

BALL SEASON OPENS

Great American Game Interests Sanford People

THREE GAMES PLAYED THIS WEEK

Sanford Team Getting Down to Steady Work and Will Soon Be in Fine Condition

Sanford has a bunch of enthusiastic "fans" and the association recently formed should have no trouble in giving the people of this city a first-class article of ball, and some interesting games. This year the people are taking more interest than ever before in the national game, and from early indications it would seem that the support will be given if a good team can be put in the field. The new park when finished will be one of the best in the South, and the season should witness some of the best games in this part of the state. The season virtually opened on Monday of this week, when the boys crossed bats with the Eustis boys.

Sanford vs Eustis

As per announcement, the Eustis baseball aggregation came over from the city on the hill to try titles with the Celery City bunch of ball tossers. When play ball was called by the umpire at 1:30, the attendance was not overly large, but what was lacking in numbers was made up for by the enthusiasm of those who were in attendance. The clubs were pretty evenly matched and several clever plays were made by members of the respective clubs, which were liberally applauded. The game was closely watched and some very close decisions by the umpire were disapproved by those who saw the plays. At the close of the game the score stood five to four in favor of Eustis. Dr. Reid of Eustis acted as umpire.

Stevens was sent in to do the twirling for Sanford, but did not have his usual control, and was taken out in the third. Chubb succeeded him. The latter had the Eustis batters at his mercy throughout the remainder of the game. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning to allow Eustis to catch a train home.

Sanford vs Lakeland

On Tuesday afternoon a large and enthusiastic crowd of baseball lovers, cranks and rooters made their way to the new baseball grounds to see the game between the Lakeland and Sanford clubs, and from the racket that was made they evidently saw it—every strike and every ball. It was a cosmopolitan crowd in every sense of the word—old and young, rich and poor, saint and sinner. The game cannot be classed as a brilliant one (there were too many errors for that), but can be claimed as entertaining. The first runs were scored by Lakeland in the third inning, when two were put to their credit. In the sixth inning Sanford succeeded in getting one man over the plate, and in the seventh four more were added to it. Lakeland scored two more in the eighth and three in the ninth. Sanford also made two in the ninth. This tied the score. In the tenth neither team scored, and the game was called to allow the visiting club to train for home.

Some good plays were made by members of both clubs which were applauded by the onlookers. Dr. King acted as umpire and gave general satisfaction.

Battery for Lakeland, Battle, C. Wilder, Bower

Battery for Sanford, Chubb, Beardall.

Struck out, by Battle 8; by Wilder 6; by Chubb 10. Hits, Sanford 8; Lakeland 14.

	SCORE
Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10

Kissimmee-Sanford Game

Yesterday the Kissimmee Cowboys came up to take a fall out of the Celery Growers. Old Jupiter Pluvius seemed unwilling to let the youngsters get together, and for an hour before the game the bottom of the clouds fell out and sky juice fell at a great rate. However, it takes more than mere water to dampen the ardor of the ball players, and quite a good sized crowd of fans wended their way to the park despite the fact that as yet no shelter has been provided. The new park was in fair condition, and play was called at four o'clock by Umpire King.

It was a day for mud hens and in this the Sanford boys seemed to excel, for they settled down and played a good, steady game having the visitors at their mercy throughout the six innings. In that short time they had piled up 13 runs to Kissimmee's 2. The game was too one-sided to be interesting. Following is the official score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	R	H	E
Sanford	1	1	1	2	7	1	13	8	10
Kissimmee	0	0	1	0	1	0	2	6	14

OPINIONS ON SANFORD

Boston Paper Gives Sanford A Good Article

FARMERS GET SEVERAL CROPS

Rapidly Growing City That Has Gained Game Through Wonderful Crops

Every week Sanford springs into the limelight of the public through articles upon the wonderful possibilities of the great celery delta. Last week The Herald published two articles from the Country Gentlemen, a well known magazine devoted to farming interests. This week there is a good article upon the front page of the Christian Science Monitor, a daily paper published in Boston, Mass., and having a national reputation and large circulation. These articles are not paid advertising but are given by various papers and magazines in various parts of the United States on account of the reputation gained by Sanford as the vegetable center of the world. All of the good things mentioned about Sanford are not confined to home papers and while there are many articles published in various papers that never get to our exchange table, some that do are so good that The Herald cannot refrain from reproducing them. We give below the article that appeared in the Daily Monitor on May 28, accompanied by a large half-tone cut of a celery field:

This rapidly growing place offers special inducements to the home-seeker, the tourist and the sportsman. For 100 miles to the south from Sanford the St. Johns river is navigable for small pleasure craft. During four or five winter months myriads of duck and snipe migrate to these waters and adjacent lowlands; and in the virgin forests stretching away on either side, quail, turkey and deer are found in great abundance. The waters of the river and the numerous lakes of which it is formed are teeming with black bass, small mouth bass, pickerel, catfish, grinnel and perch of many varieties.

Less than five years ago there was a population here of 1500; today the city has 3500 people. Sanford has more railroads than any place in the state, except the metropolis, Jacksonville; and being also located on the St. Johns river, has the benefit of water competition, giving it the best freight rate of any town in the trucking and fruit growing section.

Abundant and cheap irrigation enables the Sanford farmer to produce three crops between Oct. 1 and June 1 each season. Lettuce, celery and tomatoes or egg plants—in the order named—is the rotation; and a five acre farm on Sanford land, it is claimed, will yield more income than any quarter section of the best tilled or most fertile farm in the United States. There are dozens of farmers who have accumulated small fortunes here in the last half dozen years.

Sanford is termed "The Celery City" from the extent and success of this industry. Celery seed are sown any time from Aug. 15 to Nov. 15. Plants in the age of about six weeks are set in a field. Growing and taking care of plants thereafter is the work of two men for five acres of land. Hand power is used mostly.

This city is in the central part of the state, and its social advantages are excellent. There is a fine line of steamers plying daily between here and Jacksonville.

A Farewell Reception

An informal farewell reception was tendered the Misses Pritchard Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Peabody.

FLORIDA CELERY AT SEATTLE

Good Prices for our Products Shipped to Far Pacific Coast

Two carloads of Florida celery and pineapples arrived here today. Two cars of tomatoes from Florida which were scheduled to arrive today have been held up somewhere between Billings and Seattle to be ice'd, says the Seattle Intelligencer of May 13. The tomatoes were becoming overripe and to save any further loss (the cars were ice'd. One car may arrive here tomorrow, while the other will probably arrive here Friday. The celery is selling at $4.50 per crate. The pineapples are bringing $5 to $5.25 per crate, and tomatoes $1 per basket. The number of pineapples to the crate ranges from 24 to 30.

Soo Canal is Broken

With all the weight of Lake Superior behind, an ungoverned torrent of water rushed through the four million-dollar Canadian canal.

The lock was wrecked when the steamer Perry G. Walker rammed its bow through the lower gate.

The canal presents a tremendous spectacle, including two water falls and a giant whirlpool. With the upper gates open when the lower gates were crushed, water was given instant play. The big steamer Assinibion was torn from its moorings and struck the Walker, ramming a hole in her side. The cargo shifted, which damaged her. The Walker whirled around several times and finally landed on a shoal.

The ore-laden steamer Crescent City, just entering the lock was swept down, overtook the Assinibion, struck two glancing blows, after having a great hole torn in her side as she swept past the broken gate. She was towed ashore.

Loss to the Canadian government is probably $250,000, the Crescent City, $100,000. Damage to the Walker and Assinibion is light.

The Walker's captain says his engineer caused the accident by a mistake in going ahead instead of "backing."

New Counterfeit Detected

A deceptive counterfeit $10 national bank note, bearing the portrait of William McKinley has been discovered. The new counterfeit is a very clever piece of workmanship. It is on the Citizens' Central National Bank of New York city, of the series of 1902, and apparently is printed from lithographic plates on two pieces of paper, between which silk threads have been distributed. The numbering is poor, the figures being irregular in size and alignment, but the pink seal is excellent, both as to color and workmanship.

Mrs. Dickens Entertains

Mrs. J. W. Dickens entertained the Book Circle at her home last Wednesday afternoon from four to six. The usual interesting program was carried out.

The Book Circle is one of Sanford's most popular societies, the members meeting once each month at the different houses, exchanging books, giving readings and otherwise enjoying an afternoon of pleasure and profit.

Prominent Lawyer Dead

News was received here Wednesday morning of the death of Walter M. Davis, a son of Col. Robert W. Davis, one of Tampa's foremost lawyers, the young man died at his sister's home in Palatka as a result of an illness brought on by a nervous breakdown. He was a member of the bar in Jacksonville, and leaves a wife and two children. Mr. Davis was thirty-five years of age.

Will Pitch For Sanford

Mansell, the latest addition to the pitching staff of the Sanford Sandspurs, has arrived in the city and had his first try out in the Sanford-Easton game yesterday. While not showing up in his true form, the fans are well pleased with him and he will probably develop into the real goods.

Will Play for Cup

A beautiful cup has been purchased by the Orlando and Sanford baseball teams, and is now on display at the store of T. H. Evans. The teams will play a series of fourteen games—the winner to get the prize.—Orlando Sentinel.

Additional Local

Mrs. E. W. Peabody had as her guests during the past week her sisters, Mrs. Ella Anderson of Geneva, Fla., and Mrs. L. Pritchard and two daughters of Macon, Ga.

Mrs. T. E. King of St. Augustine and Mrs. E. P. Welborne of DeLand representing the Equitable Insurance Co. are in the city this week.

