Triglycerides Are Simply Fats

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been unable to find the proper value for triglycerides anywhere. What is the normal amount? DEAR READER — It depends upon the method and the state of the patient when studied. In general if the patient is in the fasting state — not having eaten for at least 12 hours — the level should be below 150 milligrams in 100 milliliters of blood.

Remember that triglycerides are simply fats. The amount of fat in the blood varies greatly with what you have eaten recently. Fat is slowly absorbed and slowly cleared from the blood stream compared to sugar. It is much more affected by a recent meal than your cholesterol level. One reason you are having trouble finding normal values is because of its variability.

The triglyceride level will also fall if you exercise vigorously. The amount of exercise in the preceding 48 hours may affect your triglyceride level. The triglyceride level alone has not been found to be as useful as the cholesterol level in predicting the risk of heart attacks. When the size of the particles formed by the triglyceride-cholesterol level in predicting the risk of heart attacks. When the size of the particles formed by the triglyceride-cholesterol level in predicting the risk of heart attacks.

DEAR READER — Your letter is a good example of why people should never try to change a child's habits by frightening them with dire consequences; other than a good paddling if warranted. That young nurse unwittingly planted the seed for you in responding to your anxiety reactions. No, no, no, fingering your navel will not cause cancer. Cancer is simply cell growth that has gone berserk allowing uncontrolled abnormal growth. For example, liver cancer is a rapid disorganized growth of liver cells. Many factors can stimulate the wild growth.

Why don't you ask your doctor to have you see a psychiatrist for some professional counseling. If you can get at the root of your real anxiety then its manifestations, excessive fear of cancer, may be controlled.

For Tuesday, October 11, 1977

YOUR BIRTHDAY Oct. 11, 1977 There may be something you'd like to try as a sideline, hobby or avocation this coming year. By all means pursue it. It could lead to something far more interesting.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An influential friend who is usually willing to help you may not be accessible today. It's best to plan on going it alone, to avoid disappointment. Find out who you're romantically suited to by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each sign and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your returns are usually in proportion to the time, effort and money you've invested. Don't expect a windfall today from the pittance you gave a friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A financial involvement today with those you know little about. All may appear A-O-K on the surface, but that's not good enough.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The options you espouse are not popular with the majority today. You could get hit with a tomato for your efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Usually you're innovative in while attending a demonstration in radiology, student PETER PARKER was bitten by a spider which had accidentally been exposed to RADIOACTIVE RAYS. Peter soon found he had GAINED the insect's powers... and had become a human spider.

City May Get 70-Year-Old RR Station

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

A railroad museum complete with an old steam locomotive may be the latest addition to Longwood's historical district, the city council learned Monday night.

One of the prime movers in previous restoration in the historical district, Mrs. Grace Bradford, explained the proposed project and said it would not cost the city any money. She said the Central Florida Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society has a steam engine and would like to have a museum in Longwood located in an old railroad station.

Longwood Buffs Picking Up Steam For Museum

A Longwood resident, Archie Cook, is chairman of the group of railroad buffs, who hope to obtain a 70-year-old station from Seaboard Coast Line and move it to Longwood where they would refurbish it as a museum to house their collections of railroad memorabilia.

Cook said the group, which has 35 to 40 members, is now in the process of restoring the 50-year-old saddle tank switcher, which was dug out of an old phosphate pit in Lakeland. The chapter, with members from Ovidio to Eustis and Mt. Dora, now meets in Apopka and Longwood would be a more central location, Cook said.

Mosquito: Is Parasite The Cure?

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce task force committee on the blind mosquitoes which have invaded the city's lakefront, is looking toward a united effort of 18 Florida counties and cities seeking local, federal and state money for a solution.

The favored solution is not the chemical method, but rather an introduction of some type of parasite, using a "balance of nature" concept, said B. Brad Hollingsworth, co-chairman of the task force, today. Hollingsworth said the chamber has adopted a resolution which is being sent to the other Florida counties and cities suffering with the problem, urging the effort.

He noted that in recent weeks entomologists, considered the leading experts in the state, met in Sanford and recommended that Dr. Richard Patterson, who had conducted a three-year study on midgets be contacted for assistance.

Hollingsworth said the task force is also contacting state senators and representatives to advise them of the problem.

"Our main concern is not to use chemicals," Hollingsworth said, adding that spraying with chemicals would cost $120,000 twice annually and yet research has proven that the chemicals do not provide a permanent solution.

"We are looking for a parasite that would eat the blind mosquito larvae," he said. Hollingsworth pointed out that research also has shown that a major difference between mosquito larvae and blind mosquito larvae is that mosquito eggs require two hours after surfacing on a body of water before the creatures can fly, while the midgets fly immediately after reaching the surface.

Tax Revision Plan Could Cut Taxes By $22 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said the administration's tax revision plan could cut taxes by up to $22 billion and may go into effect in 1978, a year earlier than originally planned. However, Blumenthal said Monday that no final decision was made. He said the direction of the economy would determine the timing of the reduction.

Three Girls Found Stabbed

ELVATON, Md. (AP) — The bodies of three young girls have been found lying face down in a creek that flows through their quiet Southgate neighborhood. All had been stabbed repeatedly through their parkas. Theresa Hogan, 10, her 8-year-old sister, Deborah Anne, and Ann Marie Przeskiewicz, 6, had gone outside to play early Sunday evening and were last seen on a bridge over the stream. Their bodies were found Monday.

Child Pornography Law Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving ahead in its drive to outlaw child pornography, described by one lawmaker as a multimillion dollar business. By an 85-1 vote Monday night, the Senate passed a bill outlawing the use of children under 16 in the production of pornographic magazines, films and other materials. It also bars the interstate sale and distribution of such materials.

IQ Tests On Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A class action suit filed six years ago on behalf of a handful of children assigned to classes for the mentally retarded because of low scores on IQ tests opens here today. On trial are the IQ tests themselves — and their alleged built-in bias against minority children. An attorney for the six youngsters says that IQ tests are "culturally biased against black children because they don't take into consideration the cultural experience of the children."

Exposure Causes Cancer

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The Monsanto chemical company has reported that several workers at its Nitro, W. Va., plant had died of cancer in the 1950s and 60s due to exposure to a chemical used in making synthetic rubber. Another 150 of their colleagues have undergone two-yearly tests since then. Use of the substance, para-aminobiphenyl (PAB), was stopped immediately when the cancer threat surfaced in 1955, he said.

Israel Won't Give Lands

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan says Israel will not give up any of the West Bank or the Gaza Strip, and his government has announced plans for 10 new military posts in the West Bank. Hijackers Surrender

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A man and a woman wearing airline uniforms hijacked a Czechoslovak airliner to Frankfurt airport today, and surrendered to German police after holding 27 people hostage on the plane for two hours, police said. The two suspects were immediately taken away for questioning. It was unclear whether they were members of the crew. The remaining people aboard the Yak 40 short-haul jet came out unharmed minutes after the two surrendered. Special police commandos had surrounded the plane, which was parked out of sight of the main terminal. The hijackers had first demanded refueling for a flight to Munich.

