CAC To Study Legislative Plan

Equalization Board Refuses To Reduce Tax Assessments

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners, sitting as an Equalization Board last night, gave nine complainants the same answer: "The assessment will stand as is."

However, only two of the taxpayers who objected to assignments appeared before the board to argue their objections.

M. R. Strickland, representing American Oil Company objected to the assessment made by the city on merchandise inventory at the Sanford bulk plant.

A. H. Gaede, representing the Sanford Gas Company, again asked for a reduction in the assessed valuation on both real and personal property.

"I believe that our distribution system is grossly overvalued," Gaede told the commissioners as he presented pictures to describe real estate holdings also claimed as overvalued.

He said, "We have abandoned over two miles of main lines when French Ave. was built and no reduction was made in personal property values."

"All we want is to be treated on a fair and equal basis," Gaede said, "that's the reason I come back here year after year."

"I don't believe we have yet received a fair tax," he said. After reviewing the tax assessments on real and personal property of the Sanford Gas Company, the Board of Commissioners, as an Equalization Board, refused to reduce the assessments.

H. N. Sayer, the city's Tax Assessor, said that the company's overall tax was reduced $33.05 over last year.

Gaede said, as he left the city commission room, "I'll be back next year."

Mother Says Parris Island Marines Are Living Under Fear

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—The mother of a Marine recruit, who claims he was hit in the stomach by a corporal for failing to say "sir" to her, said today that the Marines at Parris Island are "living under a fear—a nervous fear."

The South Carolina training station is where six Marine recruits drowned in a marsh during a night march this summer.

Mrs. R. L. Hammar, mother of six children and wife of a World War I Army veteran, said she had been at other camps but had never seen such "fear" as evidenced at Parris Island.

She claims her 20-year-old son, Donald, was hit by a corporal for not saying "sir" to the non-commissioned officer during a mop bucket demonstration.

Hammar underwent an emergency hernia operation. The Marine Corps, which is investigating the whole incident, said the recruit had a congenital hernia and it did not know whether any blow aggravated it.

Mrs. Hammar said Donald "wanted out of there"—the Marines—but did not know whether he would formally apply for such a release. She said she was not planning to ask for any release and that such a step was up to him.

Prisoners Protest Food; Slash Selves With Razor Blades

WUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Twenty-eight of the toughest inmates in the Texas prison system slashed themselves with razor blades last night in a protest against prison food.

They were among the 70 involved in a strike in the maximum security unit last week in another protest involving the food. Prison General Manager O. B. Williams said 10 of the men covered their head tendons and inflicted superficial wounds on arms and legs.

Williams said the prison food is as good as any in the best prisons. Men in the maximum security unit do no work and are served two meals a day with a snack at 11 p.m.

Williams said the demonstrators will be deprived of movie and other privileges.

De Baryites Enjoy Day At Zoo

By MARY FOWLER

DE BARY — "Hear the lions roar!" shout the children on Saturday morning at the zoo. Shivering delightfully they crowd around the cages where the restless cats oblige by scolding off in deep, ferocious bellows. Next to the king of beasts, Bill Compton, vendor of popcorn, peanuts and novelties does the best carnival trade. The youngsters mill around, grasping balloons and feathered monkeys on sticks so firmly that mothers, dad and granddad have to part with coins and join the joyous hubbub.

The full 37-member commission will decide on the draft of the proposed new Constitution it will recommend to the 1957 Legislature.

If approved by the Legislature, the Constitution would be submitted to the people in the 1958 general election.

The present Constitution provided for 26 Senate districts and for a 35 member House. The reapportionment amendment calls for reapportioning the House on a population basis.

The present Constitution calls for the Legislature to be held in extraordinary session until it reappears if it fails to accomplish reapportionment during the regular session of a reapportionment year.

The 1945 Legislature failed to reapportion the Senate during 116 days of extraordinary session. It then went into a series of extended recesses, the last of which runs up to Nov. 8 general election, with the result that Senate reapportionment still hasn't been accomplished.

The preliminary draft of the new Constitution provides that if the Legislature fails to reach agreement on redistricting the Senate during the regular 8-day session the job shall be turned over to a commission composed of the governor, secretary of state and attorney general.

And if these fail to agree within 30 days after final adjournment of the Legislature, the governor would be empowered to do the redistricting.

The formula for House reapportionment would be as at present—that the five most populous counties get three representatives each and all other counties one each.

The larger counties would get an additional representative for each 100,000 population.

On the basis of the 1950 federal census, the house would have 110 members, with Dade County having eight; Duval six; Hillsborough five; Pinellas and Polk four each and Escambia, Orange and Palm Beach three each.

Representatives would serve four year terms. The plan also calls for legislative salaries amounting to $300 a month instead of $100 a month they now receive.

The City of Sanford increased its fire insurance coverage and added coverage for aircraft damage to all city property at its special meeting last night following the Board of Equalization meeting.

Added cost to the city will be approximately $500, according to Andrew Carraway, who was named Supervising Agent for the city's insurance program.

In the centralization of the city's insurance program, 12 insurance agencies will share in the commissions, with only one policy written to cover the city's fire damage instead of the ten policies as in the past.

The insurance committee setting up the centralized plan under a supervising agent was composed of: Andrew Carraway, of Carraway and McKibbin; B. B. Crumley, of Crumley and Monteth; and H. James Gut, of the H. James Gut Agency.

The new plan for the city's insurance coverage was approved by City Manager Warren E. Knowles and City Clerk H. N. Sayer before its presentation to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night.

Five insurance agencies under the new plan, will be written on the annual renewal plan. However, the aircraft damage policy will be written for a three year period.

HOUSEPAINTER CHARGED IN HIT-RUN DEATH

TAMPA (AP)—Sheriff Ed Blackburn has reported charging Richard Vanzant, a housepainter, with manslaughter, reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident in the hit-run death of 10-year-old James Wayne Jeffcoat. The boy was hit by a truck Saturday night while wheeling a gift bicycle to a filling station to get the tires pumped up.

Sendoff Breakfast Is Held

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republican campaigners today that they need only to tell the truth about his administration to win the election. Eisenhower spoke at a sendoff breakfast for Vice President Nixon and other Republican leaders setting out on campaign tours.

"We do not need to indulge in the exaggerations of partisan politics. I do not claim perfection for this administration but where we have failed it was not from lack of trying."

Sounding a peace theme, Eisenhower said it is difficult to be as peaceful in the present day world as Americans would like to be. He said that while we may be as peaceful as possible, someone else may make an aggressive move that would disturb that peace.

"While it is not a secure peace that we have," he said, "there are many, many thousands of American mothers that are mightily thankful their sons are not involved in any shooting."

Eisenhower, wearing a beaming smile, walked into the dining room with GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Eisenhower chatted animatedly with Nixon as he ate. Secretary of Interior Fred Brown, Sen. Knowland of California, Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., and Rep. Charles Halleck, also embarking on tours, were seated at the head table.

Nixon, speaking briefly after Eisenhower finished, urged the Republicans to follow the advice of a Democrat, the late Al Smith, who used to say over and over again: "Let's look at the record."

That, Nixon said, is "what we are going to do."

"We don't have to embellish it with clever quips and fancy phrases," the vice president said.

While misrepresentations or distortions will have to be answered, Nixon said, "We have something better to offer the American people than mere personal abuse and vilification of our opponents."

The Republicans, Nixon said, have the record and it can be summed up in one sentence: "The American people, under the Eisenhower administration, have had the best four years of their lives."

Nixon and his party took off at 9 a.m. Just a few minutes after the vice president finished speaking.

Starting with a noon meeting today in Indianapolis, Nixon's campaign will take him 18,000 miles into 23 states during the coming two weeks.

Eisenhower will swing into action tomorrow night with a major televised address on the subject of world peace from CBS studios here.

Weather Patrol Plane Is Forced Down In Pacific

HONOLULU (AP)—A Navy Constellation weather patrol plane was forced down in the Pacific 100 miles south of Guam early today but all 18 men aboard were rescued.

Two were picked up by a Navy helicopter, which flew them to Guam. One, A.T.R. B. W. Holladay of Lebanon, Tenn., had slight head cuts. The other, A.T.R. T. S. Bodak of Shavertown, Pa., was not injured.

Sixteen others were taken from two Ilmorog by the Coast Guard cutter Curlew and a Navy landing craft. None of these were injured.

The big plane came down from unreported causes.