Great Banking System

The Witham system of banks among which is the Peoples Bank of this city is gaining a world wide reputation and many other sections of the country are noting the wonderful progress being made by this southern institution. The following is from the Western Banker published at Omaha, Nebraska:

"Among the interesting men whom we met at the Virginia Bankers' Convention was Mr. W. S. Witham, of Atlanta, Ga. He is now associated with ninety six banks, and acts as Financial Agent, representing them in a series of transactions by which they are mutually benefited."

"He goes to the North, where there is plenty of money on the market, and puts it to earning good interest rates in the South, where it is needed, and the Banks who are thus benefitted are more than pleased with the results."

"He has lately been adding several Banks up in New York to the System, and they begin to open their eyes when they find out how much it means to them. Mr. Witham has big balances on hand constantly in several New York Banks, and could command a cool million at any moment. It is this strong ready cash addition to the assets of the Witham Banks which enables all of them to travel through two panics and eight tight money markets, during the past twenty years, with safety, and without even a complaint. It is a wonderful banking plan. He is the pioneer in country banking and is the only banker in this country who insures the depositors against loss."

One of the most enjoyable social events of the week was a "jock luncheon" given as a compliment to the Misses Pritchard of Macon, Ga., on Friday evening.

Officers were received and filed: Report of Licenses, Sheriff report of fines, Forfeitures and Costs, Pay-Roll of State Witnesses, Report of Sheriff to State Auditor Pay Roll of Road Camp, Clerk's report of Tax Redemptions, L. Wichtendahl report of Fines, Forfeitures and Costs, Report of Co. Treasurer, Supt. Co. Home, Co. Physician, Supt. of Roads and Bridges, and Financial Statement of auditor.

Board examined vouchers, ordered warrants drawn and adjourned to next regular meeting.

A GREAT CELEBRATION

Sanford Will Welcome Visitors On The Fifth

DAY OF RECREATION AND FUN

Barbecue, Ball Games, Parades, Speech Making And Amusements Will Insure a Grand Success

The grand celebration to be given by the public spirited citizens of Sanford is now assured of success and all the obstacles have been cleared away, the money has been raised and the assurance has been granted that the Fifth of July will go down in the annals of history as one of the greatest outpouring of Florida people ever witnessed in the state. The committees have been formed and now have the details of the celebration well in hand and from the reports the celebration will take place on the fifth day of July as the Fourth this year occurs on Sunday.

In order to fitly celebrate the natal day of American independence a large amount of money will necessarily have to be raised and the question of giving the visitors a good time naturally laid with the committee on barbecue, one item in itself that is most important and will entail the greatest expense. The citizens have responded most loyally and our friends in the country have also expressed their willingness to assist in the preparation for the barbecue. Sanford is famous the world over for her hospitality and the citizens would not dream of inviting such a large crowd of visitors to the city without providing plenty for the inner man. The committee on the barbecue now report that everything will be arranged for the entertainment of at least 5,000 visitors and none will be allowed to go away hungry.

In the amusement line there will be two hotly contested games of ball between Sanford and Orlando. One game will be in the morning and one in the afternoon thus enabling the visitors to witness one or both games at their pleasure. Potato races, sack races, catching the greased pig, a tournament, horse races, a tub race on the lake and kindred sports will occupy the intervals of the day. The barbecue will occur promptly at noon after which Hon. Frank Clark will make the address of the day at the opera house. Mr. Clark at present is very much in the public eye not only in his native state but in every state in the Union and his speech at Sanford on this occasion will attract numerous visitors and will be copied extensively by the metropolitan papers. Mr. Clark will also have some good news for the people of this section regarding deep water in the St. Johns river, Florida's ship canal and other subjects that are of the utmost importance at this time. Mr. Clark has accepted the invitation and declared positively that he will make the address at this time.

Particulars will be given later regarding this grand celebration and it behooves the citizens of the Celery Delta to work every day from now until the fifth of July to make the celebration one of the greatest events in the history of Sanford. All contributions to the general fund will be gratefully accepted no matter how small, as the committees need the assurance of good will from every citizen as much as the money, although the money is greatly needed.

Meeting of Committees

The committees of the Fourth of July celebration will meet tonight in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock. All of the members are requested to be present and also any citizens who have any suggestions or objections. Following are the committees:

- B. W. Herndon, general chairman.
- Finance Committee—M. A. Mott, chairman; F. S. Frank and C. H. Laffer.
- Arrangement Committee—R. J. Holly, chairman; A. P. Connelly, D. G. Wagner, C. H. Evans and S. Rapp.
- Transportation Committee—Mr. Taylor, chairman; J. C. Higgins and F. P. Foster.
- Barbecue Committee—Mr. Brady, chairman; A. B. Cameron, Alex. Vaughan and G. W. Spencer.
- Advertising Committee—R. J. Holly, chairman; W. W. Stripling and L. P. McCuller.
- Amusement Committee—Mr. Stevens, chairman; C. B. Calhoun and Geo. Fox, Jr.
- Reception Committee—Hon. J. R. Whitney, chairman; Messrs. Daniels, Foster, Roberts, N. H. Garner, C. M. Hand, Forrest Lake, L. K. Phillips, Mettinger, T. A. Newlan, A. M. Thrasher, D. L. Thrasher, M. F. Robinson, R. H. Marks and G. S. Derry.

The Editor's Chance

The editor sat in his chair, Rubbing his pate with devoid of hair, Reading his paper with listless air, Scanning a want ad appearing there. A want ad that read like this:

"Wanted—A man who will work all day And work at night at a small boy's pay. One who is tranquil amid the fray. Patient and humble every way. When anything goes amiss.

"Must have a broad and a learned mind. Must bear the troubles of all mankind. Must smile and like it when he's malign'd. Must spend his life in a ceaseless grind. And then be laid on the shelf.

The editor said: "That looks good to me. Compared to my job, it's a snap," said he. "Rest here in a chance to be glad and free. And he smiled as he turned the sanctum key: "I'll get that job myself!"

☛ The eclipse of the moon was watched with great interest by Sanford people last Thursday night. The eclipse was caused by the moon getting in the shadow of the earth, and as the earth moves in the same direction as the moon, the earth being between the two, the eclipse was seen for some time. Of course the moon gets "full" at times, but the old fellow is rather regular in his habits for all that, and lets the earth's shadow get in the way at given periods. The eclipse would have been entire, but for the fact that the Florida legislature had not yet adjourned, and the moon was afraid that some of the law-makers would legislate against this eclipse doing business without a license and occupation tax. As soon as the legislature can adjourn from the arduous duties of doing nothing, the heavens will inaugurate a new design in fireworks made especially for the Sanford Fourth of July celebration. It will be in shape of a monster comet, the same that was seen in 1881, and will be within fourteen million miles of the earth, which ought to bring it very close to Tallahassee. Some of the most noted astronomers have predicted that Jeems Alexander will be closely identified with the flight of this comet when Frank Clark makes his address at Sanford on the Fourth. The last time the comet made its appearance was during the stormy days of '61. Naturally it comes to us again during the stirring days of the Florida legislature, and the explanation of Ion Farris when he returns to Jacksonville. The comet will also be very plain in the sky when the state prohibition campaign opens. In Jacksonville and Tampa the comet can be seen by the aid of telescopes and a liberal dose of Lewis' 88 which enables people to see things that are otherwise invisible to the naked eye of those who ride on the water wagon instead of taking a "joy ride" in a buzz car. Several "comet clubs" have been formed in the two cities mentioned above, and those who reside in the dry counties, await the result of their investigations with great interest.

☛ So you are twenty-one? And you stand up clear-eyed, clean-minded, to look all the world squarely in the eye. You are a man! Did you ever think, son, how much it has cost to make a man out of you? Some one has figured up the cost in money of rearing a child. He says to bring a young man to legal age, care for him, and educate him, costs $25,000, which is a lot of money to put into flesh and blood. But that isn't all! You have cost your father many hard knocks and short dinners, and worry and gray streaks in his hair. And your mother—ah, boy, you will never know! You have cost her days and nights of anxiety and wrinkles in her dear face, and heart-aches and sacrifice. It has been expensive to grow you. But—If you are what we think you are, you are worth all you cost, and much, much more. Be sure of this: While father doesn't say much but "hello, son," way down deep in his tough, staunch heart, he thinks you are the finest ever. And as for the little mother, she simply cannot keep her love and pride for you out of her eyes. You are a man now. And some time you must step into your father's shoes. He wouldn't like you to call him old, but just the same he isn't as young as he used to be. You see, young man, he has been working pretty hard for more than twenty years to help you up! And already your mother is beginning to lean on you. Doesn't that sober you, twenty-one? Your father has done fairly well, but you can do better. You may not think so, but he does. He has given you a better chance than he had. In many ways you can begin where he left off. He expects a good deal from you, and that is why he has tried to make a man of you. Don't flinch, boy. The world will try you out. It will put to the test every fiber in you. But you are made of good stuff. Once the load is fairly strapped on your young shoulders, you will carry it and scarcely feel it—if only there be the willing and cheerful mind. All hail, you, on the threshold! It's high time you were beginning to pay the freight, and your back debts to father and mother. You will pay them, won't you, boy? How will you pay them? By being always and everywhere a man!

