Grave tampering investigated

SANFORD - The Seminole County Sheriffs Office and the Sanford Police Department are investigating another case of grave tampering in a Sanford cemetery.

An incident report prepared by the sheriffs office reported that a tombstone with no name marker was found overturned at Shiloh Cemetery in Sanford. There was some evidence of tampering with the body inside, they said.

On Thursday morning, Sanford Police called sheriff's department investigators to the scene of the overturned grave where they found that the skull of the body had been removed and taken from the cemetary, the report noted.

The criminal investigations division of the sheriff's office has been called in to continue the investigation, but there was little further evidence at the scene.

Possible crime scene reported

SANFORD - Seminole County Sheriffs Officers are investigating a possible crime scene in a field in Sanford, according to an incident report filed by the department.

When workers for Chapman and Sons Demolttion Company arrived at their work site at 925 Oakway in Sanford to tear down a house on Wednesday morning, they found that some bedding with bloodstains and hair had been dumped in the field behind the house, the report noted.

No evidence besides the bloodstains and the hair were found in the dump site, the sheriff's department report sald.

The incident report noted that representatives of two businesses which had visited the scene late Tuesday did not report seeing the materials. At this time, no further information was available in the investigation.

Holiday shopping begins

It's busiest shopping day of the season

By NICK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - National statistics indicate family shopping has been down this summer and fall because of the economy. Today, however, is the day when merchants begin trying to regain the customers.

The day after Thanksgiving has been traditionally known as the busiest shopping day of the year. With the turkey dinner reduced to left-overs, thoughts change to what will be under the Christmas tree this year, the start of holiday shopping takes over.

While most area malls and shopping centers opened their doors early this morning, the majority of downtown Sanford merchants were continuing their normal operating hours, opening at 9, 10 and even 11

Teddy bears dressed up for the holidays

By MICK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Who has done the best job dressing a Teddy bear for the holiday season? Judging is scheduled for Wednesday morning.

The Sanford Salvation Army has been working on competition for a number of weeks. Bears, supplied by the Salvation Army, were to have been dressed by volunteers con-sisting of senior citizen groups. s, and other organizations and individuals.

The dressed bears will be judged to determine the best costume on Wednesday, and the bears will be distributed, from requests already received, for holiday gifts.

Capt. Joy Bergen explained. "This year we have 225 dressed up bears, 50 more than we had last year, and we have had that many more applications as well." She assured, "We'll have a new home for every one of those bears, too." Among costumes that have already been completed, bears will be dressed as bride & groom, clowns. queens and princesses, even a chef complete with hat and cooking utensils.

Judges for this second annual competition were announced earlier this week by Capt. Bergen. They include Julie Hall, Elizabeth Ganas, Clyde Long, and Shella Roberts. The judges, along with the Salvation Army Advisory Board Chairman Ron Jernigan, will be on hand for the competition, at 10 a.m. wednesday morning Two dozen ribbons will be awarded, for the most beautiful. creative, humorous, comical and adorable bears. Although the judging is not open to the public, the winning bears will be on display from Dec. 9 through 13, in the lobbys of the three major downtown Sanford banks.

"From that point on." Capt. Bergen said, "the bears will be included in our distribution of toys food and clothing, to take place on Dec. 19 and 20 in our gymnasium. ☐ See Bears, Page 3A

County garbage collection to undergo changes in January

By J. MARK SARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Seminole County solid waste officials want unincorporated residents to know garbage collection will change in January.

Recycling coordinator Sherry Newkirk has already begun to contact homeowner's groups about the new collection program which will begin in January. Next week, about 50,000 newsletters will be mailed to every unincorporated household informing residents of the latest method to reduce garbage. Next, garbage haulers will be sending letters to their customers.

In late December, the county will mail a postcard reminder to residents.

"It's an educational process," Newkirk said, "That's why we are doing so much."

Beginning in 1992, the county can no longer take grass elippings, branches and other yard waste to the county dump. To comply with that state mandate, the county along with Sanford and the other cities have begun programs to collect yard waste separately. Lake Mary officials are still reviewing their yard waste options.

County commissioners, in September, directed county staff to modify their garbage program to accommodate the additional yard waste collection. Formal approval of the plan is seeduled for today.

Under the plan, twice weekly garbage collection will SANFORD - The first Mayor's Soup-er Supper went over exactly as planned, successfully, The event raised $5,600 for the Sanford Christian Sharing Center and Rescue Outreach Mission.

The supper began at 5 p.m. Wednesday evening, with people waiting in line at the Sanford Civic Center entrance door. Inside, workers were preparing to meet what was hoped to be a large number of participants. They were not disappointed.

Within the first 15 minutes, the over 200 seats were more than one third full. "This is already

Prosecutors: Humphrey still a suspect

MELBOURNE - A grand jury declined to indict Edward L. Humphrey in the murders of five Gainesville college students, but that doesn't mean he's no longer a suspect.

The lead prosecutor in the case said in court Wednesday there is an ongoing investigation of the 20-year-old former University of Florida student. According to Assistant State Attorney James Nilon, prosecutors still are trying to determine if enough evidence can be gathered to have a grand jury reconsider the case.

Just as school began in August 1990, the bodies of five students were discovered on consecutive days.

Records: Senators help selves

TALLAHASSEE — Newly released Senate records, which date back two decades, provide details on how some senators reward allies, themselves and each other.

The pay raises, staff increases and freebies on everything from rental cars to state telephones cost millions of Florida tax dollars, the records show.

The records, an estimated 10,000 pages of letters, reports and other papers, were hidden from public acrutiny until this week, when retiring Senate administrator Howard Walton filed the documents with state

"Some of these are examples of money that would have been better off if it hadn't been spent." Walton told The Tampa Tribune for a story that ran in Thursday's editions. "There's a long history of questionable expenditures mixed in with normal legislative expenditures."

Some of these are examples of money that would have been better off if it hadn't been spent. g

-House Watton

Walton worked directly for 13 Senate presidents and supervised the day-to-day operations of the upper chamber for 18 of the last 20 years. Some statehouse observers considered him more powerful than most of the politicians he worked for.

Walton was the keeper of the Senate's personal wallet. If a senator wanted something, that request was made to Walton, often in writing. Walton's files are a virtual documentary of how senators spend money.

His flies, reviewed by The Tribune on Wednesday, show how presidents changed things to help themselves and the 40member Senate:

- Curtie Peterson, D-Lakeland, in 1982 waived policies that prohibited hiring relatives of fellow legislators and loosened restrictions on state travel.

