Formal Resolution Approved

Seminole County Commissioners Want Zoo To Stay

Seminole County commissioners have gone on record supporting the Central Florida Zoo at its present location on U.S. Highway 17-92 near Sanford.

Commissioners passed a resolution supporting the zoo and opposing any plans to relocate the facility to Orlando.

But the resolution, sponsored by Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather, falls short of offering county funds to support the 21-acre zoo.

Zoo officials have hired a consultant to perform a study to examine a possible move to Turkey Lake Park in Orlando.

The 175-acre park has been considered as a possible home for the zoo because the land surrounding the zoo at its present location is wetlands and makes expansion difficult, zoo officials said, adding that the swampy terrain also is detrimental to the health of many of the animals on display.

Feather said the resolution could be taken to mean that commissioners support moving the zoo to another location within Seminole County rather than allowing it to move to Orange County.

"If the reason they are moving is because they can't expand, I would support another site in the county," Feather said.

Feather said he also wouldn't object to a referendum to determine if county voters are willing to provide tax money to support the zoo via a special tax levy.

But he said allocating money from county funds is out of the question.

"I don't think ad valorem taxpayers should support the zoo."

Feather said the county is doing its part for the facility by leasing the property to the zoo board for $1 a year and by maintaining park facilities.

Feather said he introduced the resolution because "I've always loved the zoo. I was impressed with it when I first saw it at the site where Sanford-City Hall now is.

"It's an asset to Sanford and to Seminole County and I don't want to see it moved," he said. — MICHEAL BEHA

Councilman Resigns; 3 After Mayor's Job

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A complete shake-up in the Lake Mary city government may be in the offing and the city's voters may be selecting four councilmen as well as a mayor in the Dec. 7 city election.

A three-way race is developing for the mayor's office involving two councilmen and a third councilman is resigning.

Councilman Dick Fess, 37, of 142 W. Wagon Wheel Way, has picked up his qualifying papers to run for mayor. Fess will complete his first two-year term on the Council this year.

Councilman Vic Olvera, 48, of 188 Washington Ave., said today he is 90 percent sure he also will run for mayor. Olvera is completing the first year of his second term in office. If he decides to run for mayor, he will have to resign his council seat.

Mayor Walter Sorenson, 40, an eight-year veteran of the mayor's office also has picked up his qualifying papers to run for re-election.

And Councilman Gene McDonald, 49, of 105 Highland Court, said today he is resigning, effective Oct. 15, and will move to Huntsville, Ala., to establish a business there. McDonald is completing the first year of his second term in office.

McDonald said he is resigning now so his successor can be elected by the people in the December election.

"I'm keeping my home here and like the late Gen. Douglas McArthur 'I shall return,'" McDonald said.

Meanwhile, Councilman Ken King has picked up qualifying papers to seek a second term on the Council.

When Olvera resigns to run and with McDonald's resignation, two new councilmen will be elected in December to the one year remaining in the terms of McDonald and Olvera.

In addition, if Fess runs for mayor his council seat will be open for a new person in December and King by picking up his qualifying papers will run for re-election.

This will mean at least three new councilmen, the majority of the board, will be elected.

The only city councilman not involved is Ray Fox, who will become the senior member of the council with three years experience.

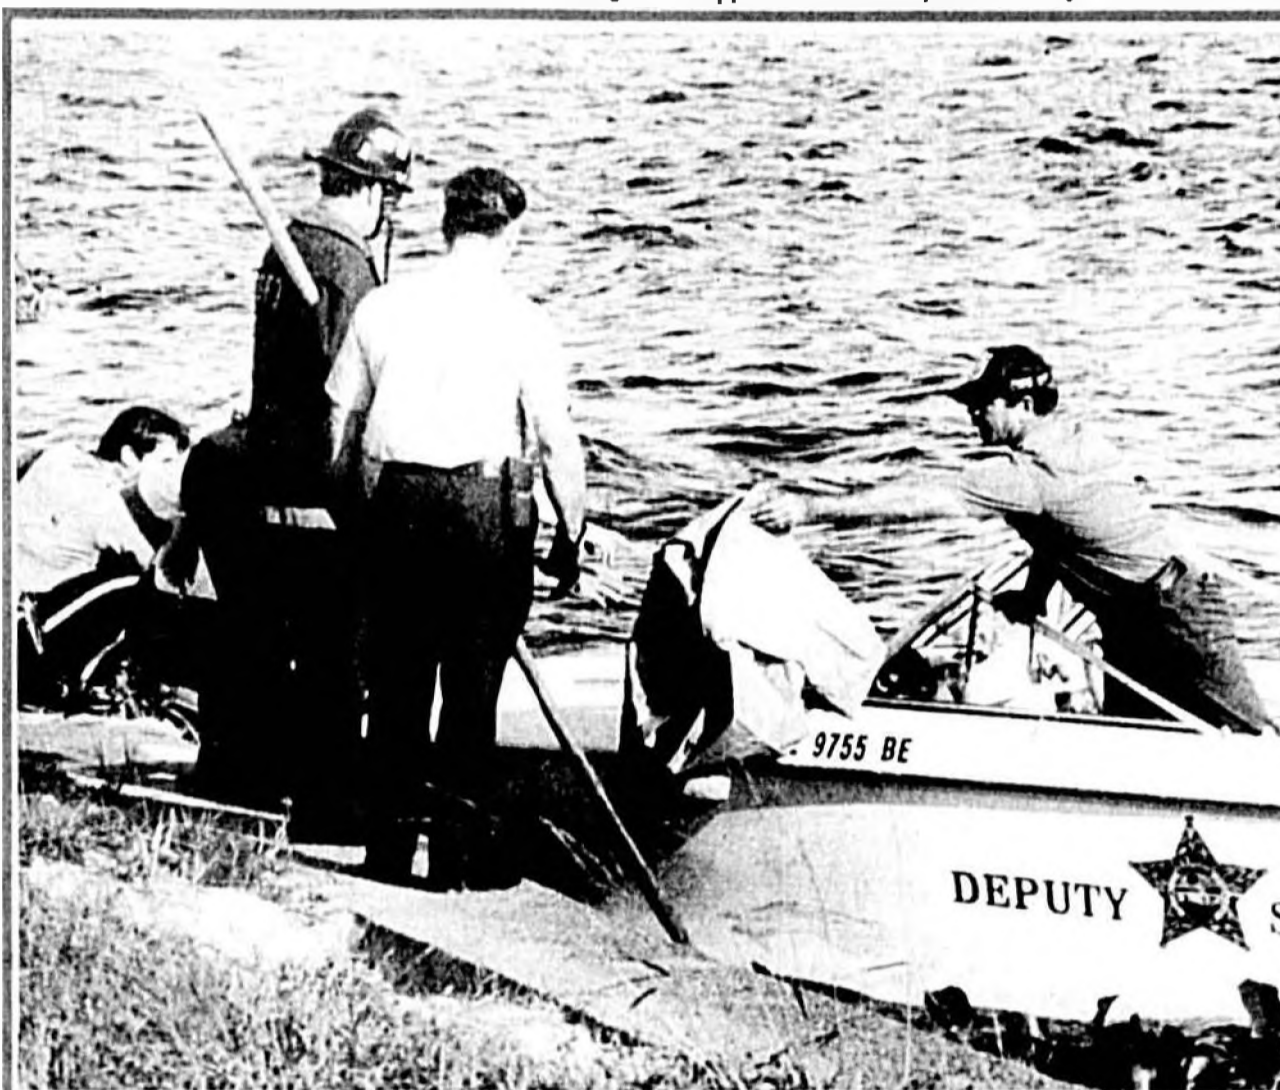

Olvera said today he met with Sorenson a couple months ago to tell him he was considering opposing him in the December election.

"At that point I went out and solicited some of the more powerful groups in the city — the movers — and the response I received was positive," Olvera said.

"In the past two weeks, many business people have told me they hoped I'd run for mayor," he said. "I'm leaning toward running. I'm 90 percent sure I will run. I'll be spending the next four or five days touching base with people who said they would support me."

Olvera won election unopposed for his first term in 1979 and won re-election a year ago by a landslide. He is a supervisor of molding for Win-Tel Service Corp. of Longwood in Longwood.

Sorenson, a realtor-associate with C. Wesley Ward Commercial Real Estate in downtown Orlando, has won four consecutive terms in office.

Volusia and Seminole sheriff's deputies work with Sanford firefighters to retrieve the body of an Orlando man from Lake Monroe who drowned Tuesday after falling overboard while fishing.

Body Of Orlando Man Recovered From Lake

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A 70-year-old Orlando man's body was recovered from Lake Monroe near Sanford today after he "had a run of good luck while fishing but his luck ran out," Volusia County sheriff's deputies said.

After an extensive search of the lake by Volusia and Seminole sheriff's deputies, deputies discovered the body of Walter Arnett Boston floating in the water near the sea wall north of Central Florida Regional Hospital, in Sanford.

Deputies had been dragging the lake bottom since Tuesday when two Sanford fishermen told them they heard a splash in the water near Stone Island, turned and saw an empty boat.

Carl Prescott, 62, and Donald Kruse, 52, both of Sanford, told deputies they attempted to find whoever it was that apparently fell overboard but were unsuccessful.

Seminole County deputies began investigating the incident before determining that the apparent drowning occurred within Volusia County's jurisdiction.

"We found the body at about 9:30 a.m. today," said Volusia sheriff's Lt. Edward Carroll. "The body has been taken to Daytona Beach where an autopsy will be performed."

According to investigators, Boston had five fish on eight of the lines he had in the water. While attempting to get one fish off of a fishing line that had gotten caught on the anchor line, Boston fell overboard and drowned, deputies said.

Deputies said their investigation is continuing but that they expect to complete it once the autopsy reports are released.

Geneva Folks Win Breather

By MICHEAL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

A last-ditch effort by a handful of Geneva residents' to stop a 500,000-volt electric transmission line from being located in their community has succeeded.

Gov. Bob Graham and the state Cabinet voted 3-2 Wednesday afternoon to order Florida Power & Light Co. to come up with a plan for the power line that bypasses the Seminole County community.

About 150 residents went to the hearing in Tallahassee and in five hours of testimony told Cabinet members their lives were threatened by a decision that placed the community in a one-mile corridor that will contain the transmission line.

The cabinet members apparently agreed, voting to certify the 175-mile line, which will carry power from Georgia to South Florida, from Duval County only to the Seminole-Volusia County line. About 35 miles of the corridor are affected by the decision.

A re-examination of the proposed route through Seminole and Orange counties was ordered and the utility was given 90 days to come up with a route that will go on the west side of Geneva.

Sid Kraftsow, leader of People Against Power Intrusion, the group which spearheaded the drive to move the route, said today he is pleased with the Cabinet decision.

"I feel gratified," he said. "But this isn't a victory. We look at this as an opportunity to find a route that doesn't hurt people or the ecology."

"We feel that the governor and Cabinet were compassionate to the needs of the people and responded to them," he said

Man Tells Police Ant-Misbehaving

By TENI YARBOROUGH

Law enforcement officers hear a lot of explanations for why people do certain things, some of which are so outrageous they just might be true and still others that leave some doubt in the officer's mind.

Months ago, police arrested a man who was accused of exposing himself to a woman in a local department store parking lot. When police approached the man, who was sitting in his car attempting to zip his pants, they asked him why he exposed himself to the woman.

He told them he has a heart condition and sometimes he has

Golden Age Games Entries Double TODAY

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Golden Age Games Executive Committee members have spread the word as they traveled this summer, including Chairman Jim Jernigan who announced Wednesday that entries for the annual senior citizen event are twice as many as this time last year.

Entries are pouring in for golf, bridge and swimming and 14 persons have signed up for the Nov. 11 talent contest, according to Virginia Longwell, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce executive assistant.

The committee met at the chamber office Wednesday as they began the countdown for the eighth annual Games, scheduled for Nov. 8-13, in Sanford. Weekly meetings will be held until then to tie up any loose ends. The games are open for men and women 55 years or older and include everything from decathlon to dominoes. New this year will be competitive diving, a 2-mile walk race, a 6-mile leisure walk and photography.

The diving and swimming events will be held at the Sharidan Swim Club in Longwood and will be sponsored by the American Red Cross Central Florida Chapter.

The race walk will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9, on the Seminole High School track and the leisure walk, open to men and women, will begin at the civic center and go through the streets of Sanford.