☛ Every employer is worried more or less by some of his employees who are shiftless in their method of attending to their different duties. The employer expects good, honest work from each employee and on the same principle should expect to pay each employee the wages earned. Various are the rules laid down by the business houses and many are the complaints registered by the employees. A Chicago man who has a large number of employees under him has posted up in the various departments of his establishment cards which bear the above caption and the following terse rules. These make it very plain what he expects and what he does not expect, of those who draw salaries from him: Don't lie—it wastes my time and yours. I'm sure to catch you in the end and that's the wrong end. Watch your work, not the clock. A long day's work makes a long day short and a day's short work makes face long. Give me more than I expect—and I'll pay you more than you expect. I can afford to increase your pay if you increase my profits.

You owe so much to yourself that you can't afford to owe anybody else. Keep out of debt or you'll keep out of my shops. Dishonesty is never an accident. Good men, like good women, can't see temptation when they meet it. Mind your own business and in time you'll have a business of your own to mind. Don't do anything that will hurt your self-respect. The employee who is willing to steal for me is capable of stealing from me. It's none of my business what you do at night. But if dissipation affects what you do next day, and you do hurt as well as I demand, you'll last half as long as you hoped.

Don't tell me what I'd like to hear, but what I ought to hear, I don't want a valet to my vanity, but I need one for my dollars. Don't kick if I kick—if you're worth while correcting, you're worth while keeping. I don't waste time cutting specks out of rotten apples.

☛ The Saunterer endeavors to be fair with everyone, and while laying on the lash when needed, tries to give credit where credit is due. Many compliments were showered upon me last week over the article relating to the telephone girls, their trials and tribulations. Since penning those lines, I noticed a good article in the Reporter-Star, taken from a Texas paper about the telephone girl and it is good enough to be reproduced below:

The telephone girl sits still in her chair and listens to voices from everywhere. She hears all the gossip, she hears all the news, she knows who is happy and who has the blues; she knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, she knows every girl who is chasing the boys; she knows of our troubles, she knows of our strife; she knows every man who talks mean to his wife; she knows every time we are out with "the boys;" she hears the excuses each fellow employs; she knows every woman who has a dark past; she knows every man who's inclined to be "fast;" in fact, there's a secret beneath each saucy curl of that quiet, demure-looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl told all that she knows, it would turn half our friends into bitterest foes; she could sow a small wind that would soon be a gale; engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she could let go a story which, gaining in force, would cause half our wives to sue for divorce; she could get all our churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing night; in fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew if she'd tell a tenth part of the things that she knows. Oh, brother, now doesn't it make your head whirl when you think what you owe to the telephone girl?

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. J. M. Lord Celebrates His 70th Birthday

There was a family reunion at the residence of Mr. J. M. Lord June 2nd, 1909. At 9 a. m. the family all began to gather and enjoy the day with father and mother, in honor of their father's 70th birthday.

Rev. M. M. Lord, wife and baby came from Lady Lake, Fla. Mrs. M. E. Smith and two children of Jacksonville came the first of the week to be present.

At 11 o'clock they had a very interesting program consisting of songs and Scripture lesson and several interesting pieces were read. Rev. M. M. Lord gave a splendid talk on his father's life and how we should follow his example in godly living.

Mrs. Bryan gave a brief sketch of his life and Mrs. Smith recited a little poem, "Father's Seventieth Birthday."

At 12 o'clock dinner was served on a long table on the grounds. The afternoon was spent socially by all.

—M. L. D.

John Minton Lord was born June 2nd, 1839, near Irvinton, Ga., in the humble home of his parents, Mills Minton and Frances Louisa Lord. He was reared on the farm helping his father in the blacksmith shop until he was 21 years old. When the civil war between the North and South broke out in 1861 he entered Company I, 3rd Georgia Regiment, Right's Brigade, Anderson Division, Longstreet's core of the Army of Virginia, and served nearly three years. He was wounded in the battle of Gettysburg, Penn., on July 2nd, 1864, and was taken prisoner and held nine months at Point Lookout, Md. He returned home on crutches and was there when the war ended. When he returned home his father was dead and his mother with four little children were homeless, so he had to make a new home for them. In December 1865 they came to Columbia county, Fla. On November 28, 1869, he was married to Jane Ward Tanner. In 1874 they moved by team to Orange county and soon settled on their present home.

They have eight children, all of whom are married except the youngest. There are sixteen grand children, who are all proud to be here today to honor his seventieth birthday. May he live long and enjoy many more such days as this.

Minnie Lord Bryan

Sanford, Fla., June 2, 1909.

Today is father's seventieth birthday. June second, nineteen ought nine; Our entire family is united; And thirty-four happy voices chime. Each one happy and delighted Praising God father is still here. To advise and lead in the right way. With smiles and presents we wish him good cheer That he may live to see many a happy birthday.

Our thoughts turn back to fond childhood day. When we stood at his and mother's knee. And in our minds we can hear them say, My child lead a life of love, kindness and purity. And you will always have happiness none can destroy. May God bless and keep thee, my girl, my boy. —Mrs. M. E. Smith.

Died

At the home of his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lord, June 3rd, 1909, little Phillip Ward, the seventeen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Smith of Jacksonville, Fla.

He has gone to heaven we know, For his sweet life was pure as snow. Our home is so lonely, But in God we trust only. To meet our darling over there. —Minnie.

Just a Little Bouquet

Jacksonville, June 9th. Dear Bro. Holly—The Sanford Herald keeps right in the front rank of country weeklies, and I bid you God speed in your great work. I always enjoy The Herald, for its pages are filled with news from the charming little city that I called my home for three years. Then, I enjoy a clean up-to-date paper, and they do not all come up to that standard. Having had, long experience in newspaper work, I think I know a good local paper when I see it, and I am frank to say that the Celery City has one of the best in the state.

After reading your last issue, I felt it in my heart to say this; and I believe it will do you more good now than for me to come down and say it after you are dead; you couldn't hear it then. Many times as I see the bright flowers banked on a casket I regret that the departed cannot catch the fragrance. Oh, how he would have appreciated a few roses while he was tolling along in life.

Well, you have a fine town, an excellent people, and I am glad to see they are standing by The Herald.

—Yours, very truly, —D. B. SWEAT.

Get Your Tea Roses Now

If I can get orders at once for 1,000 tea roses, the price on same can be made at 25 cents apiece, or $2 per dozen. These roses will bloom this season, and this is a good chance to get some fine stock.

—L. H. TEMPLE.

The New York court of appeal has denied the application of Albert T. Patrick for a new trial.

THE WESTERN WONDERLAND

Interesting Essay Written For High School Commencement

BY EDWARD LANE

It was in the summer of 1908 that I had the pleasure of visiting the Western part of the United States.

The scenery of America is just as beautiful and wonderful as that of Europe.

The Manitou Cliff Dwellers of Colorado aside from their great historical interest are a wonderful and beautiful sight in their unique location, under an immense over-hanging ledge of rock. There are crumbling and moss-covered walls, picturesque towers and queer buildings, all appearing to be thousands of years old. These occupy a frontage of 175 feet and are composed of a number of houses, containing altogether about one hundred ruins. Aside from the ruins is one of the most beautiful canons in the Pike's Peak region, known as the Cliff Dwellers' canon. Here there are many peculiar rock formations, including some small balanced rocks, and one place in the canon known as Glacial Garden, contains the finest examples of the effect of glacial action known.

Denver, Colorado, often called the Queen City of the Plains, is a city of about 200,000 population and has many beautiful buildings. It has the largest auditorium for national conventions of any city in the United States.

Pike's Peak is 14,117 feet above sea level. Major Zebulon Pike and his small party in 1806 made the first attempt to ascend to the summit of the "Great Snow Mountain" as it was then called. After many weary miles of difficult climbing they were forced to turn back. It was fifty years before another attempt was made to reach the summit. This time George R. Ruxton alone was successful and pitched his tent on the banks of the rapid little mountain stream, the Fontaine Qui Bonille.

In 1889 a carriage road was started, running for sixteen miles in a zigzag pathway. On the 28th day of September, 1888, papers for the Manitou and Pike's Peak Railway Company were drawn up and filed with the proper authorities. The grading began in the fall of 1889 and for over a year an army of workmen and hundreds of teams were kept busy upon this work. The railway was completed on the 20th day of October, 1890. The exact length of the road is 46992 feet and the average elevation overcome 844 feet to the mile. The locomotives were made at the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Philadelphia, Pa. It was on the 28th of June that I had the pleasure of riding upon this road to the summit. When I reached the top a light snow was falling and I was unable to see very far. While there I spent the time in the hotel which is on the summit. Within the hotel is a good lunch room, an interesting curio store and a Western Union station, the highest telegraph office on the globe. On top of the hotel is a steel observatory and a powerful telescope that aids materially in the study of distant objects.

Salt Lake City, the next place of interest I visited is a city of more than 53,000 inhabitants and is very beautifully laid out. The streets are 132 feet from curb to curb, the widest streets in the United States. One street is twenty-two miles in length, the city is noted for large and beautiful buildings. The Salt Lake temple and the great Mormon tabernacle being the principal ones. The corner stone of the temple was laid April 6th, 1853. The building was completed April 6th, 1893. It is 186 feet long and 99 feet wide covering an area of 15,562 feet. Including the temple annex and smaller building the cost of construction was about four million dollars. The temple is built of granite, bought from a quarry about twenty miles distant. Before the advent of a railroad to the quarry in 1873 the huge blocks of stone were transported by ox teams. It took four yoke of oxen four days to transport a single large stone from the quarry to the building. The temple faces east and has six towers, three on the east and three on the west end. It is closed to the general public, being in use the greater part of the time for baptismal ceremonies and sacred gatherings.