- John Vogt, D-Merritt Island, in 1967 boosted life insurance for senators from $37,800 to $150,000 a year.

- Bob Crawford, D-Winter Haven, in 1989 increased the pay of his inner circle by as much as 33 percent while increasing the staff of the Senate president's office from three to eight people.

- Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami, waived rules for two assistants.

Together, the Senate's top officers authorised up to four aides for many senators, the installation of toll-free state telephones in the homes of some senators and gradual increases in expense money.

Man, hostage shot dead at toli piaza

NAPLES - A man who pulled up to an Alligator Alley toll plaza Thursday with a woman in his car trunk apparently shot the woman and then killed himself. authorities said.

The woman escaped from the trunk and ran into a toll booth when the car paused at the western entrance to the highway at about 5 a.m., said Collier County Sheriff's Captain Tom Storrar.

"She told the toll booth operator that "He's going to kill me," Storrar said.

But the driver pursued her into the booth at gunpoint and told the toll-takers to leave. They later heard two shots being fired and by the time deputies arrived, both the man and woman were dead, authorities said.

Storrar said it appeared the man shot the woman and then himself. Their names were being withheld until families could be

GAINESVILLE - A University of Florida veterinarian has been ordered to halt animal research following accusations he abused rats, mice and gerbils in his projects.

The Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee suspended all of Jack Gaskin's animal-use projects, which include those for teaching classes and two research projects, the Gainesville Sun reported Thursday.

"This is not a pleasant task for me or this committee, and I wish we didn't have to do this." Farol Tomson, chairman of the committee, said Wednesday. "It was very tough for this committee to decide on a time frame for the suspension."

Tomson said he received a complaint last week that mice, rats and gerbils Gaskin kept in a trailer belonging to the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences were mistreated.

Tomson said he and other committee members visited the trailer and found the rodents were overcrowded, the litter had compacted in the boxes and a mouse and rat were dead. Some of the water bottles had algae growing in them, he said.

Gaskin denies any wrongdoing. "I just feel I was pilloried." Gaskin told The Gainesville Sun. "I consider my work to be moral obligation to continue. The question is: is it in my best interest to stay here or not, and that remains to be seen. The environment seems a bit hostile."

'I don't believe the animals were mistreated," Gaskin said. "I took care of those animals, and I cared about them very much. I don't agree entirely with the assessment made ...but I eventually will need to work with animals again, so I will re-apply for animal use permits (in May when the suspension period is

Frustrated federal judge: Drugs should be legalized

WEST PALM BEACH - A veteran federal judge frustrated by a court system overloaded by drug cases says he now believes drugs should be legalized.

"I have joined that group of people who believe that the use and sale of controlled substances should be legalized." U.S. District Judge James C. Paine said in a recent speech to the Federal Bar Association in Miami.

The judge, based in West Palm Beach, compares outlawing drugs such as heroin, marijuana and cocaine to Prohibition.

"Alcohol didn't cause the high crime rates of the '20s and '30s, Prohibition did. And drugs do not cause today's alarming crime rates, but drug prohibition does," he said.

"Trying to wage war on 23 million Americans who are obviously very committed to certain recreational activities is not going to be any more successful than Prohibition was.'

Paine, 67, said decriminalizing drugs would reduce crime, reduce corruption of law enforcement officials, lead to the production of weaker drugs. reverse a trend toward abuse of civil liberties and eliminate the on Paine's remarks beyond sayfullility of lighting a war the government isn't winning.

I disagree with Howell's support

As a concerned citizen of Sanford I must take issue with the position taken by some other citizens who believe that Commissioner Lon Howell's actions in the drug area were right. I refer of course to the commissioner patrolling the area and then buying crack which he allegedly handed to the police. Mr. Howell's act is the responsibility of the law enforcement officers of Sanford, not his, as a commissioner.

I have to disagree with Lon Howell saying that what he did was to prove how easy it is to obtain drugs on the streets. The issue is not how easy drugs are to be obtained, but how are we going to keep drugs out of our community. The issue now becomes a question of whether or not Howell's late night patrolling was just a ride in a drug area or was he waiting to buy drugs.

I think it is astonishing for one of our councilmen to take the law into his own hands, or was it that he was really interested in getting a "cheap high." As a city commissioner, if he can get off on these charges why can't others. Perhaps if Commissioner Robert Thomas had done this, I am confident the outcome would be different.

Please note for the record that Commissioner Thomas is black. If in fact what Lon Howell did was so law abiding, why was it withheld so long? Howell claims he was working with the police, yet Police Chief Steve Harriett was unaware of this. Or was it that Howell was afraid of who was "watching Old Sanford." (Perhaps, a police informant).

If Howell was indeed trying to make Sanford safe, he would have bought all the damn "crack" in Sanford, not jut a piece of the pie.

A.R. Buggs Sanford

Howell should step down

After reading a number of articles of the state of the st

I live on Magnolia Street and antalways concerned about the general well-being of our street and neighborhood. However, after reading these articles, could someone explain to me how drug pushers offer crack cocaine to someone in a moving vehicle. There are no stop signs at 4th, 6th, or 7th and Magnolia Streets.

Your statements give me the impression that drug dealers are running or riding their bikes alongside your vehicle like kids following a political parade.

The Thursday Nov. 14 article goes on to say that you felt this Black man was figuratively twisting your arm to buy crack cocaine from him. You followed him to Park on Park. Perhaps drug dealers go to the extreme to conceal their cache of drugs, however, I find this farfetched to believe they go to this extreme when there is so much competition just one to three blocks down the street. Obviously this pusher doesn't know much about marketing. Hopefuly this will drive him out of business because all you did. Commissioner, was to help his operation.

The Sanford Herald Thurs. 14th article goes on to say after buying the crack you went directly to the Police Department. As a longitime resident I'm sure you know that the Police Department is directly west a couple of blocks from Park on Park and not at 1st and Sanford where an officer met you (and) where you should have been arrested, taken to be booked, and perhaps released on your personal recognizance.

Now that your less-than-accurate description of the dealer is a Black man with gold teeth has been published, every Black man with gold teeth is a suspect to the public. Would your reasoning hold up had that Black man with gold teeth been part of a reverse sting operation?

Now, more recently, it is reported Thurs. 21 Herald, that you have submitted (gave a sample of urine) to Dr. James Quinn for a drug screening test despite the fact that he is your personal physician. It would appear more forthright had you not chosen the son of the broker who is currently listing your property and has potentially thousands of dollars to gain by being the listing agent.

