No ring-ring at City Hall

SANFORD — The Sanford City Hall was without telephone service for some time this morning. Southern Bell's Larry Strickler says the disruption apparently was caused as the result of a power outage that occurred before the city hall opened at 8:30 this morning.
Strickler says the phone service was restored by 9:45. The city hall is believed to be the only area which had the problem.

Thanksgiving food

SANFORD — For the seventh consecutive year, members of the Greater Orlando Association of Realtors will be donating food, supplies and gift certificates for distribution to local organizations who supply food to area needy families during the holiday season.
Today, between 1 and 4 p.m., realtors will be distributing thousands of pounds of food and gift certificates to Sanford Christian Sharing Center, Seminole Christian Sharing Center, Coalition for the Homeless, and the Mustard Seed.

Sinkhole arrests

LONGWOOD — Seminole County deputies arrested four people yesterday for trespassing at the sinkhole on Hunt Club Boulevard in the Wekiva area.

Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said the four were not booked, but were given notices to appear in Seminole County court on Dec. 12.

McDonough said the arrests were made after the property owner, Bill Chaffis, said he was willing to prosecute any person found trespassing on the sinkhole property.

Chaffis has reportedly agreed to erect a fence today.

At latest word, the sinkhole measured 80 feet across and 55 feet deep.

Sheriff's deputies are providing security at the sinkhole.

McDonough said the security is being provided by reserve deputies who do not get paid for the work which means the security is not costing taxpayers.

More sinkhole news

LAKE MARY — How much dirt — and money — can a sinkhole swallow?

A lot, according to the county Public Works Department. A county road superintendent estimates it cost $15,000 in dirt and labor to fill the Mandarin Estates sinkhole this past weekend. Tom George said about 2,000 cubic yards of dirt — 130 truckloads — was needed this weekend to fill the gaping hole at 1890 Crowley Circle west of Interstate 4.

The hole, about 40 feet wide and nearly 60 feet deep, ate more than 40 truckloads before progress was noted, said George. "We thought we had it plugged twice, but it fell through," he said. "I guess three times was charmed."

The sinkhole gobbled up a portion of Crowley Circle and a sidewalk. Those repairs will cost an estimated $5,000, said George.

Lake still rising

Water may soon spill over seawall

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Lake Monroe could rise another foot in the coming weeks, enough water to flow over the seawall and flood surrounding areas.

Yesterday, the lake at Sanford Marina was measured at 6.57 feet above mean sea level, 18 inches above the 5.02-foot level it reached before Tropical Storm Gordon rains began last Tuesday. By Nov. 18, the lake reached 6.21 feet, a rise of more than four inches a day.

Tom Ziegler, senior professional engineer with the St. Johns River Water Management District, said this morning the lake may rise to 7.75 or 8 feet during the next three to four weeks.

"There's really no way of predicting how high it could go, but we don't think that's far off," said Ziegler. "If it's within an inch of the seawall now, that'll put it over."

The level could place the lake level at a level rarely reached in recent decades. Following Hurricane Donna in September 1960, the level crested at 8.14 feet. At that time, Seminole Boulevard and even portions of First Street were flooded.

But the real doozy of the century was in October 1953, when after a summer of heavy rains, the lake crested at 8.57 feet. File See Water, Page 5A

High waters erode shoreline

By NICK PFEIPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Although the city of Sanford managed to have little damage from the winds of Tropical Storm Gordon, there was damage nonetheless, caused by the waves on Lake Monroe, especially at north side of the Monroe Harbor Marina.

With the water level higher than it has been in several years, the water blasting against the shoreline along the marina's northern side has caused considerable erosion. At places, the water wore away the earth under the grassy areas at the northeastern parking lot area, causing an almost cave-like situation.

Benson tapped Longwood mayor; Carrico is deputy

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — It is madam mayor in the City of Longwood now. Iris Benson was elected mayor by a 3-2 vote Monday night. Jim Carrico will be deputy mayor under the district rotation method used to fill that post.

Benson faced off with former deputy mayor Ron Sargent for the top spot and came away as mayor with the backing of new commissioners Bill Winton, Carrico and her own vote. Annamarie Vacca nominated Sargent for mayor.

In a prepared statement, Benson thanked her backers and said she is looking to the future to develop and expand commercial areas and to make the city a better place to live.

"I wish to thank my fellow commissioners for their support and confidence in my election as mayor. I especially wish to thank our new deputy mayor Jim Carrico and commissioner Bill Winton for their support. I look upon this election as an opportunity to bring the City of Longwood into the 21st century which is less than six years away. I also hope that my election will improve relations between factions which exist in our city."

When asked how she knew Carrico and Winton would support her for mayor, she denied discussing it See Longwood, Page 5A

Poverty before murder

SANFORD — The abject poverty in which a North Carolina sharecropper's family was raised was described by several defense witnesses during the penalty phase of the Merle Coffield case Monday.

Coffield, 44, pleaded guilty to first degree murder in the 1988 stabbing death of Li Teh Vu, owner of Mr. C's Southern Fried Chicken, 2100 S. French Avenue, Sanford. Circuit Court Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. is hearing evidence for the sentencing. See Penalty, Page 5A

School board to choose a chairman

Third dead prostitute similar to others

MIAMI — The body of a third prostitute strangled in as many months had writing on it that indicated the death may be linked to two other slayings, authorities said.

Charity Fay Nava, 23, was found dead early Sunday. Authorities believe the writing on her back was by the killer or killers.

We're characterizing it as a very unusual message," Metro-Dade investigations chief John Farrell said Monday.

Police, who won't elaborate on the writing, say the similarities in the cases include that the three frequented the same area as prostitutes and that all three bodies were found along roadsides in southwest Miami's Westchester section.

Neither of the first two victims had writings on their bodies, police said.

The body of Elisa "Daphne" Martinez, 44, was found Oct. 8. Lazaro Comesana, a 27-year-old male prostitute, was found dead on Sept. 17. He wore female clothing.

Police say one of the victims carried the AIDS virus.

Builder convicted of defrauding county

MIAMI — A builder accused of cheating Dade County out of $200,000 for federally subsidized repairs at a housing project was convicted of submitting false documents to defraud the government.

Eduardo Grenet, 67, was found guilty Monday of 10 counts of submitting phony documents. But the jury acquitted him of five counts of mail fraud and an additional count of submitting a false document.

U.S. District Judge Lenore Neshitt set sentencing for Feb. 13. Grenet, who remains free on $50,000 bond, faces up to fifty years in prison.

His attorney, Fred Schwartz, said he would appeal.

Prosecutors said Grenet and his company, Carolina Construction, submitted phony invoices — in the names of other firms — to support inflated billings to the county.

Big limb topples on Edison home

FORT MYERS — An 8-ton limb from the trunk of a fig tree planted by Thomas Edison broke off and crashed into a guest room at the inventor's estate.

The Moreton Bay fig was planted some 75 years ago in Edison's quest to find a domestic rubber source. It grew to a height of 60 feet and became the largest of its kind in the state.

Nearly half of the tree, which is about 4 feet round at its base, toppled Sunday into a room once used by Edison's servants. Damages were estimated at $10,000.

The room isn't shown during tours and was empty except for some old chairs. Tours went on as usual.

Museum officials found some rotten wood in the tree and also say winds from Tropical Storm Gordon may be partly to blame for the break.

Revenue department deletes 200,000

TALLAHASSEE — Revenue officials say they have trimmed about 500,000 addresses — including some who are dead — from their mailing list for child-support account statements.

The first round of statements, which numbered about 700,000, went to many people who shouldn't have received them. That occurred after child-support enforcement was moved out of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

A new mailing will go out in the next several weeks to about 300,000 families — just those cases in which support payments are owed, Revenue Director Larry Fuchs told a news conference Monday.

