

Reformation Of Young Men Serving First Terms At Raiford Worries Officials

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The problem of what to do in the reformation and rehabilitation of young men serving their first term in the state penitentiary is still worrying state cabinet members and prison officials.

for them, and money for a new prison would not be available without an appropriation by the legislature. A new plan now under consideration, as the first step in possible segregation calls for selection of 10 youths to be assigned to work in the prison system where they will not come in contact with the older prisoners. Such a plan was suggested by circuit Judge Hal W. Adams of Mayo, and was referred by the cabinet to L. F. Chapman, prison superintendent, for consideration.

Chapman told the cabinet segregation of some prisoners would be beneficial, but that he believed older convicts, instead of talking youths into more crime, had a steady influence on them and more than often convinced them that "crime doesn't pay."

Chapman said older prisoners, who have served more than one term, frequently tell the youngsters to abandon crime "because you can't beat it." He said he had heard older men counseling the youngsters to "go straight when you get out of stir. Don't be a fool and wreck your life and your chances like I have."

Against this attitude, he said, younger prisoners are inclined to brag to their fellow youths about their exploits, and about what they may do when they get out of prison.

"A boy is a greater influence for evil on another boy than is an older prisoner," Chapman said. "If complete segregation can be accomplished, I believe it would be beneficial; certainly I would be in favor of segregation of the boys from the confirmed criminals."

Chapman said prison officials of various states who attended a recent convention in Houston, Texas, were "about evenly divided on the benefits of segregation. Some felt that it had been a complete failure, others enthusiastically endorsed it, while others were only lukewarm to the proposition."

Indeterminate sentences, Chapman said, he believed, would have a good effect in improving prison morale. Under this system, a prisoner would be sentenced to a minimum and maximum term, with his release after serving the minimum if his conduct in the prison warranted it. Otherwise, he would be required to serve the maximum term. Prison officials at the Houston convention, Chapman said, endorsed this system.

City Commissioners met at the City Hall this morning in conference with members of the Bondholders' Protective Committee in a discussion of the financial arrangement which is to be written into the 1934-35 budget. City Clerk F. S. Lamson stated that "it was just an informal conference in which the two groups discussed the budget and set-up for next year."

September report of the Seminole County Welfare Board, listing expenditures at $181.92, was held as a reason why the County Commissioners raised their monthly appropriation for the Board from $125 to $200, effective Oct. 1. The Board had a balance of $191.92 on Sept. 1, and the county's appropriation increased that amount by $125. However, more persons were placed on relief since the FERA had orders to cut off its rolls all chronically indigent persons who were unable to work because of illness or old age.

County Motorist Officer E. T. Hamill traveled 2970 miles during September in the performance of his duties, he reported to County Commissioners this week. During the month he investigated two wrecks, warned 25 motorists about their auto lights, told 10 motorists to slow down or be arrested, and warned three motorists that they needed a change of license plates. As an indication of the kind of work he does, Officer Hamill this morning escorted a large truck from the edge of the county to the sheriff's office where its owner had to explain what he assent by hauling furniture without a license.

In an effort to make it just as convenient as possible for the small army of men and women who depend upon the FERA every week, officials at the City Hall today announced a new type of service in their behalf. In future, a special man will be at the Fire Station every day, except Sunday, to hand out work cards to persons expecting them. This man will be there from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M. and from 9 A. M. until noon, and 3 P. M. to 6 P. M. in the afternoon. In the past, all workers could receive cards at the Fire Station only on Thursday. Any other days they had to go to the City Hall, and this proved to be very inconvenient. Workers are asked to spread this information among follow workers as quickly as possible. FERA officials also have decided to give work cards to all women at the Mayfair Hotel every Thursday from 10:00 o'clock to 3:00 o'clock. This will prevent women from having to stand in line with men at the Fire Station, although women unable to be at the Fire Station on other days. No change has been made in the pay-off schedule.

Nine small growers of this county yesterday received Emergency Crop Loan funds totaling $1140 through the office of County Agent C. R. Dawson, agent for the Loan bureau, he announced today. Twenty-six of the 30 members of the Medical Detachment of the United States National Guard were present at the Armory last night to hear their commanding officer, Captain A. W. Knox, deliver an hour-long illustrated lecture on "Compound Fractures and Their Treatment." Dozens of X-ray photographs were displayed to the men, and their interest in the subject was demonstrated by the numerous questions which they asked. Captain Knox revealed that his unit is the only one in Florida which was cited twice to Washington for its efficient work at the annual encampment this season.

