into the state spotlight, the wrestling will take place.

Scott anticipates up to 300 boys from the same age groups meet, with the older boys competing at 10-30 a.m. and the younger boys going to the mats in the afternoon at 1:30.

Scott expects most of the Lake Brantley wrestling team, which came to the fore in Class AAAA wrestling last season, but says his own squad, which took first place in district and second in regional competition, will not be fully represented due to work schedules for his athletes.

However, he expects to see some of Florida's best high school wrestlers from Cocoa Beach area, Largo, Brandon, Lakeland and Leesburg entries.

The track meet, which will be the culmination for almost every area of the state's local AAU track program, is under the sponsorship of the County Commissioner of Seminole County, Clark said.

He singled out Commissioner Dick Williams, a former track coach at Seminole High School in Sanford, whose team in 1966 won the State Class AAAA track championship, with helping the state championships find a home in Seminole County.

Wimbledon Rain Brings Smile To European Stars

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The rain was good news for the men's and women's singles by today. But only a handful of players have completed second-round matches.

Safely through to the men's third round were top-seeded John Newcombe and fellow Australian Ken Rosewall, Stan Smith and Tom Gorman of the United States, defending champion Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, fifth-seeded Swede Bjorn Borg and Nastase.

The hopes of Newcombe, Smith and fifth-seeded Jim Connors of Belleville, Ill., could be buried in the slow courts.

"I feel good," said Nastase, at his best on Europe's slow clay courts.

"I've never known Wimbledon to play so slow," he said. "I think I might go a long way this year."

Nearby two days have been lost in the 8th championships to rain.

Because of the rain, only two matches were completed Thursday, and both had been halted by rain and darkness Wednesday. Miss Evert outlasted Lesley Hunt of Australia 6-4, 5-7, 11-9, and Borg beat Ross Case of Australia 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5.

Beware: Violent Spectators Inside

By JACK MURPHY The Herald Staff Writer

You can start with the premise that athletic competitions are wholesome activities because they allow the performers an opportunity to excel and to get rid of their aggressions in a constructive way.

Alcohol was obviously a major factor in the fan-spectator brawling at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. It was 10-cent beer night.

The fundamental problem, in the view of Dr. Tom Johnson, is that too many people have lost respect for authority and standards of behavior which previously had a restraining effect.

Moreover, they hunger for an identity and they're eager to be part of a cause even if it takes the extreme form of attacking ballplayers or dying with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

"People want to be more than a statistic, a Social Security number," reasons Dr. Johnson. "At the ball park they jump on the field and this is a way of saying 'everybody can see me, it's going to count for something.'"

Dr. Johnson relates it to the streaker syndrome. And he's not one who approves.

"We need rules," he says. "Sports arenas are traditionally a place where people can release their emotions. But there is nothing wrong with ejecting the spectator who becomes unruly."

'Greed' Is Destroying Tennis Success Story

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Tennis seems bent on suicide.

Not content with having broken out of the corset strings of stuffy administrators who stifled progress for half a century, the game now is on the verge of being devoured by greed and internal strife over the spectator dollar.

The latest development is a $10 million suit filed by World Team Tennis against Jack Kramer, director of the Players' Association, and Donald Dell, the group's counsel, charging a conspiracy to destroy WTT.

So here we go again. From the tennis courts to the law courts. Nobody wins. Tennis loses.

A.J. Foyt Starts 29th At Pocono

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) — A.J. Foyt finally made the starting field for Sunday's Schaefer 500, yet he's anything but pleased about his position in the 33-car field.

Though the 39-year-old Texan qualified his sleek Coyote sixth fastest at 181.415 miles per hour, he'll start 29th in the mid of cars up to 20 m.p.h. slower.

"I'm not satisfied with it, race."

Foyt was one of five drivers who finished runs Thursday during a brief reopening of qualifications for the $400,000 that's for sure," Foyt grumbled.

A's Jackson Most Popular Of All Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Reggie Jackson of the World Champion Oakland A's is proving to be the overwhelming favorite among fans for the American League All-Star team, already polling more than a million votes.

Jackson, the AL's Most Valuable Player last year, had 1,115,008 votes, according to figures released today by the commissioner's office. Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins was second in the voting with 875,407 votes for the second base position.

