

MacArthur Opinion

you are doomed to destruction.
I believe that if you do not settle successfully what you have started, and are committed to, in Korea you will tend to incite him (the enemy) to increase not only the tempo of his blow but the time of his blow.

I do not believe it would take a very great additional component of ground troops to wind this thing up. A new reality is that if you do not permit the use of our forces in their normal capacity, you would not be able to supply enough ground troops to be able to safely clear North Korea. You would go up to the Yalu and you would be in a position where the enemy could jump you immediately.

(MacArthur advocated air operations over Manchuria, a tight blockade of the China mainland, and use of Chiang Kai Shek's Nationalist forces, now neutralized on Formosa.)

If I had been permitted to bomb back of their lines when they forced the Yalu, it would not have been able to advance with any degree of force or strength.

I recommended to Washington that the 7th Air Force be taken off the Generalissimo (Chiang Kai-Shek). The slightest use that was made of those troops would have taken the pressure off my troops. It would have saved me thousands of lives up there. It would have been a 100 per cent different picture if they had not been held in leash.

A rifle kills a single man, a machine gun kills them by the score; heavy artillery and bombs kill them by the thousands; the atom bomb may destroy them by the millions.

THE RISK
When you enter into war, you should be sufficient force to impose your will upon the enemy. I do not believe in doing so that we in the slightest degree precede the beginning of another world war. I believe it would have the opposite effect.

U. S. action against China would not draw a Soviet attack unless she was read to come in anyway.

I have seen no indication of the Soviet's desire to identify themselves increasingly in this Korean campaign.

Russia knows just as well as we know that we have not an iota of imperialistic desire. I think that the MacArthur plan would merely be an effort to make the Red Chinese withdraw their predatory attacks in North Korea.

COMMUNISM
Our main enemy is Communism. It is a world-wide movement, including the interior of some of the fine democratic countries of the world.

It happens to be that the Soviet is communistic, but if you think Communism is limited to Russia, I disagree with you completely.

I believe there is an interlocking of interests between Communist China and the Kremlin (but) the degree of control and influence that the Kremlin may have in China is quite problematical.

