NEW REGIME IS REPUDIATED BY ENGLISH LABOR

Nevertheless, MacDonald's Government Continues To Grapple With Finances

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Ramsay MacDonald, three times prime minister of Great Britain, today was ousted as leader of the labor party and Arthur Henderson elected in his place. Henderson, now ill, will lead the opposition against the man he served as foreign secretary in the recent labor government.

Only six of the 250 members of the labor parliamentary party voted to retain MacDonald at today's meeting. Others lined up solidly behind alternative proposals organized for advancing a substitute for the program of non-partisan government. The heart of the scheme is adamant opposition to cuts in the unemployment dole.

12 ARE SAVED BY ACTION OF CREW ON SINKING PLANE

Pilot And Radio Operator Dive For Rubber Life Preserver

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—A pilot's skill and a radio operator's daring were credited today with saving the lives of 12 persons as a Pan-American Airways amphibian plunged into the sea off Gloucester in a heavy fog. Edward Banwell of Auburn, Maine, drowned unnoticed as passengers were being transferred from the plane to a rubber life raft.

The fishing schooner Nova Julia entering the harbor came upon the nine passengers and three members of the crew of the Halifax to Boston plane. They had been clinging to the raft for more than an hour. W. E. Elmore, Florida pilot, transferred the plane down when a fog set in. At once struck one pontoon wrecking it and the amphibian sank a few minutes later.

Elmore was cut on the jaw when thrown against the instrument board. He aided passengers to the wings and repeatedly dived into the cabin to get a life raft. Alfred Eaton, radioman, took up the task of locating the raft when Elmore became exhausted.

The fishing schooner Nova Julia, feeling its way into this port, came upon the nine passengers and three members of the crew as they clung to a storm-tossed rubber boat, the only raft of the huge ship to stay afloat.

W. L. Elmore of Boston, the pilot, fished his life before he was able to release the boat, while the 11 others, including three women, managed to keep the ship from sinking.

Members of the rescued party said the plane dove suddenly after (Continued on Page Three)

Female Political Group Is Seen As Doomed To Failure

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—At least one of their number thinks there are too many kinds of women for a strictly feminine political group ever to build up a successful party.

Sue K. White, executive secretary of the woman's division of the Democratic national committee, voted this view last night to the Susan B. Anthony foundation of Maryland.

Any such political group, she said, would be "doomed to failure."

"There is the dilettante who, seeking the novelty of a new departure, dabbles in politics in a superficial way and is not to be taken any more seriously than she takes herself," she said.

"There is the sentimentalist, who feels rather than thinks and will not investigate facts or look them in the face, who blindly adheres to illusions long after they have been broken up."

"There is the materialist with a dubious sense of ethics. There is the persistent self-seeker who becomes a politician. There is the earnest soul who finally gives up in despair—and her philosophical sister who keeps right on despite discouragements."

The existence of "these types and others," she added, "makes it difficult if not impossible to build up a solidarity among women as a group, one that all are voting."

New York Roars Welcome That Almost Drowns Out Noise When Do-X Arrives

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—A monster of the sky and sea, the 112-passenger Do-X, landed off the tip of Manhattan yesterday to the accompaniment of a roaring welcome that far once drowned out the drone of its 12 motors.

It had been nine months and 22 days on its way from Switzerland, to New York.

It completed the 6,000-mile circuitous flight despite delays caused by storms, fire, engine trouble, gales, official red tape, damage from waves, court injunctions and seizure of its fuel supply by Portuguese rebels.

But in spite of everything the long journey was declared a success by everyone who took part in the welcome from the man who stood guard over the controls to some of the country's foremost aviation authorities.

CHANCE IS GIVEN TAMMANY TO GET PROBE OF G. O. P.

Legislation May Investigate Charges Against Up-Staters

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Governor Roosevelt yesterday gave Tammany hall its chance to make a demand on the legislature for an investigation of the corruption in the Democratic claim exists in up-state Republican strongholds.

In a special message to the extraordinary session of the legislature the governor said it has become his duty to transmit the demand of the Democrats.

Other developments of the day in a situation which many observers see fraught with national political consequences were:

1. Passage in both houses of two bills—granting unusually powers to the Hofstadter committee in its investigation of Tammany's administration of New York, and to all other legislative committees.