Sanford Police Probe Rape Of Girl, 14

Sanford police are investigating a report by a 14-year-old girl that she was raped by a man Monday night at the rear of the Sanford Plaza Shopping Center. The juvenile girl told officers she was picked up by the man on Airport Boulevard near U.S. 17-92 and taken to a loading area behind a store and sexually assaulted. The police said the girl told them the man took her back to Airport Boulevard and released her about an hour after the alleged attack.

Trio Share Nobel Prize For Physics

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1977 Nobel prize in physics was awarded today to two Americans and one Briton. They were cited for their fundamental theoretical investigation of the electronic structure of magnetic and disordered systems, the Swedish Academy announced. The Nobel prize for chemistry was awarded today to Belgian Ilya Prigogine for his work in the field of thermodynamics. Prigogine, 50, is a professor at the Free University of Brussels.

Mexican Convicts Kill 13 Inmates

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Hundreds of rebellious convicts held part of Jalisco state prison today after executing 13 inmates they charged tyrannized them as agents of the prison administration. Police and firemen appeared to be readying for an assault Monday night, setting up floodlights in front of a prison wall. But no attack was ordered. Prison Director Pedro Parra said late Monday night security forces had regained control of the fortress-like, 2,300-inmate penitentiary. But no guards ventured beyond the administrative section in the front of the prison, and inmates who fled from the cellblocks said the rioters still held the main part of the complex. A statement reportedly signed by 400 rebel inmates said the killings were "not a crime but justice." They demanded better food, work opportunities, efficient medical service and better living conditions. Five other persons including two guards were injured in the violence Monday morning. By midafternoon all guards had been withdrawn from the cellblocks, and 2,000 men roamed freely over the interior. American prisoners — officially said to number eight, but one American inmate said there were 17 — did not join in the rebellion, and none was injured, officials said. The Americans are jailed on narcotics charges. Eyewitnesses said the slain prisoners enjoyed a privileged status as "coordinators" for the administration. They said their names were on a death list drawn up by the rebels, and they were killed one by one. Prison Director Pedro Parra admitted to reporters that the prison inmates are exploited by their fellow prisoners, a common situation in Mexican jails, because "in the prison it's the law of the strongest."

State Must Pay Legal Aid

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that the state must fund legal aid for inmates because of a decision earlier this year by the U.S. Supreme Court. U.S. District Judge Charles H. However, its federal grant will expire on Oct. 15.

Poston Closes Business

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Sen. Ralph Poston has closed the doors on a controversial non-emergency ambulance business which is the basis of charges being filed against him by the state Ethics Commission. Poston said Monday that a lack of business had forced him to abandon the enterprise on which he has lost over $50,000 since starting it in July 1976. Poston laid the blame for the business failure on what he charged was unfair monopoly competition.

Commissioners Decline Comment

FITC Demands 'Damages' From Sanford

Sanford City Commissioners made no comment Monday night as John S. Sabatini, representative of the Florida Interconnect Telephone Co. (FITC), demanded payment of $12,033.60 in "damages" to avoid court litigation by the firm. Sabatini said the money represented loss of profits, commission and part of the cost of preparing a proposal for installation of telephone equipment and service at the new city hall under construction. The city commission several months ago accepted a proposal from Southern Bell for a telephone service over the FITC proposal. A.A. McClanahan who had originally suggested a December referendum this year urged that the matter be tabled. No regular city election was scheduled this year. City Atty. Vernon Miller said that the commission also had discussed the possibility of establishing residency districts for city commissioners and an election to determine whether or not a special tax would be assessed against downtown property for the development of downtown Sanford. Be On Lookout For 500-Pound Bear

MIAMI (AP) — Police patrolled a 20-square-mile section of two Miami suburbs early today as the handler of an escaped 500-pound Kodiak bear drove into the darkness clanging the bear's dinner bell. "The owner considers it harmless," said Sgt. Lowell Coffin of the police department in suburban Hialeah. "But it is hungry." Coffin said the unidentified bear's claws and fangs had been removed. "Anything that big is dangerous whether it has claws or not," said Coffin. Searchers reported the bear was 9½ tall when standing erect and was named "Chow." Police identified the bear's owner as Bill Vergia, who they said is a movie producer. A police spokesman said Vergia, who is out of the area at an undisclosed location, uses the bear in his films. Police field units radioed that the animal's handler planned to drive into the area bearing the bell used to call the bear to meals. "It's declawed and defanged but it is hungry, nervous and scared and could do anything," the man was quoted by police in a radio alert. Dade County's animal control division reported receiving a call Monday from a man identifying himself as Thomas Kazo. "He said if we located a bear to give him a call," said dispatcher Sherry Simon. "He said it was a Kodiak bear 9½ feet tall." The number Kazo left with the animal control office was an answering service for a Hollywood, Fla., company, Hell On Paws. Kodiak bears, named for the island they inhabit in Alaska waters, are the world's largest bear species, sometimes reaching 10 feet in height and 1,500 pounds. Police agencies in the neighboring communities of Hialeah and Hialeah Gardens received reports Monday evening the bear had been sighted. Once it was reported surrounded by police and wildlife officers, Coffin said, but it scrambled away into the brushland bordering the Everglades expanse along Miami's western fringe. "We had a report a man was knocked off a horse," Coffin said. He said the report was unconfirmed.

Printing Increase May Prompt Switch

The Addressograph-Multi-Graph Corp., from which Seminole County rents printing equipment, has raised its rates and county officials are now considering renting printing equipment from a different company. "We're been renting equipment from Addressograph on a monthly basis since April," said Administrative Services Director Bob Ellis, "and they just changed their pricing plan. The old rate was a penny a copy, plus a fee for other equipment. Now they want to charge eight cents per master. Most of our runs are small ones, and the new rate is impractical." While Addressograph has been raising its rates, Xerox has been reducing the rates for its equipment, Ellis said. The county now averages about 62,000 pages a month from the printing center, which prints minutes of county commission meetings, budget documents, public manuals, forms, reports and publications from all the county's departments, said copy technician Larry Elderidge. The county has paid less than $1,000 a month to rent the Addressograph equipment, but the new rates will raise the monthly rental payment to about $1,200 — about the same as the new rate for a Xerox copying system, Ellis estimated. The new Xerox machine is available at a better pricing plan for lower-volume users such as the county," Ellis said. "Xerox has come down, while Addressograph has gone up in its rates." The Addressograph equipment is a printing press which requires preparation of a master copy on a special form for printing runs. The machinery also must be readjusted by hand when different size copies or different colors are needed. The Xerox equipment is a dry-copy system which doesn't require preparation of a master copy and can be retooled for different printing runs with the push of a few buttons, said Elderidge. "Xerox is only one company we're not checking out. I hope to have a recommendation for the county commission within a couple of weeks," said the administrative services director.

