

Johnson Pledges Effort On Job For Everyone

CLEVELAND (UPI)—President Johnson pledged today to "take further steps" in working with labor and business to assure every qualified American a job.

"It is time for labor and management and government to cooperate in establishing a national manpower policy," the President said in a speech prepared for the 26th annual convention of the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO).

Johnson said this policy should "assess our future needs and help aim all our programs of training and education—government and private alike—toward filling those needs."

Existing labor-management committees along with a cabinet committee which he has appointed will contribute to such a policy, he said.

Rights Bill Vote Due Late Today

Sanford Auto Dealer Puts JC's On Wheels

By Dottie Austin
Two years ago Willie Hunt started something.
As president of Hunt Lincoln-Mercury Motors, he presented a courtesy car from the dealership to the Sanford Seminole Jaycees for their president to use in carrying out his duties.
Hunt honored the Jaycees thusly, because he felt they were the most active civic organization in the county and took note of the many civic and community projects that the young men had accomplished and the zeal and spirit with which they worked.
Driving the brand-new courtesy car cross-country to the national conventions and all around the state to various Jaycees district and state meetings, 1962 President Glenn McCall and 1963 President Jim Smith aroused the interest of other Jaycees organizations.
Some of the bigger groups had as many as 700 members in their clubs, but they didn't have a President's Courtesy Car.
Across the state of Florida, other automobile dealers began to copy Hunt's idea of showing appreciation to the Jaycees. More and more clubs began to be presented with courtesy autos for their president as dealers began to call Hunt to find out how the plan operated.
Now more than a dozen community auto dealers have joined the President's car parade and at any state or regional meeting the Jaycees leaders can be seen proudly arriving in their courtesy cars from Orlando, St. Petersburg, Clearwater, Miami, Cocoa and other cities.

At the Jaycees state convention held in Cocoa on May 14, State President Cody Hulley presented an engraved gold plaque, mounted on walnut in the shape of the Jaycee shield to Hunt for his outstanding service.
Each year, Hunt presents the new Jaycee president with the keys to a brand new Comet station wagon. Thursday he handed the keys to President Clyde Long, the Jaycees first bachelor president.

From the mallab: Cheryl Dome writes that "we are service personnel connected to SNAS. I hear a lot of talk about junior colleges and colleges . . . but no one has mentioned the other end of the educational ladder . . . kindergarten. I think kindergarten is very important in teaching a child to learn and play in a large group. If a child could go to kindergarten it would raise the standards of the primary grades because more children would be ready for learning. . . ." She called for public-supported kindergartens.

Miss Barbara Munson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Munson graduated recently from Columbia University School of General Studies in New York.

'LONESOME' got his vaccine Thursday afternoon at the final session of the dog inoculation clinic behind the City Hall. Dr. Raymond Bass, local veterinarian, administers the dose as the dog's owner, Mrs. Max Stewart of Sunland Estates, watches. Asked the breed of the dog, Mrs. Stewart said, "you-name-it." Dr. Bass treated 77 dogs during the afternoon clinic.

Business Brisk At Dog Clinic
Business was brisk at the dog clinic held at City Hall Thursday as pet owners lined up to have fever inoculated for rabies and tagged for city living.
There were 77 dogs in line during the afternoon, keeping Dr. Raymond Bass and his assistant busy making the inoculations and issuing the tags.
Despite the good turnout however, City Manager W. E. Knowles estimated that there are still hundreds of dogs in the city limits which do not have a shot or license.
Persons who have dogs not yet treated and tagged are advised to take their pet to a veterinarian for his rabies inoculation and tag then get the city license tag at the City Hall.
Deadline was June 18 and any dogs found roaming around without proper tags are being picked up.
Pet owners whose dogs are picked up may bail them out by paying a 25 cents a day charge and securing the proper tags.

No More Sabin Doses Available
Jaycee President Clyde Long said today that the Jaycees are unable to procure any more Sabin vaccine to fill requirements of thousands of Seminole County citizens who were turned away when the supply ran out.
"We're very sorry that this situation has developed, and will keep trying to get some more, but right now it does not look very encouraging," Long said.
Some local physicians have the vaccine available in limited supply, as does the Seminole County Health Department. Citizens desiring the vaccine are advised to consult their family physician.
The first two Sundays that the first dose was given 19,000 persons were treated. At the time of the second dose, 14,500 persons were given the vaccine before the supply ran out, Long reported.

Senate Gets Final Gust Of Oratory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate struggled through a shower of final oratory toward overwhelming passage late today of the strongest civil rights bill since the Reconstruction Era.

The bill would end discrimination in voting, schools, employment, unions, public places, private enterprises offering accommodation to the public and in the dispensing of federal funds.

The vote was expected about 4 or 5 p. m. EDT after one last-ditch motion to send the bill to a Senate committee. Senate leaders were confident they could beat the motion handily.

Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said that as many as 77 or 78 senators would vote for the bill. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., joined in forecasting top-heavy approval.

Dirksen said as few as five of the Senate's 33 Republicans might wind up opposing the bill, but one of these will be Sen. Barry Goldwater, frontrunner for the GOP presidential nomination.

Goldwater announced Thursday he would vote against the bill because of constitutional objections to its provisions on fair employment and guarantees of equal access to private establishments offering food, lodging and entertainment to the public.

The measure would give the federal government vast powers, unequalled since Reconstruction, to erase discrimination in schools, voting, employment, public accommodations and use of federal funds.

Brewer Asked To Get Sanford On I-4 Sign

State Senator Mack Cleveland today requested to A. Max Brewer, district member of the State Road Board, to have erected a new directional sign which includes Sanford at the intersection of Interstate 4 and U. S. 92 west of Daytona Beach.
Cleveland, acting on a request from the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, told Brewer that the signs now list only Orlando with no mention of the fact that highways from the intersection also lead to Sanford and DeLand.
"I feel," said Cleveland, "that since Sanford is the county seat of Seminole and DeLand the county seat of Volusia that both of these cities should have signs indicating the highway that leads to them."
Cleveland said he had received several complaints since the sign indicating the route only to Orlando was erected.
Gerald Frierson, chairman of the roads committee of the DeLand Chamber of Commerce, also registered a complaint.
Frierson appealed to Gov. Farris Bryant, calling attention to the sign at the intersection. Frierson said that "The information displayed on this new sign is considered a grave concern to our roads committee in that the sign does not offer a choice of routes."

Westside Fire Unit Discusses Constitution

The newly organized Westside Volunteer Fire Dept. meeting Thursday evening at the Lake Monroe Community Building, discussed plans for drawing up the constitution and by-laws and appointed a number of committees.
Assisting was Ed Zimmerman of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Dept.
Zimmerman pointed out that legal help should be obtained for forming the constitution and explained that Civil Defense can help the department get needed equipment.
Active members will serve as active firemen, the group decided; associate members will assist in fund raising activities and honorary membership will be open to anyone associated with the department whether or not they live in the area to be protected.
Committees named were publicity, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, procurement, Robert Mann; legal, Mrs. Ruth Gallagher, Homer Little and Drew Warren. Directors will be Joe Routh, Tom Gallagher, Ted Slicer, Richard Boyd, Dan Denmark, LeRoy Lee and Gerald Behrens. In charge of maintenance will be Donald Davis, F. M. Douglas, A. C. Lodge and Ted Slicer.
Proposed by-laws, patterned after Lake Mary's will be presented by the legal committee for approval at a meeting at 8 p. m. Monday in the Community Building.
The regular meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Some Rain Falls In Jessup Area
Only one of this week's late afternoon showers, which brought welcome relief to the rest of the county, fell on Lake Jessup and its long suffering lake shore residents, operators of Hileys Fish Camp reported today.
The shower brought a measure of relief from the results of the vast "fish kill" which struck the lake during the first weekend in June, but a lot more rain is needed before the carcasses can be washed away.
The situation resulting from the presence of thousands of dead "rough fish" has been aggravated by extremely high temperatures and lack of rain. Fresh Water Fish and Game Commission officials have predicted, however, that sport fishing will be better than ever once the situation clears up.

Priest Gives In To Cardinal
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A young priest who called for the removal of his cardinal for alleged failure to exert racial leadership has yielded to the church in an age-old ceremony of obedience witnessed by about 200 fellow priests, sources indicated today.
The sources claimed that the Rev. William H. Dulbay knelt before James Francis Cardinal McIntyre and kissed the prelate's ring in the presence of 200 priests Thursday.

Help Father Take Care Of His Heart
All fathers should get some form of daily exercise apart from their work, says the Heart Association. Daily exercise prevents muscles from turning into marshmallows, helps work off annoyances and frustrations.
It helps keep Dad a solid citizen rather than a softie. In short, daily exercise is good for his heart and his health as well as his appearance and state of mind.
Not all fathers will go in for the same sort of exercise. Try, if you can, to encourage him to take up an exercise he's likely to enjoy—otherwise he'll chuck the whole idea in a couple of weeks.
Some fathers need only a nudge in the right direction; others need Machiavellian maneuvering.
Your Father's Day gift might be golf clubs, fishing tackle, a home rowing machine, equipment for backyard volleyball (giving the whole family a chance to join the fun). Tennis, swimming, golf and bowling are some other sports that offer companionship as well as fun. Daily exercise, not weekend spurts of physical stress should be the rule, says the Heart Association. It need not be elaborate—a brisk, free-swinging walk, maybe with Mom or one of the children is a good and relaxing form of exercise available to everyone.

Most important of all, the family needs to conspire to help Dad find the time and opportunity for exercise every day of the year.
If he's been especially sedentary in his habits, suggest a physical exam before he tackles any strenuous sports. Even after the check-up, convince him that a gradual approach makes sense.
Don't let him literally knock himself out trying to impress big brother with his athletic prowess.

Sunday's Day For Dear Old Dad
By Dottie Austin
Sunday is Father's Day and as it approaches, the other members of the family will be whispering behind his back, holding secret conclaves to find a special way to pamper Papa.
A fairly typical family plan includes breakfast in bed for dear old Dad, his favorite menu for Sunday dinner, some gaily wrapped gifts, and a 24 hour reprieve from his usual chores—no matter how much he enjoys doing them.
Putting Pop on a pedestal is fine—for one day. But he can get out of condition very fast up there, not moving a muscle, and this is not good for his heart.
Father's Day would be a good time for the family to enter into conspiracy to keep the head of the house in good physical condition all year round and for many Father's Days to come, the Seminole DeBarry Heart Division says.

An Awesome Day

A Sunday school teacher was trying to describe God to her young pupils in a way that they could understand something of Him. She said that He is very loving, kind, strong and thoughtful. As she continued she sought to impress upon the class that God was one who could conquer the world.