Strong Bid Made For Natural Gas Service In State

Unnoticed, Jackie Jackson is taking pity on a forlorn black bear that has been left out of the general distribution of peanuts and popcorn. Confidently, Jackie thrusts nuts into the little bear's eager mouth. They are discovered and the boys cluster about, all feeding the dusky mammal. Over by the most a young mother holds a five weeks baby in her arms, shielding its tiny face with a warm shawl as she stands over her other four little ones jumping about the monkey pit.

Now cars from many states are stopping and lining up along the lions' cages. From them rush more devotees of the famous Sanford zoo. Saturday's buzzin' confound.

State officials, civic and industrial leaders are scheduled to continue the dramatic showing made by Florida, one of the last remaining states to receive this fuel since the natural gas industry began its rapid rise to a leading position in the nation in the last decade. FPC officials say they expect to complete the hearing of these witnesses by approximately Oct. 1. Allowing for cross-examination and rebuttal testimony, it.

This is the first proposal to employ professional planning engineers to furnish the city with a master plan for growth and expansion.

Mayor F. D. Scott asked McKibbin, "Will this be with our own engineers?"

McKibbin told the board, "The planning engineer will plan and design the city to compare with the city's growth. Certainly it will help in that the master plan will show the need for expansion."

The driver of the car, Robert M. Everest, AN, whose home town is given as New York City, is suffering from compound fractures of the upper leg.

Both men were taken to the Orlando Air Force Base Hospital.

Treated at the Sanford Naval Air Station Dispensary, and undergoing observation, are: Howard A. Lavin, AN, of Cape May, N. J. and Blagfried E. Lohb, AN, 20, whose residence is given as 615 Palmetto Ave.

No details of the accident were released. However, officials stated that the automobile in which the four men were traveling was a 1956 Plymouth.

Incomplete Roster Prevents Adoption Of Pay Schedule

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners struck a snag last night in their discussion of a pay schedule for city employees.

Titles and salaries, either on the proposed pay schedule or not on the schedule prevented the adoption of the proposed plan.

Commissioners, not being able to reach a decision, and commented with the proposal of the 1957-58 General Government budget, set a special meeting for tonight.

The Budget, proposed for the coming fiscal year, was presented to the board of commissioners for their study and discussion.

Commissioner John Krider commented, "There are some questions I'd like to ask about the budget."

The meeting is set for 8 o'clock tonight in the city commission room.

Professional Planning Sought By McKibbin

Clifford McKibbin, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, asked the Sanford Board of City Commissioners to set aside $7,500 in the forthcoming budget for a professional planner.

McKibbin, armed with information from an unnamed firm of engineers, outlined a comprehensive plan of Sanford.

"Good city planning takes at least two years, and faced with the present continuing growth," McKibbin said, "we need to get into this project now."

The study by a professional planner, in order to provide a master plan for the city's growth, will include, he said: making necessary investigations and studies; provide a program that the people will back as their own program; and the master plan for a pattern to follow, public buildings, schools, traffic control facilities, public transportation, public utilities and industries.

"This is the scope of what competent engineers will furnish to the city," McKibbin said.

As he asked the Board of Commissioners to set aside $7,500 for the purpose of professional planning, McKibbin told the board, "It seems like a lot of money but City Commissioners in the future will thank you for it."

"I for one don't think that the Zoning and Planning Commission is taking any progressive attitude," he said. "We're going to have some fast growth in Sanford and we need to prepare and plan for it."

This is the first proposal to employ professional planning engineers to furnish the city with a master plan for growth and expansion.

Mayor F. D. Scott asked McKibbin, "Will this be with our own engineers?"

McKibbin told the board, "The planning engineer will plan and design the city to compare with the city's growth. Certainly it will help in that the master plan will show the need for expansion."

The driver of the car, Robert M. Everest, AN, whose home town is given as New York City, is suffering from compound fractures of the upper leg.

Behavior Test Gives Hints On First Date

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

The first real date is a big occasion. It may be that new boy in the neighborhood who has been giving you the eye. Or perhaps it's a new classmate or a boy you've been hoping to have recognize you. It is definitely different from any other date ever.

Test that first-date rating to see how you'd stack up or maybe why you didn't click on that all-important occasion with this test prepared under the guidance of a couple of willing males.

1. Would you try to dominate the conversation:

(a) By keeping up a rapid-fire monologue;
(b) Let him do all the talking, setting mum;
(c) Contribute to the conversation if you can.

2. At a restaurant when confronted with the menu would you:

(a) Impress him by ordering a fancy, expensive dish;
(b) Ask him to suggest something;
(c) Pout if he attempts to steer you to a dish.

3. If he invites you to a movie do you:

(a) Suggest the movie you prefer at once;
(b) Wait to see if he'll ask your opinion;
(c) Act bored with the idea of going to a movie at all.

4. If he calls for you at home would you:

(a) Be ready to leave when the door bell rings;
(b) Keep him waiting to impress him;
(c) Mystify him by not being around for the first 15 minutes.

5. When setting the meeting place would you:

(a) Ask him to meet you at your home;
(b) Make an appointment to meet him at the date spot;
(c) Meet him on a street corner.

6. When he calls for you would you:

(a) Introduce him to your family;
(b) Show your family out of the picture;
(c) Let him cool his heels alone on the front porch.

7. If you run into a good-looking girl friend on your date, would you:

(a) Introduce them;
(b) Ignore her;
(c) Acknowledge her presence without encouraging a meeting between the two.

8. If he mentions a pretty girl you both know would you:

(a) Tell him all the gossip about her;
(b) Pretend you know something but aren't telling;
(c) Go out of your way to say something nice about her.

9. If he doesn't seem to be too interested in you would you:

(a) Mention compliments you receive from others;
(b) Let him find out your attributes for himself;
(c) Try to impress him with your popularity.

10. Are you the passive type? would you:

(a) Cling to his arm, brush lint off his lapel;
(b) Keep your distance until you know him better;
(c) Show your independence by brushing off his gentlemanly approach.

Answers: 1. (c), 2. (b), 3. (b), 4. (a), 5. (a), 6. (a), 7. (a), 8. (c), 9. (b) 10. (b).

Passport to Happiness

By MAYSIE OREGI
© 1935, Maysie Oregi. Reprinted by permission of Avon Books. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

STYFESSA, wealthy English dowager, recognizes a passenger and makes trouble as she boards the S.S. Caribbean bound from England to Jamaica. Valerie Adams, a pretty, colorful beauty, and Dirk Hanson, who was engaged to Mrs. Featherstone's daughter, Ellen, at the time of her death in an auto accident, accompany her.

CHAPTER 2
DOCTOR MANGIN fidgeted with his eyeglasses. "Well, as I told you, it wasn't at all satisfactory. The young man's father had once been a second gardener on the estate and had since bought a market garden of his own. The son had done very well for himself. He had worked his way up through scholarships and had taken a medical degree, but Mrs. Featherstone could never forget that his father had, he coughed slightly, "worked on the estate. I don't know where the young man is at present, but you must understand, Nurse, just how Mrs. Featherstone felt."

"I'm afraid I can't," Val had said. There was a dangerous note in her voice.

He gave her a sharp glance. "Oh, well, be shrugged, "county families feel like that."

The S. S. Caribbean had left the dock and was sailing slowly down Southampton Water. They were slipping quietly away from England, from the trees and houses and lawns on the shores, and Val was aware of a sharp surge of homesickness, a gritty feeling at the backs of her eyes. She was leaving her brother behind, and everything and everything she'd known all her life. What lay ahead of her and why had she applied for this job in Jamaica? She could only put it down to a curious urge of restlessness that had come over her during the past year.

No Easy Job
Would working in a new environment cure her restlessness? Being a night sister is not an easy job, but she had chosen it deliberately so that she would have more freedom during the day, a chance to explore the lovely tropical island, to play tennis, bathe, laze on the golden sands with other young people of her age.

Val moved over to the window. There was the soft greenness of the Isle of Wight, with its hills and fields and small clusters of towns. She turned impulsively toward her employer.

"Wouldn't you like to come on deck, Mrs. Featherstone? The sun is shining and it's really lovely now!"

But at the suggestion, the thickest woman with the tightly curled gray hair shrank back.

"No, no!" she cried sharply. "I'm not going on deck. I'm not going out of this cabin until we arrive in Jamaica!"

Val stared at her in dismay. Why should any normal woman want to stay in her cabin for ten whole days? Had it been some mental derangement at which Dr. Mangin had hinted? She was glad Dirk Hanson was along.

A Great Influence
Already she had seen enough to know that he had a great influence over his Aunt May as he called her, a courtesy title since the only tie between them was that he had been engaged to her dead daughter. Obviously Mrs. Featherstone doted on him; but last night she had asked herself why a young man in the middle twenties should seem so devoted to her.