What You Don't Know Will Hurt

The hour was late; the streets were dark and empty. A night watchman made his rounds from door to door of the downtown businesses. Most people had been home for hours, many of them already in bed asleep. But the lights still shone brightly in the newspaper office and the old manual typewriter clacked away as the editor recorded what action had been taken at city commission meeting that night.

Soon, thousands of people would read that story and learn what city commission had done to perhaps change their lifestyle, alter their business routine or lower their insurance rates. They would learn how each commissioner voted on an issue and who they should contact if they disagreed with the position a commissioner took. The people wanted this information and knew they could find it in their newspaper.

That's why the lights burned late in the newspaper office, because an editor was dedicated to giving his subscribers a detailed accounting of just what transpired at that council meeting. The next night it would be a school board meeting; the next a civic club dinner, then a meeting of the planning and zoning commission and on and on. The newspaper would be represented at each of these. Stories would be written and published so the people would be informed of what was going on in their community.

"Congress shall make no law...abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press" the First Amendment to the Constitution states — the cornerstone of our democracy. Without this, all of our liberties would be insecure.

Yet these freedoms are being threatened by representatives in government who assume the attitude that it is better for the people to not know what is going on, what action they are considering or have already taken. "What they don't know won't hurt them," they boast. But what they really mean is that if they transact their business under a cloak of secrecy, no one will know what they are doing and they can run the government as they damn well please.

How many times in recent years has it been noted in stories that a school board, city council, fiscal court or some other governing body has gone into executive session to discuss a problem, a situation that possibly would be embarrassing? All too many. If it is public business they are discussing, then rarely should it be conducted behind closed doors.

When you pick up a newspaper today, you have freedom in your hands, but will you still have that freedom of information tomorrow if governmental bodies are allowed to go unchallenged into one secret executive session after another?

It's a question worth pondering this week — National Newspaper Week.

The threat, the challenge rests in the hands of the people and if they — you and I — don't speak up and tell our representatives how we feel, personally or through editorials and letters to the editor, then we may soon find ourselves without a right to know...unable to hold freedom in our hands.

Then there will be no need for the lights to burn into the wee hours of the night in the newspaper office, no need for the typewriter to clackety clack. In fact, there will be no need for the night watchman to make his rounds.

Letters to the editor are welcomed for publication. All letters must be signed, with a mailing address and, if possible, a telephone number so the identity of the writer may be verified. The Evening Herald will respect the wishes of writers who do not want their names in print. The Evening Herald also reserves the right to edit letters to eliminate libel or to conform to space requirements.

ANGLE-WALTERS TV Ads Didn't Sway '76 Voters

NEW ORLEANS — One enduring contemporary axiom holds that television advertising has become so ubiquitous and influential that it dominates the process of selecting everything from headache remedies to public officials.

It's very fashionable to suggest, for example, that the television commercial has emerged in recent decades as by far the most essential medium for presidential candidates seeking to gain the support of a large and disparate national electorate.

Television news and public affairs programming undoubtedly is the single most important vehicle for displaying to that sprawling constituency the contenders for the presidency, their personalities and their positions on issues.

But a previously unpublished national survey goes a long way toward destroying the myth of the indispensability of paid television advertising — notwithstanding the fact that contenders for the White House lavish tens of millions of dollars on that medium during every presidential campaign.

The poll results, obtained during the recent meeting here of the Republican National Committee, are the product of a nationwide voter survey conducted immediately following last year's presidential election by Decision Making Information, a highly respected Santa Ana, Calif., political research firm.

Among that report's conclusions: The television "spots" aired on behalf of the loser, Republican nominee Gerald R. Ford, had a far more profound impact on the voters than did the commercials broadcast on behalf of the winner, Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

The survey didn't seek to measure the quality of either candidate's television advertising, but the two commercials specifically recalled by the greatest number of voters polled both were superlative ads produced for Ford.

One was a "positive" ad which combined a series of striking photographs portraying the nation's strength and diversity accompanied by an audio track of a catchy song titled, "I'm Feelin' Good About America."

The other was a "negative" ad featuring a group of men and women, all identified as Georgia residents, who participated in presumably spontaneous sidewalk interviews in which they criticized Carter's performance as their state's governor.

Those commercials were part of a Ford media package widely acclaimed by political professionals in both major parties as being exceptionally creative and imaginative. They were produced by the Washington firm of Bailey, Dardourff & Associates.

The same political views of Carter's television advertising as neither inspired nor memorable — a view supported by the Decision Making Information survey, which concluded that Ford "clearly outperformed" Carter in the quality of television commercials.

The man responsible for Carter's television advertising was Gerald Hafshorn, head of an Atlanta advertising agency which bears his name and a longtime political ally of the President.

Nixon Men Asked Baker For Demo Dirt

WASHINGTON — Bobby Baker, the bright-eyed Senate wheel-dealer whose financial floundering became an embarrassment to Lyndon Johnson, was once asked by Richard Nixon's henchmen for some dirt on the Democrats.

The details are contained in an anecdote-packed book, tentatively titled "Child of the Senate," that Baker is writing about his controversial career in and out of government. Although the manuscript, 14 years in the making, is still in draft form, we have learned it will contain revelations about Johnson and Nixon, as well as John Kennedy, Dwight Eisenhower, John Connally, Bebe Rebozo, Abe Fortas, Clark Clifford, and Robert Vesco.

Shortly before the 1972 presidential election, Baker relates, Nixon's closest confidant, Bebe Rebozo, asked Baker if he had any derogatory information on Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien.

Baker conceded to Rebozo in a private meeting that he wasn't too fond of the Democratic candidate, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D. But he told Rebozo that he did not offer any scandalous material on O'Brien.

Undaunted, Rebozo reportedly pressed Baker for embarrassing information on other leading Democrats. The pesty Baker was only able to suggest some minor violations that Rebozo wasn't interested in.

Governor Reubin Askew has proclaimed the week of Oct. 24 as "Career Awareness Week," under the sponsorship of the Florida Association of Private Schools (FAPS).

FAPS is an association of privately operated schools on all levels, from kindergarten through college. It includes trade, technical, vocational and business schools as well as those teaching ordinary academic subjects.

The Askew proclamation declares that "career opportunities play a vital role in a free society" and "every individual in America therefore has the privilege to pursue an occupation or career which gives him or her a sense of pride and achievement."

The Governor goes on to say that "career education is an approach to learning, and to life, that joins personal, social and educational goals into a series of meaningful learning opportunities and experiences."

In addition, the proclamation says that "through career education, the student develops a keen self-concept, relationship with others, and positive attitudes about the relationship of learning and life."