Arriving in Sanford this week was Dr. F. L. Wellman, associate pathologist for the United States Department of Agriculture, and Mrs. Wellman. Dr. Wellman has spent the spring and summer in Washington where he has been engaged in writing up his last four years of research work in this county. He again will operate the green houses turned over to him by the city, he said, and he will continue his experiments on heat plants for mosaic, dread enemy of celery. Dr. Wellman expressed himself as "delighted" with the appointment of C. R. Dawson as County Agent, and he stated that he is working with Mr. Dawson on some clean-up campaigns which are essential to the eradication of mosaic and other diseases and pests.

PWA OFFICIALS EXPECT RETURN OF OVER BILLION

Sum Expected To Come From Outstanding Loans On Projects

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Government officials say they plan to get back $1,043,988,602 of the $3,700,000,000 Public Works money employed in the biggest spending and financing experiment in the nation's history. Those who have watched the fund gush into 17,000 employment-giving projects said recently the billion scheduled to return to the government represented loans outstanding and allotments to federal projects that are to pay out eventually. This is how it split up, they explained. The loan portion of loan and grant allotments to public bodies $486,560,090; loans only to public bodies and, in a few instances to private business, $44,548,612; loans to railroads, $199,607,800; for subsistence homesteads $25,000; for 26 federal irrigation and hydroelectric power projects $139,805,000; and for federal low-cost housing and alum-refractory $127,564,500. PWA has said it did not expect to lose much on bad debts as all projects have been examined thoroughly as to financial soundness. Remainder of the money was disbursed as outright grants, as a part of the recovery campaign. Except for the railroad loans and a few millions for other private developments, such as limited dividend housing.

INSULL JURY HEARS BASIS OF INDICTMENT

Defunct Company Was Set-Up To Unload Worthless Stocks, Attorney Charges

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(A.P.)—Samuel Insull's stock sales in his ill-fated Corporation Securities Company were termed a "simple conspiracy to swindle, cheat, and defraud the public" by the government as it outlined the mail fraud case against the former utilities executive today.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, in a calm statement detailing what government investigators uncovered in Insull's financing, charged that the company was set up simply as a "dumping ground" for large quantities of stock acquired in market deals to boost the price of Insull stock.

Green declared that four of the 16 defendants on trial with Insull floated a huge issue of "Allotment certificates under the pretense they were letting their friends and customers in on an opportunity to make plenty of money."

Another Public Works program is being considered. This means that billions will be spent by the government, principally to furnish employment, especially to those who are unemployed, and other things.

The "Three-Hour Week"

Downed by Congress last winter, but now coming to the fore again, and under considerable pressure in certain quarters for early legislative enactment next year, is the so-called "30-hour week" law. Under the terms of this measure, it is proposed, as a means of reducing unemployment, to prohibit any business or industrial employee from working more than 30 hours a week. By this means, it is intended to compel those who have jobs to share them with those who do not.

But at the same time it is proposed that weekly wages for the 30-hour week will be the same as for the former working week, whether 36, 40, or 48 hours. In other words if a man has been getting a dollar an hour for 48 hours, thus earning $48 a week, he would still have to be paid $48 a week even though he would work only 30 hours, and even though it were necessary to employ someone else for 18 hours at a dollar an hour to do the balance of his work.

In its present state of carrying power, neither business nor industry could absorb these additional costs. It would be necessary to pass them along to the public in order to avoid going bankrupt. This, of course, means higher prices for the things which industry produces, higher wages for the things which consumers, including wage earners, must buy. It means then that the wages of the very workmen benefitted by the shorter week must be raised, even for less work, or else their actual purchasing power will be reduced.

