'Roll Of Thunder...' No 'Black Waltons,' But... By JOAN HANAUER

and the second second property in

UPI Television Writer NEW YORK (UPI) - In some parts of the rural South in 1933 a school bus was more likely to run over black children than take them to school. "Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry" is a three-part mini series that tells about a black family in Mississippi in those days. It will be broadcast on ABC June 2, 3 and 4 (8-9 p.m., Eastern time, the first two nights, 7-8 p.m. on the final evening).

Based on two novels by Mildred Taylor, the story deals with how a black girl named Cassie Logan was forced to do a lot of growing up during her 11th year. It is no "black Waltons," although the style is reminiscent of John-Boy recalling his youth. The loving family and the Great Depression both are essential to the story, but in "Roll of Thunder" the comparatively affluent black family has problems more frightening and more violent than ever struck the Walton clan.

Cattle lives with the grand stiller (Claudia McNeil), her school teacher-mother (Janet MacLachlan) and her three brothers on a partially mortgaged farm that is coveted by the richest local white landowner.

Her father (Robert Christian) is away much of the year working on the railroad to pay off the mortgage. When the neighborhood is troubled by the night-riding Wallace family, father brings a quiet-spoken and immensely strong unemployed friend home as unpaid hired hand and bodyguard.

The humiliations for black children brought up with pride who had not yet learned their "place" were overwhelming - from not being allowed to ride the school bus the driver of which would swerve toward the black children threateningly) to being thrown into the gutter by

There are a two token white good guys - one a lawyer, the other a child - but basically it is a story of black pride and white prejudice, touchingly told and beautifully ac-

"Roll of Thunder" is an excellent series for family viewing, combining solid dramatic values and a tear or two with a history lesson today's youngsters should learn.

NBC took first place in the Nielsen ratings this week, followed by ABC, and with CBS in third place despite a decent but not spectacular showing of "The Dain Curse" (third, 10th and 13th in the ranking). "Dain" in many cities had unusual competition from the syndicated "The Rastard."

The top network television programs for the week ending May 28, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were: 1: "Laverne & Shirley"; 2: "Three's Company"; 3: "Dain Curse" (part 1); 4: "Happy Days"; 5: "Police Story", 6: M-X-S-ri"; 7: "Carter Country"; 8: "Bing Crosby: His Life and Legend"; 9: Little House on the Prairie"; 10: (tie) "Dain Curse" (part 3) and "Class of

Lake Mary Annexation Declared Invalid By Court

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission has been successful in one of four lawsuits it has filed against cities in the county challenging annexations.

Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court Judge Dominick Salfi has ruled invalid Lake Mary's annexation in February, 1977 of the 64-acre tract known in the city as the Wheeler property.

The ruling returns the property to county jurisdiction The ruling, however, did not address the major issue in all the suits - the meaning of the word "enclave."

The county in challenging the Wheeler annexation and the Heathrow annexations by Lake Mary; the Deer Run annexation by Casselberry and a car lot annexation by Longwood has said that the annexations created enclaves. The word is not defined in the state annexation law. The cities have contended that an enclave is a county area wholly surrounded by city property while the county insists it is a county area wholly or partially surrounded by city property. The basis used by Judge Salfi in invalidating the annexation was that the property annexed is owned by B.F. Wheeler Jr., Miriam L. Martin and Clara Lee Evans, yet the petition for annexation accepted by Lake Mary was signed solely by Wheeler and the city did not receive evidence that Wheeler had authority to act on behalf of the other owners.

"Without such a finding by the city this court must find that the applicant, B.F. Wheeler Jr.'s signature did not bind the other owners ... " Salfi's decision said. The property includes about 38 acres west of the railroad tracks and south of Crystal Lake and 26 acres east of the railroad tracks and adjoining the southern portion of the Sanford city limits. In challenging the annexation, the county contended:

. The petition (for annexation) did not bear the signatures of all of the property owners. . The property annexed was not continguous and reasonably

The property was basically agricultural and not to be developed for any urban purpose. The annexation created an enclave. The court voided the annexation based only on the first contention and did not rule on the other three contentions. If a new petition containing the signatures of all the property owners is submitted to Lake Mary and the city re-annexes the property, the county could file another suit challenging it. The court then would have to address that to the unarguered questions raised in a new suit and the county would probably raise the same question of enclave again.

Lake Mary Annexation Declared Invalid By Court

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission has been successful in one of four lawsuits it has filed against cities in the county challenging annexations.

Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court Judge Dominick Salfi has ruled invalid Lake Mary's annexation in February, 1977 of the 64-acre tract known in the city as the Wheeler property.