Tickets are now available for the popular Jubilee Dinner-Dance to be held at the civic center Wednesday, Nov. 10, sponsored by the Over 50 Club. Tickets may be obtained at the chamber office or at the Wednesday afternoon dances for senior citizens at the Sanford Civic Center. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the dancing at 7:30. Tickets are limited and must be purchased in advance. They are $6.50 apiece.

An orientation meeting for officials in the bicycle race will be held at 3:30 p.m. on Oct. 14 and 28 in the city recreation department conference room.

Still to be named are a celebrity host, the torch bearers who will light the Olympic flame at the opening ceremonies and the grand marshals of the "Falling Arches Stampede" parade.

Participants will receive a cap (the women's will have a pom pom on top, and lapel pins. There will be gold, silver and bronze medals for winners in the various events, which are sponsored by local organizations. The executive committee members will receive navy blue jackets and gold pull-over sportshirts.

The Games are co-sponsored by General Foods' Post Cereals, the chamber and the city of Sanford. Post will serve a complimentary breakfast in the civic center at 7 a.m. each day during the Games free to all participants. McDonald's will provide coffee and orange juice for the Golden Age Games headquarters in the large meeting room at the chamber office, located at First Street and Sanford Avenue.

This year, the hobby show and photography contest will be held in Sanford City Hall. A change in location for men's billiards was announced because of the popularity of the event. It will be held at Woogie's Pub, which has six tables. The women's billiards will remain at the Civic Center Youth Wing.

Models

Models — airplanes, cars, ships — come in all sizes and price ranges. And even though they've changed some since the 1950s and '60s when Corvettes and T-Birds were the rage, model building is still a popular hobby. ## Schoettelkotte Is Army Secretary Aide

J. Wallace Schoettelkotte, co-owner of Sanford's two Holiday Inns, has been selected to be civilian aide to the secretary of the Army for Florida.

As an aide, Schoettelkotte will interpret information about the Army's missions and objectives to the people of Florida and provide the civilians point of view to Secretary John O. Marsh, Jr., and other senior Army officials. He also will advise commanders of the Army National Guard, the Army Reserve and the ROTC within the state. Civilian aides serve a two-year term without pay, the Army explained. Aides represent each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Schoettelkotte, who has served in the U.S. Naval Air Reserve, is a graduate of Memphis State University.

A resident of Winter Park, he is chairman of the Seminole County Tourist Development Council and Secretary of the Seminole County Port Authority. Civilian aides were initiated after World War I by a group of citizens concerned with national defense. The Military Training Camps Association (MTC) promoted military training for civilians who could be called to active duty immediately in the event of war.

During World War II civilian aides were called upon to perform important and often confidential missions for the then secretary of war. Today the aides are selected by and respond to the secretary of the Army.

Officials Study Philly Angle In Tylenol Probe

CHICAGO (UPI)—The head of the 130-member force investigating cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules says it is too early to link a cyanide death in Philadelphia six months ago with the fatal poisonings of seven Chicago area residents.

State Attorney General Tyrone Fahmer said Wednesday his team had further trimmed its list of suspects but refused to specify how many.

The poisonings case took a mysterious twist when Philadelphia police said the death of William Pascual, 26, a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania, originally was ruled a suicide but now was considered "Tylenol-cyanide related." Pascual's case was reopened when cyanide was discovered in an Extra-Strength Tylenol bottle found in his home.

Reagan To Critic: 'Shut Up!'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Reagan heads West today for a five-day swing that includes two campaign stops in Nevada and a border meeting with Mexico's president-elect.

Reagan was fired up after a pep rally for Republican congressional candidates at the White House Wednesday where he told a GOP critic to "shut up," blamed the Democrats for the recession and confidently talked about next month's elections.

In a flash of anger, Reagan snapped at California congressional candidate Gary Arnold, who accused him of deserting the Republican right wing.

"I don't know what you've been reading, but you don't know what you're talking about," Reagan told Arnold.

As Arnold persisted in his criticism, the exasperated president snapped, "Shut up!"

Jobs A Major Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Industry and labor economists expect the nation's jobless rate to break the 10 percent level Friday, placing even greater focus on unemployment in the November congressional elections.

Although President Reagan acknowledges the rate may climb into double figures for the first time since the Great Depression, he says—at most—he should have to shoulder only part of the responsibility.

For the past two months, the nation's jobless rate has been at a post-World War II high of 9.8 percent.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Unusually strong storms blitzed the Pacific Northwest with frigid gale-force winds, heavy rain and snow. Hunters in the Cascade Mountains of Oregon and Washington were warned to brace for wintry conditions today and 5 inches of snow buried North Dakota. A blustery Pacific storm prompted gale warnings along the coast for winds to 40 mph and a travelers advisory covered the northern Cascades for up to 4 inches of snow. Temperatures dipped into the 20s in the Dakotas early today. Flash-flood warnings covered Dallas and Ellis counties in Texas after thunderstorms dumped 4 1/2 inches of rain on Mansfield in two hours. Some flooding was reported at Memphis, Tenn., where 1 1/2 inches of rain fell in an hour and a half. Up to 3 inches of rain caused local flooding over parts of central Illinois. The National Weather Service said the early fall storms were highly unusual. "The fall season is usually a time of settled weather across the United States, a time when major storm activity reaches its annual minimum," a weather service forecaster said. The Rockies and Plains felt the sting of autumn cold but the Great Lakes basked in summer-like temperatures. Dense fog and low clouds blinded parts of the East from the Appalachians and Ohio Valley to New England. Highs hit the 90s as far north as Indiana Wednesday and Huntsville, Ala., tied the record for the date with an 88-degree reading.

The Florida Power & Light proposal for its 500,000-volt power transmission line through Geneva and the Lake Harney bypass, proposed by disgruntled Geneva residents, are shown in this map. The state Cabinet rejected both plans Wednesday in favor of a proposal to locate the corridor on the west side of Geneva.

...Proposed FP&L Power Line To Undergo More Study

Kraftsow praised the efforts of the people who traveled to Tallahassee to participate in the hearing.

County attorney Nikki Clayton promised the county would bring to bear all of its expertise, people and resources in the matter, Kraftsow said.

"That had a lot to do with the agreement," he said.

A public hearing will be held to determine the location of the corridor, like the one held in Daytona that resulted in Geneva's placement in the corridor.

"If we cannot find a route that is satisfactory to a hearing officer, they'll just go back to what they have now," Kraftsow warned.

The order to put the corridor west of Geneva came as a surprise since other alternatives for changing it called for moving the route east into Brevard or Volusia counties.

Routes along Interstate 96 in Brevard County, east of Lake Harney in Volusia County and 15 miles east of Geneva through environmentally sensitive land in Brevard County were rejected by the Cabinet.

"FP&L looked at two candidates west of Geneva but they wanted the high ground. That doesn't mean there isn't a good route out there. They just took the easiest and best route for them," Kraftsow said.

At the Wednesday Cabinet meeting, FP&L attorney Carlos Alvarez argued the firm had taken every precaution to assure the safety of people living near the corridor.

He said no health hazards are involved in the location. Alvarez also argued against burying the line in the Geneva area. He said burying the line would add about $15 million to the project which has been estimated to cost about $450 million.

Alvarez said FP&L should not have to delay construction of the line since it will lose $500,000 for every day the line is not operating after Jan. 1, 1983.

After the decision, which was supported by Graham, Secretary of State George Firestone and Comptroller Gerald Lewis, Alvarez and FP&L project manager Jane Small pledged their cooperation in finding an alternate route.

Group Formed To Coordinate Road Development, Find Funding

A countywide transportation authority to coordinate highway development in Seminole County has been approved by county commissioners.

The transportation authority, whose first priority will be to secure funds for construction projects on state Road 436 and Lake Mary Boulevard, will have representatives of municipalities, the county and the private sector and will attempt to give a uniform approach to transportation development.

Commissioners accepted reports Tuesday from citizen advisory boards which recommended the expansion of Lake Mary Boulevard to six lanes and construction of an elevated expressway at SR436 by the year 2000.

But the reports left unanswered questions about funding the projects. They suggested the creation of a transportation authority to explore state, federal and county funding sources to find $300 million for the projects.

The SR 436 project, entails construction of an elevated four-lane expressway above the six-lane highway which will serve as local access. By then, 82,000 cars a day will use the highway compared to 42,000 using it now, according to projections by Devere Foxworth, consultant on the project.

"When I heard 82,000 cars a day, I had to stop and ask 'are you kidding?'" Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather said. He said the magnitude of the growth means the county must begin work now.

Planning Director Woody Price said Altamonte Springs would be the county's first metropolitan downtown area. The expressway between 17-88 and Wymore Boulevard will be necessary to get commuters to their jobs in Orlando and other parts of Seminole County, he said.

But even that won't meet all the needs, the report said.

The report said other transportation sources, such as car pools, buses or a rail system will be needed as a connection with downtown Orlando.

Price even suggested a light rail monorail system now being considered to connect downtown Orlando, Disney World and Orlando International Airport could be expanded to reach Altamonte Springs.

But those are decisions that would be made by a transportation authority, the report said.

The Lake Mary Boulevard expansion also would benefit from the authority, the report said, since the road, which will connect Sanford Avenue, U.S. 17-82 and Interstate 4, is a county road.

Sanford Avenue is seen as a possible third north-south corridor with a bridge over Lake Jessup connecting Winter Springs and Sanford.

Commissioner Robert Sturm said the Lake Mary report will save the county 10 years of planning and avoid another bottleneck like the one on SR 436.

Lake Mary To Consider Revising Its Charter

The Lake Mary City Council tonight will consider three ordinances amending the city's nine-year-old charter. The council will meet in City Hall, 186 N. Country Club Road. The amendments after given final council approval, will be subject to the voters for ratification in the Dec. 7 election.

The charter amendments include: — A change in the method of electing four of the five council members. The council and the mayor are now elected by all the voters at large. The change calls for four of the five councilmen to live within geographic districts and to be elected only by the voters living within those districts.

The fifth councilman and the mayor would continue to be elected at-large.

— The second ordinance would change the terms of office for mayor and council from two to four years.

— And the third ordinance contains several lesser changes. Among them would be changing the title of the City Council to City Commission, holding city elections in December rather than September; and eliminating runoff elections by calling for candidates to win by plurality rather than by a majority of the vote.

The changes would require four votes of the council to override a mayoral veto and require three council votes to dismiss city administrative employees.

Murderer Ted Bundy May Get A New Trial

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court is considering whether Theodore Bundy, the condemned murderer of two Florida State University sorority sisters almost five years ago, should be granted a new trial.

Bundy's attorney, Robert A. Harper Jr. of Tallahassee, made his oral arguments to the six-member court Wednesday, centering his challenge on the hypnosis of a key state witness, bite mark evidence and the effectiveness of Bundy's previous attorneys.

The court will announce its decision at an unspecified later date.

Public Servants Well Paid

ORLANDO (UPI) — While top city executives in Orlando earn higher salaries than all of their counterparts except those in Miami, inflation still outpaces salary raises for the city's top brass, according to a Florida League of Cities report.

The report shows that department heads, and the city's rank-and-file employees, have 6 percent to 9 percent less buying power than four years ago.

The survey of six cities of comparable size, — Tallahassee, Tampa, Gainesville, St. Petersburg, Jacksonville and Miami — was requested by Orlando Chief Administrative Officer Rex Hester and Mayor Bill Frederick to back their request for a combination of salary and bonus increases of 5 percent to 14 percent for the city's eight department heads.

Lebanese Army Finally In Control Of Beirut

United Press International

Lebanese troops, in full control of Beirut for the first time in eight years, for the third consecutive day searched for weapons caches and illegal aliens today, establishing their authority over the once-divided capital.

While the Lebanese army took charge in Beirut, Israel held to its battle lines with Syria in eastern Lebanon saying an early pullout was unlikely.

Midget Sub Hunts Intruder

MUSKO, Sweden (UPI) — The Swedish navy moved in fresh commandos and a special midget sub to aid in the hunt for a suspected Soviet submarine trapped today for the seventh day near the top-secret Musko naval base.

The sub had been expected to surface Wednesday to replenish its air supply after five days under the surface. Officials said it could have received fresh air through a snorkel but said that was unlikely.

Since the craft failed to surface voluntarily, more depth charges were detonated. Dead fish surfaced, but no sub.

On Fridays and Saturdays, the library will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The library will be closed on Sundays.

