Seminole Challenged To Cabbage Olympics

By FRED VAN PELT

An Alaska scientist has challenged a Florida scientist to a duel to the finish... which state can grow the largest cabbage! The gauntlet was thrown down by Prof. Charles E. Logsdon, plant pathologist at the University of Alaska Experiment Station at Palmer, Alaska. The challenged is Dr. Philip J. Westgate, horticulturist at the University of Florida's Central Florida Experiment Station on Celery Avenue.

Professor Logsdon writes: "As you probably know, large cabbages are grown for sport up here, not for market. I believe the record in Alaska is 72 pounds." (Sanford was the one-time Celery Capital of the world but more recently cabbage is more plentiful in this area.)

The Alaska writer further to Westgate: "O.S. Cross is the competition variety grown here now. The fellows used to grow Glory of Eschscholtz but couldn't get over about 30 pounds with that one. We are growing another variety commercially, which does very well for us, Alaska 6467."

"If you can get some big cabbage going down there, we will get our growers to challenge your growers in a National Cabbage Olympics."

Dr. Westgate is yelling "hooray" already: Alaska has almost continuous sunlight during the summer growing season, producing these 72-pound heads. "If we could challenge them to see who could grow the largest head of cabbage in the month of January," Dr. Westgate replies, "they might have a chance to win first prize."

Dr. Westgate likes what "things" — Alaska is all ice and snow in January.)

Meanwhile, the Florida scientist is shipping the champion cabbage growers of Seminole County into shape that they may accept the challenge of the Alaska cabbage growers to a National Cabbage Olympics.

Special Committee Organized SR 46 Pushed By Chamber

By BILL SCOTT

A five-man sub-committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce long range planning committee was named during last night's annual planning meeting to deal with the problem of obtaining state help to relocate SR 46 west from 14 to the Lake County line.

Named by Vernon Mize, chairman of the planning group, were Douglas Stenstrom, Lee P. Moore, John Spolski, I. E. Estridge III and Harold Kaster.

These men will spearhead the effort to get state backing for road improvements which have been in the state's road budget for years with no results in implementation.

Mize said several road problems including the Osteen Bridge also will be considered by the group. He emphasized the need for better access routes to Florida Technological University and pointed out possible pollution problems with Lake Monroe from recreational use of the waterways.

William Fraasa, chairman of the Chamber membership committee, advised the problems being experienced by city newcomers needing the medical services of a general practitioner. He explained that local doctors are overburdened with patients and are sending new-comers to Orlando for medical services.

Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, a Sanford city commissioner and gynecologist, also a member of the chamber's executive committee, said there is a national shortage of doctors and he has been attempting to have more physicians move here. "But, it comes as a shock to me that as a Sanford resident, I feel this is an exception and not the general rule," the doctor added.

Roberts, on another matter, asked for Chamber help in getting the city limits of Sanford extended. "We can't survive in such a bound manner," he advised.

James Ryan, Port of Sanford administrator, concluded the meeting with a report on the watersway committee, which he chairs. Ryan said that local shad fishing was being cut back by seine fishing in Putnam County and said his group would try to get legislative action to stop all inland net fishing.

Garbage Proposal Shelved

By MARION BETHIA

Seminole County's proposed garbage and rubbish ordinance was temporarily discarded today when a motion to authorize County Attorney Harold Fahnson to advertise the ordinance for public hearing failed by a 2-2 veto.

"Voting against the ordinance were Commissioners Edward Yarborough, Robert Parker and Dan Pelham.

Yarborough put the initial damper on the ordinance by saying that existing standards would mean "county residents would have trouble getting their garbage collected because the big man would get bigger and the little man would be out of business."

Commissioner Chairman John Alexander countered that the ordinance would set standards for the sanitary manner in which the vehicles could collect, and if refuse firms could not abide by these standards they might be out of business."

Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles and Lynn Jones, city building official, are in Sanford attending an Urban Renewal workshop. They are expected to return Wednesday with additional information needed in preparing Sanford's application for a renewal project in the Georgetown or Goldsboro areas.

The most hilarious remarks made at last night's Sanford Chamber meeting were those of Mack Cleveland. The Senator, who is chairman of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee, said that his report would be brief, "what with the few affairs any of our committee have had recently."