The great Mormon tabernacle designed by Brigham Young is 250 feet long, 150 feet wide and 70 feet high. The huge dome is supported without a column and is built entirely of fine wood. It will seat 8,000 persons and nearly half as many more can be crowded in. The ventilation is remarkably good, for there are fifty doors opening outwardly and the entire building can be emptied in seven or eight minutes. It was built between 1864 and 1867. This is the building used by the Mormons for regular Sunday services, and all beliefs are invited to attend. In the west end of the tabernacle is the great organ built under the direction of Joseph Ridges. It has been conceded by visiting musicians that this is the finest instrument in America. The front towers have an altitude of 48 feet and the dimensions of the organ are 30 by 33 feet; it has 110 stops and accessories and contains a total of over 5,000 pipes, ranging in length from one-fourth inch to thirty-two feet. It comprises five complete organs: Solo, swell, great, choir and pedal. The organ is blown by a 10 horse power electric motor and two gangs of feeders furnish 5000 cubic feet of air in a minute. The great choir known generally as the Mormon Tabernacle Choir is the largest regular church choir in the world. The present organization has 550 enrolled singers.

Great Salt Lake is 30 miles wide with average depth of 10 feet and area of 1600 square miles. The water is 26 per cent salt and the specific gravity is so great that it sustains the human body in any position. The nearest lake resort is Saltair pavilion located at Saltair Beach on the great Salt Lake. This is reached by a thirty minute ride from the city on the Salt Lake and Los Angeles railway. This magnificent pavilion was built at a cost of over $350,000 and was opened to the public July 4th, 1893. In length it is 1200 feet, in width 355 feet. The top of the main tower is 130 feet above the surface of the water. The lower floor is used principally for an immense lunch room and refreshment bowers, provided with large tables and seats enough to accommodate over a thousand people at one time. The upper floor of the main building is used for dancing and is one of the largest dancing floors in the world. It is large enough to accommodate over two thousand couples at one time.

At Los Angeles on July 2nd they had just begun to plant celery in the fields. They can only raise one-half of the number of crates of celery on the same amount of land as we can, and they use all Japanese labor.

Santa Catalina Island is thirty miles from San Pedro. A small steamer runs between San Pedro and Catalina twice a day. The trip upon the sea is grand. On the island is a small town, called Avalon. Here they have all kinds of amusements, such as surf bathing, fishing and boating. They also have the glass bottom boats that enable one to see all kinds of fish and seaweeds.

From Los Angeles I went to San Francisco. Some of the damage that the earthquake had done was still visible, but a great deal of the city has been rebuilt since the earthquake and the building is still going on. San Francisco has one of the best harbors in the world in its widest part being three miles and from sixty to eighty fathoms deep. While at San Francisco I had the pleasure of seeing sixteen of the large battleships which were anchored in the harbor. These were a part of the Atlantic fleet that was going around the world. From San Francisco I went to Portland, Oregon, or the Rose City as it is called, on account of the beautiful roses that are grown there. Portland is a city of 200,000 inhabitants. Since 1900 the population has doubled. Portland boasts also of her fine fresh water harbor. Some of the buildings are still standing on the old fair ground. The building is the most wonderful of its kind that has ever been built and there will never be another equal to it, unless one is built at Portland, for the logs are too large to be carried by rail and they can raft them down the river to Portland without injuring them in anyway. Portland has the oldest church steeple in the world. It is made out of an old tree which is 57 feet high and the bell is in the top.

Seattle is noted for the depth of her harbor. It is 300 to 700 fathoms deep. While at Seattle I went out to the naval yards and saw the battleship Oregon which captured the last fleet in the Spanish American war. She has upon her four 13-inch guns, eight 12 inch and twenty 4 inch guns.

In all the world there is no tourist resort comparable to Yellowstone Park. Its streams and valleys are not surpassed in beauty by any in the old world. It has the most wonderful natural phenomena known to scientists. Its area includes wonderful geysers, hot springs and the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone which is noted for its suit of colors, for artistic and beautiful nature harmony.

"Till the mountains are worn out and the rivers forget to flow, till the clouds are weary of replenishing springs and the springs forget to gush and the rills to sing shall their names be kept fresh with reverent honor which are inscribed upon the book of national remembrance."

New Electric Theatre

W. P. Ramsdell and W. D. Holmes are fitting up a room in the Leffer Block for an amusement place and will install a plant for an electric theatre. The plant will be put in first class shape and the management purpose to operate the theatre for the colored people only. "As there is no place of this kind in Sanford at present the venture ought to be a paying one."

Mayor Jewell Cleans Up

Mayor William H. Jewell of Orlando, in company with the city physician, made a personal inspection of the city, back yards included. He then published an appeal to the "clean up," in which he gives advice that might with profit be followed by the people of other towns. Mayor Jewell says: "No matter how humble the home of white or colored citizens, that home should and can be made and kept neat and clean. I urge all and each to clean up and burn or otherwise destroy or remove all weeds, rubbish and useless or decayed matter from their premises."

The Reporter-Star states that the contest was very exciting especially at the close.

TO THE LATE LEGISLATURE

The legislature of 1909 having given up this life and passed into the mist of ancient history, THE HERALD would lay flowers upon the graves of the departed, and like all obituaries, give the good points of its life and overlook the bad. From time immemorial it has been the privilege of the newspapers and the general public to criticize and make a jest of the meetings of the legislature.

When a good citizen becomes a candidate for either branch of the legislature, he is embodied with all the virtues of a saint, he is a public servant, he is to devote his life and all he has to the interests of the dear people. But let him be elected, and then, oh! then, the aforesaid saint becomes a football for the public to kick and knock, and said public does so with a hearty good will.

No matter how hard this public servant has labored for the interests of his constituents, no matter the rebuffs and insults he is enforced to undergo in order to carry out some small project for his home county, he returns home to meet with what?

A rousing reception and expressions of good will?

Not on your life.

The public servant in many instances sneaks in at the back door while his former dear friends and neighbors are waiting at the front with a club. No matter what the import of a bill may be, there are always two sides to the question, and the poor servant of the people is obliged to make enemies whether he supports a bill or votes against it.

And thus the same old game is played every two years.

The present legislature is no better and no worse than the members of the previous years. If they have dallied with the time and have turned back the hands of the clock, if they have fooled the public with freak bills, and wasted the substance of the tax payers, they have done no more nor no less than the great statesmen that have gone before.

What would you?

They have sixty days in which the calendar is full of bills, good, bad and indifferent, enough bills, in fact, to take up twice sixty days. About two hundred hamlets, towns and cities have bills to pass regarding the charters and other municipal affairs with which the legislature has nothing to do and know nothing about. They receive five hundred letters a day from each aforesaid hamlet, town and city in which the citizens take sides, and state their ideas pro and con.

The public servant cannot serve two masters, and torn between conflicting emotions and burning with a desire to do his duty signs a bill, the relative merits of which he is as familiar as the inhabitants of Mars, and then awaits the deluge. He gets the deluge all right.

The last week of the session approaches and the calendar is as full of these bills as ever. Night sessions are in order and the public servant burns the midnight oil on the hog question, the charter bill, the whiskey question, the gopher question, the fishes of the sea and the birds of the air, the alligators, the school book, the horse racing and minor bills. Then the very important bills are up for consideration as to whether a newspaper man can ride on a pass or ride the bumpers, as to whether an editor can put a local notice in the paper without a tag or not, as to whether an editor has a right to live or not, and whether an editor has a right to publish a paper in Florida or not.

All these important bills confront the public servant at the last moment, and when finally, the clock having been turned back so far that the hands break, Claude L'Engle has been put out for the last time, Speaker Farris turns the last somersault, President Hudson receives the last silver service, and Jecms Alexander takes off the boxing gloves, and the session adjourns sine die.

The public servant returns home to what?

A glass of cold buttermilk.

Therefore THE HERALD would strew the graves of the departed with flowers from which the thorns have been taken.

On Father's Day wear a sunflower for the public servant.

He had done his duty.

The devil himself could do no more.

ROBBING THE HAND THAT FEEDS

Under the above caption, Everybody's Magazine for June has one of the best articles regarding the southern shipper and the commission men of the northern markets that has ever been published. Coming as it does upon the eve of the association of the orange growers of Florida, the article has met with general approbation over the state. And it is to be hoped the vegetable growers will also be able to perfect an organization before another shipping season.

That the grower and the shipper today stand a better chance of a square deal than ever before in the history of the produce commission business is undeniable. The improvement in the past five years is marked; a better spirit is apparent. But in spite of this the commercial integrity of the market street is still at a low register.

Moreover, the fact that a shipper today stands a better chance of getting an honest return on his goods is mainly owing to two causes which are quite apart from a higher standard of commercial morals on the street; compulsion, not conversion to a higher code, has driven the average commission merchant from the old line of undisguised fraud to more refined and less obvious methods of "whipping the devil around the stump." The causes which have done most to bring about the compulsory improvement in the methods of commission merchants are organization on the part of growers and shippers, and the passage and enforcement of corrective legislation in the various states. These agencies are still in an almost infantile state of development; they have gone far enough to demonstrate the correctness of the principle of cooperation, but they are, as yet, no match for the seasoned cunning, and the trained resourcefulness of the crooked commission merchant, who has taken a post graduate course in the school of stacking the cards and loading the dice against the small shippers.

