'DAY OF INFAMY' WAS 15 YEARS AGO

THE BATTLESHIP Arizona, ablaze and sinking, and a newspaper headline recall the Dec. 7, 1941, "Day of Infamy," when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. More than 2,000 U.S. servicemen died as the enemy came in with 100 warplanes and midged subs to cripple eight battleships and many lesser war vessels. At bottom, an aircraft carrier is docked at Pearl Harbor as it appears now. (International)

15 Years Ago 'Day Of Infamy'

Pearl Harbor Is Peaceful Place Visited By Tourists

By JIM HECKER
PEARL HARBOR — Where once the battleships were moored row on row, today the Japanese planes which smashed them 15 years ago today — a trim little motor launch ties up every morning.

Some 100 tourists walk slowly aboard, subdued, chatting in whispers, awestruck by the scene where history was made and the United States plunged into World War II, on the day that "will live in infamy."

The day is brilliant. The trade winds rustle quietly, much as on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941.

The launch passes a well-crested Navy transport, one of only half a dozen or so ships in the harbor.

The transport's radar scope whirrs steadily, scanning the skies. Only a handful of ships in Pearl had radar in 1941, and a radar warning from an Army outpost never reached the fleet.

There were 94 ships in Pearl Harbor on Sunday, Dec. 7, the sailor on the launch says, rattling through his prepared patter.

The launch makes a wide swing and stops at the beginning of the now-deserted one mile stretch of docks and buoys known as "Battleship Row."

There, in the space of about a mile, seven American battleships were moored when the Japanese struck. Four were sunk. Those afloat were damaged.

Some 2,800 men died, torn to bits in the explosions of bombs, burned to death in the flaming waters of the harbor as oil spilled from stricken ships and caught fire from incendiary bombs, trapped below decks of ships on their way to the bottom.

Huge columns of black smoke poured up and the harbor burned throughout the night of America's first hectic 24 hours at war.

Some of the battleships were refloated to fight on during the Pacific war, but the Japanese attack, with one blow, made obsolete the battleship concept of warfare.

Never again will Pearl Harbor present such a jolly target.

The Pacific Commander, Adm. Felix B. Stump, whose headquarters are atop a hill overlooking the sprawling harbor, says:

"There have been so many changes in warfare in the 15 years since the attack. The aircraft carrier has taken over from the battleship. The guided missile vessel may some day take the role of the aircraft carrier."

"Also, we don't concentrate our ships in the harbor like we did then. We keep better dispersed, out to sea. You never see anything like it Dec. 7 any more."

The launch pulls alongside the sunken battleship Utah. Some six feet of the ship's deck sticks from the water at a crazy angle. The Utah was taken out of service in '31 and used by the Navy as a bombing target.

"You may take photographs here," the sailor says, "but keep the cameras pointed at the part of the Utah you see out of the water."

The cameras click steadily. One man asks another: "How about F11 at D." The other says, "That should do it."

"I have color and I don't want to be overexposed," the first man says.

Civic Club Will Sponsor Christmas Lighting Contest

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Altamonte Springs Civic Club held its Dec. meeting and Christmas party Wednesday afternoon at the Community House.

The girls' triple trio from the Lyman High School Glee Club presented a program of Christmas songs, directed by Miss Carolyn Anderson, Seminole County music director.

The cane dance, a tap number, was done by Nan Johnson and Jerry McIntosh. Dana Alexander was their accompanist. Miss Anne Cline, program chairman, made the introductions.

Mrs. J. D. Morrison, club president, called a brief business meeting after the program. Announcement was made at this time that (Continued On Page Twelve)

Mayfair Opening Is 'Complete Sellout'

All De Bary Turns Out To See New Post Office

There was excitement in DeBary yesterday.

Local residents were even following their mail down the street. It all came about when the Post Office was moved from its small wood structure to the brand new concrete building on the west of 17-92.

Seems as if all of DeBary turned out for the event, and even though parking space in front of, around and in back of the new Post Office increased many times, every available space was filled.

The new Post Office which will be officially dedicated on Dec. 15 at a huge meeting to include civic organizations, state officials, and Post Office personnel. Plans are underway for the dedication exercises which will be held in the afternoon.

A modern foyer with space for many times the number of post office boxes now greet the village residents as they call for their mail each day. Brand new post office furniture including a wide stamp and parcel window, convenient slots for outgoing mail, writing desks, and bulletin board have all been installed.

There's a modern mauve tile and concrete floor, beautiful shrubbery furnished by the DeBary Garden Club, a clean glistening white building, all surrounded by marked parking stalls for motor cars.

The post office is set back from the street with access roads on both the north and south.

Postmaster Walter Hant wouldn't stop for a picture of himself and shrugged off the photographer with "I'm too busy". Actually, he was every place at once, getting things in order to take care of the "Christmas rush" and the orderly flow of mail to DeBary residents and out to their friends and relatives. Hant seemed to be just as happy in his new surroundings as any one of the DeBary folk who were "packing in" to see their new daily gathering place and mail source.

Of course, the Post Office is just one of the new modern buildings being erected in DeBary to furnish more and better services.

W. G. Miller is in his brand new real estate office next door to the post office.

A laundromat building is nearing completion to furnish an added service. Debarites have not yet experienced.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. will soon erect a brand new building for a dial exchange on the corner of 17-92 and Angeles Ave. It is understood that negotiating for property have been completed and work will soon begin on the structure to house the mechanism.

DeBary is growing, not only in the number of residents, but in the commercial establishments and enterprises, not to overlook the services which are being added.

Lake Mary Pioneer Night In February

The 32nd Annual Pioneer Night will be held in Lake Mary on Saturday night, Feb. 23. Frank Evans announced yesterday. "All people who come to Pioneer Night are Patriotic and like to celebrate Washington's Birthday on the 22nd, so we're setting the date now for Feb. 23," Evans said as he made the announcement.

This next year's Pioneer Night will be the biggest in the history of the annual events, Frank Evans said.

"We've had some mighty prominent people at our celebration each year and there will be equally prominent citizens at our next one," he commented.

Comes next Feb. 23, he said, we will have old folks from every section of the county as well as those from other counties who enjoy coming to Lake Mary to be with us for an evening filled with entertainment.

"Of course our plans are not complete," Frank Evans shrugged, "but we're going to work right away lining up the best entertainment and making folks aware that the old people have a night all to themselves to really enjoy."

Evans said that the event will take place in the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce Building just as it has many, many times. "We'll have hundreds coming from every direction," he said, "and we'll find room for every one of them."

Evans said "We're making the announcement early so that everyone, everywhere, will know that the night has been set aside for "Pioneer Night" and so that old folks can begin making their plans to attend."

"Just as soon as the new 1937 calendar begins coming out," Evans added, "be sure to mark Feb. 23 very plainly for we don't want a single person left out or disappointed."

Course In 'Excellent Shape'

Baseball bigwigs will be prominent among the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Tournament audience next week, according to Mayfair Inn Manager Frank Mebane Jr.

Already indicating they will be here for the event will be Horace Stoneham, head of the New York Giants organization, Carl Hubbell, director of the sprawling New York Giants Farm system, Al Lopez, Manager of the Chicago White Sox, Freddie Hutchinson, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, and Mayo Smith, manager of the Philadelphia team.

Also indicating that they will be in Sanford for one of Florida's biggest golf events are Bill Hickey, manager of the New York Giants and Rossy Ryan, general manager of the Minneapolis Millers.

Mario Carfagno, host pro for the PGA Open said yesterday that he is expecting from 250 to 300 professional and amateur golfers in Sanford taking part in the qualifying round on Tuesday.

However, Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said that approximately 1200 will tee off in the three day play beginning next Thursday.

Stated for Wednesday will be a clinic with Mayfair Inn Country Club's winter Pro, Porky Oliver taking a prominent part.

Supper, Bazaar Net Over $180

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The pot roast supper and bazaar put on by the Ladies of the Service Circle of the Altamonte Chapel netted $182.60 according to a report of the president, Mrs. Clifford Sands. This will be turned over to the Sunday School Superintendent for the purchase of chairs for the new educational building.

Assisting the president in the supper arrangements were Mrs. Harold K. Seaman and Mrs. (Continued On Page Twelve)

Over 408 To Attend Big Event

The Mayfair Inn Opening night celebration is a "complete sell-out" according to reports this morning from the plush New York Giants winter tourist attraction.

Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said this morning that over 408 have made reservations for the big event that will get underway Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

"We're going to have the biggest season in the Mayfair Inn's history if opening night is any indication at all of the guests who will begin pouring into Sanford after tomorrow night," said Mebane.

Activities for opening night at the Mayfair Inn tomorrow will begin with cocktails served at 7, dinner will be served at 8, and dancing will get underway at 9:30.

Opening night at the Mayfair Inn will coincide with the beginning of festivities for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open which is slated to get underway Tuesday with qualifying rounds.

Many of the golfers have already arrived and will attend the fair.

City and county officials will attend the gala party signaling the opening of the winter season in Sanford and Seminole County and no doubt officials from neighboring communities will also attend the brilliant opening event.

A New York orchestra has been engaged by the Mayfair Inn for tomorrow night's opening event. The orchestra will remain at the Mayfair Inn throughout the season to furnish music for the many events that are scheduled during the season.

"It will be the eighth Annual Opening," commented Manager Mebane, "and by far the biggest and best."

The Mayfair Inn Opening Night social event is the "grand opening" for the winter social season in Sanford, Seminole County, and Central Florida according to past accounts of the yearly party and according to the reservation list already completed.

Group Concludes Safety Course; Certificates Given

"Safety is our business," could be the summing up of the statement by D. W. Collier as he concluded a 10-hour safety course for supervisors, foremen and key personnel of the City of Sanford this afternoon.

Certificates were awarded the men who have attended the classes two hours each afternoon this week. The certificates certify that the course has been successfully completed.

Collier is a representative of the Florida Industrial Commission, Department of Industrial Safety.

The purpose of this course, he said, "is to train or teach foremen, supervisors, and key personnel the ability to recognize unsafe conditions or acts in order to prevent accidents."

"In 1935 alone," Collier said, "accidents have cost a total of $12,980,311.10." And he explained just how the cost was affected in each group of accidents. For instance, he said, there were 7 permanent total accidents which cost a total of $173,750 in compensation and $154,852.60 in medical costs. There were 1,277 permanent partial accidents with compensation costing $1,833,072.60 and medical costs at $742,121.84.

Temporary total accidents numbered 26,738 with compensation $3,439,178.20 and medical costs $3,313,655.08. There were 131 fatalities with compensation costing $336,968.20 and medical expenses costing $78,036.02. Accidents requiring medical attention only numbered 107,947 with medical costs $2,371,907.83.

In other words, explained Collier, there were 136,194 accidents reported, and the most of them, if not all, could have been prevented.