The new statements may still contain erroneous information on how much money has been collected and distributed, but Fuchs said recipients are being asked to call their case analysts about any errors.

"We're using the responses from the people who get the notices for further purification," Fuchs said, adding it may take three to four quarterly mailings — up to a year — to get the details corrected.

HRS Secretary Jim Towey said the Department of Revenue got an erroneous mailing list because it asked for all child support cases, instead of those where it had actually been determined that payments were owed.

Despite the mailing misfire, Fuchs called the transfer of the 2,300-employee child support enforcement division into the 3,100-employee Department of Revenue an overall success.

The problems didn't interfere with payments to the people who were already receiving them, he said.

Lawmakers sought tougher collections by moving child-support enforcement from the social services agency to the tax-collecting agency.

In the next few months, private companies also will be asked to try their hand at going after child-support delinquents, Fuchs said.

The department will put out a request before the fiscal year ends June 30 for proposals from companies wanting to take part in a pilot program, he said.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

New leaders to be picked today

Republicans gain power as lawmakers meet

By ADAM YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Republicans will finally have the chance to run a state legislative body in Florida now that the GOP is officially taking control of the Florida Senate.

"We're excited about the opportunity to lead the Senate for the first time in history," said Sen. Jim Scott of Fort Lauderdale, who will be elected as president of the 40-member chamber when the Legislature holds its one-day organization session today.

Scott won the right to head the 40-member chamber when the GOP captured 21 Senate seats in this month's elections.

He will be the first Republican to serve a full two-year term in the post.

Scott hasn't disclosed specifics of what he hopes to accomplish, but he said he would focus on crime, schools, the environment, government streamlining and economic development.

In the 120-member House, where Democrats are clinging to a slim majority, Rep. Peter Rudy Wallace, D-St. Petersburg, is expected to be sworn in as speaker for the next two years.

Twenty-two members of the Senate and 120 members of the House will be sworn in today. The one-day session precedes committee meetings that lead up to the March 7 regular session.

Voters approved moving back the 60-day session one month to give lawmakers more time to prepare legislation.

It was an unusual scenario Monday for Senate Democrats as they met to elect a leader who will serve as something other than president.

Gov. Lawton Chiles, who faces potential headaches trying to pass his legislative proposals, gave cousin kin hats to the senators. During his re-election campaign, Chiles dubbed himself the "he-con," or the smartest, toughest racoon in the forest.

The Senate's 19 Democrats chose Sen. Ken Jenne of Fort Lauderdale as their leader.

Chiles urged the Senate Democrats to improve communications with the public and avoid gridlock with Republicans.

Killer of two girls gets eight life terms

By The Associated Press

TAVARES — A teen-ager who raped a mother and forced her two terrified little girls to watch before killing the children is going to prison for life without a chance for parole.

Alfonso "Junior" Smalls, 16, was sentenced Monday to eight consecutive life terms for the rape and attempted murder of Dorothy Reid Lewis and the murder of her two daughters, Jasmine, 3, and Jamilya, 7 last year.

The family was shopping for a church dinner in the Central Florida town of Eustis when they were abducted Jan. 30.

State sentencing guidelines recommended a sentence that could have freed Smalls in 25 years, but Tavares County Circuit Judge Mark J. Hill ignored the guidelines.

Spectators wept openly when a prosecutor read a statement from the mother, who allowed her name to be publicized following her ordeal.

In the note, Lewis told of her agony over the loss of her children, "who had never done anything in their lives to deserve the horrible deaths which they endured, who did not deserve to be put through the torment and pain that they endured."

"These were just children," she wrote.

Prior to the sentencing, Lewis' sister, Margaret Reid-Lewis, begged the judge "not to let this animal's age sway your decision" and to "show him the same mercy he showed Dorothy, Jamilya and Jasmine."

Robbers storm center and terrify 70 children

By The Associated Press

CAROL CITY — Two armed men stormed a day-care center and held a gun to a teacher's head, terrifying 70 preschoolers who were ordered to hit the floor while their teachers and center were robbed.

No one was injured at the Skipper Chuck's Child Care Center on Monday, but teachers said it took hours to calm the 4- and 5-year-olds down.

"He was waving a gun, scaring the kids," said Vernice Mitchell, a teacher caring for the pre-kindergarten class. "I was afraid he would get paranoid and start shooting."

"I can't believe it," said Alice Williams, the center's director. "They had no regard for it being a child care center."

The two men, who were still at large early this morning, took five purses and several hundred dollars from the center's cash registers.

When police arrived, they found many of the children crying. Detectives and day care workers tried to convince the kids it had all been pretend, to show how police do their work, but it didn't work.

"Some of the older children didn't quite buy it," Williams said.

"I had two that cried until 1:30 p.m.," Mitchell said.

Williams told police she was standing at the door of the center when one of the men "pulled out a gun and yelled 'Get down and nobody gets hurt.'"

"When he said it the second time, I said, 'OK, everybody do as he says, get down,'" she said.

The men brought Williams in to loot two other classrooms before making off in a green car with dark tinted windows.

Armed robbery

Sanford police are investigating an armed robbery in front of a store in the 1500 block of W. 15th Street. The robbery reportedly occurred at 3:22 a.m. A man told police three black males approached him, and at gunpoint, took his wallet before fleeing from the area. He said the wallet did not contain any money. The first man was described as between 20 and 25 years of age, approximately five feet ten inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, wearing a white shirt with stripes, and white shorts. The second man was also reported to be five feet ten inches tall, 19 to 23 years in age and 150 pounds, wearing dark clothing with a hood. The third man, said to be carrying the small revolver, was described as six feet tall weighing 250 to 265 pounds, between 20 and 30 years of age and wearing dark clothing.

Store robbed

Sheriff's deputies report a convenience store in the 4100 block of Orange Boulevard near Sanford, was robbed at gunpoint Friday. Deputies said a man entered the store, purchased some bubble gum, then pointed a handgun at the clerk, took approximately $30 in cash and the clerk's wallet, then fled from the store. Several witnesses have reportedly supplied deputies with information concerning the case.

Robbery suspect nabbed

Sanford police arrested Willie Choice III, 22, with no local address, in connection with two separate burglaries. Police first located him in response to a residential burglary Saturday in the 1600 block of W. 17th Street. They located him several blocks away, reportedly leaving the scene. An estimated $600 in jewelry was said to have been taken during that burglary. In connection with that case, Choice was charged with burglary to an unoccupied building, and resisting an officer without violence.

During an interrogation at the Sanford police station, Choice was also believed to have been involved in a residential burglary in the 1500 block of W. 17th Street, during which $495 in property was said to have been taken.

For that case, he was given the additional charges of burglary to a dwelling and grand theft.

Dog bites man

Longwood police arrested a man as John Doe on Sunday. A K-9 handler said he conducted a license plate check on a vehicle on C.R. 427, and determined it had been stolen. He said he pursued the vehicle and stopped it on Citrus Lane, at which time the four occupants of the vehicle fled on foot. The officer, with his K-9 dog, reportedly pursued the driver, and after the man had been bitten on two occasions by the dog, was able to be apprehended. The John Doe identity was given as the man's true name could not immediately be determined. He was charged with grand theft auto and resisting an officer without violence. The man was taken to South Seminole Community Hospital for treatment of his dog bites before being transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Party time

Lake Mary police arrested Harold E. Pottruff, 23, of 470 Gehr Lane, Lake Mary, following a reported campfire party Sunday. Police said they found Pottruff and three others on vacant land east of Rinehart Road Sunday, and asked them to leave the area. When an officer reportedly went to Pottruff's home later to question him, he said Pottruff struck him. Pottruff was arrested on charges of trespassing, obstructing an officer, resisting arrest with violence, and battery on a law enforcement officer.