South Seminole Jaycees will again host 50 "Little Brothers" of Orlando, in Hamilton, of Orlando, to replace Brumley as chief of police.

The move apparently caught the council off guard and each of the council members reserved comment. Only a month ago, Blaw submitted the name of Donald Stanley, of Safety Harbor, to replace Brumley.

This action was met by bitter resistance by four members of the council, who voiced complete support for Brumley. Dr. Editt Duerr was the only council member to support the Mayor's proposal to install Stanley.

Although the council remained silent on the Mayor's latest move, it appeared that Hamilton would meet the same fate as Stanley. One indication was when Commissioner Richard Wirtz stated, "I'm not interested in a police chief appointment. What about getting new policemen to fill vacancies presently in the department?"

The police department presently needs three patrolmen, Dr. Cross to Blaw, and one name was submitted last night. (Continued on Page 2A, Col. 7)

Oviedo Seeks City Manager

By LIZ MATHEUX

Oviedo City Council is considering "filling a city manager" by Oct. 1.

At Monday night's council meeting, Councilman Kirby Buckelew stated that the City of Oviedo needs a city manager.

Charles Walls, president of the Greater Oviedo Jaycees, said that three years ago he had petitioned the council for money to put up welcome signs at the city limits. Jaycees offered to put up five signs on wire stretched chain link fence for $150 with signs to be erected in 2 1/2 weeks by Jaycees. Mayor C. D. Thompson offered to donate the cypress boards to be used for the building of the signs. The council agreed to give $100 if the Jaycees would put up the rest.

Wayne Leroy, DCT coordinator for Oviedo High School, spoke of advantages of the Diversified Co-operative Training program in familiarizing students with chosen fields and giving work experience, appealed to Oviedo businessmen to hire more of these students as they are having to go out of town for employment.

Charles Parker requested a change in zoning for his property, from R-1 to R-3 so that he can install a day care school. A public hearing will be scheduled, the date to be published.

Pupil Assignments Seen To Draw Fire

A pupil assignment plan for 1970-71 school year on the agenda for possible implementation during Thursday night's Seminole District School Board meeting.

The plan, this far, has not been made public but is expected to draw fire especially from parents living in the Druid Hills-Sumner area in South Seminole County.

A petition bearing over 100 signatures already has been delivered to School Board members asking that consideration be given to prevent the forced busing of students to facilities out of the neighborhood.

Supt. John Angel advised the Herald that capacities would be set at each school to avoid the problems of over-filling some schools while others have empty classrooms. Angel indicated that busing might have to be used to prevent this occurrence.

Andrew Bracken, administrative aide, and transportation department officials have been working on a plan to draw attendance zones around the various schools in line with the board's freedom of choice plan, and it is this plan that is expected to be presented to the board Thursday night for approval.

Other agenda items included: Reports on the exceptional child program; Lyman High School football field lighting; Lyman High's athletic facilities; a 1970-71 school calendar; and the middle school athletic program.

No. Orlando Council Seated, Reorganized

The oath of office was administered to Mayor Clifford Jordan and new Councilmen Richard Allen, Wayne Miller and Pat Del Villaggio at a re-organizational meeting of North Orlando Village Council last night. Also sworn in was Police Chief Lynn Lyon Jr.