It is in the effort to arouse and inform the growers of this country—the men who work in the soil that the rest of us may be well nourished—so that they will rise up and use the powerful lever of cooperation for their own protection, that these articles are written. Should this be done the husbandmen of America would be richer each year by millions of dollars. In the present article it is necessary to arrive at an understanding of the prevailing practices of the produce market street, to learn how its repertoire of tricks and frauds has evolved from bold and undisguised robbing to a system of manipulations cunningly devised to keep the manipulators out of prison and at the same time to keep an unlawful share of the shipper's proceeds in the hands of "the house."

In following this exhibition of the produce commission conjurer's bag of tricks, these should be borne in mind: that there will always remain a small proportion of dishonest men in all branches of human endeavor. That a certain number of growers and shippers not only fail to live up to contracts when rival commission merchants offer them higher prices, but even resort to such tricks as putting a core of gravel and coarse sand in a barrel of potatoes. And that there are many honest men in the business who abhor the fraud by which they are surrounded, who would welcome a system of cooperation among growers that would insure a full and honest return on every shipment, who would be glad to have rigid market inspection and anti-fraud laws in every state, and to see them enforced to the limit. But both of these classes of men are now lonesome in the business; they are hardly representative of the prevailing spirit.

VETO IT, GOVERNOR

Governor Gilchrist has on his desk for approval or disapproval a bill which provides that every item printed in a newspaper for which said newspaper receives compensation shall be headed with the words, "This is an advertisement."

The intent of the measure is doubtless a good one, but its practical results will work a hardship upon the members of the press that the state has no right to impose. For instance, one column of two line reading notices will require one-third column space for these advertising tag lines. Who is going to pay for this extra space? The advertiser won't pay for it.

The governor has shown a most friendly feeling for the newspaper men of the state since he has been in office. We hope he will come to their rescue in this instance and put this iniquitous hudson-burr bill to sleep for ever. Touch your pen in the ink, Governor, and tell the press boys of Florida that you are not afraid of their honesty and that you are not going to allow this imposition to be placed on them by a set of royaiddun legislators.—Pensacola News.

FLEA BITTEN

"Sic-em-Semper" contributes the following to the Inverness Chronicle:

"The wicked flea which fleeth when no man pursueth is neither the old-time wicked flea, nor the flea that fleeth in Inverness. The wicked flea that fleeth in Inverness fleeth all the night long over all sorts, parts, kinds and conditions of anatomy, is no respecter of persons, but fleeth over all alike, high and low, rich and poor, priest and layman, and is industriously, maliciously, and vindictively pursued by the

Just and the unjust, with maledictions and cuss-dictions, both loud and deep on the man who haveth, moreover especially on the streets, razorbacks, and likewise tracks fit and good for nothing but to scatter fleas, hysterics and profanity. Verily in the matter of prejudice against the hog and flea the despised Turk scoreth a home run over and above his Christian neighbor."

The people of Asheville have faith in printer's ink," says the Charlotte Observer. "They have voted to take every year from $2,000 to $10,000 out of the city's tax fund, for the purpose of advertising their town. Charlotte began the work of advertising itself as far back as 1888, and keeps it up. It has the evidence to show that it pays—if done right—and Charlotte's plan of giving the pictures to back up facts, in the shape of an artistic publication, is the plan that pays."

The most prosperous and progressive towns are like the most prosperous and progressive merchants—they let the world know what they have to sell.

Sanford is growing more rapidly than any city of similar size in the South. The fire limit at present is too small and many frame buildings are being erected that in a few years will be in the heart of the business section. It would be well for the City Council to pass an ordinance at once enlarging the fire limits and constricting the erecting of frame store buildings. The future appearance of Sanford depends upon this question of frame buildings.

THE SANFORD HERALD had twelve pages last week. It's a wonder how Holly does it.—Pensacola News.

Mrs. Will Moore and sons, Henry and Arthur, left Wednesday for a two weeks stay at the beach, after which they will go to their home in Atlanta. Their many friends will be glad to see them again next winter.

Miss Belle Goodhue of Sanford is visiting her friend, Mrs. J. B. Mogruder, on Central avenue. Miss Goodhue is highly gifted in the art of imitating birds, being able to give the song of almost all kinds of birds.—Reporter-Star.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rumsdell and son of Lakeland have been in Sanford several weeks. They are investigating the situation, and considering Sanford as a possible home. They will be welcomed as citizens of our progressive little city.

The Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church had a very interesting meeting, Monday afternoon. They were very much pleased and entertained by the reports of their delegates, Mrs. L. R. Phillips and Mrs. Perry, to the annual conference of the M. F. M. Society, which was held last month at Fort Myers.

If the non-churchgoers of Sanford, and those who do not care to listen to sermons, would only visit the different churches at least once each Sunday to hear the good music by the choirs and let their souls be warmed on the wings of song to the giver of all good, it would be a spiritual uplift to them and put them in better harmony with themselves and their fellow men, all during the week.

Sanford would be so much more attractive to strangers, visitors, prospective settlers, and certainly to her own citizens, if our worthy postmaster would make his polite request "not to throw papers on the floor" a more forceful command. A public building should be regarded with interest and pride by the public for whose benefit it is used. It is really a shame that the postoffice is so carelessly and indifferently littered with all sorts of papers.

Regarding the Celery Question

To the Editor of The Herald: Now that the celery season is over, and the smoke of battle has cleared away I think that it is the proper time to lay out some definite plans for another season's crop, and to agitate the much-mooted crate question. I wish to say that I have not heard any complaint from the Union's standard 10x20x24. It has carried very satisfactory, and we have realized good prices all the way through. I was very much in hopes that we could all get together and adopt a single standard crate to be used all over the state and asked our legislature to legislate on it. But, alas, it seems that we are contented to wait until another crop is ready for shipment before we begin to notice this all-important matter. We are confronting other important problems, such as labor, seed, kind of crops, and the acreage to be planted, marketing, &c. I am receiving more inquiries as to the possibility of overproducing than anything else now, and I would like to go on record now as to the matter of acreage another season. It has been my observation that in many instances last season several of our growers overcropped themselves, consequently neglected to cultivate their crops carefully, thus growing inferior produce with much less to the acre than if properly cultivated, which not only was a failure as a crop, but helped to beat down prices in the markets by not being strictly first-class article. I would say just here that it seems so hard for our growers to realize that it is much easier to dispose of a good article on a poor market than it is to dispose of a poor article on a good market. I think that if you will confer with any of the distributors in the trucking business you will find, however, that such is the case. And then you will readily see the importance of producing and marketing only the best. In one of the most complete organizations of vegetable and truck growers that the writer has ever seen, this is one of the most important features. A grower in this organization is not allowed to overcrop himself, and an inspector sees that he does not neglect his crop, and therefore a more uniform grade of celery, &c., is produced, thus making the marketing problem easily successful. If the average grower will reflect over his last season's crop, I venture to say that he can see where a smaller acreage in many instances would have paid far better. Now, as to the packing and handling the celery crop. The writer saw in many instances last season the recently adopted plan of contracting the packing to parties by the crate. This is the worst practice that has ever been indulged in since the beginning of the celery business. One of the hardest things to understand is to see any sensible person, after spending his labor and money to raise a fairly good crop, contract to an illiterate party to pack his stuff, the last, and most important thing to be done to his year's work. The writer has seen in many instances beautiful crops simply slaughtered in order to get the car out and packed by 2 o'clock. These are some matters that we all will do well to consider during our vacations. —K. R. MURRELL.

And to gratify the thirst of the coming invited guests with simple water! water! water! And it is indeed refreshing, Mr. Editor, to see you at last suggest a little economy in municipal management, even if you do confine yourself to the matter of useless expense in street sprinkling. You are right. Let the public fountains supply the street sprinkler for the benefit of a private corporation. Glad to see you have the grit to "protect the peoples' interests" regardless of "individuals." Hope to hear from you again on behalf of the people when your "suggestions" may warrant consideration. There is no single influence which can go so far in a community for good or evil as the influence of a live, strong editor, and that's what our editor is. A word of caution, a word of remonstrance, a word of rebuke from an able, conscientious editor may sometimes have as good effect as the veto of a wise Governor or President. Certainly such an editorial course is to be esteemed above the indiscriminate tossing of bouquets to legislative bodies. The unquestionable prosperity of our town and community is apt to beget undue enthusiasm and lead to extravagant noise and extravagant expenditures and indebtedness. Let cool reason prevail. We know we have made a good start since our former disasters and have a promising future. Let us strengthen our foundations securely, and invite others to join with us in the development of our undoubted resources. But let us not blow our trumpets so as to make us seem ridiculous. A stranger said the other day, "Sanford is advertised as the most prosperous town on earth—the very hub around which the world revolves!" This was said kindly and pleasantly, but the remark suggests the smile of ridicule that invariably follows too much "blow and bluster." But, above all, when a municipal chariot is driving at reckless speed, let the town editor get hold of the reins and restrain the furious gallop, and not jump to the front seat with whoop and hurrah for the "unparalleled" race with all the world. Nothing could so encourage extravagance, nothing so surely deludes the credulous man at home or abroad, while nothing would, with equal certainty, so shake the confidence of the thoughtful stranger in the substantial quality of the much vaunted schemes of the community. —A. E. PHILIPS.