The Cost Of Crime

Did you know that on the average one-fourth of every dollar you earn is stolen from you? In other words, three months out of the year you are working for someone else who will take it away from you and give you nothing in return. Inconceivable as this may seem, it comes from no less an authoritative source than the Atlanta Journal which quotes Bishop Candler as follows: "The crime of this country is produced in the main by the youth of the land. It is found that 50% of the prisoners at Sing Sing are under thirty years of age and more than half of them under twenty-one. The total annual tribute of America to crime is $12,930,000,000.00, one-fourth of $60,000,000,000.00, the total income of the people. This staggering sum is itemized as follows: Fraud and fraudulent securities, $1,370,000,000. Burglary and robbery, plus the economic value of 12,500 persons murdered annually, $1,160,000,000. Cost of law enforcement, $4,000,000,000. Cost of 2,000,000 crimes averaging $1,600 apiece, plus the tribute of vice, drugs, bootlegging, and so forth, $6,500,000,000. "Doubt is rampant in America, and it underlies all this prevailing disorder. The decline of religion among our people has had much to do with the increase of lawlessness. A true remedy, therefore, is not the multiplication of drastic laws, but a revival of religion among the people. The Scriptures teach us, 'Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.' This old-fashioned book called the Bible cannot be regarded as a teacher of superstitions and fanatical rules. Its teachings are the fundamental basis of all personal good and national blessings."

CHURCH LOYALTY

PROF. HERMAN E. MORRIS, Principal of Junior High School. It hasn't been very many years since a band of pilgrims gave up their places of business, their homes, their families, their friends, to go in search of a place where they could worship God as they chose. After making long and weary journeys, they established themselves on the bleak shores of North America. There they built a church of log-cabin, the nearby forest and wilderness there. The building was inadequate, the pews were crude and uncomfortable, yet these people waited for miles so they could worship in the worship and the spirit of their church. What is this quite a contrast to the people of today? We have excellent buildings, good ventilation and large comfortable pews. We even have transportation and all conveniences, yet we stay away from the places of worship. What would these pioneers have given for the privileges we have today? During the month of October the Protestant churches of our city are making a drive to increase church attendance. Let every person in Sanford and the spirit of "Loyal to God" and enter into it wholeheartedly and go to church every Sunday during the month. Go where you please! But be sure to go.

of the opinion the tragedy was purely accidental. He expressed doubt that an inquest would be held, but said that he had not consulted Coroner Sam Shiver. Cook was released in case of relatives until further procedure was decided upon. The three boys were alone in the home at the time of the shooting, the grandparents having gone for a visit to Gotha, Sheriff Head said. The gun that fired the fatal shot was the property of Mr. Coleman, the boy's grandfather. The splinter that brought death to three-year old Wilbur Batchelor was lodged in his foot last Friday and little was thought of the incident at the time, Orange General Hospital, attendants revealed. Some days later, the effects of the poison became noticeable and at 10 P. M. Tuesday night, when the child was removed to the hospital, his jaws already were locked tight by the effects of tetanus. Little could be done for the child although physicians expended every effort to save his life using quantities of serum. According to attendants, the child died quietly, seemingly without much pain.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(Quest) How long will New York continue to be fascinated by Night Court sessions? Wonder if they will ever catch that unknown assassin who terrorized the town with a 22 rifle? Of these "headlines" who get away with half a million in wages and long ago? Why are New Yorkers so glib? Does anybody know who manufactures those tri-ball symbols in front of pawn shops? How many pawn shops are there in New York anyway? Wonder how many pounds of fish the town really swallows each Friday? Will the girls that was Bryant's pass on to some other street? How did producers of the English hit, "The Wind and the Rain," get away with that little after Thomas Burke had given it to his fine autobiography? Why does Grand Central station always seem more mysterious and adventurous than the Pennsylvania? Wonder what Estelle Taylor's reactions were when she looked up at a recent premiere and beheld Jack Dempsey three seats away? Does anybody know why morning papers in Manhattan sell for two cents and afternoon papers three cents? And WHY doesn't New York learn not to load mint juleps with 20 different kinds of fruit? What is the matter with the Penguin at the aquarium? He is becoming more drizzle-feathered every day, and droopy. Is it true Tululah Bankhead is really going to desert Piccadilly? Who says John Barrymore is in town—he's in London, probably to do a movie. Do the reds really believe in an eventual revolution here? (Union Square says YES!) Why do some New York hits flop in London, and vice versa? Wonder if the proposed lottery will solve the Relief emergency fund bill? How can Jimmy McLaughlin possibly eat five pounds of grapes for breakfast? (but he does) Is Katharine Hepburn really coming back to Broadway this fall? What is the answer to betting odds favoring the Glants over the Tigers? Why do some shipping lines insist on their liners leaving New York harbor at noon, and others at midnight? What element of fear causes air traffic to slump momentarily after a crash yet shows no effect on sea passages after a mariny disaster? Which of the new plays will be in line for the Pulitzer award? Wonder why Katharine Brush writes so little? Why is there so much hatred between individual taxicab drivers in New York? How long will it be before bus lines really replace Manhattan street cars? Will the town ever match its elevated trains with elevated thoroughfares for motor vehicles? How long will New York continue to be fascinated by Night Court sessions? Present Money Policies Held Only Temporary

The $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund may continue existing benefits for several years but then the real problem must be faced.