Teaching a class of supervisors, foremen, and key personnel is no easy task, according to the material lined up in front of Collier as he ended his final hour of the local course. "We use every type of visual education," he said, "there are movies, slides, charts, printed leaflets demon-

Senator, Mrs. Dirksen Visit DeBary

U. S. Senator Everett Dirksen and Mrs. Dirksen were introduced to DeBary guests at a reception and tea yesterday at the home of Gen. and Mrs. H. P. Newton, Col. and Mrs. Gregory Kessenich as hosts.

The Senator and his wife have been sunbathing at Miami Beach and stopped off to visit the Kessenichs whom they know intimately in Washington, D. C. and to renew acquaintances of long standing, Mr. and Mrs. James V. Richards, former neighbors in Pekin, Illinois.

After a brief stopover in Tennessee, the Dirksens will be in Illinois for Christmas and then back to Washington for the January session of Congress.

Sermon: "Would You Like To Know God?"

WHEN I GROW UP...

Magical words these, "when I grow up"—full of promise, replete with confidence. What youngster hasn't uttered them?

This lad is no different. He looks into the future that will be his when he grows up, and the world is his oyster, intact with pearls.

This month he wants to be a fier. Next month he'll want to be an engineer, spanning bridges across great rivers and wide chasms. The month after that he'll see himself as a surgeon, scalpel poised between skilled fingers. And the month after that—who knows?

For youth is ever changing, ever restless. That's why it is so important that youth's naturally impulsive nature be held fast by an anchor that is good, firm and permanent. They need a faith that will sustain them whether they become doctors, fliers, or engineers. The Church provides this faith, this anchor.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sanford Seminoles Open '56 Basketball Season Wlth Victory Over FMA

The Sanford Seminoles opened their basketball season with a bang yesterday afternoon and coach Bud Laver's advocacy of a running game with the employment of the fast break paid victory dividends as the Seminoles topped the cage-minded Florida Military Cadets 65-59 before a cheering audience of students.

The Seminoles made the first basket from the opening jump play pattern to surge to an early lead, but that soon dwindled as the Seminoles defensive strategy got off to a shaky start. For the first quarter it seemed the running strategy in the Kentucky tradition, employed this year by Laver would fold under the experienced team, and the quarter ended with the Seminoles trailing 20-15.

By the end of the first quarter, however, the Seminoles had their feet on the ground and dominated the play with their running game, coupled with the fine rebound play of Hittell and Joe High. Cecil Dandridge sparked the quarter, tallying eight points as the bucket man on the fast break.

The highly spirited Seminoles came back after the half and all but shut out the Cadets in the third quarter with their running game. The Cadets were held to only six points, four of them coming from free throws.

Hittell was high man for the game. Cecil Dandridge was second for the Seminoles with 16 points and Joe High was third for the warrior quintet with 12 points. Jerry Alleyne was the Cadet threat, but after his first quarter scoring spree of 14 points, he was able only to score two more buckets for the outing. Alleyne tied with Kenny Lovett for top Cadet scoring honors, each player accounting for 18 points. Frank Sica ran close behind the two for the losers with 16 points.

TWO-SPORT STAR

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Gary Collins can almost take his pick. Experts say he can become a hockey star or a top baseball pitcher.

The rookie wingman of the Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League pitched a no-hit game for Metro Motors in the Leaside Baseball League in Toronto last summer. He blanked Oshawa 8-0.

CLAUDE HITTELL on the rebound. The inexperienced but highly spirited Seminoles launched their basketball season in royal fashion yesterday with an impressive win over the cage-minded Florida Military Cadets in the high school gym. Tonight they travel to Orlando to face Boone. (Staff Photo)

'56 Little All-America Football Team Named

NEW YORK (AP)—Four holdovers and a kid so popular with the home folks he recently drew 15 write-in votes for sheriff are among eleven seniors named to the Associated Press Little All-America football team of 1956.

The lineup also includes the top passer among small college players, a fullback who averaged nearly nine yards a carry during a matchless four-year career, and an accompanying group of linemen averaging 6.3 and 215 pounds.

The repeaters from last year's Little All-America are end Charles Schultz of unbeaten, untied, Alfred, Guard Steve Myhra of North Dakota, tackle Vince Vidas of Drexel Tech, and Nate Clark, an all-purpose halfback from Hillsdale, Mich.

With Clark in the backfield are Jimmy Stehlin of Brandeis, who led the little schools in passing with 110 completions in 300 attempts for 1,155 yards; Bill Rhodes of Western Colo. State, who gained 327 yards in one game this fall, totalled 4,294 yards in his varsity career and averaged 8.9 yards per carry since his first game as a freshman four years ago; and Larry Houdok, Kansas Wesleyan's tailback who ran for 1,432 yards, led the nation in scoring with 114 points and pleased the folks around Salina so much he made him their write-in candidate for sheriff last month. The remainder of the choice, team includes end Milton Robichaux of Trinity, Tex. 6-6 tackle Don Owens of Mississippi Southern, guard Bob Mitchell of the College of Puget Sound, and center Bill Earp of Emory & Henry.

Named to the second team were ends Steve Junker, Xavier, Ohio; and James Cox, California Poly, tackle George Kurker, Tufts, and

Seminole To Face Boone Braves Tonite

After launching the new season with a 63-59 win over Florida Military School yesterday afternoon in the high school gym, the fast break Seminoles travel for their second season contest tonight when they go to Orlando to face perennially powerful Boone. It will be the season opener for the Boone Braves.

Coach Bud Laver and assistant coach Dick Silvers had nothing but praise for their high-flying charges. "They did a terrific job, considering the competition and the short time we have had in which to prepare for the season." Then he was quick to add, "We made a lot of mistakes, and we didn't have the polish we should have had, and we gave the ball away several times."

The Seminoles had almost twice as many fouls against them as did the Cadets in yesterday's opener, and on eight occasions lost the ball on referee judgments when they failed to observe foul line rules in putting the ball in play.

"Boone is a big school," Silvers remarked, "and they have a wide choice in the selection of players. Besides all that, they will be well prepared and anxious to open the season with a win."

"They'll be tough," Laver remarked. "Very tough." But the odds were against the Seminoles yesterday. They were towered over in height, that very essential ingredient in the cage sport. But they were fast, and they played with the winning spirit. That meant the difference, and Claude Hittell, the leading scorer in yesterday's game is no midget.

The general consensus of opinion is that the Seminoles are stepping out of their class when they go to Boone tonight. Boone will have a senior squad, and the Seminoles have only one sen-

Peanut Bowl atmosphere was launched yesterday afternoon prior to the championship game tonight in Memorial Stadium as some 1500 people lined First Street to watch the Peanut Bowl parade. Five pull floats, one motored float, the Seminoles High and Sanford Junior High bands, and the American Legion train highlighted the parade with a long line of automobiles.

Four of the pull floats were filled with candidates for Peanut Bowl Queen candidates and another had a mastiff bulldog, two football players and a goat post.

Both local bands marched in high style for the local clevers, then called a halt in front of First and Magnolia to give a short, spirited pep rally.

The motored float depicted Elvis Presley. With a tiny chihuahua in front of him, little Frank Houmillard rode the float stage and animated Presley's torso twists to the delight of the crowd along the parade route. Banned to the float was the saying "An't Nothin' But A Peanut Houndawg," and behind the float a sound truck followed with Presley's recording filling the air.

Behind the American Legion train came the line of cars. Dignitaries in the first car were R. T. Milnes, Superintendent of Public Instruction, F. I. Scott, Sanford mayor, and Jim Buckler, chairman of the Peanut Bowl committee. In the second car Herald Heckenbach, principal of Sanford Grammar hosted the various committee heads.

Another ripple of amused laughter could be heard when Mrs. Routh's car passed in the parade. On top of her automobile was a four by four painting of a building throwing peanuts into the air. The Routh Buildings are favored to repeat last year's championship play.

For some the parade was the highlight of Peanut Bowl activity. For others it will be the revealing

Radio TV Highlights

NEW YORK — The turkey had scarcely been removed from the Thanksgiving table when television trotted out its Christmas commercials.

And, the television people might ask, why not? Newspapers and magazines are urging shoppers to hurry, hurry, hurry and get it over with early. In cities and towns across the country merchants have run up the tinsel and green. It's all part of a plot to start the Christmas season in late August.

Personally, I can't get very excited — either pro or con — about rushing the season. Except when it comes to television. Then it brings out the Scrooge in me.

Am I unfair to television on this matter? Probably. Why should I be mildly interested in early Christmas advertising in newspapers and magazines, yet annoyed when television does the same thing?

The answer is that there's an immediacy to television. If you're watching a program, you're trapped by its commercial. There on the living room home screen is a Christmas on Christmas morning and out parade Daddie and Mummy and Junior and Betty, all wearing bathrobes, all with hair neatly brushed and faces scrubbed. "Oooh!" cries Betty. "A whatchamacallit! I've always wanted a whatchamacallit!"

After this and similar Christmas morning scenes have been repeated 30 or 40 times in the living room, you begin to feel that there's little point to celebrating your own family Christmas in this same living room. It would be repetitious. Furthermore, your own tree couldn't possibly be as

Director: Running Prison Is Matter Of Common Sense

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Running a prison says Florida's new state prison director, is "just a matter of common sense."

Richard O. Culver, who retired recently after 27 years service with the federal prison system, told newsmen he didn't believe in "coddling prisoners" but neither does he favor applying the lash.

Culver said his objective in the new post will be to operate a "down to earth prison system in a business like manner."

He reported for duty this week and said his first concern will be to familiarize himself with the various state prisons and correctional institutions.

"What I have seen is some good and some bad," he said. "Some phases may be a little antiquated but I have found a great many things to praise."

Culver will coordinate the prison system and be chief adviser to the Cabinet on prison matters.

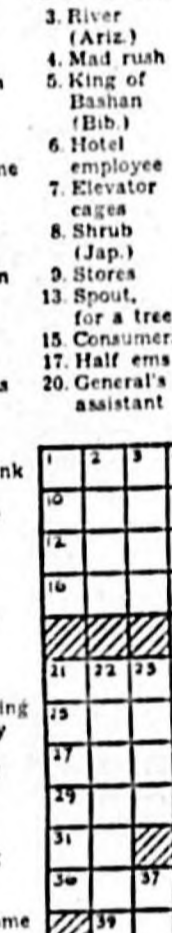

MOOSE WITH MOXIE • JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A pet moose, reared from infancy at Taku Lodge on the Taku River, won't go near the woods or the water. The lodge operator isn't sure whether it's because Tillie loves the handouts at the resort so much or because she is a moose with moxie. About a dozen moose were bagged by hunters in the area during the summer.

Examination Of Heart A Painless Procedure

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D. DON'T be afraid to have a heart examination. Many of you, I'm sure, have thought seriously about having a doctor check the old ticker, but have put it off because of fear.

