

Sanford Theater News for the Coming Week

"SPAWN OF THE NORTH" George Raft, Henry Fonda and Dorothy Lamour are starred in this lusty romantic drama against the icebound background of the dangerous Arctic, with the most thrilling climax ever conceived for motion pictures. It comes tomorrow and Monday to the Ritz.

Western Hero Battles Whirlwind Action In Bond Gang In Western Action Picture Story "Pioneer Trail" Film

Carrying a new twist in Western stories, "Whistling Bullets" the new Maurice Conn Production starring Kermit Maynard and featuring Harlene Wood, comes to the screen of the Ritz Theatre on September 21. "Whistling Bullets" is the story of a low-ranger who poses as a criminal to capture and bring to justice a gang of thieves who have made off with and hidden a large amount of stolen bonds. How, through a series of hair-raising adventures, Kermit Maynard eventually unravels the mystery and captures the culprit, forms the basis for an exciting and intriguing Western. From a story by James Oliver Curwood and directed by Jack English, the supporting cast includes such favorites as Mason Williams, Jack Ingram, Bruce Mitchell, Karl Hackitt, Sherry Tansy, Cliff Parkman, Cherokee Alcorn and others.

"Hold That Co-ed" Is Hilarious Blend Of Football And Politics

If you can imagine John Barrymore as a budget-bouncing, co-ed-chasing governor who mixes good football with bad statecraft, you will begin to get a rough idea of the uproarious goings-on at the Ritz Theatre, where "Hold That Co-ed" will show Tuesday and Wednesday, with George Murphy, Marjorie Weaver, Joan Davis and Jack Haley all contributing generously to what is probably the funniest comedy of recent months.

Although they don't call it a musical, 20th Century Fox has liberally punctuated the hilarious proceedings with several lively new songs. For those who take their football seriously there are some of the most exciting gnat sequences ever screened. And for those who don't there is Joan Davis—who turns out to be the world's best goal-kicker and, as far as we know, the only female fullback in existence!

The story of "Hold That Co-ed" is particularly topical in view of the medicine-show electioneering seen around the country lately. Barrymore appropriates $10,000,000 of the taxpayers' money to build up the state university—and particularly, its football team, the idea being that a winning team will bring him tremendous publicity for his forthcoming election campaign.

When Coach George Murphy protests that there isn't good enough material for a big league team, Barrymore promptly hires two man-mountain wrestlers to bolster up the line and then adds Joan Davis, who holds a long distance record for drop-kicking, to the backfield for good measure. The team is, of course, sensational. And with all the rancorous antics campaigning for Barrymore, it looks as though his election is in the bag—even if his romance with Marjorie Weaver, his pretty secretary, isn't. But while Marjorie and Murphy hold hands, Barrymore consoles himself with a campus cutie and the fadeout—following the most riotous football contest imaginable—finds everyone happy, particularly the audience.

"Time Out For Murder"

Glenn Stewart and Michael Whalen, the screen's newest thrill hunters trail their first big movie. It is called for Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz a Motion Quiz Picture.

HOWARD HUGHES' "HELL'S ANGELS." This sensational picture, starring Jean Harlow, Ben Lyon and James Hall, stands alone as the greatest war spectacle of the air ever filmed. By popular demand it makes a timely return to the Ritz Theater Thursday and Friday as a companion feature to "Boys Town."

Technology is the science of footprints, and treats of the impression made in mud or sand by the animals of former ages.

"Boys Town" Scores Dramatic Portrayal Of Forgotten Boys

Aimed straight at the heart of America, "Boys Town" starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, shows Thursday and Friday at the Ritz Theatre. Based on the story of Father Edward J. Flanagan's Boys Town, located twelve miles outside of Omaha, Nebraska, the role of the priest whose mission in life is to give home and shelter to needy boys affords Spencer Tracy an opportunity for one of the sincere, natural portrayals for which he has become deservedly famous.

Seldom has Tracy found a role more suited to his personality than that of his quiet, idealist, Father Flanagan, whose contention that "there is no such thing as a bad boy," leads him to build a monument of faith to boys the world over. His fight to win public opinion and to prove his idealistic contention as well as his fight to make good citizens of the boys who come within his jurisdiction provides smash entertainment.