SANFORD ON BIG BOOM
Superintendent Buchholz is Very Enthusiastic Over Our Prosperity
"Sanford is on a big boom," says Superintendent Buchholz, who returned yesterday after spending Sunday in that city attending the unveiling of a monument to the memory of A. G. Toler by the Woodmen of the World. Superintendent Buchholz visited Sanford just after the big freeze of 1894-9, and was then impressed with the great desolation which had been wrought, and on returning Sunday was consequently much impressed at the changes which have taken place since that time. Land which at that time could have been purchased at 25 cents an acre, according to Professor Buchholz, is now worth hundreds of dollars an acre. The section around Sanford seems to be one of the richest in the state, and the system of sub-irrigation by means of tiling and artesian wells, gives plenty of water without cost and enable the growers there to raise the finest lettuce and celery in the world. Last year, it is stated, shipments of vegetables and early produce amounted to 1,600 solid carloads, bringing into the city $600,000. In this way many persons have gone to Sanford poor men, borrowed money to start farming and are now wealthy. "The city of Sanford is rapidly awakening and putting on the garb of a growing hustling center. Already half a mile of vitrified brick paving has been laid on the main business street, while contracts have been letting for the laying of three miles additional. In a short time the city is to have an up-to-date street car system, track for the line having already been laid. This will necessitate the erection of a fine power house. The unveiling ceremonies which Prof. Buchholz attended were very successful and were attended by the entire Sanford camp and members of other camps. Prof. Buchholz delivered the principal address of the occasion, which was greatly appreciated. A. G. Toler, to whose memory the monument was erected, was foreman of a large packing house and was for a long time connected with the A. C. L. railway, having relatives now employed in various departments of that system. The widow, who was a Miss Cooper of Sorrento, Fla., is now in Tampa.—Tampa Tribune.

More About The Fountains
To the Editor of The Herald: Your editorial in last week's issue "On the Fountain Question" was timely. To those of us who represented the opposition to the removal of the fountains the town council said other fountains in place would be erected on Commercial street and a resolution was passed to that effect in our presence. The work, according to this resolution, was to be accomplished in sixty days. From the day of the removal of these fountains to this, cries from the "thirsty public" for "water! water!" have come up unheeded. The hot summer is upon us, the great Fourth of July multitudes are expected and yet, save the private well generously provided by the Geo. H. Fernald Hardware Company there is no place to public can have access to quench raging thirst. Think of the crowds of men, women and children who may throng our streets on a hot, dry day crying for water! And who will be to blame? Let the town council "get a move on" and supply the cool, refreshing streams they promised. They need not wait for ornamental fountain fixtures—these can be attached at any time. Just now let them prepare for the "thirsty public" at home, and to gratify the thirst of the coming invited guests with simple water! water! water! And it is indeed refreshing, Mr. Editor, to see you at last suggest a little economy in municipal management, even if you do confine yourself to the matter of useless expense in street sprinkling. You are right. Let the public fountains supply the street sprinkler for the benefit of a private corporation. This was said kindly and pleasantly, but the remark suggests the smile of ridicule that invariably follows too much "blow and bluster." But, above all, when a municipal chariot is driving at reckless speed, let the town editor get hold of the reins and restrain the furious gallop, and not jump to the front seat with whoop and hurrah for the "unparalleled" race with all the world. Nothing could so encourage extravagance, nothing so surely deludes the credulous man at home or abroad, while nothing would, with equal certainty, so shake the confidence of the thoughtful stranger in the substantial quality of the much vaunted schemes of the community. —A. E. PHILIPS.

SANFORD ON BIG BOOM
Superintendent Buchholz is Very Enthusiastic Over Our Prosperity
"Sanford is on a big boom," says Superintendent Buchholz, who returned yesterday after spending Sunday in that city attending the unveiling of a monument to the memory of A. G. Toler by the Woodmen of the World. Superintendent Buchholz visited Sanford just after the big freeze of 1894-9, and was then impressed with the great desolation which had been wrought, and on returning Sunday was consequently much impressed at the changes which have taken place since that time. Land which at that time could have been purchased at 25 cents an acre, according to Professor Buchholz, is now worth hundreds of dollars an acre. The section around Sanford seems to be one of the richest in the state, and the system of sub-irrigation by means of tiling and artesian wells, gives plenty of water without cost and enable the growers there to raise the finest lettuce and celery in the world. Last year, it is stated, shipments of vegetables and early produce amounted to 1,600 solid carloads, bringing into the city $600,000. In this way many persons have gone to Sanford poor men, borrowed money to start farming and are now wealthy. "The city of Sanford is rapidly awakening and putting on the garb of a growing hustling center. Already half a mile of vitrified brick paving has been laid on the main business street, while contracts have been letting for the laying of three miles additional. In a short time the city is to have an up-to-date street car system, track for the line having already been laid. This will necessitate the erection of a fine power house. The unveiling ceremonies which Prof. Buchholz attended were very successful and were attended by the entire Sanford camp and members of other camps. Prof. Buchholz delivered the principal address of the occasion, which was greatly appreciated. A. G. Toler, to whose memory the monument was erected, was foreman of a large packing house and was for a long time connected with the A. C. L. railway, having relatives now employed in various departments of that system. The widow, who was a Miss Cooper of Sorrento, Fla., is now in Tampa.—Tampa Tribune.

Efficient Staff of Reporters Weekly Covers the Territory for The Herald

[We invite correspondence on live topics from all sections of the County, also news items of interest. Brevity will insure prompt publication. Articles contrary to the views of the Editor will be published, but abusive and anonymous communications will be rejected. We will not be responsible for opinions expressed by contributors. All communications intended for current issue must be in hand not later than Tuesday p. m. 1—Ed.]

PAOLA POINTS

Special Correspondence to The Herald:—
We have a tale of a bear to chronicle this week, if nothing else. On Tuesday of last week two of our young men, Oscar Pearson and J. D. Warren, went out on the war path for bear. Making camp in the wilds of the upper Wekiva, the best part of Tuesday and the night following, were spent in tracking their big game and locating their feeding grounds. Early Wednesday morning Mr. Warren was fortunate enough to bring down a fine specimen with one shot—a big, old fellow, weighing about 400 pounds, doubtless the destroyer of much pork, and champion palmetto budder. The boys finally succeeded in securing Manager Graham's attention from the study of the Wikiva Springs "boils" long enough to procure a team to take their prize to the railway, and came home via the Trilby freight, considerably used up, by the way of sandflies, mosquitos, &c., but happy, and lucky John still wears a smile that wont come off, and this is the true story of the "passing" of the star performer in the temple of tame bear, the Clay Springs management keep to amuse their guests and divert their minds from tesser evils that threaten their midsummer nights dreams.

LAKE MARY MELANGE

Special Cor. to The Herald.
Mrs. F. M. Warren from Orlando spent Saturday and Sunday here with her husband.
The picnic which was to have been held last Saturday in Mrs. S. M. Cathewood's park, had to be postponed on account of the rain.
Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jennigan on June 5th, a boy.
Miss Maggie Stenmons and Miss Shirley Montague, both of Orlando, spent one day here last week visiting relatives and friends.
W. O. Nolan was a visitor here last Sunday.
Mrs. J. W. Jennigan left last Saturday for McDonald to attend the wedding of one of her nieces.
Little Irene McDonald had the misfortune to have a large cat chew and tear the flesh severely on one of her feet, but we are glad to state that the injured foot is healing up nicely.
A little four-year-old, whose mother is trying to teach not to use bad language, was heard to say "damn," but being afraid of a spanking, he quickly suggested that it was time to darn the stockings as they were full of holes.

OVIDEO OCCURRENCES

Special Correspondence to The Herald:
Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Miss Lottie Lee to Mr. T. W. Lawton which was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride last Wednesday evening, Rev. Mr. Rogers officiating. Mrs. Mead played the Wedding March and only the family and relatives were present. The bride was lovely in soft silk-finished white batiste, made panel princess, lavishly trimmed with lace. Her veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms and she carried bride roses and lilies of the valley. In the drawing room was erected an arch of palms, and ferns under which the bridal pair stood during the ceremony. The bride is one of the most attractive and accomplished young women. The groom is a popular young merchant here. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for White Springs, Fla., to spend their honeymoon.
Misses Martha and Nellie King are home from Stetson University for their vacation. Miss Martha has just graduated from the Normal Training School and has always been notable among us for her intellect and scholarly attainments.
Hon. J. H. King has returned from Tallahassee where he has been for the past two months attending the Legislature.
The Oviedo Magazine Club was never more pleasantly entertained than by Mrs. Andrew Leinhardt at her home Friday afternoon. An interesting program occupied the time, after which delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Leinhardt makes a genial hostess and dispenses hospitality with a brisk hand.
Miss Martha Fox of Sanford has been on a visit to Miss Helen Lawton for the past week.

GENEVA GLEANINGS

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
Mr. T. W. Geiger and daughter were in Orlando this week, Miss Geiger taking the examination for teacher's certificate.
Miss May Alexander of Oviedo visited Miss Mamie McLain this week.
Miss Florrie Sharp of Kissimmee is the guest of Miss Martha Smith.
Watts Saunders visited his parents a few days last week.
Evan Pattishall who has been taking a special course in music at Stetson has come home for the summer.
J. A. Worthy is visiting his son in Orlando this week.
C. N. Hays went to Sanford on business last week.
Mrs. Carrie Greer and children of Miami are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isalah Hart.
Miss Hansell of Pinecastle has been visiting her friend Mrs. Howard.
Miss Blanche Pattishall, after a successful term at the Tallahassee school for young ladies is at home for the vacation.
The revival services at the Methodist church have closed. The pastor, Rev. Mr. McCull, has worked earnestly for the conversion of sinners and has endeared himself very much to every one and it is with much regret we learn that he has resigned his charges here and at Oviedo to resume his evangelistic work.
Rev. E. Lee Smith filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Sunday. On Monday night following the fourth Sunday in June a protracted meeting will begin. The pastor will be ably assisted by Rev. T. F. Calloway of Orlando. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. The ordinance of baptism will be administered to several candidates on the first Sunday afternoon in July.