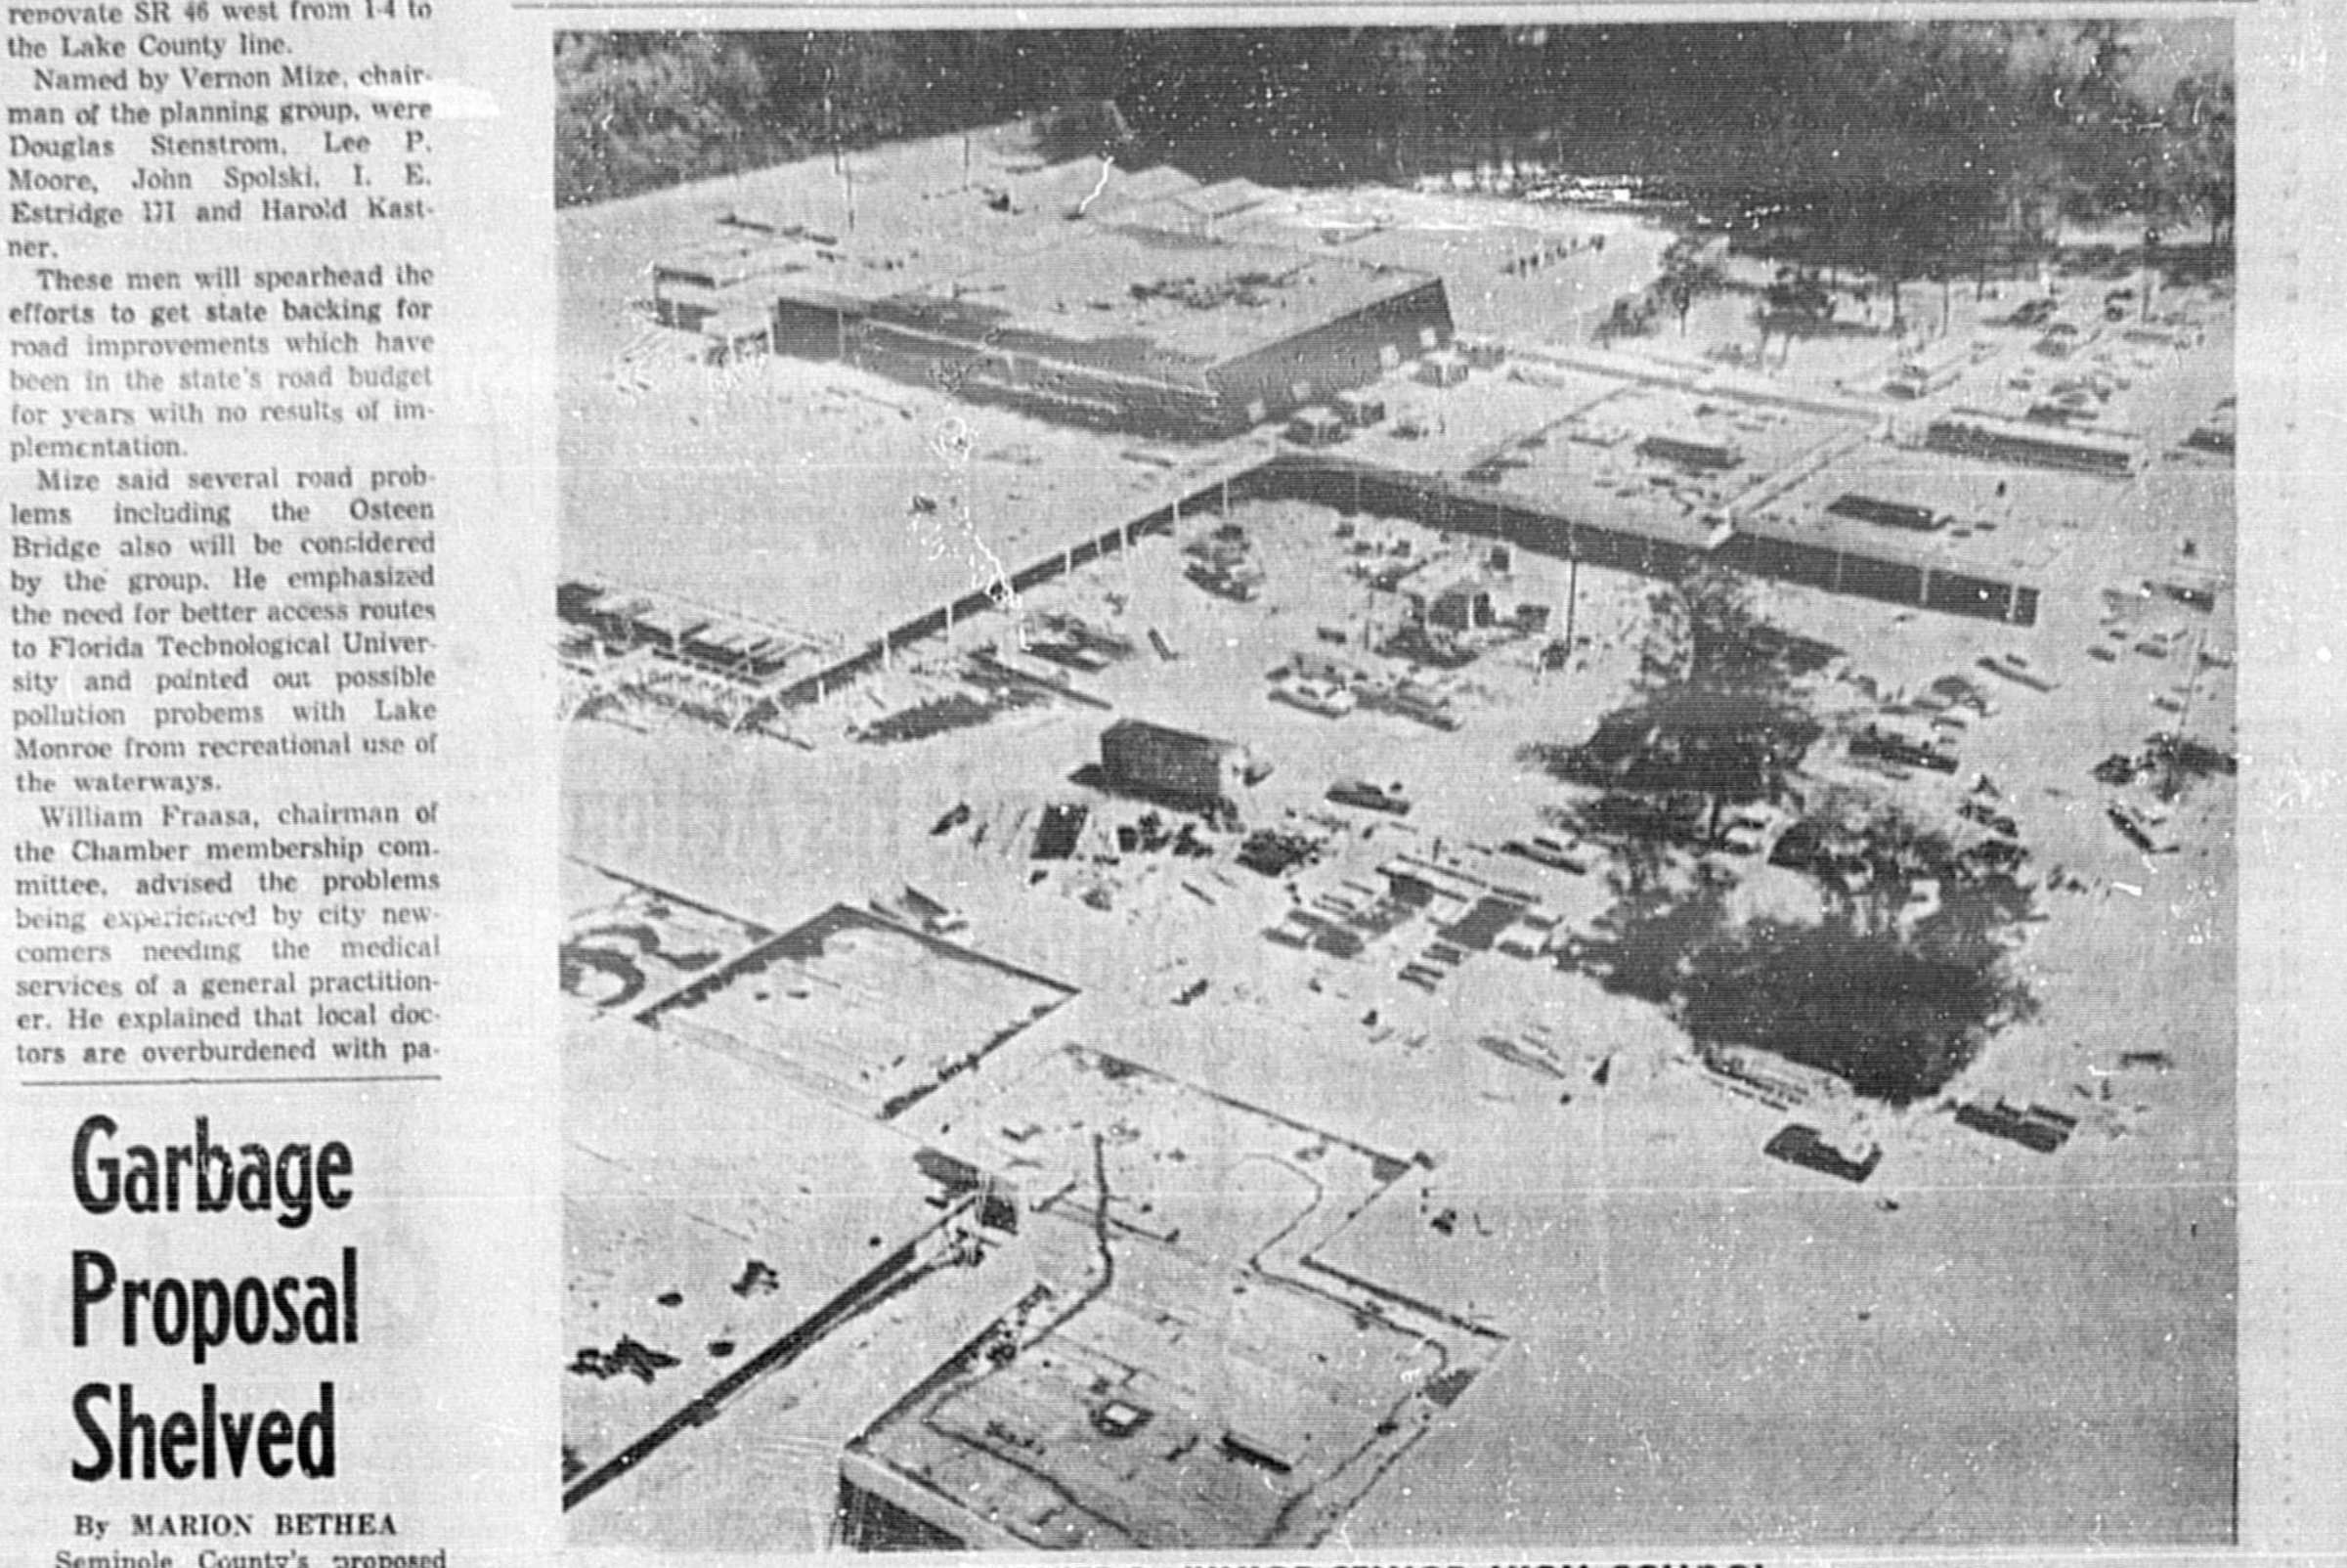

Del Villaggio was elected to the position of vice mayor and Mayor Jordan appointed the following committeemen: Road and bridge, Miller, and assistant, Allen; health, beautification and planning, Richard Wirtz; police and fire, Rowell; and Mayor Jordan as assistant.

Administrative personnel appointed by the mayor included Thomas Freeman as village attorney and temporary village judge; police chief Lyon, building inspector, Sidney Vihlen Jr., and village clerk, Mrs. Mary Norton.

The present council was appointed to serve as a Board of Adjustment until a permanent board can be named. It was also announced that vacancies remain to be filled on the planning and zoning board.

A finance report was given by retiring Councilman Granville Brown, who advised that there is $1,232,000 in the general fund; $415,677 in the road and bridge fund, and $1,745,877 in the building fund. Brown