Traffic stops

William Hugh Anderson, 21, 69 Rock Cove, Sanford, was stopped on S.R. 434 by Winter Springs police Friday. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and having no driver's license.

Gerritt Kuiper, 43, of 119 Anderson Circle, Sanford, was stopped by Winter Springs police on U.S. Highway 17-92 Friday. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and refusing to sign a citation.

Bruce J. Delorey, 32, 712 Wynn Drive, Sanford, was stopped by Lake Mary police on Lake Mary Boulevard Sunday. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and possession of marijuana under 20 grams.

Domestic cases

Juan de Dios Aules, 39, 1005 Wainwright Drive, Oviedo, was arrested at his residence by Oviedo police Sunday following a reported fight with a female. He was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Leon D. Oliver, 21, Richard Allen Road, Lake Monroe, was arrested by deputies on Dunbar Avenue Saturday, following a reported dispute with his brother. He was charged with aggravated assault, domestic violence.

Plan: Kick immigrants off public aid

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Republicans intent on overhauling the nation's welfare system want to finance expensive new work programs for single mothers by denying public aid to thousands of legal immigrants.

The restrictions on government services and benefits to legal immigrants, with exceptions for refugees and the very elderly, are supposed to save $22 billion over five years and are part of the GOP's "Contract With America."

House Republicans have promised votes on welfare reform and nine other bills in the contract early next year.

Under their plan, legal immigrants would be barred from 60 different health, education, job training, nutrition, housing, cash and social service programs — from school lunches and foster care to rental and energy assistance.

Some of the biggest savings would come from kicking legal immigrants off Medicaid and Supplemental Security Income, which provides monthly checks of $446 to the elderly and disabled.

The number of immigrants receiving SSI has grown dramatically in recent years, from 127,000 in December 1982 to more than 700,000 today, and they now account for 12 percent of all recipients.

Many of these immigrants were brought to the United States by their children or other relatives who promised to support them, but they eventually wound up collecting public benefits.

President Clinton's own welfare reform plan sought to put some restrictions on the use of SSI by elderly immigrants whose relatives have the means to support them. A handful of moderate Democrats went even further earlier this year and embraced the GOP's near-total ban on welfare to legal immigrants.

Now after a campaign season in which public concerns about immigration were used to political advantage and California voters endorsed Proposition 187, an initiative to deny public benefits to illegal aliens, the issue is sure to be a top item in the Republican-controlled Congress.

Rep. Rick Santorum, R-Pa., said Congress will be looking for ways to finance new work programs for parents on welfare, and immigrants who get benefits are a likely target.

"People want to see something dramatic happen on welfare, some tough work requirements, and that costs money," said Santorum, who was elected to the Senate. "We need a funding mechanism and this is one of the ways to go about doing it, and it already has bipartisan support."

Robert Rector, a welfare expert with the conservative Heritage Foundation, said changes are also necessary because elderly immigrants are an increasing drain on the U.S. Treasury.

Unless the current system is reformed, taxpayers will be spending $35 billion a year providing health and welfare benefits to elderly immigrants "who have never contributed to our society," Rector said.

"There's a growing recognition that the federal welfare system cannot serve as a deluxe retirement system for elderly people from the Third World," Rector said.

However, two prominent members of the Republican Party, Jack Kemp and William Bennett, said Monday that the GOP must resist anti-immigrant sentiment if it is to be the majority party of the future.

Kemp, a potential presidential candidate in 1996, said one of the GOP's major mistakes at the turn of the century was to become "the Know Nothing party that was anti-immigrant, anti-Catholic (and) anti-black."

The Republican Party has no chance of being a majority party in this country without being the party of immigrants, without being the party of men and women who seek civil and legal and voting and equal rights, a party that is inclusionary, not exclusionary," said Kemp, who was housing secretary in the Bush administration.

Immigrant rights advocates, meanwhile, believe that support for the House GOP plan could evaporate quickly once the public realizes that it targets legal immigrants — and not people in the country illegally.

"Obviously, the climate is much uglier when it comes to providing benefits to anyone, but it's also true that there are people in the Republican Party who are uncomfortable drawing unnecessary distinctions between U.S. citizens and legal residents," said Cecilia Munoz, a senior immigration policy analyst at the National Council of La Raza, a civil rights advocacy group.

Researchers discover possible cause of prostate cancer

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE — Researchers have found a genetic defect they think might trigger prostate cancer by robbing cells of an enzyme that fights the disease.

The genetic change, which apparently alters the body's natural cancer-fighting mechanisms, appeared in the bodies of all 91 prostate victims they studied, and was nowhere to be found in the tissues of healthy men.

In 88 of the 91 victims, researchers were unable to find the cancer-fighting enzyme glutathione S-transferase, part of a group of chemicals produced in the body that fight cancer.

"It provides a tremendous clue as to how the cancers arise," said Dr. William F. Nelson, assistant professor of oncology and urology at Johns Hopkins.

Prostate cancer, the most frequently diagnosed cancer in American men, strikes about 200,000 each year, and kills about 38,000, but it can be conquered if detected early enough.

If this change in the DNA does prove to be the trigger, tests might be developed that could spot the defect and thus identify future prostate cancer patients before the disease progresses, researchers said.

"If continued research confirms this hypothesis, tests for the enzyme could serve as an early diagnostic marker for prostate cancer," Nelson said.

The findings were reported in Monday's edition of Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences. A 1992 study at Johns Hopkins found that eating vegetables like broccoli, cauliflower and brussels sprouts stimulates the production of similar cancer-fighting enzymes and may help fight prostate and other cancers.

Emerging downtown

Lake Mary is looking at the future of the downtown area. There used to be one as much as 40 years ago and earlier.

Growth however, has overcome Lake Mary as with many other cities. New businesses spring up, but away from the old downtown area. Only a handful of the original business buildings remain.

The city hired Bruce Andersen, a noted architect who has been responsible for planning on many major developments in Central Florida. This past week, Andersen presented his first round of concepts to the city commission.

Basically, he is imagining a four block area north of the city hall (but not including it), along Country Club Road for development.

There are a number of businesses and residents in the area Andersen has described. There are also some civic buildings.

We can easily imagine the people who own, occupy or use these buildings in the four block area will be very concerned that the city is planning on making them disappear. Such is not the case.

How simple it would be if the city owned all of the four blocks, could bulldoze everything out, and start from scratch to build the two story combination retail and office structures Andersen has proposed.

But not to worry. This is not what is being planned, nor what is expected to happen to existing structures.

Andersen and city officials agree that the development of a downtown Lake Mary area is not something which we will see within a year or so. Possibly nothing will be done before the turn of the century, and maybe even a decade or more from now.

But the city should be commended for launching into this matter. A fine downtown area, even a small one, could be an excellent focal point for visitors. As does Sanford, Lake Mary has already talked about antique stores, but that doesn't necessarily mean that's what will happen. There are many other attractive businesses which could find a new home in a new Lake Mary downtown area.

The best approach for citizens to take is to attend meetings and workshops where these plans will be discussed. Listen intently to what is being said, but remember, much of it is hypothetical.

Learn the facts, and whenever possible, join in the discussion.

This concept would be a great boon to Lake Mary, but in order to bring it about, it is going to require cooperation between the city, homeowners, business owners, property owners, and prospective developers.

What is done now to start the planning will go a long way toward bringing this project into fruition. If everyone works together, it can be successful.

LETTER

Sports Hall of Fame

The question in the Sanford Herald was: Is Sanford ready for a Sports Hall of Fame? A more appropriate question would've been: Can Sanford afford a Sports Hall of Fame? The answer is no.

Although baseball was a large part of life in Sanford, one has to remember that it was a long time ago. You would have to look at it from a historical perspective. And because of its historical significance it is something that should be handled by the Sanford Historical Society and the Sanford Museum, not Whitey Eckstein and the city commission.