Orange Growers at Tampa

The Orange Growers' Convention called at Tampa last week to hear the reports of the California committee and to take action as to the formation of a union through which to market citrus fruit was certainly an enthusiastic assembly with about 300 of the Florida orange growers present. These 300 men must have represented the past season an output of two million boxes of fruit and millions of capital.
The Herald will publish some of the more important reports in later issues. About $4,500 was raised in a few minutes in the convention toward expenses of organization as is practicable to apply in Florida. A committee of six was appointed by the chair to appoint a committee of thirty-four to perfect this organization.
This committee of thirty-four will perfect by laws, rules, etc., regarding the organization of the Florida Citrus Union and its sub or local unions.
The report of this committee is expected in about two weeks and until then Florida growers will not know an exactly what terms or conditions they may join or organize the local unions except as before stated these rules will be practically as near as possible like those of the California exchange.

The New Ball Pitcher Here

Harry J. Rogero, the baseball pitcher who has signed with Sanford for the ensuing season, has come, and is in fine form. From the way he has shown up he will more than make good. He has speed, good control, and plenty of good curves to fool the batters. From his actions on the diamond he is a good, heady ball player, and with the proper support will undoubtedly pitch winning ball. The local fans are very enthusiastic over his work, and the universal ultimatum is he has got the goods.
McKinnon has been backstopping for him, and delivering the goods. Mc has been unlucky since coming to Sanford and has not shown up his best, having a finger hurt, and getting sore practicing in the rain a few times. He is coming now and showing some of the wise knockers he can play ball. The opinion of the real judges of ball players is, and always has been, that Mac could play ball. The devotees here predict that with the proper chance McKinnon will show up all to the good.

Modern Methods

The saying, "take his pen in hand," was once the thing you see; But now each man in business takes his type writer on his knee.
The Blickensderfer is the lightest, smallest and the best typewriter on the market and if the business man wishes to purchase a machine that will prove satisfactory in every particular for half the cost of other makes see the Blickensderfer at The Herald office. C. R. Walker of this city has had one in continuous use for ten years, the E. A. Herfield Co., have had one for three years. Several other firms have purchased "Blicks" during the past six months and are well satisfied with this fine machine. Three kinds, $40, $50 and $80. On easy terms if you want them.

WOODMEN UNVEIL MONUMENT

Impressive Services at Lakeview Cemetery Last Sunday

Last Sunday the Gate City Lodge, Woodmen of the World unveiled a monument to the late A. G. Tolar with most impressive ceremonies. The entire lodge and a number of visitors congregated at Lakeview cemetery at 3:30 o'clock, and after the quartette composed of Messrs. Derry, Parker, Murrell and Benton had rendered a beautiful anthem, the regular exercises of the unveiling took place.
Prof. L. W. Buchholz, superintendent of instruction of Hillsborough county, made the address, which was listened to with marked attention by all present.
After paying a beautiful tribute to the deceased, the speaker outlined the policies of the Woodmen, their views and benefits and the growth attained in the past few years.
The address was a masterpiece of rhetoric and beautiful thought, full of biblical truths and adages, and the exposition of life and immortality was sublime.
The ceremonies made a deep impression upon those present, as did the beautiful shaft when it was exposed to view by the members who erected it in loving remembrance of their departed brother.
This feature of the Woodmen of the World is one of their strongest, and as a fraternal organization they are gaining new members very rapidly.

Best Of All Laws

Among a number of important laws passed by the Washington Legislature and which went into effect June 1st and one that has attracted most attention is the marriage law, which makes it necessary for a person applying for a marriage license to submit physicians' certificates and affidavits showing that the two parties concerned are physically and mentally fit to bring healthy children into the world. The new law also provides that women must be of legal age, fixed at eighteen years, and men twenty-one years; also, that the parent cannot give consent unless the girl is more than fifteen years of age. The penalty for giving false information or performing such marriage is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than three years or both.

Honor Party

A jovial time was spent at the residence of Mrs. E. W. Peabody on Tenth street this week Monday evening. The occasion was a party given in honor of the Misses Pricketts of Macon, Ga.
Music, games and refreshments were the star points of the evening's pleasure, and the hours passed all too quickly for those present.
The party consisted of Anna Higgins, Jessie and Josie Stuman, Florence Stringfellow, Virginia Elder, Ruth Mettinger, Carry Lovell, Clara Adams of Miami, Nora and Nellie Amnck, Gracie and Glenie Davies, Agnes and Sally More Pricketts and Sally Lou Peabody, and Messrs. Ralph Stevens, Edward Lane, Jesse Baker, Clarence Mahoney, Braxton Perkins, Emory Close, Clifford Peabody, Billy Beardall, Billy Hill, Frank Adams, Morton Hopson and M. L. Raines, and Mrs. Peabody, Marshall and Pricketts.

Regarding The Webb Case

In the case of Ernie Webb, twice tried for setting fire to his own property and acquitted, we have an instance of how an innocent man may be ruined if he happens to be unavoidably placed in suspicious circumstances.
The time and the cost of defending himself, added to the worry of mind and temporary disgrace of himself and family, pending the decision of guilt or innocence are factors of no mean size in knocking a man from his perch.
If there is no remedy to prevent the arrest of innocent men there should be a compensation of some kind on the part of the state when they are falsely arrested, and put to expense and shame.—Reporter-Star.

A Name For The New Park

The Sanford Ball Association is desirous of naming the new ball park, and gallantly leave the selection to the Sanford ladies. The one sending in the most euphonious cognomen for the park will receive a season ticket as a compliment of the association. The contest is open to all, and the names are to be sent to The Herald to be published each week.

Beginning at the Beginning

(Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.)

"I am a practical chap and believe in marriages made on common sense principles. What does a man want to go and get intoxicated on love potions for and then settle the most important matter in his life?"

This was my reply to Eggleston when he got off a lot of folderol about love and sentiment and all that. I admit I was interested, for I was meditating a proposal myself. I felt very sure Lydia would have me. Why shouldn't she? I was a passable fellow; some property of my own; doing well in business; fairly educated and of good social position. That's the view I expected Lydia to take of me and a union with me, not whether she would believe me on the ground that I didn't get maudlin over her or she over me. The question was, Having a fairly good offer with a chance to settle down into matrimonial life, was she to accept it or run the risk of not getting another as acceptable? So I went to her and said:

"Miss Brinsley, I'm going to make you a proposition—namely, that we pass our lives together as man and wife till death do us part."

She looked at me out of a pair of steely eyes for a few moments and said:

"How about divorce?"

I've noticed that, no matter how composedly a man makes up his mind to deal with a woman, she straightway sets about to discompose him.

"The more common sense we put into a marriage the less likelihood there'll be of a divorce," I said.

"It is the only part of marriage in which there is a likelihood. Death is certain. Divorce is possible, sometimes probable. It is a contingency that should be provided for."

"It seems to me that the first question to be settled is whether you are prepared to enter upon matrimony with me. After that we can take up the provisions, if there are any."

"That's just like a man—always getting the cart before the horse. It seems to me that the provisions should be settled first. The marriage is merely a possible conclusion to them."

"Good gracious!" I exclaimed under my breath. I was not prepared to hear a woman speak of a proposition of marriage as a categorical syllogism.

"Suppose," I said, "that we leave divorce till the last of the provisions or, rather, contingencies and begin with something of more immediate concern."

"Well, what's your income?"

Again I winced, not so much at the question as at her cold blooded manner of asking it. However, I considered it an eminently proper one to ask and responded frankly:

"I have from investments $5,500."

"Real estate, bonds, stocks or what?"

This was getting irritating. I was becoming sustered.

"After all, I was right in the first place," I said, a bit sharply. "You expect me to lay bare all my affairs to you when you haven't given me the slightest intimation that if they are satisfactory you will accept me for a husband."

"I was not aware," she replied icily, "that I expected anything. I thought that you were the expectant person."

O heavens! Worse and worse! I sat feeling and doubtless looking like a fool. I took out my handkerchief and wiped my lips—they didn't need wiping—then dusted some specks off my coat collar, then crossed one leg over the other and said nothing. Neither did Lydia.

"I think," I said presently, "that I had better—"

"Begin all over?"

A desire to get even with her by saying something smart took possession of me. When a man tries to beat a woman by saying something smart he always gets deeper in the mud.

"Or drop the subject," I said, with some hauteur.

"You haven't taken it up yet," was her imperturbable reply.

What did she mean by this, I wondered. Haven't taken it up! I thought I'd vary much taken it up.

"Perhaps you haven't understood," I said, "what I've been talking about."

"I dare say I haven't."

"Didn't I make myself plain?"

"That depends upon what you had to say."

I was getting more miffed every moment. I looked ominously at the door, but it didn't seem to frighten her. I rose. That didn't frighten her either.

"On reflection," I said, "I think my powers of stating things may be better adapted to some other intellect."

"Male or female?"

This broke me up completely. I stood stupidly looking down at my toes.

"Why don't you go and explain it to some nice man and let him come and tell it to me," she remarked.