School Official Stabbed With Ice Pick

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The assistant principal at Longwood's Lyman High School was treated at the naval hospital in Winter Park and released after he was stabbed in the chest with an ice pick during a family argument at his home Wednesday.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said Walter L. Lee, 52, of 2319 Castlewood Road, Maitland, was taken to the hospital by his wife after he was stabbed about 7 p.m. in the upper left chest area.

Lee told deputies he has not decided whether to press criminal charges. No arrests had been made this morning.

TEACHER RAPED

A 25-year-old Orlando school teacher reported being picked up by two men in Orlando, driven to a wooded area near Forest City and raped.

The woman told Seminole County deputies that the two men gave her a ride from Orange Center Boulevard at Texas Avenue, in Orlando, at about 10:30 p.m. Sunday and that they took her to a wooded area off Hillview Drive and assaulted her.

Deputies said the men also reportedly stole $20 from their victim.

3 RESTAURANTS ROBBED

Three south Seminole County restaurants were robbed by gunmen in separate incidents during the weekend.

A gunman stole about $800 cash Saturday after he slipped into the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant drive-in window, U.S. Highway 17-92 north of State Road 436, Casselberry, at about 9 p.m., ordered two employees into the restroom and forced the manager to open the safe and cash register. Deputies said the robber took about $788 from the store and about $12 from the manager's wallet.

In addition, two McDonald's hamburger restaurants, one in Altamonte Springs and one in Longwood, were robbed while workers were closing the businesses Sunday.

Police said a man entered the Altamonte Springs restaurant, 224 W. State Road 436, at about 3 a.m. through a back door. Armed with a handgun, the man demanded money from the manager and ordered the employees into a cooler, before escaping with an undisclosed amount of money, police said.

Meanwhile, two men, one of whom was armed, entered the McDonald's restaurant at State Road 434 in Longwood at about 11 p.m. Police said the unarmed man came in through the west side door and walked back out. Moments later, the armed robber entered through west door, aimed the gun at the cashier and demanded the money be placed in a McDonald's bag, police said.

The gunman then ordered six employees into a freezer and fled, police said. However, the gunman returned a few moments later and ordered the restaurant manager to give him the store keys before leaving in a car driven by his partner, police said.

The store manager managed to free the employees from the freezer within 15 minutes and police are continuing their investigation of the incident.

Man Guilty Of Rape, Faces Life In Prison

A 23-year-old Orlando man is facing life in prison following his conviction for the May sexual battery of a 33-year-old Altamonte Springs woman.

After about an hour of deliberation Tuesday, the four-woman, two-man Seminole Circuit Court jury found Michael Richard Jensen guilty of sexual battery with a deadly weapon and armed trespass. Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi has ordered a presentence investigation in the case and no sentencing date has been set.

Jensen was arrested in May after two women identified him as the man who broke into their Altamonte Springs apartments on separate occasions, held a knife to their throats, raped and robbed them, police said.

"At the time of Jensen's arrest on these charges, he had already been convicted of four prior felony charges and was on probation for two of them," said prosecutor Donald Marblestone. "He had been convicted of resisting arrest with violence, two drug possession charges and battery on a police officer."

Jensen had requested a delay of his trial, allowing him time to dismiss the public defender who was representing him and hire Orlando lawyer Edward Kirkland. However, because Kirkland asked that the trial be postponed in order for him to prepare the case, Salfi denied Jensen's request. Marblestone said the case had been postponed at least twice before.

Last week, Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. granted an identical request by Jensen one day before he was to hear the case of one of the 24-year-old Altamonte Springs women who has identified Jensen as the man who raped and robbed her.

Jensen is expected to be tried on the second case during the first week of November.

- BEER, WATCH, SURFBOARD STOLEN
Thieves broke into a Longwood woman's home between 4:20 p.m. Sept. 20 and 1:15 p.m. Wednesday and stole 16 cans of beer, a watch and a surfboard with a total value of $145.
- Patricia E. Faley, 59, of 1627 Orlando Ave., told deputies she did not report the theft when she discovered the beer missing because she thought that was all that was stolen. However, she later learned that the thieves, who entered her home through a garage door, also stole her son's watch and surfboard, deputies said.
- WOMEN SEXUALLY ASSAULTED
Two Fern Park women told deputies they were sexually assaulted Wednesday by a man who helped them carry packages to their apartment then attacked them at knifepoint. The women, ages 19 and 21 who live together at Regency Apartments, 551 E. State Road 436 told deputies that they saw a man crouched between cars in the parking lot of their apartment complex at about 3:33 p.m. Wednesday. The man told the women he was looking for his cat, deputies said.

However, the man then told the women that his cat could find his own way home and offered to help them carry packages to their apartment, deputies said. When the trio arrived at the door, the man forced his way in, and ordered the women at knifepoint to commit sexual acts on him and then raped one of the women, deputies said.

The women told deputies that the man stole $200 cash from their apartment before fleeing.

- SANFORD FIRE CALLS
The following fire calls were reported by the Sanford Fire Department Wednesday:
- 12:06 a.m. Seminole County Jail, woman ill.
  - 10:37 a.m., 313½ Palmetto Ave., man down.
  - 2:38 p.m., Higgins Terrace Apt. 38, man down.
  - 2:48 p.m., 2701 D Orlando Drive, man down.
  - 5:41 p.m., Sixth St. and Park Ave., gas leak, sealed by Florida Gas Corporation.
  - 5:51 p.m., 2930 S. Orlando Drive, car fire, extinguished, apparently caused by faulty carburetor, no injuries reported.
  - 7:46 p.m., 180 Pinecrest Drive, woman down.
  - 11:53 p.m., 22 Castle Brewer Court, woman down.

Psychologist Says Of Mass Murderer

'Stano Has Never Been Normal'

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Convicted murderer Gerald Eugene Stano has a psychological profile similar to that of mass murderers Charles Manson and Son of Sam and could have been recognized during his childhood as a potential murderer, a psychologist says in a report filed with the court.

Stano, 31, is serving three life terms for murder and has confessed on tape to killing 25 women in Florida.

Police Sgt. Paul Crow said he also has informal confessions from Stano in two killings in Orange County and 6-to-8 in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The psychologist, Dr. Ann McMillan, was appointed by the court to examine Stano after he was arrested in 1980, and Crow said she also worked with him, coaching him on questions to ask and mannerisms to watch for.

"In tracing Gerald Stano's case history from the prenatal stage to the present, it can be clearly demonstrated that Mr.

Stano has never been normal," Dr. McMillan said in the report to the court.

"In his progression from childhood to adolescence to adult abnormalities, it was logical to predict that 'murderer' would eventually be added to his labels," she said.

She said his profile is that of a person who commits "the senseless crimes, generally murder, and/or mutilation, ritualistic murders."

Stano originally confessed to killing 11 women but last August told Crow he wanted to confess additional killings.

Stano will only talk to Crow, and that is because the officer befriended him.

If the murders to which he has confessed and is implicated in are traced to him, Stano would become the most prolific mass murderer in United States history.

Crow said Stano has "fantastic recall," but won't reveal everything at one time and does not always tell the truth.

"In order to get things from him, you've got to give him stuff (information)," Crow said. "He wants to know how much you know about the case."

Although Stano has been quoted as saying he was making the confessions to clear his conscience, Crow said he shows no remorse and no emotion for people. But he said he shows strong emotions about his possessions, particularly the classic cars he drove in cruising around Florida picking up female hitchhikers, prostitutes and women stranded by car trouble.

"Stano kept those cars immaculate," Crow said, adding Stano once broke down and cried while describing one victim who bled on the car's upholstery.

"I hate to say he has a conscience, because he doesn't," Crow said. "Gerald is a different type of person — a sociopath that responds differently than others."

In Praise Of The Defenders

Award of additional prizes to the television series "Hill Street Blues" is a tribute to a grimly realistic portrayal of a segment of American life. The public interest in "Hill Street Blues" stems from the series' depiction of life under pressure.

Every era has its special pressures, but contemporary America seems especially pressure-packed. This is particularly true in large urban centers where law and order has broken down and life is hazardous. Crime is not a remote problem to millions of Americans; it is a daily occurrence.

Under these circumstances, many Americans can identify with the tensions that are reflected in the continuing story of "Hill Street Blues."

In big cities, the police are a thin blue line protecting society against the forces of anarchy and barbarism. This is not a role that the police had to assume forty years ago. It is too heavy a burden for police forces, as the story line in the series makes clear.

The individual policemen often seem shell-shocked from the pressures under which they work. They are called on to assume responsibilities that should be assumed by the home, school, church and community leaders. These institutions and individuals aren't working very effectively in metropolitan areas of the United States.

Every major city is trying to grapple with the types of problems described on "Hill Street Blues," but the efforts aren't very effective.

The breakdown of the family unit is a fact of life in great cities, and this breakdown leads to community collapse and disorder in many areas. It produces the dependent, welfare society and the fact of alienation and hostility among many young people.

The institution of the family must be strengthened if American society is to regain the strength it had in decades past. Unfortunately, it's a case of putting Humpty Dumpty together again. The social sanctions against divorce have disappeared from our society. Americans have been dangerously permissive in their attitudes and it is hard, if not impossible, to reinstate the values of yesteryear which produced a more stable, law-abiding society.

In the disordered conditions of today, however, many people live with considerable courage and resourcefulness. And the "Hill Street Blues" series underlines that fact. Many women, who have been deserted by their husbands, struggle to make ends meet and bring up their children in a decent way. Innumerable concerned citizens fight against drugs and other social evils.

The misunderstood, poorly-paid policemen put their lives on the line every day as they stand guard against street gangs and a huge variety of hoodlums.

Insult To Injury

"How am I doing?"

Well, Mayor Koch, not so well. The voters of New York state decided they didn't want Hizoner to carry their banner as Democratic candidate for governor. Can you blame them?

First, you pledged you would never seek any elected office higher than mayor of the Big Apple. By running for governor, you either broke your word or put down the governor's post.

Next, in an interview with Playboy magazine, you said you could never bear living in the sticks, that rural America was a "joke." You even made fun of people who bought gingham dresses.

And then you went out and asked those people to vote for you. Come on, mayor. Even a rube knows when he's being insulted.

In an age of bland politicians, you're probably the most entertaining mayor east of the Hudson River. But, when you venture out of the city, you would be wise to watch your tongue.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hey, teach! Haven't I seen you someplace before?"

When you've left a pot sitting on a burning stove and forgotten about it, there's one person who'll be alerted to it and arrive to douse the flames.

When little Johnny is a little late in coming home from school, there's one person who, along with neighbors, friends and police, will also be "out there" searching for him.

And, when that driver disobeys a traffic stop sign and plows into your car causing you to bump your head on the steering wheel, break an arm or worse, there's one person who'll arrive on the scene to lend a hand and give you the medical attention you need until you can be taken to a hospital.

That person,—the firefighter—whether he's in Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood, Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Winter Springs, Oviedo or employed by Seminole County is there to serve.

This is Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 3-9). Make the firefighter's job a little easier. Keep an eye on potential fire hazards in the home, know where your children are and keep an eye out for the "other guy" while driving.

If a person is convicted of trafficking in stolen property, that is, selling the stuff, he can get a prison sentence of up to 15 years. However, the Maitland police will be selling stolen items Saturday and, while they aren't above the law, the only thing they'll get for selling stolen property is money.

Maitland police will hold an auction at the police department beginning at 2 p.m. to get rid of a number of color televisions, stereos, paintings, tools, jewelry, gold and silver flatware and a truckload of other items which were stolen but never claimed once police recovered the property. Police said they will allow a public viewing of the items to be auctioned between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday at the police department.

Police have advertised extensively in hopes of finding the property owners and returning the stolen items to them, adding that about 60 to 70 percent of the items were returned to owners. The remaining property has been at the station or in a rented storage warehouse to the tune of $60 a month. Some of the property was recovered as far back as November, 1980.

However, police obtained a court order allowing them to dispose of the mounting piles of stolen goods and will auction it off Saturday. The money received from the auction will be applied to the warehouse rental costs and to buying additional investigative equipment for the department.

Propaganda Is Going On Tour

The disarm-the-U.S. movement, having enjoyed a moment in the sun with a mass rally in New York last June, has faded from the headlines. Furthermore, in view of the fact that the world has still not experienced a nuclear war, the nuclear pacifists don't seem to have much of a case.