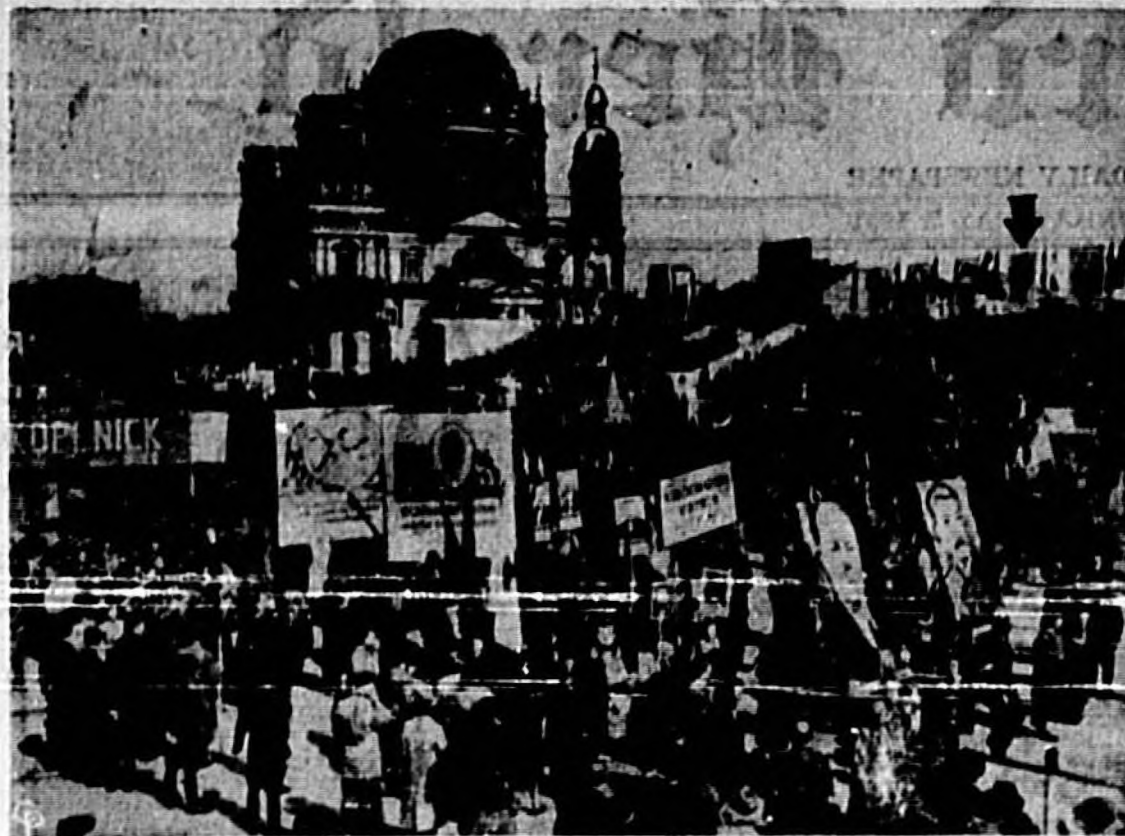

The great threat in what is called present Communism is the imperialistic tendency of the lust for power beyond their own geographical confines. It is their effort to enslave the individual to the concepts of the state. It is the establishment of autocracy that squashes out every one of the freedoms which we value so dearly.

I believe we should defend every place from Communism. I believe we can. I believe we are able to. I have confidence in us. I don't believe we should write off anything, and accept the defeat that is involved in it. I don't think we should breach our own line.

The other fellow has the same problems that we do. If we have to work on two fronts or three fronts or four fronts, so does he; and if we can't meet him and defeat him, our ultimate destruction is certain. I believe we can't let him breach us in any one sector, that he will overwhelm us from that sector.

I don't admit that we can't beat Communism wherever it shows its head.

PARADES CARRYING POSTERS of Premier Josef Stalin, Red military leaders and key Politburo figures march through the streets of Berlin's Soviet Sector during the annual May Day rally. In free Berlin's West Sector, more than 500,000 attended an anti-Communist demonstration, addressed by Mayor Ernst Reuter. Some 400,000 were said to have participated in the Russian zone celebration. Rent Control

Art, Maybank said in a prepared statement.
Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was called as the committee's first witness. The present law, which includes wage-price control authority, expires June 30.

The record clearly indicates that the public, through its demand and ability to pay, has been responsible for the current price of beef, Maybank said.

The chairman said the rollback will be unfair to livestock feeders on the basis of current feed costs and will work hardship on slaughterers and distributors even to the point of "severe monetary loss."

It will bring "chaos" in meat distribution, Maybank predicted.
"I will have as my primary objective uninterrupted production of meat and removal of any regulation which tends to interfere with the equitable operation of our system of distribution," he said.

He quarreled also with Mr. Truman's proposal to "freeze" farm prices parity for a year at a level so that food price ceilings might be held steady between revisions.

Maybank said he believed any basic changes in the parity formula should be considered by the House's Agriculture Committee. He proposed to invite members of the Agriculture Committee to sit in on the Defense Act hearings.

Maybank announced that the committee will hold sessions "mornings and evenings" for the next 20 days to hear the 60 witnesses from government agencies.

losing loose in the world it means that your necessity for preparedness increases unless you can find the formula to settle the whole matter.

"The world should have sense enough, when it survives the last two wars, to understand that it had become the method of suicide for modern civilization, if the engaged in this type of combat. I therefore believe that time is running out on us. We have had our last chance."

"I believe that the plan that I hope that I know to stop that have put forward offers the only insensate slaughter in Korea."