estimated that this is a total of less than $4,000 and that the village income will total less than $1,000 per month until the fiscal year ends on June 30.

Seven Senators Controlling Future Of Judge Carswell

By ROY SHIEH
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Seven senators today passed a crucial vote and a day away from the final decision of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell of Florida appeared today to depend on seven senators.

These seven—two Republicans and five Democrats—were uncommitted on the controversial nomination and their positions were not known, publicly or privately. They are Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R., Ohio; Charles H. Percy, D., Illinois; J. Frank P. Lausche, D., Ohio; Richard S. Schweiker, R., Pa.; Margaret Chase Smith, R., Maine; Quentin N. Burdick, D., N.C.; and J. William Fulbright, D., Ark.

Carswell's supporters won a big vote Monday when the Senate rejected 52 to 46, a decision to recommend the nomination to the Senate Judiciary Committee, a move which probably would have ended the nomination.

Such a vote might normally have indicated the sentiment of the Senate. But the vote was predicted "slippage" on both sides — not everyone who opposed Carswell voted to recommend, and vice versa. After Monday's vote, White House Press Secretary Ronald

Nixon Surprises

By EDMOND LABRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration sprung perhaps its biggest surprise when it announced today that it would not support a bill to raise the minimum income for the poor of the nation.

This is the heart of the welfare reform bill the House is scheduled to begin debating Wednesday—and is expected to pass, despite a balanced campaign led by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to defeat it primarily on the ground that it is too expensive.