The ruling returns the property to county jurisdiction. The ruling, however, did not address the major issue in all the

Ambassador's Wife Killed

MADRID, Spain (UPI) - Terrorists attacked the car of the Turkish ambassador to Spain in downtown Madrid today, killing the ambassador's wife, his brother-in-law and the chauffeur, the national news agency EFE reported.

A group calling itself "Armenian Genocide Justice" claimed responsibility for the attack in a call to a news agency, EFE said.

The car of Ambassador Zeki Kuneralp was attacked during the morning rush hour by three pistol firing assailants, killing his wife, Necla Kuneralp, his chauffeur, Antonio Torres. Olmedo, and the ambassador's brother-in-law.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) - Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, appearing weary from the strain, completes a four-day visit to Czechoslovakia today.

The time of the Soviet leader's departure for Moscow was not disclosed, but he was scheduled to receive the diplomatic corps in a glittering morning reception at Prague Castle before leaving.

He also was expected to sign with Czechoslovak President Gustav Husak a fiveyear joint economic plan to take effect in 1980.

As of today, stores in Seminole County and elsewhere selling diet and other foods containing saccharin must post these signs warning customers of a potential cancer hazard. The black, red and white warning signs are required as part of the law Congress passed last year when it temporarily blocked an outright ban on saccharin. The law also requires specific written warnings on the labels of all foods containing saccharin. The signs will remain in place while the Food and Drug Administration and the National Cancer Institute continue their survey of people in five states and four metropolitan areas to determine if the artificial sweetener really does cause bladder cancer in humans, as it did in laboratory rats.

New Deal Shortage On County Insurance (UPI) - Florida Power

Seminole County and its insurance carrier Gallagher-Basset Orlando, have come to terms for a modification of their current insurance contract Gallagher-Bassett has sought to speed up the processing of

Under terms of the agreement hammered out during an almost three-hour meeting this week, the commission would still approve every claim settled. However, each claim would not go through as much review by the county as in the past. Gallagher-Bassett subject to commission approval. Fred Wolfe, general manager for Gallagher-Bassett, had criticized the past proceedure as a duplication of effort. He maintained the county went through the same review procedure on each claim as his firm.

tays for a claim to be reviewed, according to Wolfe. Under the new procedure, once a claim is reviewed by Gallagher-Bassett, it should only take a motion of days for it to be reviewed on the county level. At present every claim is sent to the office of Administrativ services Director Robert Ellis who reviews the claim and sends if on to County Attorney Harry Stewart for legal review. Gallagher-Bassett would handle the legal review through their retained law firm Pitts, Eubanks, Ross and Rumberger Gallagher-Bassett represents Lloyd's of London, the excess carrier for the county's insurance program. Lloyd's provides payment for any claim against the county from $300,000 to $1

One matter that troubled Wolfe was the exposure of claims when the commission votes to settle them. Wolfe told the County's Insurance Committee Wednesday he did not want all the details of an insurance settlement to go into the public record.

"It goes in the record, no matter what," Commissioner Bob French told Wolfe. "If it is part of a meeting, it becomes part of the record."

"There's no doubt about that," agreed Commissioner John Alexander. "If it is county business it goes in the record. The public has a right to know what we do." Wolfe said he did not want every "nitty gritty detail" in the public record. The county must include the name of the person making the claim and the amount of the settlement in the public record, if the commission approves the settlement, according to County Attorney Harry Stewart.

"I think the position you are trying to create is one of let's not go through a great deal of fanfare," said County Administrator Roger Neiswender. - MAX ERKILETIAN

Nationwide Initiative?

The state of the second second

A Gallup Poll indicates that 57 percent of the people in the United States would go along with the idea of including a provision for initiative and referendum in the U.S. Constitution.

Under such an amendment, citizens could petition for a nationwide vote on issues or proposed federal laws - a process now found only at the state and local level of government.

The poll is encouraging news for Sens. James Abourezk of South Dakota and Mark Hatfield of Oregon, chief sponsors of a Voter Initiative Amendment in Congress.

Inasmuch as the amendment has not emerged from the Senate Judiciary Committee, which held hearings on it last December, they may need encouragement

Members of Congress cannot embrace the measure without an implied admission that their own legislative body is not as responsive as it should be to the public will.

Backers of the initiative can argue that it represents a constructive refinement of the democratic process, giving people a more direct voice in their government. If it is working in 23 states, why not at the federal level?

That's just the point. There are 27 states which have not ventured into initiative lawmaking, and their people may have good reasons not to.

Further, making policy and writing laws for a country of more than 200 million people, with their regional interests and differences, is a quantum jump from state government.

Our federal union of states is not a mirror of state governments in spite of some similarities on the surface.

True enough, Congress often equivocates and compromises in dealing with controversial national issues - trying the patience of partisans on either side. But is that a weakness of our representative democracy, or one of its strengths?