There was nothing to be gained with this cool creature. But her coolness, the disappointment I suffered, everything, maddened me. I scouted my practical ideas. I would gladly have thrown myself at her feet and begged for pity, mercy, anything except this horrible monster that stood between me. But how could I jump from my position of a practical marriage arranger to a despairing lover? There was no hope. With a feeble attempt at indifference I went to the door.

Hearing a flutter behind me, I was about to turn when a pair of arms was flung about me, and I was held in a tight grasp.

"Come back," she laughed, "and begin anew. And this time at the beginning."

What was the beginning? A kiss.
T. DEWITT BOWMAN.

An Unofficial Order.

Thomas, tenth Earl of Dundonald, at his death vice admiral in the English navy, tells in his "Autobiography of a Seaman" of an incident on board the Hind, on which he served as midshipman. The pet of the ship was a parrot, the aversion of the boatswain, whose whistle the bird learned to imitate exactly.

"One day a party of ladies paid us a visit aboard. By the usual means of a 'whip' on the yardarm several had been hoisted on deck. The chain had descended for another. Scarcely had its fair freight been lifted out of the boat alongside when the parrot piped, 'Let go!'"

"The order was instantly obeyed, and the unfortunate lady, instead of being comfortably seated on deck, was soused in the sea. Luckily for her, the men were on the watch and quickly pulled her out, and, luckily for the parrot, the boatswain was on shore or this unseasonable assumption of the boatswain's functions might have ended tragically for the bird."

How Prisoners Converse.

A man who was sent to jail recently for three days for a small offense was greatly impressed with the precautions taken to prevent the prisoners engaging in conversation. There seemed to be warders everywhere, and no one was allowed to utter a word.

On the Sunday he was in the church the psalm given was the "Old Hundredth." Beside him were two old jail-birds, and instead of the orthodox words beginning "All people that on earth do dwell" this pair sang a hymn of their own in conversational style, which went something as follows:

First convict sings:

"How long are you in for?
I am doing sixty days.
I nearly broke a copper's jaw.
Sing low or else they'll maybe hear."

Second convict replies:

"You are a lucky pic-can.
I've got twel-ave months to serve.
Tried to break into a house.
Some'dy must have g'en me away."

By this method they exchanged histories during the singing.—Glasgow News.

Too Humiliating.

A certain small boy of six is rapidly assuming many ways. Not long ago his "room" at school planned an entertainment. There were to be little songs and recitations and a mysterious grab bag. The small boy waxed eloquent concerning the coming glories of this show, and more especially the part he would take.

On the morning of the entertainment his mother suggested that he should take his little sister, aged four, with him. He hung his head.

"Don't you want to take her?" his mother asked.

"No, I don't," he answered.

"And why not?"

The reply came quickly.

"'Cause there ain't none of th' other fellers has to bring their children!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No Acid Needed.

Weary William Rhoades—Say, Happy, wot's de difference between us an' new fall cider?

Happy Harry—Search me.

Weary William Rhoades—Dey don't have ter put no acid in us ter keep us frum workin'."

At which the dry hay in the mow burst into a furious flame.—Exchange.

Getting His Straight.

"I wouldn't make a confidante of May," said the conceited fellow, with a self-satisfied smirk. "She told me you said you were crazy to marry me. Of course she's no friend of mine."

"No," interrupted Miss Wise, "and she's not even a good reporter. I didn't say I 'was,' but 'would be.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Noiseless.

Wife—Would it please you, dear, if I learned another language? Husband—Yes, it would delight me infinitely. Wife—Well, which one shall I study? Husband—The sign language.—Smart Set.

A Woman's Secret.

Biggs—There goes a woman with a past. Boggs—Yes, and there are about twenty years more of it than she is willing to own up to.—New York Journal.

The Quarrel.

"Last night we parted forever."
"Then I suppose Ferdie will not call tonight."

"No, but he'll spend the evening behind a tree across the street."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

General John C. Fremont, "the Pathfinder," is buried in Bockland cemetery, Nyack, on the Hudson.

The Sanford-Eustis Game

An excursion train loaded with Sanford enthusiasts and rooters attended the ball game at Eustis yesterday. It is called excursion train. The Eustis small boy on the bleachers called it the watermelon special. Over ninety rooters were on the train and they hoped to encourage the home team to victory. Their intentions were doubtless good, but the boys didn't have the goods and the team from the city of the lakes walked away with the Sanford bunch, starting the work in the second and continuing for several frames. The swat of the willows awoke the echoes of the forest surrounding the ball park and the spirits of the crowd from "over home" melted perceptibly.

Mansell was sent in to do the work for the home team, but the Eustis team had on their swatting clothes, all except Epps and he wore a bathing suit, and the way those boys placed the balls over the pine trees was a caution.

Our boys found Epps all right, but he seemed to keep the hits bunched and the good work of the fielders eat up the grounders in good shape. Ralph Stevens made two good hits and several others made safe ones.

In fact Sanford managed to bring in two lonely runs.

What did Eustis get? Forget it!

The score was 8 to 2 in favor of Eustis. Better luck next time.

The umpires were Dr. Reed and Paul Keely, both well known gentlemen, and their decisions seemed to give as much satisfaction as usual.

The Eustis people treated the tourists with their usual hospitality, and it is the hope of everyone who made the trip that at some future date another "watermelon special" can be arranged for a trip to Eustis.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Lovell and family have moved into the Evans place on Park avenue.

ABOUT FLORIDA LAND

Lands That Are Good, Bad And Otherwise

LANDS THAT WILL NOT PRODUCE

Many Are Being Extensively Advertised That Are Unable to Show Results

Florida papers are waking up to the fact that the sale of so-called vegetable lands will work an injury to the state in many ways. The Herald has called attention to some of these lands; and endeavored to protect the buyers in their purchases. Good lands in Florida will yield good returns to the farmers, and poor land will yield nothing, therefore it behooves every honest real estate dealer to give the facts regarding all lands placed in their hands for sale. There are thousands of home seekers coming into Florida this year, having been drawn hither by the wonderful crops raised upon the rich, irrigated lands of our state.

Naturally, this boom has started the land sharks this way, and many lands are being put upon the market, advertised as good vegetable lands, and sold in many instances to people in the North who have never seen Florida, and know nothing whatever of the nature of their purchase.

This not only works a hardship upon many of the purchasers, but it places Florida land enterprises in a bad light in many instances. The real vegetable sections that have the lands and flowing wells cannot be injured by these sales, but the state in general cannot be benefited by such a procedure, and wherever these frauds are being practiced the papers should assist in making public the truth about these lands that will not make a crop.

Following up a warning recently sound by J. W. White, industrial agent of the Seaboard Air Line, and on the same subject, the Tampa Times says: "There is no question that the methods devised and put into play for the sale of Florida lands by certain real estate speculators will work injury to the state. These men buy big tracts of cut-over land, possessing a value of probably not more than a dollar per acre. They advertise the lands flashily as the most fertile in the state, every ten acres capable of supporting a family in comfort, and eventually conferring wealth. The prices are generally made $20 to $30 an acre, on the installment plan, the final payment usually falling due within a year. It is unnecessary to say that the purpose of the advertisers is to sell the lands at far above their value, and that the methods smack strongly of fraud and false pretenses."

Our husky bunch of ball tossers played in Daytona yesterday. They are expected home some time today.

WORKING A BUNCO GAME

Same Old Spanish Trick Tried On A Sanford Man

The following letter was received by Harry Wray, the Jeweler:

Madrid, March 23, 1909.

Dear Sir: Although I know you only from good references of your honesty my sad situation compels me to reveal you an important affair in which you can procure a fortune, saving at the same time that of my dear daughter. I charge you absolute reserve about this affair.

Before being imprisoned here I was established as a banker in Russia as you will see by the enclosed article about me of many English newspapers which have published my arrest in London.

I beseech you to help me to obtain a sum of $480,000 I have in America and to come here to raise the seizure of my baggage paying to the court the expenses of my trial and recover my portmanteau containing a secret pocket where I have hidden the document indispensable to recover the said sum.

As reward I will give to you the third part, viz $160,000.

I can't receive your answer in the prison, but you must send a cablegram to a person of my confidence who will deliver it to me for to know if you received this letter to instruct you in all my secret.

Awaiting your cable I am, yours truly, PETROVIEZ.

First of all answer by cable as follows, not by letter: "Madrid, Spain, Antonio Badu, Navas de Tolosa de Tercero." By precaution you must sign your cable following name: Rorobia.

A clipping from a paper was enclosed with the letter giving the details of the capture of "Petroviez" and the fact that he had five million rubles in one of the satchels which had been hidden from the police. This is the same old myth eaten bunco game that has been worked for several years and was supposed to have become so ancient as to be out of commission, but it seems that "Petroviez" is still working at the same old stand.

Of course the original "Petroviez" was captured and is still in jail, a fact of which the bunco steers are fully aware.

But the writer of the letter to Mr. Wray and others has no more idea of where the five millions of rubles are concealed than Wray himself.

This old gag was worked very successfully upon several soft ones and when the sharper in New York receives the cable he immediately lays his plans for fleecing the "Rorobia" who answers the letter by cable. Mr. Wray's name was probably selected from the fact that he was a jeweler and living in Sanford supposed to have plenty of money.

Mr. Barnes, the freight agent, received one of these letters several years ago and his answer to the letter can best be told by himself.

It is unnecessary to state that neither Mr. Barnes or Mr. Wray fell into the trap.