Val had gathered, too, that it was Dirk's friends with whom Mrs. Featherstone was to stay in Jamaica. He had arranged the visit because, as he'd told her, he was going out to the West Indies to write a book on native folklores and transcribe the words and music of the lesser-known Calypso songs. She had asked him if he'd written any other books.

"Written but not published," he'd replied, his gray eyes twinkling. "Maybe I'm no literary genius, but writing about the folklores of other countries interests me."

"Yes," she agreed. "It must be an interesting hobby. But what else do you do? I mean," she stammered slightly, "haven't you a serious job?"

He looked slightly taken aback. "Best if I know what is a serious job," he rumbled. "Dad's pretty sure—the war over fifty when I was born. Our own place isn't much, but still there's quite a lot to do, bookkeeping, answering letters, keeping the house and the cottages repaired. We market our vegetables, too, and that pays the gardener's wages. I help him when I have time."

Val remembered the contemptuous way in which Dr. Mangin had spoken of the other young man in whom Ellen Featherstone had been interested. "No family to speak of, father a market gardener," he'd said. But apparently, you were in line for the title, you could sell vegetables without losing caste.

Dirk was smiling. "I ask you, what else should I do? Buy a seat on the Stock Exchange or go out to the Antipodes and build bridges?"

"I'm sorry." She flushed attractively. "I see I've spoken out of turn."

He ran a hand up through his light brown hair. "I also have to help Cousin Timothy, the present Viscount at Stormhurst Manor, too. He's older than Dad and even more decrepit. It's a huge place, practically an impossible place to run with no staff to speak of, but it's— He hesitated. "It's a lovely place, a truly lovely place."

"But if your cousin can't afford to keep the place up, why doesn't he sell it?"

A Shrew Place
"Sell it? Sell Stormhurst Manor?" He looked at her in amazement. "My dear girl, he'd allow himself to be drawn and quartered first. It's one of the show places of England."

"Mustn't we all be practical in this day and age?" she asked quietly, remembering the struggle she'd had after her father died, the struggle Tom was having now.

"I'd rather die than be practical in the way you mean. Stormhurst Manor, built in the reign of Henry the Eighth, is important, not only to my cousin, my Dad, and myself, but to England. It's a tradition, an echo of the past. It's the foundation on which the present England has been built, on which the future must be built. We are a small island kingdom and if we don't live true to our best and oldest traditions, we're sunk. Places like Stormhurst Manor must be kept up at whatever cost." He repeated it slowly, "At whatever cost."

De Bary Folks Day At Sanford Zoo

THIS WAS THE WELCOMING COMMITTEE on Monkey Island. Monkeys, young and old, traipsed to the edge of the moat to greet the group of De Bary folks who spent Saturday morning taking in the Sanford Zoo. (Staff Photo)

LOOK AT THAT ONE! It's the big 85-year-old alligator that the De Bary folks are peering over the wall to see. Each cage and pit was just as interesting and exciting as both young and old made the rounds of the Sanford Zoo. (Staff Photo)

LEMME IN TO SEE—one youngster shrieks as he pushes his way into the group hanging over the rail to feed the monkeys. Aren't they funny? and how do they get so hungry? were just a few of the thousands of questions asked as the youngsters went from cage to cage and pen to pen. (Staff Photo)

THE BLACK BEAR RECEIVED his share of the greetings from De Bary folks on De Bary Day at the Sanford Zoo. They're all trying to feed the bear as he stands up and begs for tidbits from the crowd. (Staff Photo)

AW COME ON DOWN! The De Bary visitors pleaded as they enticed pigeons, goats, chickens, monkeys, bears and all, with peanuts and popcorn. This white pigeon finally came down to eat eagerly from the hands of the excited youngsters. (Staff Photo)

EVERYBODY WAS HUNGRY! And to show you just how hungry the Zoo residents were, De Bary youngsters fed just about everyone including what this youngster believes is a goat. (Staff Photo)

Names Of Hopfuls For Postmaster Job Will Be Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Moss (D-Calif.) of a House subcommittee on government information said today names of eligible postmaster candidates here after will be made public.

Moss said the Civil Service Commission told the subcommittee it will release the names of persons eligible for appointment as postmaster one day after the Post Office Department has been given the list.

Postmaster applicants must take civil service examinations. Any one of the three placing highest in the examination for a vacancy may be appointed. Since September 1953, Moss said, the names of the eligibles have been kept secret and only the appointment announced. Post office and civil service officials said the policy was designed to recruit better candidates.

"I am glad the subcommittee has been able to punch one more hole in the paper curtain of federal secrecy," Moss said in a statement. "The people have a right to know who their local postmaster candidates are."

U.S. Geological Survey Mapping Areas Of Florida

The U. S. Geological Survey is currently at work mapping key areas off fast growing Florida in an effort to solve the pressing needs of government, planners, developers, and engineers.

Fears have been expressed that the state stands to lose consideration for new industry and development because Florida cannot furnish potential industrialists and developers factual, map data wherever requested.

The federal government, without any cost to the state, has mapped 58 percent, or over 31,000 square miles of Florida, but many areas with great development possibilities have not been accurately mapped. Each of the modern maps covers an area of 65 square miles. The scale of most is one inch on the map equals 2,000 square feet on the ground. At this scale an 80-acre tract on the map is about the size of a 3-cent stamp.

These maps may be used to determine accurately transportation facilities, potential manpower availability, accessibility of water resources, and other factors required in planning a new development or industrial site location. They are made from aerial photos plus ground surveys and enable the user to visualize a third dimensional accurate "picture" of the areas. Lines in blue identify canals, ditches, streams and shore lines. Blue tint indicates water areas. Blue "grass" symbols show swamp or marsh areas. The brown lines indicate lines of equal and known elevation above sea level. Other symbols show roads, railroads, land section lines and buildings.

In order to get the maps closer to the user, the Geological Survey has authorized a new distributor in Florida. Maps may be purchased from the Southeastern Research Corporation, 1429 Ponce de Leon Boulevard, Coral Gables, or at the Tallahassee office, 1903 N. Monroe Street, P. O. Box 302. The price for each map sheet is 30 cents.

Every Precaution Should Be Taken For Safety Of Our School Children

There is no one capable of estimating the value of a child's life.

Undoubtedly, however, many are overlooking the fact that lives can be snuffed out in the twinkling of an eye - accidentally or intentionally - but whether intentionally or accidentally the fact remains that there are lives in danger.

Our haste in getting our boys and girls home from school sometimes makes such dangers of accidents evident.

At Southside school, for instance, at noon and again at two o'clock, when parents arrive in their cars to pick up their first graders, rather than wait in line for children to come out, cars are parked double and sometimes triple on Magnolia Avenue.

Children, in school, are instructed not to leave the curb to get into automobiles. They are told to step from the curb directly into the waiting cars.

When parents double or triple park their cars, children are forced to step from the curb and weave among the cars to reach their transportation home.

The other day, a small youngster, stepped from the curb just as a car was pulling out. Had it not been for the immediate action of the driver, the child would actually have been hit.

We understand that the Safety Committee of the Southside Parent Teachers Association has asked that parents pull their cars in to the curb if the school is in single parking formation. And this, they have asked is not for convenience of the school, parents or school personnel, but entirely for the safety of the first graders who are rushing helter-skelter to reach home as quickly as possible.

Certainly, the parents of these youngsters want their children to reach home - alive.

Only through the cooperation of everyone who bring their cars to the school to pick up children can safety be provided for children. Some of them walk home from school, too. So every precaution must be taken.

Parents are asked to observe the one

Cameron To Head State News Bureau
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Herbert D. Cameron, veteran Florida newsman, was appointed director of the Florida State News Bureau Monday.

B. R. Fuller Jr., executive director of the development commission, said in announcing the appointment that Cameron would take over in the new post Oct. 1.

Cameron, who began his newspaper career in 1928, has been affiliated with the Florida Times-Union the past 11 months as its capital correspondent at Tallahassee.

Prior to joining the Times-Union, Cameron was on the staff of the Tampa Morning Tribune for 25 years. He was city editor for eight years and later served as the Tribune's capital correspondent at Tallahassee. His first newspaper affiliation was with the Tampa Daily Times.

Cameron succeeds John E. Vedlicka, a former Post-Lauderdale advertising man, who has been given a new assignment as manager of the development commission's promotion department.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

AUTHOR KYLE CRICHTON was sleeping soundly one morning when the alarm clock suddenly started jangling. "What time is it?" he muttered. "I'm too tired to turn around and look," responded Mrs. Crichton. "You'll just have to get up and look for yourself."