An acknowledged danger in "pure" democracy is that it can create a tyranny of the majority.

The plodding progress of federal legislation through congressional hearings, the hairsplitting language of legislative bills, the political horsetrading that often lies behind narrow roll-call votes like it or not, that is often how the minority view makes its imprint on laws passed by the majority in representative bodies.

The initiative short-circuits that process.

Plebiscites, like opinion polls, are handy ways to measure public thinking, but initiative measures on ballots can easily oversimplify complex issues. Indeed, the Gallup Poll summarized the question of a national initiative in only 58 words before asking respondents whether they favored it or not. Californians by and large have used the initiative responsibly since it became a tool for grassroots democracy in the state in 1911.

Rarely have they gone off the deep end in support of attractive but unsound propositions. The deepest water tested in many years is the Proposition 13 tax initiative on the ballot Tuesday. If the Jarvis-Gann initiative is approved, and by some magic fulfills its promise of cutting taxes orderly provision of government services, then Sens. Abourezk and Hatfield may be even more encouraged.

On the other hand, California's experience this year may provide a good argument for letting their ndment die a quiet death in committee.

Labor's Changing Collar

tendance in Atlanta has slipped below the 10,000

By DON GRAFF

An interesting thing is happening on the way to the post-industrial society. It might be called the whitening of labor's

For the past decade, employment in the sited States has been expanding most rapidly in what would be considered for the most part whilecollar occupations-primarily in the areas of service and government. These now absorb 72 percent of the entire working population.

The shift has not, however, been reflected in organized labor, which has continued to draw most of its numbers from the shape its policies primarily in the interests of blue-collar workers. That organizational lag may be approaching an end

One interesting omen is the emergence of a public-employee union, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), as possibly the largest entity in the AFL-CIO. Topping the millionmember mark with its absorption of a previously independent New York employees union, the AFSCME is challenging the United Steelworkers for the No. 1 position.

The consequences not only for the labor establishment but for the economic and political status quo could be considerable. The employees leadership has long been critical of blue-collar orientation of the AFL-ClO and in particular of the policies of its 85-year-old president; George Meany. The AFSCME leadership has made it clear that with its new membership clout, it will demand "first-class membership" in the labor movement and a strong voice in the formulation of its policies. Which could eventually make a considerable difference in where and how labor applies its weight in public affairs. The position of the employees and similar unions on key public together we cut the cultivation costs by two- issues tends to be more liberal than that of the thirds and the high cost of harvest will be totally blue become one of the more conservative power At first glance, this proposal may leave you centers in U.S. society.

Sonics Bid For 3-2 NBA Edge Tonight

SEATTLE (UPI) - The NBA championship playoff series is a furious scramble once again.

TAR BEARING STRAND

The Washington Bullets and Seattle SuperSonics go into Game 5 in the Seattle Center Colliseum tonight tied at two games spiece. On Tuesday, trailing by 15 points, the Bullets were just 14 and a half minutes away from a 3-1 deficit - a disadvantage no team has ever overcome in the NBA final. But before a record crowd of 39,457 in the Kingdome, the Bullets came back for a 120-116 vertime victory, ending the Sonics' 21-game home court winning streak. For Seattle's rookie forward Jack Sikma, the Sonics' loss was a disappointment and a lost

For the Bullets' perennial AllStar forward Elvin Hayes, the come-from-behind victory rekindled hopes for the recognition that goes with a championship season. Sikma and Hayes each start at a power forward for their respective teams and in a game that went right down to the wire each scored 20 points on eight field goals and four-of-five from the foul line. "With or without them (the 21 consecutive home court wins) the loss was disappointing," said Sikma. "It was a big game for us - if we had won we were up 3-1 and they would've had to win three straight, two of them

Hayes refused to talk to reporters after the Bullets blew

TOYOTA'S MILLION-DOLLAR-DASH FOR THE 1980 OLYMPIC GAMES,

SOMETHING FOR THE U.S. OLYMPIC ATHLETES. A $1,000,000 DONATION.

As you may know, our Olympic athletes are not government subsidized. So they need money to train now if they're going to win in Moscow in 1980.

Here's our plan: Toyota and your participating Toyota dealer will make a donation for the U.S. Olympic team every time a new Toyota car or truck is sold through June 30th, 1978. Help us make our sales goal, so we can give $1,000,000 or more, to help build a tough U.S. team. When you buy a new Toyota, you'll also get a specially designed Olympic pin, patch, and a certificate thanking you for your support. Now you can get a tough Toyota, and a tough Olympic team.

WASHINGTON (UPI) The advertising, food and toy industries have swiftly at-tacked the Federal Trade Commission's proposed crackdown on the way sugary foods may be touted to children on television.