Nothing raises self-esteem like the ability to support oneself at a job. Job training — career awareness, if one prefers to call it — is readily available through many Seminole County schools. It begins on an elementary level, with consideration of what sort of jobs different parents have. It goes on to more complicated areas in middle schools where teachers create projects that require children to learn skills; and to develop the ability to work in a business-like environment with each other. It reaches a still higher form in the extensive vocational training programs and professional work programs which are available to local high school students. Children attending area high schools may, at the same time, be working in a bank or grocery store, earning money to contribute toward their own or family expenses.

While private schools have sponsored this recognition of career awareness, public schools have long had established programs in this area. Programs which also deserve recognition.

It is altogether too easy to think of vocational education as something which is an alternative to a "regular" college education — something given to students who just couldn't make it academically.

But Askew's words make sense: "through career education the student develops a keen self-concept." An awareness of self, an awareness of one's own potential, an awareness of one's own value can be more easily attained when a student has been given the opportunity to complete career-oriented projects.

JOHN D. LOFTON, JR. Go Get 'Em, Ralph I'm A FAN

WASHINGTON — Down in Charleston, S. C., according to the Associated Press, the city council is reconsidering a proposal to put diapers on the horses that pull carriages through the historic downtown area. Two years ago, such a law was passed, but it was repealed.

Meanwhile, here in our country's capital, Ralph Nader has announced the formation of a new group called Fight to Advance the National Sports (F-A-N-S, get it?), which he says is needed to protect us spectators from "the rising crescendo of fraud and fast-back artistry." (Speaking of fraud and fast-back artistry, it will cost a sports fan nine bucks a year to join FANS.)

Explaining the role of FANS, which he says will go to court, engage in boycotts, and lobby Congress to publicly protest such outrages as unpopular player trades, cold hot dogs and wagner beer, Nader says:

"The arrogance of the owners and their lack of sensitivity toward their fans is accelerating. They never ask fans what they think of the policies and rules these owners set."

Right No. 1 in Nader's 10-point FAN's Bill of Rights declares: "Fans have the right to participate in the formation of the rules and procedures that govern the play and operation of professional and amateur sports organizations." Nader specifically denounces the "special le privileges" granted to sports which do not serve the "public interest" or "achieve the purposes for which they were intended."

Well, now, when I first heard of Nader's new organization, my reaction was that the whole thing sounds a little — actually a lot — screwy. But, now that I've thought about it a while longer, and had my consciousness raised, I've become a real FANS fan. Because when you think about it, among all our institutions, nothing rises us off like organized sports.

Consider first the lack of competition. If ever two businesses deserved horizontal and vertical diagonal divestiture, they are professional baseball and football. Talk about monopolies. Think about it for just a minute. Here in Washington, we have just one professional football team, the Redskins. Imagine, in a city this size, there is just one professional football team, and the Redskins have 100 percent — all of it. This obviously a classic trust law.

The same is true in numerous other cities. Think about it for just a minute. Here in Washington, we have just one professional football team, the Redskins. Shower Bridal Attire With Color

DEAR ABBY: Who made up that rule that only virgin brides may wear white? And does it still prevail?

DEAR ABBY: Is the dinner table a place for grapes and problems? I am 12 years old, and I am sick and tired of having my dinner spoiled by a lot of unpleasant conversation every night. I know my parents have to get it out of their systems — but at the dinner table?

I know that some adults out there will say, "Since when do children tell their parents what to do and when," but we kids have rights, too, and we should be able to enjoy a peaceful dinner at home. Besides, we're not TELLING our parents, we're just ASKING them to please let us have a nice dinner with pleasant conversation.

DEAR FED UP: I agree, children do have rights, and I hope this letter will remind parents to make mealtime a happy time. Concentrate on what you're EATING — and not on what's eating YOU! DEAR ABBY: First you credited Emerson with the following quote: "Pay every debt like God wrote the bill." Then a Florida editor took you to task, saying he knew Emerson couldn't have authored that quote because it contained a grammatical error. He further stated that on looking it up he found the correct quote to be: "pay every debt as if God wrote the bill."

Your Florida critic is right as far as he goes, but he fails to point out that Emerson made a grammatical error at least as serious as using "like" for "as if," for which YOU were so triumphantly chastened. Proper sequence of tenses demands this phrasing: "Pay every debt as if God HAD WRITTEN the bill."

DEAR PUNDIR: Thanks friend, I'm honored to share a gaffe with so distinguished a literary figure as Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Principal Darvin Boothe

John Yeakle of Sanford has been selected to exhibit his paintings at the annual Brown's Crossing Craftsman's Fair, Friday and Saturday at Brown's Crossing, Ga.

The three awards winners also received a $25 bond each from Atlantic National Bank of Sanford, Flagship Bank of Sanford and Flagship U.S. Bank of Seminole.

The longtime parliamentarian is taking advantage of a Parliamentary Law Class at Seminole Community College. And Charlotte seems to be enjoying every minute of it.

He has worked nine years in Seminole County schools, first, as a social studies teacher and coach for football, basketball and baseball at Seminole High School for five years, and then as assistant principal at Lake Brantley for four years.

Boothe said, "This is a good school, with good foundations laid by others. I'd like to help continue our growth both academically and student-wise, as outside activities are an important part of student development."

"Our students, by and large, are serious students. Until the impact really hits them, we probably won't see any visible changes."

Boothe looks forward to a continuing good working relationship with parents, as during the past four years.

He said, "This is a young school and we want to build traditions. There are well-rounded opportunities for students in all areas here. We have an exceptional academic program and I would like to move from here to excellence."

According to Boothe, the students have not yet been affected by the new testing regulation, whereby a student must pass a test before receiving a diploma.

It's Yankee Pinstripe Vs. Dodger Blue

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers, two franchises that divided baseball passions and World Series titles in the 1950s, square off in Game 1 of the 1977 World Series tonight.

"This is exciting for baseball," enthused the Dodgers' Tom Lasorda, a National League pennant winner in his rookie managerial season in the big leagues. "Here we have the two great teams which over the years have been synonymous with major league baseball." Lasorda, who said he was cut from the Dodgers' 1955 championship team because of a young left-hander named Sandy Kousser, was highly emotional about the classic confrontation between the Yankees pinstripes and the Dodgers blue.

Meanwhile, his managerial counterpart, Billy Martin, proclaimed there was no longer any special rivalry between the Bronx Bombers and the Dodgers, former tenants in the borough of Brooklyn.

"The fluffies were too long ago," said trash Billy, a hero of the Yankees' 1953 World Series win. "I was in the Bronx of Brooklyn." "We used to travel by subway then. Now we go across country in planes."

There now is a lot more separating Los Angeles and New York besides 3,000 miles.

The Dodgers, a team built from their minor league system, failed to enter the free-agent market. The Yankees, however, have been called the best team money can buy, adding freestag players Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett to last season's AL championship club that dropped four straight World Series games to the Cincinnati Reds.

The Dodgers believe in the credo that the team that loves together plays together, while the Yankees play together on the field and argue about it in the clubhouse.