She told of His courage and described His power as being all that was needed to meet the needs of the world. Finally she said to the pupils, "Does that description of God make you think of anybody you know?" One little boy raised his hand eagerly and when recognized said, "That's my Pop, teacher!" Evidently this little boy had the kind of a father that we like to think of as being the normal father, however, most of us have to admit that we do not always impress our children in such a favorable way.

A good question for every father to ask himself would be, "Do my children think of me in a favorable way?" Do your sons feel inspired to pattern their lives after you and do your daughters feel that they would like for their husbands to have the qualities that they see in you.

Many sermons will be preached Sunday about fathers and matters relating to the home. We will use much of our time thinking of earthly fathers who have such important places to fill in our modern day although attention to it has been most pronounced in these latter years. When we think carefully we realize that man was given a role to play in God's plan when God made man in His image. Is it "too far out" to call this the first "Father's Day"?

The role of a father is different from that of the male species in all other creatures. Man is far more than a biological necessity as he takes his place in God's plan. God made it very clear in the Bible that if man is to be a good earthly father that he will care for his children far beyond the point of conception and birth.

How often clergymen are faced with having fathers say to them that they "bring home the bacon" and therefore they aren't responsible for the spiritual things of the home. Material provision is only one of the duties of fathers.

First Christian To Have VBS

Vacation Bible School at First Christian Church of Sanford will open Monday and continue through Wednesday, July 1, with daily sessions from 9 until 11 a.m. on this year's theme, "Jesus."

There will be classes for ages four through 14 years. Teachers will be: kindergarten, Lis Horton and Joan Smith; primary 1, Shirley Alexander and Dee Shaffer; primary 2, Phyllis Shields and Virginia Rowland; junior, Joanne Elliott and Kathleen Joy and junior high, Rev. Vernon Fuller. School directors will be Jodie Fuller and Martha Young.

A closing program will be at 7:30 p.m., July 1.

Invitation is extended to all interested children to attend the Bible School. Those wishing further information should call Jodie Fuller.

As we turn back into the early part of the Bible we find in Genesis 18:19 "For I know him, that he will command his children and his household after him, and they shall keep the way of the Lord . . ."

These words were spoken of Abraham, but they are just as applicable for us today. The time is late, but let us pray not too late, for fathers to assume the responsibility that God has given them in becoming the leaders in their households. Let us pray for the fathers of our land and world that they will lift high the standards of their Lord in their households.

Let us pray for the fathers of our land and world that they will lift high the standards of their Lord in their homes by being examples, teachers, guides and protectors in all things because after all is said and done, all is of God.

Red-Blooded Americans, But What Kind?

MIAMI (UPI) — Havana radio said today that the Americans now visiting Cuba in defiance of a U. S. travel ban donated blood to the Castro regime. The broadcast, monitored here, did not make it clear if all 75 members of the group gave blood. Three members of the group were quoted as giving their reasons for the blood donations. The leader of the Americans, identified as Edward Lemansky (phonetic spelling), explained his motivation as follows: "Since my government is responsible for the loss of Cuban blood I want to give back to the Cuban people some of the blood they lost." According to Havana Radio, Lemansky added: "I don't know if everyone donating blood thinks this way. Some are doing it as an expression of thanks for the warm welcome we have received in Cuba. But many of those here feel the way I do."

WHERE THE JOBS ARE — Although automation has eliminated many jobs during the last ten years, it has also created many. Employment in the mining industry decreased 26.8 per cent, for example, but government employment increased 43.3 per cent, according to the U. S. Department of Labor. The Newschart shows significant increases and decreases.

Barry's 'No' Vote Makes Civil Rights A Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, the man most likely to lead the party of Lincoln into political battle this fall, has thrust the civil rights issue into the 1964 presidential campaign. Many Republicans viewed his announced intention to vote against the Senate's civil rights bill as a move which might: —Split the Republican party at a time when it needs all the unity it can command to take on President Johnson, the odds-on favorite. Goldwater's stand raised a problem for his party on framing its civil rights plank, as well as on the candidacy itself. —Give Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton the wedge he and his supporters have hoped they would find to crack Goldwater's massive front of delegate strength. —Shatter the veneer of bipartisanship surrounding the civil rights battle in Congress, a protective covering which leaders on both sides had hoped would keep the racial issue largely out of the campaign. "There is no political profit in this civil rights bill for either party," Democratic and Republican spokesmen said early in the Senate debate. Goldwater's decision to vote against the bill brought an immediate appeal from Scranton that he "repudiate" his opposition on the ground that it is against "the traditional Republican philosophy of equal opportunity for all." House and Senate Republican leaders joined to help frame and pass the bill. Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., in particular put his prestige on the line to marshal all but a handful of Republicans behind the measure. Now, with the Republican National Convention less than a month off, Goldwater is centering South where his great delegate strength lies while other top Republicans are committed in the other direction.

AL Is Sick And Nobody Is Doing Anything For It

By Harry Grayson
Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.
BOSTON (NEA) — Any practical baseball man will tell you that the American League is sick, sick, sick. The saddest thing about the frightening outlook is that nobody is doing anything about it.

Cleveland admittedly is a disaster area. Only the Yankees draw enough people to cover their expenses on the long trip to Los Angeles. Charles O. Finley, the cantankerous proprietor, made a mess of things in Kansas City. There are headaches elsewhere.

"I can't understand Cleveland," said Joe Cronin, the league president, when I talked with him in Boston.

That makes it unanimous. No one else can understand a city two million under its peak attendance.

"The city of Anaheim is building a new stadium for the Angels," added Cronin, confirming what everybody already knew. "Disneyland went there, didn't it?"

It was suggested that Autryland hardly was Disneyland, a special ally with the Dodgers still doing all the business just up the pike a bit.

"Finley only has to give a nice franchise a chance in Kansas City," Cronin went on.

Moving the Angels to Atlanta would solve one AL problem. The hitch is that the Milwaukee Braves appear to have plucked the Georgia Peach, giving the National League another powerful bastion with $2 million for the telecasting rights alone.

That has been the story all the way along the line. The more aggressive National League has beaten the AL to the punch on every occasion. The NL was first to admit Negro players. NL got to California first.

The NL played its most recent trump card by filling the huge vacuum left when the Giants and Dodgers turned their backs on New York. This accounts for the impossible Mets and the magnificent Shea Stadium.

It is obvious why the NL outdrew the AL by 2,287,380 paid admissions last season and why, judging by the early returns, it should increase the bulge by more than $ million this year. The NL has many more individual stars and seven clubs with eyes on the pennant. It has the superior parks.

The Yankees are the only AL club which draws big on the road and in return have nothing much in the way of attractions coming into Yankee Stadium.

How are you going to compare, for example, the White Sox coming to the Bronx with Pete Ward, Dave Nicholson and Ron Hansen to the Giants deploying against the Mets at Shea Stadium with Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey? Which outfit is more likely to make the turnstile spin—the Indians with Daddy Wags Wagner or the Dodgers with Howard, the Davises, Willis, Koufax and Drysdale?

Compared to the American, the National League is loaded with name athletes—Roberte Clemente, Ken Boyer, Groat, Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson, Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews, Billy Williams, Ron Santo.

"Gabe Paul improved the Cleveland club," asserted Cronin. "He has a fine organization bearing down in an effort to get some business. Yet on an Inter-Faith Night, with the newspapers going out of their way to beat the drums, the attendance was only 7,700."

"Moving another club to the Pacific coast wouldn't lessen the visiting clubs' expenses in going to Los Angeles.

Attendance has not picked up perceptibly in Washington. Baltimore only hopes to fare better than last season, when the Orioles had the poorest season patronage-wise in the 10 they have been in the league. Even the great baseball city of Detroit is off.

Even the proud Yankees could easily fall short of their 1,500,000 of last year, which was almost 200,000 under the previous campaign.

The upshot on the American League is that the Yankees are inaugurating Picnic Nights.

White Sox Take Oriole Series; Face Yanks Again

Pirates Defeat Mets And Move To Third Place

By United Press International
Now it's up to the Chicago White Sox to show they can dish out a haymaker as well as take one.

Only a week ago the White Sox were dealt a beautiful five straight losses to the New York Yankees. They've rebounded with three out of five from the Baltimore Orioles and tonight open a four-game weekend series against the Yankees with the American League race in a virtual three-way tie.

The White Sox took the series from the Orioles with a 2-0 Thursday night victory that gave them a lead of seven percentage points over Baltimore and 10 over the Yankees. That clutch victory enabled the White Sox to square their season series with the Orioles at 5-5 but staring them in the face is that horrendous 0-6 slate against the defending champs.

When Danny Murtaugh was asked last year where his Pirates would finish the season he replied, "In San Francisco, on September 29."

But this time around he might be more serious. While baseball experts have focused their attention on the Phillies and the Giants, the Pirates slipped past the Cincinnati into third place Thursday night when Vernon Law whitewashed the National League's perennial cellar-dweller New York Mets, 10-0.

In other NL games, the Phils retained possession of first place by topping Chicago, 6-3, while the Giants lost to the Cards, 7-6.

Back in the American League, New York defeated Boston, 6-3; and Kansas City edged Detroit, 8-2.

Chiefs, Tigers Post Victories

The Chiefs took over sole ownership of first place in the City Recreation Department's Pee Wee League Thursday afternoon when they edged the Panthers by a score of 19 to 18. It was the Chiefs' second victory against no losses.

Meanwhile, the Tigers, losers of their first game, clobbered the Yanks 21 to 8.

LeSabres Win 3 From Ramblers

The LeSabres took a three-game win from the Ramblers for a firm hold on the number one spot in Bill Hemphill's Motorcraft League at Jet Lanes. Liz Graham paved the way for the LeSabres when she posted a 153/428 series to her credit.

Despite Betty Bussard's efforts for the Tompsets it was to no avail as they lost all four points to the Pontiacs. Betty shot games of 162/164 enroute to a fine 418 series.

The Invictas took a 3 to 1 decision over the Bonnevilles as Ruth Pettis hit a 145/418 series and Dot Kirtley chimed in with a 161 game.

Nancy Meier picked up the 5-10 split and Elaine Miller converted the 3-10.

an entertainment — Florida State League President George MacDonald said today.

"If you expect to draw crowds to the games, you must give them an entertaining team," the veteran baseball executive said. "We must face up to the fact that we are competing for the entertainment dollar."

MacDonald, now in his first year as president of the league, has a wide range of experience in the sport, ranging from playing to umpiring and even to selling pictures of major leaguers with chewing gum.

The 58-year-old MacDonald stays in the baseball picture during winter months as coordinator of the winter instructional league, which last winter represented 10 major league clubs.

The Florida State League is prospering under the guidance of MacDonald and efforts are under way to expand the league from its present eight members.

"We don't have any weak financial areas in the league," he said.

One thing that helps the league, MacDonald said, is that the teams "are blessed with good ball parks" which have been built for the major league teams that train here, and with good weather.

But he said one of the prime factors in helping minor leagues has been the player development contracts with the major league clubs. Under these contracts, the major league teams pay salaries of the players and the manager, and provide uniforms.