Some congressional Democrats, among others, speculated that a conservative Republican administration would not have thought seriously the $4.4 billion bill would be enacted—the Democratic-controlled Congress would reject it and be added with the responsibility for continuing the present almost unusually depleted welfare system. But the record of how the family assistance plan slowly matured and was embraced by the administration, after considerable internal debate, gives no support to such speculation.

And when the bill came to its first test—before a dubious House Ways and Means Committee—Health, Education and Welfare Department officials argued long and hard for it, dismissing any idea the administration had tossed out the proposal to raise, or preferably lower, the minimum income. As it turned out, the committee approved the bill, substantially intact, 23 to 3. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, a staunch fiscal conservative, announced his personal support at the last minute and scooped publicly at the idea. The House would turn down a measure to help the elderly, the disabled and the poor.

Three Caribbees and two helicopters have been shot down near Dak Seung killing 100 Americans. The attacking troops have dug in as close as 30 yards from the camp's barbed wire perimeter, rendering useless the airstrip.

Military sources said more than 3,000 government troops have been rushed to the Central Highlands to help the garrison of native mercenaries and U.S. Special Forces troops.

Situation Tamed 'Critical' Reds Besiege Allied Fort

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command termed the situation "critical" at the besieged Green Heron fortress of Dak Seung today despite a counter-offensive that killed 594 North Vietnamese Monday in some of the Vietnam War's fiercest fighting.

Preview Of DisneyWorld Given

Motorists reaching the intersection of Interstate 4 and State Route 535 near Orlando, Fla., can experience an eye-opening preview of the vast family-oriented vacation resort rising near a natural lake and man-made lagoon 16 miles southwest of Orlando.

Near the intersection is the Walt Disney World Preview Center, where the concept of the stupendous 2,600-acre "vacation kingdom" is open for preview.

Scheduled for opening in September, development of the vacation facility, centered on the "Magic Kingdom," is but phase 1 in a years-long development of Walt Disney World's vacation-living-working complex of staggering magnitude.

Two of the five proposed hotels are now under construction. The Contemporary and Polynesian theme resorts. The contemporary hotel is so vast—14 stories tall—that the hotel will have one of the Magic Kingdom's incredible train transits its inconvertible lobby.

Visitors to the West Coast Disneyland who preview the park at the new center will have a tendency to rub their eyes—it will be familiar, but different.

"The Magic Kingdom," at the heart of this vacationland, will take as its theme for Main Street the aura and glamor of a 19th century eastern seashore resort, but the basic charm of the original park will be beneath the facade — the same cleanliness, order, ease of movement and air of spaciousness.

Disneyland's Castle is to tower some 200 feet over "The Magic Kingdom," its spires and ramparts concealing new delights.

From the castle, as is only fitting in any magic kingdom, many lands are to beckon the traveler — Fantasyland, Tomorrowland, Frontierland, Main Street, Liberty Square and Adventureland.

Cheaper Meat Is Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nixon administration officials are divided over whether most import regulations should be relaxed to provide a break for consumers, particularly low income families.

On one side is the Agriculture Department, which argues that present rising prices are an indication of the cost of raising and marketing livestock. Imports restrictions are needed to save fresh domestic farm production, the department says.

Arguing on behalf of opening the way for more cheap imported meat is the Council of Economic Advisers and presidential consumer adviser Virginia Knauer.

The Agriculture Department says the price increases should slacken soon. But economists outside the department, mindful of the sharp meat price increases which surprised USDA analysts last year, aren't so sure.

Agriculture forecast a 2 to 2.4 per cent increase in all retail food prices last year. But the whopping 10 per cent increase in meat prices carried the real annual increase to 3.2 per cent. For this year, the USDA says all food prices will increase 2.5 to 4 per cent, with the meat price spiral stalling by late summer or early fall.

Artery, bicycling and camping facilities, as well as wilderness areas to be toured. For the owl-eyed set, there'll be night club facilities in hotels, entertainment, dancing and gourmet restaurants.

Chairman of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce outlined the chamber's plans for the year last night during the chamber's annual planning meeting at the House of Representatives.

He said that $6 million in new construction is planned for the Sanford area and felt this should be emphasized by the chamber in its news releases. Kastner mentioned that local and Orlando news media should report true facts concerning pesticides and fertilizers.