"We built this team on togetherness, love and spirit," said Lasorda, who managed many of his players in the Dodgers chain before succeeding long-time skipper Walter Alton this season. "I love my players because they got me here."

The Yankees' road to the AL pennant, won over Kansas City in the ninth inning of the fifth game for the second straight year, was a rocky one, highlighted by a near dugout brawl between Martin and Jackson, the near firing of Martin and personality clashes between Jackson and Yankees captain Thurman Munson.

"It's a relief we won," said Jackson, benched in the final game against Kansas City but a starter in right field tonight. "That way I don't have to hear how Jackson failed. It makes things a lot more peaceful around here."

It looked for a little while like the Yankees weren't going to be allowed to drift peacefully into tonight's game when Jackson received an eight-page telegram, allegedly from owner George Steinbrenner, saying his contract was terminated because his attitude had been degrading to the team.

After seriously scrutinizing the telegram for several minutes, Jackson was able to laugh it off as a hoax.

"Things could stay peaceful for the Yankees because they quickly pick up their 100th World Series victory and follow that fast with three more triumphs. To that end, Martin will send left-hander Don Gullett to the mound against right-hander Don Sutton tonight."

Gullett, who ironically was Cincinnati's opening-game pitcher against the Yankees last year, will be making his first start since a shoulder ailment knocked him out in the second inning of Game 1 of the AL playoffs last Wednesday.

At that time, Martin proclaimed Gullett was finished for the season. But Gullett, who said he threw pretty well on Saturday and Sunday, told Martin that he could pitch.

"There's been some physical improvement," said Gullett, 14-

Sutton Passed On N.Y. Those Were The Days, Friend...

By NORM OSHRIN Herald Editor

The Dodgers. The Yankees. The Dodgers vs. the Yankees. World Series. . . .

It has a strange, mysterious de ja vu quality. It has a familiar ring. We've certainly been there before. But its memory has grown dimmer and dimmer.

For those who grew up in New York City in the 1940s and 50s, the prospect of such a World Series revives all sorts of memories. The years then were measured and kept in order from one World Series to the next.

And, more often than not, the timekeepers were the Dodger fans. For, each October, they would cry out — or just plain cry — "Wait Till Next Year."

And they did. And did. And did. . . .

The Brooklyn Dodger-New York Yankee World Series stirred the entire city of New York. It was an annual reawakening. A rejuvenation.

It was a time when homes were wrecked, voices raised, punches thrown.

It was the only topic of conversation over back fences, in school hallways, across those fire escapes, on park benches, on stoops, on buses—and, of course, on subways.

For the contents then were labeled "Subway Series."

For a dime or 15 cents — assuming you had a ticket to the game — you could see the entire series alternately in Brooklyn or the Bronx.

But that's a lot of money. No more "Subway Series." As a sign of the times, it's now a "Jet Series." For $14 one way, you can repeat those performances of the good old days — again assuming you have a ticket to the game. So it's not the same. And it's sad. The charisma is gone. The excitement is muted. Is nothing sacred?

The whole scenario changed when the Brooklyn Dodger organization seeking an economic fortune decided the team had outgrown Ebbetts Field — the ballpark where new friends could always be made. Enemies, too. Where you were part of the ballpark, part of the game. Where the joy of being could never be matched.

Economically, the move westward has been a winning proposition for the Dodgers. Emotionally, it has been a losing one for the thousands of fans left behind, many of whom would just as soon forget the one-time existence of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

But that's a toughie. It makes things a lot more peaceful around here."

Let's take right field. Who would you pick? Carl Furillo of the Dodgers or Tommy Henrich of the Yankees? And shortstop? The Dodgers' Pee Wee Reese or Yankee Phil Rizzuto? Duke Snider or Joe DiMaggio in center field?

Sure, the same shouting could be repeated today. But it's not the same.

Who'd you pick in right field — Reggie Smith of the Dodgers or Reggie Jackson of the Yankees. . . . Shortstop Bill Russell or Bucky Dent. . . . In center field, Rick Monday or Mickey Rivers. . . .

It's sad.

The sound just isn't the same. And it never will be again.

Michigan Back In AP Top 10

By The Associated Press

The Michigan Wolverines returned to the top of The Associated Press college football ratings today while last week's No. 2, Southern California and Oklahoma, dropped to sixth and seventh.

The Wolverines, voted out of the No. 1 position two weeks ago at the request of Coach Bo Schlemmer, climbed back by defeating Michigan State 24-14 while Alabama stunned Southern Cal 21-20 and Texas knocked off Oklahoma 13-6.

Michigan received 44 of 61 first-place votes and 1,180 of a possible 1,220 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The surprising Texas Longhorns, back among the elite team in Fred Akers' first season as their head coach, vaulted from fifth place into the runner-up spot with 15 first-place ballots and 1,100 points.

Colorado, a 29-13 victor over Oklahoma State, jumped from sixth to third with one first-place vote and 775 points, followed by Alabama with 782 points. The Crimson Tide was tied for seventh a week ago.

Despite a 46-0 rout of Purdue, Ohio State slipped from fourth to fifth with 732 points and the other first-place ballot. The Buckeyes were followed by Southern Cal with 659 points and Oklahoma with 657.

Arkansas, tied for seventh last week, was eighth this time with 624 points after an idle weekend. Rounding out the Top Ten, just like last week, were Nebraska with 417 points and Penn State with 304. The Cornhuskers beat Kansas State 26-7 while the Nittany Lions shed Utah State 16-7.

Notre Dame, which also had the weekend off, remained in 11th place. Kentucky, a 23-7 winner over Mississippi State, rose from 18th to 12th.

The rest of the Second Ten consisted of Texas A&M, Louisiana, Texas Tech, Wisconsin State, Pitt, Florida, Houston and California.

Last week's Second Ten was Notre Dame, Texas A&M, Brigham Young, California, Pitt, Kentucky, Texas Tech, LSU, Wisconsin and Florida.

Human Keys Bulldog Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Bears Coach Jack Pardee called it "a well fought game in the trenches." Los Angeles Rams quarterback Joe Namath agreed with the battle analogy.

"People get away with taking cheap shots and it becomes one big war out there," Namath said. "If you let people continue to get away with cheap shots, what happens to sportsmanship?"

He accused linebacker Raymond Bryant of hitting him after a play in the waning moments of the Bears' 24-23 nationally televised National Football League upset victory on a rainy, windy Monday night that ended with both teams sporting 2-3 records.

"Of course the All-Star Game was different," said Sutton. "It was pure pleasure. But you can't compare the All-Star Game to the World Series. Here, there are 33 full shares riding on how I do. It's more exciting to pitch when there's something on the line."

Gullett Vs. LA Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — From the back of a crowd of newsmen, someone asked Yankees Manager Billy Martin if he needed another starting pitcher.