Sparring honors with Tracy as Whitley, tough, unmanageable and non-conforming, is Mickey Rooney, cast in one of the most dramatic roles of his career. Gone in this picture is the flip wise cracking and Harly. In his place is a young actor whose ability to tug at the heartstrings marks him as one of the really great young performers of the screen. Adding further interest to the cast in the role of "Gang" is Father Flanagan's dream, Henry Hull, one of the finest stage actors of the day who recently turned his talent toward the screen. Then there is a long to be remembered youngster, seven years old, Bob Watson, who, as the dumplingy Peewee, will wrap up your heart and carry it away in the pocket of his tattered overalls. Also scoring in outstanding supporting roles are Leslie Fenton and Gene Reynolds.

As it stands "Boys Town" is not only a monument to the little community and the men at its head, but is a tribute to Hollywood in recognizing such outstanding story material in so worthwhile a setting.

"HOLD THAT CO-ED" This sparkling, larking picture of college youth rallying around a vote chasing, Co-ed kissing Governor is scheduled for an uproarious hit at the Ritz Tuesday and Wednesday.

Sparkling, Realistic, "West Of Cheyenne", "Freshman Year" Hits As Dramatic Comedy

A new film series which will beyond doubt enjoy great popularity, made its local debut last night with the opening of "Freshman Year" at the Ritz Theatre, next Saturday.

The first of three more pictures of the same general type to be released by Universal during the current season, it is a delightfully stimulating and fresh comedy drama of college life with an abundance of puns, wit, pathos and music. It catches the very best part of modern college youth with a stiffly academic of the day and a larkish.

The story, in the title indicates, centers around a group of students in their freshman year. It is given motivation by three elements who enter upon an ill-fated venture of writing flunk insurance. When practically a whole class flunk and they are confronted with claims to beyond their means, they promote a show to raise money.

As competent a sportsman as any member of the film colony, Charles Starrett consistently refuses to display before the cameras his ability to "do a hammerhead" gun or "reef a job," or otherwise desert the old-time West of which he is one of America's foremost film representatives. The actor, now appearing with Les Mossbuth in "West of Cheyenne" at the RITZ, next Saturday, flies motors or sails with the best of them but regards speed only as a modern convenience.

Degenerate Believed To Be Cleveland's Torso Killer

By LYNN HEINZLERING
CLEVELAND, (AP)—A man of unbelievable abnormality, a degenerate in a class by himself—that's the sort of person Detective Peter Merylo expects to find if luck or skill leads him to the sinister workshop of Cleveland's "torso killer." Merylo's only job is to solve the series of 12 beheadings—all believed the work of the phantom slayer. In two years of tangled trails he has met "people I never knew or believed existed." "The man we want," he adds quickly, "is stranger than any of them."
Merylo and his partner, Martin Zaleski, have followed tips and hunches into the lowliest hovels in the city, into sewers and graveyards, dumps, downtown stores and even into the offices of professional workers. They have questioned, by Merylo's estimate, more than 3,000 persons.
After two years' work, Merylo concludes that his quarry is a "sex degenerate in a class never known to science"—this "man" who deposits dissected bodies in the Cuyahoga river, in Kingsbury Run, in dumps and in isolated districts.
The detective spent several weeks in a slaughter house work. This convinced him the killer is not a butcher. He does not believe the man has a deformed surgeon as some have advanced. Merylo, in fact, disagrees with the contention of Coroner S. R. Gerber that the dissections were skillfully executed.
The detective said cuts on some of the bodies show the killer sometimes found difficulty in accomplishing the beheadings. Flesh marks, indicate, he added, that a natural, skillful cut was not made.
Merylo has dipped into books on all sorts of mental aberrations and depravities. Psychiatrists and pathologists advise him. A physician in London sent a letter. After the last two bodies were found, he made a study of necrophilia (fondness for bodies).
Merylo saw a possibility the last body may have been taken from a woman and dissected before being placed in a city possible repercussions against monetary policies and foreign trade, it was said.

Cabinet members described the situation abroad as "very serious" and one, when asked whether the situation had eased, said "No, it is still teetering."
The President met with the cabinet after cancelling an engagement to speak in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., tomorrow and making tentative a date to speak at Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday.
He was said to feel that conditions abroad are too uncertain for him to be far away from the capital.
None of the President's official family would talk for public quotation. They shared Roosevelt's view that events were occurring so rapidly as to preclude immediate decisions.
One official explained that the administration was awaiting reports from Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Great Britain, and Ambassador Hugh Wilson in Berlin, on the bargaining conference of Adolf Hitler and British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.
"The situation abroad is still very serious," this official said. "We surveyed all the reports that have been received but it was agreed that things are still too indefinite and are taken 54 persons of questionable mental fitness to probate court."
Now starting his third year on the case, Merylo says the killings are "the last thing I think about when I go to sleep and the first when I awake." He can call off the "dates" the various bodies were found from memory and recite all the outstanding facts. He said he has hardly been home for dinner on time in two years and if he takes a vacation this year he will spend it working on the investigation.
Interested and suspicious persons "and even drunks" call him at home at night—sometimes as late as 4 A. M.—these have been identified. The "junk" hunt was fruitless.
Merylo and his fellow officer, Zaleski, has arrested "probably 300" persons along this maddening search. They have