2. A Democratic charge, made on the floor of the senate, that the purpose of the immunity bills was to stop "the momentum of the presidential candidacy of the great governor of this state."

3. A Republican charge, made by the head of the Hofstadter committee, that New York, with its Tammany government, is a community of widespread graft, where policemen are pals with criminals.

After the immunity bills had been passed, with one Democrat in the assembly and one in the senate voting with the Republicans in favor of its passage, Governor Roosevelt's message was read. It said:

"Now that action has been taken on this subject, in conformity with the formal request which was made to me by the majority members of your joint committee, it becomes my duty to transmit to you a request from minority leaders of the senate and assembly."

The message was accompanied (Continued on Page Two)

Stock Broker, Held By Kidnappers For Ransom, Released

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Charles H. Rosenthal, 23, stock broker of Lawrence, who according to his family was held by kidnapers for $100,000 ransom yesterday, Detective said he told them he had been thrown from an automobile inside the city but he landed safely and hastened to report to police.

Police refused to discuss the case until the arrival of high department officials. The Rosenthal family at Lawrence said they had been notified of his disappearance at the police station but knew nothing of where he had been since August 11 when he disappeared.

Unkempt and unshaved Rosenthal, 5'7" to a large estate, told police he was kept a prisoner in an apartment near there two weeks. During his absence Edward Nathan, his attorney, said he received letters demanding $100,000 ransom. Troops were not but failed. The youthful broker said he was forced to wear smoked glasses with a super-pasted over the lenses and that he was bound securely.

WITNESS AT CANNON QUIZ WON'T TALK

Miss Burroughs Refuses For 2nd Time To Testify Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—For the second time Miss Ada J. Burroughs, treasurer of the anti-Smith Democratic organization, headed by Bishop James Cannon, Jr. in 1928, today refused to testify before the Senate campaign funds committee as she went on the stand. Miss Burroughs said she had a statement to read and asked photographers not to take her picture and Chairman Nye ordered them not to do so.

In the statement she said "none of the books, accounts, checks, or other documents called for by the committee's subpoena are now in my possession," Senator Wagner.

"You don't want to answer my questions dealing with Bishop Cannon's handling of money. Then I would like to ask you if you were treasurer of the anti-Smith committee," "I decline to testify," she replied. "Who advised you not to testify?" Wagner asked. "I decline to say."

The Senate Campaign funds committee listened yesterday to the story of how Edwin C. Jameson, New York capitalist, gave $65,500 to Bishop James Cannon, Jr., as head of the anti-Smith Democratic committee in the 1928 campaign and to the report of its expert, Basil Manly, of what happened to most of that sum.

The committee room was thronged with intensely interested spectators as Manly testified. The records showed Bishop Cannon opened six new banking accounts during the campaign and from one of these in which he put more than $20,000 in "political funds" he withdrew on his own checks $28,278.

Manly said that of this $28,278 the checks were traced to show that $17,150 was put in the bishop's personal account in the American National bank of Richmond. He said $528 was used to curtail a note on a bank at Blackstone, Va.; $5000 was spent for a certificate of deposit in the Citizens Bank & Trust company, of Blackstone; and $5300 for another interest bearing certificate from the Bank of Crewe, Virginia.

The hearing, held in the Senate office building, took on a school atmosphere with Manly explaining his charts.

Many in the crowded committee room leaned forward on their seats to catch his words, the Cannon counsel sharply objecting to the procedure.

Objection was futile, Senator Nye cried, overruling it by saying, "Proceed, Mr. Manly." As chairman, he held the central position at the long committee table at the room's end. On his right sat Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, and next to him Senator Dale, Republican, Vermont. Senator Bill, Democrat, Washington, sat nearer to the chair on Nye's left.

When Jameson took the stand he read a statement asserting that he contributed to the solicitation "and in collaboration with the (Continued on Page Three)

LINDBERGH'S ARE FETTERED FORMALLY IN JAPAN TODAY

Attend Official Banquet At Which Are Cabinet Members

TOKYO, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Rounding out a day crowded with official and social functions, Colonel and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh were formally welcomed to Japan tonight at a banquet by members of the cabinet. The banquet came at the end of the hottest day of the year in Tokyo and those attending were attired informally because of the heat.

The fliers appeared a little tired but the Colonel spoke quite enthusiastically of aviation. Speeches were spoken in two languages and interpreted by hostesses. A booklet which brought them to Japan on the type of silk produced there which is used in parachutes.