"We'll be all right," said Martin, his eyes fixed on the car. Then he looked up. "Hey, Tommy, how you doing? Damn. I could use you right now."

The probing questioner was none other than Tom Seaver, ace of the Cincinnati Reds and tonight had transferred his allegiance and fervor to the New York Mets — but somehow it never came off.

Yes, those were the days. The head-to-head matchup invariably sparked shouting matches in comparing individual players of each team.

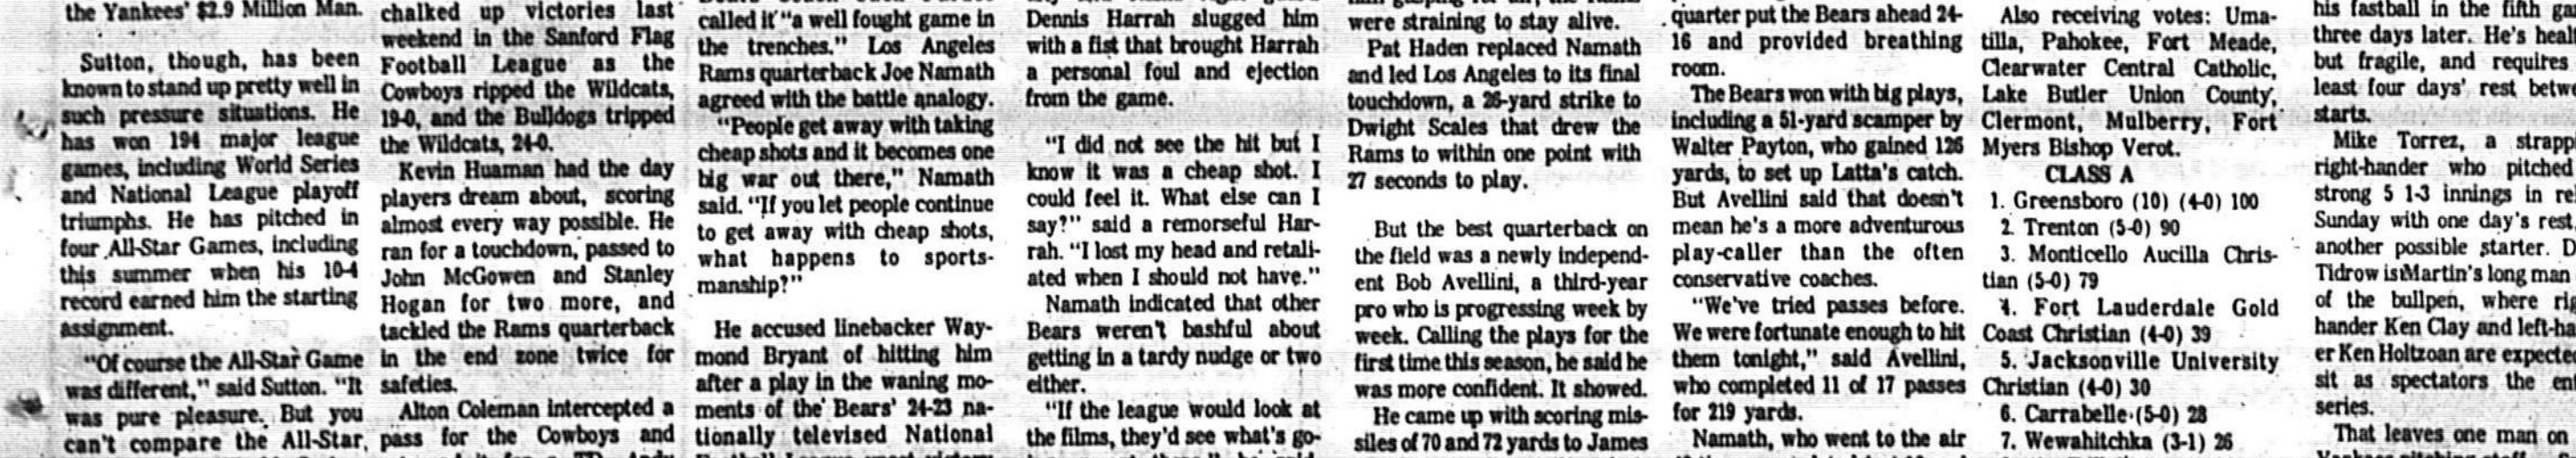

Let's take right field. Who would you pick? Carl Furillo of the Dodgers or Tommy Henrich of the Yankees? And shortstop? The Dodgers' Pee Wee Reese or Yankee Phil Rizzuto? Duke Snider or Joe DiMaggio in center field?

Sure, the same shouting could be repeated today. But it's not the same.

Who'd you pick in right field — Reggie Smith of the Dodgers or Reggie Jackson of the Yankees. . . . Shortstop Bill Russell or Bucky Dent. . . . In center field, Rick Monday or Mickey Rivers. . . .

It's sad.

The sound just isn't the same. And it never will be again.

Bears Upset Rams

Namath in the chest, leaving him gasping for air, the Rams were straining to stay alive.

Pat Hadron replaced Namath and led Los Angeles to its final touchdown, a 26-yard strike to Dwight Gooden that drew the Rams to within one point with 27 seconds to play.

"I did not see the hit but I know it was a cheap shot. I could feel it. What else can I say?" said a remorseful Harrah. "I lost my head and retaliated when I should not have."

Namath indicated that other Bears weren't bashful about getting in a tarry nudge or two either.

"If the league would look at the films, they'd see what's going on out there," he said. "Next time we play them we'll beat them. We're not that kind of team."

By the time Bryant bashed

in the regular season. "I feel I can go out there and pitch."

Sutton, the Dodgers' ace right-hander, is both well-rested and healthy following his victory Wednesday over Philadelphia in the NL playoffs.

"I'm fine, did you hear anything different?" joked Sutton. Gullett, who ironically was Cincinnati's opening-game pitcher against the Yankees last year, will be making his first start since a shoulder ailment knocked him out in the second inning of Game 1 of the AL playoffs last Wednesday.

At that time, Martin proclaimed Gullett was finished for the season. But Gullett, who said he threw pretty well on Saturday and Sunday, told Martin that he could pitch.

"There's been some physical improvement," said Gullett, 14-

Tonight's starting Don Gullett, the same Don Gullett who was pulled after two innings' work last Wednesday in the opening game of the American League playoffs. The diagnosis was a sore shoulder.

"He told me he was all right," said Martin of his ace left-hander, who was 14-4 in the regular season while suffering from an assortment of ailments and a stint on the disabled list in August.

"I feel a big improvement," said Gullett, who opened last year's World Series for Cincinnati and beat the Yankees before leaving that game with a season-ending ankle injury. "There's more freedom in the shoulder. I told Billy I was confident I could do the job."

The next patient in Martin's patched-up pitching parade will probably be Catfish Hunter, 9-9 in just 22 games this season. Hunter, bothered by a sore shoulder most of the past two seasons, has been sidelined by a urological disorder and hasn't pitched since Sept. 10.