Lately, the hardcore American Left has gone underground again, though not to fallout shelters. However, it will shortly resurface in Europe. The far-left monthly journal, The Progressive's October issue features an inside cover advertisement for a tour to West Germany and the Netherlands to "explore the European disarmament debate." The cost is $1,395 per person.

The tour, sponsored by the pro-communist magazine The Nation, will take participating leftists to West Berlin for a credibility-building briefing by NATO staffers on planned deployment of U.S. cruise missiles in Europe. Then the tour really gets underway: a stop in East Berlin for a lecture on the history of fascism, then to Dortmund to hear the "viewpoints" of industry and labor from both West German and Soviet officials. The last three days of the 11-day tour are scheduled for Bonn and Amsterdam, for skull sessions on "disarmament politics" with Europe's premier movement leftists, including the Communist Party of the Netherlands.

Ostensibly, the itinerary is balanced by inclusion of the NATO meeting and snatches of conversation with West German Christian Democrats. But the flavor of the whole enterprise is radical-left. The organizers of the tour attribute equally honorable motives to NATO officers and Soviet communists. They ignore the transparent truth that the whole Western European peace movement is infected with Soviet stooges.

Last November, the Washington Post reported that "the West German Communist Party and the Communist-linked German Union for Peace are in the forefront of the disarmament movement." Last year, the second secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Copenhagen was expelled from Denmark after taking part in meetings of disarmament groups. One of the most active "peace" groups in Europe is the World Peace Council, a Soviet front founded by Stalin, which has been expelled from France and Austria.

The most amazing aspect of this sort of propaganda wallowing by the U.S. Left is the mighty effort taken to disguise it as objective. The itinerary is full of sessions on "alternative politics" which are sermons by haters of America and Soviet shills. The American leftists tempted to join this pilgrimage may as well keep their $1,395: only Soviet "facts" will be found on this fact-finding mission.

U.S. Tied To Egyptian Arms Scandal?

WASHINGTON—A year ago, I reported "a scandal of extraordinary proportions" involving top Egyptian political figures and former CIA and Pentagon officials.

The gist of the report was that, somehow, the multimillion-dollar exclusive contract for shipping U.S. arms to Egypt wound up in the hands of a company with close Palestinian connections. The disturbing possibility was that the backroom deal had included heavy bakasheesh, the bribery that is traditional in the Middle East.

The disclosures touched off an intensive investigation by the U.S. government. The Pentagon's transportation division began checking bills submitted to the Egyptian government by the shipping company, Egyptian American Transport and Services Corp., which in corporate jargon calls itself EATSCO. discrepancies were found.

Then, early this year the FBI began its own investigation. Agents visited the Defense Security Assistance Agency on April 15 and seized thousands of documents relating to the EATSCO contract.

A federal grand jury in Virginia is now trying to find out whether any American officials were caught up in a conflict of interest. Did they help EATSCO get the lucrative contract—and were they rewarded financially as a result?

Three of the central figures in the case are Gen. Richard Secord, now a deputy assistant secretary of defense; Rich Von Marbod, former head of the DSAA, and Thomas Clines, former director of training for the CIA's clandestine services (the so-called "dirty tricks" division).

Clines and Von Marbod had worked together in Iran during the shah's reign. Until my disclosures last year, Clines was president of EATSCO. Subsequently, according to a former EATSCO consultant, Clines was bought out by his Egyptian partner.

The grand jury is expected to take action—either issuing indictments or clearing those under investigation—within a few months.

Meanwhile, my associates Dale Van Atta and Lady Badwar have been continuing our investigation. I sent Van Atta to Israel, Lebanon and Egypt to track down leads. Here are our additional findings: —Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak does not seem to be involved. Egyptian sources regard him as personally incorruptible, though he was informed that there were problems with the arms-shipment contract.

—Defense Minister Abu Ghazala and Gen. Mounir Sabet, Mubarak's brother-in-law and head of Egyptian military procurement in Washington, were following orders. They helped EATSCO's predecessor company, Teraam, to nail the contract.

The orders came from Kamal Hassan Ali, who preceded Ghazala as defense minister. Ghazala was reportedly surprised when he got the secret order to give Teraam the shipping contract. He couldn't believe the contract had gone to "that S.O.B."—a joking reference to Teraam's Egyptian president, Hussein Salem.

All the strings in this Byzantine puppet show lead to Ali, who is now Egypt's foreign minister. It was Ali who misled American businessmen by getting Egyptian friends to set up joint corporations supposedly to handle the contract. Meanwhile, he awarded it

Brain Cancer Treatment

By AL ROSSITER JR.

UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The use of radiation and anti-cancer drugs following surgery is adding months to the survival of people with malignant brain tumors, but a New York neurologist says a cure for brain cancer is not within sight.

Dr. William R. Shapiro said doctors today are at about the stage in treating and understanding cancer of the brain as physicians were in treating leukemia 20 years ago.

"That is, we now have good initial effective therapy but do not have consistently effective maintenance therapy and cure remains elusive," said the head of the Laboratory of Neuro-Oncology at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center.

Leukemia today, particularly in children, is considered curable in many cases.

Shapiro said at the annual meeting of the American Neurological Association that biological clues now coming from laboratory research offer the promise of continued progress in treating malignant brain tumors.

Brain cancer is a relatively rare disease in the United States. The American Cancer Society estimates 12,400 cases of all forms of brain and central nervous system malignancies will be discovered this year.

Shapiro said there are two types of malignant brain tumors — those that arise from cells within the cranial cavity itself and those cancers which travel by the blood stream into the brain or its coverings from other parts of the body, such as the lung or breast.

He said non-cancerous tumors usually are in the coverings of the brain and can be often removed surgically and eliminated.

Malignant brain tumors differ from cancers elsewhere in the body in that the tumor in the brain usually does not spread, but continues to grow and invades and compresses the surrounding brain tissue to cause death.

"Its major problem in therapy is that any attempt to remove completely such tumors usually produces too much brain damage," Shapiro said.

"Thus, the neurosurgeon faced with the dilemma of a patient with a malignant primary brain tumor must be constrained in his attempt to remove it and therefore usually leaves malignant cells which will eventually grow back."

In past years, Shapiro said treatment usually consisted of partial removal of the tumor followed by unsuccessful attempts to use radiation to kill remaining cancer cells. In the 1960s, the median survival — the time half the patients lived following surgery — was about six months.

Today, Shapiro said the use of chemotherapy in addition to radiation and surgery has increased the median survival to over a year with 20 percent of patients living two years or longer.

"Increasing survival means we are prolonging a better quality of life," he said.

Shapiro said studies at Memorial-Sloan Kettering show patients are able to return home and work following initial surgery and radiation treatment and retain this ability for three-quarters of their remaining life.

Furor Clogs Pipeline

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — On the upper floors of a downtown office building here, planning is underway for a vast construction project that will stretch from the northern edge of the Rocky Mountains to the delta of the Mississippi River.

The $3 billion project, as controversial as it is audacious, will require the creation of the largest single pipeline ever to be built within the United States. It is to be a coal pipeline.

If the 1,378-mile-long pipeline is a success, it will demonstrate the large-scale commercial applicability of a revolutionary technology promoted by its advocates as the solution to many of the country's most pressing energy problems.

But critics of the concept — an unlikely coalition of state governments, railroads, environmentalists and labor unions — claim that it endangers the water supply of the West and Midwest, where that scarce resource already is being depleted at an accelerating rate.

At issue is a relatively new technique to move coal from mine mouth to the generating station by pulverizing the fuel into particles about the size of sugar granules, then mixing it with water and pumping the resultant product — known as coal slurry — through long-distance pipelines.

Commercial application of the coal slurry process in this country dates back to a small-scale 1957 project involving construction of a 108-mile-long pipeline between Cadiz, Ohio, in the midst of that state's east-central coal fields, and the Eastlake Generating Station operated by the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

That 10-inch line operated for only six years, however, before the nation's railroads developed the concept of the "unit train" — 70 to 110 cars devoted exclusively to the delivery of coal — which substantially lowered freight rates.

The only coal slurry pipeline now operating in this country is an 18-inch line which begins at the Peabody Coal Co. Black Mesa mine near Kayenta, Ariz., and runs 273 miles north to the Mohave Power Generating Station operated by the Southern California Edison Co. in Laughlin, Nev., at the southernmost tip of that state.

The proposed project, far more ambitious in scope, would move 30 million tons of coal annually through a 40-inch pipeline beginning at a massive Peabody strip mine near Gillette, Wyo., and stretching across portions of Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

The coal slurry will be delivered to power plants in Oklahoma and Arkansas, while the pipeline will terminate near Cypress Bend, Ark., on the bank of the Mississippi River in that state's southeastern corner.

A barge terminal there will allow transshipment of the coal slurry down the Mississippi to power plants in Louisiana. If that element of the plan is successful, the pipeline itself may eventually be extended into Louisiana.

At the power plants, the slurry will be "dewatered" or dried in huge centrifuges that wring out most of the moisture, leaving the coal in cake form ready to be fed into power plant boilers.

The project is being undertaken by Energy Transport Systems, Inc., a San Francisco-based consortium of five major corporations — Atlantic Richfield, Bechtel, Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas, Lehman Brothers Kuhn Loeb and Texas Eastern.

Although the concept of coal slurry pipelines has been aggressively promoted for approximately two decades, the idea has been relentlessly opposed by the nation's railroads, who fear the potential loss of their coal-hauling business.

The rail carriers in the western states, now in the midst of an $8 billion expansion program designed principally to provide new equipment and install new lines to serve the regions' rapidly developing coal mines, note that their industry charges a seemingly modest one and one-half cents per mile to ship a ton of coal from a mine to a power plant.

But the ETSI consortium notes that "transportation by rail represents more than two-thirds of the delivered cost of western coal to users over 1,000 miles away." The pipeline, ETSI says, "will result in billions of dollars in savings for electric power consumers."

quietly to Teraam. All then lied repeatedly to keep the Teraam contract secret.

And it was Ali who deftly parried requests for investigations by both the President Anwar Sadat and then-Vice President Mubarak. He told them both, according to our sources, that the Pentagon and the CIA were the ones insisting that Teraam-EATSCO get the shipping contract. It's possible he may have been telling the truth on that point.

Finally, though Egyptian sources said some of the U.S. arms had been diverted to the Palestine Liberation Organization, we found no evidence of this. Interviews with Israeli military officials and a firsthand look at the huge piles of captured PLO equipment in Lebanon turned up no American weapons that had been sent to Egypt.

Footnote: Understandably, no one involved is eager to talk about his role in the arms-shipment deal. Gen. Secord has been advised by his own and Pentagon lawyers not to comment on the investigation. Clines, Von Marbod, Ali and EATSCO executives, both in Egypt and Virginia, either refused interview requests, did not return our calls or could not be located.

FDLE Sets Guidelines For Reporting Cases Of Suspect Tylenol

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

In a statewide alert, Florida Department of Law Enforcement officials are asking law enforcement agencies to follow five steps in handling and reporting cases of suspected cyanide-laced Extra Strength Tylenol capsules across the state.

According to Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolski, the alert was issued "in order to have a uniformed approach to finding these capsules and getting them to the appropriate authorities."

Spolski said his agency and other Florida law enforcement agencies have been asked to notify anyone finding packages of Tylenol bearing lot numbers 1801MA, MC2880 and 1901MD to:

1. Take the bottle of capsules back to the store or business where it was purchased.
2. Take the bottle of capsules to the health department. The Seminole County Health Department is located in Building 310 at the Sanford Airport. The telephone number is 323-1853 or 323-3840.
3. Call the nearest office of the Federal Food and Drug Administration.
4. Notify the local law enforcement agency, which will, in turn, collect the suspect capsules, determine the place of purchase and turn the capsules over to the proper agency.
5. Do not consume any Extra Strength Tylenol capsules until further notice.

Spolski said that his agency has not received any calls concerning discoveries of the contaminated drug.

You've seen it before, a smoker driving down the road carelessly flips a cigarette butt out the window. Too often, this is the result.

Don't Get Burned Up Over Smoking

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of stories the Herald will run in observance of Fire Prevention Week Oct. 3-9.

Here's a new angle on the smoking-and-health controversy.

Did you know that careless smoking is one of the leading causes of residential fires in the U.S. today? Or that smoking fires claim more than their share of lives because they so often ignite late at night? If you smoke, or if someone you love does — here are some easy safety tips.