The Sanford Museum could make room for a Sports Hall of Fame. This would be a more cost effective idea than the one Whitey is proposing.

Sanford suffers from too many deep-rooted problems such as crime, drainage problems, etc. to be throwing money at such a crazy idea as this.

Right now there are only two things that draw people to Sanford, one is the new shopping district downtown, and two, the river. Those two areas are where the city should concentrate their efforts in generating tourism.

No folks having a Sports Hall of Fame will not be Sanford's (Field of Dreams), for if they buy or build it, few will come.

GOP's Gramm: Man to watch for '96

If the 1996 presidential race began the day after last week's midterm election, who's ahead? Well, early polls say that Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., is, but chasing right behind is Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, who's got money, focus, and a tough conservative message.

Despite prodigious work on behalf of Republican candidates, most GOP analysts think that former Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander, former Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, and former Housing Secretary Jack Kemp are still second-tier candidates behind financial powerhouses Dole and Gramm.

Still, Alexander is not wasting time. He has begun readjusting his anti-Congress message ("cut their pay and send them home") to the new GOP era, most recently at a conference in Washington on the trendy topic of decentralizing the whole federal government.

Also, Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., has been expected to announce his candidacy for president on a moderate, pro-choice platform, and lawyers may quietly file papers soon with the Federal Election Commission, enabling a Gramm presidential committee to spend money.

Gramm won't officially start raising 1996 money until January, when he becomes eligible for federal matching, and probably won't declare his candidacy until about March.

Meantime, contrary to various news reports, associates say that Kemp will not announce his candidacy this week. They say that, as reported, he was energized by his courageous opposition to California's Proposition 187 on illegal immigration, but still has not decided whether to run.

A recent NBC-Wall Street Journal poll showed that Dole would beat President Clinton, 45 to 39 percent in a two-way race. Last month, Dole was ahead 45 to 43 percent.

The Republican polling firm of Fabrizio-McLaughlin showed Dole narrowly beating Clinton and Ross Perot in a three-way race, 38.4 to 34.2 to 14.3 percent.

The same poll showed that Dole was the first choice of 18.9 percent of GOP voters as the 1996 nominee, followed by Kemp at 10.9 percent, former Vice President Dan Quayle at 7.5 percent, Cheney at 3.5 percent, Gramm at 2.7 percent, Massachusetts Gov. William Weld at 2 percent, and talk-show host Pat Buchanan and Wisconsin Gov. Tommy Thompson at 1 percent each.

Chasing right behind is Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, who's got money, focus, and a tough conservative message.

The poll did not list Oliver North, who may decide to skip intermediate steps and run for president in 1996 and probably would become the instant favorite of the radical right, washing out Quayle and Buchanan.

Nor did it list retired Gen. Colin Powell, some of whose friends are urging that he run as a Republican. But an unauthorized Powell-for-president committee headed by former U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner Arthur Fletcher and assisted by GOP fund-raiser Margaret Alexander reportedly has formed.

Despite Dole's lead and the attention he will draw as Senate Majority Leader, several GOP analysts say that Gramm got at least as much TV exposure during and after the 1994 elections, and will be freer than Dole to stake out hard conservative positions in the months to come.

"You can have either a senatorial agenda or a presidential agenda," says Republican operative Eddie Mabe. "The presidential agenda is about visions of the future."

JOSEPH SPEAR

Don't let Newt speak for the GOP

In 1989, Washington Post cartoonist Herb Block depicted Richard Nixon for the first time without a five-o'clock shadow. Every new president deserves a clean shave, Herblock said.

I had similar thoughts about House Speaker-To-Be Newton Leroy Gingrich, but I came to my senses before I could find a razor. There'll be no clean shaves for Newt in this corner of your newspaper.

Before all the Newtite Groupies dash off to implore their editors to quit wanting space on heretics, let me say that this is not a knock on the Republican agenda, or even Newt's agenda. I admit I'm not been on a school prayer amendment because I believe the government ought to be neutral in matters of religion. And I think the idea of reviving Star Wars is stupid.

But I do agree that a vigorous national debate on the role of government is long overdue. I am in favor of a balanced-budget amendment. I support the line-item veto. And I love the idea of limiting the fools on the Hill to a few terms in office.

No, my argument with Newt Gingrich has little to do with his agenda. It has to do with Newt Gingrich — more precisely, with the demotic Mr. Hyde half of Newt Gingrich. He is a nasty, bomb-throwing, slash-and-burn, fanatical, egotistical guttersnipe. He is as responsible for the hostile atmosphere that currently pervades this nation as any man on earth.

Newt's opponents are not honorable adversaries; they are "weird," "bizarre," "socialist." Former Speakers Carl Albert, Thomas "Tip" O'Neill and Jim Wright were not just partisan; they were a "trio of muggers." Wright was not just dishonest; he had a "Mussolini-like ego" and was "the most corrupt speaker in the 20th century." Fellow Republican Robert Dole is not just a moderate; he is a "tax collector for the welfare state."

Newt once advised Republicans to use "contrast words" to describe Democrats, and he offered examples: "decay, failure, shallow, traitors, pathetic, corrupt, incompetent, sick." Woody Allen's romance with his lover's daughter, Newt said, was in perfect harmony with Democratic morals. The woman who killed her children in South Carolina reflected Democratic values.

Let the man be measured by people who know him best.

Former campaign press secretary Lee Howell, speaking to Newsweek: "There's the Newt Gingrich who is the intellectual, appealing and fun to be with. Then there's the Newt who is the bloodthirsty partisan who'd just as soon cut your guts out as look at you. And who, very candidly, is mean, mean as hell."

Rev. Brantley Harwell, minister of a Baptist church that Gingrich used to attend, speaking to the Wall Street Journal: "Newt is amoral when it comes to politics. He's not a builder... It's so easy to tear down."

Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., speaking to the New York Times Magazine: "Newt enjoys smearing people's character. He contributes to the destruction of the body politic."

Ex-Congressman Ben Jones, Democrat of Georgia, speaking to USA Today: "This is a dangerous man. He will stop at nothing to achieve his ends. He will do anything, he will say anything, he will hurt anybody. He is an amoral megalomaniac."

I am a registered independent and have been for 25 years, but if I were a Republican, I would be extremely wary of this man. I would not want him in a position in which he could actually DO anything.

There'll be no clean shaves for Newt in this corner of your newspaper.

DONNA BRITT

The most depressing of all

WASHINGTON—The article in Sunday's Washington Post was about teen-age mothers. So naturally, I found it depressing.

Policy-makers, the piece by Kay S. Hymowitz said, have difficulty understanding that not everyone is "born with an internal program to follow the middle-class life script," which reads: "Childhood, adolescence, work and, only then, marriage and childbearing."

The vast majority of people I know followed that script. Some are happy. Some are not. But most would have as much difficulty as I had relating to the 16-year-old Latina girl, with an infant daughter, whom Hymowitz quoted as once having been "sick of being the only 14-year-old virgin around." Or a pregnant Bronx girl's incredulity when asked if she'd marry her boyfriend of two years.

The girls' reactions acknowledge, as does Hymowitz, the "power of cultural norms" over teenagers, and that some subcultures value motherhood over a career.

But what really struck me was the University of Pennsylvania study that followed the children of a mostly black group of teen-age mothers from birth in the 1960s to as old as 21 in 1987. One out of four had a child before age 19. But not one who had a good relationship with a live-in father had a baby.

"Growing up with a close father," wrote Hymowitz, "a girl receives a firsthand education of the heart, and is far less likely to be swayed by the first boy who attempts to know her with compliments."

I'd spent little time considering the effect not having a dad around might have on a young girl. A friend of mine was struck by that too—because she'd experienced it.

