Made Everglades
Trek During '90s

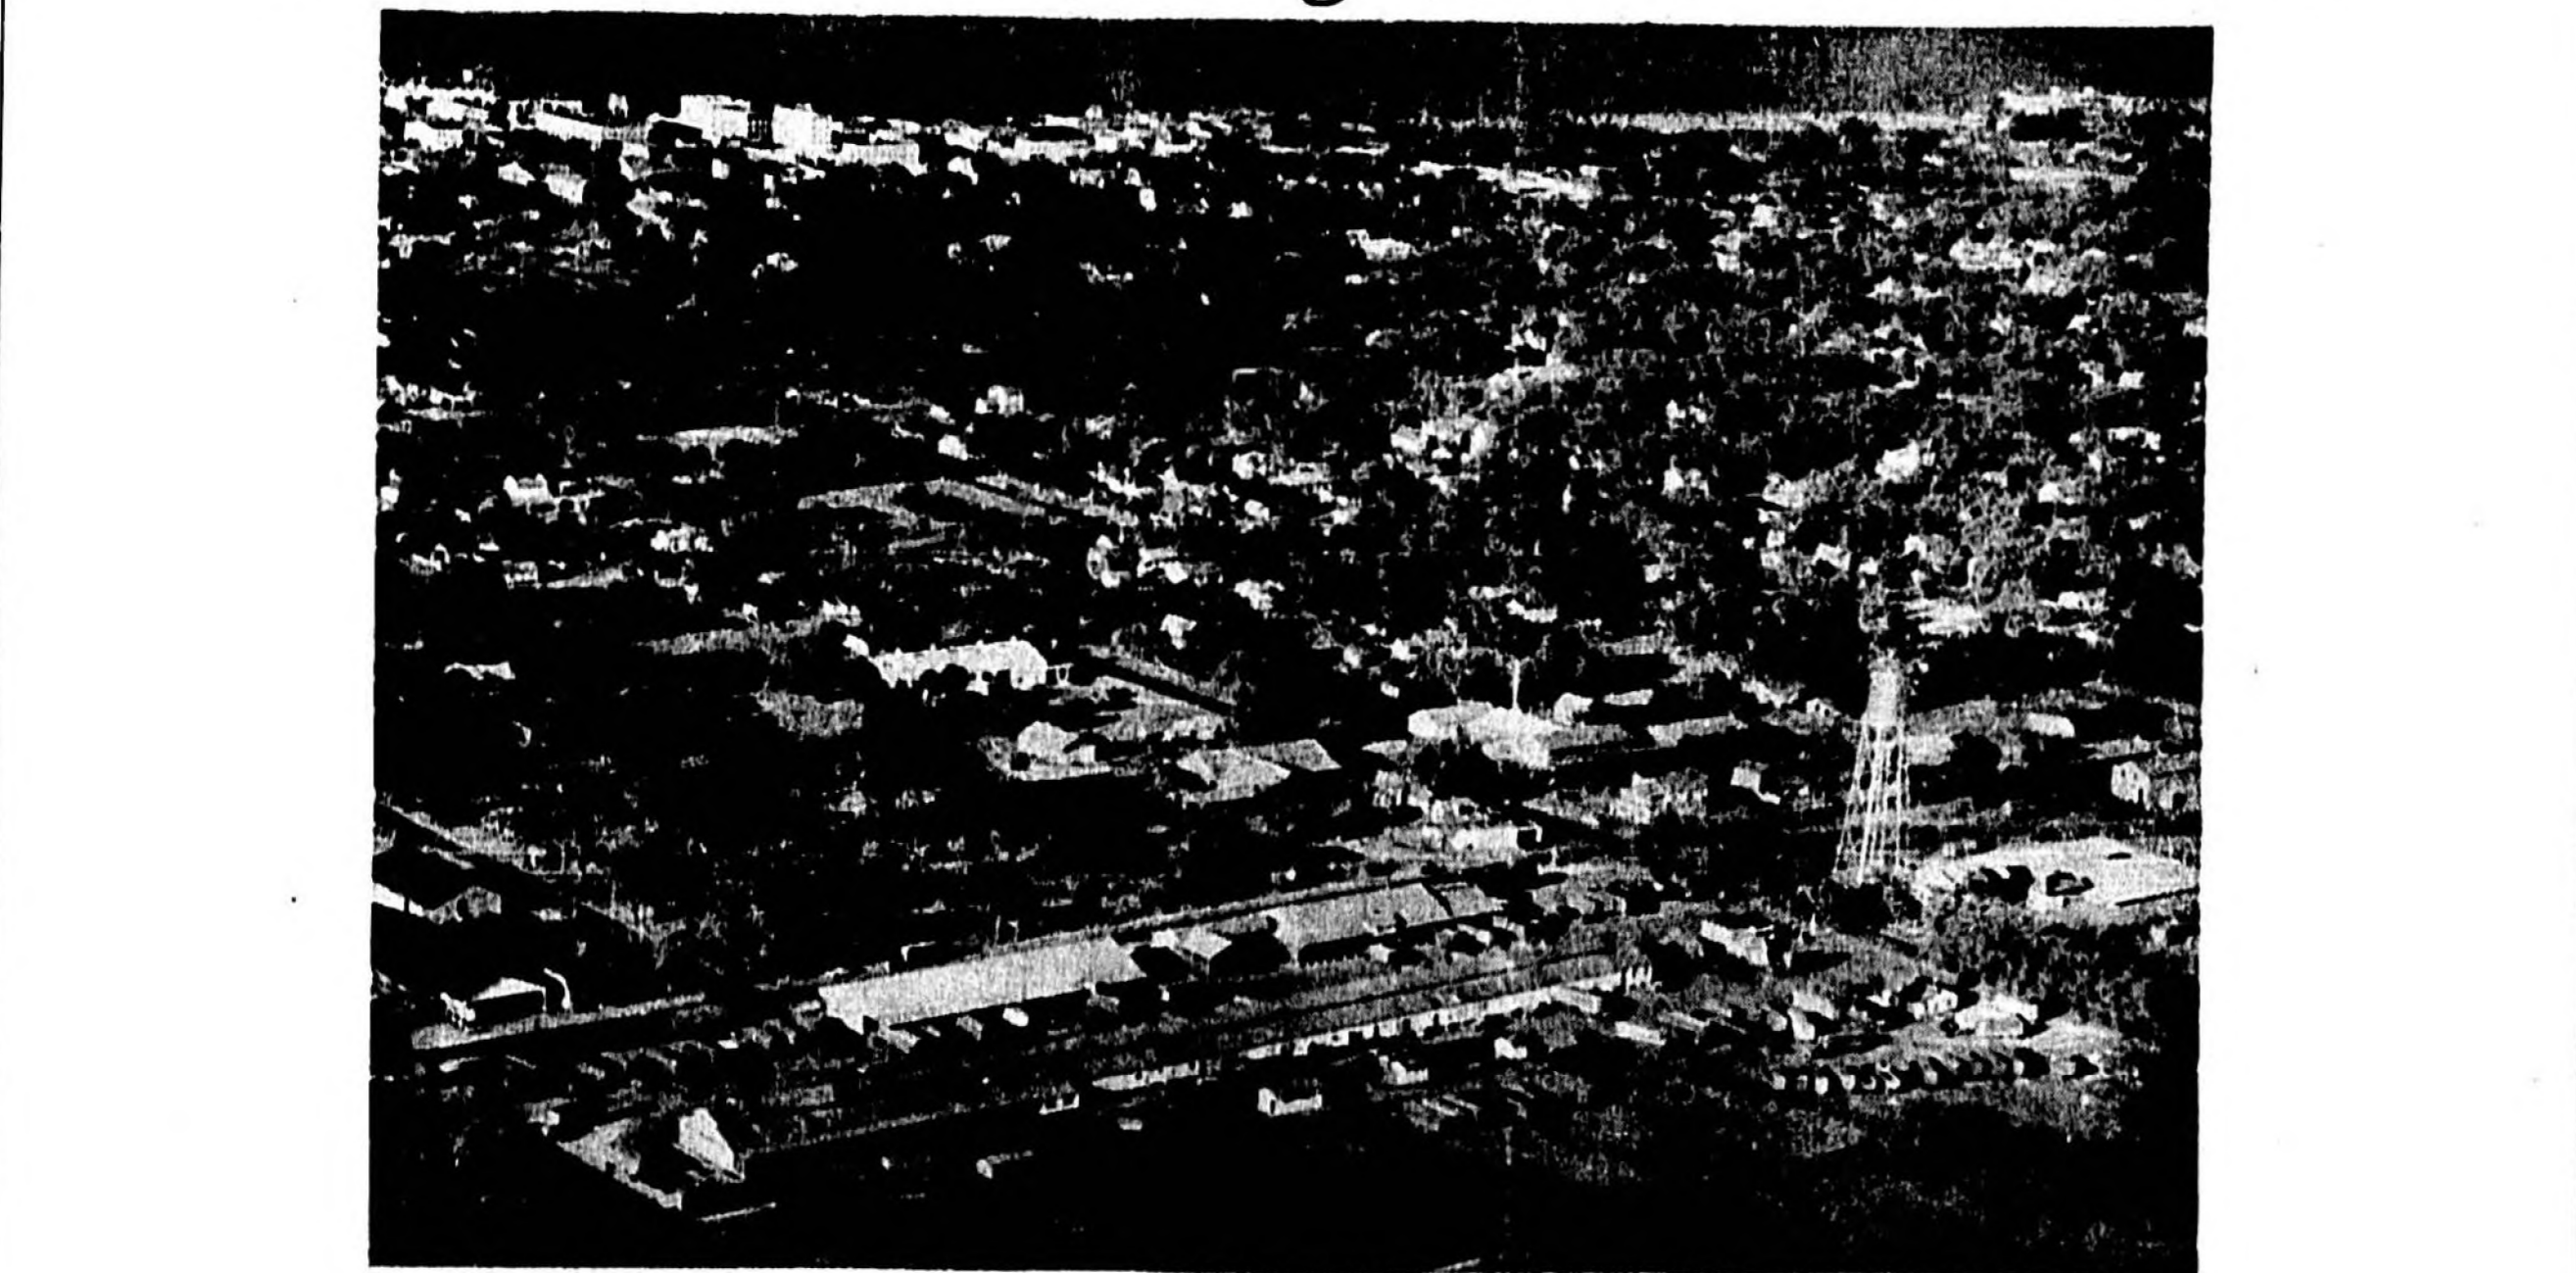

By CHARLES SOMMERY
A story in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post written by Verne D. Williams concerning a May 1902 trip through the Florida Everglades by a group of white men, long to mind a somewhat similar trek made 90 years ago by a venturesome party which included several Sanford and Orange County residents.

FF. DALLAS (NOW Miami) on Apr. 5, 1892 was a scene of great rejoicing when J. E. Ingraham and his band of explorers completed their hazardous trip across the Everglades. In the picture above Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor are shown re-creating the trek. From left to right are Mr. Ingraham, W. R. M. ...

gling to bring the forward, while very soon the fire kindled ahead of the group. But for the layout in which I stood they would have destroyed me. I thought little of the fire, but only of the fatigue, a sense of faintness came over me, and the sagrass was not around and up and down in a most strange fashion. I felt I could stand no longer, and waiting to the sagrass where the water shined a little I sat down in the mud and oh, how good it was to rest.

500,000 Pounds Of Babies Are Born In Florida This Year

If the stork's wings are bent like those of a tired seagull it may be because Florida's residents are producing babies at the record rate of more than 500,000 pounds per year.