The Police Department led by Chief Harriett does an exceptional job at battling crime and drugs in Sanford.

The Sanford Herald does excellent work in making the community aware of the drug problem. You made the statement that if you had to leave your commissioner's post by making the public aware of Sanford's drug problem, then you have succeeded in making us more aware. So now it's time for you to step down. Let this be the last episode of the "Commish" that we will see here in Sanford.

Is GOP obsessing on the economy?

Listening to television interviews with prominent Republicans recently, I have detected an almost obsessive concern with one particular almost obsessive concern with one particular aspect of next year's presidential campaign.

The first person I heard voicing this particular concern was Ed Rollins, a former White House political adviser and guru for Republican congressional campaigns who now makes his living as a political consultant. Drawing on his supposedly vast experience, Rollins told a TV interviewer that the whole secret of winning a presidential campaign was "the economy, the economy, the economy,"

But Rollins has been wrong before, and I didn't become seriously worried until I heard White

But Rollins has been wrong before, and I didn't become seriously worried until I heard White House Chief of Staff John Sununu tell another interviewer that the three most important factors in any presidential campaign were (ticking them off on his fingers) "the economy, the economy, and the economy."

Now, both Rollins and Sununu are right — up to a point. A robust economy, or at least the public's perception that the economy is improving rapidly, is almost essential to any president's successful campaign for re-election. The American people think, rightly or wrongly, that the president is in charge of the economy and capable of doing something about it. If that's all Sumunu and Rollins were saying. I have no quarrel with their point.

But a healthy economy is, for a Republican president at least, president at least, only the beginning: the indispensable precondition of a winning campaign, it is not — certainly not necessarily — enough by itself. That is because the Democrats, whose whole stock in trade consists of offering to do more for the voters than the Republicans will do (or have done), will invariably outbid the GOP when it comes to proposals for spending the ripe fruits of a husky

That is why a Republican candidate for president must seek to turn the public's mind away from purely economic considerations to the whole series of social concerns that impelled roughly 20 percent of the American electorate to leave the old Roosevelt coalition in the mid-1960s and start voting conservative (usually meaning Republican) in presidential elections. Without the support of this key bloc, the Republican Party will swiftly shrink again to the roughly 40 percent of the electorate that it hung onto straight through the New Deal.

One man who understood this very well, and never made the mistake of running a presidential campaign on "the economy, the economy, the economy" alone, was the late Lee Atwater.

Atwater is one of three conservatives — the others being J. Edgar Hoover and Bill Casey — whom the liberals, brave souls that they are, enjoy beating up on posthumously.

Integrity review scrutinized

WASHINGTON — This is one of those "inside-the-beltway" stories that proves — depending on your viewpoint — that bureaucrats are either touchingly naive, shockingly inept or, in the worst interpretation, downright unscrupulous.

The Food and Drug Administration is an agency in deep trouble. While the number of new drug, medical device and food applications has soared above 150,000 annually, the FDA has seen its budget frozen and cut. The agency is constantly being asked to do more, and faster, with less resources.

It is an agency being buffeted from all sides. There are demands that it strengthen its oversight of foods, drugs and medical devices. Others demand that it streamline its approval procedures in order to more quickly bring to market drugs that might aid in the fight against life-threatening diseases.

One answer has been for the FDA to rely increasingly on the honesty of companies applying for permission to market new drugs and medical devices. The agency admits it does not have the time or manpower to verify all the information contained in scientific studies of safety and efficacy that must accompany new drug and medical device applications. So the FDA has been relying on the honesty and integrity of the submitters.

The result has been a disaster. It has now been shown that some drug companies have submitted false test and clinical trial results. Last year's drug scandal — where it was shown that a number of generic drug makers were falsifying effectiveness studies — is one example of how serious the problem has become.

A number of congressional committees have been especially severe in their condemnation of FDA's regulatory standards. Perhaps the harshest critics have been Rep. John Dingeli, D-Mich.. and his General Oversight and investigations subcommittee.

So the FDA decided to get ahead of Dingell's criticism. It called for a complete review of its internal integrity procedures. To make sure that the review was "unblased," the agency hired an independent law firm to conduct the evaluation and to suggest changes.

After an involved competition, the Washington law firm of Shaw, Pittman, Potts and Trowbridge was awarded a $710,000 contract to conduct the year-long review. The FDA proudly announced the awarding of the contract and said it was an example of how it was confronting its potential problems even before being prodded by Capitol Hill.

Now, however, the integrity review has been halted and the contract rescinded after Dingell's investigators learned of some startling apparent conflicts of interest involving the law firm conducting the study.

Apparently known, but not recognized as a conflict by the FDA, is the fact that Shaw. Pittman represents a host of drug and food makers. The FDA later said they did not consider this to be a conflict because the firm represented these companies in a general lobbying way, and did not specifically represent their new drug or new food product applications.

Then Dingell also learned that the law firm had organized a new business trade group, the Workplace Health and Safety Council, to lobby federal agencies and Congress — including the FDA — in opposition to atrengthening occupational safety and health standards.

Dingell reportedly sent a letter to the PDA demanding all the details of the integrity review contract award, and his staff instituted discussions with the PDA on the matter.

FDA on the matter.

"At first they told us they were well aware of the law firm's client list and saw no problem." says one staff source, "but that fell apart after the in-agency in

The interview referred to was one given by a senior Shaw. Pittman partner to the newspaper "Legal Times" in which he bragged that conducting the review would help the law firm to understand the internal workings of FDA and would allow it to aid its clients in working their way through the system. Having the review contract, the partner said, would allow the firm to "open up new professional opportunities in the future."

That was the final straw. Dingell forwarded a copy of the interview with some very pointed questions to the FDA. Within a matter of days the FDA announced it would conduct the integrity review in-house and was canceling the contract.

Now, instead of winning praise on Capitol Hill for getting on top of a problem early, the FDA is facing a new probe into the integrity review contract. The investigation is aimed at finding out whether the FDA set up a deal with Shaw, Pittman in order to be given a clean bill of health by a law firm positioning itself to do a great deal of drug application business in the future.

A big following for China VOA

GUILIN, China — Yang, a middle-aged civil engineer, wanted to talk to us, but he was afraid. We met him on an island in the Li River, a popular swimming spot for the locals.

We were Americans and he wanted to criticize his government, but he was afraid of being overheard, arrested, thrown in prison. At all costs, he indicated, what he was about to say could not be repeated to any Chinese official and attributed to him. He made a slashing notion across his throat: He would be in trouble.