Garbage Proposal Is Shelved

By PHIL AUSTIN
Pelham questioned the placement of the garbage containers with the statement "Who would clean up if they were on a public right-of-way and were turned over by the city?"

Pelham also objected to the word "imperious" material in the description of truck beds, which would exclude wood bodies. County Solicitor N. J. Roberts advised that this was included to eliminate odors. To which, Commissioner Greg Brummett exclaimed, "Yes, they would be riding in a 'stenchobile'."

Pelham also felt that the contracts to be awarded between the garbage firms and home owners in relation to termination of service should be a reciprocal one with the home owners notifying the refuse firms if they wished to terminate.

Parker said the ordinance was "too strict" and would exclude people who couldn't afford a $20,000 packer. Alexander said that, "It will support this ordinance. It is not in any way over-regulatory. It will stop blowing of trash on public roads, would guarantee the homeowners garbage service, would not be cut off abruptly, would set a standard for rates and services to which no change could be made without 30 days notice by the refuse firms and would give reasonable assurance that home owners would not be caught with five barrels of garbage on a Saturday with no one to pick it up."

Reorganization — Kirk proposed weakening the influence of the elective Cabinet. He called for making the education committee a Sanford fringe in the public's mind. A chamber logo

State Legislature Provides Stage For Action

The 1970 regular session of the Florida State Legislature convenes today with so many "firsts" being made that it is almost a relief to recognize that this session will have one attribute that all such sessions have had — there will be political overtones that could mute the real issues.

But the man who has the personal characteristics and the official position which breeds public notice, headlines and comment of the widest variety is Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr., the first Republican governor of the state since Reconstruction and one whose first term has been a time of swiftest political positions, dramatic announcements but above all — actions.

Now, however, is the beginning of an assessment of the Kirk record by friends and foes which will demand of the voter, whose ballot will be decisive, an unbiased attitude which will be difficult to assume and more so to maintain.

One is that no observer can fail to note that the Florida Legislature and its members have shown a true ability to make it one of those sessions to which we could "point with pride" when it ends.

Of the three continuing issues — roads, education and taxes — there is hope for progress in the matter of roads with the governor's nomination of a true professional Edward A. Mueller to the post of Secretary of Transportation expected to be confirmed this week.

Education has already erupted in unrivaled results with Governor Kirk's taking over of the Manatee County educational system in opposition to a federal ruling a sample of what may be expected as for taxes, no increase is to be expected with so many legislators seeking votes in November.

We would be negligent in our comments if it was not added to these remarks that Florida voters may be assured of two very positive and very satisfactory developments.

One is that no observer can fail to note that the Florida Legislature and its members have shown a true ability to make it one of those sessions to which we could "point with pride" when it ends.

"Psychic Rash"

The top editor of the Associated Press says the big increase in news has been too much for some people — they've developed a "psychic rash." They're impatient and unruly; they don't want to hear about the newest crisis when they haven't yet digested previous ones.

So a lot of them, says Rene A. Cappon, are getting the feeling that newsmen are responsible for events. People feel the forced feeding can be stopped by censorship or by a "new journalism" that would humanize horrors.

When the country and world solve their problems, the press will print that, too. — Dallas (Tex.) Morning News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Critics of government plainly have a vital role to play in our permanent skeptics — in residence, questioning everything, keeping useful curb on the immense power of entrenched authority.

Right now they are having their usual field day, assailing the "military-industrial complex," leaping with glee on every error, transgression or expression of over-optimism by the military relating to Vietnam, Laos and elsewhere.

Part of the problem is getting some recognition of the "jargon" variety — from men in high-stakes positions.

Area Now In The Throes Of Recession Picture is Not All Black For Future Of Brevard County

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Brevard County, Fla., was the fastest growing county in the nation 10 months ago. Today it is in the throes of recession, the victim of a space boom that has run out of fuel.

Thousands of space workers have lost their jobs and more layoffs are coming. For many, the actual while they celebrated the safe return of Apollo 11's moon landing pioneers last July.

But the picture is not all black. Tourism is increasing with the help of the moonport's increasingly popular tours, and businessmen expect a shot in the arm from the opening of Disney World 50 miles east of here late next year.

Other industries, attracted by the skilled labor pool, available housing and office space, are exploring the possibility of moving into Brevard.