The Florida State Board of Health ran across this bit of information while statisticians in the Bureau of Vital Statistics were really looking for something else. They were seeking to determine the average weight of all babies born during 1951, and how many were underweight, average or overweight, figures of importance to the medical profession and public health workers, says State Health Officer Wilson T. Sowder.

Here is what they found:

The average weight of all babies was nearly 7 pounds, 6 ounces. There was no significant racial difference; white babies average 7 pounds 5 1/2 ounces, non-white babies, 7 pounds, 5 1/2 ounces.

Of more than 70,000 babies born in 1951, eight per cent, or 5,869, were considered underweight, tipping the scales at less than 5 pounds, 8 ounces.

A total of 57,505 or 82 per cent were considered in the normal weight range of from 5 pounds, 9 ounces to 8 pounds, 13 ounces. Ten per cent, or 6,737 were considered overweight as they registered 8 pounds, 14 ounces or more. In the overweight group were 210 who could qualify for the "heavyweight" class, weighing in at 11 pounds, one ounce or more. By contrast, in the "lightweight" class, were 908 babies scaling less than 3 pounds, four ounces.

Which was the heaviest and the concerned including several persons who had heard of the family's plight.

Now, Mr. Schaffer, visibly impressed by the kindness of all those who contributed to his family's welfare, hopes to make Sanford his home. But a job is a vital necessity.

A veteran of five years service during World War II in the U. S. Army, Mr. Schaffer has had considerable experience in a number of fields including positions as a layout machinist, commercial artist, and house contractor. He also was a civil service employee at the Naval Supply Depot in Mechanicsburg, Pa. for four years following the end of the war.

Because of the health of one of his younger children, he was forced to leave a responsible, well-paying position in Pennsylvania and come south.

All offers will be seriously considered by the newcomer to this city who currently is located at the Park Avenue Trailer Court.

My seven youngsters including Bonnie, nine; Marian and Marilyn, lightest? The bureau declines to say.

"In order to arrive at that information," says Bureau Director Everett Williams, "we would have to check through more than 70,000 birth certificates. We do not believe the relative significance of the information would justify the cost."

There were three sets of triplets, all colored, born during the year, while 697 sets of twins saw the light of day, or about one set of twins for every 100 births.

The total weight for all babies born during 1951 was approximately 517,800 pounds, which figures out to about 259 tons of brand new Florida citizens.

Republican friends around Pensacola got together and called up C. C. Spades (Republican national committeeman from Florida) and said they didn't want a Democrat appointed.

Draper said the question also was discussed when he, Spades and Republican State Committee Chairman G. Harold Alexander conferred in Washington two weeks ago with William P. Rogers, assistant to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, on Florida patronage matters.

Pelson Yon, who was chairman of the Tallahassee Democrats for Eisenhower campaign and has continued to be active among state Democrats who supported the general, said his group would oppose any move to send someone in from outside the Northern District.

Eisenhower got 48,870 votes in the 22 counties of the North Florida District, although there were only 3,647 registered Republicans. Adlai E. Stevenson got 85,359 in the traditionally Democratic stronghold.

Carswell, the Eisenhower Democrat candidate for district attorney, has powerful forces on his side.

Besides his own activity on behalf of the Republican candidate, Carswell's brother-in-law was head of a Macon, Ga. group which brought Gov. Earl Warren from California to Georgia to speak in behalf of Eisenhower.

He also has friends among supporters of Sens. Holland and Smathers who would have much to say about whether any Eisenhower appointment would be confirmed by the Senate.

His father-in-law, Jack W. Simons, Tallahassee crate manufacturer, was a Holland appointee to the State Board of Forestry during Holland's administration as governor.

Foreign Ministers Assemble In Effort To Meet U. S. Wish

ROME (AP)—The foreign ministers of six West European nations met here today in a try at welding the tighter economic, political and military union for which the United States is pressing.

The conference chamber doors in Rome's Villa Aldobrandini were closed in midmorning, soon after the foreign policy chiefs and their aides from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands took their places for the two days of talk.