So, we donned awimming gear and waded with him out to the middle of the river. Once we were chest-drep, Yang felt less paranoid, but not completely safe. In broken English and a whisper, he a middle of Very good!

Yang's face clouded as he explained a problem. He didn't know the English word, so he began making circles in the water with his hand and then gesturing to his ear. He was trying to indicate radio static. "They're jamming VOA," we said, and he nodded. "Your government is doing that," we said, and he nodded again.

The Chinese government has been jamming VOA programs since May 21, 1989, the day after martial law was declared in China. It is not the first time. Beijing jammed the signal from 1956 to 1978, but stopped because of warming relations under the Carter administration.

The United States has repeatedly complained about the most recent jamming, but the Chinese government denies it is happening. President Bush has personally asked that the jamming be halted. Secretary of State James Baker asked again during his recent trip to Beijing but was rebuffed.

U.S. intelligence services, with the aid of direction-finding equipment, have determined that the jamming is unquestionably coming from China. Still, the VOA is getting through. The agency learned a number of tricks from years of trying to get around jamming in the Soviet Union. They use alternate frequencies, anti-jamming equipment, powerful transmitters and broadcast instructions to the listeners on how they can get the clearest signal.

What the Chinese hear on VOA is news from around the world, a focus on the United States and, most important, news of what's really happening in their own country that their government won't tell them about. Yang said the most valuable programs are those that help him learn English. The VOA broadcasts news and features read slowly in English using a fixed vocabulary of 1,500 words.

The VOA's broadcasts during the 1989 Tiananmen Square demonstrations, when Richard Carlson was the head of the agency, are VOA's finest hour. When the shooting began and the tanks rolled, the Chinese government television broadcast a Walt Disney movie about a talking fish, "The Incredible Mr. Limpet." starring Don Knotts. At the same time, the VOA was telling the Chinese of the massacre taking place in Tiananmen Square.

Around China, students, peasants and workers gathered to listen to VOA. Scribes would transcribe each broadcast and put the transcripts up on the wall so everyone could mult them over.

Retailers turn to markdowns to lure wary consumers

NEW YORK — Having digested militons of pounds of turkey and trimmings and sated themselves on football games. Americans turn today to the next order of business for Thankagiving weekend — hitting stores and mails for the start of the Christmas shopping season.

Some will be lined up, waiting for stores to open. But consumers are expected to browse more and buy less this year, analysts said.

"There are some good buys out there, but people don't have the wherewithal to take advantage of them," said Susan Tiffeny, manag-ing editor of Everybody's Money, a quarterly consumer magazine published by the Credit Union National Association in Madison, Wis.

Retailers will attempt to lure consumers with special sales and meridowns on merchandise before Christimas Day — a phenomenon virtually unknown in retailing until the late 1980s.

Maridowas began showing up several years ago as consumers began shopping later and later in December, giving storeowners a large case of the jitters.

Then, in 1980, several big department store chains, all owned by the Campeau Corp. of Canada, slashed prices in a vain attempt to avert bankruptcy proceedings. Other retailers, trying to stay competitive, cut prices too.

Consumers got used to the idea and held off their purchases until prices came down.

Unlike past holiday seasons, markdowns showing up this season generally will be part of plans drawn up by retailers months ago.

Dayton Hudson Corp. Chairman Kenneth Macke said his battle plan was set, but declined to divulge details.

Thomas J. Tashjian, an analyst with First Manhattan Co., said some retailers — especially those in the Southeast and Midwest — will escape heavy discounting. But in California and the Northeast, where the economy has been most aluggish, retailers will be forced to cut prices to bring in sales, he said.

Consumers don't appear to be in the mood to spend this year. The Commerce Department said Wednesday that consumer spending dropped 0.3 percent in October, the biggest decline in six

In Detroit, General Motors Corp. said it was canceling bonuses this season for salaried workers in a move expected to save more than 960 million.

About 100,000 GM employees in the United States and another 7,000 in Canada won't get the $600 holiday bonus, company spokesman John Mueller said.

GM's 300,000 hourly workers, covered by the United Auto Workers, will get their bonuses. Mueller said. The bonuses will be paid next week. GM, which is facing one of the worst economic alumps in its history, has lost more than $2.2 billion through the first nine months this year.

Man who videotaped rape of teen-ager gets light sentence

BUFFALO, N.Y. - A man who videotaped his rape of a 13-year-old girl was sentenced to 30 weekends in jail by a judge who admitted the punishment was light but said it was aimed at keeping the man's children out of foster care.

"He was saved from what people would ordinarily get for that behavior because we were at wits end on what to do with his family," said acting State Supreme Court Justice Mark Dadd. "I thought putting the guy in prison would do more damage that what had already been done."

The judge also sentenced Bruce Kuhn, 44, of suburban Tonawanda, to five years probation and ordered him to stay away from alcohol. In the hearing this week, Dadd also ordered Kuhn to apologize to the victim.

Kuhn had earlier pleaded guilty to statutory rape and faced a possible sentence of seven years. Dadd said his sentence was based on probation officials' recommendations and the fact that Kuhn's sons, age 8 and 10, would have to be placed in foster homes if Kuhn were sent to prison.

Police learned of the crime in July when a woman com that Kuhn had bragged to her son that he had sex with the girl. then showed the videotape.

The girl told police she was drinking beer at home when she decided to join Kuhn, who was drinking with a friend in his apartment.

Kuhn admitted the victim was "just about passing out" when he had sex with her. The girl has anid she did not consent to having sex with Kuhn.

Dadd said he feels Kuhn, who had no previous criminal record. "has some potential if he dries out," but added that he "wasn't happy with" the sentence.

Astronauts dodge junk in space

By LAMMA TOLLEY Associated Press

SPACE CENTER, Houston — The Atlantic astronauts became the second shuttle crew forced to dodge a piece of space junk, but NASA attributed the incidents to chance, not an increase in orbiting litter.

Atlantis commander Prederick Gregory steered out of the path of a seem Soviet rocket body. Thursday afternoon, about 10% hours before it would have passed too close to the shuttle for NASA's comfort.

The last shuttle crew also had to veer out of the way of another piece of rocket junk two months ago. However, NASA flight director Phil Engelauf said the two instances did not mean that space flight suddenly has become riskier. "It's not like this was due to any increase in the amount of (space junk) traffic. It was just sheer coincidence that we've had two of them together," NASA flight director Phil Engelauf said.