"Hiking the price of gold in the United States will not serve permanently to restore foreign purchasing power for our surplus products," his argument explains. "To solve that we shall have either to import more physical goods from abroad or else stop producing so much for export."

Wallace would restore our foreign markets by having AAA continue for "a good many years" keeping 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 acres of plow land out of production while the Yankee trading reciprocity tariff authority voted President Roosevelt is being put into effect. He thinks that is the best way out of the hole.

The secretary says we must point to "economic democracy" rather than to the extremes of fascism or communism. He likes administrative critics; says the committee for the nation seemed more interested in hiking speculative prices than in anything else when it demanded dollar devaluation.

Hard Language Used By Butler Cleared Off Air

he was referring to the AAA hog-killing program, and had used the words in previous talks without any one raising an objection.

"If the NRC has cut me off the air," he continued, "that is something for them to explain, I have nothing to say about it."

Enroute to catch a train for Detroit afterwards, he added, "People are allowed to say what they like in abusing our soldiers, but when a man takes their part he is cut off."

Tuesday General Butler filled in at the convention a few minutes when Senator Arthur Robinson of Indiana was late. He began that speech by saying that he could not speak "your language, my language, soldier's language and these are derogatory. (Microphones) turned on. He you can prepare for 17 minutes of trips."

Butler yesterday paused once in his speech to ask "Am I off the air yet?"

Previously in his general talk Butler had said Pennsylvania was "the loudest state in the union and inhabited by the best people."

The convention issued an invitation from Paris, promising 500,000 francs to entertain the V. F. W. next year. Enthusiastically and without dissent a resolution was adopted refusing the proffer and suggesting the French pay the money on their war debt.

LABOR WORKERS URGED TO CLING TO ALL WEAPONS

By a voice to live happier and better lives."

William Green, federation president, who had announced he would go to Washington after the convention here and discuss the trade proposal with government officials, made no comment on Butler's statements.

Green likewise received in advance the news that the United Textile Workers had offered in a letter to President Roosevelt to enter into a six-months' truce with capital "in the hope that it may be extended" toward permanent industrial peace.

Patrick also asserted that General Hugh Johnson, who recently resigned as NRA administrator, "betrayed labor" by putting his signature to an interpretation of the NRA giving employers the right to bargain with individual workers.

"Attacks against the NRA became so forceful that President Roosevelt issued a clarification last February," Patrick said. "With three days' notice went to NRA officials and had them interpret the President's intent for the benefit of employees."

"Tragically enough Johnson put his signature to that interpretation which gave employers the right to bargain with individual workers."

U. S. FINANCIAL PROGRAM HIDDEN BEHIND SCENES

Officials Blunt Over Unusual Combing Speculations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The government's financial program, with the exception of the special year 1935, will be hidden, possibly very closely shrouded, behind the curtain of more confidential speculation than at any time in history.

Officials said an additional $1,000,000,000 of bonds would be sought for sale this winter; but the exact amount in Treasury circles is the question of how the program would be raised to meet heavy emergency expenditures already definitely scheduled between now and July 1.

Treasury officials said any light on whether the budget or the tax program in the past year, possibly would have to be made the President's message in January. One thing is certain, however, that the budget expenditures increase above those now projected, heavy borrowing of new money must be undertaken some time after the end of this year.

In addition, the government must meet $3,000,000,000 of maturing obligations, largely six-month bills, and other short-term paper, before July 1.

The approach of Oct. 15, the last day on which approximately $2,700,000,000 of 1934 bonds may be called for, has attracted attention to the President's reference in his Sunday speech to the $450,000,000 interest savings effected by Great Britain in the 1932 conversion operation. England then called in $1,000,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds, offering either $125 on cash in exchange.