Report Shows Old Age Pension Load Is Nearly 38,000

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 16.—Florida's potential load in the Old Age Assistance category is approximately 38,000 persons, according to "Public Assistance Statistics," a monthly publication issued by the statistical department of the Welfare Board.
The estimate was made on the basis of the August case load and the present rate of rejections of approximately 25 per cent.
"During the month of August," the report reads, "the Old Age Assistance rolls reached the figure of 30,292 persons. This figure is far in excess of the total number of eligible aged as shown in original estimates. Despite the fact that the rolls at the present time largely exceed these earlier estimates, there are still 12,210 applications pending."
With the potential case load for August fixed at 42,552 and with rejections averaging one out of four applications, the number of eligibles is estimated at 48,000. It is probable that next legislative appropriations will be intended to meet the needs of this number of persons 65 years of age or more.
Applications are denied, it was stated, because of age requirements, residence requirements, citizenship requirements, resources, unwillingness to comply with property requirements, eligibility for another form of assistance, inability to obtain proof of age. Disposed of for other reasons are those who died prior to approval of applications, those receiving institutional care at the time of approval, those admitted to institutions prior to approval, those who withdrew applications and those who moved out of the county or district prior to approval of application.
During August 150 applications for Old Age Assistance were pending in Seminole County, 13 were received, 10 were acted upon, and 3 were approved.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Weather Bureau today ordered northeast storm warnings displayed along the Florida east coast from Jacksonville to Key West and said hurricane warnings might be ordered up during the day.

The Bureau said the tropical hurricane was centered at 7:00 A. M. about 650 miles east-southeast of Miami and "apparently is still moving west-northwestward at least 20 miles an hour."

"Winds will increase in the Bahamas throughout the day, reaching hurricane force during the afternoon in outlying islands. If the present direction and rate of movement is maintained, the storm will reach the southeast Florida coast Tuesday morning with winds commencing to increase tonight. The Florida east coast is in the danger zone of this storm and all interests are urged to stand by for possible..."

Reduction Made In Space Rents At Farmers Mart

Acting on the recommendation of Market Manager James G. Michael, the Supervisory Committee ordered a reduction of one-fourth in the space rental at the State Farmers Wholesale Market, effective during the coming season.

The space which last season cost $10 per month, will cost only $7.50 this year, it was pointed out. This action, Mr. Michael said, was taken to promote a better feeling among the agents at the market.

Mr. Michael also announced that letters are being sent to Seminole County representatives and Senator J. J. Parish asking what action they had taken on the resolution approved by the Committee's last meeting requesting their concerted efforts in securing the assistance of the State Road Department for repaving the market streets.

Hanging Together

Last week representatives of little business men from all over the United States met in Pittsburgh, considered their problems jointly, and adopted a series of resolutions and recommendations designed for the relief of business and for the benefit of economic conditions in general. It was the first national convention of little business men ever held.

Among the resolutions adopted was one upholding the "American system of free enterprise." Among the recommendations made was the suggestion that the government get out of business and stay out. Other proposals demanded that the Wagner Labor Act be revised in the interest of eliminating industrial strife, that the tax burden on business be lightened, and that the further centralization of government be resisted.

It is well that little business men are finally getting together to fight for their interests. Big business has long organized its organizations which in the last few years have developed tremendous political pressure. Agriculture, though difficult of universal organization, nevertheless has its innumerable farm groups which have been working more or less together for various kinds of farm legislation.

So far as we know little business is about the only group in the country which during these hectic days of the New Deal has had no organization of any kind and no potent political influence. Little business men have been content to go along hoping for the best and trusting its fate to the hands of representatives in Congress who, it was presumed, would look after the interests of all.