Atlantis would have been trav-

Atlantia would have been traveling 3 miles behind the Cosmos booster, and the maneuver was to increase that distance to about 35 miles. A shuttle can fly no closer than 1.3 miles above or beside another orbiting object, or 3.1 miles behind another object, according to NASA flight rules.

A shuttle crew had to dodge another Soviet Cosmos rocket part in September in the first such incident in the 10-year-old shuttle program.

Although he sees no immediate increased risk, Engelauf said the space agency is concerned about space debris as it looks towards building the proposed space station.

But "I don't see it as being an unmanageable problem." he added.

A few hours after the maneuver, the six astronauts gathered for their Thanksgiving meal.

They gobbled up turkey. gravy, noodles, cranberry sauce and a dish called "pumpkin delight." Some flipped filled forks in the air, grabbing them with their mouths.

"The only thing absent was family and friends, but they're with us in our hearts," astronaut

Mario Runco Jr. said.

Atlantis blasted into orbit Sunday night and is scheduled to land Wednesday. The crew accomplished their primary goal Monday with the release of a $300 million missile-detecting satellite.

The crew also has been working on several experiments, including two surveillance projects designed to determine if astronauts could serve the military in space. In those experiments, two astronauts take turns spying on various Earth flight controllers had some fun with the holiday as they sent an addition to their surveillance list — Turkey Creek, Australia. code-named "Gobble."

Chopper crash kills 4

Associated Press

RENO, Nev. — A helicopter pilot flying an accident victim to a hospital here radioed a mayday just moments before a crash that killed all four people aboard, authorities said.