Stealing away from receptions and demonstrations, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh yesterday inspected the seaplane in which he and his wife arrived from New York Wednesday, and ordered it overhauled for continuation of their vacation tour.

He requested the work at Kurumagaura be hastened, so that the plane will be ready at the conclusion of a six-day program of receptions in their honor and a brief period of sight-seeing.

But aside from their announced intentions to visit China, the future plans of the Lindberghs would make a smiling flight were met with the smiling response that their plans were indefinite.

Despite the buffeting it received in the 7000-mile journey, Lindbergh said there was little wrong with the plane except oil-fueled spark plugs which caused minor trouble in the Kurile Islands.

Newspaper headlines in English and Japanese newspapers referred to Lindbergh as "King of the Air" and "King of the Skies," "Superman and Hero," while captions concerning his wife were: "Anne Lindbergh's Charm and Captivating Manner Win Hearts of Japanese," "A Symbol of Modesty," "Crowd Charmed by Mrs. Lindbergh," and "Aviator's Wife has Captivating Personality and Obvious Strength of Character."

Arguments Started In Gas Tax Litigation

QUINCY, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Critics of the 1931 gasoline tax allocation law had its first inning today as arguments began in the suit to test the act's constitutionality. John E. Mathews, Duval legislator and author of the suit seeking to enjoin the state from enforcing the act, led his own attack.

"The law is unconstitutional in that it indirectly violates the state constitution which prohibits the state from issuing bonds or otherwise going into debt or pledging its credit for bond obligations of its counties," Mathews said if the act is valid "it will amount to the state assuming approximately $160,000,000 worth of road and bridge bonds issued by the counties."

ROBBERS GET $26,000.

READING, Mass., Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Two robbers fired a number of shots into the automobile of George H. Harrigan, president of the Lowell Trust Company, here yesterday and seized $26,000 in cash which he was taking to a Boston bank.

Earl Brown Sees Weak Excuse For Delaying Of Road

It is the belief of Earl W. Brown, Deland's mayor and president of the State Road Number Three Improvement Association that the Florida State Road Department will have practically the same income it has enjoyed for several years past, and that the opinion expressed by George B. Hills, member of the department, because of a lack of funds, such construction work, probably the lakefront boulevard and bridge, will be delayed considerably, is not so sound.

Mayor Brown delayed this impression following a recent visit to Tallahassee on business, and following a talk with Mr. Hills, as well as several other department officials.

His belief was strengthened yesterday when Harry M. Papworth, road improvement official under Mr. Brown and related the present status of road work in this county, as Mr. Papworth had heard from Chairman Bentley at St. Augustine recently.

In a letter to Mr. Papworth today, Mayor Brown declared that he is delighted to learn that Chairman Bentley spoke so enthusiastically of the possibility that the road and bridge would be completed soon.

Before concluding his letter Mayor Brown took occasion to speak of Karl Lehmann, newly elected secretary of the county trade body. "I am also glad to know that Karl Lehmann is going to be so near a neighbor and I think both the Sanford Chamber of Commerce and Karl are to be congratulated on this arrangement. I assure you I anticipate much pleasure and much success in the joint projects we may have as a result of your acquiring his excellent services," he wrote.

Gandhi Makes Wild Dash For Train On His Way To London

SIMLA, India, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Wearing his cobwebby shawl and loin cloth, Mahatma Gandhi entered a small American automobile last night and made a wild dash from his little shanty through 100 miles of twisting, on the slopes of the Himalayas dangerous roads to the railroad station at Kaiba.

With only a few minutes to spare he caught the frontier express which will take him to Bombay, where he will embark Saturday on his way to the round-table conference at London.

An understanding with Viceroy Lord Willington on the points at issue between the government and the nationalists resulted in his decision to go to London, and resulted also in that breakthrough ride down the mountainside.

The mahatma defied an ordinance forbidding night driving through the Himalayan forest in order to catch his train.

His few remaining teeth chattered as the small car bumped along, and with his shawl head and old dress he looked anything except an interstitial figure of great power.

5,000,000 MEN ESTIMATED TO BE MINUS JOBS

Two Million Expected To Be Added To Figure This Winter Relief Plans Made

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—An estimate that the unemployment total will reach 7,000,000 this winter came yesterday from President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, as Walter S. Gifford, national relief director went ahead with plans to prevent distress.