Nothing To Fear A heart examination is completely painless. There's no mystery about it; there's nothing to fear.

Let's take a peek into a physician's office and see what a heart examination is really like. As a rule, the doctor will first ask you about past illnesses and symptoms. He especially wants to know whether you have pain in the middle of your chest, a pounding of the heart, a swelling of ankles, shortness of breath.

He'll want to know your age, your general physical condition and the way you live. Give him truthful answers.

Checks Pulse Then he'll probably take your pulse to determine how well your heart is pumping blood through the arteries. He'll check your blood pressure, too. High blood pressure, remember, may or may not be important, depending upon how it affects the heart, arteries, kidneys and other parts of your body.

By tapping on your chest the doctor will determine the size of your heart. Then he'll listen with his stethoscope to the actual operation of this most important of all organs.

The doctor also will check the condition of your lungs, kidneys help prevent the growth of bacteria since often these are bacteria which causes tooth decay.

FOOD AND SHELTER SOLVED MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In case it's any consolation to you when hunting a place to sleep, Florida has 1,396 hotels, 3,414 motels and 11,938 rooming houses which altogether can house 687,676 persons.

Or, if you're hungry: The state has 14,536 restaurants (3,109 in Miami's Dade County); a cooking device that can "broast" (broil-roast) a chicken in five minutes or a fish in three and a radar range that can cook a steak in 15 to 20 seconds.

RAW DECISION LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—How does a professional muscle man keep in condition? Exercise and raw meat, says Mark A. Evans, a husky judo instructor. Well—almost raw. Sometimes Evans has trouble with waiters in restaurants. He says they can't believe he only wants a steak on the grill 5 or 10 seconds. Recently, weary of argument, he says he told a waiter: "Tell you what. Just bring the steak to the table. I've got a cigarette lighter and I'll do my own cooking."

HERE ARE TWO VIEWS of the U. S. Navy's new mystery warship, the USS Tang. It has a radically new and secret navigation, the key to which lies in several miniature observatories, which automatically track the bodies, thus giving continuous celestial information for determining position. The new gear is expected to give data which will permit dropping of nuclear missiles on targets 1,500 miles distant in any weather and all latitudes. The compass island has activated fins (bottom plans) for stabilization, which will afford approximately a 90 percent reduction in roll. (International)

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT, Central Press Writer

BACHELORS and spinsters are twice susceptible to having headaches than are happily wedded folk, a survey shows. Maybe it's because they're always having to find excuses to the question: "How come you never got married?"

Of all the professions, medical students were found to be the most likely victims of headaches. Well, at least they ought to know how to cure 'em.

Farmers are least susceptible to headaches. This must be some to congressmen who are always wrestling with the farm relief problem.

Of all women checked by the survey 21 per cent suffered recurrent headaches as against only 10 per cent of the men. However, says the man at the next desk, he can guess at whom the gals blame most of their cranial aches and pains.

The Interior department predicts U. S. anglers will catch $50 billion pounds of fish this year. What a whopper—and it didn't get away!

Western powers are planning another "summit" meeting. They better hurry, suggests F.R.P.—there aren't many agreements left to be broken.

A London man, charged with stealing a bag of coal claimed a stranger put it on his back when he wasn't looking. As an alibi, that's the most fool-hardy one yet!

Faber, who was second place winner in the orange cake baking contests sponsored by Florida Power Home Service Dept., held in Deland last week.

J. A. (Gus) Billiard of Waycross, Ga., was visiting with his sister, Mrs. H. E. Braddock Wednesday and he told her of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crosby, also of Waycross Tuesday. Kenneth is a great nephew of Mrs. Braddock and has friends here in Enterprise.

James Padgett of Orlando spent Tuesday with his mother, and sister, Mrs. Mary Padgett and Miss Viola Padgett.

Mrs. Jack Ryan and Mrs. M. H. Ryan were visitors in Orlando Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Canada arrived Sunday from Brownsville, Tex. to spend several weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Canada.

HIGH ON DIVERS

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Virginia Tech Coach Frank Moseley regards his senior fullback, Captain Don Divers, as "a good fullback as there is anywhere."

Divers, a 185-pounder from Roanoke, Va., is a superb defensive player, has averaged nearly five yards a carry during his varsity career and has shared in the pointing duties.

During the 1954 and 1955 seasons, Divers was voted the outstanding star in the traditional game between Tech and Virginia Military Institute.

COSTLY BEE: KITCHENER, Ont. (AP)—Motorist Ross Steves escaped a bee sting, but it cost him $300 in extra repairs. He was fighting off the bee when he rammed into a parked car on a city street here.

FIRST EDITION FOUND: MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hammaging through a box of books donated to Marquette University, librarians found a first edition pamphlet of Robert Frost's series of poems, "A Boy's Will."

William B. Ready, Marquette's head librarian, says only a few copies of the New England poet's pamphlet were printed. Ready estimates a single copy is worth about $250.

ON SCHEDULE: LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Eight fire trucks raced to a downtown fire alarm box. The fireman saw a startled woman standing beside it. She told them: "Someone said if I pulled my lever I would get a schedule of city buses."

IROUADOUR, THE GRAND CHAMPION STEER of the 35th International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, is shown after he was sold for $20,800 a pound—a record. The short-horn, entered in the "world series" of livestock by Pennsylvania State University, weighed 995 pounds at sale and brought the school $20,327.50. The grand champion was purchased by a hotel in White Sulphur Springs, West Va. With the winner are Truman Wright, representing the buyer, Mrs. Betty Ryan of the Arcadia Farm, Northfield, Ohio, where Irouadour was bred, and Dick Bour, who is head herdsman at Penn State.

INSURANCE PREMIUM REBATES RECOMMENDED: MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Insurance premium rebates to safe drivers —40 to 60 per cent over a five-year period were recommended yesterday by Florida Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson.

Larson said some insurance companies already do reward policyholders who consistently avoid accidents.

The commissioner predicted that Florida "will soon be one of the leading insurance centers of the nation" at the rate the industry is expanding.

JUST A BOTTLE HUNTER

ST. JAMES, Minn. (AP)—Game Warden Phil Ham, piloting his plane over pheasant country, noticed a car stop several times. On each occasion the driver hurried into the ditch and back to the car.

Things looked suspicious. Ham radioed ground wardens and directed their cars into St. James where they halted the mysterious hunter.

The car contained no pheasants —not even a gun.

"I was out hunting up beer bottles in the ditches to fill up my case," said the frightened driver.

'Elvis' To Be At Ritz Sunday In Tense Drama, Love Me Tender

The big movie news today is that the king of rock 'n' roll, Elvis Presley, is also a fine Hollywood acting discovery. Beginning Sunday at the Ritz Theatre Twentieth Century-Fox's CinemaScope production "Love Me Tender," which stars Richard Egan and Debra Paget, and serves to introduce the young man with the guitar to movie audiences.

Let it be said at the outset that the role of Clint Reno, the notoriously famous Reno brothers, fits Presley perfectly.

Set against the exciting background of the Civil War and the rehabilitation period that followed, "Love Me Tender" is a drama packed with action, interweaving a poignant love story to make it a film with strong appeal for every member of the family.

As Lt. Vance Reno, the elder Reno brother, Richard Egan takes in the most versatile portrayal of his film career. Rugged, lean, and handsome from four years of fighting, he leads two of his brothers, Brett (William Campbell), and Ray (James Drury), and a group of Randall's Raiders of the Confederate Cavalry, in a robbery of a Union Army payroll. When they return to their Texas farm where they find that the younger brother, Clint (Presley), has married Vance's childhood sweetheart, Cathy, characterized with great skill and tenderness by Debra Paget. She had married Clint when false word arrived that Vance had been killed. A tense situation develops between the two brothers who have a deep affection for each other, and for Cathy. Now labeled as fugitives, the brothers stand together and the action picks up momentum to reach one of the screen's most exciting climaxes in recent seasons.

Another asset to the film (there are quite a few) is four new songs, performed by Presley, which are important parts of the story and are not merely interpolated. Of these, the title song, "Love Me Tender," a ballad currently high on the best-seller lists, is particularly pleasing to the ear. The others, "We're Gonna Move," "Poor Boy" and "Let Me" should delight the millions of Presley fans, as well as the older members of the family who like folk songs.

Producer David Weisbart has given "Love Me Tender" a fine CinemaScope production and director Robert Webb has fused the action and love story with great skill from Robert Buckner's fine script. Members of the supporting cast, including Robert Middleton, William Campbell, Neville Brand, Mildred Dunnock, Bruce Bennett, James and Barry Coe, are all excellent. "Love Me Tender" is a good show for everyone.

Seeing Richard Egan and Debra Paget in such close harmony gives Elvis Presley something to brood about in this scene from the National Broadcasting Company's fall film "Love Me Tender," which begins Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. The Twentieth Century-Fox drama in CinemaScope gives Presley the chance to introduce four new songs.

Marilyn Out, Elvis In, Studio Is 'Shook'

"Here we go again!" That was the catchword at Twentieth Century-Fox as the studio, having seen Marilyn Monroe off for England following completion of "Bus Stop," batted down for another couple of months of frenetic excitement with the arrival of Elvis Presley for his film debut in "Love Me Tender." The picture, which stars Debra Paget, will have its local premiere beginning Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

Everybody from the cops on the gate to the switchboard operators and the electricians on the set were aware that the kid of the teenage set was aboard—the cops, because they had to shoo away gate-crashers in pony tails; the operators, because they had to turn back giggling calls from young voices posing as "long distance"; and the electricians, because they would have no peace.

Producer David Weisbart has given "Love Me Tender" a fine CinemaScope production and director Robert Webb has fused the action and love story with great skill from Robert Buckner's fine script. Members of the supporting cast, including Robert Middleton, William Campbell, Neville Brand, Mildred Dunnock, Bruce Bennett, James and Barry Coe, are all excellent. "Love Me Tender" is a good show for everyone.

My Neighbors

"Don't mind him. He always hits himself on the head whenever he thinks a discriminatory taxation!"

W. Holden, Deborah Kerr Star In Daring Love Story At Drive-In

A daring and compelling love story, as frankly told as any the motion picture medium has ever presented, is the theme dramatized by two of the screen's most powerful performers, William Holden and Deborah Kerr, in "The Proud and Profane," Paramount film opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre. Taken from a sensational, best-selling novel by Lucy Herndon Crockett, the behind-the-scenes drama of World War II promises to be an unusually candid and intensely dramatic emotional experience.

The production handiwork of William Perleberg and George Seaton, makers of "The Country Girl," "The Bridges at Toko-Ri" and "Little Boy Lost," the VistaVision film co-stars Thelma Ritter and Dewey Martin and features William Redfield and Rosa Dagmarian, a cast that guarantees a gallery of fine performances.