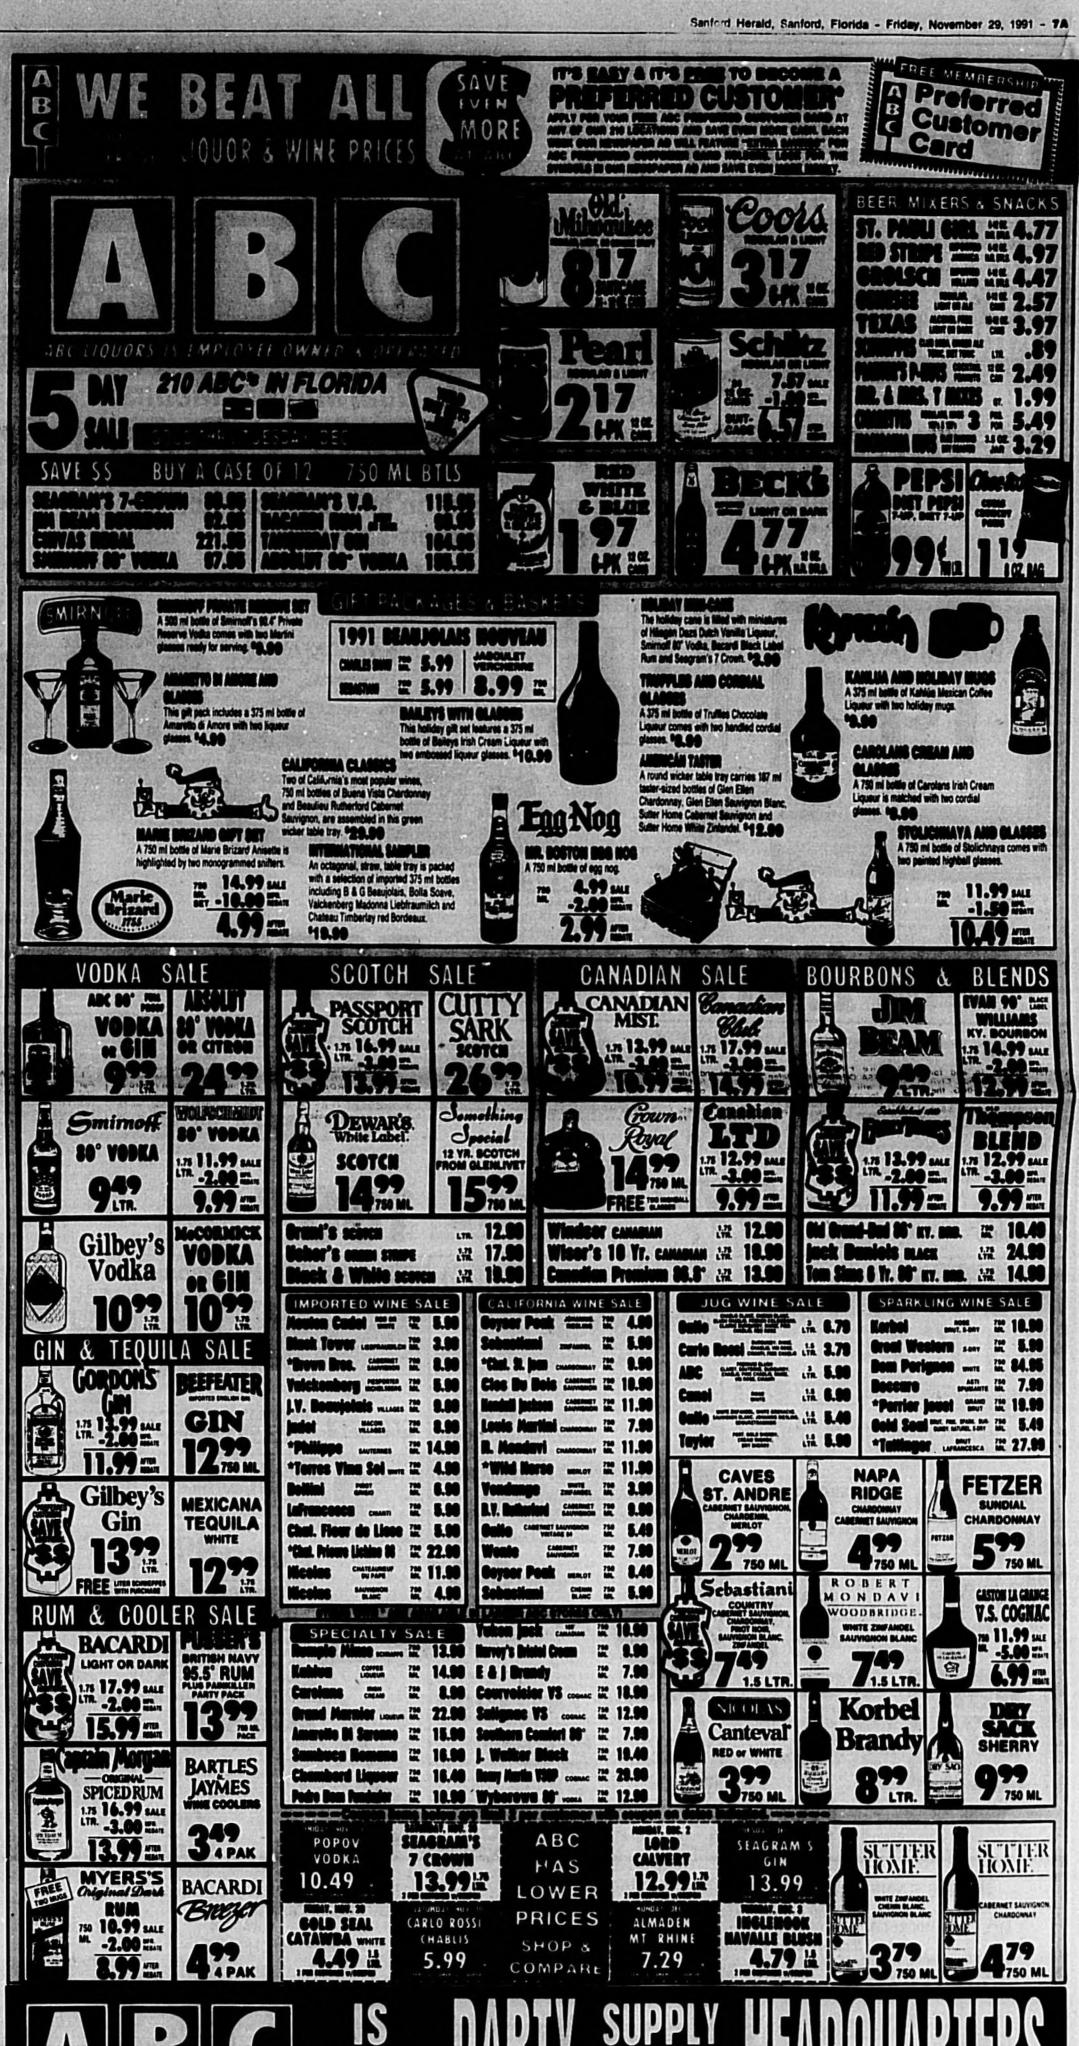

The chopper crashed into the Sierra late Wednesday on its way from a hospital in Bridgeport, Calif., to one in Reno, said Stephanie Kruse, a spokeswoman for Care Flight, a program operated by the Regional Emergency Medical Services Authority.

"There was nothing that he said before we lost contact that would indicate anything at all," she said.

At the same time, a motorist reported seeing a helicopter spinning out of control near U.S. 395 about 15 miles north of Hridgeport, said Mono County Public Service Officer Debbie Rupp. It dropped out of sight and the driver saw a flash.

Snow during the night forced rescuers to temporarily call off a search for the chopper. A Navy helicopter spotted the wreckage Thursday morning, Rupp said. Another helicopter landed near the crash site to recover the bodies.

"My guess is it's going to be quite some time before they're soing to be able to determine anything just because of the grain and also the crash itself as pretty severe." Kruse said.

'A win for everybody' Lake Mary outlasts Bethlehem Catholic in Rotary Bowl

Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD - Back when the Rotary Club of Seminole County South decided to gamble and bring in Pennsylvania's Bethlehem Catholic High School to play in the 18th annual Rotary Bowl, they had no idea it would pay off so handsomely.

Blessed with ideal weather, a large and vocal crowd and a highscoring game that wasn't decided until the final gun, the experiment had to be considered an unqualified

"We feel that it was a win for everybody." said Rotary Club president Ed Bookbinder after the Lake Mary Rams had pulled out a 28-23 win over the Becahi Golden Hawks. 'One team just scored a little more than the other one did.

"It showed that Central Florida can support a bowl game of this quality and we hope to do it again. We took a chance and I think we set a new tradition."

Strictly from a football standpoint, the game was one of the best played this season, the Golden Hawks gaining 157 yards passing and 167 yards rushing while the Rams passed for 161 yards and ran for 139. Fake punts, fake field goal attempts and tries for two-point conversions were the rule rather than the norm.

Lake Mary's winning margin came when Anush Collins (138 ☐ See Rotary, Page 2B

Silver Hawks picked off by Panthers

By RYAN ANDERSON Herald Correspondent

ORLANDO - It was only fitting that defense decide the defensive struggle between Lake Howell and Dr. Phillips in the 38th annual Kumquat Bowl Wednesday night at Dr. Phillips' Panther Stadium.

The host Panthers, who finished the regular season tied for sixth in the Florida Sports Writers Association's Class 5A state poll, used a pair of interceptions to turn away the Silver Hawks 14-7 in overtime. Dr. Phillips ends the season 9-2 while Lake Howell. which took a six-game winning streak into the bowl game, finishes 7-4.

After regulation ended in a 7-7 tie. Lake Howell won the coin toss and elected to go on defense first in the Kansas tiebreaker. But the Panthers, who were called for illegal motion on their first play, scored on a seven-yard pass from Braniff Bonaventure to David Nabavi. Mike Diglio kicked the extra point.

Lake Howell took over and was called for illegal motion. Starting on the 15, the Silver Hawks were then called for ineligible receiver, resulting in a loss of down. On third down, Paul Davis lofted a pass into the end zone but was picked off by Danny Cooper, ending the Raiders hang on for second consecutive win

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD - The Seminole Community College men's basketball team continued its nailbiting ways Wednesday night as the Raiders led all game but had to hold on for a 72-69 victory over Manatee Community College at the Health and Physical Education Center.

The win was the second straight for SCC and completed a four-game homestand that saw the Raiders win three of four, improving to 6-3 on the season. The team will travel to Bradenton for a return match with Manatee next Tuesday night.

"This was a team victory," said SCC head coach Bill Payne. "Everyone contributed and played extremely hard. Playing close games like this is tough, but we're winning them. We're able to win these close games because of the effort of all 15 players in practice. Everyone has to work so hard in practice to get anything done that the games become easy."

This was a game of streaks. Every time one team would call a time out. it would run off a string of points to get back into the game.

The Raiders had trouble with Manatee's tough man-to-man defense and turned the ball over several times as the Lancers took a 10-5 lead. But back-to-back three pointers by Troy Bruening and Brian Nason and a layup by Nason put SCC on top 13-10.

After another time out, Manatee retook the momentum and outscored the Raiders 9-5 to take a 19-18 advantage. It would be the Lancers' last lead of the night.