"I think I might start Catfish because of (Ed) Figueroa's fatigue," said Martin. "He developed a nerve problem in Kansas City and I had to take him out of the fourth game."

Hunter says he feels okay, but he's not certain about his control after a long layoff.

"Control will definitely be the problem," Martin said. "It all depends on how well he can zero in on the plate."

Martin's probable third-game starter is Los Angeles Friday night in Ron Guidry, who won the second game of the playoffs but didn't have enough zip on his fastball in the fifth game three days later. He's healthy but fragile, and requires at least four days' rest between starts.

Mike Torres, a strapping right-hander who pitched a strong 5 1/3 innings in relief Sunday with one day's rest, is another possible starter. Dick Tidrow is Martin's long man out of the bullpen, where right-hander Ken Clay and left-hander Ken Holtzman are expected to sit as spectators the entire series.

That leaves one man on the Yankees pitching staff — Sparky Lyle, who bailed the Yankees out with long and short relief wins on Saturday and Sunday. He's Martin's ace in the hole.

A Moment For Nice Words

Reggie Jackson had nothing but nice things to say about Billy Martin. "Give him credit — the man has guts," he said. "Martin would play better if he thought it would help him win."

Billy Martin had nothing but nice things to say about Reggie Jackson. "I made it hard on Reggie during the year, but I have developed the greatest respect and admiration for the guy. He really put out for us the last two months of the season."

George Steinbrenner had nothing but nice things to say about Martin, the manager he is reportedly ready to fire.

"Last year in the playoffs and World Series, I thought Billy was unsure of himself," the owner said. "I think the job he did in the final game against Kansas City Sunday night was the finest game of managing under pressure I have ever seen."

President Gabe Paul, who is supposed to be fashioning the nose for Martin's red neck, had nothing but nice things to say about everybody.

"This is a team that is not afraid of the consequences," he said. "The tougher the going, the tougher they play. If you are afraid of consequences, you play it close to the vest. Not these guys — they slug away."

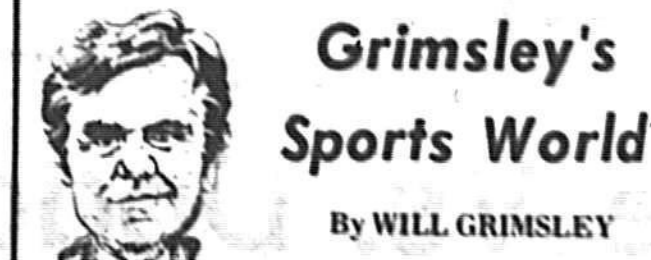

Given a reprieve in the final lining of the final game of the final playoff for the league championship, the New York Yankees had last found the light.

They have got religion. They are sorry for their past sins. Having started the ghost of disaster squarely in the eyes and lived to tell about it, they have become a humbler, a more mature group of human beings.

The questions now are:

— How will this change of attitude affect their performance against Tommy Lasorda's Los Angeles "Togetherness Boys" in the World Series, starting tonight at Yankee Stadium?

— Has firebrand Billy Martin saved his job with his gutsy benching of Steinbrenner's $2.9 million free agent baby? — Will the feuding, back-biting, discontented Yankees finally find peace and happiness in their narrow escape from doom? — Martin's benching of Jackson, who had 23 homers and 110 runs batted in for the season, exploded a bombshell prior to Sunday night's game at Kansas City.

"I had to do it for the sake of the team," Martin said. "He was having trouble fielding on the artificial turf and he hadn't hit well against Splittorf (Paul Splittorf, Kansas City's starting left-hander). It was a hard decision. The manager always is a fool."

Martin said he first checked out the decision with Steinbrenner, who agreed with it.

Steinbrenner was delighted with the game.

"Those kids never quit," he said of the Yankees. "They (the Royals) thought they could intimidate us. They couldn't. I love guys who fight."

He wouldn't commit himself on the future of Billy Martin, the scrappy scoundrel in baseball, but of Jackson he said: "If I had a chance to sign him again for the same price ($2.9 million), I would do it. Reggie has fulfilled all our expectations and, take my word for it, he's going to have a great World Series."

Meet O.J. Simpson -- The Man

FIRST IN A SERIES — O.J. Simpson shuts his eyes and lets it all wash over him. He thinks about his superstar status as one of football's all-time greats; his lucrative advertising interests; his budding acting career; his top ranking in several polls seeking America's heroes.

Then he remembers the kid from street gangs in South San Francisco and living in a federally-funded apartment project.

"I was always a cocky kid," he says. "I always thought I'd be a great baseball player, but I never thought about all the off-the-field things," said Simpson.

"I grew up in a project. Now I've got a beautiful home. I've got all the money anyone would want. Sometimes when I think about it all, it's overwhelming."

Simpson's primary employer, the Buffalo Bills football club, is paying him an estimated $13.3 million over three years. Added to that are his considerable wages for the two or three film roles he takes a year and the proceeds from his advertising endorsements.

His latest "Superman in a Car" commercial, which features a nattily-attired Simpson dashing through an airport terminal, has been wildly successful for the company. After their first year, Heriz reported a 50 per cent increase in net profits in 1976.

When Simpson ends his football career at next season's close, he will hold at least 10 National Football League records, including most yards gained in a season — an amazing 2,083 in 1973.

The 30-year-old Los Angeles resident now awaits his retirement ("Only 25 more games," he said after the Bills' most recent game) and lost no time in devoting full time to his acting. Simpson will leave football with many memories.

His best moment, he said, came in 1977 when he scored the winning touchdown to give the big game every year and the big game clinched the Rose Bowl for us. Every college player wants to play in the Rose Bowl," he said.

His next event, he said, will be his football career. One is within reach, the other is hardly more than a dream. He hopes to overtake Jim Brown's all-time rushing record of 12,322 yards.

However, a slow start caused by nagging injuries and a more pass-oriented Bills offense has thrown him off pace.

"I'm disappointed if I don't get it, but I'm not worrying about it. I've had no other things," he said.

Simpson thinks now that "it will take a miracle" for him to attain his other goal: to play in a Super Bowl.

Next, Simpson talks about his team and the city of Buffalo.

Well, Since You Asked...

Q. Have there been any other successful left-hand passers in football besides Kenny Stabler of the Oakland Raiders? — C. E. B.

Really just one, and that was Frankie Albert of the San Francisco 49ers a generation ago. Frankie's forte wasn't really throwing the ball, but generalship and elusiveness. The late Jerry Agostini of Boston U. might have made it in pro ball if he hadn't chosen a baseball career. In my mind, Stabler is the most accurate passer ever for delivering a pass on target. Only one who came close is Otto Graham. The southpaw punter isn't quite as rare a species now as it used to be — viz., Seattle's Jim Zorn, Oakland backup Dave Hummel.