Al Kaline, now being used as a designated hitter by Detroit, was second to Jackson for the outfield positions with 411,229, followed by outfielder Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees with 433,661.

After Carew in balloting for second was Carlton Fisk with 547,627 ballots, followed by Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers with 363,561.

The purists can achieve nothing by harping on the blockading action. Some people say WTT is great—different and exciting. Others—It's ridiculous.

If the paychecks are big enough, the good players will come. If the show proves exciting enough to draw fans, nothing can stop it.

Football Strike Monday?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League Players' Association is asking all rookies to support a strike threatened for Monday by staying away from training camps that open next week.

The players union and the NFL Management Council, bargaining agent for owners of the 26 teams, are deadlocked on 63 contract demands made by the players. Despite the aid of federal mediators, talks broke off Wednesday.

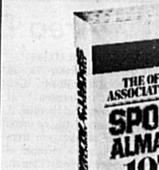

In a letter to all rookies Thursday, Players Association President Bill Curry of the Houston Oilers asked their support in "our efforts for your own benefits, protections and freedom."

save your child's life!

By DAVID HENDIN

The percentage of poisonous plants is not very high, but many are so beautiful and so well-known that it is hard to believe they may be lethal. Poisonous plants can be as easily found in your garden as growing in vacant lots and woods. The U.S. Public Health Service reports that about 12,000 children eat potentially poisonous plants every year. It is no reason to stop growing beautiful flowers and plants because they contain poison. Just keep them out of your mouth and train your children to do the same.

Here are some of the common poisonous plants that you might find in your backyard: —Twigs of cherry trees and the leaves of peach trees release dangerous poisons when eaten.

—The rhubarb, whose delicious stalk is commonly used in cooking, is the most dangerous plant in your vegetable garden. Rhubarb leaves contain oxalic acid which can damage kidneys.

—The beautiful flowering oleander bush contains a poison so powerful that a single leaf of oleander can kill a child.

—Do you have hyacinth, narcissus or daffodils around the house? Poisons from their bulbs cause nausea, vomiting and diarrhea and may be fatal. —Don't pick and eat wild mushrooms unless you are an expert in mushroom identification.

—Naturally you will want to keep away from poison oak, poison ivy and poison sumac.

Housing Panel Launches Rent Fraud Investigation

By BOB LLOYD City Editor

The Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) is acting out thousands of dollars in rent losses due to alleged fraudulent income reports by up to 30 per cent of Sanford's 480 public housing tenants.

In a special meeting Thursday night SHA board members ordered administrator Thomas Wilson III to document cases where income of persons living in the low-rent units has not been reported and to present evidence at a board work session to be held in mid-July. No date was set for the session. Wilson cited a "hypothetical" case study in which a 14-year tenant this month reported an income reduction that would mean SHA would pay her $1.50 a month. Tenants cannot be charged more than 25 per cent of total annual income for rent.

Wilson said when the woman moved to the housing project in 1962 the rental was under the name of a man alleged to be her husband. The woman declared the man as living in the apartment for 10 years. In 1972 the tenant had the lease changed in her name and the rent was reduced.

Wilson said investigations showed the man was living in the apartment occupied by the woman. "I'm familiar with this case study," she said, "but I won't divulge the tenant's name."

Wilson said alleged fraudulent reporting of incomes by "approximately 30 per cent" of SHA tenants violates their leases and affects the solvency of the authority and its ability to provide decent, low-rent housing to the public.

"It's happening more and more because people are getting away with it," Wilson said. SHA board members said alleged fraud cases will be taken before a three-member grievance committee. If the grievance committee rules in favor of SHA the tenants will be asked to voluntarily vacate units under threat of eviction.

Wilson said after a ruling by the grievance committee a tenant can be prosecuted in the courts for perpetrating fraud. SHA and the Joint Tenants Council both appoint members to the grievance committee.

Wilson said he now expects formation of the grievance committee within 30 days. SHA board member Richard Evans said in the past the board "has hit on too many things without getting down to positive action. Let's stop spinning wheels. If lawsuits come, that's alright. That's what we pay our attorney for."