MacDonald said Milwaukee and Houston have applied to put teams at West Palm Beach and Cocoa where they have spring training camps. But he said it was too early to tell what would be the result for next season.

He said he would rather expand to a 12-club league because of easier scheduling.

MacDonald, who has lived here for 14 years, ran the Orlando club in the league last year for the Minnesota Twins, so is not a new coming to the league.

He got his start in professional baseball as a pitcher-first baseman, and after a few seasons in the minors, he got out of the playing ranks.

Included in his colorful career are 16 years as an umpire. He also served four years as supervisor of umpires for the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Engineers Silence Big Chase Bats 7-0

Chase and Company's big bats were silenced but good Thursday night when Bill Schmidt took the hill for the Locomotive Engineers and tossed a one-hitter while he and his mates were posting a 7 to 0 shutout in the City Recreation Department's Little National League tilt.

Schmidt was but one out away from a no-hit performance when Stan Winfree of Chase laid down a bunt and beat it out to close the gate to the young hurler's hopes of entering the charmed circle.

Schmidt and Lee paced the Engineers at the plate with three hits apiece. The win left the Engineers two games behind the league — leading Hunt Lincoln - Mercury Co-lets and both teams still have three games on tap according to the regular season schedule.

Missouri Beats Minnesota For College Title

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—College baseball's national crown sat jauntily on the head of the Minnesota Golden Gopher today after an impressive 5-1 win over Missouri.

The Gophers, who won their other two NCAA diamond titles in the presidential election years of 1956 and 1960, caught Mizou's vaunted defense napping.

Missouri had won 23 games and lost but three during the season.

Pitcher Joe Ferris of Maine was selected as the tourney's outstanding player. Ferris, who had two fractured bones in his glove hand and was in pain as he pitched, won two games and saved another.

South Seminole Tilts Postponed

South Seminole Little League and Senior League games, scheduled Thursday night for Cooper Field in Casselberry's Recreation Park were postponed because of rain.

League officials said the games would be rescheduled for a later date.

Allamonte To Consider Street Closing

When the Allamonte Springs Town Council meets July 8 Councilmen will hold a public hearing on the proposal to abandon Station Street, says Town Clerk Harold Capps. Town attorney, Joe Davis, has been notified that should the Council abandon the street a 20-foot easement east of the property will be deeded to the town.

Also, at the July 8 meeting, proposals for the erection of light standards along SR 436 will be discussed. The highway, which runs through Allamonte Springs, is now being four-laned by the State Road Department.

At a special meeting of the Council, it was revealed that persons reporting fires are not giving the fire department sufficient information as to where fires are located. In other action the Council: Accepted a bid from Strickland-Morrison of Sanford for a new car to replace a police car damaged in an accident last weekend and decided to conduct a complete investigation into the cause of the mishap.

Delayed action on a petition from Mrs. Helen Macdonald asking that the Council abandon a right-of-way in front of her home because of drainage problems;

Heard Mrs. June Pearson complain that water was flowing into her house from streets during rainstorms due to the fact that her driveway was damaged when city water system pipes were installed.

Third Vatican Council Called Crucial One

By Louis Cassels
United Press International
The Vatican Council, which generated such high hopes during its first session in 1962, drifted into a dangerous crisis in the closing days of its second session last fall.

The forthcoming third session, scheduled to begin on Sept. 11, will be crucial. It will show whether the Catholic Church under Pope Paul VI intends to push forward with the great movement of renewal and reform launched by Pope John XXIII—or whether the reins of power have been seized once again by the standpat conservatives of the Roman Curia.

This warning is sounded by three new books which focus a bright light of critical appraisal on the 1963 session of the council. They are: "Observer in Rome," by Robert McAfee Brown (Doubleday); "The Second Session" by Xavier Rynne (Farrar, Straus) and "The Pilgrim," by Michael Serafian (Farrar, Straus). Dr. Brown is a distinguished Presbyterian theologian and professor of religion at Stanford University. He attended the council as a Protestant observer and incidentally won undying fame in Roman society as the man who said:

"Some of my best friends are Jesuits—but I wouldn't want my daughter to marry one." It will surprise no one who knows him that his book is the wittiest and most readable of the lot, as well as the most charitable in its judgments.

The two other authors are Catholics who apparently feel that due regard for the virtue of prudence requires them to write under pseudonyms. The identity of "Xavier Rynne" no longer is regarded as a great mystery by those who are aware that one of the council's expert consultants is a professor of church history at Catholic University in Washington, D. C., Fr. Francis Xavier Murphy, whose mother's maiden name was Rynne. But the grapevine has not yet penetrated the secret of "Michael Serafian," who is identified by the publisher only as a Catholic diplomat with a wide acquaintance in the Vatican.

"Serafian" propounds the gloomy thesis that Pope Paul VI caved in under pressure from the Curia conservatives, who persuaded him that Italy would go Communist if the church became too "liberal."

"Xavier Rynne" does not believe that Pope Paul deserted the progressives. On the contrary, he says, the Pope's reluctance to intervene in council proceedings was a "matter of principle," based on the conviction that wire-pulling from the papal throne would repudiate the very point that the council's progressives were trying to make about bishops having a real voice in the decisions of the church.

2 Sanford Navy Men Honored On Carrier

Two Sanford-based Navy men were honored aboard the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt for their outstanding performance in the Navy Relief drive aboard the ship, now cruising in the Mediterranean Sea.

Cdr. B. W. Bartholomew, commanding officer of Heavy Attack Wing, 11, gave the awards to H. D. Stanford, ADJ1, and W. M. Knuth, PT2.

Each received a tour ticket to the island of Capri and made the visit during the ship's stop at Naples, Italy. Stanford, who reported to VAH-11 in September of 1961, received his award for being high keyman in the fund drive. As keyman of the squadron's Lane Division, he collected a total of $122 for Navy Relief.

Knuth, who has served 25 months in the squadron, collected $5.45 per man as keyman of the Operations Division. This was the highest amount collected per man in VAH-11.

Stanford enlisted in the Navy in January of 1953 and graduated from advanced schooling at Memphis, Tenn., before reporting to VAH-11.

Knuth enlisted in the Navy in August of 1961 and graduated from Photographic Intelligence School at Norfolk, Va. before coming to VAH-11.

Check Outdoor Buys

... with Alleen
Competition for your dollar has brought quality up while holding prices down in many industries. However, there is a paradox involving certain back yard equipment.

Children's metal play equipment for example, is as a whole of better quality now than ever before. But dad, the outdoor chat, is being burned by a lowering of quality. Grills, especially, are getting the short shift.

The continuing swing to suburban living and large families is primarily responsible for the research and development of better, safer play gyms and swings. A mother of three and an executive with a back yard equipment firm suggests:

When shopping for play equipment for your children, look for strength of construction. Can you see whether the sections have been welded smoothly? Does the top and leg tubing look thick? If the set well-balanced? Are the swing seats lightweight, plastic, nontilt and with brackets instead of seat bolts?

Your best bet in getting quality merchandise that will last several seasons and be safe is to trade with a reliable merchant. If you buy from a discount store or roadside operation, look for a brand name. Often the manufacturer gives a one-year guarantee and better manufacturers carry public liability.

Meanwhile, the grill business is suffering because, like the population explosion, everyone wants to get into the act. Why not, when an estimated 81 per cent of all U. S. families cook out sometime during the season?

According to an outdoor equipment buyer, low grade grills have been enticed for the last two years. Before you buy a new grill check on the tubing and the bowl. Tubing 1/2-inch thick won't stand up under much use. Your better buy is a grill with 1-to-1 1/4-inch tubing and a bowl of 18-to-20-gauge steel (look closely at the label or booklet). You can get a good, serviceable outdoor grill for $19.99 to $24.99 but you take a chance when you bite for a $4.99 unit.

Fall Steps Back In Time

By Helen Hennessy
Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

Is yours a sentimental family which saves such goodies as the fan great-grandma waved at her debutante ball? Then you have your work cut out for you on the next rainy day.

Go up to the attic and paw through the old trunks. They may well provide you with your fall jewelry and hosiery wardrobes.

Jewelry for fall will be copied from baubles of the 18th century clear up to the early 1930s. And it's always nicer to have the real thing.

Bow knots, pendant drops and old-fashioned, chunky gold bracelets encrusted with glittering stones will be fall favorites. Anything goes, in fact, just as long as it's old.

Take Great-Aunt Sarah's evening shoes with the jeweled or cut steel buckles. Have the buckles polished and made into pins. Now pins for fall are copies of old shoe buckles.

If you come across tasseled, waist-long beads that swung gaily when mom did the Charleston, grab them. They will be in style as belts as well as beads.

Copies of Roman and Moroccan cuff bracelets, molded to the arm, have been created by top jewelry designers and Roman coin medallions will be very much on the scene. You probably won't find anything like these in your bedroom trunks if you're not descended from the Caesars. But you can buy handsome copies with the money you saved on the shoe buckles and tasseled beads.

Now for the hosiery. Did you see any clocked or embroidered stockings carefully wrapped in tissue? Don't leave them in the trunk. Decorated stockings will be one of the fall fashion bell-ringers. Some fall hosiery will have clocks up the side as did the hose of the '20s and '30s. Other styles for fall have surprise decorations turning up in odd spots—a la Barbra Streisand and "Funny Girl."

Some sport a flower, jewel or butterfly just above the knee to peek through a sideslit skirt. Others have a painted or knitted design on the kneecap, ankle or heel.

I don't know what we'll all look like with shoe buckles at the necklines, beaded tassels at the waist and flowers at the kneecap. But maybe it won't be too bad if we don't wear them all at once.

Chic Chat
Q: "I like to wear shorts for yard work, but I'm short and on the chubby side and every pair I have bought rolls up in front at the leg. Is there anything I can do about this?"—Mrs. C. Y.

Dear Mrs. C. Y.—Silt the legs of the shorts about one inch at the outside of the bottom hem. Seam the slits and press them flat. When you stand, they won't be noticeable at all and when you bend for garden work, they won't roll up or pull uncomfortably.

No Time To Buy Car

BY JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Trini Lopez says he doesn't know what all the fuss is about, but if his audience wants to yell and stampede and tear his shirts, it's all right with him.

Lopez, a 27-year-old native of Dallas, has had one of the recording industry's fastest climbs to fame—and fortune. He made his first record album in May 1963. Since then his singles have sold more than 4 million copies and his album sales are in the vicinity of 3 million. His fourth release, "Trini Lopez, The Latin Album" is about to be released on the Reprise label. He is readying his fifth.

Ironically, now that Lopez, one of a family of eight, can afford a good life he is too busy to enjoy it.

"I have two homes in Dallas, but my family is living in them. I am living in hotel rooms. I have always wanted to buy a big, shiny automobile. Now I can afford to walk into a dealer and buy one for cash—but I have no time to buy one or drive one."