Another 'three' by Bruening put SCC back on top and the Raiders outscored Manatee 13-6 the rest of the half to take a 31-25 lead into intermission.

The difference in the first half was the three-point line where SCC hit five (three by Bruening and two by Nason) to none for the Lancers.

Manatee, which shot only 36.4 percent in the first half, came out of the lockerroom smoking and outscored the Raiders 21-15 to tie the game 46-46 with 12:25 remaining.

But SCC came back with a 14-4 run of its own over the next 4:30 to take a 60-50 lead. The next 4:00 belonged to the Lancers, however, See SCC, Page 2B

David Sprinkle to claim the regional win. The 6-foot, 2-inch, 215-pound senior led the county in rushing with 1,259 yards on 182 carries (an average of 6.9 yards per attempt). He also tied Lake Howell's Pat Jorgensen for the county scoring lead with 11 touchdowns for 66 points.

While Sprinkle has been the star for Lake Brantley, the availability of quarterback Rob Seymore for tonight's game may be of more importance.

The 6-foot, 2-inch, 185-pound senior has been out for a month with a broken wrist. With Seymore in the lineup, the Patriots were 6-1, the only loss being an overtime defeat at Mainland as he ran the Lake Brantley triple option offence to perfection.

While not a highly regarded passer. Seymore is a strong runner and takes pressure off of

Other offensive threats for the Patriots are running backs Joe Pagen and Joe Petno and kicker Tim LeCroix. Pagen rushed for 495 yards and seven touchdowns this year while Petno contributed 195 yards and four touchdowns. LeCroix was named to the Sanford Herald All-County team after hitting 31 extra points and four field goals.

Lake Brantley also has a very strong defense led by Sanford

the Raiders 7-0 to cut the lead to three, 60-57 with 4:58 left to play.

SCC used four free throws by Nason, a three-point play by Bill Freeman off an offensive rebound and a big three-pointer by Bruening to maintain a two to six point lead the rest of the way.

The Raiders again used, the three-pointer and free throw line to great advantage, hitting 9 of 14 long bombs and 13 of 17 charity tosses to win despite Manatee hitting 29 field goals to only 25 for SCC.

Nason was tops for the Raiders

Sprinkle. Before being injured he rushed for 365 yards and scored seven touchdowns. In addition, he is also the leading punter in the county with a 38.2 average. "He's pretty close," said Almon of Seymore, who had the cast taken off this past Monday. "We'll watch him warm up tomorrow and see if he's ready in the accoring and rebounding columns with 26 points and seven boards. Bruening chipped in with 13 points (4 of 5 from three-point range) and six caroms, while Freeman scored a career-best 13 points. Lake Mary's Mike Merthic came off and distribute five assists. The Lancers, now 4-3 on the season, was led by the trio of Jelani Nix (22), Demond Davis (18) and Kevin Hockaday (12). Quentin Smith, who was the Most Valuable Player at the Central Florida Classic at SCC last December for West Orange High School, was the top assist man for the game with six.

Herald All-County first team picks Daryl Bush and Chuck Coe. Linebacker Bush. Just a junior, led Central Florida in tackles for the second straight year, while Coe, a defensive back, is a ferocious hitter and a tremendous pass defender. Almon said that the Generals have a very good, well-coached football team.

"They have a very good tailback, probably the best we've seen all year, and they have a huge quarterback who can throw the ball 80-90 yards in the air. They will probably be as good as anyone we've played this year."

Holiday bazaar coming

Members of the Garden Club of Sanford worked on the crafts that will be for sale at the Holiday Bazaer Dec. 6 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Dec. 7 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fresh baked bread, cakes, cookies, candy, jellies and jams as well as crafts and plants will be available. Bean soup, cookies, coffee and tea will be served. Left: Grace Theobold, Fran Morton and Jane West put the finishing touches on craft items. Right: Pauline Spivey, Jo Stankiewicz and Barbara Bradshaw work on projects for the bazaar.

Cary Grant's 'Meditation' is full of ago today. Cary Grant died just seven weeks before his 83rd birthday. Not a bad score. He couldn't have written a better ending himself. Cary Grant was a superstar in every sense of the word. He wore his stardom with grace and dignity, and for all his fame and adulation, he remained incredibly unspoiled. In his later years, he made occasional appearances in theaters around the country, billed simply as "A Conversation with Cary Grant." He didn't need much advertising; one small ad would appear in the local newspaper, and the house was immediately sold out. Everywhere he appeared, he received a standing ovation simply for walking out on the stage. He had no routine: he just sat perched on a long-legged stool in the center of the stage with a spotlight beamed on his famous face, and for two hours he answered random questions from the audience. They loved it. And so did he.

He closed his "conversation" with a piece he called "A Meditation," saying he didn't know who wrote it, but it expressed his own sentiments about growing older. It also expresses mine. And here it is:

'Now Lord, you've known me a long time. You know me better than I know myself. You know that each day I am growing older and someday may even be very old, so meanwhile please keep me from the habit of thinking I must say something on every subject and on every occasion.

"Release me from trying to straighten out everyone's affairs. Make me thoughtful, but not moody, helpful but not overbearing. I've a certain amount of knowledge to share: still it would be very nice to have a few friends who, at the end, recognized and forgave the knowledge I lacked. "Keep my tongue free from the recital of endless details. Seal my lips on my aches and pains: They increase daily and the need to speak of them becomes almost a compulsion. I ask for grace enough to listen to the retelling of their afflictions, and to be helped to endure them with patience. "I would like to have improved memory, but I'll settle for growing humility and an ability to capitulate when my memory clashes with memory of others. Teach me the glorious lesson that on some occasions, I may be mistaken. "Keep me reasonably kind; I've never aspired to be a saint...saints must be rather difficult to live with...yet on the other hand, an embittered old person is a constant burden. "Please give me the ability to see good in unlikely places and talents in unexpected people. And give me the grace to tell them so, dear Lord.

P.S. DEAR READERS: Many books have been written about Cary Grant, but if you want to read the only authentic history of his life and loves, get the book 'Evenings With Cary Grant" by Nancy Nelson, published by Morrow. It's an absolute treasure.

DEAR ABBY: What is this world coming to? My hairdresser, who is gay, told me that a powerful gay group is trying to legalize same-sex marriages. Abby. I have nothing against homosexuals, but I can't understand why they need a "license" to live together. Please enlighten me.