Common law marriages aren't legally recognized in Florida (since 1968) and in SHA leases tenants agree to pay any retroactive rent due because of misrepresentation of income. Wilson said in Miss X's case the rent should now be $73.50 a month retroactive to August 1972. He said this would create a balance of $1,129 rent due. State Tenant Council President Mrs. Rutha Dixon warned SHA board members they must have legal evidence of illegal occupancy or be subject to lawsuits.

Sometimes it is very difficult not to do certain things. Our conscience judges these things unworthy, and we must not will power, but somehow we lose the battle and find ourselves yielding in spite of our best resolves.

Perhaps we would be more successful if we tried a positive approach "to do a good thing" rather than a negative one "to stop doing a bad thing." Perhaps if our minds were filled with good things, the bad things could have no room; they would be crowded out. Recently, with a group of children, I suggested, "close your eyes and try not to think of a black monkey with fiery red eyes." After a few seconds I said, "now open your eyes. Did you see him? They all said, 'yes!' I replied, 'But I told you not to see him!' They were impressed with the fact that my saying not to was totally ineffective.

Central Baptist Slates Patriotic Service Sunday

Members of the Central Baptist Church of Sanford will honor members serving in the armed forces at the morning service June 30. Rev. Robert E. Loy will speak on "Serving God and Country" in his sermon. Music for the service will be patriotic, and the Declaration of Independence will be read.

Altamonte Community

Rev. James Santo, of Winter Park, associate conference minister of the Florida Conference of the United Church of Christ, will be the guest speaker for 10 a.m. services June 30 at the Altamonte Community Church. The topic of his sermon will be "We never saw anything like this."

United Church of Deltona

The United Church of Deltona is preparing for its fall bazaar, "The Rainbow's End." This event is under the direction of co-chairman Georgia McLean and Mary Moran.

Deltona Methodist

Women of the United Methodist Church of Deltona will conduct the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services June 30. Participating at the 8:30 service will be Julia Harr, Elsie Lowe, Ruth Sletzer, Frances West, Adrienne Taylor, Genevieve Richardson, Lydia Schmidt, Eula Dube, Harriet Taylor and Helen Paulson.

Sanford Methodist

Methodist Youth Fellowship officers for the First United Methodist Church of Sanford were elected and will be installed June 30 at 11 a.m. services. Officers to be installed include: Martha Hardwick, president; Buddy Echols, vice president; Jimmy Dycus, secretary; Jolene Brubaker, treasurer; Martha McDonald, senior chairman; Chip Johnson, senior representative; and Janine Metzger, junior representative.

Thoughts

We intend that no one should blame us about this liberal gift which we are administering, for we aim at what is honorable not only in Lord's sight but also in the sight of men. — II Cor. 8:21.

You don't have to preach honestly to men with creative purpose. Let a human being throw the engines of his soul into the making of something, and the instinct of work-manship will take care of his honesty. — Walter Lippman, American Journalist.

Scriptures Place Women In Subservient Positions

By CLAIRE COX The Herald Services

NEW YORK — This year's June bride takes for granted her full equality in marriage, but the Scriptures from which the clergyman reads during the ceremony contain no precedent for women's lib in the home.

From beginning to end, the Bible — both Old and New Testaments — places women in positions subservient to their husbands.

While today's young woman has the freedom to marry the man she loves, it was almost unheard of in ancient times for a woman to choose her spouse. In fact, the bridegroom usually did not have a word in the matter either, for it was the parents who made the matches. Marriage and family traditions of Bible times have been described by Dr. Tom Horner, associate rector of an Episcopal parish in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., and chaplain to Episcopal students at Skidmore College.

Horner discusses ancient marriage rites in "Sex in the Bible," published by the Charles E. Tuttle Co. of Rutland, Vt. "There is a saying," he wrote, "that marriages are made in heaven and perhaps this is true, for marriages in the Bible never needed clergyman to be performed by them. The arrangements were made by the respective families."

After the match was made by the parents, the bridegroom was introduced to his bride. Horner related that in the Bible there was taken to the marriage feast and to her husband for the consummation of the marriage. The families and guests proceeded to celebrate at a feast lasting a week or two.

Horner noted that this procedure has been documented in the book of Tobit, which is in many Protestant Bibles and all Roman Catholic ones. In addition, the Epistle to Titus admonishes that wives should be "submissive to their husbands," and the First Epistle of Peter prescribed that while wives should be submissive, husbands should be considerate, "bestowing honor on the woman as the weaker sex."