A priority item was a list of amendments France wants to make in the proposed European army plan — amendments which Konrad Adenauer, West German Chancellor and foreign minister, has said he will fight to the last die.

Also up for discussion was a Dutch proposal for a tariff union to create a common market among the six powers within about five years. They already are pledged to a common coal and steel market by the Schuman Plan, which recently went into operation.

The dispute over the French-proposed changes in the European Defense (EDC) Treaty centered on France's demand that she be allowed to withdraw troops from the planned single-uniform, two-million man West European army in case her overseas possessions are threatened.

Adenauer fears this would let France shift her troops at will, leaving the main burden of European defense to Germany.

The other four nations are afraid the dispute will put EDC on the rocks before it ever starts to work. Italy's Premier and foreign minister, Alcide de Gasperi, reportedly was trying to strike a compromise.

De Gasperi met privately last night with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, and was closeted just before today's session with Adenauer.

Soldier Goes On Trial For Slaying American

SEoul (AP)—Australian Pvt. Ian Dawling Cupit pleaded innocent today to a court martial charge of murdering an American soldier near the Korean battlefield last Dec. 8.

Cupit sat between two guards and listened without expression while a slow-talking American corporal described the death of his friend, Cpl. Henry L. Chambers of Dothan, Ala., to a court composed of seven Australian officers.

A lawgiver judge advocate presided over the trial.

Cupit is accused of shooting Chambers with a rifle after Chambers refused to give Cupit a ride in his jeep. The Australian soldier, a member of the third battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment, would face a possible death sentence if convicted. Cupit declined to give his home address in Australia.

The first prosecution witness, Cpl. Robert L. Foughty of Athens, O., testified he was with Chambers in a jeep the night of Dec. 8 when the jeep was stopped by a soldier with an Australian or British accent. He said he could not identify the soldier.

Foughty testified the soldier asked Chambers for a cigarette and then asked where the Americans were going. When Chambers told him they were going to their artillery battalion, the soldier said,

Police Officer Given 15-Year Jail Term

TAMPA (AP)—Criminal Court Judge L. A. Grayson called a former policeman the "malaprag" of a safecracking gang and sentenced him to 15 years in prison Monday.

Andrew M. Yelvington had pleaded guilty to burglary together with five others in a gang which stole an estimated $100,000 in three counties.

Yelvington's old patrol car partner, Carl D. Overstreet, was sentenced to 10 years. Investigators said the pair helped plan the robberies and even directed operations from their patrol car while serving as lookouts.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Grayson said police reports on the thefts indicated there were others involved against whom satisfactory and then asked where the Americans were going. When Chambers told him they were going to their artillery battalion, the soldier said,

"What's up, Mac? What're they doing?"

It happens to everybody. You. You walk down the street, see a crowd, join it, and watch some strange goings-on. Then you tap somebody on the shoulder and ask what's up—even though you can see what's up with your own eyes.

Chances are that he doesn't know what's going on any more than you do. Chances are he'll have to get a newspaper to find out — just as you will.

Then, for the first time, you'll discover that the firemen on the ladder were trying to reach a young man who had escaped from the police and climbed a pole.

It's great to be on the spot at a football game... or political gathering... or hear and see any burst of excitement. It stimulates your appetite for the whole story.

But being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

• This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air... or brief headlines here or there... may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ad themselves have the same important local quality. No other medium can match this quality.

Add to all this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, not just fractions of audiences, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

The NAAS Basketball Team dropped into second place in the Orlando City League last night when they were defeated by a rival Navy team from Photographic Squadron 02 by a four point margin. NAAS was in a first place tie in the league with Huges Sporting Goods, but after the final whistle in last night's roughly fought contest with VJ-02, NAAS found they had been defeated by a score of 54-50. A total of 28 personal fouls were committed in the battle, 12 by the NAAS team and 16 by the Photographic Squadron's team.

