

Georgia Woman Picked To Be Museum Curator

By Brian Sullivan Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's search for a curator for the Henry Shelton Sanford Library-Museum has ended with the selection of Frances Alicia Clarke of Atlanta.

"I just got in touch with her today and told her." Fran Diedrich, Sanford's personnel officer said Thursday. "She's accepted the job and starts work on July 22."

"We did tight background checks and came up with the one we felt would be the best choice," said Director of Parks and Recreation Jim Jernigan. The selection committee, made up of Jernigan. Diedrich and museum board of trustees members Ken Echois and Ned Yancey, made their final selection Tuesday.

The committee chose Clarke from among five finalists for the $19.265 to $26,200 job.

The job will be the first full time curator position that the city has had for the facility. For the past 14 years Mildred M. Caskey, Sanford, has been curator of the museum on a part time basis for $4.200 a year. According to Jernigan, Caskey

Petsos Trial Postponed

The trial of a suspended Lake Mary city commissioner charged with burglary and petty theft has apparently been postponed because of difficulties involving prosecutors.

Arthur "Buzz" Petsos was set to go to trial today on the charges. It was changed to today after a June 8 date because his attorney was honeymooning at that time.

The prosecutor, Assistant State Attorney Bob Fisher, was involved in another case prior to today so it was transferred to Assistant State Attorney John Galuzzo. Galuzzo's preparation was interrupted by a death in his family and he was ill Thursday. Fisher is not expected to be available until Monday. The other lawyer in the division. Woody Igu, was trying another case that was expected to continue through today.

Petsos' attorney, Jack Bridges of Sanford, said he expects another trial date to be set but does not know when.

Petsos, 35, was charged with entering the Pic-A-Deli in Lake Mary March 16 and taking bread, coffee, coffee filters and plastic trash bags. It was a business he once owned and to which he still had a key. Petsos has pleaded not guilty. He was suspended from office by Gov. Bob Martinez pending the outcome of the criminal charges.

Panel To Meet On Charter For Seminole

By Ted Carter Herald Staff Writer

A process that could lead to a conversion to charter government for Seminole County got under way this week with an organizational meeting of the Seminole County Charter Advisory Committee.

The task of the 16-member committee is to spend up to one year studying charters of the 11 Florida countles that have them, examining the benefits and drawbacks and deciding whether to recommend a charter government for Seminole County. A variety of speakers will address the panel during the coming months on the issue of whether the homerule authority gained by having a charter provides a more effective mechanism for governing.

will meet monthly, probably at the county agriculture center, according to Crotty, program director for Valencia Community College's Institute of Government.

Crotty said whatever way the committee's recommendation goes, it will have to justify it in detail. She declined to predict whether a consensus can be achieved, noting the panel's membership includes proponents and opponents of charter government. "That makes a good committee." said Crotty. a former president of the Seminole County League of Women Voters.

Miller said he expects a large amount of time will be spent in open discussion among committee members and citizens who wish to address the issue.

Three years ago, only seven Florida operated under a charter.

Sentencing Set In Stabbing Case

Sentencing is set Monday for a Sanford man who was found guilty of stabbing to death another Sanford man in August.

The state is expecting to ask the judge to hand out a stiffer than usual sentence for Stanley Richard Kowalczyk, 30, of 2407 S. Willow Ave. Kowalczyk, defended by Thomas Greene of Sanford, wants a lighter than usual sentence.

Kowalczyk was convicted of stabbing to death of William "Billy" Harrington, 30, of 2404 Willow Ave. He bled to death after a fight with Kowalczyk over a woman who has since married Kowalczyk.

The trouble between the men began Aug. 10 when Harrington went to Kowalczyk's home to see Sandra Sanders. 28, who at the time was living with Kowalczyk. Harrington and Sanders, now Mrs. Kowalczyk, were on the front porch talking. After about 10 minutes Kowalczyk joined them and the men began to argue.

Harrington reportedly pushed Kowalczyk or hit Kowalczyk and Kowalczyk, with a knife, chased Harrington then stabbed him five times. One of the blow severed a groin artery prompting Harrington to bleed to death.

Kowalczyk was convicted of manslaughter May 14.

Longwood Picks 3 Finalists For City Attorney Post

Lonnie N. Groot, 36, is one of three city attorney for Polk City for the past candidates with county experience recommended to be interviewed for the job of Longwood city attorney.

Others chosen by the ad hoc committee of three lawyers Thursday night are Samuel P. Stafford, 38, assistant attorney for Alachua County, and Daniel R. Vaughen, 46, formerly Volusia County's assistant attorney for eight years and now general counsel for Nautilus Sports/Medical Industries, Inc. of Lake Helen.

Recommended as an alternates were Miles Lance, who is on the city attorney's staff in the city of Seminole Assistant County Attorney Clearwater, and Stephen Martin, 35, three years.

The city commission had asked interim City Attorney Ann Colby. whose resignation as city attorney became effective June 15, Paul Gougelman III, who has occasionally substituted as city legal advisor in her absence, and his wife. Maureen Sikora, chairman of the city's code enforcement board, to chose from the 13 applications the top three to be interviewed by the commission in person. Seminole County functions under the commission system by which the authority of the governing body is set by state statutes and general law. Under this form, the county commission must have five members serving staggered terms of five years.

The key difference between the commission and charter system is that charter governments "have all powers of self-government not inconsistent with general law." or with special law approved by county voters, according to the Florida Constitution.