"This," Horner said, "goes all the way back to the idea of male domination expressed at the beginning of the book of Genesis. It is the Old Testament ideal, with the man as the head of a family, a family that sometimes included more than one wife." Horner said.

Unlike today's lavish receptions financed by the bride's father, the marriage feast in Bible times usually was provided by the family of the bridegroom, Horner related. He was also expected to pay something to his bride's family in exchange for her becoming his wife.

"Daughters were considered to be a part of their father's property and were not to be had for nothing," Horner explained. "As for the actual selection of a mate by the family — a procedure still followed in some parts of the East today — Horner said a young man might have some say in the matter, but the girl almost never."

For example, when a Philistine was a daughter of a Philistine who pleased him, he told his parents, "Now get her for me as my wife." Saul's daughter Michal was attracted to David when she met him but could not have married him without her father's permission.

Horner described several Israelite marriage customs. One provided that a bridegroom was exempt from military service for a year so he could be "happy with the wife he has taken." A woman captured in war could be taken as a wife only after she remained untouched in a man's home for a month. Then, if after marriage the husband was dissatisfied with his captive bride, he was required to let her go.

What about the duty of a husband to his wife? Is he told to love and cherish her? The Scriptures contain this final word: "Husbands, love your wives, as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her. Even so husbands should love their wives as their own bodies. He who loves his wife loves himself."

Horner said that even priests and prophets were married in Bible times, with Jeremiah being the only major prophet who chose to remain single. Simon Peter, supposedly the first Pope, had a mother-in-law, he added, indicating that he either was or had been married. "Marriage was the biblical ideal, with the man as the head of a family, a family that sometimes included more than one wife," Horner said.

Dear Abby Baby Shouldn't Carry Goal Load

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune—N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have discussed my problem with my two closest friends. One thought I was kidding. The other thought I was crazy. I assure you, I am neither.

I am a 38-year-old unmarried professional woman. I was married (briefly) but had no children. I am bisexual (if that makes any difference), but I prefer men. I have a very full and rewarding life and don't want for friends.

Abby, the one experience I desperately want in my life is to bear a child. To me, motherhood represents the ultimate in fulfillment. One day I may marry, but not until after I retire (at age 60). By then, my child-bearing days will be long gone.

I can always get a husband, but I can't always have a baby. I would appreciate your opinion.

WANTS MOTHERHOOD DEAR: The biological act of bearing a child doesn't qualify a woman for motherhood. Raising a child does. After you realize your "ultimate fulfillment," what about the child? If you could be a competent mother (and maybe you can) there would be nothing wrong with fulfilling yourself, but as I see it, you'd be using an innocent child to satisfy a selfish ambition.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old school teacher, and I've just received a proposal of marriage. My first!

Henry is 40 and has never married. We met last summer when he rented the apartment next to mine. He owns a small but thriving business, and is a man of good moral character. He is on the quiet side. Although Henry has not been aggressive (romantically) I am sure the chemistry is right, if you know what I mean.

So what is the problem? It's the way Henry proposed to me. He said, "My dog died two weeks ago, and I haven't had a good night's sleep since because the dog always slept with me. I can't get used to sleeping alone so will you marry me?"

Abby, he wasn't kidding either. What would you do?

SINCERE DEAR: A proposal is a proposal, and this one is just as good as if Henry got down on his knees and gave you a 30-minute pitch. So, if you want to marry him, accept. But don't let Henry get another dog, or you could wind up three in a bed.

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to the suburbs, where we didn't know a soul. I met a woman at P.T.A., and we liked each other. She invited me to her home for a 7 p.m. buffet supper. We accepted and arrived promptly.

By 8 p.m. it was so crowded we could hardly move. At 8 p.m. there was no sign of dinner — only drinks and peanuts. It was hot, smoky and noisy. You couldn't hold a conversation with anyone. My husband, who is no big drinker, found me in the crowd and said: "Let's get out of here. I'm starving!"

I asked him to wait a while longer, but he said: "I'm leaving. Are you coming or not?"

I had no choice, so we left without saying goodbye to our hostess. Since we were all dressed up, we went to a restaurant.