The friend, who's 27, married and the mother of a toddler, said that although her dad died when she was 18, his alcoholism had alienated him from her long before. "Without him to bounce off acceptable mores and rules... I went through a lot of negative stuff... I was insecure, didn't feel pretty... The first person who came along to tell me I was, made a bigger dent than he should have... If I had a father—a functioning father—some of the stuff my abusive ex-boyfriend did, he wouldn't have been able to do."

She says her father's long-time problems meant she never experienced "that first flirting" that often occurs between fathers and daughters, an exchange that lets young girls "get male reinforcement without being taken advantage of."

Statistically speaking, Lafayette "Pepper" Dent, 29 of Bowie, Md., had a fine shot at becoming a destitute teen-age mom. Her own mother, who died of lupus at age 18, had Pepper when she was 13. Her father was rarely around. Dent and her sister were raised in Gary, Ind., by their grandmother, who was on welfare.

But Dent, a medical technician and a newlywed, is working on her nursing degree; her sister is a payroll supervisor in California. Growing up, Dent missed her mother—but was glad her father was absent.

"He never wanted to be a daddy for us," she says. "I would have loved to have a responsible, loving, caring father. But the goal is not just having a father, but having the right father... One really good parent is enough. That was my grandmother, who was... everything to us."

Dent has friends and relatives who became teen-age moms on welfare. Why didn't she?

"My grandmother said, 'Don't depend on anyone for anything.' We hated living on welfare... So we did everything we could to get out of it."

Ultimately, she says, "I just wanted something better for myself."

Dent's grandmother taught her what that was. Some girls haven't a clue—except for knowing that for many of their friends, and perhaps even their own mothers, "something better" was a cute, love-you-no-matter-what baby.

Pepper Dent understands these girls—she could have been one. "When I was about 13... my grandmother was afraid I'd be like (my mother)... I tried to get pregnant because my grandmother was looking at me to do it. Luckily, I didn't. It definitely wasn't rational. But it's hard when no one is telling you you're pretty, and some boy comes around and tells you you are, that you're important."

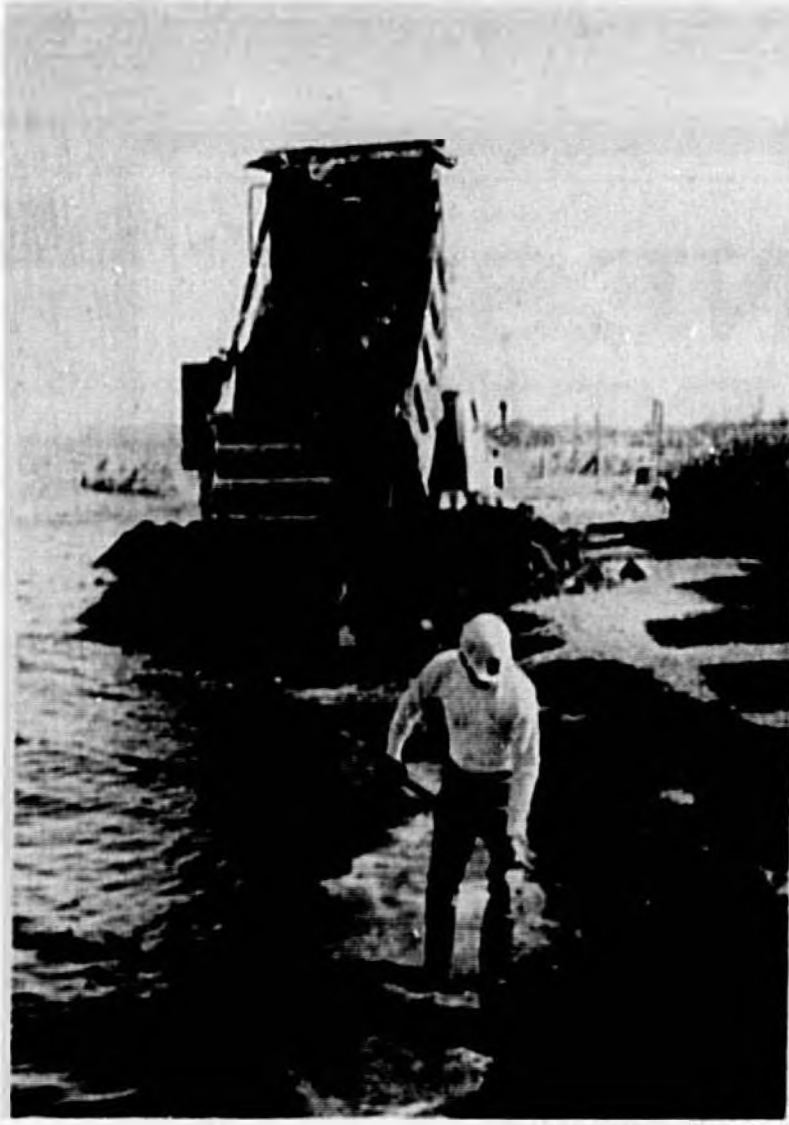

There's that "compliment" thing again. It's ironic that though the world is increasingly fed up with the notion of self-esteem as life-determiner, it keeps revealing itself as just that.

And it's ironic that as more men and women seem to pull apart, the more research suggests that the most productive way to raise children is together. That somewhere, within that maddening space between a man and a woman—or the right man and woman—is the best possible place for children to grow.

A million girls and boys will never know that. That's most depressing of all.

The vast majority of people I know followed that script. Some are happy. Some are not.

at least one area earlier this past week, by Friday, the situation was still dangerous. Sanford Public Works Director Jerry Herman examined the area with representatives of FEMA, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and state emergency management officials. "I showed them the erosion that was taking place," Herman explained, "with the possibility that they might declare it as a potential emergency situation."

In the meantime, a hydraulic excavator was working on some of the shoreline area, mostly on the northeastern side. Truckloads of fill were also being brought into the shoreline.

Herman said the area was much more eroded Friday than it had been earlier in the week when he originally checked the shoreline. "The winds from Gordon really caused the lake to have vicious waves," he said, "and they seemed to just start eating away at the shoreline." Earlier, when the storm first started its trek through Central Florida, the winds and waves managed to knock down a portion of the wooden fencing which extends out onto the lake to the east of the marina area. No repairs have been made to that area at this time, but the damage does not pose any danger to boaters entering or exiting from the docking areas.

Herman also said a large power cable which had been buried in the area had become visible because of the washing vice-chairman of the board. Though she has been nominated to the chairmanship in the past, Robinson has steadfastly turned down the nomination, saying she does not have the appropriate amount of time to dedicate to the position.

Robinson, who retained her seat on the school board for the next four years as she was unopposed in the election last month, was not available for comment on the matter this morning.

Kuhn, while refusing to predict even if Robinson might be nominated a third time for the top spot, said that she "can't turn the job down forever."

Kuhn similarly declined to comment on who might take her place at the center of the dais. "All I can tell you is who won't be the chairman next year," she said. "Me."

In addition to reorganizing the board leadership, the board will vote on the times and dates of the twice-monthly meetings. Currently, the board meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The first meeting of the month is at 3:30 p.m. the second meeting is at 7 p.m.

It is not expected that the present schedule will be changed.

The board meets tonight at 7 p.m. at the board headquarters, 1211 S. Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

photographs from the time show flood waters extending up Park Avenue to Second Street. The old City Hall was nearly surrounded in water.

But David Dale, hydrologic technician with the U.S. Geological Survey in Altamonte Springs, reports the peak of record was recorded in the Fall of 1980, when a city engineer recorded the level at 13.28 feet.

As the lake creates the seawall, lakefront visitors and residents could encounter critters usually seen at a safe distance — alligators. Lt. Joy Hill of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, reports no complaints have been received from Sanford since the storm. But Hill recommends folks take precautions if they encounter a gator.