PREDA IN PRESNO our children? DEAR READERS: If you're looking for the perfect Bat (or Bar) Mitzvah gift, get "Deborah, Golda and Me: Being Female and Jewish in America" by Letty Cottin Pogrebin (published by Morrow). And buy one for yourself, but don't lend it to anyone - you'll never get it back. It's a book of interest to both sexes.

DEAR ABBY: What is happening to our society? Where is taste? What about morals, decency and modesty? What kind of examples are we setting for grace That's bad enough under any circumstances, but with the threat of AIDS, to make casual sex appear acceptable and commonplace is criminal. Another thing: How about our movie stars proudly announcing that they are expecting a baby? The fact that they are not married - and have no plans to marry at this time - doesn't seem to bother anybody. Also, I'm not suggesting that we go back to the days when pregnant married women took their walks at night so nobody would see them, but I am not ready to see a pregnant woman

Area Jews celebrate Channukah

LONGWOOD — The Jewish community of Seminole County will join Jews around the world in celebrating the victory of the Maccabees over the influence of Maccabees over the influence of the Syrian-Greeks in 105 B.C., according to Rabbi Merrill Shapiro of Congregation Beth Am in Longwood.

This celebration is embodied in the observance of the Pestival of Channukah, the Hebrew world for "dedication" or "consecration." The most prominent feature of the holiday observance feature of the holiday observance is the lighting of candles in the Channukah Menorah on eight evenings beginning Sunday.

The Feast of Dedication is also known as the Feast of Lights and begins on the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev and lasts eight days. It marks the rededication of the Holy Temple, originally built by King Selectors by the agent of James Solomon, by the army of Jews led by Judah the Maccabbee in the years 165 B.C. The reconsecration came upon the victory of a long puerilla war against the Syrian-Greeks who sought to limit the religious freedom of the Jews and unify the beliefs of all in the gods of Mount Olympus. Upon occupying Jerusalem, the Syrian-Greeks defiled the Holy Temple and set up statutes and monuments to Greek gods, a repugnant to the Jews who believe in the many, the weak over the strong, Channukah is one of the happens of holidays. Because the Maccabbees established a sovereign Jewish State and minted their own coins (some of which can be found in museums today). It is traditional to give gifts of coins to children. A game is played using coins, candles or nuts with a small top called a dreidel on which the Hebrew letters N. G. H and S are inscribed, standing for Nes Gedol Hayah Bahm, "A great miracle happened there!" Finally, in the home, oil plays an important role as foods fried in oil, potoato pancakes called "latkes" or jelly donuts called, "sufganeyot" are traditionally served.

The story of Channukah is told in the Apocryphal Books of Maccabbees I through IV. Fundamental is the recognition of the enticing nature of the society of the ancient Greeks with their could find only a single curse of science and mathematics.

Parishoners bids farewell to sanctuary

SANFORD - One hundred eighty-six, people crowded into the sanctuary of the Sanford Christian Church last Sunday for one final service on their property on Airport Boulevard. The church buildings lie in the path of the proposed beltway and are scheduled for demolition

The congregation participated in the service by sharing special memories and events from the past. Some of the members present have been attending services there since childhood and many had been baptised there. Quite a few couples present had repeated their marriage vows in the sanctuary and three couples present had met their spouse during a service there.

To conclude the service. members left the auditorium to the front yard and placed nails in the grave dug at the foot of the cross. The nails represented any past conflicts or unhappy experiences that had taken place over the years and their burial was a pledge to leave any unpleasant memories behind and to begin worship in a new location with a clean slate.

The congregation then joined hands and sang one final chorus of "How Great Thou Art."

An initial offer of settlement for the property on Airport Bouleavard was not received in time for the church to design and build new facilities at the new location on Upsala Road. Construction plans will be finalized after a court hearing in which the final settlement of payment from the state will be determined.

In the meantime the state is providing space for the church to hold Bible School and Worship in the old Zayre's Plaza. The public is cordially invited to worship with the congregation at Zayre's during construction.

The physician depend on age and smoking would know what facilities are available in your state to help autistic children. The doctor might call on other health care professionals, such as mental health workers and social workers, to help, but start with him and work from there.

You can obtain further advice from the Autism Society of America, 1234 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has been told he has Parkinson's disease. I'm wondering if he could have pernicious anemia. Is it possible that the two could be confused?

DEAR READER: Parkinson's disease is a brain disorder characterized by slowness of movement, a muscle tremor at rest and muscular rigidity. It is often helped by medicines, such as levodopa, that reduce symptoms.

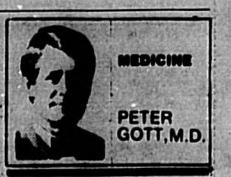

Pernicious anemia is a disease due to an insufficient quantity of vitamin B-12 in the body. It causes retarded production of red blood cells, inflammation of the tongue, listlessness and certain nerve disorders, such as loss of sensation in the legs. Pernicious anemia is entirely reversible when patients are given supplemental B-12. usually in injections.

Ordinarily, the two diseases are readily distinguishable.

When you know the right final contract, bid it immediately. Don't beat around the bush, because extra interim bidding may give vital information to the delenders. Jim Jacoby benefited from a loquacious South on today's deal from a Monte Carlo tournament.

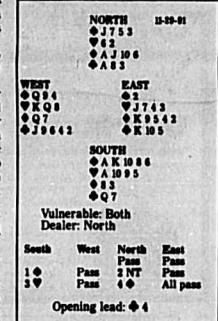

By partnership agreement. North's two-no-trump response showed a maximum pass with at least four spades. South should have jumped straight to game. keeping the opponents in the dark, but he decided he wasn't strong enough. Instead he made a game-try with a three-heart bid.

West led a low club, and Jacoby, East, won the first trick with the king. Jacoby reckoned that South had nine major-suit cards and, as he had ducked the first trick, that he clearly had at least two clubs. Perhaps he was 5-4-2-2. So Jacoby switched to a low diamond at trick two. West's queen forcing out dummy's ace. With the clubs blocked and no quick dummy entry left, South had to lose a trick in each suit.

This was a great result for East-West, but it wasn't as good as they had anticipated. At other tables, where East returned a heart or a club at trick two, some declarers immediately drew two rounds of trumps. Then, when West gained the lead in hearts. he cashed the spade queen. leaving dummy with only one trump for two heart losers, and declarer with just nine tricks.

The right approach is to duck a heart as quickly as possible. You must arrange to unblock the club queen, discard the diamond eight on the club ace, cash the top trumps and then crossruff home.