Trini has bought his father a new car, and he drives it whenever he gets home. "If there is anyone in the family who has an errand to run," he laughs, "I say 'Let me do it' and hop into the car."

Lopez says he only wants happiness from his career, and basically that's what he is getting.

"The only thing I don't like is not having time for myself. But I know it takes time and effort to get established. After I do, I'll be able to relax."

Trini's career is the direct result of his father's attempts to keep his son from getting in trouble. "I have wanted to sing since I was 11. My father was a singer and dancer before he was married. But when I was about 11, I was running around with the boys and my father said to me 'I want you to learn something.' So he bought me an old, beat-up guitar for $10 and he taught me the songs he knew."

"So I have been singing steadily for quite a while. By the time I was 18 or 14, I was supporting myself. That's why I'm not married. I have never had the time to go steady or become engaged or get married. Isn't that sad?"

Trini began to sing professionally in the southwest. When he was 22, he moved to Los Angeles. "I knew I would have to go to a big city," he says. In a few months he was making top money in minor night spots in town. One night Don Costa, described by Trini as "a musician, arranger, conductor and genius," heard Lopez sing, got a tape of his voice, brought it to the attention of Frank Sinatra, head of Reprise Records, and Trini was on his way.

"I am so grateful to Don Costa. I owe my entire career to him," Trini says.

Album of the week—"The Negro Spiritual" (Capitol) finds the Roger Wagner Chorale at its best. Singing a capella, they offer beautifully harmonized versions of familiar spirituals. Jean Handalik's lush contralto makes "Some- times I Feel Like a Motherless Child" memorable.

Around the world in 120 minutes—The stunning guitar virtuosity of Juan Serrano is offered in "Juan Serrano," recorded in Spain (RCA). Two Norwegian choirs, recorded in Oslo, offer Scandinavian songs in "Bandefjord Jentaker and Melodieresten" (Capitol). For lovers of German music, there's "The German Rhine," (Capitol) recorded in Cologne. And for South of the Border a rousing time to be had with "La Marimba Chiapas—South of the Border" (Capitol), recorded in Mexico City.

The great white way—"High Spirits" (ABC-Paramount), an original cast album, features the delightful Beatrice Lillie, compelling Tammy Grimes and strong-voiced Edward Woodward who is joined by Louise Troy for the show's prettiest song, "If I Gave You."

Worth noting—Peter Nero's fine artistry is available in "Reflections" (RCA) and "Blues With A Touch Of Elegance," (Capitol) featuring Onzy Matthews and his piano and orchestra, has some exciting sounds.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a woman was in doubt about what to put on her mother's headstone. The mother had been married twice, and the daughter wanted to use only her mother's FIRST husband's name. You said, "It's your mother, and you are paying for the monument, so go ahead and put whatever you want on it," or words to that effect. Believe it or not, Abby, in some states the name on a grave memorial is considered by the Bureau of Vital Statistics to be legal proof of death, and to use any name other than the legal name of the deceased at the time of death is illegal. So, the daughter should have her mother's headstone marked with her mother's given name, her first husband's surname, and her second husband's surname. Example: MARY SMITH JONES.

A MONUMENT DEALER IN FLAGSTAFF
DEAR DEALER: Thank you for setting me (and 50 million readers) straight. When I make a boo-boo, it's monumental! Correction: In marking a headstone, it is not daughter's choice. It's the dealer's choice. And he knows what's legal, so ask him.

work and said he was in the process of getting a divorce, and asked if I would have coffee with him. I accepted. Next there were lunch dates. Then dinner and evening dates. He told me he loved me and I told him I loved him. (I really did.) We started making plans for "our" future. People began to talk, but I didn't care because I knew it was only a matter of time and he would be free to marry me. Today he and his wife are back together. The man who "loved" me didn't even have the courtesy to tell me about the reconciliation. He had his WIFE call me! Please, Abby, put this in your column: "Until a man's divorce is FINAL, a woman is a fool to say more than 'hello' to him." And sign me...

THE BIGGEST FOOL IN ROCHESTER
DEAR ABBY: I have a married daughter who has become very fat, sloppy and lazy. Her house is a mess and she spends all of her time reading or talking on the telephone. She shouts at her children and expects her hard-working husband to do her housework on the weekends. He is ashamed to bring anyone to the house and I am sure the children are not very proud of their home or mother. Should I have a talk with her and try to set her straight? Or does a mother's duty end after her daughter gets married? WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: A mother's "duty" ends when her children become of age. But her love and concern for their happiness and well-being continues as long as she lives. Yes, have a talk with your daughter. It would appear that she needs more than a "talk" or a reprimand. Take her to a physician for a much-needed checkup and diet.

DEAR ABBY: How can a person address an invitation to a wedding reception to make it known that only adults are wanted? Ours is going to be a catered wedding reception and we will be charged by the plate. We have a large family and don't want to feed a gang of kids. Can we put "POSITIVELY ADULTS ONLY" on the invitations?

MUST KNOW
DEAR MUST: It is considered poor taste to put "ADULTS ONLY" on an invitation. Speak with those whom you suspect might bring their children, and tell them firmly but diplomatically that the kiddies are not invited.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Lined Shoes Add Snap

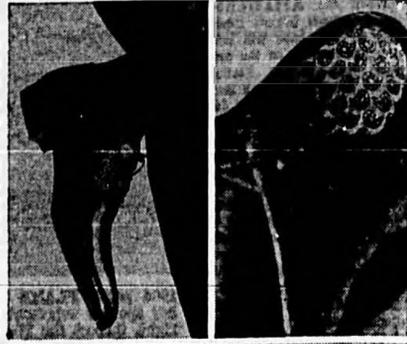

By Jerry Sheehan
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — How to be in style right down to the bottom of your feet? One major shoe firm thinks it has the answer with footwear lined on the inside with snappy designs.

Picture yourself striding down the boulevard, confident in the knowledge that the interior of your brogue matches the necktie you're wearing. That's elegance.

But there is more to the proposition than just style. The shoes are lined from the tip of the toe, over the instep and sides and around the heel with a soft foam cushion. Then the foam gets the high fashion treatment with a covering of printed nylon. There is a gray foulard lining for black shoes and a cinnamon one for brown.

A spokesman for the firm (Thom McAn) has announced happily that the lined shoes have received widespread acceptance within the first few weeks of their introduction.

Although there has been a steady trend toward brown shoes, men still prefer black, according to recent sales figures. A welcome addition to the black shoe picture comes with a "black on black" Oxford (also by Thom McAn). Smooth grain leather is decorated with shrunken grain in sets on the sides. It makes a pleasing contrast. The dress shoe doubles for more casual moments.

An inside look at male fashion is supplied by foulard-lined shoes. Black on black, dress-up footwear does double duty for more casual wear. For rugged knock-around service pigskin continues in favor.

And for really knocking around, there is still that old reliable, pigskin. This time it appears in a full range of colors with the most masculine-sounding names this side of a television western. To wit: Gunsmoke, hound dog, mesquite green, Spanish gold, sagebrush. Oh yes — they come in black and white, too.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

You might rise in righteous indignation if anyone questioned your loyalty to your husband. But unless your answer is "no" to all the following questions, don't be too sure you're loyal.

When you have a misunderstanding with your husband, do you talk over his "unreasonable behavior" with your best friend?

If you felt your husband let you down and were deeply unhappy about it, would you tell either your parents or his all about it?

If your husband talks over business matters with you, do you repeat his confidences to your friends to impress them with the fact that you are in the know?

If your husband is having job trouble, do you worry out loud over the situation, instead of doing everything in your power to cheer him up and make him feel entirely capable of handling the situation?

If your husband disregards your advice and things go wrong, are you quick to say "I told you so," or "I knew it wouldn't work out"?

If a group of women is downgrading men in general and using their husbands to illustrate their points, do you join in and drag out your own husband's faults for their amusement?

If your husband gives you a gift that seems pretty useless to you, do you laugh about it with your friends?

If your husband isn't doing too well financially and the husbands of some of your friends are, do you keep telling him how much they are able to give their wives?

When you have to say "no" to the children do you usually put it on the basis that "your dad wouldn't like it," or "Your dad says you can't do it" instead of saying, "Your dad and I think you shouldn't"?

Did you honestly come through with flying colors?

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

There are a couple of maxims that West could have followed with profit on today's hand. One is, "Silence is golden." The other, which I have paraphrased slightly, is that bad hands should be passed and not bid.

Reference is to West's double of five diamonds. He wanted a diamond lead if North became declarer, but he did not want it badly enough to warrant doubling to ask for it.

Anyway, the double encouraged North to go to seven clubs and gave South the clue that made it fairly easy for him to make the hand.

I say "fairly easy" because Charles Donait of New York's Whist Club, who sat South, is one of those players who can recognize and execute a double squeeze.

He won the heart with dummy's ace and played two rounds of trumps stopping in his hand.

Then he led the Jack of diamonds. West covered with the king. Charley won with dummy's ace and cashed the queen to see if he could drop the ten. When that failed, Charley played three rounds of spades. Of course, he ruffed the third spade in dummy. Then he ran off dummy's remaining trumps.

He followed to the first, discarded the three of diamonds on the second, and watched East squirm on the third and last. East had to hang on to a spade so was forced to let his next to last heart go.

Charley's last spade was squeezed in turn. He had to hold the ten of diamonds and therefore was forced to throw his next to last heart, whereupon Charley's two hearts were good.

The Doctor Says: Drug Aids Blood Pressure

By Wayne G. Brandstedt M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—Should I worry about possible side effects from Eutonyl. My doctor prescribed it for high blood pressure.

A—Eutonyl is a brand of pargyline. Although it was originally believed to be free of serious side effects, it has recently been shown that in some persons it causes an increase rather than a decrease in blood pressure. Anyone who is taking this new drug should have periodic blood counts, urinalyses and liver function tests. Persons who take it should also avoid cheese, all alcoholic beverages, cold remedies, sinus decongestants and weight-reducing pills.

Q—Is it possible for a person with mild epileptic attacks to have an attack during sleep?

A—Epileptic seizures during sleep are probably more common than those during waking hours. Following such an attack the victim usually falls into a deep sleep from which he cannot be immediately aroused. On waking later, he may discover that he has bitten his tongue or wet the bed. If convulsions were severe, his muscles may be sore.

Q—Has any progress been made toward finding a real cure for epilepsy? I know there are many drugs to control this sickness.

A—I agree with you that a cure is desirable. But in the case of epilepsy, as with so many diseases, the discovery of a cure in the strictest sense of the word is unlikely. Cure always implies removing the cause, and when the cause is some developmental defect, inheritance or predisposing genes—or simply not known—we have to settle for control. We are lucky to have found some very effective ways to control epileptic seizures in so many victims.

Q—I am taking Dianabol for osteoporosis. What are the side effects?