The setting of "The Proud and Profane" is the South Pacific island of New Caledonia, an outpost of the critical island-invasion phase of the Pacific war. Holden portrays a Marine Raiders Colonel, a hard-bitten disciplinarian implacably hostile to anyone or anything that "softens" his men for combat—an openly-expressed prejudice that extends to chaplains and Red Cross women.

Into contact with this flinty man comes Red Cross volunteer Deborah Kerr, and the sparks fly from first meeting. She is well-bred, reserved, proper, and icy virtues that act like a red flag to Holden. He determines to break her at any price and by any means, but he has no inkling of the fire that burns beneath the ice. In spite of herself, she responds, and between these two violently opposed personalities grows a love that defies all convention and overrides all sense of prudence and restraint.

In the role of Miss Kerr's Red Cross boss is Thelma Ritter. Aware of the relationship from the beginning, wise to the ways of love, she tries to hold them back from the disaster they are inevitably creating for themselves.

Aware, too, is Dewey Martin, one of Holden's young but veteran Raiders. In love with Miss Kerr, his protective instincts drive him to the point of attempted murder of his commander. William Redfield, as a sensitive young chaplain, fights his own battle with Holden, who considers the minister a softening, and therefore a dangerous, influence.

All of these threads are caught together in a complex of human emotions that should make one of the most absorbing and gripping film stories of the year.

Filming of "The Proud and Profane" was done in the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. William Perleberg produced and George Seaton directed. The screenplay, also by George Seaton, promises to be a masterpiece. His last one, "The Country Girl," won him an Oscar.

Paired in a powerful and adult love story, William Holden and Deborah Kerr portray a Marine Raiders Colonel and a Red Cross worker in "The Proud and Profane," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre. In VistaVision, the behind-the-scenes film drama of World War II is a Perleberg-Seaton Paramount Production co-starring Thelma Ritter and Dewey Martin.

Pearl

not narrow, the carrier Philippine Sea named for an American victory, ridden at anchor, her deck massed with planes, their folded wings pointed toward the sky.

To the left, near the end of Battleship Row, an American flag flies from a platform some 50 feet from shore. It marks the sunken battleship Arizona, whose 3000 men—from apprentice seaman to a rear admiral—are still entombed.

A white post sticks up from the water. It bears the sign: "Bow." Six hundred feet away is another: "Stern."

Between them, only a couple of rusted mushroom shapes and the tip of the Arizona's bridges rises above water. Its main deck is feet under. Oil still comes slow from the bowels of the ship. It is because of the oil the sailor explains, that the Arizona was never raised to the surface. Divers who attempted the job were killed when their torches set fire to oil pockets.

The Navy still lists the Arizona as an active ship. Every morning an honor guard raises her flag. At dusk, it comes down, along with those of the other ships at Pearl.

The band of the Arizona was playing for the raising of the colors at 8 a. m. when the Japanese planes swept in from the north.

A bomb plunged down her main smokestack—a "one in a million" hit—and eight minutes later she was on the bottom.

Many of the men below never know what hit them.

The visitors watch the oil-darkened water lap quietly against the Arizona. The chatter of a rivet gun in the shipyard comes clearly across the water.

"Daddy," said a little girl, "why did they bomb Pearl Harbor?"

"I don't know, honey," the father says, "but it was a terrible mistake."

CARRIE V. KNAPP

The Urge to Paint

By CAROL BIRD

MISS CARRIE V. KNAPP would rather paint than eat! Thirty-three years ago, the urge to paint led this well-known Florida water-colorist to start Lake Worth's Art League. She felt a creative desire in common with many of her fellow townspeople, who now belong to one of the state's most outstanding cultural organizations.

Today, at 75, Miss Knapp has a zestful personality that belies her years. Amazingly enough, she went back to school at the age of 73—to add to her original college education. Miss Knapp is proud of her age. "I'm 75," she declares, "but folks often set my age in the sixties."

This artist came to Lake Worth in 1918 from Ogden, Utah, where she was art instructor in the public schools. After arriving in Florida, she taught school in Boynton Beach. This distinguished painter has exhibited a great deal of her work in Florida, as well as other states, and has captured many awards. Miss Knapp held a one man show in Winter Haven in 1934, under sponsorship of the Ridge Art Association. She has exhibited in the Palm Beach Art League since 1924, and in West Palm Beach, Lake Worth, Boca Raton and Jacksonville.

In the beginning of her pioneer art work, during the early Twenties, Miss Knapp formed a small "sketch group." She realized that more and more accomplished artists were coming from all over the United States to settle in the Palm Beach area. She knew, also, that many retired men and women were taking up painting as a hobby. Members of that group often took their brushes, paints and lunches to scenic places around the town to spend the day, painting. She and other members criticized one another's work and offered suggestions. Then, in 1923, they and other local artists became the Lake Worth unit of the Palm Beach Art League. The Lake Worth Art League, which is now the cultural heart of the town, grew from this unit in 1932.

More than a group of painters, the League has within its organization dramatists, photographers, sculptors and craftsmen. A non-profit organization with headquarters in the Strait Museum, members hold art exhibitions, produce plays, show colored slides and carry on many, many other cultural activities. They may take group field trips, often by plane, to Nassau, the Everglades, or Sarasota.

The Florida water-colorist, who was so eager to weld all local and visiting artists into one big family, still is the spirit behind the sketch outings. Armed with working paraphernalia, she goes along on all the trips made to "paintable" spots. When she sets out on a sketching trip, Miss Knapp takes along a big carry-all filled with equipment, including crayons, a pocketknife, brushes, water colors, matches, water bottle, art paper, canvas, umbrella, easel and folding chair. "Florida has an abundance of beautiful scenes for artists to paint," she says. "There is a vast range of colors to be found in the sunsets, the ships and the flowers and bushes."

An enthusiastic worker in everything she takes up, Miss Knapp contends, "It is the sharing of hobbies with others that adds to one's pleasures and helps one stay young." And, the sparkling, youthful personality of this ageless artist seems to bear out the truth of her statement.

OUR COVER

"Little Red Riding Hood loved to visit her grandmother's cottage, because to get there she had to go through the forest..." And the world of make-believe continues on through generation after generation of American children.

Fairy tales were handed down through the centuries long before the era of printed books. It is reasonable to believe that stories of a fantasy land were created from the desire of parents to shield their tender offspring from the harsher realities of life. Surely they stemmed from an inner desire on the part of early man to live in a world of goodness and happiness. Today, man still strives to create a heaven on earth for himself and his offspring.

A Doctor Shows How To
bathe away rheumatic-like pains in your own bathtub

by Anne-Marie Farrow

A LEADING New York Physician has developed a way to turn an ordinary tub of hot water into a Mineral Bath.

Imagine what this means to those who suffer the nagging pains and aches that are so often associated with Arthritis and Rheumatism!

Many who have tried this doctor's discovery give glowing reports of how they now "wash away" much of the pain of knotted muscles and aching joints right in their own bathtubs—similar to bathing at one of the world's famous Mineral Springs. In fact, millions of people who have been travelling to distant Health Spas for pain relief—on the advice of their physicians—may soon be saved this bother and expense. Thanks to this new triumph in medical chemistry, they may find that they can enjoy the often remarkable benefits of true mineral bathing in the snug comfort of their own homes.

Here's how it all came about

A curious doctor was puzzled by the fact that Medical Science had never been able to tell why certain Natural Springs so often gave quick alleviation of physical suffering. He decided to analyze the waters of these Springs and find out what Nature put in them to make them different. He found that they were rich in certain carbonates, sulphates, iodides and chlorides of Lithium, Potassium, Magnesium, Iron and other medicinal minerals. Could it be, he asked himself, that the secret lies in these minerals? In order to find the answer, he had a chemist compound them into a water-soluble concentrate which patients suffering from various aches and pains could use in their baths.

I was one of many who tried it. For months I had been annoyed by nagging muscular aches and a twinging pain in my elbow. Even though skeptical, I was eager to test this doctor's new relief. I would have tried anything that offered any hope at all of easing my discomfort.

I'll always remember that first "You simply add a handful or more to a tub of moderately hot water, then let yourself soak in it for about 20 minutes. Mind you, this won't cure Arthritis or Rheumatism—because there is no cure yet known—but it may give you welcome temporary relief from pain."

I'll always remember that first BATHERAPY bath! I had hardly let myself sink into the tub when something wonderful began to happen. A deep, penetrating warmth seemed to course through my body. It was as though the mineral bath heat were actually massaging away my aches and pains. In a few minutes an indescribable feeling of relaxation crept over me. I felt as though my whole body were being caressed by the soaking sunshine of Spring. It was an experience I'll never forget—and one that I often repeat!

To share my good fortune, I sent a package of BATHERAPY to a friend. He wrote me:

"I simply get in my tub and let a BATHERAPY bath soak my aches and pains away! It's like taking a Mineral Bath at one of those European Spas you read about—but I bet even they can't match the blessed, long-lasting relief my own tub now gives me."

Available to Hospitals—and the Public

As this is being written, BATHERAPY is being made available to hospitals everywhere—and to the public through this exclusive announcement. Already thousands are enjoying its benefits. Yet BATHERAPY does not help everyone. Unfortunately, there are some people who are constitutionally unable to respond even to Nature's own Mineral Baths. If you, however, are among the millions who suffer from painful aches in joints and muscles—or from the tensions and fatigues of modern living—ask your doctor about BATHERAPY. If he thinks it might help you, by all means try it. The chances are you'll find its soothing, cushioning, pain-softening action will give you a surprising freedom from minor discomforts and a feeling of well-being that may last for quite a little time. If, after Batherapy pain persists, see your doctor.

Sleep like a baby—without pills!

Even if you are fortunately free of any bodily discomforts, you'll find a bath with BATHERAPY is a delightful and rewarding experience. A wonderful sensation of physical freedom envelops you. Tensions unwind. Nerves are soothed. And you relax so blissfully, you sleep as though you hadn't a care in the world. What will Science think of next?

Blessed relief* from pains like those of Arthritis and Rheumatism
now in your own bathtub!

Now, without pills or medicines, you may give yourself quick temporary relief from many aches and pains—and from nervous tension and fatigue.

BATHERAPY

The Mineral-Therma Bath

HOW LONG will it be until the next time you suffer nagging pains of aching joints, tired over-worked muscles, or nerves stretched to the breaking point?

When such distress occurs, and your whole body cries out for relief, wouldn't it be wonderful if you could suddenly find yourself at one of the world's great Health Spas... where so many wealthy people bathe away their aches and pains in the soaking warmth of Mineral Baths?

To bring you this relief, without the cost, a famous doctor has created BATHERAPY—a concentrate of medicinal minerals that can turn a tubful of ordinary hot water into your own private Spa. Why don't you try it?

You'll feel wonderfully better—OR NO COST!