In some quarters, this was taken as a plain implication that a similar part of the Liberty bonds would be called for refunding at a lower rate. The Treasury, however, permitted $500,000,000 of 1934 bonds to be called in, offering either $144 of the next interest date, Dec. 15, and those cannot be called now until June 15. Three months prior notice is required.

HOLDS STAGE IN KIDNAP PROBE

With the finding of two ladder rungs in the cellar of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's Bronx home, the study of Arthur Koehler, wood technologist of Madison, Wis., of the ladder used in kidnaping the Lindbergh baby and wood in the German carpenter's cellar commands the interest of officials seeking further clues to definitely pin the kidnaping on Hauptmann, already indicted for extortion in connection with the $50,000 ransom money. Apopka Robbery Laid To Gang Of Floridians

ORLANDO, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Belief that the robbery of the State Bank of Apopka of approximately $5,000 Tuesday noon, was committed by a Florida gang of bandits was expressed last night by Sheriff Harry Hand, who said he and his officers were following several definite clues.

The bank was entered by three bandits when most of the employees were absent to lunch and while those in the bank were held powerless at the point of guns, the desperadoes rifled up piles of currency and then made their escape.

Florida's AVIATION OPPORTUNITIES

Florida stands in the forefront among the states of the Union in aviation development. With 143 airports and 33 emergency landing fields—more than double the number of a year ago—this state is equipped to meet the needs of commercial aviation and the increased popularity of sport flying.

Vast new trade territories have been opened in Latin America over the air routes of one large aviation company. Some idea of the ramifications of the air system radiating southward from Florida may be gained from the fact that this company operates over 30,982 miles of airways, serving 31 countries and colonies, using 127 airplanes which touch at 160 airports.

Air traffic to the south from Florida increased 20 to 50 per cent last winter. Air express increased 20 per cent. There were some 6,000 air passengers per month during the winter season as compared with 5,000 the previous year.

Air passenger traffic from Florida to the North showed a 37 per cent increase over the previous year during the winter season. Departing planes averaged 90 per cent loaded as compared with 60 per cent the year before and arriving planes were 84 per cent loaded as compared with 54 per cent in 1933.

The flying time to New York and Chicago has been materially shortened and overnight schedules to principal cities are maintained.

Florida possesses ideal flying weather the year around. Opportunities for aviation development are obvious to those who know Florida. But to a hundred million Americans Florida is only a name. Florida's advantages, attractions and possibilities must be consistently advertised. By using every section and interest in the state, in an All-Florida program of national advertising, we can tell our story convincingly, help Florida become the greatest, most progressive state in the Nation.

All FLORIDA COMMITTEE

The All-Florida Committee is a non-partisan, non-sectarian organization for the promotion of Florida aviation as a whole. Study these carefully announced conditions so that you may better Florida and thus be better able to cooperate in its program.

STRIKERS BLACK EASILY GUARD TROOPS

Operations Resumed In Miami City Speedily, Without Disasters

Sanford, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The strike of Georgia's commercial airplane pilots, who were on picket lines yesterday, resumed operations in Miami City yesterday without a path for picketing.

By Adjutant General Camp, L. C. Foy, five companies of National Guardsmen invaded Miami yesterday and drove the strikers from the airport. Authority broke down that he held the strikers in custody for months.

These men, long exponents of the "no-strike" doctrine, descended first on the Miami and Rangoon Colonies. A group of pickets quickly gathered across the street under the command of bayonet and machine gun troops scattered the strikers about the city.

When holding the strikers for several days, the general permit was given for their homes. There was no disorder as the strikers and troops exchanged salutes.

They are going to treat these strikers as we would be treated if they were in our shoes. The strikers' committee said as he was herded into the rest of the strikers.

They asked for more money and got it and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers ordered a strike.

General Camp told the strikers that only three pickets would be allowed at the entrance of each building under martial law orders.

The strikers began mobilizing in Miami City Tuesday after Sheriff Foy reported the situation in Miami as "substantially out of control." He said efforts to load freight cars had been suspended between 600 and 1200.

The jurors, whose verdict might send the Insulls and their company's board of directors to prison, fine them or free them, presented a varied appearance. Next to an unemployed salesman, jobless for months, sat a former banker. Another was a retired factory manager who said he and his wife owned plenty of Insull bonds, but it wouldn't prejudice them.