Worse than that, little business has spent much of the previous year during the past few years in fighting among its own group. Cut-throat competition is worse now than it ever has been in the history of this country. There was a time when the creed of most business men was to live and let live, but more recently, as the struggle for existence has become more acute, the law of the jungle has been revived and it is a case now of every man for himself.

When one group of business men complains about people trading out of town, they are apt to find it is other business men who are the worst offenders. When one business man develops a plan for saving his business from bankruptcy, it is likely to be another business man who knocks the props out from under it. When one group of business men go before the law-makers of our country for legislation beneficial to their interests, it is apt to be aimed at another group of business men.

The business men of this country, particularly the little business men, have got to get together and work for a program designed for the benefit of their interests as a whole. They have got to quit fighting each other. They have got to understand that only as prosperity returns to the whole country will any real lasting prosperity return to any of them. And they have got to remember that if prosperity doesn't return to this country, the business man's goose will be the first to get cooked.

As one early American patriot said—we believe it was during the Revolutionary War—if we don't hang together, we are likely to hang separately.

Crime Increasing

In spite of optimistic predictions which said that the repeal of prohibition would reduce crime—predictions which also laid at the door of the closed saloon all the major killings of the bootlegging era—there has been a steady increase in crime all over the country since the prohibition amendment was taken out of the Constitution.

Particularly in New York, where bootlegging and racketeering enjoyed their greatest boom, is this true. The State Department of Correction of New York state reports that there was a 12.7 percent increase in all major crimes in New York during the first six months of this year as compared with the same period last year.

Crimes of all classifications, both felonies and misdemeanors, totaled 513,914, an increase of 10.1 percent over the total for the corresponding period of last year, which was 483,104, the state-wide figures show. Motor law violations comprise 64 percent of the offenses reported for that period in both years.

State-wide arrests during the first six months of this year totaled 530,676, compared with a total of 495,880 for the six months period last year. Of total offenses committed this year, 502,640 were reported solved by arrests, a clearance of 94.19 percent, compared with 464,304 offenses solved by arrests in the like period of last year, a clearance of 94.03 percent.

The rate of all crimes for 100,000 population rose from 3,587.32 in 1937 to 3,919.36 in 1938, a percentage increase of 9.3. The ratio of persons arrested for crimes solved was 1092 in the first six months of 1937 and 1,056 in 1938. Excluded from the list of major crimes for the corresponding period are figures on the crimes of auto larceny, sale or possession of drugs, possession of dangerous weapons and frauds.

"Each of these crimes," the department report stated, "is so reported by the contributing agencies that their totals contain in undifferentiated form the figures for both felonies and misdemeanors. Since it is impossible to consider these figures as purely felony figures, the above offenses were not in either six months period added in as major crimes."

Auto larcenies in the first six months of 1938 totaled 5,438, a decrease of 17.5 percent below the total for the same period of 1937 which was 6,589. There were marked decreases also in the crimes of homicide, which dropped 12.4 percent from 209 to 183, and rape, which dropped 13.3 percent from 742 to 643. There was an increase of 37.0 percent in the crime of prostitution from a total of 1,254 in 1937 to 1,718 in 1938. There was also an increase in sex offenses other than rape of 22 percent from 949 in 1937 to 1,158 in 1938.

The figures show that while the repeal of prohibition may not have added to the problem of crime, it certainly has not produced a solution for it.

Legionnaires Prefer Coins To Ballots

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Three men were nominated at the Texas American Legion convention for sergeant-at-arms. The secretary prepared to call the roll and take a vote, a tedious task.

"Why don't you march for it," someone shouted. So Candidates Horace L. Howard, Joe J. Grammer and Frank Bell marched to the platform—flipped coins and Howard won.

Rival Parties Rent In Same Building

EMPORIA, Kans., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The political war in Lyon county should be easier to "ribbit" this year. Republicans and Democrats have rented adjoining rooms in the same building for headquarters. Neither knew who his neighbor was going to be.

The Delta Pine and Land Company of Scott, Miss., with its 50,000 acres of land, operates one of the largest cotton plantations in the world.

THE MUSIC GOES ROUND—THE WORLD! SIR FRANCIS DRAKE CARRIED A COMPLETE STRING ORCHESTRA WHEN HE CIRCLED THE WORLD WITH THE GOLDEN HIND—TO ASTONISH THE SAVAGES! (1577-80)

THE MUSICAL EXPLORER... "Drake, the Dragon," he was called by Spaniards, but Sir Francis had rhythm.

A bold navigator and a devil in a fight, Sir Francis loved his music. So much, in fact, that he took along a whole orchestra when he sailed around the world in 1577-80.