The "profile" smoking fire begins with a dropped cigarette. It's so easy to lose one between the cushions of a sofa or by kicking a table leg, accidentally knocking a burning butt off the rim of an ashtray. The "fire" may smolder at an undetectably low level for hours. After the family is asleep, certain that nothing is wrong, the fire finally catches, filling the home with smoke and toxic gases.

With a home smoke detector, it's less likely that the family in the example above will be asphyxiated. But it's a lot easier to prevent smoking fires than to have to escape from one. Use large ashtrays. Get the heavy glass types with full rims and deep cigarette slots.

Cigars and cigarettes are less likely to be dislodged from a hefty ashtray by accidental jostling.

If a lighted cigarette drops, find it. Stop everything until it's been found. If you know that a cigarette has dropped deep inside a particular piece of furniture and can't locate it, take the furniture outside and leave it out over night. Better to risk having your convertible sofa stolen than to risk it converting your home into an ember.

Check for dropped butts after entertaining. After the party's over, check under seat cushions and around the floor for cigarettes that may have been accidentally dropped.

Don't empty ashtrays into wastebaskets. They could spark a fire hours later even when left overnight. Pour out your ashtrays into the toilet and flush your troubles away.

Special care must be exercised when smoking while using alcohol or drugs. It's easy to become drowsy or inattentive, and lose track of that cigarette.

Speaking of drowsiness, statistics show that many people still smoke in bed and too many smokers in bed become statistics themselves.

Fuel From Water

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (UPI) — The basic technology has been developed to use water to make hydrogen fuel, perhaps for as little as $1 a gallon, researchers at Texas A&M University announced today.

They said the fuel should be both economically feasible and having a cost competitive with gasoline.

Electrochemist Dr. John Bockris, head of the university's Hydrogen Research Center, called the technology "a real breakthrough" and said the potential applications are "infinite" for a pollution-free fuel.

He said the devices — developed by Dr. Marek Szkodarczyk and Dr. A.Q. Contractor — should boost overall hydrogen fuel production efficiency past the "magic" 10 percent mark, making it economically feasible and bringing its cost into competition with gasoline.

Bockris said one of the major advantages of hydrogen fuel is that it represents a form of clean energy that can be stored for long periods, unlike solar energy which must be used immediately or can be stored in batteries for only short periods.

...Ants In His Pants

to unzip his pants to relieve that condition, police said. The man was arrested.

However, when sheriff's deputy Jeffrey Hankins got a call from a girl about an indecent exposure at Springs Boulevard, north of Forest City, Monday, he learned a whole new reason for why a person pulls his pants down.

Hankins said he responded to a 16-year-old girl's complaint that a man who was working laying sod along Springs Boulevard had exposed himself twice to her while she was driving along the road at about 5 p.m.

When Hankins questioned the suspected flasher, the man told him he only pulled his pants down because "a pile of ants had gotten inside them." No arrest was made, deputies added.

"I'm not trying to defend the young man in that case but I'll tell you, when those ants get on you, it's hard to get rid of them," said sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

"Last night I was going home when I noticed one of our deputies was making an arrest of several people in a van along U.S. 17-92," Spolski said. "Well, I stopped to offer assistance and while I was there, I stepped in an ant hill.

"Well, those things started up my trousers and although I didn't take my pants off, I did roll them up," he continued. "There's no other way to kill them or stop them once they work themselves into your pants. And, those things bite and it hurts, stings and burns."

New Cars Unveiled

United Press International
Despite the worst model year in 20 years, Ford Motor Co. executives enthusiastically unveiled their 1983 automobiles and predicted a strong turnaround in domestic sales.

Ford is introducing its widest array of cars in its history.

Phillip E. Bentow Jr., vice president for sales operations, calling consumer confidence the key, predicted the industry will be producing vehicles at the rate of 9.5 to 10 million a year by next spring.

Kison Backs Up Brewers

United Press International
Milwaukee Manager Harvey Kuenn says his team is used to having their "backs up against the wall", but this time the blindfolds are on and they've been asked if they'd like a last cigarette.

"I'm definitely glad we're going back to Milwaukee," said Kuenn, after the Brewers dropped a 4-2 decision Wednesday night to the California Angels, who now need just one victory to clinch the American League pennant. "We've had our backs up against the wall before. I'm still very confident we'll win and my players are confident."

Brewers' third baseman Paul Molitor, who hit a two-run, inside-the-park homer to account for Milwaukee's only runs, went even further.

"When you think of it, you have to realize we're not in an enviable situation," Molitor said. "We've lost six of the last seven ballgames, including the Baltimore series. But we're going back home and there's no reason we can't still win this series."

The best-of-five series resumes Friday in Milwaukee with lefthander Don Sutton going for the Brewers, while the Angels will start Geoff Zahn.

Bruce Kison, 4-0 lifetime in the playoffs, yielded just five hits in going the distance. He got a squeeze and a sacrifice fly from Bob Boone, a home run by Reggie Jackson and a key single and bunt by Tim Lincecum.

American League

"For many years I had the fortune to play with very competitive ballclubs in Pittsburgh that were involved in pennant races," attempting to explain his success late in the season. "Winning throughout a pennant race is a team effort. I don't have a good answer or else I would apply it to the rest of the season."

Jackson, another late-season standout who has earned the nickname "Mr. October" and whose 18th championship series RBI gave him the major-league record, said he's starting to believe in the name himself.

"I'd like to share the name with the whole ballclub," he said. "Come October 15, I hope you can name all of us 'Mr. October.' Just send me the check."

Before the Angels prevailed in Anaheim, the heavens opened up in St. Louis and forced postponement of the first game in the National League Championship Series with Atlanta ahead, 1-0, over the Cardinals with one out in the bottom of the fifth inning.

The two teams will try to play Game 1 again tonight and the rest of playoff schedule will be pushed back a day.

Soft Footsteps Follow County Leader Hayward

There will be some soft, young footsteps following Lake Brantley's Kathryn Hayward Friday afternoon at the Seminole County Cross Country Meet at Trinity Prep.

Soft as a deer in new-fallen snow. Young as that same deer when it first tries to walk.

Although the footsteps are soft and young, they are sturdy. Sturdy enough to be just three seconds behind.

Adrienne Polltowicz, just 13 years old and in the ninth grade at Trinity Prep, would like those footsteps to be soft enough to overtake Hayward, a junior and the leader in Seminole County all of this fall season.

Hayward's best is 12:12. Polltowicz ran a 12:15 two mile while winning the Freshman-Sophomore Meet at Lyman last week. She has clipped almost a minute off her time since the Seminole Community College Preseason Meet, although the young phenom is very seldom pushed.

And Saint coach George Austin feels she can do it, if not Friday or the rest of this season — then next year when Polltowicz moves into her sophomore season.

"Hayward is a big strong girl, but hopefully Adrienne will give her a run for her money," said Austin.

Austin rates Polltowicz as the best cross country runner he's coached. "She's ahead of Shannon McNulty at the same stage, but Shannon was more of a track runner," Austin said about his ex-student champion from Lake Mary.

Poltowicz is somewhat of a track runner herself. When McNulty went down with an ankle sprain last spring, Polltowicz stepped in and won state championships in the half mile, mile and two mile runs.

"And that's about the hardest triple you can put together," attests Austin, the dean of Class A coaches in Florida.

A year and a grade behind Polltowicz is another one of Austin's young phenoms which he seems to find every year — Katie Sams.

Sams has a personal best of 12:57 this fall which ranks the 12-year-old eighth grader seventh in the county poll.

"She's only run in five races in her life," said Austin. "She gets better every race."

While Polltowicz and Sams compare favorably with Lake Brantley's best, that's the extent of the comparison. Coach Jim Marshall's Patriots have steadily rounded into top running form to reassume their fourth place state 4A ranking, a position they held prior to the season in the poll.

Marshall points to the recovery from

"It doesn't matter what you run until November," points out Marshall about the upcoming state meet.

Hayward, Stern and Joanne Hayward (12:47) form Lake Brantley's big three Kim Lubenow, Laura Barnhill, Beth Glasbrenner and Dana Miller usually following suit.

Brantley will be challenged by Lyman and Lake Howell.

Coach Tom Hammon's Hawks are led by Kerry Ryter (fourth, 12:38) and Lynn Lucas (eighth, 12:58). Lyman, paced by Schowonda Williams (fifth, 12:38.5) and Cindy Gaskell (10th, 13:01), was a pacesetter during the early season, but has been fading lately.

Lake Mary's Kim Averill (third, 12:26) is a sophomore who could give the leaders a battle.

For the boys, Lyman, as usual, should dominate again. Coach David Huggins has two runners — Doug McBroom (15:51) and Brian Hunter (15:56) — chasing Lake Howell junior Kenny Cheeseman's 15:37, tops in the county.

Will the Greyhounds run away with it? "We're supposed to," laughed Huggins. "If we don't I'll be made, although Lake Howell and Lake Brantley are very much improved. I look for Brantley to be the surprise of the meet."

"We're not really running as a pack this year. It just seems that we get five runners in before anybody else."

Following McBroom and Hunter are Carl Schmalmaack (16:48), Wayne Straw (17:11) and Linc Anthony (17:24).

Brantley's best are Mike Garrison (16:46) and John Davis (16:46). Lake Mary's Derek Tangeman is fifth in the county at 16:21. He will be looking to overtake Trinity sophomore Tommy Matthews who owns a time of 16:16.

Howell's best is Brad Dykes, just behind at 16:24.

Oviedo's Marty Phillips (16:50) and Mike Wooten (16:58) from Seminole could challenge to break the top seven and earn All-County honors.

Mobilite Claims First Win; Hanrahan Lifts Sessions

Mobilite survived a last-inning scare from S & H Fabricating Wednesday night to post its first victory of the year — a 10-9 squeaker — in the Sanford Men's Fall Softball League.

In other games, the Pookie Bears ripped the Express, 9-2, and Sessions romped past the Jaycees, 9-1.

For Mobilite, winning hurler Manny Rivero survived a shaky first inning (seven runs) and then pitched out off the seventh inning jam to preserve the win.

Dave Perry drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the Fabricating first inning. Steve Machesney, Barry Graham and Tony Wynn each chased home runs with singles.

Mobilite started its comeback with two runs in the second on an RBI-single by Kevin Leatherberry and a sacrifice fly by Tim Ryal.

A six-run fourth moved Mobilite into the lead. Leatherberry reached on an error, Ryal singled and Mike Lawrence plated a run with a single. Antonio Bryant, Julius Griffith, Harry Jones and Howard Brooks followed with base hits to each drive home a run for a 10-7 edge.

The losing pitcher was Jim Black. Bryant had three hits for the winners.

The Pookie Bears also used a six-run inning — the second — to turn back the Express. Gary Snel's two-run double was the big blow in the inning. Bill Lee singled home a run for an 8-4 lead.

The Express finally scored in the fourth on a double by Alton Jenkins, a single and RBI by Kenny Daniels and a run-scoring single by losing pitcher Larry Cross.

Men's Softball

Lee and Wayne Crocker had two hits each for the Bears, while Jenkins and Cross paced the Express with two apiece. The winning pitcher was Snel who yielded just six hits.

Shortstop Robbie Hanrahan ripped three hits including a double and a triple as Sessions scored six in the fourth frame to rout the Jaycees.

Hanrahan's bases-loaded triple in the fourth keyed the big inning. Kerry Myers also drove in a run with a base hit.

The Jaycees scored an unearned run in the third and added a run in the seventh on Don Hibbard's double and Rob Simpson's single.

Steve Scribner picked up the win and Blair Kitzer was the loser.

Bulldogs, Wildcats Post Wins

The Bulldogs and the Wildcats pushed their records to 2-0 Saturday with victories in the Junior Division of the Sanford Flag Football League.

The Bulldogs whitewashed the Cowboys 18-0, while the Wildcats, the defending league champs, nipped the Rams 12-6.

In the Midget Division, the Steelers beat the Bucs 13-6.

The Bulldogs and the Wildcats square off for first place at 10 a.m. Saturday at Chase Park. The Bucs play the Steelers at 9 a.m., while the Rams tangle with the Cowboys at 11 a.m.

The Bulldogs put their first six points on the board when George Ervin ran five yards for a touchdown three minutes after the opening kickoff.

Later in the first half Harrison Hampton broke loose for a 45-yard touchdown run to make it 12-0.

The Wildcats scored first against the Rams, putting a touchdown on the board late in the first half on an 80-yard pass play from Patrick Dougherty to Marquee Howard.

Early in the second half the Wildcats increased their lead to 12-0 when Howard caught a 5-yard pass from Willie Grayson.