A—Methandrostenolone (Dianabol) is given chiefly to build up the body in persons who are underweight, convalescing from a chronic debilitating disease, arthritis or who have osteoporosis. It should not be taken by persons with liver disease or men with prostatic cancer. Persons who take it regularly should have periodic liver function tests and should discontinue the drug at the first sign of jaundice. Large doses in women may cause acne, excessive growth of hair on the face, waterlogging, or menstrual irregularity. These clear up when the drug is discontinued.

O.K.'s Accelerated Study

By Susan Light
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I was just reading your column in our paper tonight and came upon a "Perplexed Parent." The cause of her perplexity was whether to allow her daughter to enroll in an accelerated math class and make a "B" or to remain in a regular class and make an "A." I would advise that this parent not worry about grades. Grades are important, but not that important. Her daughter will be thankful when she reaches college level and finds that she is well prepared to take that big step.

Who am I to say this? I am an accelerated student. I have been since the seventh grade. (I'm now in the twelfth.) I am so thankful that I have had accelerated math and English. The assured dividends are far greater than the risks.

Mother, let her take the accelerated course! — '64 GRADUATE.

ANSWER: Thank you for your enlightening letter, and best wishes for your success in college!

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: My son's second-grade class went on a field trip to the zoo today. He has been looking forward to the trip for weeks. He worked for several hours to collect pictures for a zoo notebook. Also, I helped him look up material in the encyclopedia for an oral report on the hippopotamus.

After all this "buildup," he didn't see much of the zoo. It seems that in his excitement, he broke out of line, ran to the fence that surrounds Monkey Island and vaulted over it. The teacher made him go back to the school bus and sit with the driver until the other children returned.

He was heartbroken when he came home tonight. So was I. Don't you think the teacher should have overlooked a certain amount of misbehavior in a case like this? I have a good mind to call the principal and complain—DISAPPOINTED MOTHER.

ANSWER: Have you ever tried to keep track of 25 or 30 second graders at the zoo? If you had been along, you might have thought your son was on the right side of the fence at Monkey Island! Little monkeys belong on the school bus; only well-behaved children deserve the privilege of seeing the zoo.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light, 1200 W. Third, Cleveland, Ohio. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Make Your Own Dust Mitts

DEAR POLLY — I use my stove mitten as a pattern for making dusting mitts from cast-off clothing. One is tucked away in each room. If powder is spilled on the dressing table or a bit of dust shows up on a table, it is so easy to put on the mitt and wipe the surface clean rather than running for a dust cloth. I especially like glass-topped ones.—MRS. H. G. R.

DEAR POLLY—Mine is an idea for making cloth boots for small children. Buy children's handkerchiefs that are decorated with nursery rhymes, animals and story book characters. Pick bright colors that children love. Sew the hankies together in book form and make a cloth cover of gingham. They can be stiffened with starch but daughter likes them unstarched so they are nice and soft.—MRS. W. M.M.

DEAR POLLY—Save those small clear plastic or glass bottles that come filled with pills or perfume. They make perfect containers for miniature bouquets of tiny flowers such as violets or pansies. I fill them with green-tinted water, add the small bouquet and then anchor a small paper dolly for an individual piece decoration at a ladies' luncheon. The effect is charming.—EMMA

GIRLS—I save glass vitamin and pill bottles to fill with spices and herbs that come in unattractive containers. A marked gummied lid is applied to the side of each bottle.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—An old revolving piano stool makes a wonderful lazy Susan table for the porch or patio. Cut a round piece of wallboard the size you desire for the top, fasten this to the stool with two or three screws and paint it all a bright color. Remove upholstery or padding first from the top. They are very effective with painted legs and the top covered with plastic or oilcloth.—ANN

GIRLS—If the stool is a bit on the worn side, a circular, floor-length skirt made of a waterproof fabric would be smart looking and the table could still revolve.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—The enclosed Polster was submitted by one of my first graders. If you should use it, the class will buy a new game with the Polly Dollar. If not, the children had a good language and writing lesson.—MRS. N. H. Teacher.

We use a man's stretch sock as a bag for marbles. We just tie a knot at the top and it works fine. With love from a —FIRST GRADER.

GIRLS—This first grader proves that ingenuity can start at an early age. I am sure this suggestion will save many a mother the task of making a marble bag.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—A little carpentry work is involved in my hint but anyone who can drive a nail straight can do it. There was a seldom used outside door in our old house. We boarded it over on the outside. The door frame on the inside was left and filled with knickknack shelves. The back was then painted to go with the other colors in the room. Unsealed windows can receive the same treatment.—MRS. A. S.

GIRLS—If such windows or doors do not show from the front of the house, they could be left, as is, on the outside. A thin backing of plywood could hide them on the inside. I have made such shelves wide enough for books. They extend beyond the facing but with rounded corners work nicely.—POLLY

'Longest Day' Showing At Ritz

General Eisenhower had both the men and the arms. I had to find mine for the film," remarked Darryl F. Zanuck in summing up the staggering problems that confronted him when he set out to produce "The Longest Day," Cornelius Ryan's gripping, best selling account of the Allied invasion of Normandy during World War II. "The Longest Day," named "Best Picture of the Year" in 1962 by the National Board of Review and winner of innumerable international honors, comes to the screen for the first time at popular prices Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, in conjunction with the recent world-wide commemoration of the 20th anniversary of D-Day, June 6, 1944.

With the same determination that has distinguished his long production career—and $10,000,000, Zanuck found his men and his material and his re-staging of the vast and varied canvas that was D-Day is an epic screen achievement.

"Since we were dealing with officers and men from the U. S., Great Britain, France and Germany, we had to have four sets of actors," Zanuck explained at the time. "We assembled an international cast of 42 stars and there were 167 speaking parts. However, even this is somewhat misleading when you consider that in one scene alone—on Sword Beach—I used 2,000 men in combat.

"The biggest problem we had to face, once we had our men, was rounding up the ordnance materials. Fortunately, the various governments cooperated magnificently and, even though much of the 1944 equipment is outdated today, we were able to get thousands of guns, boats, tanks, trucks and uniforms we needed."

A bride's robe had a blue border signifying purity, fidelity and love, in ancient Israel.

JOHN WAYNE portrays an 82nd Airborne officer in Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Longest Day," the screen classic dramatizing the Allied invasion of Normandy during World War II. The 20th Century-Fox film will open Sunday at the Ritz Theatre in conjunction with world-wide observance of the 20th anniversary of D-Day.

G-F'S DREAM TOO — Keir Dullea, a private in C-for-Charlie Company fighting for a hill on Guadalcanal in World War II, dreams of his wife, played by Marilyn Yordan, in this scene from "The Thin Red Line," based on James ("From Here to Eternity") Jones' best-selling combat novel, and scheduled to open Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

TABLE HOPPING

By Dottie Austin

Reservations are really pouring in now for the big Roaring Twenties Party at the Capri tonight.

Everybody remembers what a grand time was had last year and they are eager to get in on that kind of fun again, so better call right now and reserve a table for your partner.

They've brought in a bathtub to make you-know-what in, and all the waitresses, led by Chautauque Peg Slayton are practicing up to put on a sparkling floor show of their own. Everyone's getting out their flapper dresses and their straw hats and preening up for the Charleston contest. Prizes for the best costume, too, so let yourself go. Jack Rosman and the Bear Cats will set the beat.

Jim Spencer says that Ed just can't stay away. He comes back to work Monday, but has been enjoying himself sitting on the other side of the counter, while on his vacation.

Your columnist had guests from Fort Walton Beach recently. Took them to Spencer's and treated them to the delicious shrimp, steak and lobsters, which elicited raves. (as we knew they would) and pronouncements of the "best they ever tasted."

We would advise you to make reservations early if you're planning to dine at Freddie's Steak House this weekend (or any weekend). It's such a popular place that guests linger long in the delightful atmosphere, savoring the delicious food and drinks. Carol Pettijohn's piano playing often inspires some of the guests to burst into song in the famous Lamplighter Lounge.

One of the coolest and most relaxing spots in town on these sizzling hot days is the Caribe Lounge, serving their own delicious drinks and appetizing food from Rose and Wilks Restaurant for lunch or dinner. The Lyricists add to the relaxed atmosphere with soft, sweet music, right up until closing time, which is 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

Saturday night is always steak night at the Tradewinds Cafeteria in the Seminole Plaza. They'll serve you up a big T-bone cooked to your order for only a dollar. How can you beat that? Dinner is served from 4:30 to 8 p.m. and there's all those other appetizing-looking meals, vegetables, salads and tasty desserts right before your eyes. Don't forget they cater to parties and banquets, too. May we suggest taking Father out to dine on his day, Sunday?

Laura Stephens and the staff at George's Tavern invite you to visit "the friendliest spot in town." The air-conditioned bar and lounge and plenty of free parking make stopping here a pleasure. The package store is well-stocked and a long list of favorite brands are available for gifts - maybe for Father's Day?

'Las Vegas' At Cinema

Elvis Presley and Ann-Margret emerge on the motion picture screen as the hottest combination since small boys and matches.

Teamed for the first time in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's merry-go-round of melody, "Viva Las Vegas," "Elvis and Ann-Margret provide the industry with a youthful freshness which unbiased observers predict will have fans clamoring to see them together again.

The film is currently being shown at the Seminole Plaza Cinema through next Wednesday. The Cinema's box office opens daily at 1:30 p.m.

The romantic sparks that emanate when they work together in a motion picture seem equally prevalent in their private lives. Gossip columnists were quick to make them a "twosome" and some fan magazines have practically had them at the altar.

All this sort of chit-chat must have given nightmares to the internal revenue people who shudder at the mere suggestion of a married Elvis Presley. As one of the world's wealthiest bachelors, without a single exemption, Elvis for eight years has been to the income tax department what chicle is to Widgey.

Elvis and Ann-Margret do admit that they "dig" each other and that they have dated frequently. But the list of girls Elvis has "dated" or supposedly has dated would include

Miss Ann Mahan And Miss Penny Gleason Honored At Post-Graduation Kabob Party

A tantalizing aroma permeated the air of the beautiful wedgewood blue dining room of the Douglas Stenstrom Elliott Avenue home as a group of energetic graduates prepared and cooked kabobs to their own individual taste at a Coke and kabob party honoring Miss Ann Mahan and Miss Penny Gleason following their graduation from Seminole High School.

Silver candelabra holding white tapers entwined with crimson buds centered the elaborate table which was covered with an exquisite cut work cloth. Two oil operated copper and brass fondue pots gently sizzled as the guests filled the miniature skewers with a generous variety of delicacies. The table was an array of shrimp, pineapple, biscuit dough bits, bacon curls, olives, chips, miniature tea cakes and other tidbits. The Cokes were served on an antique silver tray from the buffet. Unique holders created from white felt in replica of a graduate's cap, including the hand made tassels, were cleverly designed and made by Mrs. Stenstrom and were presented to the guests as gift favor mementos.