Drake had lost his fortune by backing an unsuccessful expedition of Sir John Hawkins against the Spaniards in 1567, and he decided that Spain should be taught a lesson.

In 1572 he began a private war against that country, sailing with three ships and 71 men to the Isthmus of Panama, where he captured two complete Spanish towns and considerable treasure. Then it was he earned the name of "The Dragon."

In 1577 he fitted out a small squadron of five vessels and started on his famous "round-the-world" voyage. Along the coasts of Peru and Chile he enjoyed himself sacking and burning Spanish towns.

On this trip Sir Francis thoughtfully took along a complete string orchestra; three years without music would not do. His expressed reason was "to astonish the savage tribes!"

Maintenance To Home Considered In Ability To pay

The ability of the average mortgage borrower to make monthly amortization payments over a period of years may often be affected by the amount which he must spend annually for maintenance and repair of his home, according to Howard P. Vermilya, Director of the Federal Housing Administration's Technical Division.

The average home buyer, Vermilya explains, must budget his yearly expenditures carefully, and unusual or unexpectedly large repair expenses may seriously affect his ability to meet his mortgage payments.

Annual maintenance expenditures bear a definite relationship to the quality of the workmanship and materials used in the construction of the house he occupies. Well-built homes may be kept in condition at a relatively small expense.

"On the other hand," Vermilya says, "poorly built structures, on the other hand, deteriorate rapidly and may require major repairs within a few years."

The Federal Housing Administration has a twofold interest in the improvement of residential construction standards. Mr. Vermilya and "Max" are already working on a program for 20 or 25 years, and we must assume otherwise that the structure covering the

Mc Lucas Machine Opens 3rd Week Of Practise Sessions

Fed Squad May Undergo First Scrimmage Today As Coaches Prepare For Opener

The Seminole High School Celery Feds will begin their third week of training in preparation for the 1938 football season this afternoon when Coach Leonard L. McLucas calls his squad of 11 men to the practice ground.

The local pigskin parade will have only this week and three heavy workouts next week to prepare for the opening game against the fighting Florida Panthers, who are reported to have head Coach Henry M. Smith worried, his line is weak, but with the Peterson Duffers back in the fold he has no reason to call a backfield ready to go.

Although it has not been definitely announced, the local boys many undergo a light scrimmage session this afternoon which will mark the appearance of the first rough work of the season. However, if McLucas does not call for the rough stuff today, tomorrow will be the day.

Sam Walls reported last Thursday and he is already shaping up to hold down so end teeth. At present, Walls and Charlie Leavitt appear most likely to hold down the end positions. However, Lee will have plenty of competition

L. M. Telford who is learning fast and will see a lot of action this season whether he is a starter or not. Robert Howell, Ashley Jones and Warren Odham are still fighting it out for first string tackle positions. Howell has the left tackle spot sewed up but Odham and Jones are working hard for the right tackle post. Odham weighs 225 pounds while Jones tips the scales at 245 and there's plenty of weight and power in both men.

The general positions are also made open at present. Sammy Powell is putting up a great fight for one of the positions and Robert Standaud is doing some great work for the other. However, it was reported at the meeting that James Young last year's right guardman, will report for his initial session this afternoon.

Jim River has no competitive definitely announced, the head of the center berth but it is expected that little Duke Epps will see action this season at any rate. The Epps youth has plenty of power, fight and will no doubt give the opposition trouble if he gets in the game.

In the backfield McLucas is still using Darrell Ferguson at the left half post, Red Williams at right half, Buck Ferguson on the signal calling position and Fred Gimes at full back. Pete Echols is giving Jack Ferguson and Williams some good opposition for a first string berth in the backfield.

(Signed) "draft of the Sudeten German free corps."

Hoffen's spokesmen here described the attack on the cabinet house occupied by two guards as "the first move to harass Czechoslovak by the newly organized free corps on German soil."

The grave question that hung over every meeting. "What it was or meant?" was answered only vaguely in the text of a communique, issued after the cabinet meeting in London, which said:

"After a full discussion of the present international situation representatives of the British and French governments are in complete agreement as to the policy to be adopted with a view of promoting a peaceful solution of the Czech question."

The two governments hope thereafter that it will be possible to consider a more general settlement in the interests of European peace."

From the beginning both groups were reported to be in accord on the necessity of complying with the demands of Kaiser Adolf Hitler of Germany, as delivered at Chamberlain last week at Berlin.