Crichton, the wily old fox, simply said, "Darling, even at this hour you look beautiful" — and Mrs. C. told him promptly what the hour was. She also turned off the alarm.

"It never fails," chuckled Crichton, preparing to lunge back into slumber. "Fatsbury turns a woman's head!"

A wealthy textile man in Greenwich, Conn., proudly exhibits to a group of about 200 women and their husbands, explaining, "Such as she is, my wife insists on making all her own clothes." Must be shown guards five live alligators in the park. It seems she also makes her own handbags.

way signs provided for the direction of traffic at Southside School and when observing the signs - single park only.

If parents will abide by these safety rules, school officials advise us that the first graders can be dismissed, be in their cars and on the way home in three minutes.

No one would want to sacrifice a few seconds in exchange for the life of a little six year old boy or girl.

Wherever we are, wherever we go - our foremost thought should be toward safety and the preservation of young lives for the future.

Right-To-Work Law

One of Texas' leading newspapers, the Dallas Morning News, recently ran an editorial on certain legal matters affecting the state's right-to-work law. In conclusion it said: "... The News is sincerely and unalterably dedicated to the conviction that in a free country, no law should be enacted or upheld as constitutional that compels a man to join a union to obtain or keep his job, just as no law should prevent him from joining a union to hold his job."

That is a simple and admirable sentence - for it completely covers the great principle of the right-to-work movement, regardless of the verbal complexities that may appear in a particular piece of legislation.

School Construction

The news isn't all bad on the school front. The problems brought on by too many children for available classrooms and teachers are not going to go away for a long time, but at least the school systems of the country, taken together, are gaining in the struggle.

About 67,000 classrooms were scheduled for construction in the year ending this September, and the increased enrollment this fall will fill only 51,400, according to Samuel Brownell, commissioner of education.

The shortage of teachers is estimated at 120,700, but the figure for last year, 141,800, was much worse.

All over the country, school boards, school administrations and taxpayers have been straining to get the new buildings up, the old ones remodelled and teachers' salaries improved. Some of the big cities, where the population is nearly stable, have the situation almost in hand by now. Some of the suburban areas, with wildly booming population, currently seem to be slipping backwards on the treadmill, in spite of valiant efforts.

But the efforts are being made. The public has a new awareness of the importance and cost of public schools, and the good results are showing up in the national figures.

The teacher who used to punish the small boy in the back of the room for making strange noises will have to be careful. He may grow up and sell millions of records as a rock and roll singer.

In East Liverpool, Ohio, two pigs broke into an illegal still and got quite intoxicated. That's a real switch - pigs making people of themselves.

TENSE MOMENT ON THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE GRIDIRON

Outdoor Political Rally Still Popular

By BEN PRICE
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The outdoor political rally with barbecue where voters turn out to gaze on the candidates is still very much a part of the American scene.

Pasture politics still is about as good a way as any for a politician to get down to the grass roots.

Sometimes, though, the talk who make up the grass roots can be a bit confusing, as the Democrats' presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson, found out Saturday night.

When he came to Washington to set up campaign headquarters, Stevenson agreed to cross the Potomac and assist local Democrats in their efforts to recapture Virginia's 19th District House seat from the Republicans—and thus was born the idea for a big barbecue.

While the 19th Virginia District has its particular peculiarities, it still is a product of the trend in this country toward suburbia.

It is filled with white collar workers, many of whom belong to the new station wagon set. These people differ from their counterparts elsewhere only in that a large percentage of them work for the government.

Mixed in with the suburbanites are old line families, who continue to farm their lands.

In this suburb, as in the suburbs elsewhere, there is little real poverty and little great wealth.

The educational level is considered high.

About 5,000 of these people turned out for the rally. As a rally with "gala entertainment, music and good food," the affair was a bust, it rained. One of the two speaker systems failed. There was a shortage of barbecue.

In 1952 Stevenson lost Virginia to the Republicans. In that campaign the state's major political figure, Democratic Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, sat on the sidelines. This year, Byrd thus far has been silent, although he criticized the Republicans' civil rights platform plank as unsatisfactory.

If Byrd came out for Stevenson, Virginia most likely would be in the bag for the Democrats. There

Lower Dental Expense—Close Mouth

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Odd facts and facies a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mouth:

That one way to reduce your dental expense is to keep your mouth shut. If you breathe through your mouth, you dry out your porcelain fillings and they don't last as long.

That more than half the people who have to get a tooth drilled now ask for a local anesthetic.

That there are 27,000 local postmasters in the United States, all of them now supplied with ball point pens.

That Edward Fields, a custom rug manufacturer, has trained Kouo, his French poodle, to lift the receiver when the phone rings and bark a greeting.

That if you can't afford to give your wife a diamond-studded wristwatch on her birthday, you might surprise her with a clepsydra. It operates like an hour glass but uses water instead of sand to tell the time.

That a nationwide safety check showed one out of every 10 cars on the highway has defective front or rear lights.

That young newspaper reporters, although more likely to have a college degree than older reporters, are poor spellers.

That the nation's 30 million anglers spend an average of $60 a year each trying to land that "one that got away."

That a survey showed men highly satisfied with their jobs turned out less work than those mildly discontented with their jobs.

That if you're looking for a field less competitive than the one you're in, here's a tip: the musicians' local here lists only one qualified performer for each of the following instruments—clavichord, bandoline, handorgan, flugelhorn, madole, mandoline and viola da gamba.

That if you want to get out of a dull social engagement gracefully say, "I'm suffering from cephalalgia." All this means is you have a headache—but you get more sympathy.

That all us palefaces need the lesson of tolerance exemplified in an old American Indian prayer: "Forbid that I should judge any man until I have walked two months in his moccasins tracks."

That just 30 years ago young college engineering graduates were glad to get jobs at $120 a month. Now they often start at more than that a week.

That the American cowboy originated in the old East, not the old West. Dutch patriots contemptuously applied the term "cowboys" in 1788 to settlers in the Hudson River highlands, 65 miles from Broadway.

SCHOOL CHALLENGES
POLIO THREAT
MALONE, N. Y. (AP)—Only students who have been inoculated against polio are eligible to play for Malone schools in interschool athletic events. The board of education in this northern New York community says the rule had been not because of 25 polio cases in neighboring St. Lawrence County.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By MOTT BING
Central Press Writer

IT MAY be just a coincidence, but soil bank checks are being mailed about six weeks before the election. They call for an endorsement.

President Eisenhower's timing may be off in the forecast, but not when he gets over into the fields.

Adlai and Estes got a lot of encouragement on their campaign swing around the country. On the other hand, who's going to walk up to a presidential candidate and tell him he's won?

The candidates get one breath during a political campaign. They don't have to listen.

Politics is termed a profession, but the speeches sometimes make it sound like a calling.

Both parties have something to say about education in their platforms, and well they might. Some people can't even write an "X."

20/20 Vision Needn't Mean Sight's Perfect

By HERMAN H. SCHNEIDER, M.D.

DON'T take it for granted that your eyes are perfect just because you have 20/20 vision.

This common misconception, unfortunately, gives many persons a false sense of security and prevents them from seeking eye care which they really need.

A Brief Screening
Frequently, after a brief screening test, a person will be informed that he has 20/20 vision.

All this means is that you can see at a distance of 20 feet what normal vision sees at that distance. It means that you have sharp eyesight when viewing distant objects.

Years ago, 20 feet was chosen as the standard for such tests because light rays are virtually parallel at that distance.

Quite frequently a person who has such sharp vision is frightened. He may also be surprised to have other eye defects.

Actually, in a large proportion of the testing problems encountered today, especially those associated with reading difficulty, definite trouble exists along with 20/20 vision.

A study of 100,000 Texas children recently showed that 83.4 per cent of them had 20/20 vision and yet lacked the ability to use both eyes properly.

Vision Rating
A vision rating of 20/20 means that your eyes are perfect only if you also have normal side vision, good sight for colors, are able to read clearly at a distance of about 18 inches and have normal, healthy eye tissues.

All of these things can't be determined with a simple eye chart test. Only an eye specialist can tell you whether your vision really is perfect. Don't accept a 20/20 verdict as the final word.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. P.: My child was bitten by a rat. Are there any contagious diseases transmitted by rats?
Answer: Your child should receive protective inoculations against typhus or lockjaw, for a bite from a rat can transmit this disease.

A rare disease known as rabies fever also can be transmitted in the same manner. It would be advisable for you to consult your physician.

News Of Men In Service

BOEBLINGEN, GERMANY—Army PFC Frank R. Simonelli, whose wife, Diana, lives in Longwood, recently arrived in Germany and is now a member of the 97th Signal Battalion.