"Don't harass them; don't attempt to move them; don't feed them," said Hill. "You should keep dogs away from them. They love small dogs. It's probably not a good idea to kick any logs. They may turn out to be a gator."

Elsewhere, the Wekiva River may have reached its storm peak at 9.77 feet, said Jeff Cole, water district spokesman. The level, measured at State Road 46, is still far below the post-Hurricane Donna height of 11.05 feet.

Cole said water managers are uncertain when Lake Jesup will peak, but believe it will not increase much more. Lakefront residents report flooded yards and docks.

"I've never spoken to them," Benson said. She did not indicate she knew of their support through any neutral third parties either.

Under the Florida "Sunshine Law," government officials are prohibited from discussing city business with one another outside a public or official meeting forum.

Benson expressed the hope the city will move forward, working with the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County to deal with the city's long time commercial sewer problem, the paving of dirt roads and beautification of city streets.

Maid gets jail for theft

SANFORD — The former maid for a wealthy Seminole County family was sentenced to nine months in jail and placed on 15 years probation after being adjudicated guilty of second degree grand theft.

Carol Susan Hanson, 39, Lake Mary, was ordered to make restitution of $34,490 to Larry Vander Maten and to stay away from the family during her probation. Another theft case is pending against Hanson, which alleges she took $200,000 from the family while employed as a maid in their Sweetwater Club home. Vander Maten discovered the theft while going over quarterly bank statements. His family was traumatized because Hanson was in a position of trust with the family. Vander Maten noted. She has shown no remorse so her former employer requested she serve jail time.

Vander Maten questioned whether all of the money has been spent. He asked that Hanson take a lie detector test to show she spent the nearly $240,000 and has not hidden some of it. He noted the Internal Revenue Service will have first claim on any restitution made by Hanson to Vander Maten as unreported income even though she stole the money. With interest and penalties, the victim said he will not receive any money. Vander Maten has a CPA background.

Hanson told Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. in court that she spent all of the money.

P&Z cancelled

LAKE MARY — The meeting of the Lake Mary Planning and Zoning Board, scheduled for 7 p.m. this evening (Tuesday) has been cancelled. The next regular P&Z meeting will be held Tuesday, Dec. 13, beginning at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall.

The defendant could be sentenced to die in the electric chair or receive life in prison without possibility of parole for 25 years.

The hearing recessed about noon Monday and will resume Dec. 5 when defense lawyers call expert witnesses to testify.

Vu tried to death after being stabbed 27 times during a robbery. His body was discovered by his sister who had tried unsuccessfully to reach the Winter Springs man at his restaurant for several hours.

A kitchen-type knife thought to be the murder weapon and the empty cash drawer from Mr. Vu were found in a garbage can near the restaurant. Cofield's palm print was identified on the knife blade and his fingerprint was one of five on the cash drawer. The other prints were not matched to anyone.

In a video tape deposition, Cofield's sister, Peggy described how their alcoholic father beat his children with anything he would get his hands on, from sticks to a hammer.

"We had to work in the fields to eat," she recalled, "we had no clothes or shoes so we couldn't go to school."

Cofield's boyhood friend, Leroy Holley recalled being told the young Cofield sometimes stayed in the woods rather than go home. "We had nothing," Holley said, recalling 10 people living in a three room shack with no electricity with holes in the roof and walls.

"We had nothing, but he had less," Holley said. "Our house was no house and his house was nothing. He didn't have anybody. We didn't have anything, but we had parents and grandparents." Cofield had nine brothers and sisters.

Cofield's brother, Bobby, said his younger brother came to Sanford to live with him. However, he made the defendant leave three or four weeks before Vu's murder for smoking crack cocaine. Bobby Cofield said he left his North Carolina home in 1958 when he was 14 or 15 after shooting at his father as he was beating his wife.

"I thought I'd killed him," Bobby Cofield said. "So I left. I knew he'd come after me." Cofield's father was not shot in the incident and is living in a nursing home.

WIN $100 CHRISTMAS PRICE COME BY FOR DETAILS!

commissioner Paul Lovstrand. Lovstrand said the nomination should be made by the commissioner elected Nov. 8. Carrico defeated Miller. Melcher does not live in district 3, but the city charter does not require an LPA member to live in the district of the commissioner who nominates. The residency guidelines prescribe representatives live throughout the city so representation is equalized.

Winston said the commission, in the city attorney's opinion, had not followed the city ordinance because data on Melcher was not in the commissioners' meeting packet the night of the vote. Sargent noted the entire commission voted on the Melcher nomination which carried by a 4-1 vote with Lovstrand voting "no." Vacca added Melcher had already served on the board six years and the commissioners were aware of his background.

Carrico said he would like the opportunity to pick a nominee from his district for the post, but Benson, Sargent and Vacca voted to let the appointment stand.

Miller, who attended the meeting to be honored for his service as mayor, asserted the challenge to Melcher's appointment being advanced by Winston were in words nearly identical to those used by Lovstrand when he attempted to delay the appointment. Winston said he was expressing his own thoughts and convictions on the matter as a commissioner, and was not being influenced by Lovstrand.

Many Longwood citizens spoke during the public participation portion of the meeting to praise city workers for work done during Tropical Storm Gordon to keep flooding to a minimum.

In other business, the commissioners:

• received a petition signed by 117 residents of Highland Hills subdivision on Rangeline Road requesting the installation of a stop sign to facilitate exiting the development. The matter will be reviewed by police chief Greg Manning who is the city traffic engineer.

• heard a request from former mayor Miller that the city request a stop light be installed by the Florida Department of Transportation at the entrance to the Chambrel retirement community on State Road 434. In addition, he suggested the city hire more motorcycle police officers to enforce speed limits.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

GOP governors optimistic

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — After years of disappointment, Republican governors are suddenly optimistic that their demands for less federal interference will be embraced by the new GOP Congress and a Democratic president looking to revive his political fortunes.

Getting their wishes could mean less federal money flowing to the states. But the GOP governors say they are willing to pay that price if Washington gives them more leeway in implementing welfare, health care, education and other programs.

"Give us the flexibility," was New Jersey Gov. Christine Todd Whitman's summary of what governors expect from the new Republican Congress.

The state GOP leaders were getting a chance to press their case today, when Senate GOP leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., and incoming House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., appear before the Republican Governors Association meeting.

International aid for Ukraine?

WASHINGTON, — Having pressed his country to give up nuclear weapons and reform its economy, Ukrainian President Leonid Kuchma now hopes to reap the benefits in desperately needed international aid.

Kuchma opens a state visit today with a red-carpet welcome from President Clinton. White House aides said Clinton would offer Ukraine an additional $200 million in aid and security assurances.

Relations took a decided turn for the better last week when the Ukrainian parliament voted to join the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty and give up the former Soviet republic's inherited nuclear arsenal.

It was the first meeting between Clinton and Kuchma and they were beginning the visit with a one-on-one session in the Oval Office. In the evening, Kuchma and his wife will be guests of honor at a state dinner.

How fat is Haagen-Dazs frozen yogurt?

WASHINGTON — Haagen-Dazs says it wasn't trying to fool anybody by claiming its frozen yogurt "is still 98 percent fat free." But federal regulators are warning they won't swallow any future claim like that unless the company can back it up.

The Federal Trade Commission announced Monday that Haagen-Dazs Co. Inc. had agreed to settle charges of false and misleading advertising, which the government said implied that the company's entire frozen yogurt line — not just certain flavors — was low fat. The company, while agreeing to the settlement, insisted the ads were not misleading.

Under the proposed settlement, which will be open to public comment for 60 days, Haagen-Dazs would be barred from misrepresenting the fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, or calorie content of any of its frozen yogurt or ice cream.

WORLD BRIEFS

NATO summons greatest force yet

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina — NATO summoned its greatest force yet to bomb a Serb airfield, but left unscathed the main threat to U.N. safe areas in northern Bosnia: Croatian Serb tanks, artillery and troops making forays across the border.