In the little more than a month since the FTC formally published its proposal, several petitions have been filed with the agency seeking to delay or otherwise revamp the proceeding, including one request that FTC Chairman Michael Pertschuk remove himself from the case because of his outspoken views on the subject.

A check of public records in the case by UPI shows the legal maneuvering so far has filled one and a half volumes and is likely to spill over into countless others. In addition the proposal is under attack in Congress where it has survived one attempt to hill it in a House committee but faces a similar test on the Senate side. The program which the agency published April 27 involves an investigation of three possible approaches: A ban on all advertising on programs aimed at young children; a ban on candy, sugared snack and possibly cereal ads on programs primarily viewed by children, and a requirement that advertisers of sugared foods pay for TV counter-ads promoting nutrition

One petition filed by the Association of National Advertisers Inc., the American Association of Advertising Agencies, the American Advertising Federation and the Toy -FTC Chairman not be allowed to rule on the matter because of a "distinct emotional bias" and com-promised impartiality.

The groups cited a speech in which Pertschuk said ad-vertisers "seize on the child's trust and exploit it as a weakness for their gain." An aide said Pertschuk was studying the request and would reply, with the response then being subject to review by the other three Ners.

The Association of National The Association of National Advertisers Inc., in a separate publish a more specific proposal on what it considers unfair or deceptive about sugary food ad-vertising, rhapsodized about the joys of candy: "It did not await TV commercials for children to be raised in the tradition that be raised in the tradition that sweets are to be treasured: as rewards for good behavior; as symbols of endearment, celebration and enjoyment.

"Television advertising did not bring them; restricting it. will not change them."

Kleiner By DICK KLEINER DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me why they call "The Midnight Special" "The Midnight Special?" It doesn't come on at midnight but comes on at one o'clock in the morning? MARIA JOHNSON, Kalamazoo, Mich.

For years, the Saturday Evening Post came out, every week, on Thursday. And they never heard of French-fried potatoes in France. Lots of things are misnamed. "The Midnight Special." when it was first presented, was at midnight, once or twice. By the time they changed the time, they found they had a name the public liked, so they simply kept it.

DEAR DICK: So many of the actors I see on soap operas are on commercials. Which comes first, the acting jobs or the commercials? H. GOSSARD, Hagerstown, Md.

In the first place commercials are acting jobs, too, but I know what you mean. There is no hard and fast rule. Sometimes an actor with a flourishing soap-opera career will go out for a commercial job and get it. Sometimes people casting a soap opera will see an actor on a commercial who's the perfect type they're looking for and hire him. It can work both ways.

DEAR DICK: Sometime this winter, on "Little House On the Prairie," a baby was born to Caroline (Karen Grassle) and Charles (Michael Landon). Could you please tell me what it was? A boy or a girl? IDA CONDOR. Clarksburg, Pa. A girl, named Grace. And Baby Grace, as they are calling her, will be a major part of the series next season DEAR DICK: I have a tough one. I heard over the radio once that the reason John Wayne was so interested in Panama and so friendly to Panama was that he married the daughter of the Panamanian ambassador. Is this fact or rumor? RED-BLOODED TRUE BLUE AMERICAN PATRIOT MARY VIRGILLO, West Covina. Calif.

der: Josephine Saenz, an American girl of Spanish-French descent; Esperanza Baur, a Mexican girl of Mexican-German descent; and Pilar Palette, a girl from Peru. Not a Panamian in the crowd. And no ambassador, either, although Miss Saenz' father was the consul in Los Angeles for the Dominican Republic years ago.

DEAR DICK: Please settle a bet. My mother says that the mother-in-law on "Baby, I'm Back" is the same actress who played Aunt Esther on "Sanford and Son." I say no. Who's right? ROB MCCRIGHT, Tucson, Ariz. You are. Helen Martin plays the mother-in-law on Baby, I'm Back," and Luanda Page was Aunt Esther on "Sanford and Son." DEAR DICK: Would you please inform me as to the make and year of the convertible used by Peter Falk on "Columbo." I have asked many car buffs, but no one knows for certain. I.M. I've answered this a dozen times, but - one more time. It's a '57 Peugeot 403. There were

CURIOUS, Schoolcraft, Mich. only a few made, and fewer than that imported to the U.S. So it is a true rarity. DEAR DICK: Since no one else can tell me. can you? What ever happened to Lawrence Welk's cousin who played the drums on his show? H.M., Mount Holly, N.J. That was Johnny Klein, who retired from being an active, working musician. He is still in the Welk family, employed now as a music librarian.

DEAR DICK: On "Little House On the Prairie," has Melissa Sue Anderson really gone blind? If not, will the character Mary remain blind and be seen less of? D.S., Sanford, Fla. No, Miss Anderson sees as well as ever. It was only the character who lost her sight.