Green said August had been a slight gain in employment but that this was only a seasonal improvement which would "not lessen our winter problem." He estimated there were 5,100,000 jobs on Aug. 1.

"Even allowing for the temporary fall gain in employment," he said, "we will have some 2,000,000 more to provide for in addition to the 5,000,000 now out of work."

"There is only one way to lessen this number of unemployed," he said, "for industry to keep men at work by shortening hours and dividing available jobs among all. This with a guarantee of work to the minimum force in each plant, would be an immense bulwark against business depression this winter."

Green said 18.4 percent of the federation's membership were out of work in August as compared with 18.4 in July; 19.3 in June and 17.1 in May.

He estimated that about 1,000,000 found work in August as the industrial employment improved, but about 40,000 farm workers were laid off at the end of the July harvesting season, making the total gain of approximately 900,000 jobs.

"This very slight gain in employment," he said, "cannot be interpreted as a change for the better for it is only seasonal. We may be grateful that a few hundred thousand of the 5,000,000 out of work will find temporary jobs in industry in the next few months. But this will not lessen our winter problem."

"By November we will have some 500,000 farm laborers out of work and this number will double before the winter is over. If industry lays men off at the usual rate, we may expect some 1,200,000 to lose their jobs between October and January."

The federation leader said the biggest gain in employment during August came in the textile industries where nearly 30 percent of the unemployed went back to work. Gains were noted also in the manufacturing and shipping industries, he said.

Unemployment was still on the increase in some industries, however, he pointed out, including printing, where the number out of work was three times what it was a year before and in building where joblessness had reached the unprecedented proportion of a summer months of 51 percent.

While this summary of the situation was being given out by Green, Gifford was proceeding in his office in the commerce department building with plans for a national drive for relief funds beginning Oct. 19.

Gifford was appointed by President Hoover a week ago Wednesday. Since that time he has spent a week-end with President Hoover at the Rapidan headquarters here, and laid out the general outlines of the federal relief program.

His associates described his activities yesterday as "digging in" to perfecting his organization and familiarizing himself with conditions he faces.

ONE MAN CREW REPLACED

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—The Chicagoan has a new crew. When Capt. Eugene Bahr brought his 19-foot cutter here from Florida, crewed by Frances H. Thomas, his only companion, decided he had had enough of the sea. He was replaced by H. J. Harding, of Portugal Cove.

ECONOMIST APPOINTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—The farm board has appointed Dr. John D. Black of Iowa university as its chief economist.

 BIBLE VERSES FOR TODAY HEARD THE TONGUE—Keep your tongue from evil, and lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.—Psalm 34:13, 14.
 PRAYER—Help us, Lord, that not being overcome of evil, we may overcome evil with good.
 Why is it that the skinnier a man is the more he has to beef about?
 We never did think Luke Lea was a great editor, but it begins to look as if we may even yet learn to appreciate his pen.
 Al Capone has joined in the hunt for a kidnapped Chicago man. Probably wants to get a cut on the ransom.
 Another thing which the Wickstrom Commission overlooked as one of the primary causes of crime in this country, is the saxophone player.
 About the best any mother can hope for her modern daughter is not to keep her from going out, but only to get her to come in at all.
 We noticed a fellow out at the ball park the other day, who was short the left his shoe strings untied. If he hadn't, he'd choked to death.
 Sanford today is just full of cooperation, with just enough squawkers, as Karl Lehmann says, to keep the rest of us from going to sleep.
 As we get it, if they abolish prohibition and put all the brewers back to work, everybody would be so busy no one would have time to do any drinking.
 Prohibition Director Woodcock declares that he can get along without women in the enforcement of prohibition. Well, if they don't help him any more than they have in the past, we suppose he can.
 Franklin Roosevelt has thumbed his nose at Tammany Hall several times in the past few months.
 The New York governor probably figures that it's worth more votes in a national election to be against Tammany than to be with it.
 Acting Mayor McKee, who is leading a great war against New York gangsters, declares, "We are going into a dangerous war against a dangerous enemy who has no quarter." Oh, that's it, is it? The gangsters won't even give a quarter. Well, business must be done in New York!
 McIntyre tells about the disappearing spectacle of "edible lines" in the Bowery. "What happens to the melancholy," he says, "is the utter silence. One may watch them for a half hour—
 I did—and not a lip moved."
 Most men are dangerous. It would be better for this country if those hungry jobless stood on street corners and yelled, even if they shouted bolshevism, down with capitalism, and to hell with every one.
 Del Lea is sorely grieved because his son, who is only teen-three, has been sentenced to prison, and the father offers to assume full responsibility. "I know that these transactions were not my son's," he says, "but I did under my instructions.
 I am willing to assume the blame and the additional sentence only this verbal can be set aside as to my son." A fine sentiment, but he should have thought of that before.
 Messy MacDonald seems to have committed political suicide by deciding to abandon his foremost policy, and to interest of governmental action. The dolo is a life saver for many unemployed. It is not only endangering the whole country, but it is endangering the whole world. MacDonald should have thought of that before.