"As I have heard no proposition yet, outside the ones that the Joint Chiefs of Staff made and myself, which would offer any hope for a successful conclusion of the Korean struggle."

"The position of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and my own so far as I know were practically identical."

"I felt the position I was in, the military position was untenable without having some directive, some mission that was more realistic than that which existed at the time; and I felt in all conscience I could not go on ordering men to their deaths by the thousands in such a complete vacuum of policy decision."

"So far as I know, I have completely implemented to the best of my ability every directive, the United States or the United States or the United States."

"I don't think we should breach our own line."

would be no big offensive because "the war is about over." U. S. intelligence officers attributed this statement to a Communist officer.

The did not make clear whether the officer had been taken prisoner or whether the report came from other captured Reds. U. S. spokesmen offered no interpretation of the significance of the statement. Presumably the Red officer meant the war had again reached a stalemate; that neither side could win and therefore committee delivered an urgent appeal for the whole of Mr. Truman's controls program, including the rent-ceiling and parity changes.

The worst shortages and the biggest threat of inflation, Wilson said, "are yet to come."

But he restated his view that in two years the military program will have reached the necessary level and the country will be able to expand again its output of civilian goods. Meanwhile, he warned in a prepared statement.

"The greatest scarcity of materials, and hence the greatest use of these materials, are yet needed for controlling the flow and in consequence, the greatest pressure on prices and wages—the most serious threat of inflation—will be felt some months from now."

Paradise Road

TALLAHASSEE, May 7.—(AP)—Senator Amos Lewis of Marianna today announced that his committee had approved a bill to build a highway from Tallahassee to Key West along Paradise Drive.

He proposed designating a highway stretch beginning at the state line north of Marianna and continuing to Key West as Paradise Drive.

Paradise Drive would start at the state boundary, go southward to Highway 90 at Marianna, thence to Tallahassee and on down No. 90 and 37 to Lebanon. It would cut across to Lunenburg, hook with 41 and proceed along that Highway and No. 841 until it came to Miami.

From Miami it would proceed along No. 1 to Key West.

The agenda, now eight-ninth agreed to, was submitted Wednesday by deputies Phil Jessup of the U. S., A. Ernest Davies of Britain and Alexander Parodi of France. It was described by Jessup then as "the maximum effort on the part of the Western Powers to secure agreement."

So far, Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko has shown no inclination to accept fully the West's "maximum effort" on the agenda, although he did say he was prepared to accept everything on it except the wording of the arms reduction item.

He wants the item to commit the foreign ministers to talk about reducing the arms of the Big Four countries only. The westerners insist that they should talk about all the world's arms and Communist satellites as Red armies, including such powerful China and the Balkan countries which cushion Russia from the West.

The West also wants disarmament controlled.

LONDON, May 7.—(AP)—The Western Powers won't go any further in meeting Soviet demands at the Deputy Foreign Ministers meeting in Paris, says British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Speaking in suburban Lewisham yesterday, Morrison declared the West has made its final commitment at the Paris meeting. From now on, he said, it is strictly up to the Russians to decide whether there will be a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was charged by Morrison with using the Paris talks as a lever to perpetuate Soviet "military predominance in Europe."

The Russians, Morrison said, are attempting to commit the United States, France and Britain to hold Western defense measures, but the Western Powers will have none of this.

Morrison added, however, that he still hopes the foreign ministers can meet. The deputies have been wrangling for two months and have made little headway toward adopting a agenda for a conference of their heads.

The Allies have lost 208 planes. Most of them were shot down by enemy ground fire.

GET ACQUAINTED

The Sanford Herald

SECTION TWO

VOLUME XXXII Associated Press Lensed Wire SANFORD, FLORIDA, MONDAY, MAY 7, 1951 Established 1908 No. 183

This Is Get Acquainted Day In Sanford

For the past 30 years the people of Sanford have seen fit to retain a type of administration known as the commission-manager form of government.

Seminole County also has a commission form of government, with five members, each elected to represent a district.