Get a jar of BATHERAPY today—and tonight drop a handful or more into your tub. Then, for the next 20 minutes, enjoy the wonderful warm waves of relief as BATHERAPY's mineral-therma heat soothes your aching body.

Feel your tautness relax, your muscles loosen, and a delicious sleepy mood envelop you. Never before have you experienced a bath like this!... If you don't find that it brings you deeper relief—and a greater sense of well-being than you have been able to get in any other way—then it will cost you nothing. Beauty: A Mental Attitude

By LYDIA LANE

Wendy Hiller has been so busy starring in stage hits written by her playwright husband, Ronald Gow, that it was difficult to lure this English actress to Hollywood. But MGM succeeded, by offering her a stunning role that she couldn't refuse.

"You haven't found me at a very glamorous time," Wendy Hiller told me when I visited her on the set. "I am about to be sliced up with that ponga," she said, pointing to the knife brandished by a black native standing nearby. "In this picture, 'Something of Value,' I'm nearly killed in a Mau Mau raid."

"What are your first impressions of us?" I asked as we walked to the commissary for lunch. Wendy reminded me that she had spent a year on the New York stage when she was starring in the stage play, "The Heiress," so she really isn't a newcomer to the United States.

"The American women are so well-dressed. I think they are a delight," she exclaimed.

"Making yourself attractive is a way of pleasing others," I agreed. I've wondered why the English girls do so little to enhance their beauty.

"The well-bred English girls are brought up not to consider—or over consider—their appearance. They are taught that what one is is more important than how she looks. We are a people who do not welcome change. You Americans feel that change is progress, but I rather doubt that."

"If I had worried about whether or not I was beautiful," Wendy confessed, "I would never have become an actress. Unless beauty is accompanied by intelligence, what a disaster it can be!"

"Every year, for so long I have made a resolution that I am going to be a well-dressed woman, but there are so many other things to divert me. I am not the type to be very fashionable," Wendy admitted.

"But I think beauty is an attitude of mind. I once worked with a famous English actress who is rather plain off stage, but when she is before an audience, she takes on an aura of beauty that is dominating. And this has nothing to do with what she has put on her face or what she is wearing."

Wendy scanned the menu enthusiastically. "You Americans are so adventuresome with food. Turkey salad," she read aloud, "how tempting—I've never had that. You make salads of everything."

"You are not counting calories?" I asked.

"I have been trying to gain," Wendy exclaimed. "It is easier for me to take off weight than to put it on. We have more solid foods in England, and we eat more often, but for some reason I am gaining here. I think it's your climate. All this sunshine—we have so little of it in London. I can't get over people pulling their blinds to shut it out."

"Do you find this climate agrees with your skin?" I asked.

"Not at all. The moment I got on an air-conditioned plane to come to America, my skin became dry. Where are your book shops?" Wendy asked suddenly. "I'm told you have some, but I don't see any of them. At home, you wouldn't have to look for a place to buy books."

"We have them. You can't tell them from other stores, too much. There are book departments in most of the larger department stores. I think Americans are more occupied with sports, and being out of doors, than with reading." I asked Wendy her favorite form of exercise.

"Gardening," she said quickly. "I enjoy anything that grows, and that's why I don't like to live in the city. I love to garden—it's very relaxing."

I asked Wendy about her children. "They are teenagers," she said, "a boy and a girl. I have noticed how much more quickly the girls here come out of the childhood and become women, than do English girls."

"We do live our lives more hurriedly," I agreed.

"My father told me something a long time ago that made a great impression," Wendy recalled. "He said, 'Don't do something because you want to outshine others, but because it is right for you.' I have never forgotten this."

The Farmer's Friend

Florida's 125 county agents work long hours to give our rural citizens the best farming know-how in the world!

By FRED MILLER

PROMPTLY at 6 a. m., County Agent Jim Watson got out of bed in his Jacksonville home. After a quick breakfast, he drove 15 miles west of town to the dairymen's section near Baldwin and stopped at Owen's Dairy to take some soil test samples. Then, he drove on to inspect the results of a fertilization program that he had recommended for another dairyman's pasture.

Heading back to town, he stopped at a third dairy farm to analyze recent soil tests and recommend a pasture fertilization program. After another stop at a turkey farm, Jim made four "home calls" to help housewives solve problems concerning their lawns and shrubs, before eating a hasty lunch in the city.

At his office in the Federal Building, Jim held a conference with his three assistant county agents to outline 4-H Club activities. Later, he checked over supplies for the new 4-H Auditorium and met with officials of the Jacksonville Fair. And all the while, he received dozens of telephone calls.

By 7 p. m., Jim was back in his Irvington Avenue home enjoying supper. Since he was not scheduled for a meeting with one of his many associations and committees that evening, he settled down to spend a few hours with his family.

The tremendous progress of Florida agriculture in the last half-century is due in a large part to many such typical days put in by Florida's 125 Agricultural Extension Service agents and their predecessors. Contrary to public opinion, their work is not in research or experimentation, but in education—that is, taking the latest agricultural information to the public.

The origin of the job may be traced to 1903, when the boll weevil was scourging the cotton economy of the South. As Dixie tottered on the brink of ruin, a man named Seaman Knapp began holding demonstrations to show small groups of Texas farmers how to combat the pest. Noting that Texans were winning their fight with the weevil, the U. S. Department of Agriculture sent men to other areas of the South to hold similar demonstrations. The success of the work culminated in passage of the Smith-Lever Act in 1914, establishing the Extension Service as part of the Department of Agriculture. In 1909, six years after the initial demonstration work in Texas, Florida got its first two agents.

Since the Extension Service is a division of the University of Florida, directed by M. O. Watkins, all county agents have faculty status. They receive their appointments from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, through the Extension Service and the commissioners of the county in which they serve. Their salaries are paid from a fund supplied by federal, state and county governments.

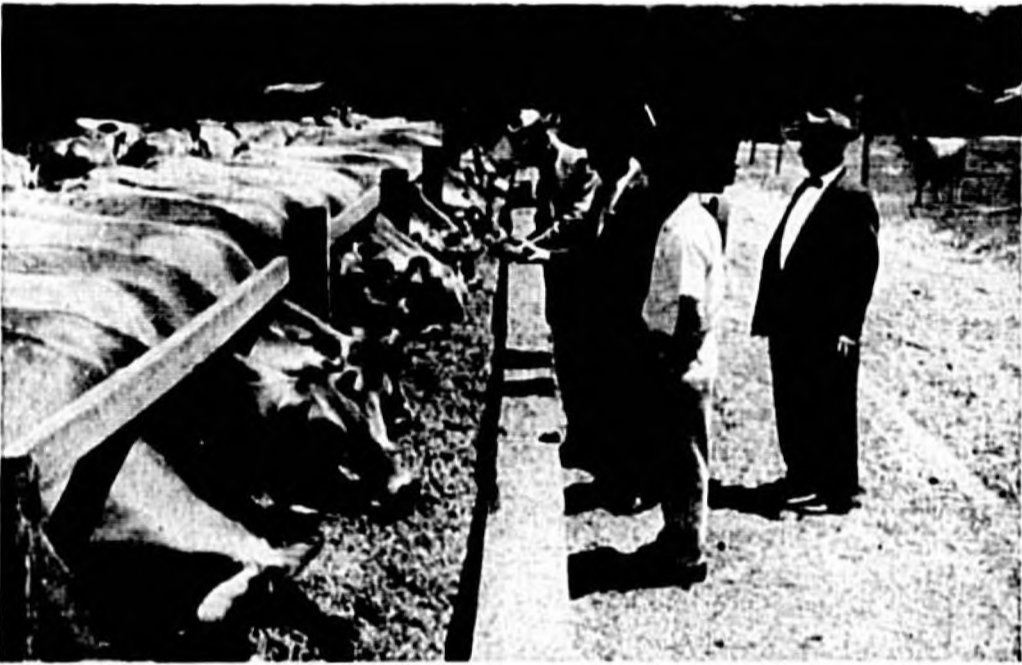

Looking behind almost every important development in Florida agriculture, one finds an outstanding contribution by some county agent. Charles Stefani, who recently retired as Dade County agent, demonstrated the need for manganese in growing vegetable crops in the alkaline soils of South Florida during the 30s, and made possible the tremendous development of truck farming in that area. Carl P. Heuck of Fort Myers guided development of Lee County's three million dollars a year gladiolus industry. The list goes on and on, but one of the most celebrated agents is Ed Finlayson, who one day noted a hardy grass growing near the docks in Pensacola. Thinking that it might make excellent pasture, Mr. Finlayson, now head of the Florida Farm Bureau, gathered a few handfuls of seed, planted them and carefully nurtured succeeding crops until he had enough seed to plant a small field. From this beginning came Pensacola Bahai grass, one of the greatest boons to Florida cattlemen.

Good natured, hard-working Jim Watson of Duval County is a typical representative of Florida's county agents. The son of one of the first county agents in the country, Jim majored in animal husbandry and horticulture in college and began his career as a $175 per month agent in Santa Rosa County in 1946. Now in Duval County, one of the largest offices in the state, Jim must not only maintain himself as a competent educator but he must also be a polished speaker, a capable organizer and an able administrator.

"It's a busy job," smiles Jim, "and I'll never get rich—but I love it. And, I feel that my work is important, because these days the farmer needs all the help he can get."

DUVAL COUNTY AGENT JIM WATSON, right, talks over unique problems encountered by Chinese farmers who specialize in crops grown for the distinctive foods served in Chinese restaurants.

In days long past, Spanish soldiers, fortune hunters and churchmen tramped through North Florida on their way from St. Augustine to San Diego, Calif. With a little imagination, one can still hear the tread of their plodding boots along a trail which is now more or less followed by U. S. Route 90.

Florida's part in the romance of the past fascinates many people, and we have planned a one-day auto trip around the scenic and historic areas of the western part of the state. Pensacola—the city of five flags—is the starting point for this 200-mile tour. A good place to start, is at the municipal pier on the south end of Pensacola's main street. Ships of many nations call at this port. It has the deepest natural harbor on the Gulf of Mexico, which is probably the reason why the Spanish founded a settlement there in 1698. Boats of the snapper fleet, which operates in the Gulf, tie up at this harbor. Bronze markers nearby tell the history of the city over which have waved Spanish, French, English, Confederate and United States flags.

From Pensacola, the tour follows U. S. 90 eastward over a path that alternately climbs and descends a series of bluffs overlooking Escambia Bay and then heads inland to Milton and Crestview. Milton is the county seat of Santa Rosa County. It was so named when a yellow fever epidemic broke out at Floridatown, the original county seat, in the 19th century. Founded in 1825 as a trading post, Milton is now chiefly a farming center. Crestview, in neighboring Okaloosa County is known for its giant blueberry bushes which grow to a height of 12 feet. If you visit that town during the harvest season, you will see pickers using stepladders to gather the berries.