"Ik" Elsenbrand of VJ-02 was high man for the night with a total of 10 markers while Barney Ramsey of NAAS and Joe Merrill of VJ-02 each hit the mark for 10. Owen Seymour, Bill Nelson, and Roy Lee accounted for 8 aiece for the NAAS crew. Bob Forrest and Sam Chaffin returned to duty with NAAS after spending the past week in entries in the annual Golden Gloves Tournament in Jacksonville. Sam lost his second bout which eliminated him from further competition but Bob went all the way to bring home a hard-earned victory. Not too many men earned the station realted. Bob and Sam were boxes but there is no doubt about it now. Welcome back to NAAS men and congratulatory on a job well done!

Nelson L. Martin, Hospital Corpsman second class, will be leaving NAAS Thursday for Portsmouth, Va. where he will receive a six month course of instruction in the U. S. Naval Hospital Corps School. Upon completion of the course, Martin will be assigned to a new duty station. On his way to the school, he plans to take leave at his home in Baltimore, Md. While attached to NAAS, Martin has performed his duties at the Station Dispensary. Two NAAS men to report back from leave yesterday were Edward D. Allen, Aviation Storekeeper first class, and William V. Chatham, Tradesman Airman. Ed spent his leave with his family in Longwood, and Bill was at home with his family at 908 Maple Avenue here in Sanford.

The service-wide competitive examinations for advancement to first class petty officer were held aboard the station today for eligible personnel from the station and fleet units. This was the last in this series of competitive exams and now all we have to do is "sweat it out" until the results are received. May 10 has been set as the effective date for advancement to third, second, and first class petty officer, which means results of the recent exams should be received here about the end of April or the first part of May. It seems like a long time to wait to see if you passed it or not, doesn't it men??

Porpoises Excited As Baby Is Born In Tank

MARINELAND — The porpoises at Marine Studios wouldn't eat Monday afternoon, they were so excited. A baby had just been born in their tank, increasing the dolphin population to 13. It was the second birth this month. The playful, fish-like mammals will have another occasion to celebrate soon—another female is expected. Six of the porpoises in the tank now were born here. The others, the parents, came from the ocean. A new born porpoise measures about three feet and weighs about 25 pounds. The grown ones get as big as eight feet and 400 pounds.

Quality Brahman Will Be Exhibited At Livestock Sale

OCALA — (Special) — Twenty-two head of registered Brahman are catalogued for the ninth annual Ocala Brahman Sale, set for Mar. 7 as a climax for the South-eastern Festival Week which opens Mar. 3. It is announced by G. T. Stack, chairman of the show and sale committee of the Eastern Brahman Association, sponsoring organization. Catalogs were in the mail this week to cattlemen throughout the Southeast, and advance copies were available for distribution at the Florida State Fair in Tampa. Included in the offering are nine females and 13 bulls, representing the breeding of 13 breeders from as far away as Indiana and South Carolina. "The cattle offered in the 1953 Ocala sale comprise the quality

Non Agricultural Employment Is Up By 4.9 Percent

TALLAHASSEE, (Special) — Estimated employment in all non-agricultural industries in Florida was $50,500 in December, according to James T. Vucelle, Chairman, Florida Industrial Commission. This was an increase of 29,900 or 4.9 per cent over the revised estimate of last month. Over the year growth is reflected in the December employment level which exceeds that of the same month last year by 40,000.

Nonagricultural unemployment, estimated at 30,700 last month, declined to 28,400 in mid-December. Winter migration from the North and holiday jobseekers prevented the number unemployed from dropping even lower. The unemployment estimate of a year ago was 28,100. Employment in the manufacturing industries increased 6,100 over November to 125,800. Expansion in plants producing single strength citrus juice and sections and the beginning of frozen concentrate operations account for most of the gain in manufacturing. Firms making tin cans (fabricated metal products) added more workers to meet increased demands in the tobacco industry, cigar-making firms needed fewer workers during their semi-annual inventory period. The trade and service industries experienced seasonal employment gains. Retail stores, especially department and limited price variety, hired many additional employees to accommodate the Christmas shopping rush in the wholesale trade segment, citrus packing houses added personnel to get out the holiday pack. In the service industry most of the employment addition was made by hotels as the tourist trade picked up significantly. Employment in transportation, communication and public utilities factor contributing to a jump of 1,500 Heavier fruit and vegetable shipments and increased passenger travel were responsible for expanded work forces in the transportation industry. The hiring of temporary part-time employees by the Federal Government was the primary factor contributing to a jump of 6,000 in government employment.