Kirk 'Relinquishes' Control At Manatee

BY ERIC SHARP Associated Press Writer BRADENTON (AP) — Dr. Jack Davidson got his Manatee County public school system back today and Gov. Claude Kirk gets his day in court.

Davidson was temporarily suspended Sunday by Kirk, who then personally assumed command of the school system and ordered the teachers and 17,000 pupils to defy a federal court order that would have integrated the county's classrooms Monday.

"I'm going to go to the administration building," Davidson said Monday night. "I will inform the governor that this is my responsibility..."

State News

By RICH OPPEL Associated Press Writer TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Legislators in both parties revealed plans to push through conservation bills — including action to kill the Cross-Ford Barge Canal — as the Florida Legislature's 1970 session got under way today.

The strategy unfolded as both houses settled in to hear speeches by their presiding officers and Gov. Claude Kirk, then drove through first-day customs and formalities.

And we're going to support legislation to stop the Cross-Ford Barge Canal and see if we can't get enough Democrats to do away with that and turn the land over for public parks," he said.

Union Workers Wreck Building, Batter Cars

TALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "A union conspiracy" was being planned to cause the destruction of a building and the wrecking of cars, says a Palm Beach County Sheriff William Heidman.

Heidman made the charge Monday night after receiving information from a source that a group of persons on charges of plotting to destroy a building and wreck cars, was planning to do so on Monday.

Three policemen were burned by their own tear gas.

Business Mirror

BY JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The lure of cultural advantages, more money and even the command of the corporation isn't enough these days to cause young executives to move to some of America's largest cities.

Executive recruiters, the men who slyly and silently travel the country in search of talent, say "retreat," fears about personal safety, "no place to bring up children," the need to own an extra car for getting to the state capital, the need to own an extra car for getting to the state capital, the need to own an extra car for getting to the state capital.

Money once was the primary enticement. Advancement was another. Sometimes the company merely commanded its employees to take a promotion to the big city or else leave the firm. Today, some executives call the company's bluff.

At Policeman's Ball . . . Throngs Attracted To Annual Fling

Incidentally, titian haired EVA, who was walking in emerald green, was gowned with a case . . . result of a wife, IRMA, at one table . . . and caught a glimpse of HELEN and REG HOWE as they were attempting to locate their table . . . chatted briefly with NANCY and WOODROW CASH, also MAVIS and BILL LIPPHOTT. Arriving on the scene early were SOPHIE and KAY SHOEMAKER to join the revelers. Sophie was striking in a short pink all gown embellished with jewel trim.

Caught a glimpse of CAROLINE and JIMMY CRAPS in line with NANCY and CAROLYN and HERRB STENSTROM. Carolyn was a vision of Springtime in a sheer print with a swirl of plants forming the skirt.

Oh yes, pants made the scene early were JIMMY and JEAN AGARANOS wore a feminine lacy white pants outfit lavishly adorned with crisp white ruffles . . . very pretty.

LA VERNE GEIGER arrived on the arm of KARL HIGGINS. BOTHAM wearing a lustrous yellow pantsuit . . . also there were several others.

So it was that the Civic Center was bulging at the seams with action and activity . . . and it was obvious a great time was had by all.

Now that this ball is over, rest for a spell and in the meantime get those Tony dolls all stashed out, polish up those dancing slippers and get ready to blow out again at the Spring Frolic Ball . . . less than two weeks away!

Incidentally, you're all invited!

Editorial Comment Time For Mayor Blow To Make A Decision

At one time or another in our lives we find it necessary to "bend" a little, to achieve a purpose or to end a stalemate. It would seem the time has arrived for Mayor Curtis Blow of Casselberry to "bend a little" in the impasse over that city's police chief position.

Municipal Merger Parley Set

By TOM ALEXANDER CASSELBERRY - South Seminole's four municipalities will take a first formal step to disband consolidation tomorrow night, following a request by Casselberry City Council Chairman Thomas Napier to sit down and talk about the plus and minus sides of consolidating the four cities of Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Longwood and North Orlando.

Mayor Swofford Lambasts The Insurance Industry

Altamonte — The conflagration which had threatened to erupt between the suburban fire control district commission and Altamonte Springs City Council over rate increases in their contract renewal, turned out to be little more than a smoldering ember at yesterday's meeting in the council chamber.