Too Valuable To Lose

The Herald was particularly pleased to learn of the City Commissioners' recent action in appropriating $570 for the purchase of a carload of fertilizer for the golf course. It has been several years since the greens and fairways of the Sanford links have been re-vitalized, and the natural food elements of the soil have become practically exhausted. If not restored within a short time the course would doubtless deteriorate to a point of worthlessness. The appropriation which the Commission has made should result in new life for greens and fairways, and, if other necessary costs of operation are provided for, should give Sanford a beautiful course for play this winter.

We regret, however, that no adequate means of financing has yet been found. The agreement between the City and the Country Club calls for an appropriation by the City of $2,500 only when $2,500 has been raised by the club members. A lack of interest in golf, or the financially embarrassing effects of a nation-wide depression, following closely on the heels of the depression of our own, has resulted in the inability of the club to raise its quota. Consequently the City is withholding its appropriation. The Commissioners take the position that if there are not 250 persons in the Sanford area who are willing to pay ten dollars a year for playing privileges on the local golf course, the City would not be justified in making any contribution from taxpayers' money.

It seems particularly unfortunate to us that there cannot be found in Sanford at least 250 men who are willing to pay ten dollars a year to see the golf course preserved. We do not believe there is another city in Florida the size of Sanford which does not have a golf course, and some smaller have two. Sanford occupies an enviable position among Florida communities as being one of the wealthiest in point of per capita resources. There is not the slightest question that Sanford can afford to maintain its golf course in excellent condition if only its people realize the full importance of this highly valuable asset.

It does not matter whether a person plays golf or not, or whether he gets his recreation from fishing, hunting, boating, or some other sport of which he asks the public to bear no part of the cost. We are not so vitally concerned over the upkeep of the course for the playground of the Sanford people who use it; they could go to Orlando, Kustis, DeLand, or Winter Park for their games. We are interested in the golf course mainly as an asset of this city, an open invitation to strangers to stop here, a bid for tourists, a welcome to neighbors, living in surrounding towns, who visit us. It is as much the duty of every loyal citizen to support the golf course as it is to extend his hand in greeting to every visitor we have among us.

Sanford has a big investment in the golf course, which represents many hard earned taxpayer dollars. It is as much a property asset of this city as the City Hall, the Municipal Pier, the paved streets or side-walks. Throughout the worst part of our hard times, we have managed somehow to keep up the golf course. For four long years, some way has always been found of finding sufficient revenue to maintain this valuable asset. It would be the height of folly now, with better years immediately before us, to close the course. For its closing now, would be followed within a few months by complete deterioration. To re-open it a year or two later would entail a tremendous expenditure.

We have no solution to offer for this difficult financial problem, but we sincerely hope and believe that one can be found. If the unselfish leaders of our community life will gather around a table and talk the matter over, we believe some plan can be devised for saving the golf course. It would certainly be worth the effort anyway.

Avoiding The Dole

President Hoover's unemployment relief plans are rapidly taking shape with the formation of a nation-wide committee under the chairmanship of Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. With some seven million persons already listed as unemployed, with many of them having already been out of work for more than a year, and with prospects for an additional unemployed group of some two or three millions before winter, the relief organization is getting under way none too soon.

With ten million unemployed persons in the United States, the seriousness of the situation can be readily understood. An idle mind is the devil's workshop, someone has said, and it is equally true, as Napoleon pointed out, that an army travels on its stomach. When an army of men is going hungry, almost anything may happen. When Senator Couzens offered a million dollars for unemployment relief, he was undoubtedly moved by the most charitable of instincts; it is none the less a fact, however, that he and others like him, who count their wealth in the many millions, would suffer most if this unemployment situation should get out of hand.