The next day I phoned the hostess and told her we slipped out because my husband had a terrible headache. She sounded a little cool.

My questions: When people are invited for a 7 p.m. supper, what time should the hostess serve? Do you blame us for leaving? And do we owe them a dinner invitation?

SUBURBANITE DEAR: A one-hour cocktail session is long enough. I don't blame you for leaving. And, unfortunately, you owe them a dinner invitation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STUART H. WALKER, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.: Thank you for advising me that the beautiful poem "For Friends of the Aged," was written by your mother, Esther Walker.

DEAR ABBY: I've heard of compulsive gamblers, compulsive talkers and compulsive overtalkers, but is there such a thing as a compulsive worker? I think I'm one.

LOVES TO WORK DEAR: To borrow a phrase from the philosophical James H. Goetz, "It's only work if you'd rather be doing something else."

Aw, Come On, Gals Chess Is Fun Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) —For too long, says Mrs. Bruce McCranie, the image accorded women chess players is that of an unattractive intellectual. She's living proof it isn't so. The attractive red-haired Florida is the only woman chess tournament director in the state.

"Nearly every woman I've talked to has the idea that women chess players wear glasses and no makeup," she said in an interview. "It has an unfeminine image."

Many women, as did many men, took up chess and joined clubs after the world attention given the Bobby Fischer-Boris Spassky world title match in Iceland. Mrs. McCranie said. But she says many of the women have since lost interest. She reasons that the amount of time and concentration required, a fear of ridicule and the fact that not much has been printed about women in chess has blunted the desire of some to play.

"Others are afraid it takes quite an intellectual to play the game," she said. "Men realize it isn't that exclusive. We have everyone from truck drivers to doctors involved in tournaments."

Mrs. McCranie, who does market research for several companies, is one of three women members of the Jacksonville Chess Club. It has 85 male members.

She taught the game to her husband, an accountant, after she said the people who play chess fascinate her as much as the game itself.

PRICES What Went Up Has Come Down.

Everyone who's been to a supermarket or read a paper within the past couple of months knows what happened to food costs.

At Famous Recipe we've felt the pinch too. And as our costs rose we were unfortunately forced to raise some of our prices.

But what goes up must come down and recently some of our food costs have decreased. We are, therefore, happy to announce that we've lowered the menu prices on many items. Our Honey-Dipped fried chicken which has always been an excellent food value is now even more so.

Some of the best plays in bridge look so easy that no one realizes how difficult they are. Here is one that helped decide an important team match.

The bidding and play of the first three tricks was the same at both tables. South won the trick with the queen of hearts, led a diamond to dummy's king and a spade back to his queen and West's king.

Golf Is Harder Work Than Laying Bricks

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M.D.

supposedly light chores when they are actually far more exhausting than laying bricks.

For example, wouldn't there have been a future if President Eisenhower had retired to his summer home following his heart attack and started laying bricks?

Yet how many thought of the modern mechanized golf carts may reduce the physical strain on a convalescent coronary patient.

So the pain abounded and he wasn't nearly as apprehensive when the ambulance reached our house.

"Now he seems to be recovered quite satisfactorily. And he'd like to go out to play a little golf."

"The physician told him not to overdo, but to stop at least with nine holes.

"Dr. Crane is golf too strenuous exercise for a recent cardiac case?"

After former President Eisenhower had recovered from a heart attack, he was sent permitted to play golf.

But Dr. Edward E. Gordon's data on "Exercise Equivalents" (reported on Page 76 of my college textbook "Psychology Applied") contrasts the strain of golf vs. laying bricks!

At the left you will find various tasks while at the right are the calories per minute required for such physical activity.

ADDED INCOME FOR 1974

You can earn up to $300 Per Month by working only two to three hours an afternoon with a SANFORD HERALD DISTRIBUTORSHIP.

If you can spend two to three hours starting about 1:30 P.M. each weekday afternoon, have a dependable automobile, and a desire to earn money.....

Remember, too, that the mental strain and worry about the children wear you out faster than mere physical activity.

That's also why executives, lab diggers and manual laborers seldom have ulcers so need for my "Stress for Employers and Employees" enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus zip.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosed long stamped, addressed envelope and zip cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

OUR NATION! FREEDOM

A liberty bell and lilies. Both symbols of freedom. Nearly two hundred years ago, a bell proclaimed our release from political domination.