The Rams managed to make the game interesting by scoring a touchdown to cut the Wildcats lead in half. That TD came on a three-yard run by Dwight Brinson.

The Bucs scored first when Albert Armstrong ran 25 yards for a touchdown, but midway through the first half Rusty Keeling ran 26 yards for a Steelers touchdown, tying the score at 6-6.

A 40-yard punt return for a touchdown by Keeling in late in the first half gave the Steelers a 13-6 lead after Keeling passed to Joe Wiggins for the extra point.

Osceola Topples Panthers

Osceola scored two touchdowns in the second half Wednesday to knock the Crooms Panthers from the unbeaten ranks in freshman football action at Kissimmee.

Crooms, 2-1, takes on Lyman Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Longwood.

Prep Football

"Lyman is undefeated (3-0)," points out Panther coach Bill Zelas. "We'll have to play a good game to beat them."

Good defense was what the Panthers played in the first half Wednesday while putting two scores on the board for a 12-6 halftime edge.

Halfback Alvin Jones, using blocks from tackle Scott Carter, tight end Horace Knight, guard Carl Tipton and wingback Melvin Brinson, raced off tackle and cut back against the grain for a 35-yard TD scamper. A pass failed for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers broke a 6-6 tie with three minutes to go in the half when Brinson hit Hal Posey on a wingback pass for 13 yards and a touchdown for a 12-6 lead. The pass for two again failed, but Crooms led, 12-6, at halftime.

Osceola put together a long march in the third quarter to go ahead, 14-12 and then added a touchdown with just three seconds to play for the final 20-12 decision.

Despite the setback, Zelas was pleased with the play of his secondary. "They tried a couple of passes, but didn't complete any," he said. "Craig Dixon, Dennis Lawrence and Theron Ligons did a good job in the secondary." Vince Howard, a defensive end, led in tackles with four and two assists.

Offensively, Jones ran 11 times for 85 yards and Mike Wright added 37 yards in six carries. Fullback Mike Hickman had 41 yards in seven carries.

Jill Janak, Seminole High swimmer, strokes her way to a second place finish in the 500 free Wednesday against Lake Brantley. Janak's second place helped the Seminole girls win their third meet, 65-51. The Tribe goes to the Sharidan Aquatic Club for a four-way meet on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Tribe Swimmers Sweep Patriots

Swimming

Jill Janak recorded a second place spot in 2:28.3.

Other seconds were turned in by McCall (200 IM, 3:12.7), Hunt (50 free, 30.7), Mann (100 fly, 1:29.3), Polgar (100 free, 1:07.4), Janak (500 free, 7:56.2) and Deer (100 breast, 1:28.2).

The girls, 3-3, compete in a four-way meet Tuesday at the Sharidan Aquatic Club in Longwood among Apopka, Bishop Moore and Lake Mary.

Seminole's boys picked up their second victory as Chuck Burgess swam away with two individual firsts and anchored a third for a narrow 61-58 win over Brantley.

Burgess won the 200 IM (2:10.5) and the 100 fly (1:03). Bruce Nelson added a top spot in the 100 back (1:07.9) while Greg Carter took first in the diving competition with 90.20 points.

The 200 medley relay unit of Nelson, Tim Dycus, Burgess and Carter clocked a 2:01.7 for first place.

Runnerup finishes came from John Dubois (200 free, 2:14.3), Bruce Montes (diving, 86.80), Howard Harrison (100 free, 1:08), Dubois (500 free, 8:30.1) and Dycus (100 breast, 1:22.6).

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Striking Players Can Have All-Star Games, Maybe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Striking NFL players can have their hastily-assembled all-star games. Maybe. NFL owners may attempt to stop the players from playing in the games, but they have to do it in Washington.

A federal judge refused to rule the player's contracts "unenforceable" Wednesday because, he said, some issues of the case need to be explored further.

The judge did, however, tell the NFL legal attempts to keep the players out of the games must be made in U.S. District Court in Washington.

"As far as we're concerned, the games will be played," said Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association.

NFL counsel James C. McKay said the league would file an appeal immediately and ask for a quick hearing. Penn denied McKay's request for a stay pending the appeal.

The NFLPA, which filed the suit last week, had planned to begin the 19-game all-star series Sunday at RFK Stadium in Washington, with a second game Monday night in Philadelphia. The Sunday game has been rescheduled for Oct. 17, but no new date has been set for the Philadelphia game.

Suits were filed earlier this week in New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Missouri and Florida by NFL clubs asking state courts to bar players from the games on the basis of their contracts.

But Penn said those suits must be heard in federal court in Washington.

White Stuns Mandlikova

DEERFIELD BEACH, (UPI)—In an upset defeat, fourth-seeded Hana Mandlikova — ranked seventh in the world and a runnerup to Chris Evert in the U.S. Open last month — was defeated by unseeded Anne White in the $125,000 Linda Carter Women's Tennis Classic.

The 21-year-old White called her 7-5, 4-6, 6-3 victory Wednesday over Mandlikova, "The biggest win I've ever had."

Another "upset" occurred when third-seeded Wendy Turnbull forfeited her match with Ann Kiyomura by walking off the court after a dispute with officials. Turnbull left without a word to umpire John Farrell with the score 6-3, 6-7 after losing a tiebreaker she thought she had won.

"How many times do I have to win a match," she murmured to Kiyomura as she left.

Turnbull had asked for removal of a linesman, but instead the linesmen swapped places with another. Then in the tiebreaker, with score 6-3, she thought Kiyomura was wide with a shot that would have given her the second set.

But she didn't get the call, lost the set and walked off.

Ewing Will Finish School

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Georgetown sophomore center Patrick Ewing said he will not join the National Basketball Association until he finishes his senior year, the Washington Post reported in its Thursday edition.

"People seemed shocked," said the 7-foot Ewing, who could become a millionaire by turning professional. "I don't know why they think it's odd for somebody to want to finish college just because he is a basketball player."

"I'm here to better myself, to graduate and get my degree," Ewing told the newspaper.

The Hoyas begin practice for the 1982-83 season late next week.

Gant Takes National Pole

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The NASCAR racing team owned by movie producer Hal Needham and actor Burt Reynolds had contemplated switching their make of car — but that may have changed Wednesday.

Harry Gant posted the fastest lap time in the Needham-Reynolds Buick to win the pole position for Sunday's NASCAR National 500 and a $15,000 prize, the richest on the NASCAR circuit for pole qualifying.

The new Buick, said Gant, drove "as good as anything I've ever driven."

"Hal (Needham) is negotiating with Ford, but right now we don't know if we will switch or not," said Gant, whose qualifying speed of 164.694 was almost a mile an hour faster than second-place finisher Geoff Bodine. "I don't really want to; I think we're getting things going now."

Bodine took the No. 2 starting position in a Pontiac with a speed of 163.760 mph around the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway oval. He was followed by Darrell Waltrip at 163.473 mph and Morgan Shepherd at 163.310 mph, both in Buicks, and Bill Elliott at 162.901 mph in a Ford.

Capitals Nip Rangers, 5-4

United Press International

Yes, Virginia — and Washington D.C., and Maryland — there seems to be Capital improvement this season.

Mike Gartner's goal in the closing minutes Wednesday night lifted the Washington Capitals to a 5-4 victory over the New York Rangers in the season opener for the both teams.

Gartner took a pass from Bengt Gustafsson with just 1:50 remaining to provide the renovated Caps with the triumph.

"This team has tremendous talent," said Gartner. "We've only been together a week and a half after they picked the squad (following training camp), but I think we can only get better."

The Rangers seem to agree.

"These are not the Washington Capitals of the past," said New York left wing Don Maloney, who had three assists. "We are going to have to play good hockey or we are not going to get any points against them."

Washington led, 3-2, entering the third period, but Eddie Johnston scored a shorthanded goal at 4:30 and Mike Allison added a power play goal at 6:23 to put New York ahead, 4-3.

Milan Novy, a recently acquired center from Czechoslovakia, tied the game, 4-4, at 7:08 of the third period. He also had two assists.

"I think Milan Novy is the greatest thing since sugar," said Caps' Coach Brian Murray.

In other games, St. Louis trimmed Detroit, 3-1, Washington clipped the New York Rangers, 5-4, Quebec topped Buffalo, 5-4, Montreal snatched Hartford, 3-1, Toronto tied Chicago, 3-3, Minnesota beat Winnipeg, 5-4 and Vancouver tied Los Angeles, 3-3.

RAMMING SHATTO

Lake Mary fullback Greg Shatto (no. 24) heads for a first down against Wymore Tech. Shatto, a hard-running junior, and the Rams picked up their first victory last Friday with a 27-0 rout of Wymore. They have this Friday off before traveling to Melbourne on an Oct. 15 game. Coach Jerry Posey's Seminole squad, meanwhile, jumps back into action after a week's rest at home Friday against Apopka at 8.

Donlan — Keep Wage Scale And You Fail

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Donlan made things simple for Ed Garvey Wednesday: keep the wage scale and you fail.

Pro Football

With most of the action taking place on a variety of legal fronts, another weekend slate of games was scrubbed and the players' proposed series of renegade All-Star games received some good news from a federal judge in Washington.

In the late afternoon, Donlan, executive director of the Management Council, turned down a union request for another bargaining session this week in Washington, saying further talks hinge on the players dropping their No. 1 demand.

"Yesterday the (council's) executive committee met to give you an opportunity, in a face-to-face meeting with the owners, to discuss your wage-scale proposal," read Donlan's telegram to union head Ed Garvey. "The owners reiterated what you have heard for several months across the bargaining table — your wage scale is unacceptable. To meet when you still have your wage scale on the table will produce no constructive results as the last three days of negotiations proved."

After their demand for 55 percent of the league's gross revenues was met by icy resistance from league owners, the NFL Players Association switched instead to a 4-year proposal for half the NFL's $2.1 billion television package — with the money to be kept in a centralized fund and distributed via a scale that stressed seniority.

No formal talks have taken place since Saturday, but Garvey met with the six-man executive committee in secret on Tuesday and was promptly rebuffed. League spokesman Jim Heffernan said

Wednesday the 13 games slated for Sunday, plus the Monday-night game between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, have been called off, raising the total number of games canceled thus far to 42.

"Since three regular-season weekends of games have not been able to be played and in view of previous announcements that a maximum of two weekends of games could possibly be made up in the event of a prompt settlement, this means at least one weekend of games has now been lost for the season," said Heffernan.

In Washington, federal judge John G. Penn paved the way for the union to proceed with its plan for a series of All-Star games when he refused to rule on whether the standard NFL player contract is enforceable. Penn also ruled all league suits seeking to bar striking NFL players from the proposed games must be filed in U.S. District Court in Washington, rather than in local and state courts.

Penn denied a request by NFL counsel James C. McKay for a stay of his ruling pending an appeal. McKay said the league would file an appeal immediately and ask for a quick hearing.

Following Penn's non-decision, the NFLPA said the first of the All-Star games, originally set for Sunday, will be played Oct. 17 in Washington's RFK Stadium.

In Buffalo, N.Y., representatives from the Bills and the Turner Broadcasting System appeared briefly in state Supreme Court, with attorneys for the broadcasting firm notifying the Bills they had filed papers seeking to have the matter removed to federal court in Buffalo. The NFL, with the Bills one of the eight teams, obtained a show-cause order last week against Turner Broadcasting to stop players from taking part in the All-Star games, which will be televised to 22 million homes by Turner's cable superstation, WTBS in Atlanta.

Bob Gibson—What He Couldn't Cure He'd Endure

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Baseball fans are supposed to be fickle. Not the ones here. They don't forget. They're from Missouri, the "Show Me" state, and this man had shown them so much in his time, they wanted to show him something back now. And they did.

It didn't matter at all that he was one of the "enemy," who had come back to do whatever he could to help beat their beloved St. Louis Cardinals. They remembered what Bob Gibson had done during the 17 years he had pitched for the Cardinals and they were showing their appreciation to him.

When members of the Braves and Cardinals were introduced before Wednesday's rain-shortened and wiped out contest, the crowd of 51,377 at Busch Memorial Stadium showed Bob Gibson how they felt about him with a ringing ovation that sounded as if it might last forever. He got the longest and loudest salute of anyone.

Gibson never made much of a fuss about winning and he never alibied or complained if he lost and if rain happened to wash out some game in which he was pitching and he was ahead, he certainly wasn't going to shoot himself over it. What couldn't be cured had to be endured.