The appointment of Walter Gifford to head the relief committee was a master stroke on the part of Hoover. Mr. Gifford represents that group of American business men from whom the relief funds must come if the Hoover method is to prove successful. Big financiers, who are expected to make the contributions necessary for relief this winter, have confidence in Mr. Gifford, know that the money contributed will be wisely and what is even more important, entirely spent for the relief of unemployed. They will be more willing to make sizable contributions than they would be to some committee headed by a man who might be inclined to spend a part of the funds for "commissions" of one kind or another.

Mr. Gifford, and other big industrialists, have a further interest in the success of the Hoover plan, in that they see in it the possible avoidance of another method of relief which they detect more than anything else on earth. The word "dole" has an irritating sound to them which not only grates on their nerves and causes them sleepless nights, but positively makes them break out with a purple rash. "Dole", to their mind, has caused the undoing of the British exchequer. "Dole", in their opinion, would soon put the United States treasury on the same rocks which is threatening the British ship of state.

The trouble with the "dole" is that it is one of the most expensive forms of government appropriation. A "dole" which runs into a few million dollars would not do any good; that is, it would not relieve the unemployed to any appreciable extent. It would take hundreds of millions; in fact, many billions before we could get through with it. Mr. Gifford and his friends know that every dollar the government spends must be raised through taxation. The "dole" would mean many millions more they would have to pay in taxes for the big industries pay the bulk of federal taxes, increased taxation for them would spell further curtailment of costs, reduced payables, additional unemployment, and the lower class of only a few dollars a month. A frightfully vicious circle.

Mr. Hoover's method is less scary, less permanent. Mr. Gifford and his friends will try awfully hard to make it succeed.

New York Roars Welcome To Do-X Upon Its Arrival

 passengers were picked up at various points along the route. Fifteen of the army, navy and commercial aviation men who made the Norfolk-New York hop, took turns at the controls on the way up the coast.

After hours of speeches, presentation of medals to the crew, posing for photographs and all the rest that goes with a typical New York reception to famous birds, the Do-X was flown to North Beach, where it was tied to buoys for the night.

Staty made the short hop from the city newspapersmen. Brooklyn, black with upturned heads; downtown New York, alive with activity; the Ghetto with its mattress-covered roofs all passed in quick succession below.

Up in the control room, two engineers stood before boards covered with a mass of levers, dials, switches, gauges and indicators.

Orders were signalled back to them and the vast piece of aerial machinery climbed higher. It was up 700 feet as it skirted close to the Empire State and Chrysler Buildings.

A fleet of commercial planes trailed along. A cacophony of noise came from the water below—battleships, tugs, and cutters and speed boats.

Finally the noise of the Do-X motors quieted and the flying ship came down to receive another noisy New York welcome.

Although fuel supplies have been laid down along a route running from Newfoundland to the Azores and then to England and Germany, Dormier officials here last night said no authorization had been made yet for a return trip. If the Do-X flies back to its home port, it will not be soon, for much overhauling of the craft is necessary.

Meanwhile, it will ride at anchor at Bowers Bay for the inspection of crowds.

The possible effect of the investigation controversy on the 1932 presidential situation was brought into the open for the first time, after weeks of speculation and prognosticating by Sena-

John J. McNaboe, a Democrat. To his charge that the Republicans sought to stop the Roosevelt boom with their immunity demand, Assemblyman Hamilton Potter, Suffolk county Republican and vice chairman of the Hofstadler committee, replied:

"Governor Roosevelt himself recommends the measures. It is up to the Democratic minority to support the nominal head of the party in the state, who is undoubtedly about to ignore the head of the Democratic party in the nation."

Senator McNaboe and Senator Dunnigan both denied there was any ill-feeling between Tammany and the governor. Before the message was read they predicted he would call for an up-date investigation.

Senator McNaboe, an obscure member of the senate until named head of the investigating committee, bore the burden of arguing for passage of the immunity bills, which are intended to loosen the tongues of reluctant witnesses knowing of graft by taking from them the fear of prosecution.

"Redemption of New York, a great center of American influence, culture, wealth and commerce, is the issue," he said. "The real question is whether it shall survive just, free and secure."