A switchboard operator in the battalion's Wire Company, Simonelli entered the Army in March 1955. He completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Son of Michael Simonelli, Highland, he attended Lyman High School.

Radio-TV Highlights

NEW YORK — As the idea of television hit through various American ways of life for material, it was inevitable that some one eventually would hit on a newspaper wire service.

Someone has. On Oct. 4 ABC TV will launch a weekly series of hourlength filmed dramas—at 8 p.m. EDT—fittingly titled "Wire Service." Then everybody who ever saw a teletype printer can sit back and criticize the technical details.

The sparks for "Wire Service" were struck by the many who ignored "I Love Lucy" and a dozen other popular TV programs. His name is Don Sharpe.

Three stars—George Brent, Dana Clark and Mercedes McCambridge—will relate on the series as wire service feature reporters who go to distant places and become involved in strange situations as they seek the news behind the news.

Producing 8 hourlength films is almost the equivalent of the annual production of a major Hollywood studio, and a majority of the shows will be shot on location in such places as Paris, London, Munich, Rome, Mexico.

The opening show, titled "Blood Rock Mine" was shot on location in the Mojave Desert in 1946. George Brent plays a story of greed and the relationship of people who believe they are on the verge of great wealth in a possible uranium strike.

Lee Cooley has terminated a successful run as producer of Perry Como's NBC-TV show to devote himself to "high quality" children's shows for ABC-TV.

"It's time that we stop offering second class entertainment to our children," he says. "As it is now, the kids—with a few notable exceptions—get old films, mostly cowboy, and a whole lot of crime and violence.

"You're not so much what our children get now, so what they don't get. There's so much worth while that can be done. We think our first job is to convince sponsors and advertising agencies that it is to their own interest to expend on children's shows a budget at least comparable to that of the grownup shows."

On Oct. 6 he will present an ABC-TV "Red Gene Kiddle Spectacular"—11 a.m., EDT—a 30 minute fantasy starring Alice Dalton.

Cooley has in mind a prospective television series for children based on stories from the Bible.

On The BOOKSHELF

BY SARA KING

A wonderful new book based on the life of the Apostle Paul (about whom very few fiction stories are written) by Henrietta Henkle is "And Walk in Love." It begins with his youth and carries his story up to the moment when he stands on the threshold of Rome.

A new Bruce Lancaster book "Roll Shenandoah" is another Civil War story but with Bruce Lancaster, as you will know, it's not just another story. In the closing months of the Civil War, Ellery Starr, wounded and discharged from the Union artillery, is sent south to cover Sheridan's campaign for the Tribune. A civilian, he could cross the lines, and almost in spite of himself he becomes the friend of Harry Gilmer, a Southern major, Joseph Westlake, a half-firs-and-brimstone preacher, and his daughter Gillian. This is a vivid and fast-moving historical novel written with Lancaster's usual accuracy.

Peter Field has written a new western, about an Indian attack. For his fame, "Strike for Tomorrow" is about a search for a lost gold mine that leads Paul Stevens and pals Sam and Ezra into an outlaw ambush and a perilous forest fire.

Another good western by Zane Grey is "Stranger From The Tons." From a dying old prospector, Kent Wingfield heard the tale of the desperado "Hole in the Wall" gang whose hideout was a box canyon on the Colorado River. How Lucy, the young daughter of an outlaw, had grown to womanhood, and now was in great danger from evil men. How Kent found the outlaws and rescued Lucy is the theme of this novel.

Did you ever wonder why we keep getting a new Zane Grey western every year although he died in the late 1930's? It seems that he was a very prolific writer and wrote more than one book a year besides many manuscripts, plots and partly finished stories. Harper, the publisher, put out just one a year and for the past 17 years or so since his death has been able to keep it up.

Now for some new non-fiction: "Mind Goes Forth" by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet. The authors (Mature Mind) attack the problem of overcoming the hostilities that separate man from man. The Drama of understanding—the mind's going forth to meet life more than half way—whether between individuals, groups or nations, is seen as a chance for the qualities of humanity to find expression and to endow life with meaning.

C. B. Forrester, famous for his Hornblower series, has written the new latest in America series book, "Age of Fighting Sail" the story of the Naval War of 1812.

And now one of humor: Richard Ketchum's "Male Husbandry" (on conditioning your man to marriage.) For any wife who wants to subjugate her husband and for any husband who wants to be prepared: A crazy satirical guide to male foibles and female grins.

Margaret Case Harriman's "Blessed are the Debonair" has come in but is not ready for circulation. Book of the month for August, "In search for Adam," is reported to be more fascinating than a detective story.

Selection for September is the "Num's Story."

Lots of good reading here, so it's up to you; and please don't forget "Don't Go Near the Water."

between you 'n me

By PAT WOOD

How many of you 1-10-0-0 children, 2-have none of your own, or none of school age, 3-have too much time on your hands, 4-Find life pretty dull in general and I would like to do something real useful, that at the same time would be greatly appreciated? A lot of you? Well, good, because I have the solution to your woes. Why don't you take yourself down to one of the grammar schools and offer your assistance in preparing for the Halloween Carnival. They all have one and they all need all the help they can get and, believe me, they would be grateful. And I'll not have more fun than you've had in years. Why don't you try it?

Going on the assumption that maybe some of you don't know any more about raising flowers than I do, I'm going to pass on a bit of knowledge I just gained the other day, after having been a Florida gal all my life. That is that in Florida a good many of your hardy annuals, petunias for example, can be planted now and at the first sign of spring, you'll have a profusion of lovely blossoms—it says here. I always thought you had to wait until March or April. I guess that's why I never got more than four or five sick, straggly looking plants out of ten packs of seeds I had, well, we live and learn.

Mrs. C. E. Hunter heard a speech Sunday that kept her awake half the night thinking. It was on Civil Defense and she said, it really made her realize for the first time what the actual physical danger would be to her personally and to her family. She told me that I needn't put her thoughts on the matter in the paper, but I kind of thought they were worth passing on. I'm sure she won't mind.

Say, the Rainbow Girls are really branching out. They are starting their own choir and a little birds told me they are really quite good, even without having practiced together, so I'll bet, 'ems they have had a few practice sessions, they'll be well high seasonal. They plan to make their "debut" at their initiation on the 24th.

I thought for a minute I was seeing myself walk in the front door of the Herald the other day, but on second glance it proved to be Mary Ann Bukur wearing a dress exactly like one of mine. But I looked so nice on her I really didn't mind. We'll just have a work out a system so that we don't wear them to the same place at the same time.

On the New Arrivals list, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Todd 612 Park Avenue Apt. 5, come to us by way of Osteen and Japan. Mrs. Todd being the one from Sanford Atlantic Bank. . . Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Martin, of 207 Laurel Drive, hall from Atlanta, Ga., and have two boys, six and five. Mr. Martin is a K. K. Club in the Navy. . . From Brooklyn N. Y., we have Mr. and Mrs. James J. Agnew, who are neighbors of the above-mentioned Martins. The Agnews live at 208 Laurel Drive and he is also in the navy. . . Edna and Mrs. Robert G. Anderson of East Chicago, Ind., are resting at 88 East 20th St. They have a boy who is 20 months old.

Cotton, Fashion's Most Versatile Fabric, Now Is Worn All Year Long

The American woman wears cotton from dawn to dusk at home, at work, and at play. Cotton has always been a leader in the summer fashion parade, but now this versatile fabric stands way out in front in fall and winter styles.

Cottons that are chill-chasing as well as good-looking are more plentiful than ever this year. They are to be found in clothes for campus, career party and leisure wear.

New cotton knits are washable, crease resistant and shrunken. They appear in sweaters, skirts, dresses and sportswear. With these corduroy fashions may be worn long-sleeved blouses of heavy broadcloth, called and its prints and polished solid cottons.

Another bright spot in this year's collection of winter cottons is velveteen, which may be found in red, purple, aqua, and shocking pink to name a few. This dressy cotton fabric is being widely used in narrow sheaths, long sleeve pants for at-home entertaining and raincoats. Another popular fabric for dress and evening wear is embroidered cotton faille, which has the look of silk.

Pretty as well as practical are canvas denim, poplin and gabardine which appear in a wide selection of skirts, pants and jackets for sport and home wear.

Thanks to textile finishers and fashion designers, cotton has a place in midday's fall and winter wardrobe, not only in work-a-day attire but in town and travel suits, afternoon sheaths, and glamorous evening wear.