That was the same way he felt when rain washed out Wednesday's National League playoff opener with one out in the bottom of the fifth inning and the Braves leading the Cardinals, 1-0.

Gibson shrugged it off. So did most of the other Braves. Only two more outs and they would have been one game up on the Cardinals, but even so, they had no particular criticisms of plate umpire Billy Williams' rather abrupt decision to halt play. Following a wait of two hours, 28 minutes, the game was called after National League President Chub Feeney conferred with the umpires.

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

"It's no big deal," Gibson offered. "I think they were right in doing what they did. The way the rain was coming down, there was no way they were gonna resume play just to let us get two more outs."

Someone asked the still trim, 46-year-old Gibson how many games in his career he figured he was involved in that were postponed by rain after they already had been started.

"I have no idea, but I know it was a lot," answered the Cardinals' former ace who won 251 games for them and was named to the All-Star team nine times. "There was one spell there where it seemed to rain every time I started. In the 1968 World Series with Detroit, I pitched a whole game in the rain and beat 'em 10-2 or something like that."

The actual score was 10-1. That was in the fourth game of that series, in the opener of which Gibson set a major-league record by striking out 17 Tiger hitters.

In Wednesday's aborted contest, nobody with the Braves felt Williams had been too hasty in terminating play only a minute or so after the first drops began to fall in the bottom of the fifth. The rain came quite suddenly and the downpour was heavy.

"It should have been stopped," said right-fielder Claudell Washington, who opened the contest with a double to left off Joaquin Andujar and scored the only run on Chris Chambliss' two-out single. "It was a miserable day and I'm surprised they waited as long as they did before they finally called it off."

Phil Niekro had settled down after an uneven start and was moving along with a four-hit shutout for the Braves. He said he was "disappointed" the game was washed out, but he didn't second-guess Williams for what he did.

"You gotta be disappointed when there are only two outs to go," said the 43-year-old knuckleballer.

Braves' Manager Joe Torre had no kick with Williams, although he did raise one point.

"I didn't think it was raining hard enough or long enough to call the game that abrupt in the bottom of the fifth," Torre said quite mildly. "But, I'm not saying we'd like to steal one or that I'm dissatisfied with Williams. All I'm saying is that they said all these playoff games would be played with the same rules that apply during the regular season and ... during the regular season, they always try to get in five innings. We did not do that today."

Williams said he'd make the same decision again.

"I would have done the same thing during the regular season no matter what the score was or how many were out."

Fate Rain Washes Away 1-0 Atlanta Lead

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Fate has decreed that nothing shall come easy for the Atlanta Braves in 1982 — and that includes an opening-game victory in the National League Championship Series.

The Braves held a 1-0 lead over the St. Louis Cardinals and Phil Niekro was beginning to feel comfortable with his knuckleball in the fifth inning Wednesday when rain turned Busch Stadium into a giant fish bowl.

National League

The tarpulin was ordered onto the field by home plate umpire Billy Williams with one out in the bottom of the fifth — only two outs away from being an official game — and it remained there for almost 2½ hours before the game was postponed.

"If this had been a regular season game, we'd have continued," said Atlanta first baseman Chris Chambliss, who knocked in the only run of the non-game with a first-inning single.

"We had time to get two quick outs. But then it would have been only a five-inning game and no one was looking for a five-inning game. We weren't looking for a cheap win. We've played all season to get where we are (playoffs) and we don't need any kind of luck or any kind of short game now. We feel we can play a whole game with them."

The two teams will try to play Game 1 again Thursday night and the rest of playoff schedule will be pushed back a day. Pascual Perez will replace Niekro as Atlanta's starting pitcher in the second opener and Bob Forsch will replace Joaquin Andujar for St. Louis.

Game 2 will be played in St. Louis Friday night and Game 3 in Atlanta Saturday night. If necessary, Game 4 will be played Sunday night and Game 5 Monday afternoon in Atlanta.

Niekro worked out of a basesloaded jam in the first inning and survived four St. Louis hits in the first three innings. He had retired five batters in a row and had extended his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 31 before the rain beat Andujar to the plate to bat in the fifth inning.

"I thought we could get another batter or two in," Niekro said. "I've played in worse weather. You figure you've only got two outs to go. It might take two pitches or it might take ten minutes."

"But then nothing has come easy for us all season. Now that it's the playoffs, it's not supposed to get any easier. You can't fight the weather; you can't fight an umpire's decision."

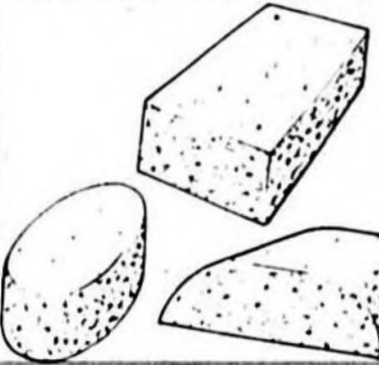

It was the first game ever started but not completed in the history of a league championship series and the first game of any kind postponed in St. Louis because of the weather since June 22, 1979.

The rainout seems to favor the Cardinals, who now figure to face Niekro only once in the series. The veteran righthander posted Cy Young-type numbers this season with his 17-4 record and 3.61 earned run average and had been particularly tough on the Cardinals, allowing only three earned runs and 14 hits in 25 innings through Wednesday.

"It favors us, it really does, for a couple of reasons," St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog said. "First off, we were down by a run and secondly, Niekro can only pitch once against us now."

But not if Niekro can help it. "I'll go tonight, tomorrow, Saturday or Sunday," Niekro said, "whenever he (Torre) wants me. I've waited too long for this."

Sparks Fly When Ex Plays Smoking Game

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are separated. When he comes to visit our 10-year-old daughter, I try to make his visits pleasant for all of us.

He is a smoker. I am not. He has agreed not to smoke in my house. However, he leases our daughter by asking her if she wants a cigarette, then he instructs her to get one out of the pack and put it in his mouth. (He doesn't light it.)

He knows I disapprove of this, but he does it in a joking way. Not wanting to cause any arguments, I say nothing.

A few days ago, he put an unlit cigarette in her mouth. I had to leave the room to keep from telling him off in front of our daughter. Later when we were alone, I stated my objections. He brushed them off and said I was "overreacting."

Soon our daughter will be spending weekends with him, and I am worried that his "joking" with cigarettes will continue. And, of course, he can smoke in his own house.

Am I overreacting? Both my husband and I love this child. How should I handle this?

Dear Abby

DEAR CONCERNED: Tell your husband that you disapprove of the positive message he is giving your daughter with regard to smoking. Not only is he letting her think that smoking is OK, he is subtly encouraging her to smoke. The reason is obvious. He's trying to get your goat. Tell your daughter she is not to put a cigarette in her mouth, and forbid your husband to play any more cigarette games with the child.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a man who was married before, and we're having a major disagreement. He still wears his wedding ring, even though I have asked him to please put it away. He claims the only reason he wears it is because he "likes" it.

To my way of thinking, a wedding ring is more than just a piece of jewelry — it symbolizes something. Is my request unreasonable?

FOOLISH IN PHOENIX

DEAR FOOLISH: No. Your fiancé is either consciously or unconsciously reluctant to "let go" of his first marriage. If you let him put a wedding ring on your finger while he is still wearing his, you are indeed foolish.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a way to keep someone from attending a funeral? A relative of mine is not going to last much longer, and he has told me that if "H" shows up at the wake, funeral or cemetery, I should throw her out!

The dying relative detests "H" with a passion — and for good reason. I promised him that "H" will not get in.

That's my problem, Abby. There will be funeral services in a church. How do you keep someone out of church? And how do you keep her from going to a cemetery?

I have given my solemn promise, and I intend to keep it. But how?

SEEING RED IN READING, PA.

DEAR SEEING: First, advise the person who is not welcome that it will be a private funeral. Then hire a security guard.

Have him stationed at the door together with someone who can identify the person who is not welcome. (You, perhaps?) And if the "crasher" shows up, the security guard will "guide" her gently but firmly away.

Herpes Drug Shown To Shorten Relapses

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A recent experiment with a new drug used to treat genital herpes has provided proof that the medicine shortens relapses of the disease, a researcher says.

Dr. Richard C. Reichman, of the University of Rochester, told a group of microbiologists that the recent study shows the experimental drug acyclovir can control outbreaks of the incurable, sexually transmitted disease.

The study was conducted on 212 men and women, who suffer recurrent herpes outbreaks, at six medical centers in the United States and Canada. Reichman said results suggest the sooner the drug is taken, the better the result.

"As I understand it, this is the first major clinical study to achieve this result," said Dr. A. Martin Tiermer of Detroit.

Reichman's study was divided into two parts. During the first phase, researchers administered to subjects either a capsule containing 200 milligrams of acyclovir or a placebo one day after a herpes outbreak.

Herpes outbreaks healed 24 hours earlier in the more than 100 patients on acyclovir than those on the placebo, Reichman said. In addition, he said the amount of virus released by the open sores diminished a day earlier in the subjects taking acyclovir than those taking the placebo.

During the second phase of the study, Reichman said subjects took acyclovir capsules home with them to take at the first signs of an outbreak, rather than wait 24 hours.

"That made them heal even quicker," said Dr. Lawrence Corey, a co-author of the study. "The study definitely showed that a capsule of acyclovir shortened the course of the disease."

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, October 8, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY

October 8, 1982

This coming year you are likely to make a major shift in goals. The new ones set for yourself will be more within your reach.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Try to maintain in middle course today. There is a possibility you could be overly assertive in some instances and much too passive in others. Predictions of what's in store for you in the seasons following your birthday and where to look for your luck and opportunities are in your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Double-check all your facts and figures today regarding things which you are doing for yourself, as well as that which you are managing for others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Friends will back off today if you try to sell them on ideas you do not fully understand or believe in yourself. Sincerity is a "must."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Protect your self-interests today, but also strive to be fair and sharing with those who are working at your side. Acknowledge allies.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is one of those days where you might put more effort into things which have no real value than you will on those which can offer true advantages.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not discuss things which were told to you in strict confidence today. You could lose an ally if he or she learns of it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Matters which affect your finances or security should be attended to as early as possible today. While your mind is fresh there are fewer chances for mistakes.

TAURUS (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't do things today which oppose your better judgment. When your common sense sends signals to back off, you'd be wise to heed it.

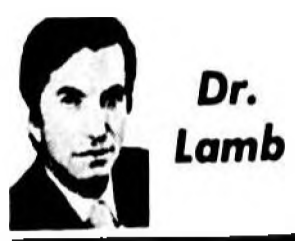

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you're rather definite, and others have no trouble in understanding your position on issues. However, today your indecisiveness may confuse them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Should you have a misunderstanding with a coworker today, don't rehash it once it's resolved. If you fail to let sleeping dogs lie, you'll create unnecessary problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Do not take anything for granted financially for commercial reasons today. Assumptions could lead to mistakes, causing you to lose in the long run.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Take extra pains to be explicit and accurate when communicating important information today. If others don't understand the facts, they can't do your bidding.

Renewing One's Zest For Life

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a 27-year-old female, married with no children, and as far as I can determine, in relatively good health. But I am always tired. I don't know if it is weather, some mineral or vitamin deficiency or if it is normal.

I have been taking a vitamin every day for the last four years or so, including One-A-Day, Geritol, Geritol Mega Vitamins and others.

It is especially hard to pull myself out of bed each morning to prepare for work, although I like my work once I get there. I get from eight to nine hours of sleep, which I'm told is adequate.

My husband experiences the same overall tired feeling every day but he claims to be a night person and has trouble falling asleep. What do you suggest?

DEAR READER—First, I would suggest a medical examination. There are many medical causes for fatigue but all of them explain only 15 percent of the cases of fatigue. The other 85 percent occur in people who have no medical cause for fatigue. But if you happened to have low thyroid function or other problems it would be important to find it and correct it.

The most likely cause for your fatigue is psychological or lifestyle. And vitamins and minerals do not cure that problem. Most people do not have fatigue because of "tired blood." Rather they have lost their enthusiasm for life.

How do you regain it? By having some goals that mean something to you. Reward yourself with things you enjoy. If you are one of those people who do not enjoy anything you may need to make an effort to learn some new activities or engage in social events that can snap you out of it.