Although official silence was preserved by most agreement of the conference, rumors close to both delegates and the "second" was far nearer Hitler's demands than any previous concessions.

The conference, after four separate meetings, finally reached a set of conclusions embodied in

TO SQUELCH ECHOES

CHICAGO.—(AP)—The city council authorized expenditure of $4330 to check the echoes out of the navy pier auditorium. The money goes for acoustical equipment.

Steps must be taken to make effective any of the proposals. 1. Czechoslovakia must be persuaded to accept the plebiscite.

2. The British Government must agree to participate in an international guarantee of the revised Czechoslovakia, and the people of the British dominions must be persuaded to accept such a proposal.

3. Chamberlain must persuade Hitler to accept the Anglo-French terms of a plebiscite.

Even if the first two things are accomplished, the outlook still was gloomy as there was no indication that Hitler had abandoned his intention to abandon his demand for renunciation of certain areas in Czechoslovakia without resorting to a plebiscite.

C Of C Urges Balloting In Hospital Vote

Fact Finding Statement On Project Is Sent To Those Eligible To Cast Vote

All Details In Set Up Explained

Voters Told Institution To Be Owned, Controlled By Them

To every freeholder listed on the County's registration books the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is mailing a fact finding statement regarding the proposed hospital and urging the freeholders to take part in the referendum on a bond issue to pay the County's portion of the project.

In a note accompanying the statement the Chamber of Commerce pointed out that its position in the project was non-partisan and that it had attempted to present impartial data to those eligible to vote.

Declaring that it is a constitutional duty to vote, the Chamber of Commerce urged those eligible to exercise this duty and pointed out that the special legislative act under which the referendum is held provides that a majority of the County's over 270,000 freeholders must cast ballots in order for a valid election to be held.

Any who do not receive a letter from the Chamber of Commerce and believe they are freeholders were requested to investigate to find whether they are eligible to vote in the election.

The statement sent out by the Chamber of Commerce is as follows:

"On Tuesday, Sept. 27, at the usual place of voting in your precinct, between the hour of 8:00 o'clock in the morning and sun down in the afternoon, you will be called upon to vote upon the question of whether or not there shall be levied a tax not exceeding two mills for 20 years for establishing a County Hospital and for insurance of bonds therefor in the sum of $70,000.00 and for maintenance of said hospital.

"This project is based upon an application to the Public Works Administration of the Federal Government, involving an expenditure of $127,000.00. Of this amount the government will make an outright grant or gift of $57,000.00, or 45 percent and will loan the County $70,000.00 (or 55 percent).

"The $70,000 loan will be secured by the issuance of that amount of bonds. These bonds will be accepted by the government at par, (full face value) and the interest rate will be 4 percent per annum. The $57,000.00 is a gift, it is not a debt against Seminole County and you do not pay it back. The tax levy cannot exceed two mills in any one year over a period of 20 years and the County Commissioners will each year levy so much of the two mills as they find to be necessary to pay interest, retire bonds and maintain the hospital.

"The erection of the hospital building will be under the supervision of the Board of County Commissioners, public advertisement will be given for bids and after acceptance of the best bid the building will be built by the successful bidder. The building will not be under government control.

"The control, management and operation of the hospital will be handled by the Board of County Commissioners, this can be delegated to a board of trustees.

Sons Of Legion To Renew Activities For Coming Year

With tentative plans which would make the local Sons of the Legion the most outstanding in the state, George Weinstein, recently elected Commander of the Campbell Legion Post of American Legion today requested all sons of legionnaires to meet at the American Legion Hut Wednesday night at 7:00 o'clock for the purpose of re-organizing for the coming year.

The weekly meetings of the organization were suspended for the summer months, but plans for the most active year in the history of the Junior Legionnaires will be discussed at the re-organization meeting which will be featured by the election of officers.

Again this year, Percy Merz will be in charge of the Sons of the Legion activities, with W. D. Hofmann, commanding officer of Headquarters Company of National Guards here, instructing the drum and bugle corps, which again will be the major effort of the organization. Several other National Guardsmen have also pledged their services in technical drills.

Plans for the Junior Legionnaires include a much wider scope of activities than last year, Mr. Weinstein said, adding that all sons of legionnaires were eligible to join and urging them to be present for tomorrow night's meeting.

July, now the seventh month of the year, was the fifth month during the Roman Empire. The month was named in honor of Julius Caesar who was born in it.