With the immunity bills out of the way, the legislature will receive Roosevelt's message on unemployment relief today.

PAINT FROM TUNG OIL IS DESCRIBED AS FINE PRODUCT

Material Is Said To Give Smooth Finish And To Be Durable

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 28. — Gainesville has a new manufacturing industry, the Williamson Company, manufacturers of tung oil paint.

After exhaustive scientific tests and experiments, R. F. Williamson, father of the tung oil industry in the United States, has succeeded in creating a paint material said to be highly satisfactory and valuable for all purposes for which paint is used.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Williamson at the corner of Myrtle and Seminary streets, has recently been painted with the new tung oil paint. The finished work has excited the curiosity and interest of scores of painters in this and near-by cities and of dealers in paints and oils. On the word of an expert painter who asserts he knows paints from every angle, both manufacturing and actual use, the tung oil paint stands out as an exceptionally valuable article. The finish is velvety to the touch; without the introduction of varnish or dryer, the tung oil paint has the appearance of a fine oil enamel finish.

At the home is an enclosed screened porch, painted five years ago with tung oil paint, yet today showing almost the original lustre. Tests covering a five-year period, made on materials exposed to the elements, show little if any deterioration, according to Mr. Williamson who has been having shipped material for a fourteen-room house in Sanford.

The Williamson Company has only now begun to market its product. Those back of the enterprise believe it will meet with a cordial and instant reception by the building trades because of its durability and quality. The laboratory, kettles and other equipment connected with the manufacture of tung oil paint are located in separate buildings in the rear of the Williamson residence. As the enterprise expands, adequate accommodations will be provided and it is believed that within a reasonable length of time, Gainesville may be the home of an important manufacturing enterprise, one using a considerable quantity of the home-grown tung oil output.

Leinhart, Champion Sweet Pea Fancier, To Plant Seed Soon

Joseph Leinhart, Oviedo's only grower of blue ribbon sweet peas, yesterday afternoon declared that he expected to plant what he confidently hoped to be the largest, finest, and most interesting collection of sweet peas ever grown in the country.

The flowers will be planted on his two-acre farm in the heart of Oviedo, lying next to the Sanford-Oviedo highway just before the business district is reached. They will be blooming during the latter part of December, and already Mr. Leinhart extends a cordial invitation to all lovers of flowers to visit the gardens at any time.

Mr. Leinhart is one of Oviedo's pioneer residents. He is one of the members of an old family which did much to develop this section of Florida, and has for years been engaged as a successful truck farmer. He has recently recovered from a serious ailment which kept him confined to his bed for almost two months.

Yesterday Mr. Leinhart declared that the Oviedo outlook for a good season was exceedingly bright. "There will be an abundance of celery and plenty of oranges," he said, "but I believe we'll be getting good prices all year long."

Mr. Leinhart's sweet peas, which he grows for commercial purposes, are the envy of his friends and neighbors. Last year they won blue ribbons at the Orlando fair, as well as at an annual flower show at Winter Park where they were entered against competition from many points. Some of his sweet peas attain stems more than 15 inches in length, and all are hardy, well colored, and retain their life for several days.

BEAN RAISERS OF FLORIDA WARNED ABOUT DISEASES

Federal Pathologist Writes Letter Explaining Disorders

Information valuable to bean growers in this section is contained in the accompanying letter from W. J. Zaunmeyer, associate pathologist for the United States Department of Agriculture...

the past two years bacterial blight was of little consequence, and hence the seed originating here carried little infection.

"Information has come to me recently regarding the fact that certain of the Florida bean growers in the region of Pompano and the Glade section are having bean seed from the crops of last year which were not marketed. This, in my estimation, is a very poor practice to follow, even though such seed may be somewhat cheaper than commonly purchased seed.

fact that very few of the growers knew where their seed originated. They were planting beans, not knowing if the seed was of eastern or western origin.

"In conclusion I must say that buying bean seed from only reliable dealers is a good and the only practice to follow. Since most of the large bean seed companies operate here in the west where anthracnose is no consequence and where bacterial blight is of less frequent occurrence than in the east, bean seed can be purchased from them. I will be glad to furnish you sizes of these firms if you so desire.

Trusting you will call upon me again if I can be of further service to you, I remain, Very truly yours, W. J. Zaunmeyer, U. S. D. A. Associate Pathologist