Delay Explained By Williams On French Avenue

Angus Secures Services Of Dr. Wolman On Sewerage

Progress on the French Avenue widening project has come to a standstill, pending action by the district office of the State Road Department in preparing right-of-way descriptions for a mass condemnation suit, according to a report made to the City Commission last night by Volie A. Williams, Jr., rights-of-way agent for the City.

The district office, he revealed, is awaiting either the invention of the project in the 1953 budget of the State Road Department or special instructions from the department's office at Tallahassee. The department budget is being adopted at a meeting being held Wednesday and Thursday of this week, Mr. Williams said. In answer to a query from the Commission if representation at the meeting would be a good idea, he said, "A squeaking wheel gets the grease."

During other proceedings of the meeting, Robert Angus, consulting engineer for the City, who is preparing plans for improvement of the sewerage and water systems, reported he has acquired the services of Dr. Abel Wolman, professor of sanitary engineering at Johns Hopkins University, and the country's outstanding engineer in this field, according to Mr. Angus. Dr. Wolman's fee is $3,000 which will be absorbed by Mr. Angus in his fee from the City. Mr. Angus sought a commitment from the City in the amount of $1 million, but the City made no agreement.

Discussion also was held concerning the new City sewerage water purifying device which, Mr. Angus said, would be installed by Mar. 15, and briefly, the water program.

Representatives of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, O. V. Horace, local superintendent, and A. V. Hooks, Jacksonville, maintenance of way engineer, attempted unsuccessfully to get a commitment from the City for paved access to the new ACL depot west of the City limits.

They requested that the City pave Persimmon Avenue from Third Street to their new station and from McGee Road north to the station, with the railroad acquiring the additional right-of-way for the south end from the Sinclair Oil Company.

Mayor Randall Chase announced the use of Ninth Street, opening it through railroad property, the matter which last night with no decision being made.

Attorney Williams, in his report, said that 24 properties are yet to be acquired for French Avenue before the widening project may get underway.

Answering a query as to the reason for the delay in securing the rights-of-way for the project, Mr. Williams said he has been making numerous attempts to get adequate descriptions from the State Road Department in order to file collective condemnation suits, taking in all unacquired rights-of-way.

The State Road Department needs to prepare descriptions of rights-of-way at each end of the thoroughfare, owned by the Sun Oil Company and C. E. Harrell at the north end and C. E. (Jim) Spencer, C. A. Edmonds, the Botic Corporation, Chester Miller and Anthony Marcenelle at the south end. These rights-of-way make up the intersections at the ends of the street.

Mr. Williams stated that Talbot Whitfield, state rights-of-way attorney, said the district office at DeLand has been looking up those descriptions.

Van Ferguson, formerly in charge of the right-of-way department of the state, wrote to Richey Green, district engineer, asking when the state office could expect the construction plans.

The district engineer, Mr. Williams said, wrote to Malcolm Yancey, Mr. Ferguson's successor, on Feb. 17 and told him the plans for the project were only 20 per cent completed and that no work was being done, pending the conclusion of the project in the BRD budget or instructions from the BRD.

The local attorney said he called Richard Simpson, chairman of the BRD, and explained the whole matter to him. He said the street is well traveled, that the Sanford State Market is located on it and is doing a lot of business through trucking, and that the street is a connecting link for Highway 17-92 with Orlando and points south.

He said that Mr. Simpson had stated he would attempt to get the project into the budget with the provision that a contract would not be let until late in the year, taking into consideration the BRD primary road funds are deficient by $9 million.