U.N. officials called the strike necessary. President Clinton said it was appropriate, and even Russia voiced lukewarm support. But the strike could, ironically, give the Bosnian and Croatian Serbs ammunition to persuade Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic to renew his backing for their cause.

On Monday, about 30 NATO fighter jets bombed an airfield in a Serb-controlled section of Croatia where three Serb air attacks originated — including one in which planes dropped napalm bombs on the U.N. haven of Bihac.

But NATO used restraint, crippling the Udbina airfield only for an estimated 30 days.

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

Sanford polar bear softball

SANFORD — The Sanford Recreation Department polar bear softball organizational meeting will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at the Downtown Youth Center, Sanford City Hall.

Teams with representatives at the organizational meeting, which will start at 6 p.m., will receive a reduction in their registration fee.

Leagues will begin play the week of Jan. 9. For details, call 330-5697.

Longwood SB registers today

LONGWOOD — The Winter Polar Softball League of the Longwood Park and Recreation Department will start the week of Jan. 9, 1995.

Men's Class C and co-ed games will be played Monday through Friday nights.

Registration will be Tuesday, Nov. 22, at Candyland Park. Team fees for the 10-week season are $220 for the Co-ed league and $290 for the men's leagues. Each league will play one night a week at Candyland Park.

Interested teams should call Sandy Lomas, 260-3447 or Lincoln 331-6974.

Magic blast Heat

ORLANDO — Anterree Hardaway scored 17 of his 30 points in the third quarter as Orlando broke open a close game with Shaquille O'Neal on the bench and beat the Miami Heat 124-89.

O'Neal returned from foul trouble to lead a 21-3 surge at the start of the fourth period and finished with 22 points in 28 minutes, 10 below his NBA leading average.

Orlando (6-2) led 64-61 when O'Neal left with his fourth foul and built the advantage to 14 with Hardaway going 11-for-11 from the foul line and nearly matching the Heat's third-quarter production of 19 points.

Hardaway, who was 14-for-14 from the line, sat out the entire fourth quarter. That was hardly relief for Miami, which managed only 17 points, to fall to 0-5 on the road, 1-7 overall.

Nick Anderson added 21 points for the Atlantic Division leaders, while Kevin Willis led the Heat with 20 points and 12 rebounds.

Magic sign Dent

ORLANDO — Rodney Dent, whose senior season was cut short by a knee injury, signed a one-year contract with the Orlando Magic.

Dent was the team's second-round draft pick, No. 31 overall, and has been on the injured list.

The 6-foot-9 forward suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament and torn medial collateral ligament in his left knee last January. He averaged 10.5 points and 4.5 rebounds in 11 games for Kentucky last season.

AROUND THE STATE

Eckerd wins opener

ST. PETERSBURG — Rodney Charman got 17 of his game-high 21 points in the second half Monday to lead Eckerd past Franklin 91-77.

Eckerd's Kerwin Thompson had 16 points. All five of Eckerd's starters were in double figures.

Jarrod Brett led Franklin with 18 points.

Eckerd (1-0) led by just 7 points at halftime but stretched the lead to 20 after just seven minutes of the second half.

Hot hitting in Lake Mary softball

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — The hits were flying around the Lake Mary Sports Complex in the City of Lake Mary Department of Parks & Recreation Men's Fall Friday Night Slowpitch Softball League as each of the top three teams in the league scored at least 18 runs and collected 26 hits each.

The only problem was that one of the teams with those totals, 12 after 5, suffered a loss as undefeated league-leading Florida Manor clinched a tie for the championship by holding off 12 after 5, 20-18.

In the other game played, Seimens/Stromberg-Carlson kept its slim title hopes alive with a 22-4, five-inning trouncing of the Braves.

Florida Manor is now 8-0 on the season and is followed by Seimens/Stromberg-Carlson (6-2), Bamboo

SANFORD HERALD PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Patriots get defensive

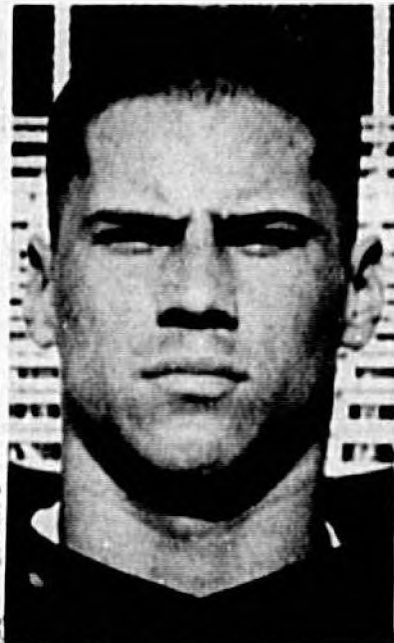

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Led by senior co-captains Steve Miller and Brian Whitman, the Lake Branley Patriots defense came up with an outstanding game against a potent Sandalwood team in the first round of the Class 6A state playoffs last Friday night in Jacksonville.

The Patriots limited the Saints, who averaged over 300 yards rushing and 30 points per game in the regular season, to only 193 yards in the 21-7 victory.

For its efforts, the Patriots defense is this week's Sanford Herald Player of the Week.

Premier is B winner

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Premier has joined B & M Lawn Service on the victory stand.

Monday night at the Sanford Middle School Gymnasium Premier racked up its eighth straight perfect 3-0 week to wrap up the B League title of the Sanford Recreation Department Fall Recreation Volleyball League.

Premier was dominating in its three games, winning 21-4, 21-1 and 21-0 to improve to 24-3. Nichols Outboard Marine Services remained in second place, but was 1-2 for the week to fall to 16-11 on the season.

Park Attr. Incorporated broke a tie for third place, having a second best week of 2-1 to raise its record to 8-19. Neighbors had an 0-3 week and is now 6-21 for the year.

In the A League, B & M, with the championship already sewed up, finally lost a game, falling to Sanford First Baptist Church, 15-13. B & M, which went 2-1 this week, is now 23-4 on the season.

Second running Westview Baptist Church also went 2-1 this week to raise its record to 16-11. Agape is still third in the A League, but going 0-3 dropped it to 11-16 and ending its hopes of a .500 season. First Baptist went to 1-2 for the week and is now 3-24.

PREP POLLS: BASKETBALL
By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD - The Seminole High School boys' basketball team is the county's lone representative in the pre-season high school state basketball polls, but several other area schools and county opponents were recognized in the pre-season polls. There will be a big boys' matchup this Wednesday as Seminole (No. 8 in Class 5A) will play at No. 3 Class 6A ranked Daytona Beach-Maitland.

Hobby: She collects dolls

Each doll holds family memories with a story

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Maryan Farnsworth has an extensive collection of figurines and dolls. Each doll and figurine holds memories and a story in itself.

Farnsworth and her husband, Robert, have been married for 36 years. They have two children, Jennifer and Charles. They have five grandchildren. Farnsworth felt her homemaking duties and time with grandchildren were one of her most important roles.

Her collection of Danbury Mint dolls began some six years ago. She has a Nancy Reagan doll, Princess Diana, and two Dolly Dingle dolls. Other various dolls include a grandmother holding a child, a grandpa and a grandson, a mother and another doll named by the manufacturer with the name of Brian. She spoke of some of the stories behind the dolls. "My Dolly Dingle dolls remind me of my sister," she said. "Everyone always called her Dolly when she was little."

The grandpa and grandpa remind me of me and my husband with the grandchildren. "The Brian doll reminds me of my own grandson, Brian. I've always kept the dolls in the boxes because they hold their value when left in boxes."

Maryan Farnsworth treasures her collection of figurines and dolls.