De Funiak Springs is the point on the Old Spanish Trail where we chose to change to U. S. 331. This quiet town is built around a large spring which forms a circular lake. The historic Chautauqua building is located on the west bank of the lake, along with a municipal park and recreation center. The first monument erected in the South to Confederate soldiers in 1871, still stands in front of the Walton County Courthouse.

U. S. 331 crosses the eastern end of Choctawhatchee Bay before coming to the junction with U. S. 98—the scenic Gulf highway. One can view the Gulf from the highway for many miles when driving westward. At Destin, which has one of the finest beaches in West Florida, the highway crosses the East Pass of Choctawhatchee Bay. A few miles westward, it enters booming Fort Walton Beach, one of the fastest developing resort cities in the state.

One of the leading public attractions there is the Gulfarium, an aquarium filled with many varieties of marine life, including sea turtles, sharks and hundreds of large and small fish. The jumping porpoise act is a popular feature. Twelve miles north is Eglin Field, and all through the area, one can see signs of the Air Force installation.

Traveling west from Fort Walton Beach, the road parallels Santa Rosa Sound as it heads toward Pensacola. As it nears the city, the highway meets a road leading to Pensacola Beach and Fort Pickens State Park, both on Santa Rosa Island.

If you live in the West Florida Panhandle, or plan to visit in that area soon, try our circle automobile tour. It can be completed within a single day, or made part of a longer auto trip throughout North-Central Florida. Let your imagination run rampant, and you may even see the ghost of one of the ancient Spaniards who once walked along the Old Spanish Trail.

PART II

REMEMBERING the four days that it took Henry H. Buckman and me to move the huge magnetic separators by mule team from Pablo to our small mineral separation plant, and with financing assured by the Titanium Alloy Company, we started building our own railroad. We bought secondhand rails and cross-ties and began laying the track over palmetto roots, hollows and other hindrances, since speed was important. It was to connect our plant with the Florida East Coast Railway at Pablo.

A little Italian wanted to be given the job of builder, and he said to me earnestly, "Boss, I laya da track and maka da train go wish,"—here, he rubbed his hands together—"wish, justa laka dat, sixty mile an hour." We hired him, but though we entrusted him with all the work of which he was capable, the job of supervising had to remain with us. Buck and I worked 18 to 20 hours a day with day and night crews to meet our deadline.

Then, the dummy engine that we had ordered, arrived. We had expected it to come traveling under its own steam, or at least in tow, but—it arrived on two flatcars in a jumble of pieces! If we had thought that we had worked hard before, we were to find out differently. We hauled the giant parts one by one from the flatcars and began the arduous task of trying to put them together.

Encouraged by the advice of many interested onlookers who stood around and watched, we lifted the dummy engine up on the track. When we had finished putting parts together, we had a couple of wheelbarrow loads of pieces left over for which we never found a use. But, Buck was gleeful over having assembled the engine's whistle which could be sounded when the train approached the town or the plant on its runs. We always had a paternal affection for that dummy engine—as we felt directly responsible for its successes and failures.

Work Vital in World War

The minerals that our plant was turning out became more important when the United States entered World War I. Mr. Buckman and I were ordered by the government to remain at home. Our workers were also exempt from military service.

Our little dummy engine hauled ore cars to the beach, where workers loaded sand in them. At the plant, the sand was poured over a huge screen to remove shells and weeds, then into a giant hopper. From there, the sand was fed to the concentrating tables, which removed the minerals. These tables were jiggled as water was sprayed over them, an operation resembling the mining of gold in the West. The concentrates were carried by a belt conveyor to a series of electromagnets. Our minerals—particularly ilmenite—subject to electromagnetic influence, were pulled off by the huge magnets. The remaining particles were sent over an enormous electrostatic machine—at that time the second largest in the world.

Our plant manager, Walter Phillips, took great delight in showing our rarely admitted visitors the power of the electromagnet. He would throw a handful of large iron nails into the air, where

LAYING OF SECONDHAND RAILS and cross-ties began. Sands were carried to the plant, shown in background of this 1919 photo.

Magic Minerals of Florida

GEORGE A. PRITCHARD
(As told to Nelle W. Pritchard)

After Buckman and Pritchard, Inc., began taking minerals from beach sands and finding new uses for them, other men joined the hunt for these gifts of nature.

they would hover for an instant before being drawn to the magnet.

During those early days of operation, we hired Negro workmen who were good-natured and loyal although, for the most part, untrained and uneducated. We had an old ex-slave, called Uncle Dave Moore, of whom we were very fond, working for us. One day at the plant gateway, I was nailing up a sign which proclaimed: "No admittance, keep out." Uncle Dave came over and stood beside me, and said, "Misto Pritchard, dat am a fine sign. Yessuh, dat am a fine sign."

"You like it, Uncle Dave?" I said.
"Yessuh, Ah sho does. But, Misto Pritchard, Ah'd like t'ax yo' a question."

"All right, what is it?" I replied.
Then he said, "Dat sho am a fine sign—but what do it say?"

Began Research Work

As Buck and I progressed in the art of separating minerals, we found that there were 14 different kinds in our sands. Of these only three—ilmenite, rutile and monazite—had any commercial use. When we had worked out the best separation procedure at the Buckman and Pritchard plant, I was given the assignment of doing research work to find commercial uses for the other minerals, which meant that my wife and I were to go to New York City to live.

Our days there were very happy ones for me, as the laboratories of the National Lead, Boston Tech, Gantner Crucible Company and others were open to me. Many interesting and exciting experiences took place during those action-packed years.

One morning when I arrived at the Titanium Alloy Company offices, the men told me excitedly that the brother of Charles Schwab was waiting to see me. I did not believe them and asked, "What, and not the Prince of Wales, too?" Mr. Schwab was interested in some of the results of my research work, and I went to his plant in Bethlehem, Pa., to conduct additional experiments.

In the fall of 1920, the National Lead Company engaged two booths at the Chemical Industries Show in New York's Grand Central Palace, in which to display some of my experimental work. Attracting great attention were the 100 per cent crucibles, which would withstand any amount of heat. During this time, Buck developed new methods of making titanium pigment, and took out several patents. In collaboration with him, I also took out a number of patents on new and revolutionary processes for making pure white titanium oxide.

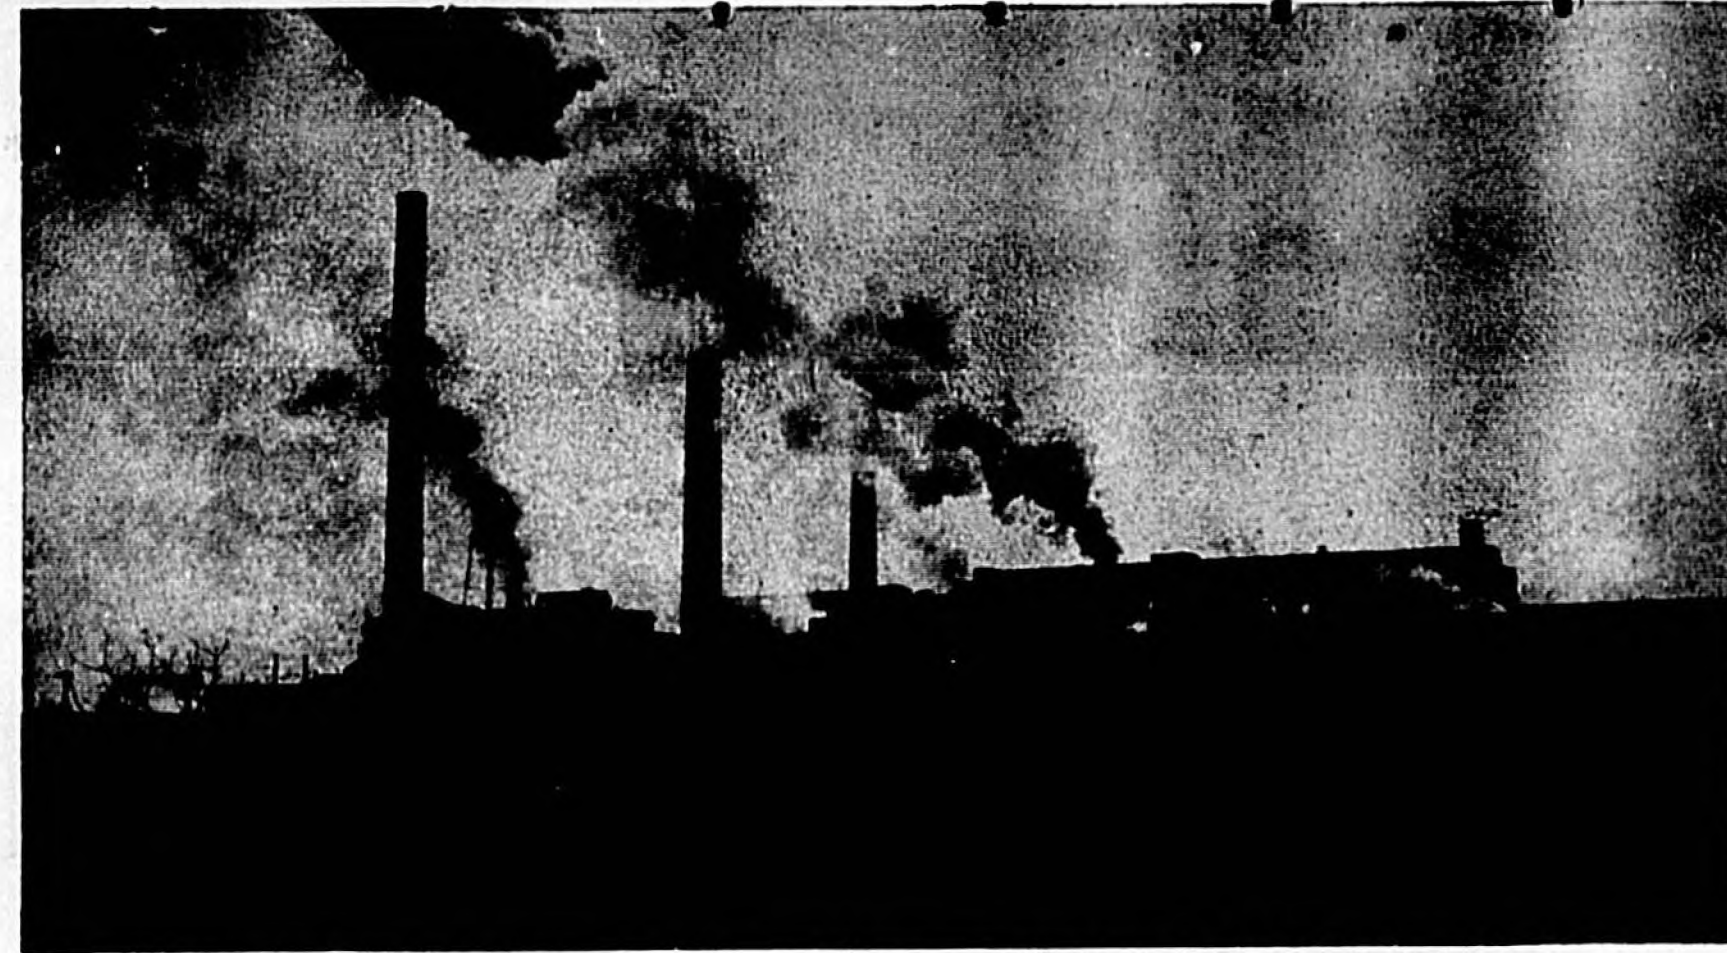

The 'Bomb Plot'

I did a lot of experimental work with titanium tetrachloride which formed a gas, the base for carrying poisonous gases. One evening, I carried home with me a small bottle of liquid titanium tetrachloride. For safe-keeping, I set it on the ledge of the kitchen window of our seventh floor apartment. While we were at breakfast the next morning, a sudden breeze blew the bottle out of the window. My wife and I rushed to the

Conservation efforts will keep Florida's $300,000,000 forest industry pumping a plasma of wages and profits into the state's economic bloodstream for years to come

THE new look in Florida's woodlands is already paying terrific dividends—and the end is not in sight. This is the new concept of tree farming—that is, growing, managing and harvesting trees as a crop. Florida is entering its 11th year in the American Tree Farm System sponsored by the nation's wood-using industries to assure a perpetual timber supply.