Miss Susi Deal had the good fortune of getting the marked Coke, and her reward was an unusual imported china cosmetic dish with a built-in pencil sharpener.

The hostess presented the honorees with a battery operated manicure set designed for push button manicuring magic.

Miss Pat Stenstrom assisted her gracious mother along with Mrs. Richard Gleason and Mrs. Robert Mahan, mothers of the honorees.

After preparing their fare, the guests retreated to the party rooms, which were opened en suite, for a most delightful, tranquil afternoon of planning and reminiscing.

Invited guests to the spectacular social were the Misses Brenda Brown, Susan Brown, Candi Conder, Susan Deal, Peggy Grier, Marilyn Hunt, Carol Samuel, Judy Lavender, Sharon Stanul, Shirley Steed, Jill West, Myra Meeks and Mary Scott.

Sun Threatens "Peaches" Skin

MODEL COLLEEN CORBY uses a medicated cleansing cream twice a day to protect her skin from summer dryness. She smooths it on as a base (left) for her makeup, too. For summer Colleen uses a matte make-up. First she smooths on a liquid foundation (center) in a tone matching her skin tone. If her tan is uneven, she blends a darker foundation over the area to even her coloring. A pressed powder (right) tops off her make-up and also is used throughout the day to control a shiny nose or chin, a common sight during warm weather.

To tan or not to tan—that is the burning question. Although a skin specialist have the answer, they seem to be losing the battle. They continually warn of lasting damage to the skin from constant overexposure to the sun. Too much sun causes a breakdown of the tissues and makes our skin look old before its time, they point out. But vanity will prevail and we continue to think there is nothing more glamorous than a tan set off by fresh summer fashion colors. So, the doctors shrug their shoulders realistically and suggest protective measures to cut down on painful burns. To build up a suntan base, start with 15 to 20 minutes of sun the first day and increase this about a third each day. Avoid the peak hours of the sun—usually 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.—and follow sunbathing with moisturizing lotions. Keep a sun hat and pretty beach robe handy and wear them to avoid "baking" all day in the sun. Even when you try to avoid sunburn, you can't. You often need a little make-up wizardry to cover this and a windburn. Youthful model Colleen Corby passes on some cover-girl beauty tricks she finds helpful during summer months. Twice a day she cleanses her skin with a medicated cleansing cream. She smooths this on her face and neck with a gentle massaging motion and rinses with splashes of nearly cold water. Such cleansing helps flush out pore-deep oils that can lead to blackheads or blemishes. It also soothes skin irritations. Colleen admits she occasionally tans carelessly and gets "owl" eyes which she must erase before facing the camera. She gets rid of her "white-around-the-eyes" look by smoothing on a darker matte make-up than she normally wears. She applies this below the eyes and on the eyelids, too, after first applying her normal light-toned make-up. If your face is reddened by a day in the sun, use a creamy light foundation shade, she suggests. Colleen also takes care of summer trouble spots with pressed powder. Just dust some powder on a shiny nose or chin and you are in business again. For a model and for you, caution and a careful hand with make-up takes you through the summer looking your best.

Spiced Cake And Oleander Pie Not Acceptable Gifts

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Alice Yoshida, 23, of Morgan Hill, told police recently that she sent congratulatory gifts to her former boy friend and his fiancée when they announced their engagement. He got a cake spiced with rat poison, and she got a strawberry pie containing poisonous oleander leaves.

Officers identified the man involved as Mickey Neilan, 31, a teacher at Horner Junior High School at Fremont. His fiancée is Jovina Medeiros, 25, a laboratory technician at San Jose Hospital.

Neilan told police that two weeks ago a cake was delivered to his apartment in San Jose, Calif., accompanied by a handwritten note congratulating the couple on their engagement.

They were wary of the cake, and Miss Medeiros kept it with the intention of having its contents analyzed. However, she called police Sunday when the pie was delivered to her office at the hospital.

Analysis at the county crime laboratory showed the cake contained enough rat poison to kill a human, police said. Miss Yoshida admitted that the pie contained oleander leaves before an analysis of that was completed.

Miss Yoshida, who admitted sending the gifts after she was arrested on a petty theft charge Wednesday, told officers she did it to "get even" with Neilan "and get rid of that girl."

Highlights

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. International Showtime "Parisian Holiday on Ice." (Rerun) If you missed this one the first time out and haven't had your fill of ice shows, this is a good one. It includes all the familiar spots like skating stunts, clowns, production numbers, etc. There's also a novel puppet show on ice.

8:30-9:30 p.m. CBS. Route 66. "Voice at the End of the Line." (Rerun) A sympathetic yarn with a double touch of violence about a meek clerk carrying on a telephone romance and his tormenting fellow workers who see the affair as fodder for a practical joke. But and Tod, working as fellow clerks, get involved when a telephone conversation is broadcast for public ridicule, with But heating up the star jester. By way of retaliation, But takes a worse beating than he administered. Sorrell Booko is featured with stars George Maharis and Martin Milner.

8:30-9:30 p.m. ABC. Burke's Law. "Who Killed Billy Joe?" (Rerun) This one wasn't one of the more inspired episodes of last season, being a trifle short on comedy. However, it does give you a chance to catch up with an all-star cast topped by luscious Tina Louise and including Howard Duff, Ida Lupino, Cesar Romero, Phil Harris, Laraine Day, Nick Adams and Tom Tully.

10-11 p.m. CBS. The Alfred Hitchcock Hour. "A Nice Touch." (Rerun) Anne Baxter makes a welcome dramatic appearance here in a sort of turn-about situation of her famed role in "All About Eve." She plays a theatrical agent who shouldn't become the starry-eyed victim of a matinee idol but falls nevertheless for an actor much her junior and forsakes home and husband for him, all the while courting tragedy. George Segal and Harry Townes are featured.

10-11 p.m. NBC. The Jack Paar Show. (Color) (Rerun) Jonathan Winters has a field day on this hour, appearing in his wild Grandma Frickert characterization, running wild as a shopper in London. He also has a choice spot in which he devastates a commercial. Gordon and Sheila MacRae duet to "Will You Still Be Mine?" and Gordon toasts in a solo. There's also a charming filmed sequence of the problems some children have trying to spell.

Immediate Test Planned When Civil Right Bill Becomes Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — National Negro leaders vowed today to test the civil rights bill the minute it becomes law.

The leaders, from various groups, joined in promising they will not ease the drive for equality which led to the broadest anti-discrimination measure in the country's history.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said in St. Augustine that "it will be necessary to move right into some communities and determine whether they will comply with the bill."

"The administration will be unable to determine if it is working without a test," he said.

King specifically pointed out as targets Montgomery, Birmingham, Tuscaloosa, Gadsden and Selma, Ala., Albany, Ga., and St. Augustine, where demonstrations are being held now.

James Farmer, chief of the congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and a more militant leader than King, said the cause of the Negro movement would remain unchanged. He said CORE would increase the pressure for implementation and enforcement of the bill's provisions.

"There will be no breathing spell on demonstrations," Farmer said in New York. "We breathe easiest when the pressure is on."

He promised immediate tests, with the public accommodations section of the new law as a weapon.

James Foreman, the No. 2 man of the student non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), said passage of the bill would not change plans for a mass assault on Mississippi.

From the campus of Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio, where SNCC leaders are training northern recruits for this summer's "Mississippi project," Foreman said that the advance guard will leave Monday.

He said that as of the moment SNCC did not plan to switch from its program of "freedom schools" with the accent on voting and registration to a test of the public accommodations section. But he did not rule out the possibility.

Foreman said he was bothered by problems in enforcement of the bill because there is "no evidence Mississippi officials are going to comply."

"One may as well get ready for massive defiance," he added.

"One has to be honest." The prospect of a summer of terrorism in Mississippi has Foreman and Justice Department officials worried. It is almost certain to come as the SNCC volunteers move into the state.

Foreman said that President Johnson seemed to be unconcerned about the situation, but added: "maybe after this bill passes he will speak out about Mississippi."

King said he wanted the government to go into the courts under provisions of the bill. He promised to furnish the situations that would establish whether there was non-compliance.

King and Farmer agreed that the bill provided no weapons to end de facto segregation in the North, but King added that "it will give a psychological boost in the north."

The two negro leaders said the pressure in the north will be in the fields of housing and schools. Farmer also listed employment.

Even before final passage of the bill in the senate, King called for new legislation.

"The Kennedy executive order on housing covers only about 20 per cent," he said. "We need a new order that touches such things as savings and loan associations."

Rev. W. J. Bookman To Serve Bear Lake

By Maryann Miles
Sunday morning worship services at Bear Lake Methodist Church last week were conducted by Rev. William J. Bookman who will serve the church during the summer months while Rev. and Mrs. William Irwin are on vacation.

Rev. Bookman attended Lewisburg College in North Carolina and for some time was superintendent for Reynolds Metal Company in Richmond, Va. He later entered the ministry of the Methodist Church and served for 10 years in the Virginia Conference. After transfer to the Florida Conference 18 months ago he served at Christ Methodist Church in Orlando. Now, due to a heart condition and at his request, he has been placed on retirement basis.

Monday evening the Men's Club of the church met for a pot luck dinner in the cottage. Guest speaker was Julius Olsen, who has recently returned from Spain and who spoke on conditions and interesting facts of that country.

Wednesday evening the Commission on Membership and Evangelism met at the cottage with Harold Irwin in charge.

Thursday morning Bible School teachers and helpers met at the home of Mrs. Margaret Linton, 155 Grace St., Altamonte Springs, to prepare for the school which will open July 6.

Keep Water Sports Healthy

In summer time America takes to the water. As far as that goes, says Dr. Frank Leone of the Seminole County Department of Public Health, the people of Seminole County take to the water on a per capita figure much higher than most counties throughout the country.

Even with our numerous and beautiful lakes, home pools are fast becoming as common in back yards in Seminole as on movie stars' and millionaires' estates. Community pools and swim clubs outnumber the country clubs. Boats on trailers behind family cars stream over the highways and roads in this county.

Swimming and boating, says Dr. Leone, are among the healthiest of sports and should be kept that way. Unfortunately, he added, 6,500 lives are claimed annually in the United States by drownings. There were 452 drownings in Florida during 19-63 and 110 of these were the result of small boat accidents.

Swimming pool accidents have become a greater Florida problem than pool sanitation and infection, says Dr. Leone, according to an authority of the American Public Health Association. Over-crowding is a common cause of accidents. So is running on the wet hard surface around pool edges where a slip and a fall can have nasty results.

Jumping or diving into shallow water or crowded spots can cause broken bones and cracked skulls. Placing pools within range of wires or power lines has led to tragic results. Extreme caution should be exercised continually with lighting equipment and electric appliances used in and about the pool.