Q. Why isn't Joe Washington of the San Diego Chargers playing in their backfield? I thought he was supposed to be the next Gale Sayers. — D.M., Oklahoma City, Okla.

To start with, he's not as big as Sayers, and there's still some conjecture he should be a wide receiver instead of a running back. Main thing is that Washington, who missed last year with knee surgery, has been doing too much stunter-stepping around the line of scrimmage and hitting the wrong hole. In other words, the Chargers coaches, disappointed, feel he's got a lot to learn yet about running in a pro offense.

Q. Who are your candidates for rookies of the year in the American and National Leagues? — D.N., Cincinnati, O.

In the National League, I pick Steve Henderson, the young outfielder who didn't join the New York Mets until mid-June (in the Tom Seaver trade), and has been productive in his tenure as young outfielder. Andre Dawson has been with Montreal. In the DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — Cale Yarborough is on the verge of breaking his own record for money won on the Grand National stock car racing circuit in a year.

The 38-year-old veteran has won $370,001 in 27 races this year. All he needs in the remaining three events is $17,003 to break the record of $377,131 he set last year.

Yarborough also has virtually clinched his second straight championship on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing circuit. He leads as race place Benny Parsons by 378 points.

Richard Petty, a six-time champion, topped from contention in the past two races. A broken shock absorber bracket forced him to settle for 32nd place at Charlotte Sunday and a wreck put him 24th at North Wilkesboro, N.C., a week earlier.

Parsons won at Charlotte, with Yarborough second. The victory put Parsons' career winnings above $1 million, an American record.

Parsons also has a young outfielder who didn't join the New York Mets until mid-June (in the Tom Seaver trade), and has been productive in his tenure as young outfielder. Andre Dawson has been with Montreal. In the

Senkarik Replaces Vehicle Glass

One of Senkarik Glass & Paint Co.'s lines of work is the auto glass part of the business. They replace any type of automotive glass: car, buses, trucks, mobile homes and trailers.

Senkarik, located at 210 Magnolia, Sanford, has their automotive glass workshop in the rear of the building where the glass is cut to fit any of the "rolling stock."

Don Myers, in charge of the glass department, says, "If it's got wheels and needs glass, we can fix it up!"

It is advised to take your vehicle to Senkarik for an estimate and perhaps the work can be done right then and there. Sometimes, it will be necessary to return for the work because of work load schedule.

Glass is also available for store fronts, construction projects and replacement work. Should you need glass for your place of business or home, the place to go is Senkarik. Call them 322-822 for more information. Also check about their insurance claim service.

In addition to the auto glass business, Senkarik carries a complete line of paints for home, office and buildings—interior and exterior. Why not think about redecorating before the holidays. Go in and either Jerry or Eddie Senkarik will work with you to select the color you wish for the job to be done. They have a multitude of color chips and, in addition, will mix paint to suit you. You may prefer wall covering. There is a wide selection available. Ask to see!

To accomplish the painting job, Senkarik has many brushes and rollers—all shapes and sizes to get the job done. Then there's the artist's supplies. And Senkarik carries the top of the line of those supplies: Futer and Grumbacher art Winsor-Newton and Grum-bacher preselected permanent oil colors. Another top of the line product is the liquid acrylic colors for artists. And there's also art sets, easels, canvases, either board or stretched and other art-related items in stock.

See their picture frames—there are many, either for custom framing or frames in stock.

The Christmas selection of art supplies, suitable for gift giving, is expected anytime. Stop by this week to check what's available for that art person on your Christmas gift list.

Add A Room Before Christmas

Window awnings and screened-in room enclosures are the mainstay of United Fence, Awning & Carpet Business, 411 N. Orange Blossom Trail, Orlando. All are custom manufactured at United's plant to meet the customer's specifications and needs, Wayne Clements, of United, noted.

The season is upon us to convert the screened-in room into a year-round room with the installation of vinyl or glass windows, a practical and economical way to enjoy your porch 365 days a year whether the weather is good or bad.

And it will be a savings, too, on the heating bills and they'll save energy! The investment in the vinyl windows will add to your room to your home as well as add to your savings!

The windows are custom made to fit and will snap right into the screened sections without removing the screen. They will fit from above the kick panel to the ceiling or from floor to ceiling — exactly in the screened section.

The vinyls are 4-track that is, the sections may be moved from top or bottom, from the bottom only or from top only to allow for better circulation. In fact, 70 per cent more air ventilation is assured opening the windows from top and bottom to allow more complete air circulation between the sections than is weather stripping to stop drafts.

The vinyl glass is hurricane proof, Clements said.

The windows will fit either wood or aluminum screened doors and construction.

requirements; and will be a surprisingly low cost permanent addition to your home. Seeing is believing, Clements said, for when you call for a free estimate, a sample will be shown you as part of the demonstration.

There's still time to order the windows before Christmas, making the room extra space for the holidays. It could be the family's gift to the family! And a long-term one at that! Having

What Is The Big Deal About Smoking? DEAR DR. LAMB—I just read your column about the lady who likes to smoke and I have some additional comments that I feel from deep inside my conscience. After smoking since I was 12 years old I've grown increasingly dependent on my vice. I also resent the comments made by people that it's a nasty habit and offends people socially. But may I ask why everyone makes such a big deal of smoking and completely ignores those who drink themselves into a stupor every night because they want to relax? I feel resentful toward people when they drink and become different from the persons they really are! They become obnoxious, moody and care less about anyone's feelings and there are those who suddenly become quiet and are about as much company as a brick wall. They drive and cause many accidents that in many cases involve innocent people and inconvenience people by "passing out" and having to be carried out. Thanks, but if there's a choice, I'll take smoking. It's much less hazardous. DEAR READER—Funny but I had an idea that you may have had someone close to you in mind when you were complaining about the effects of drinking on the personality. There is no reason why you need to choose between two bad habits. I don't recommend drinking instead of smoking and I don't recommend smoking instead of drinking. My advice is don't do either. Alcoholism is a severe problem. Did you know? Cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth common cause of death in American men between the ages of 25 and 54 and that 60 percent of these liver deaths are caused by alcoholism! It's true. It is just another example of how people affect their own health, as opposed to depending upon the doctor to provide life and health everlasting regardless of what they do. No, I am not going to endorse your bad habit but I will say that drinking irresponsibly is also hazardous to your health. I would concur that a warning label should be on every beverage containing alcohol. It is a poison. It does destroy health, personality and families. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with the arrest of Fred L. Cheek, 30, Thorpe returned Cheek and the eagle, taken in a summer burglary at an undisclosed Seminole residence, today. Cheek is being held in lieu of $8,400 bond on burglary and grand larceny charges. Authorities said Cheek was picked up by Indiana officers in connection with the use of a credit card reported stolen from a woman's purse several months ago while she attended a church service in south Seminole. Officials said the eagle has been appraised at $18,000 and was insured for $15,000.