The lilies represent another kind of freedom. Synonymous with Easter, they are symbols of the greatest freedom of all, the freedom from death.

With its promise of everlasting life, with its hope for an eternal spring, the Christian message today rings across the land with ever increasing clarity.

Sunday Edition -- 20 Cents Seminole's Elderly Poor Eating Pet Food

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer A handsome white-haired couple searches through the super market shelves, reading carefully the labels on pet food cans.

They finally settle on a variety of Alpo brand chicken and liver dinner, 14 1/2 ounces, 33 cents and beef chunks, 1 1/4 ounces, 33 cents.

"It is terrible, it really is," said Amos Jones, executive director of Seminole County Community Action (SCCA).

"This is happening not just among poor blacks, but among the forgotten elderly who can manage on fixed incomes only by cutting down on the quantity and quality of the food they eat," Jones said.

"Persons existing on animal food can't get attention some months ago when it was observed that pet foodcans were in the trash at homes where no dogs exist," he said.

"It's not a health problem. It is a problem of morale and the dignity of human beings reduced to circumstances where they cannot eat human food. It is degrading."

"The indignity is very serious. The psychological objections are strong and important," Dr. Fried said.

"Eating canned dog food will not harm anyone physically," agreed David DeVoll, Seminole County Agriculture Extension agent.

"The food is sterilized in the canning process. Dogs and cats have a higher protein requirement than humans and certainly pet food is better than nothing," he said.

"As far as nutritional value, horse meat is as good as beef. At least it supplies much of needed protein and carbohydrates. But many people would not eat dog food if they knew what it contained," DeVoll said.

"A check of super market meat prices lends credence to the belief that the seniors can save considerable money by buying canned meat intended for animals rather than much higher priced fresh meat intended for human consumption."

One brand of dog food indicating "beef chunks" sells for 37 cents for a 14 ounce can. The cheapest steaming meat Herald reporters could find in a local supermarket one day this week had a price tag of $1.39 a pound.

A can of dog food labeled chicken was selling for 33 cents per 14 ounce can. The least expensive chicken in the meat refrigerator was backs at 29 cents per pound. At least 75 per cent of chicken backs is bone.

One pound of chicken backs would yield about four ounces of meat. The least expensive ground beef with a high percentage of fat was priced at 59 cents a pound. As noted earlier 4.5 pounds of Gainesburgers were $2.45 or 50 cents a pound.

This is one place where the seniors are spending excessively for a pet food when food intended for humans would be more nutritious and have higher protein value, according to Louise Gill, Seminole Extension Home Economics agent. The packaged dog burgers contain only 20 per cent protein.

"People do not have to turn to dog food," Mrs. Gill insisted. "People can eat at least cost with wiser shopping and by using high protein meat substitutes. All it takes is planning," she said.

"There is nothing wrong with dried beans. They are a good source of protein. Soy bean products are also high in protein and not costly."

The plight of those senior citizens on a fixed income in these inflationary times has been and is critical, he said. "They are being hit below the belt."

Noting that 30 pounds of TVP (texturized vegetable protein) can be purchased for $12, Mrs. Gill said TVP is a good ground meat extender that does not change the meat flavor.

She said good planning and information available from her office will permit anyone to eat well, but economically. Mrs. Gill invited anyone in search of moderately costing meal suggestions to call or visit her office in the county agricultural building at Five Points.

"Right now eggs are a good buy and except for those who must watch cholesterol, fresh vegetables are in good supply at economical prices and can be canned for use around the year."

"It takes a little effort, but there is no excuse for anyone eating dog food," she said. The 1973 census showed that 12 per cent — 11,145 — of Seminole County's population were senior citizens 65 years old and older. The income of 25 per cent — 2,731 — was considered below the poverty level four years ago. Ferguson said Seminole County's senior citizen population has increased by 22 per cent since 1968 — 2,731 — was considered below the poverty level four years ago. Robbers Nixon, Brezhnev Sign Pact For 10-Year Trade Deal

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today signed a 10-year agreement to facilitate economic, industrial and technical cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States.

It was the fourth agreement signed by Nixon and the Communist party general secretary since their summit talks began Thursday. Other concerned fields of health, housing and energy.