Ralph Cowan, chairman of Sanford Industries, Inc., appeared before the Commission and reported that he had secured a contract with the first new industry which will locate here and that he has an appointment this week with a representative of a New York firm. He was granted an additional preparing plans for improvement.

Gordon P. Blitch of the auditing firm of Blitch, Tyson and Meek, Jacksonville, presented an agreement for auditing the City's books, which he said would cost $2,500 a year for a continuous audit for three years, or $7,500 for the first year. The Commission entered the agreement with the stipulation they could not be at the end of either of the two years by paying an additional $400.

In other action, the Commission approved the application for the

and he declared that no matter where a Rotarian might go in the world, he will find there a Rotary Club where he will be always welcome.

Mr. Slins also pointed out that meeting with fellow business and professional men every week and rubbing elbows with them gives one a broader sense of life. "There are not many who are not good fellows to know," he said.

Mr. Slins also pointed out the benefits derived by boys who participate in Rotary Junior baseball and emphasized what being a part of this work had meant to him. It not only serves to teach boys the fundamentals of baseball but also good sportsmanship and good fellowship.

The Rev. Zimmerman said that Rotary stands for 100 principles upon which this country was founded, and added that it would have been impossible for the idea of Rotary to have been conceived anywhere else but in this country. The extent to which it has spread to other countries, merely goes to show, he said, the extent to which Americanism is spreading.

He quoted from George Washington who said that religion and morality are the great pillars of human happiness but morality can't be maintained without religion. The Rev. Zimmerman said one of the best things about Rotary is that it thinks that aspect of life (religion) is important.

Mr. Ratigan pointed out that the subject of "What Rotary Has Meant to Me," having been exhausted by the previous speakers, he intended to speak on "What We Mean to Rotary," and said that Rotary is an idea like most modern medicines that needs something on which to feed.

He said that an idea locked in the mind of man doesn't do very much good. "It must be communicated and spread from one person to another, or it withers on the vine," he added. "The idea of Rotary has been spread all over this country and all over the world."

The idea of Rotary grew out of loneliness," Mr. Ratigan said, "an executive loneliness, or business isolationism. Most of Rotary's members are business men in an executive capacity who have to make many decisions. This is a lonely position. So it is no wonder that they like to get together once

Voice Of America

Asked for his reaction to McCarthy's probe, Johnson said, "I'm willing to give Sen. McCarthy the benefit of the doubt. I think he is trying to be helpful and maybe he'll dig up stuff that will be very important to us."

There have been reports that Dulles might want to make the information service independent of the State Department, perhaps with Cabinet status. Johnson said he didn't want to go into that matter now, but that he would certainly look into all possibilities in his month-long study.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, 62-year-old president of Temple University, today was named acting chief of the government's Overseas Information Service.

The White House announcement said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles had asked Johnson to study the entire information program — which includes the controversial "Voice of America"—and eventually to head it in a permanent basis.

Three hours earlier, Johnson said in an interview that he would make a broad study of the entire automobiles with increasing congestion and parking problems, more housing problems, and many other items involved in the tremendous growth of cities.

In order to meet the increasing cost of operation of cities, the speaker suggested that Washington, through a department of local government, plan a program of municipal improvement which would take-up any slack in employment and at the same time keep the nation's cities from going bankrupt or deteriorating due to lack of funds.

He concluded that "now is the time for our leaders to formulate plans and programs and get them underway, as further delays will only tend to make the situation more critical and more difficult to solve."

As part of the luncheon program a group of Junior High school girls presented a musical program which included acts which are part of a variety show to be held Mar. 6 at 8:00 p.m. at the Junior High School auditorium for the benefit of the school band.

Mrs. Thomas Walker and Mrs. Sidney Vihlen, mothers of boys in the band, were in charge of the group which included the following boys and girls: Pat Harrington, singer; Terry Goebel, accordionist; Nancy Cash, tap dancer; Sidney Vihlen, piano soloist; and Cindy May, singer. Mrs. Lulu Bailey was the piano accompanist.