Sanford Ladies Hear Fred DeMotte At Legion School

Mrs. C. E. Hunter, Mrs. B. L. Miller and Mrs. Matt McLaughlin of this city attended the American Legion Auxiliary Sixth District School of Instruction which was held in Orlando at the Legion Home on Sept. 16. President of the District is Mrs. Lillian Severn.

Mrs. Maxine McGrath introduced the principal speaker, Fred W. DeMotte, Area Civil Defense Director, who brought home to those assembled the necessity of self-preservation in case of war and emphasized the need for every family to organize a specific plan to follow in the event of an atomic attack. He said that if Orlando were bombed everything within a seven-mile radius would be destroyed by the blast and within 40 minutes atomic radiation would have spread over the entire state and in order to survive the people would have to seal themselves up in an underground shelter for seven days. Thus, he said, it was vitally important for every family to prepare such a shelter, which should include enough food and water for at least seven days.

Mrs. Dorothy Webster, Sanford, instructed in the constitution and by-laws of the auxiliary.

MUGGET-TEXTURED WORSTED was chosen for this Children's red suit from George Carmel's fall and winter collection. In colorful contrast, Astec sun-gard buttons of gold metal close the jacket and button down a shoulder tab. Flat, rounded bands form a "collar" for the cardigan neckline.

Personals

Harry Weir left Saturday for Chicago, Ill., where he is attending a Hospital Administrators Meeting. He will be gone for several days.

The Misses Jean and Joan Wilks and brother, Bernard Wilks, are in New York visiting relatives.

Miss Alice Brown and Miss Jo Ann Moore, together with their recent houseguest Miss Nancy Smith of Miami, are returning to the University of Miami, in Coral Gables, where they are all members of the senior class.

Friends of M. E. Baker Jr., will be interested to know that he underwent surgery Friday in Kingman, Ariz., and is now resting under sedatives. He is reported to be progressing nicely. His mother, Mrs. M. E. Baker Sr. has remained in Kingman since the accident. His address is Mojave General Hospital.

Word has been received that R. Oakie Weeks, son of Mrs. Weeks, of Sanford, and Miss Patty Turner of West Virginia were married Sept. 7 in Melbourne. They will be at home at 211 Poplar Ave., after Oct. 1.

Friends of Mrs. Elizabeth Harman will be pleased to know that she is now at home, after undergoing surgery at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bailey have as their houseguest for the past week, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Lauch and son, Ronald, from Columbus, O.

Juvenile Furniture Sports Adult Look

There's a new look in juvenile furniture these days. Not only does it have a decidedly grown-up flavor to it, but more and more of it is designed to grow with the child as he grows older.

Style is definitely a factor in junior furniture. Every grouping from infant to pre-teen, offers something more than the purely utilitarian bed (or crib) and chest of drawers.

Among the furniture offered for the brand new baby, is a lovely French Provincial group which consists of a white and gold crib, with a canopy of filmy nylon, a dresser, chiffonier, and a little matching chair. A junior-size cot rack is also included.

The trend seems to be turning toward "grown-up" finishes on juvenile furniture. They tend to show the natural beauty of the wood, rather than being enameled or painted. Two of the new favorites are maple and walnut. Many of the groupings are designed so that only the substitution of a junior bed for the crib will turn the nursery into a room suitable for a school-age child. Though the dresser and chest are seated for a youngster, they do not have a "baby" look.

Another popular design for juvenile furniture is that one where the furniture is enameled white and a single rose is used for drawer pulls and for occasional decoration.

A new high chair, which is now available, will not outgrow its usefulness until the child has entered school. When the child gets a little older, the chair, which is attached to the top of a small table, may be removed. The chair and table, then, may be used for meals or as a play desk for the pre-school child.

Combined to make the new juvenile furniture more attractive the ever are gay colors grown-up style and function. The nursery can now be as modern as any other room in your house.

'56 Class D FSL Season Is Finest Of 17 Since '36

By PETER SCHAAL
LEAGUE STATISTICIAN

From a competitive play view point, the headline above well describes the Florida State League's 1956 season of play, even the circuit's veterans and more blasé sportswriters are in agreement that the record number of rookies in action did give the fans faster, more spirited, and of-times sensational baseball.

Credit for this must go directly to Florida State League President John Krider, who untrillingly laid the groundwork which brought the league for the first time in history full or partial working agreements with seven major league clubs, and to the club officers and directors who worked so closely with the major sponsors.

Every league city except Orlando started with a major league "connection". The Yankees were at St. Petersburg; Reds at West Palm Beach; Detroit at Gainesville; the Indians at Daytona Beach; the Giants at Cocoa, and Kansas City was at Leesburg, with Milwaukee stepping into the picture there in mid-June.

Orlando, the defending champion which chose to operate independently and later was taken over by Louisville, got off to a fast start under Taft Wright but lost league leadership in early June to Buddy Kerr's Cocoa. Players who went on to nose out Mike Majeski's Daytona Beach Islanders by one-half game on the final night of the first half.

Cocoa appeared headed for an easy second half flag victory but was forced into a major re-alignment of personnel when second baseman Ben Valley went out for the season with a broken leg at the end of the second half's first week. From then on, Kerr had his hands full warding off the attack of both Ray Wilson's Gainesville Cardinals and Wall Novick's West Palm Beach Sox.

As was the case in the half, Cocoa won the second half flag by winning the final game of the season, a game which did not start until after 10:30 p. m., because of rain. Mid-way of the game, word came that Gainesville had lost to Leesburg to fall a full game behind Cocoa which went on to win its game shortly after midnight, for a one and one-half game victory over Gainesville.

The final three weeks of second half play saw West Palm Beach at its best. Novick's men cutting a wide path through the circuit. Not until the final week were they out of the race. Beach sportswriters hailed the team as being better than any ever to represent the city in the Florida International.

Mystery team appeared to be the Daytona beach squad which was credited by many as having the best over-all hurling staff, an outfield second to none, the second best second base combination, a highly capable manager. After being snuffed out of the first half flag by half a game, the Palatka under Ralph Hodgkin team never recovered.

spent the entire first half getting organized, finally winding up with a fourth place .500 finish in the second half after Charley Baird became pilot on July 22. Leesburg under Tom Giordano, and like Palatka returning to action after a two-year absence, never could get started. Opening with a host of simon-pure rookies, and a few hand-picked players assigned by Kansas City, the "A's" tried one combination after another before Milwaukee stepped in and fielded a team that finished fifth in the second half.

St. Petersburg, with Ken Sil-

Seminoles Workout In Rain Yesterday

Fighting desperately against waning time, coach Bill Fleming put his Sanford Seminoles through a workout and scrimmage in heavy rain yesterday, attempting to get his scoring machine in smooth operation for the season opener against the Cocoa Tigers Friday night. The primary purpose of this (drily) drill was to give the backfield the opportunity to familiarize themselves with wet-ball handling, to work on down-field blocking in the rain, and wet-ball punt returns.

Only two managerial changes took place. Hodgkin was replaced by Baird at Palatka on July 23 and Wright was succeeded by Gerald "Gee" Walker at Orlando on July 16.

Of the 269 players in uniform, only 14 were "veterans" and only five of them were DeLand regulars during the last month of the season.

Naturally, with the league crammed with rookies, new offensive records were rare; every individual record unbroken, and only one club offensive mark broken—Cocoa recording 102 homers to treat the old mark of 84 set by Sanford in 1952.

New records set in 1956 were: Most passed balls: Miller, Cocoa, six, at home July 12. Most errors, one game, two clubs inside nine innings: 15, Orlando (8) home with St. Petersburg (7) on Aug. 23. Most men fanned: Cocoa 1, 014, breaking the old 912 mark set by Orlando 1955. Most homers: Cocoa 102. Most Times Walked intentionally in 9 innings: Four, O'Brien, Palatka, Aug. 22.

A new high record number of players struck out in 1956, or 7, 241, as compared with the previous high of 6,628 in 1955. A new in combined club batting average also was set in 1956, a .211 as compared with the previous low of .246 in 1955.

Records tied in 1956 were few, too: Enos, Orlando, was walked six times inside nine innings on Aug. 15, while three players tied the league record by striking out five times inside nine frames: Terry Hinton, Palatka, on May 26, Bob Hames, Orlando, on June 16, and Chuck Tearson, Cocoa, on Aug. 17.

Sixty-nine games were shut-outs over nine innings or more, while 17 were seven-inning shut-outs. Forty-three games went in to extra innings, with the longest being West Palm Beach's 2 to 1 decision over St. Petersburg at home June 5 after 16 innings.

Felipe Alou, Cocoa outfielder, took individual batting honors with a .380 mark after having batted .400 or better for nearly nine weeks. He also led in stolen bases with 48; in sacrifice flies with 11.