The forest industries are not new. For more than 100 years, woodlands have been supporting two of the state's major industries: lumbering and naval stores. Recently, shortages in the pulp and paper industry focused the nation's attention on the importance of growing timber crops. The conservation program has snowballed, but the big story is in the re-vitalizing cash being continuously pumped into the state's economic bloodstream.

Every person in Florida is affected—directly or indirectly—by this growing prosperity. More than 31,000 persons are employed by the wood industry, which means that more than one out of every four industrial employees in Florida looks to the woodlands for a living. The $125,000,000 paid out by these firms, composing wages, salaries and profits, means a livelihood for many more thousands in business and professional fields.

Florida forest industries produce goods valued at about $300,000,000 a year! Pulpwood and sawtimber are the state's major forest products, accounting for some 83 per cent of the total volume consumed. Next come veneer bolts and logs which go into furniture, plywood and baskets or boxes, for the state's important citrus and agricultural produce businesses. The remaining forest products go into utility poles, pilings, fence posts and other products. Florida produces about 14 per cent of the nation's supply of naval stores—tar, turpentine, pitch and other materials.

Pine—the chief source of pulpwood—covers more than two-thirds of the 21,519,000 acres of Florida's commercial forest land. Hardwoods grow on 5,237,000. Palms and other types of trees cover about 209,000 acres. Over half of America's cypress comes from 1,282,000 acres of Florida land. Enough lumber was cut from cypress, alone, in 1925—the peak production year—to build homes for an entire city of 100,000 people.

About $105,000,000 worth of lumber of all types is produced each year in some 1,600 sawmills. Something new in this phase of the forest industry is the using of former waste materials. Some mills now de-bark the logs before sawing them, and make chips from the slabs and edgings which are sold to pulp mills. About a half-cord of chips can be salvaged from each 1,000 board feet of lumber. Florida's 200 furniture manufacturing plants are playing their part in translating timber into income, with their payrolls of about $15,000,000 a year. Florida's furniture output is valued at $28,000,000 annually!

Florida is among the leading states in providing for future forest needs. To date, well over a half million acres have been planted in seedlings. In 1935, 96,000,000 young trees were planted. Industrial and government agencies are conducting extensive research projects aimed at learning to grow more timber. Experiments are under way to develop trees that will produce better timber in a shorter time.

The greatest bleniah on the forestry picture is fire. Last year, forest fires ravaged more than 3,724,000 acres, or about one-sixth of the state's entire forest area. The tragedy of this is that more than 90 per cent of these fires were man-caused, and therefore, preventable. The "Keep Florida Green" program, started in 1936 by the Florida Forestry Association, is making progress in getting over the point that burning woods mean burning dollars!

USING THIS MECHANICAL TREE PLANTER, two men can set out 10,000 pine seedlings in a week day.

LONG STAMENED, regular petaled blossoms, royal purple in color, are beautiful against the broad, velvety almost heart-shaped foliage of Glory Bush Tibouchina.

The Tibouchina Suggests Royalty

By LILLIE MAY MARSHALL

WHY not add a note of royalty to your garden—or a regal-looking pot plant? The tibouchina, or Glory Bush from Brazil, will do just that. A rapid, rampant soft shrub, its five-petaled rich purple blossoms growing from three to five inches in diameter, are produced abundantly from May until late fall. Long, curling stamens of the same beautiful color protrude from the center of the blossom, adding to its appearance of fragility. Although each bloom lasts but a single day, for every one which sheds its petals upon the ground, several others appear to replace it the following morning, so that there is never a lack of royal purple during the long blooming season.

Velvety buds growing in clusters of from two to five, show forth a light reddish-purple tint as if to give a warning, when they are about to open and then, through the first break in the outer covering, the royal colored stamens protrude looking like long curly strands of Spanish moss, except for the color.

Even without its abundance of blossoms, the plant is a thing of beauty. It may attain a height of 10 to 15 feet within five years. The foliage, velvety in appearance and touch, is a rich green, showing instead of a midrib, five deeply cut longitudinal veins. Leaves, almost heart-shaped, grow in pairs. Just before new leaves appear, the old foliage sometimes takes on a bronze tone, often spotted with black. But this only intensifies the interest of the plant, and gives an autumnal touch to the garden in mid-summer.

The plant needs at least 50 per cent sunshine for a profusion of blossoms and compact form. It will endure some frost, but is best placed in a somewhat protected spot, because it doesn't withstand strong winds too well. A slightly acid soil is best.

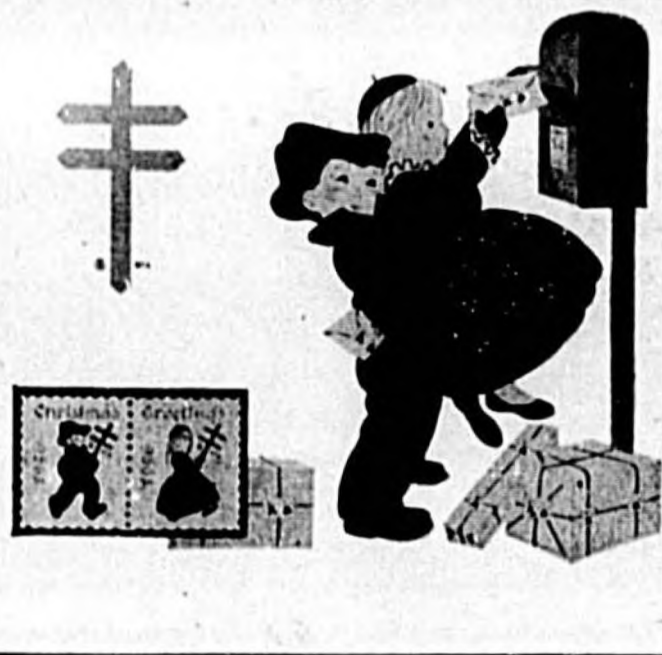

New growth should be pinched back during the summer, or after the first crop of blooms, and fairly heavy pruning in spring is advised.

The tibouchina is best propagated by six-inch cuttings taken during the period from June through August. By the following spring, it will have made a plant about a foot tall, ready to bloom.

Tibouchina makes an attractive tub plant, also, but in that type of growth, special attention must be given to keeping the soil sufficiently moist, and to two or three feedings with a good commercial fertilizer during the season of blooming. Among its other favorable attributes, the shrub is practically pest-resistant.

Not to be confused with the Glory Bush, is the "Princess Tree"—Tibouchina granulosa—a magnificent sight with flowering habits somewhat different. The leaves, longer, more slender and a deeper shade of green, are of a different texture—more crisp, and without the velvety appearance and feel of the shrub—but they have the same type of five longitudinal veins. The clematis-like flowers grow in large clusters and cover the tree with masses of blooms several times a year. Reports from Brazil say the tree grows there to a height of 40 feet or taller.

Giraffe Teaches Neatness

BY STEVE ELLINGSON

BABIES will never go out of fashion—God bless 'em! And anything we can do for their comfort and happiness, we should do. Incidentally, when we benefit baby, we lessen Mamma's work, too.

The giraffe clothes tree pictured here with NBC's television actress, Claudia Barrett, and her nephew Ronald is a simple invention to keep any child from scattering his clothes all over the room.

Before Ronald received the giraffe, he took great delight in scattering his clothes around, but when clean-up time came, that wasn't play anymore.

Now Ronnie is learning that there is a place for everything, and that everything should be in its place. In later years, when there is more work to do, he will have become accustomed to doing his share. By learning neatness as a new kind of play, now, he will enjoy it.

You can build your child a giraffe clothes tree, too. Any amateur carpenter can build one, when he, or she, uses our full size pattern.

All you need do is trace the parts on wood, then saw them out and put them together. Painting is easy too. You simply trace the pattern on the wood and then paint over the tracings.

The pattern lists the required materials and gives easy-to-read, step-by-step directions which anyone can understand. To obtain the full size giraffe clothes tree pattern No. 113, send 50 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, The All Florida Magazine, Van Nuys, Calif.

Backbone with Dumplings...yum!

By LILLIE MAY MARSHALL

Backbone is one of the sweetest parts of the pig. Serve it with dumplings and bubbling gravy.

BACKBONE WITH DUMPLINGS!—that's the thought cool, snappy weather brings to many with whom this traditional dish is a favorite, for the markets will once again have this among other once-a-year succulent parts of fresh pork.

Wash and cut the backbone into serving pieces and place in covered vessel with water to slightly more than cover, and boil for about 2 hours. Mid-way the process, season to taste with salt, black pepper and a bit of red pepper. Make dumplings this way: sift 2 cups of flour with 2 teaspoons of baking powder and a teaspoon of salt. Cut in ¼ cup of shortening and mix with enough sweet milk to make soft dough. Let stand a while, then roll very thin and cut into squares. Drop dumplings onto simmering broth, on top of meat, about 12 minutes before taking from fire. Do not stir. Allow broth to boil over each layer before adding another. Cover and simmer without lifting cover. Serve the meat covered with dumplings and gravy, while hot.