Before installing a home pool, local health and safety regulations should be checked, says Dr. Leone. These include provision for proper fencing, sanitation, drainage, structural stability, proper distance from power lines and other precautions.

This applies particularly to home built or portable pools. Fences and gates should be adequate to prevent youngsters from entering when the pool is unattended. Equipment for assistance to swimmers in distress should be kept at poolside. Reputable swimming pool construction firms know the regulations and can provide much more information.

The popular ocean and lake beaches are usually well supervised. But, says Dr. Leone, if a lifeguard is not on duty where you have decided to swim, never swim alone and never underestimate your distance from shore. Beware of currents, tides and undertows.

Most boating accidents happen with small pleasure craft and usually involve inexperienced boaters and non-swimmers. For example, Dr. Leone reports, a study by the Minnesota Public Safety Committee revealed that 80 per cent of victims were non-swimmers. Another study of 100 policy holders of a large insurance company showed that about half of the drownings were among occupants of rowboats.

Small motorboat accidents accounted for 18 of the 100 deaths, canoes were involved in the same number, and kayaks and collapsible canvas boats accounted for four each. Sailboat mishaps were responsible for the least number of drownings, probably because their sailors were adequately trained and observed proper precautions.

Regarding water skiing, not only should the boat operator know where he is going, but the skier should avoid exhibitionist acrobatics, such as sking close to docks or other fixed objects. A second person in a boat is a valuable asset in case of an accident.

Dr. Leone declares that a primary safety rule in boating accidents is to stay with the boat. Trying to swim to shore may — and many times does — prove fatal. Someone is bound to come along sooner or later and either tow in the boat or get help for you.

A tragedy can spoil many summers of fun. But tragedies can be avoided. Follow the simple rules of water safety.

Warning Flag Is Up

UPI Foreign News Analyst

The winds of change which of late have seemed to be sweeping many of the Communist satellite states of Eastern Europe have set to reach East Germany.

Almost nightly, shots ring out from behind the Berlin wall against some East German who is at once a desperate human being making an all-or-nothing bid for personal freedom and a symbol of a people imprisoned.

For the East Germans the day marks a date of singular emotional importance, and to the Communist leadership of Eastern Europe one best forgotten. It is in fact a date of double significance.

For it was on June 17, 1953, that workers up to an estimated 50,000 in East Berlin took to the streets in the first large-scale revolt in a Soviet satellite state.

And it was on June 17, 1953, that the Communist Hungarian Ministry of Justice announced the execution of Imre Nagy, although a dedicated Communist for 40 years, had attempted to lead the Hungarian people in their 1956 revolt against Moscow.

Nagy was not a natural leader and certainly did not seek the role of martyrdom thrust upon him.

His was a revolution that failed.

Yet, his betrayal at the hands of the Soviets, his 18 months of imprisonment and finally his execution have linked him indelibly with a revolt which today is credited with much of the new freedom Hungarians enjoy.

Intellectuals sparked the Hungarian revolt. In East Berlin in 1963 it was the workers.

On June 17, 1953, Stalin had been dead only a little more than three months, de-Stalinization still was a thing of the future.

On that morning, East Berlin construction workers demonstrated against a 10 per cent increase in production quotas without a corresponding increase in pay.

The demonstrations quickly turned to riots in which government buildings were attacked and Soviet flags burned. Russian troops and tanks put down the uprising, with death to at least 16 of the demonstrators and the arrest of more than 100 others.

But before the uprising finally had died, it spread to Magdeburg, Rathenow and to the uranium mining district of Saxony where demonstrators lunched police and state security officers.

Said the New Statesman in London: "The lid was blown off the Communist pressure cooker and the whole world could see what was seething inside."

This also was a revolution that failed.

But the warning flag was up. Gradually the word seeped out that miners in Czechoslovakia had gone into widespread passive resistance to the Prague regime. Later it was to spread to Poland and to Hungary. But June 17 stands as a memorial day to those individuals who, though caught in the Communist net, still found the strength to fight it.

The Best Gift of All

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy may be in the same boat with Dr. Fleming! Since cancer is supposed to strike at least one out of every four of you readers, then scrapbook this case. Or mail it to any friend or relative who now is a cancer patient. And send for the "Cancer" booklet today.

CASE 8-495: Today I'll continue re the Krebsien feud.

"Dr. Crane," a phone call came to KYWW in Cleveland while I was on the air for a 90-minute discussion of this new anti-cancer substance, "why are physicians so easily intimidated by the dictates of their medical society?"

Well, any medic may be dropped from the staff of the hospital if he doesn't belong to the A.M.A. This can ruin him professionally.

Even so, over 25 per cent of all American physicians are NOT members of A.M.A.

Although I am a member of the A.M.A. and grant its many good points, such as its opposition to federal bureaucratic Medicare, I still reserve the right to point out its serious mistakes re Krebsien.

And be grateful you have this newspaper to moderate all such public questions, otherwise you might be kept in ignorance until dictatorship entirely takes over at Washington, D. C.

In Chicago last fall, a prominent surgeon, textbook author and eminent former teacher at the University of Illinois Medical School, was ordered to stop using Krebsien or he'd be dropped from the hospital staff.

The hospital was reluctant to issue this order to him, for he was one of its most famous staff members and biggest producer of cash revenue.

But it, in turn, was threatened with losing its accreditation as a hospital and thus would get no interns from our medical colleges.

"Dr. Crane," another telephonic asked, "is Krebsien harmful to a cancer patient? Does it have any bad medical side effects?"

Not even the FDA and the A.M.A. opponents admit that Krebsien has no medical ill effects.

Thus, it does no harm whatsoever to a cancer patient, even if the latter is in the terminal stages of cancer, or actually in coma!

It causes no nausea or pain or damage to kidneys and other vital organs.

In fact, in a goodly number of cases of terminal cancer where morphine and other pain killing drugs will not make the excruciating suffering, Krebsien often stops all pain!

Alas, most of the cancer patients using Krebsien have come to Dr. Ivy and the other 3,000 medics that administer it, only after they had been cut up repeatedly by surgeons and burned by all the X-ray they dare receive.

So Dr. Ivy's patients are usually the terminal hopeless cases, given up to die in a few weeks.

Even so, he has shown enough evidence of the value of Krebsien to merit a fair clinical test.

And by "clinical test" Dr. Ivy means the injection of patients with Krebsien. Instead, the FDA has been sitting in armchairs trying to solve scientific problems by "shot air" debates instead of clinical testing.

Dr. Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin audly stated:

"Penicillin sat on my shelf for 12 years while I was called a quack."

"I can only think of the thousands who died needlessly because my peers would not use my discovery."

If you wish fuller data on "Krebsien and Cancer," send a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents for that booklet.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Arkansas Adds Nine For Barry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater now has enough Republican convention delegates to win the GOP presidential nomination — if he can hold on to them.

Arkansas Republicans put Goldwater over the top Tuesday night when it was announced that nine of the state's 12 convention delegates had committed themselves to Goldwater.

The alcoholic is greatly upset by little things. He is typically much more sensitive to criticism, rejection, anger, etc., than is the non-alcoholic, says the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Despite President Johnson's denials, the United States is now seriously considering ways to bring military-economic pressure on Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

These plans will be held for in an emergency.

One proposal would aim the first military moves at the north's already wobbly economy. There would be increasing sabotage of communications—bridges, roads, shipping. There would be a partial land and sea blockade of Red Ho's supply lines.

Veiled threats of these U. S. actions would come first. But these threats would be coupled with suggestions of possible economic aid (principally rice and other foods) and trade. There would be hints of a willingness to guarantee Ho's borders.

It would be made clear that these promises would be fulfilled only if Ho would take his cadres out of Laos and tell the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam that they were now on their own.

Some tacticians favor parallel moves in the United Nations to guarantee the borders of Laos, South Viet Nam, Cambodia and North Viet Nam.

The program calls for a gradual step-up of harassment and threats of harassment, alternating with repeated promises of aid.

Neither Secretary of State Dean Rusk's strategists nor Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's aides believe these moves would end the war either in Laos or in South Viet Nam.

They estimate the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam are now able to put up a strong fight without aid from Ho's northern Communist regime.

They think the Communist Pathet Lao troops in Laos could hold their own against the Lao neutralist and conservative troops without the aid of North Vietnamese cadres.

But a group of key government men do believe that if North Viet Nam would, under this pressure, withdraw its support from the Red forces in Laos and in South Viet Nam, the two wars would become more manageable.

Some of these strategists also believe there is a chance that North Viet Nam's Ho could become an Asian Tito. These men believe it is worth a gamble to find out if this is so.

Information arriving here from North Viet Nam is that Ho himself is not sold on cooperating with Red China and that his advisers are split fairly evenly on China versus Russia. About half favor an alliance with Khrushchev and the Soviet Union; the other half favor Red Mao Tse-tung of China. A recent decision to side with Mao is believed causing a struggle within the regime.

There are constant complaints from some of Ho's advisers about the economic drain of the South Vietnamese war. These men have in fact urged that the Viet Cong in the south be given words of praise, but told they will have to handle their own war.

U.S. planners want to encourage this defeatist attitude in the north.

Vets Get Advice On Retirement Benefits

Military veterans who are entitled to retirement pay or Veterans Administration compensation are entitled to the benefit which pays the highest rate, M. T. Dixon, Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, said today.

Numerous inquiries have been made by veterans retired from the Armed Forces for disability regarding this question, Dixon said.

Some have been placed on the permanent retirement pay list; or placed on temporary disability pay list; or separated from service without retirement or disability severance pay, he noted.

Dixon cited the case of a veteran recently separated for total disability who was awarded $187 per month permanent disability pay. This award, based on service pay will never be less than the $187 per month.

Now the veteran is entitled to file a claim for service connected disabilities with the VA fourth month after veteran County Service Officer without harassing his present pay status.

If he files a claim with the VA and is rated 100 percent, he would be entitled to $230 for himself, $39 for his wife and child, (if for wartime disabilities) or $200 for himself and $31 for his wife and child (for peacetime disabilities).

He would therefore gain $102 or $14 a month. If the retiree who requires the change has actually received any retirement pay, compensation payments would be withheld until the amount paid by the Armed Services has been fully recouped.

Veterans requiring further information are instructed to contact their local county Veteran Service Officer or write Dixon at P. O. Box 1437, St. Petersburg, Fla.

JOYOUS BURDEN

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

There are men who carry the weight of the world on their shoulders—but this isn't one of them.

There is no burden so joyous as the responsibility of being DAD.

But — hold on there! Don't forget it is a burden. Someone's future is on your strong back.

And that someone's future involves soul as well as body.

If you want your boy to become a good ballplayer... well, you go out and catch with him.

And if you have hopes for his character, his courage, his commitment to things Right and True... yes, a boy loves to walk into HIS CHURCH with HIS DAD.

Sen Kennedy's Condition Is 'Satisfactory'

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI) — Doctors attending Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said today his general condition was "extremely satisfactory," and that he is "bright and alert."