Daytona's Don Dillard, who suffered a broken leg bone during the final week, led in RBI's with 126, in triples with 17; in hits with 191, and the in total bases with 283.

Cocoa's Gene Cockrell and Gainesville's Pissaro were tied in homers with 22 each, while Cocoa's Tommy Wright and Dillard were tied with 28 doubles each, being second to Daytona's Gene Bennett who led with 36 doubles.

Daytona's Chuck Matthews led in runs scored with 114 and in times walked with 120, while Daytona's Frank Byzanski led in times fanned with 140.

Cocoa's Julio Navarro swept the boards among the hurlers. He was the only 50-game winner, recording 24 out of 32 decisions. He had the best ERA average, a fine 2.16 after 245.1 innings in 40 games. He fanned the most man—216. Howie Boerast of Daytona had the most nine-inning shut-outs-five.

Injury-Riddled FSU, Ohio Will Meet Sept. 22

Buck Metts, graduate of Seminole High School, continues to get the starting nod from Florida State head mentor Tom Nugent, as the injury-riddled Seminoles prepare to open the season against an equally injured Ohio University team Sept. 22 under the lights in Tallahassee.

Both teams have lost a top-notch halfback in the past week. FSU's Pat Verprille, a junior from Norfolk, Va. received a nerve injury late last week and it now appears he may be out for the entire season. Meanwhile, in the Ohio camp, the Bobcats have lost Vern Smith, their number one right halfback.

Smith has undergone an appendectomy and will be lost to the squad for about two or three weeks. The other starting Ohio halfback, Jim Hillis received a dislocated shoulder early in practice, and will not engage in any contact work until shortly before game time. He is, however, expected to start.

Both teams have better than average running games, and both coaches have worked considerably on passing, both offensively and defensively. Ohio coach Carroll Widoode has admitted that his pass offense "needs more work," and Seminole mentor Tom Nugent has drilled his quarterbacks daily on passing.

Both teams have several other boys sidelined with minor injuries of various types, but most of these are expected to recover in time to see action next Saturday night. In the Seminole camp, Nugent has said that there may be less contact work in store for his charges, particularly if injuries persist. The Tribe's head man said Monday that he may cancel a scheduled game scrimmage Wednesday to avoid any more injuries cropping up. "We can't afford any injuries in our first team," he said.

Sanford Readies For Big Pep Rally, Pow-Wow At Memorial Stadium Tonite

Excitement ripples through the air as Sanford readies itself for a gigantic pep rally and Pow-Wow tonight at Memorial Stadium beginning at 7:30 p. m. The spectacle is being sponsored by the newly formed Seminole Chiefs Club, and will give the football fans of Sanford and Seminole County the opportunity of making pre-season acquaintances with the Chiefs Club, the new edition of the Sanford Seminoles, the fine coaching staff, the band majorities, pep squad, cheerleaders, and the many improvements in the stadium.

The Seminole Chiefs Club is a booster club organized primarily for the benefit of high school athletics. The club membership is expected to take a tremendous boom upwards tomorrow night from the energetic 80 that founded the organization. John Schirard Jr., president of the Club, will give the many fans the opportunity to meet his able vice-president and membership chairman, Thomas Stringer. And he, in turn, will give the Sanford citizenry the opportunity of joining the ranks of this progressive order. Dr. A. W. Epps Jr., chairman of the club's program committee, said the Pow-Wow was staged at a perfect time, just three days before the Sanford Seminoles kick off their first season in the Orange Belt Conference against Cocoa, and that the affair should draw a capacity crowd.

The Athletic department will be introduced to the crowd. Athletic director Fred Ganas will lead the group, brought up by head mentor Bill Fleming and his assistants Bud Lauer, Dave Laude, and JV coach Dick Silvers. Silvers and Laude will be making their first appearance before the Sanford fans.

The highlights of the evening will be the introduction of the 1956 Sanford Seminoles. Bill Fleming will give a rundown on against Chicago with the Sox coming on with their top flinger, southpaw Billy Pierce 30-7. Ford has beaten the Sox five times in six games this season. Pierce has a 2-1 record against the Yanks. Actually, the Yankees aren't worried about clinching the pennant. They'll do it one way or the other even if the White Sox forestall the act tonight. They lead the Sox by 11 games.

the members of the club, which will include weight, class, and position. Then Fleming will familiarize the audience with the offensive and defensive formations with the team demonstrating after which the team will stage regular exercises and some scrimmage.

Ernest Cowley, music director of Seminole High School, will make his usual fabulous performance with his band, majorities, pep squad, and cheerleaders. The musical entertainment alone should make the outing worth while.

The fans will gaze in awe at the imposing new scoreboard. The new 22 foot electronic mechanism will be completely installed by Pow-Wow time tonight. The $1,600 scoreboard is the type used by big schools, colleges, and pros. It was purchased for the Sanford Seminoles by the Florida State Bank. The new bleacher arrangement will please the fans as they become aware of new comfort and better vision.

All this adds up to a ceremony worth attending, as the Sanford Seminoles fans turn out to wish their team a successful season tonight at 7:30 in Memorial Stadium.

Archery Hunt To Be Held In National Forest Oct. 12-21

Sanford is expected to be well represented in the annual Archery Hunt to be held in the Ocala National Forest, October 12 through October 21. According to Don Strode, Project Leader, approximately two hundred archers are expected to participate in the hunt. All legal native game will be open to bowhunters for this period.

Fifty thousand acres of the management Area have been selected for this hunt. The Hunt will be that section of the Forest beginning at Davenport Landing and proceeding west and south to Eureka Bridge, the boundary is Forest Road 19 to its intersection, the boundary follows Forest Road 65 to the intersection of the River Road; thence northwest to the River Road to Davenport Landing.

Archers will be required to have a special $5.00 Ocala Archery Hunt Stamp and a regular valid hunting license. Hunt Stamps may be purchased at North Hunt Headquarters and the Marion County Judge's Office only. All archers must check in and out of the area at North Hunt Headquarters which will be open October 11 and remain open until October 22.

All of the public camp sites within the Archery Area will be open to campers. No crossbows or firearms will be permitted in the Forest during the bow hunt. Legal bows are long bows only capable of casting a one ounce hunting arrow at least 100 yards. All game killed during the Hunt must be tagged and checked and will count on the hunter's season bag. "Deer and turkey as well as small game is in abundance in the Ocala National Forest but the area is extremely dry," Strode stated.

Plans Underway At SHS To Form Lettermen's Club

Andrew J. Bracken, principal of Seminole High School, announced today that plans were well underway for the formation of a Lettermen's Club at SHS. Membership will be comprised of students earning school letters in the various activities. This will be a service organization to the school, sponsored by the coaches, and for the purpose of further developing peer leadership on the teenage level. Bracken said, "We of the faculty of the school feel that the present seniors are an excellent nucleus for such leadership organization."

Memphis, Mobile Tangle Tonight

MEMPHIS (AP)—Memphis tangles with Mobile tonight to see who plays Atlanta for the Southern Association championship.

Memphis squared the best-of-seven series at three games each last night by clubbing the Bears 5-0 behind righthander Billy Dufour's six-hit pitching.

The victor opens against the pennant-winning Crackers in Atlanta Thursday in the final round of the Shaughnessy playoff. The playoff champion goes into the Dixie Series against the Texas League champion.

52-REAL ESTATE

53-FARMS AND GROVES

EMMA waves pelted the shore near Kagoshima in southern Japan as Typhoon Emma swept southward toward Korea. The angry sea, whipped by 45-mile-an-hour winds and torrential rains, destroyed shore property including the battered house in foreground. The storm also caused damaging floods in the Philippines and elsewhere.

Adult Education Classes Gather Tonight At SHS

The Seminole County Adult Education classes will meet tonight at 7 p. m. at the Seminole High School Building. Classes will be held every Monday and Tuesday night from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Registration for these classes can be made at any time during the week. Instruction is given in reading and writing, working toward an equivalency high school diploma or taking individual subjects that will help them in their work. Adults who are veterans of the Korean Conflict and who are interested in furthering their education are welcome to attend this school. If there are enough veterans interested in the program, permission can be obtained from the State Department of Education to operate the school under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Further information can be secured by contacting Fred Murray, Director of Adult and Vocational Education whose office is located in the School Administration Building on Commercial Ave. or by coming to the adult school.

Use Of Residential Area As Beach Is Protested By Group

Residents at Prairie Lake Park, represented at the Board of Semi-nole County Commissioners meeting this morning, protested the use of a lot reserved for residential use as a beach. The lot, located on the east side of the park, is owned by the State. The group, led by Mrs. J. H. Cartwright, stated that the use of the lot as a beach is a violation of the zoning ordinance. They requested that the Board of Commissioners take action to prevent the use of the lot as a beach. The Board of Commissioners will consider the matter at its next meeting.