The two leaders also had an exchange of opinion "on prospects for an underground test ban." The discussion on that question will be continued, "the statement said.

Meanwhile, Nixon canceled plans to visit the Star City space center 17 miles east of Moscow where Soviet and American spacemen are training for a joint venture.

The agreement was signed after Nixon and Brezhnev held a fourth round of talks in the Kremlin.

They were to leave for the Crimea to continue their talks on such subjects as further limitation of missile defense systems.

Trade between the two countries last year totaled $1.4 billion, but the advances sought by the Nixon administration as an instrument of détente are threatened by congressional resistance to permit trade credits and to lower tariff barriers. A majority of both houses stands opposed to such advantages until the Soviet Union permits free emigration of Jews and other Soviet citizens.

Swofford Silent After Jury Talk

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer Former Altamonte Springs mayor Lawrence Swofford's desire to testify before the Seminole County grand jury probing his 20-year reign has been fulfilled, but he emerged from a 3 1/2 hour grilling visibly shaken and testy.

State Atty. Abbott Herring said the grand jury might stay in session to mid-week, but would not comment on when its report will be written — or what indictments, if any, can be expected.

Swofford entered the witness room at 2:15 p.m. Friday, pausing to tell newsmen he is the victim of a 10-year conspiracy by the grand jury and the state attorney's office, and left, without comment, at 5:45 p.m.

Chief Investigator Jack Fulenwider, who has spearheaded the probe into Altamonte city government relations with area developers, builders and contractors, cautioned Swofford to speak to no one about his testimony, "not even your wife."

When Swofford arrived in the courthouse shortly before lunch he indicated he might be having some second thoughts about refusing immunity to prosecution in return for being allowed to testify.

Herring has said Swofford and any past or present city officials are welcome to testify only on the condition they waive immunity from prosecution.

Friday, noting he had been informed of the witnesses already called and the nature of some of the questioning, Swofford said "perhaps I should have taken this thing more seriously."

The former city and county political power said he was considering retaining Orlando trial attorney Jim Russ to advise him on the implications of waiving immunity.

When the time for testimony came, however, Swofford marched into the witness room where he remained for more than three hours with only a 15-minute coffee break.

At that point, Swofford held a worried huddle with Assistant State Atty. Bill Staley out in the hall, explaining that while he may have made statements attributed to him about forbidding fire department coverage outside his city, he was contacted by an insurance company problems.

Swofford, in detailing to the Herald what he charged was the conspiracy against him, said his present troubles began only after an alleged $100,000 contribution to the city firemen's retirement fund was made by "insurance companies."

After the contribution, Swofford charged, city firemen began the program of inspections which led to his warning the fire chief to stop voluntary firemen from making them.

Fire Chief Tom Siegfried and former chief Gary Kaiser, now Seminole County fire administrator, have publicly accused Swofford of preventing them from enforcing the fire codes.

Former city building official Jack Stowe, interviewed by the Herald prior to the grand jury investigation, said he resigned after four months in 1973 because Swofford interfered with his efforts to enforce building codes.

Animal Trainer Arrested

A 35-year-old Apopka chef who used to train animals for the Sanford Zoo is in Seminole County Jail on charges of stealing two chimpanzees, several monkeys, peacocks and geese from the zoo.

Rudolf Alexander, also known as "Prince Rudi," is being held in lieu of $15,000 bond on charges of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property.

Alexander was arrested in Apopka. Two mynah birds have been reported stolen from the zoo but they are still missing, according to detectives.

Sanford detectives said they found several dead birds in rain-soaked cages when they raided the man's Geneva trailer.

Gas Lake

If you're planning a shopping spree at the Altamonte Springs Interstate Mall, it would be best to leave your smokes inside the car.

Early this morning up to 1,000 gallons of gasoline being pumped into the Montgomery Ward's Service Station overflowed and drained up in an unnamed drainage lake behind the mall.

Altamonte Springs fire department spokesman says they expect clear weather to help evaporate the gas and there is no real danger to shoppers.

The fire department flushed out the parking lot with its hoses to clean up the small gas ponds from 12:30 a.m. to 5 a.m. for five hours.

When the time for testimony came, however, Swofford marched into the witness room where he remained for more than three hours with only a 15-minute coffee break.