Kennedy, who suffered a broken back in a plane crash that took the lives of two other men, remained strapped in a special canvas-covered bed-type frame. Doctors said he would continue to spend periods of time in an oxygen tent.

The 32-year-old senator scanned newspapers today and was given a shave.

The medical bulletin said an electrocardiogram test today showed that the senator's heart was normal. Doctors said his pulse, blood pressure and respiration are satisfactory.

The report said "there have been no neurological changes and everything seems to be definitely improved."

Doctors have estimated that the senator will remain at Cooley Dickinson Hospital here for at least 10 more days.

32 Vying For Miss Florida

SARASOTA (UPI) — Thirty-two beauties from all over the state opened a hectic week of competition Monday in the 1964 Miss Florida contest.

One of the girls will be crowned Miss Florida of 1964 Saturday by the present Miss Florida, Flora Jo Chandross of Miami, and will represent the Sunshine State in the Miss America contest and win one of several college scholarships.

This year's contestants will represent 22 Florida cities, seven counties, the University of Florida, the Pine Tree Festival and the Azalea Festival.

Although the first actual competition doesn't begin until Wednesday night, the girls, divided into three groups, went through press interviews and picture taking Sunday and briefings Monday.

The three groups will go through preliminary judging in evening gown, swim suits and talent categories Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Ten semi-finalists will be announced Saturday night and five finalists will be named.

Miss Florida of 1964 will be picked from the five finalists after the five are asked personality questions.

More Buses
LONDON (UPI)—The Leyland motor firm said today it plans to sign a new deal to sell 500 more buses to Cuba soon.

State Law's Chances Slim, Bryant Says

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant says he feels the odds are "about 100 to one" against the present Florida legislature or the new 1965 legislature passing a reapportionment plan that would satisfy the U. S. Supreme Court.

Political observers believe two things will happen before reapportionment is settled in Florida:

1. The federal court will write an apportionment formula to the legislature to enact into law.

2. The federal court will rule that every tax, appropriation and other bill passed by the legislature is invalid until reapportionment is accomplished.

The 50,000 word decision which the U. S. Supreme Court handed down last Monday is still under study by the state's top legal minds. It appeared to say that every member of a state legislature must represent substantially the same number of people.

In the present state senate the spread is from one senator for 20,077 in Columbia County to one for 470,000 in Dade County. The range is not as wide as in the House, but neither is it equal there.

These figures are based on the 1960 census which does not reflect a large growth in urban areas.

The state legislature appears split into three parts over what to do. A handful of men would like to see the state itself while at the other extreme is a small group who appear quite willing for the court to do the job. The majority is in the middle.

These legislators feel the state must live under the reapportionment ruling, but they want the state and not the courts to draw up a new plan.

Should a special session be called before November to do the job it would consist of at least 49 so-called lame duck members defeated in the primaries or who did not seek re-election.

Bryant is a lame duck governor who therefore lacks the persuasive power of an executive with a fresh mandate from the people.

A strict population reapportionment plan would cause the incoming Senate president to lose his seat or take on more territory. It could also be true of several other state legislators. Senate President Designate James Conner of Brooksville represents a three-county district that has a population of less than 33,000. Other legislative leaders who could be affected include President Pro-Tem-To-Be Verle Pope, St. Augustine, House Speaker Designate E. C. Howell of Sumner, Sens. Charley Johns, Quincy; Robert Williams, Graceville; G. T. Mellon, Lake City; L. K. Edwards of Irvine and B. C. Pearce of Palatka.

Officials feel the absolute outside time limit for Florida to comply would be the 1963 regular session of the legislature.

Teston Still With Oaklawn

The new owner of Oaklawn Cemetery, Richard Grover, said today, that in response to many inquiries, Solon Teston is still superintendent of Oaklawn.

Teston, who was superintendent of Oaklawn under the former owner, Ray Siston, also is superintendent of Sanford parks and of the City Cemetery, Grover pointed out.

Whites Try To Break Up Beach Mix

ST. AUGUSTINE (UPI) — An angry group of whites today attacked a racially mixed group of civil rights demonstrators when they attempted to swim in the Atlantic Ocean at a beach normally used by whites.

Police moved in quickly to break up the explosive situation.

Two police launches roared between two Negroes and the water and protected them from an advancing group of whites.

Four members of the white group, which totaled about 15, were arrested.

A white girl and a white boy were among the 15 members of the integrationist group which appeared at the beach. The segregationists first attempted to reach the white boy but he fled into the protection of State Highway Patrolmen.

The whites then made a break toward the other demonstrators in the water.

Negro leaders had promised a renewal of racial demonstrations as well as a court fight to overturn a state-imposed curfew aimed at halting night marches.

Both segregationists and civil rights advocates staged marches last night. At one point the two groups were separated by King Street, the 40-foot-wide main thoroughfare, and a line of about 100 police officers, some with dogs on leashes.

There was some jeering as both groups marched on opposite sides of the street about 90 minutes before Gov. Farris Bryant's 9:30 p.m. EDT curfew on night marches.

Concrete blocks were thrown through the plate glass windows and doors of state Sen. Verle Pope's real estate office early today.

Pope has been the spokesman for a committee of 26 local businessmen who have attempted to settle the racial problem. Pope also urged the curfew on night demonstrations.

Police said six concrete blocks were heaved through four plate glass windows and two glass doors at Pope's office about 1:30 a.m. EDT.

Hundreds of whites patrolled the public beach Sunday to turn back an anticipated "swim-in" by the integrationists. The Negroes failed to appear.

An Episcopal rector defied his vestrymen and personally escorted five Negroes into his church Sunday but five other integrationists were barred from a Methodist church and arrested when they tried to enter.

At Trinity Episcopal Church, the Rev. Charles M. Seymour confronted two vestrymen waiting at the front of the church to turn away Negroes and quietly told them: "Let them come in."

Driver Arrested After Accident

A motorist identified by police as William Donald Siler of 814 1/2 Elm Ave. was arrested early Sunday morning after he allegedly left the scene of an accident.

Siler is charged with reckless driving and failure to stop and report an accident. Police say Siler's automobile struck a parked car at 18th Street and Park Avenue and owned by Robert S. Steffert of 1717 S. Park Ave. Siler was treated at Seminoles Memorial Hospital for a lip laceration suffered in the accident, police said.

Reds May Travel Outside Hemisphere, Court Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today struck down the federal law which prevents U. S. Communist party members from traveling outside the Western Hemisphere.

Justice Arthur J. Goldberg wrote the decision which declared unconstitutional part of the 1950 Internal Security Act prohibiting members of Communist organizations ordered to register under the act from applying for or using passports. No one could legally travel outside the Western Hemisphere without one.

The vote was 6 to 3 with Justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Clark, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White dissenting.

The statute as challenged by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, found by the trial court to be chairman of the Communist party; and by Dr. Herbert Aptheker, formerly editor of Political Affairs, a party publication.

The party has been ordered to register under the act but up to now has fought off efforts to make it do so. On June 8, the Supreme Court refused to consider the government's appeal from a lower court ruling that may have nullified the registration requirement completely.

The court also ruled that confessions may not be used in state trials if given to police — have refused to allow the suspect to consult with his attorney.

The 5 to 4 decision reversed the murder conviction of Danny Escobedo, sentenced to 20 years in jail for the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law, Manuel Valtierra, in Chicago on Jan. 19, 1960.

Plans are nearing completion for the annual Fourth of July Fun Fair, sponsored by the Sanford Lions Club. It will be held at Fort Mellon Park on East First St., Lion Bill MacLaughlin announced today.

One feature will be the free eye tests to be given between 2 and 5 p. m., using a new eye testing machine which the Lions Club purchased and loaned to the Seminoles County Health Department.

The machine, which is known as a Titmus Vision Screener will test applicants for visual acuity, muscle balance and near and far vision.

Persons who do not pass the test will be referred to their physician for follow-up tests. The machine, which was received May 15, will be utilized to screen school children for vision tests.

Conducting the screening will be Dr. Dick Daugherty, assisted by County Health Department personnel.

Other features of the Fair include pony rides, train rides, penny-arcade, a cake walk, merry-go-round, a cake walk, penny pitching and other special games and food. The day will be climaxed by a huge fireworks display, starting after dark.

Lions Club members are selling tickets on a prize drawing which will include a color television set, a transistor radio and movie tickets, which will be given away.

The City Recreation Department is sponsoring two baseball games and a chicken barbecue in Fort Mellon Park on the Fourth.

16 Items Listed On City Agenda

City Commissioners anticipate a long session at the 8 p.m. meeting with 16 items on the agenda.

Among them are a public hearing on the rezoning from R-2 to R-3 in Seminole Park; a dredging easement at Lake Ada; an appointment to the Civil Service board; consideration of several areas south of the present city limits for annexation, and authorization of advertisement for bids on a pneumatic roller.

Discussion of the controversial closing of Glenway Drive by Mrs. Margaret Bower will be heard, with City Attorney Bill Hutchison presenting the legal aspects.

Whether or not to make the new city parking lot at the corner of First Street and Park Avenue free, metered or time limit, the type of paving and the authorization to combine paving and grades on adjacent private property will be another question that city commissioners will discuss.

A request for paving of the alley beside Burpee Seed Co. and behind the Sanford Herald building will be considered.

4 Counties Get Recreation Fund
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Four counties have received grants from the state conservation department for the construction of boat ramps and artificial fishing reefs.

The funds thus far paid by the conservation department total $7,600 and an additional $24,700 is slated for use in other counties for the same purpose.

The State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has received $7,600 for similar projects on fresh water lakes and streams.

The money is part of a $50,000 grant from the Outdoor Recreational Planning Committee.

Dade, Palm Beach, Manatee and Sarasota counties received $1,900 each under the program. St. Lucie, Bay, Pinellas, Taylor, Martin, Flagler, Lee, Gulf, Brevard, Orange, Dixie and Pasco counties are scheduled to receive funds for like projects, according to a department spokesman.

Milk Meeting
GAINESVILLE (UPI) — State dairymen have scheduled a meeting at the University of Florida July 7-8 to discuss a federal court ruling which the State Milk Commission says left it powerless.

J. M. Foy, manager of the local office, said to qualify as a counselor aide an application must be a college graduate preferably in counseling, psychology, social work, education, sociology or related fields.

Successful applicants will be given eight to 10 weeks of college level instruction between July 15 and Sept. 15.

Applicants for youth advisor positions need not be college graduates, but must be over 21 and all applicants must possess special aptitudes and dedication for this type of work.

The U. S. Labor Department last week announced the crash program to train 2,000 counselors to help solve the critical unemployment as part of President Johnson's war on poverty.

Secretary of Labor Willard W. Wirtz said that more than a million of the 6.6 million youth 14 to 19 who are in the labor forces do not have jobs.