Board Tables Bids For Fire Pumps

Bids were tabled by the Sanford City Commissioners last night when the purchase of two fire pumps was discussed. The bids were considered to be too high. The Board of Commissioners will consider the matter at its next meeting.

Powerful Typhoon Hits Philippines

MANILA (AP)—A powerful Pacific typhoon packing 150-mile center winds struck a sudden blow today at the Philippines. The typhoon, dubbed Gilda, ripped into Samar Island after suddenly developing east of the Philippines early today. There were no immediate reports from Samar of any casualties or damage. But a U. S. Air Force plane from Guam tracking the storm reported it had "spotted" a ship that seemed to be in distress. The Manila Weather Bureau said the typhoon was moving westward at 15 miles an hour and was expected to be over Masbate Island and southeastern Luzon tonight.

Rescue Officials Abandon Search For Missing Crew

BODIE, Norway (AP)—Norwegian rescue officials today abandoned the search for 29 missing crew members of the American freighter Palmer. Five survivors and two bodies were recovered. The ship, carrying 18,000 tons of goods, was last seen on Saturday night in a storm off Bodie, above the Arctic Circle. A spokesman for the Bodie air rescue station said ships in the area would keep a lookout for survivors or bodies but "it is extremely unlikely that there are any survivors alive at this moment." "We have given up all hope," he added.

Queen Elizabeth To See 'Rock Around Clock'

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II has decided it's high time she found out what this "Rock 'n' Roll" craze sweeping Britain is all about. From Balmorall Castle, where the monarch is vacationing, she will see a performance of the musical "Rock Around the Clock" down to have the Bill Haley movie up for a special showing. The film has been banned in several British cities after teenagers mobbed with a train at a crossing near here in a heavy rain yesterday, killing Mrs. Clara May Clemenson, 37.

Khrushchev Plans 2nd Yugoslav Visit Tomorrow

BRIGLJANE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev will make his second visit to Yugoslavia tomorrow. It is described as a vacation trip, but some political circles here think the Soviet Communist party boss may transact some business too. The Soviet news agency Tass and the Yugoslav agency Tanjug announced the trip last night as a "private visit" lasting several days. Khrushchev has been vacationing on Russia's Black Sea coast. A trip of Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Bulganin to Yugoslavia last summer brought about a reconciliation between Russia and Communist Yugoslavia's President Tito. The announcement of Khrushchev's impending arrival immediately set off speculation. It was recalled that a "private visit" by Soviet Premier A. I. Mikoyan last fall led to Russia's recognition of large credits to Yugoslavia.

MAN CAN TRAMPLE GUM FOR 50 HOURS

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—W. H. Hawkins of Raleigh can thank a wad of chewing gum for a ten dollar bill. Hawkins said he drove his car home and noticed an object sticking in the tread of one of the tires. Hawkins plucked it out. It was a 10 bill, securely fastened to the tire by a wad of gum.

WIND-DRIVEN FLAMES subsided in the burned-out remains of more than 1,755 homes which were destroyed in Utopia, Japan. The blaze raged out of control for seven hours in the heart of the city as winds from Typhoon Emma spread the dry frog house to house. Airview shows still-smoldering ruins.

LOST MONEY FOUND IN SHOE

SARASOTA (AP)—Six hundred dollars reported lost by a California couple apparently got not stray very far. Boston police got a call from Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Bowen of Pasadena, Calif. They were at Hartford, Conn., and said they had lost the money while in Boston. A few hours later, police received a report that a shoe store in Boston had found the money. The store manager said he had found the money in a shoe. The money was turned over to the Bowens.

PORTER 'SHIP'S TOWN' WITH $400 DEPOSIT

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A Negro porter failed to come back when sent to the bank to make an $800 deposit for his first year's rent. Police broadcast an alarm for the porter. The porter was found in a hotel room. He had the money with him. He was arrested and taken to the police station.

Standing AMERICAN LEAGUE

No games scheduled Monday. Today's schedule: New York at Chicago 2; Baltimore at Detroit; Washington at Cleveland 2; Boston at Kansas City 2.

MAN CAN TRAMPLE GUM FOR 50 HOURS

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—W. H. Hawkins of Raleigh can thank a wad of chewing gum for a ten dollar bill. Hawkins said he drove his car home and noticed an object sticking in the tread of one of the tires. Hawkins plucked it out. It was a 10 bill, securely fastened to the tire by a wad of gum.

STEVENS OPENING HIS 'FORMAL' CAMPAIGN IN HARRISBURG

Nation To Hear Ike Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Eisenhower worked on his first formal campaign address today as Democrats swung into a seven-million-dollar campaign drive. Eisenhower makes a national radio-television re-election bid tonight in which he is expected to blueprint Republican aims for world peace and increasing prosperity. The speech is scheduled for 9:30 p. m. EDT.

Christian Church Sets Homecoming; Speaker Revealed

Executive Secretary Lawrence S. Ashley, Florida Christian Missionary Society, Ocala, will be the guest speaker Sunday at the 101st anniversary and homecoming of the First Christian Church, a large crowd including out-of-town guests is expected. Souvenir booklets for the occasion are being prepared this week. The covers will carry the United program for the morning and afternoon sessions, and also engravings of the church, parsonage and pastor. The booklets will contain an historic sketch of the church's history, which is being mimeographed by volunteer labor. The sketch will be written by the minister.

Man's Age Estimated To Be 167

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A leathery little man with jet black hair was en route to New York today where scientists may determine if he is the world's oldest living human. Juan Ponce de Leon, who stands 4 feet 4 inches tall and weighs only 75 pounds, arrived last night from his native Colombia en route to Cornell Medical Center. There he will undergo physical, scientific and historic testing. Ponce de Leon's age is estimated to be 167 years, but the 167 figure is about right. Dr. Jose Miguel Restrepo, an authority on human age, estimated Ponce de Leon's age at more than 160. One report has it that an 86-year-old woman in Peru's national archives was known as an old man when she was a child. Doctors who examined him in the Victoria Paul Hotel in Medellin, Colombia, reported that his vital signs and radial pulse were those of an extremely old man, his blood circulation action and blood pressure showed unusual vigor, they added. Ponce de Leon, who is interpreted as a Spaniard, was born in Bolivar, a South American town. Ponce de Leon, according to Correa, "drinks when he can and has out-lived five wives."

Farm Bureau Urges People To Apply For Gas Tax Refund

The Seminole County Farm Bureau, with a membership of 314 according to the latest reports released by officials of the local organization, held its regular monthly meeting last night at the Future Farmers Building. A blanket insurance policy covering all members while attending a meeting of the organization, was taken out for the Seminole County Farm Bureau. The same policy covers any board members of the group while officiating at meetings or conventions. The Future Farmers of America for the past supervised farm practice," by the Seminole County Farm Bureau. Discussion on the gasoline tax refund, federal and state, was brought up again at last night's meeting. All members were urged to apply for the refund. ## All Souls To Stage Annual Winter Festival Nov. 17

Approximately 25 members of the All Souls Catholic Church met last night with the Rev. Richard Lyons to lay plans for their 1956 Winter Festival. The proposed budget, prepared by City Manager Warren E. Knowles, was reduced by $8,721.80 to conform with the revenue of the city of Sanford for the 1956-57 fiscal year. The completed budget, with an analysis of the changes, reduction of transfers in the proposed 25-page resume of the expenditures and revenue of the city, will in all probability, be adopted at the regular meeting of the board next Monday night. The remaining detail to be clarified and adopted by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners is a new pay schedule. Commissioner David Gatchel, in the lengthy discussion of the proposed pay schedule told the board that a pay classification is contradictory to the Civil Service Ordinance.

Christian Religion Is Own Experience Rev. Delgado Says

The Rev. Gerald Delgado of Winter Park, told a capacity audience at the First Presbyterian Church last night that the Christian Religion is a personal experience with God through Jesus Christ. He said that the Christian Religion is not the result of an argument or a debate, he vowed. The youthful, Spanish born minister further elaborated on the fact that the Bible states that God sent to us that all of his forms of creation were good, stating that good means anything that conforms the purpose for which it was created. He said, and was created to glorify God, and to enjoy him forever. Sin, Rev. Delgado, said simply, is when man lives in such a manner that he fails to glorify God, thus falling short of the purpose for which he was created. Salvation, he explained, is the salvaging or picking together of the broken and sinful lives, through Jesus Christ.