Exercise helps too if you happen to have a sedentary job. Incidentally, jobs with no future stiff goals and lead to boredom and lack of energy. You should read The Health Letter 9-6, Fatigue: Feeling Tired and Weary, which I am sending you. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—When I was in college I decided to lose weight without effort so I increased my thyroid hormone. I was supposed to take three grains but I took nine grains or three pills instead of one. Of course that was stupendously idiotic but I kept it up for four years. Now I have cut down to six grains I get extremely fatigued.

I've been afraid to ask any doctor what I have done to myself but I desperately want to know and I'm wondering what the possibilities of ever getting off the stuff are. Am I on it for life?

DEAR READER—You should have had and may still have evidence of an overactive thyroid. In addition to literally unbalancing your entire endocrine system, that can lead to loss of muscle, skin changes and even loss or thinning of hair. It can be quite dangerous, causing the heart to be more susceptible to serious irregularities.

You must talk to your doctor about it and let him regulate you properly. How much thyroid you need should be determined by your responses. Yes, if you needed it to begin with you will probably need it for life. You can't stimulate your low thyroid condition by diet gimmicks.

WIN AT BRIDGE

18 points and a balanced hand were usually punished by getting a bad score. Most West players studied the lead for some time and finally decided to attack with the queen of spades. This would kill dummy's one entry immediately and all declarer could take would be three diamonds, one spade and one club. Down two for minus-200 isn't a tragedy in rubber bridge, but with this hand it was just about a tie for bottom.

Those South players who opened one heart fared a lot better. Many were allowed to play there and invariably managed to scrounge out seven tricks for an 80-point plus. Again nothing to ring bells over, but a mighty good match point score.

Most West players who bid over the one-heart opening wound up as declarer or dummy at two spades and made it for plus-110. Not good enough to tie with those who beat one no-trump two tricks, but well above average.

A few East-West overbidders got higher and were well punished when their overbidding led to minus one, two or maybe even 500 at four spades doubled.

Those South players in the charity game who elected to open one no-trump on the theory that the Constitution gives every American the right to bid one no-trump whenever he holds from 15 to 18 points and a balanced hand were usually punished by getting a bad score. Most West players studied the lead for some time and finally decided to attack with the queen of spades. This would kill dummy's one entry immediately and all declarer could take would be three diamonds, one spade and one club. # Fall For Art Facts

WHO - Sponsored by Sanford-Seminole Art Association and the City of Sanford. Co-Chairwomen: Jane Patterson and Jeanette Policaastro.

WHERE - Street Displays on First Street between Park and Palmetto Avenues and south from First on Magnolia Avenue to Second Street in downtown Sanford.

WHEN - Saturday October 9, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday October 10, noon to 5 p.m.

ENTERTAINMENT - Will begin on Saturday at 10 a.m. with "Sugar and Spice", a local duo composed of David Goethe on the keyboard and Cindy Lee doing percussion and vocalizing. They have performed professionally out-of-state and locally at "Aggies" and "Holiday Inn". They will also be providing the sound system and performing throughout the day. At 11 a.m. there will be folk dancing by Sue Adams and "The Sunshine Cloggers". At 12:30 "Crossover", a country rock group from Lake Mary will be playing a variety of songs including the new record release of the lead singer Brenda Steel (Schweickert) called "My Heart is Black and Blue from Lovin' You".

Lead guitar is Vic Gitzke; rhythm guitar Mary Schiana; and drummer Gene Newman. At 2 p.m. a real treat is in store with a professional Middle East India Dance Group called "Raks Sabu". They have performed nationally and recently at Disney World. The highlight of their performance will be a belly-dancer with an eight-foot snake.

On Sunday the ever popular Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole will dance at 1 p.m. At 2 p.m. the Seminole Community College Band will perform under the direction of Bill Hinkle.

CONCESSIONS - Lake Mary Rotary Club will sell hot dogs and cold drinks and Seminole High School Booster Club will sell their famous hamburgers, popcorn and cold drinks.

JEAN WINTERS

Jean Winters, of Winter Springs, shows one of her photographs to be displayed at the Sanford-Seminole Art Association Fall for Art in downtown Sanford Oct. 9-10. A photographer-artist, she has received various awards in a number of shows. She has studied at Crealde, Maitland Art Center.

The Rules

Here's How You Do It

1. For judging purposes each exhibitor must display at least six works of art to qualify in selected category.

All artwork must be original, rendered since 1980 and not have received an award at previous "Fall for Art" shows. Any art reproduced from works of old or new masters, advertisements and widely publicized photography is considered NOT original and may not be shown. The rules committee reserves the right to request removal of any exhibit or individual work not adhering to these rules.

2. All works of art, where appropriate, must be framed and-or matted. Works not framed must be in a portfolio.

3. Spaces are 12 feet by 8 feet. Each artist will be furnished with and must display a 9" x 12" card bearing artist's name, category, hometown and space number. Ribbons received at other shows may not be displayed.

4. Crochet, knitting, quilts, millinery, picture frames, velvet painting, sewing, embroidery, novelty shell craft, art supplies, decoupage, ceramics cast from commercial molds, commercially manufactured jewelry and leather items, any kit work, and commercial photographers soliciting sales will not be permitted.

5. Judging will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, October 9. Ribbons will be presented on completion of judging. Monetary awards will be made Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

6. All cars must be out of the display area by 9:30 a.m. Saturday and 11:30 a.m. Sunday. Off street parking is adequate and exhibitors must park in one of the areas designated at time of registration.

7. Each exhibitor is responsible for the collection of Florida State Sales Taxes and for remitting same to the Department of Revenue.

8. Pre-registration - Exhibitors may register from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 8 at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building at First Street and Sanford Avenue. Headquarters will be open from 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 9.

9. All applicants must be at least 18 years of age.

ASHBY JONES

Ashby Jones, of 105 Maplewood Drive, Sanford, specializes in oil paintings and "rock shoes". He is chaplain and parliamentarian for the Sanford-Seminole Art Association and is administrative assistant to the Seminole County Clerk of the Court. He has received gold and silver medals at the Golden Age Olympics art shows and has exhibited his work in Albany, Cedar Key and Sanford shows over the past 10 years. He has studied with E.B. Stowe, Judy Maloney, and Seminole Community College. He and his wife Clayda have two children and two grandsons.

Improve Your Outdoor Photos

Remember all the times when you wished you'd had your camera with you? This year, don't let that happen — and do get your best pictures ever, by following these guidelines:

— Keep the background simple. Cluttered backgrounds are distracting.

— Add interest and dimension by including a colorful object or a person in the foreground of scenic pictures or use a natural frame such as a tree branch or a window.

— Add depth by using a line, such as a road, a fence, or a row of trees, to lead the eye into the scene.

— Move in close. If you are too far away from your subject, details are lost. At a closer range, objects stand out and there are large areas of color.

— Do not try to include too much from too far away. Distant scenes will appear very small in the picture and detail will be lost.

— Shooting a portrait? Choose the right light. Bright, hazy sunshine or bright shade is best. The soft light reveals skin color and texture, and there are no ugly shadows obscuring the face.

— Shooting pictures of people on a sunny day? To avoid unflattering "owl eyes" shadows, use a fill-in flash or a camera with the flash built-in.

The points farthest apart in the United States are Log Point, Elliot Key, Florida; and Kure Island, Hawaii.

President's Message

By JANE VANCE PATTERSON

Art Association President Why have a sidewalk arts festival? The obvious answers are entertainment and cultural exposure. The best reason, for many, may be that it is free.

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association strives to provide something for everyone in the visual and performing arts. The participating artists are sharing their "job" with the public and their fellow artists. Sidewalk festivals are eagerly anticipated by the artists as a chance to have their efforts viewed, and hopefully, accepted by the public.

The City of Sanford is a great place for a sidewalk arts festival. With public attendance and financial support of individuals and industry, these artful events will be a continued success.

JONE PORTER

Jone C. Porter of 2118 Park Ave., Sanford, holds one of her mixed media graphics works she will be exhibiting. She was awarded the Best of Show and Purchase Award at the Seminole Community College Student Show last year and the Best of Graphics at Longwood Village Show. She has studied art at the State University of Iowa, Seminole Community College and local instructors. In the past 1½ years she has switched from oil painting to graphics and drawing. She is past president and vice president of Sanford-Seminole Art Association, co-president of SCC Art Club and a member of the Orange County League. She and her husband Paul have two daughters.

WE LET THE QUARTERBACK CALL HIS OWN PLAYS.

That's the Flagship Bank philosophy. We do the coaching. But each local bank president calls his own plays. It makes a big difference. He's right on the scene and knows what's happening on his field. That puts him in a position to act quickly in response to the changing needs of your business. Even to calling an "audible" right on the spot.

Be assured that the man who can make the decision at your Flagship Bank is backed by a local board of directors, which has the final authority in your community. That's your home field advantage. And it helps you get immediate action that isn't available from most of our competitors.

That gives us the edge. That makes us your winning team.

A New Twist For Art

Sculptor George Trivellini looks over the prototype for his latest work of art, created expressly for the Steel Service Center Institute's 73rd annual meeting.

"We call it 'Inner Space:

Tomorrow's Frontier Today,'" says SSCI President, Andrew G. Sharkey, "because it is suggestive of the challenge to look within our own companies for the answers to the major challenges that face the American economy in the years ahead."

SSCI is a trade association representing the metal service center industry. Service centers supply one out of every five tons of steel.

Trace Of Magnificent Struggle...

By JEANETTE L. POLICASTRO
Portrait Artist - Vice-President Sanford-Seminole Art Assn.

Robert Henri said, "Each individual artist's work is a record of his special effort, search and findings, in language especially chosen by himself and devised best to express him. A work of art is the trace of a magnificent struggle."

The artist has made his statement: he waits for your expression of pleasure, for your support and understanding of what he has tried to convey. When he reaches you with his message the cycle is complete.

Praise feeds him — it nourishes his psyche — it fills him with the energy to go on creating.

Whatever the media, learn to study the work and appreciate what the artist has tried to do. Whether it be to tell a story, send forth a message or simply be a lovely shape or design meant only to stimulating to the eye, if it pleases you, react to your pleasure and share in it with the artist.

The greatest acclaim one can give an artist is to purchase his work. When you do so, you share something special with him and enjoy his creativity everyday.

FAYE SILER

Faye Siler of 402 Colonial Way, Sanford, specializes in painting animals and has won numerous ribbons for her work in area art shows. She is self-taught and has taken Leisure Time classes at Seminole Community College.

HELEN HICKEY

Helen Hickey of Sanford, teacher, artist and former gallery owner, specializes in mixed media. She has a degree in art education and has taught at Seminole Community College and Daytona Community College in the Leisure Time Program. She owned and managed an art gallery in downtown Sanford for more than two years. She has taken several Best in Show, first, second and Merit awards in various local shows. Former president of Sanford-Seminole Art Association, she is a member of SSAA, Maitland, Loch Haven and Open Arts Alliance. She and her husband have four children.

Art Show Is Still Strong

By JEANETTE POLICASTRO
Vice President, Sanford
Seminole Art Association

Almost 24 years ago, in 1959, the Sanford-Seminole Art Association came to be. Starting out with 10 charter members, it now has a total of 91 members, six being junior members.

The member's show and tea, which is held yearly in February, helped then and now to add to the public awareness of the organization. The artists have the opportunity to greet the public and add to their appreciation of art.

The organization sponsors changing exhibits at the Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford City Hall, Flagship Bank, downtown, and the Holiday House Restaurant. Two members have painted murals in Lakeview Nursing Center for the enjoyment of the residents.

Our junior members and their peers are encouraged by the annual Sidewalk Show in May at the Sanford Plaza. We also give two scholarships per year for art students in the area from our John Hodge Scholarship Fund.

The association has representation in a large variety of media. This includes oil painting, acrylics and watercolor, pen and ink drawing, pottery, sculpture, photography, print making, stained glass, wood carving, papier mache and batik. The members take pride in helping other artists by sharing ideas and techniques.

After 23 years, the Sanford-Seminole members are still working together to: promote a friendly and inspiring atmosphere among those people interested in appreciation and creation of works of art; provide opportunities for all people in this county to meet and work together and exchange ideas, thereby gaining knowledge in the field of art; develop a county-wide interest in the appreciation of art and its relationship to the cultural growth of the county, which should keep abreast of the economic expansion, thereby fostering a civic pride.

Show Awards Listed

Two Best in Show Awards: two-dimensional $300 and three-dimensional $300.

First place in each of the five categories is $200; second place in each is $150; and third place in each is $100.