Farnsworth's figurines covered a large fold out table. As with the dolls, she reiterated that they all represent or mean something to her. "I got the penguin statue because one of my grandsons waddles like a penguin," she said. "Some are porcelain and some are glass. I have a black cat that was given to me. It was made from coal. I'm really a cat person." Her gentleman carving a duck reminded her of her own father-in-law because he used to carve ducks. There was a girl with a doll resembling her own granddaughter. A girl with candles sat politely on the table too.

Another favorite was the grandfather looking at a baby. Hummels were cited as her other treasures. "My Hummels were my mother's," she said. "I really treasure them."

Julian inducted into Kiwanis Club

Nancy Julian, director of the Academy of Health Careers at Seminole High School, was recently inducted into the Kiwanis Club of Sanford. Welcoming Julian are (from left): President Phil "Jim" Gunster, Bill Fraasa, induction officer who is past club president and lieutenant governor; Julian; Gretchen Shapker, SHS principal and Julian's sponsor; and Meta Brooks, who endorsed Julian. A registered nurse, Julian is married to Attorney Ned Julian and they have two sons, Matthew, 21, and Daniel, 17.

Woman doesn't need critical boyfriend

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that you don't believe a letter is "real" unless it is handwritten with misspelled words, and tears all over the paper. Well, this is real. What should I do about my boyfriend? I am 45, he is 50, and we've been seeing each

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR BOTH: You can't be "desperate" enough to tolerate such insulting and belittling behavior.

Unless he has some redeeming features you failed to mention—he's good to his mother, kind to animals and generous to the poor—I'm with your mother. What do you need him for?

DEAR ABBY: Within the last year, I have become a vegetarian. I belong to several animal rights organizations and am opposed to animal exploitation and eating meat. However, I do not try to push my beliefs on other people or "convert" meateaters. I believe eating meat is a personal choice, and I continue to respect people who eat meat.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I really need your advice. We have dear friends of whom we are very fond, and the feeling is mutual. There is one problem. Their house is filthy and the kitchen is unsanitary. Their dogs run free in the kitchen while food is out, dog hair gets into everything, and their cooking utensils, pots and pans are visibly dirty!

They keep insisting on having us for dinner, and we are running out of excuses. Help! Believe it or not, they're really great people.

NO NAME, NO TOWN

DEAR NO NAME, ETC.: Tell these "dear friends" who are "dear people" the truth. It would be a kindness.

DEAR ABBY: I was very much amused to read all those letters about zippers. Here's my contribution:

During World War II, we folks in the U.S. were sending "Bundles for Britain," and in one of my bundles, I enclosed a pair of men's slacks. It had a zipper on the fly, and zippers had not yet been introduced in London.

I received a very nice thank-you from the recipient of the slacks saying he had spent an entire evening demonstrating the zipper, and he was the life of the party.

A.E. KAEPPEL, HOUSTON

We have a very large family, and it is the custom to take turns hosting Christmas dinner. It's a Christmas tradition to serve fish.

I spoke to my mother about my serving an acceptable substitute for fish, and she said it was out of the question — and I had no right to break the family tradition just because I have changed my lifestyle.

My question: Isn't it up to me to serve what I choose, since I am the hostess?

FAITHFUL READER,
ELIZABETH, N.J.

DEAR FAITHFUL READER: Yes, in your home, it is your privilege to serve whatever you choose. As a vegetarian, you must know that there are many cookbooks featuring delicious dishes for vegetarians.

On the other hand, a gracious hostess wants to please her guests. To foster family peace and goodwill, why not serve vegetarian dishes along with the traditional fish?

Negotiating sex in a marriage

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a middle-aged male. My wife and I have raised a wonderful family and I still have a strong desire for sex, even though she has no desire at all. Would a device or procedure be available for me to use for ejaculation? Masturbation doesn't seem to be the answer.

DEAR READER: Many men (and women) whose partners are unable or unwilling to have sexual relations find that a vibrator will provide sexual release. Of course, you have other options, too.

If you are involved in a loving relation and your wife wants to be attentive to your needs, she may be willing to pleasure you in other ways that do not involve intercourse.

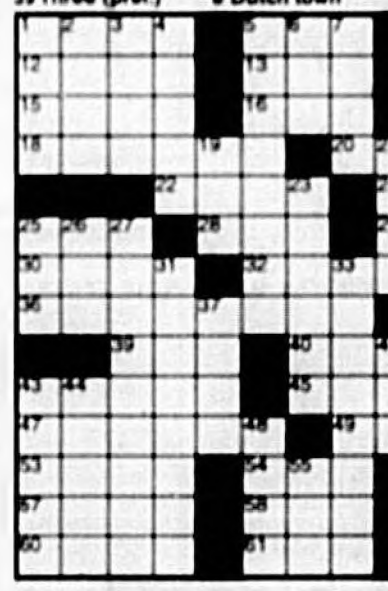

DEAR DR. GOTT: With all the recent information regarding the dangers of lead ingestion, can you explain if using full lead crystal glassware is dangerous? We've been drinking from crystal for a long period and wonder if our concerns are well founded.

DEAR READER: Lead is, indeed, toxic to the body and will lead to headache, personality changes, loss of appetite, abdominal discomfort, and progressive renal disease. The most common sources of lead poisoning are lead paint, retention of metallic lead objects (such as shot or weights), contaminated foods (that have been improperly stored in lead-glazed ceramic ware), inhalation of lead fumes (from burning lead-painted wood), contamination from a cottage industry (leaded glass and so forth) and illicit lead-containing whiskey or wine. (As an aside, you might be interested in learning that the ancient Romans clarified their red wines with lead, which produced lead poisoning and a form of arthritis called "saturnine gout." This was the basis of the misconception that modern wines cause gout. Fresh-

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

In about 700 BC, the Greek poet Hesiod wrote, "Observe due measure, for right timing is in all things the most important factor." Today's deal shows that this applies to bridge. The declarer who found the right line was Melih Ozdil, one of Turkey's best players. He was competing in the NEC World Championships, held in Albuquerque, N.M., at the end of September.

North's response of one no-trump was forcing for one round. North planned to jump to three hearts on the second round, to show game-invitational values with three trumps. However, things didn't pan out that way. South doubled two spades for takeout. West put on the pressure with a jump to game. North, rather than accept the penalty, went on to five hearts.

When the dummy appeared, Ozdil saw that unless the hearts were 3-2 and the diamonds 2-2,

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Ocol

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Nov. 23, 1994

In the year ahead, you may be extremely fortunate in creative endeavors. Your best bet is to focus on projects you have personally conceived.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Schedule important tasks early in the day while your chances for success are stronger. Timing and luck are intricately connected today, so strike while the iron's hot. Sagittarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your hunches about material affairs should pay off handsomely today, but your perceptions of other people's motives may be way off target.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Avoid friends who like to deal in petty politics or intrigue today.

Pals with devious aims could spoil an otherwise enjoyable day.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Stop procrastinating and attend to responsibilities today. You know exactly what they are. Resist a friend who will try to distract you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may do well as a manager today, but you're likely to set a poor example performing the actual work.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your desire to help those you feel responsible for is admirable. However, don't attempt to make them over in your own image today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Once you decide to do something today, you're likely to pursue that course. This won't hold true, however, if your assignment is distasteful to you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Conditions look good for personal gain today. You may have to fight the inclination to maintain total control instead of sharing a lucrative project with others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not delegate a critical task to someone with a history of bungling assignments. Even if it seems inconvenient, it would be wise to do this one yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep your emotions in check today or you might not serve your best interests. Be cooperative, even with persons you dislike.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you forgive your friends' imperfections today, they will be more likely to overlook your flaws. However, if you dish out criticism, prepare to take it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Major accomplishments are possible today if you set your sights on realistic objectives. Wishful thinking isn't apt to be productive.