While discussing seasonal fresh pork delicacies, we must include for both those acquainted with it and for those who are not, CRACKLING BREAD. Cracklings, those brown, crisp pork rinds prepared especially for enriching and giving a wonderfully good taste to cornbread, may be bought at supermarkets at this time of year. To make them more tender, soak the cracklings in hot water for a while before using, then drain. Sift together 3 cups of cornmeal—we like it waterground—1 teaspoon of salt and an equal amount of soda. Work in ¼ cup of shortening, mix with this a pint of cracklings and add sufficient buttermilk to make a stiff batter. Mold into pones with hands and bake on a lightly greased pan, or spread in a square blacuit pan, bake and cut into squares.

This is a real, old-fashioned method of making crackling bread, but if you prefer to use a prepared cornbread mix, soak the cracklings in a small amount of hot water, drain and add to the mix, prepared according to package directions. Bake in either pones or a flat pan, and cut into squares. Crackling bread is a real treat eaten with vegetables, or with just a glass of cold milk.

Be sure to vary your winter menus by using these traditional delicacies which are available only during the cold weather, hog-killing time.

a Gift for her...for him...for the whole family...

THAT IS NEW, DIFFERENT, WILL LAST
FOR YEARS, WILL BE USED EVERY DAY
AND WILL HELP PROMOTE BETTER HEALTH

THE Niagara THERMO-CYCLOPAD

The distinctive, pleasant, soothing Niagara cyclo-massage action is transmitted by both soft and hard tissues to all parts of the body.

HEAT AND MASSAGE SET

NEW FAMILY GIFT IDEA . . . GRATIFYING RELIEF FROM TENSION, FATIGUE AND PAIN OF ARTHRITIS, BURSTITIS, AND RHEUMATISM

Heat and massage have, for ages, been considered among the most effective means of dealing with physical ailments. Of momentous importance to many of us is the news that, after years of experiment, a pad has been perfected that produces both a diffused, relaxing type of heat and a soothing massage action! This amazing mechanism is called the "Thermo-Cyclopad." The soft, comfortable pad contains a Cyclo-Massage motor and a special heating element. The motor develops an amazingly restful and soothing massage action which is non-electrical while the heating element produces pleasant warmth. The unique combination of heat and massage drives deep down through tissue and bone to help bring relief to muscle and joint, increase circulation, and ease nervous tension and fatigue.

ARTHRITIS, BURSTITIS, RHEUMATISM

Much of the pain of aching joints and sore muscles — arthritis, burstitis, rheumatism, fibrositis — is from unknown causes. However, the value of heat and massage as effective pain-relieving agents is well established!

The compact, easy-to-use Thermo-Cy-clopad permits the immediate application of both heat and massage to aid in the relief of pain of sore joints and muscles. The unique design of the unit permits its use on hand, elbow, shoulder, knee — any part of the body.

EASES TENSION, FATIGUE, ENCOURAGES SLEEP

Medical authorities claim that nervous tension is connected with the occurrence and progress of a number of serious physical ills. One famous physician states that nerves and tension are among the largest causes of illness in America today. Warm baths or heat and massage have been used throughout the centuries to induce relaxation. Now, with the advent of the Thermo-Cyclopad, you can avail yourself of these benefits in an easy-to-use, convenient form — right in your own home.

Regular use of the unique Thermo-Cyclopad will help you enjoy pleasant, relaxed living, and enable you to better avoid many of the illnesses associated with nervous tension and fatigue.

DEEP-PENETRATING CYCLOID ACTION

Niagara Cyclo-Massage, as incorporated into the Thermo-Cyclopad, can possibly be best described as being a fine physical action that gently kneads the soft tissues of the body. In addition, however, the action has unusual deep-penetrating, and highly beneficial, characteristics. Objective studies by competent research investigators have proved that this important new discovery has qualities that are blood stimulatory, muscle relaxant, analgesic, and sedative, in many cases.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH

Tests conducted by a prominent physician in one of the nation's leading colleges have proved that the action of the Niagara Thermo-Cyclopad in no way resembles that of a vibrator. Rather, it is a smooth and pleasant cycloid action which is widely conducted through the body. This action produces profound beneficial physiologic effects on the body far beyond those attained by ordinary massage or the common types of vibratory mechanisms.

Millions use Niagara Cyclo-Massage regularly. Their relief from many types of pain, their new-found freedom from undue nervous tension and fatigue, and their brighter look and over-all sense of well-being are ample evidence that Niagara can be truly beneficial to you, too.

U. N. Police Force To Enter Egypt

1st Group To Arrive This Week

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced today agreement had been reached with Egypt for the entry of the U. N. police force immediately. He said the first group would arrive there early this week.

Hammarskjold said he himself would leave by plane for Cairo tomorrow to be on hand for detailed discussions with the Egyptian government. He said he expected to reach the Egyptian capital Thursday and return to New York by Sunday.

He gave the following statement to a special news conference: "Agreement on the arrival in Egypt of the United Nations force has been reached between the secretary-general and the Egyptian government. The first groups of the United Nations force will go to Egypt early this week."

"It is the intention of the secretary-general to visit Cairo at the very first stage of the operation for discussions of details with the Egyptian government. He will also inspect the staging area for the United Nations force in Italy."

The first units of the U. N. force already are at a staging area at Capofichino Airport, near Naples, Italy. Some of the troops may leave for Egypt as early as tomorrow, Hammarskjold said.

The secretary general said he wanted to visit the staging area as well as Egypt. The commander of the U. N. force, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, will meet him in Italy for consultations and then Burns will fly to New York for talks here.

Hammarskjold said the purpose of his own visit to the Egyptian staging area was "to see that no unnecessary losses are left. He said he had no intention to confer with military leaders of the invading British, French and Israeli forces."

"That is staff work," he said. The secretary general also expressed a willingness to go to Hungary after his Cairo visit, if it appeared such a trip would be useful. He announced he was establishing two groups to deal with the Hungarian problem: One to investigate the Soviet interference in Hungarian affairs and the other to observe the situation on the scene.

The first group will be headed by Dr. Alberto Lleras of Colombia, former secretary general of the Organization of American States. The observation group will be headed by Chief Justice Oscar Gunderson of Norway.

Hammarskjold, asked about the possibility of a personal visit by him, said he might go if the observations have definite conclusions on the need for consultations.

"It may be done outside of Hungary," he said, "maybe inside Hungary."

Developments on Hungarian and Middle East problems dominated the opening of the regular full session of the U. N. General Assembly scheduled for 3 p. m. EST this afternoon.

Ladies Brave Cold To Attend Woman's Club Luncheon

By MARIAN JONES
OVIEDO—The cold wintry winds that had descended overnight almost made us back track on going to the luncheon and Woman's Club meeting on Friday. We decided that instead of being depressed over the situation, the air should be invigorating.

At 11:30 we took our luncheon time, hurriedly found a dress suitable for the occasion, dug into the wardrobe for the necessary coat and were ready when our good friend, Grace Hardy, drove up to pick us up.

The cold had driven Mrs. Staley, our treasurer, indoors to collect the luncheon fees this time. We noted that others had brought forth the coats, suits, toppers or fall dresses as they looked in in groups, some to shake hands with our hostess, Mrs. H. P. Wheeler, who greeted all cordially.

A careful survey took the lovely fall flowers and leaves displayed at points of interest throughout the room, the Thanksgiving theme displayed in the napkins placed at individual places.

On the mantle was placed the latest miniature church and parson figurines, depicting the Armistice Day theme. Everyone was admiring the ingenuity of the decorators.

Mrs. Don Urey, our president, was already seated at the officers' table and was smiling at everyone underneath that becoming gold hat she wore.

Mrs. W. R. Moss and Mrs. R. C. Miller gave the invocation, after which Mrs. Wheeler and her assistants, namely, Mrs. T. W. Lawton, Mrs. B. P. Wheeler Sr., Mrs. George Jacobson Jr., Mrs. W. A. Teague, Mrs. George Carlton served the delicious luncheon.

Dr. Edward W. Stoner our speaker for the day, was called away shortly after his arrival, therefore the program was given first hoping for his return. He did return but had to cut his interesting (Continued on Page Four)

Escaped Convict Turns Up In County Jail

Sometimes one arrest leads to another as did one such routine arrest brought to the Seminole County Jail on Nov. 3.

And the chain of events come by careful listening and a nose for observation as Mrs. Mattie Lou Evans can attest.

Mrs. Evans is the Seminole County Jailor and day radio operator, on duty during the daytime hours.

Records show that Ted Lee Howard, who gave his age as 24, was arrested by Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack and charged with reckless driving and no driver's license. This happened on Nov. 3.

On Nov. 7, Ted Lee Howard appeared before Judge Ernest Housholder to plead guilty to charges against him and was sentenced to 45 days in the Seminole County Jail on each charge.

The 1955 Mercury Howard was driving was placed outside of the County Jail for safekeeping and until the prisoner completed his time.

But events didn't turn out as they were originally planned. Mrs. Evans heard a report on the short wave radio concerning a stolen automobile. And this is the way things happened:

The 1955 Mercury was the stolen automobile, stolen from Route 1, Melbourne.

And the man, a Negro, turned out not to be Ted Lee Howard but Adell Wright, an escaped convict who, according to Warden R. W. Beach of the State Road Department prison near Cocoa, had committed his security escape. Wright, according to the Warden has a number of aliases starting from his first arrest and conviction reported to be from around Sarasota for robbery, and also has 36 more years to go on his (Continued on Page Four)

ColC Membership To Get Underway Tomorrow Morning

The Seminole Chamber of Commerce membership drive gets off to a fast start tomorrow morning at 8:30 when team captains and their helpers gather at Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant for coffee and doughnuts.

Membership Committee Chairman Don Bales said "This is going to be a one-week drive with special emphasis placed on getting as many members as possible signed up within the week ending Friday at noon."

The campaign goal is $11,000 and 250 members in order to spur on the top items on the chamber's agenda of projects for the coming year.

Team captains talked over their problems at last week's meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Building when Chairman Bales explained in detail the plans for the hard-hitting membership drive.

Mrs. Harold Appleby, Col. S. G. Harriman, Commissioner A. L. Wilson, Jim Hunt, Art Pleva, and Jim Grant will head the teams as captains. Goal for each Captain and his team is to visit and solicit approximately 24 prospective members.

"Never before in the history of Seminole County has a Chamber of Commerce membership campaign been so important," Don Bales told his team captains. "The growth of Seminole County coupled with the projects that are ahead of us," he said, "makes this year's goals imperative."

The membership campaign comes to a close Friday noon with a luncheon meeting at Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant.

Incentive awards to winning teams will be tickets to the Mayfair Inn Annual banquet and dance celebrating the opening of the New York Giants plush tourist hotel.

"We have a group of outstanding captains this year," said Bales "and we expect them to make history insofar as memberships are concerned."

However, Constable Kelsey said that on investigation, two of the jugs thrown from the speeding car were unbroken. Williams was apprehended just as he reached the Oviedo city limits.

The Negro has been charged with possession and transportation of untagged whiskey.