In 1949 the State Legislature passed a Charter revision act for Sanford which had received the careful study and attention of a local charter committee headed by H. James Gut, and which continued the same form of government as established in 1921.

Three experienced members serve on the five man commission at all times. This is due to the staggered system whereby they are elected for three year terms.

The commission which governs Sanford is headed by Mayor Fred Dyson who was elected on Jan. 3 to succeed Andrew Carraway who remains a commissioner.

Serving as administrative head of the City government under the direction and supervision of the Commission is the city manager, Clifford McKibbin. A competent engineer, he served formerly as city manager of Winter Park before assuming his new duties here in December, 1948. During World War II he served in the Navy.

In addition to Mayor Dyson, who is also an engineer and a contractor, the other commissioners are W. H. Stemper, grocery operator; John Ivey, shoe merchant; Sam Martins, Florida Fashions executive, and Andrew Carraway, insurance agent.

Mayor Dyson presides at all meetings of the commission, regularly held on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month. He is allowed to vote, however, only in the event of a deadlock. All official documents are executed by him, and he serves as head

There Are Many Good Ways To Get Acquainted And All Work

There is a right way to go about this "Get Acquainted" business, and fortunately it has many angles.

Some are a little unusual, others trite and threadbare but they have one thing in common—they turn the key of new friendships.

The simplest, and by far the most effective, method is to introduce yourself by merely saying "My name is Whistlebrook—Elmer Whistlebrook." The other person's mouth may drop open for a few seconds, but he (or she) will usually recover from the spell of astonishment and matter in innocent confusion: "Glad to know you, I'm Pickins—E. Z. Pickins."

Of course, this is so simple few people think to use it. But the of the City government for all ceremonial purposes.

The 1950 assessed valuation of Sanford was put at $14,502,154, according to H. N. Sayer, city clerk. This valuation represents more than 60 percent of all real estate values.

The bonded indebtedness of the City is now $4,500,000, including water utility bonds. The ad valorem tax rate totals 17.4 mills of which 9 mills are levied for debt service and 8.4 for operating expenses.

J. F. McClelland who is chairman of the County Commission once served as sheriff. The other commissioners are H. B. Pope, engineer and auto parts merchant; O. E. Fouraker, grove operator; B. C. Dodd, dairyman and W. L. Sieg, retired school principal.

Supervision and maintenance of the roads in the county, securing of new rights-of-way, drainage and engineering problems occasion much of the attention of the county commissioners. They also supervise the County Home and Infirmary.

C. P. Herndon, clerk of the Circuit Court, serves also as clerk for the Commission and county. Senator L. E. Bogle is attorney for the Commission. Meetings are held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of each month.

Once a year the Commission meets as an equalization board in order to examine tax rolls as prepared by Tax Assessor Sanford F. Doudney, and to equalize assessments in accordance with adjacent and similar property.

The Commission has no jurisdictional authority over such duly elected officers as County Judge Douglas Stenstrom, Sheriff P. A. Meas, Mr. Doudney, tax assessor or John L. Galloway, tax collector, as these duties are prescribed by law. The Commission, however, pays all bills presented, following certification of approval.

Assessed valuation of property in Seminole County is $38,274,048, an increase of $1,000,000 over 1949.

Seminole County levies a special 20 mill tax, 10 mills of which is allotted to the County schools and 10 for general upkeep and maintenance. An additional millage averaging 10 mills is levied in each of six school districts. This results in a total of 20 mills levy for maintenance of schools.

Homestead exemption up to $5,000 is allowed for operating millage, but all homes are assessed for school bond millage.

The County School Board has five members, each representing a district. These include L. E. Jordan, Oviedo; John Brumley, and W. A. Patrick, Sanford; J. A. Billine, Longwood and C. F. Harrison, Geneva.

Under the new plan the County has three school trustees, R. F. Cooper, Mrs. A. D. Rountree and Roy L. Howell.