This means counties could increase the number of members on their governing bodies, present pay increases of elected officials for approval by voters, create special taxing districts upon approval by voters and convert the offices of constitutional officers from elected to appointed.

If the panel recommends the new form of government and it or another appointed body formulates specific provisions for a charter, county voters would have to decide whether to adopt what would become a constitution for the county.

The committee's inaugural meeting Wednesday night led to the election of educator Marilyn Crotty as chaifman and lawyer Barry Miller as vice chairman. In its early stages the panel

Also, Orange County voters adopted charter government last year, becoming one of the first inland counties to make the conversion. However, Orange County's charter essentially adopted its present system of government.

Supporters of charter government say it creates more effective local control by authorizing county voters and elected officials to make decisions otherwise left to state legislators. On the other hand, opponents argue it creates the potential to yest taxing and lawmaking power in a handful of influential local politicians and appointed officials, as well as the potential to take away a degree of governing authority enjoyed by a county's municipalities.

The relationship between a charter government and its municipalities is addressed in the state Constitution. which states: "The charter shall pro-

Oviedo Shed Dweller Facing $250-A-Day Fines

Taking up residence in a tool shed is certain to catch the attention of neighbors. And that's exactly what happened in April when Marvalyn V. Higgins took up housekeeping in an aluminum shed on her residential lot at 2971 Lowery Drive in Oviedo.

Neighbors, who live in single-family homes in Seminole Terrace off County Road 520 at the far east end of Oviedo. promptly complained to the county's code enforcement office. Code inspectors in May checked out the complaints, found them valid and asked the code enforcement board to began levying fines

The board complied, fining Higgins $50-a-day from June 11 to June 24. Thursday the board upped the fine to $250-a-day, the maximum state law allows the code board to assess.

Higgins was asked to either be present or send a representative to Thursday's code board meeting. She did neither, a fact that further disturbed the panel charged with enforcing zoning, building, landscaping and other codes within Seminole's unincorporated areas.

Higgin's absence did not surprise John Dwyer, the county's land development coordinator and chief code enforcement officer.

"She has had no communications with us." said Dwyer, who Thursday persuaded the board to increase the fines against.

"The board's order was for her to cease living there," Dwyer said of the May 28 meeting in which the panel gave Higgins until June 11 to vacate the prefab shed. He added the county can put liens on Higgins' property if the fines are not paid.

Noting a number of new homes are going up around the Lowery Drive neighborhood, Dwyer said using a shed as a dwelling "is definitely out of character with the neighborhhod.

Dwyer said when the complaints first came in he took a look for himself. He found a yard overgrown with weeds and enclosed by a chain link fence. In the middle of the yard he saw the shed attached to a canopy. The whole set-up-See SHED, page 14A

City Tables Auto Auction's Water Line Request

By Brian Sullivan Herald Staff Writer

Sanford city commissioners voted 3-2 to table a request by the owners of the Sanford Auto Auction for city help in establishing a water line to service their property at the corner of State Road 46 and Cameron Avenue. Commissioners Whitey Eckstein and A.A. McClanahan voted against the measure, feeling that the city shouldn't pay for any costs of the project.

The proposed water line, needed primarily for water pressure in case of fire, would travel 8,000 feet from the city's perimeter of service, from Brisson Avenue to the south branch of Cameron Avenue.

Owners of the auction, Ron Brody and Joe Tuminello. suggested the city pay the total cost for extending the water line to Beardall Avenue, a distance of approximately 5.300 feet. and that they (the owners) pay the cost for the city to install the line from Beardall Avenue to Cameron Avenue, a distance of approximately 2.700 feet.

Sanford City Engineer Bill Simmons said that because of significant potential for development he recommended that the request be approved.

But Commissioner A.A. Mc-Clanahan was the most vocal opponent of the suggestion, on the grounds that the city's taxpayers shouldn't pay for piping water out of the city limits.

"If they (the owners of the auction) want to pay for the whole thing then let them," he said. "But I don I think there's a pressing need to run that line out there. We'll pick up no new customers...1 don't agree with staff that there is a great potential for growth out there."

Commissioner John Mercer said he felt the property did have potential for growth, and that in the future it might even be annexed by the city.

"I think we should consider further negotiations." Mercer said. "We want to help the auction, but lets see if we can get together with other property owners in the vicintiy and see if they're willing to help foot the bill."

The commission then came up with the idea of providing all the labor and equipment for the venture If the owners of the auction would contribute the cost of materials.

Tuminello was present at the meeting Monday and agreed to the idea of tabling the matter until city staff had a chance to investigate whether other property owners would be willing to contribute to the cause.

Developer Grant McEwan offered to pay the estimated $40,000 cost of extending the waterline 3,500 feet further east of the auto auction property to about 70 acres he owns near S.R. 46 and Osceola Road on the St. Johns River. Another developer. Garnett White, has offered to pay up to $75,000 toward the cost of extending water and sewer lines to his proposed recreational vehicle park east of the auto action.

POLICE IN BRIEF

Victim Retaliation Charged Man Following Conviction Of His Son

A 41-year-old Paola man sliegedly went to the home of the victim's parents and made threats of death to them and their son and destruction of their property after his son was convicted Tuesday of aggravated battery. He has been charged with retaliation against a witness or a victim. After Donald Jenkins Jr., 22. was convicted in a Tuesday hearing at the Seminole County jall in the Dec. 28, battery of Michael Smith, his father Donald Harrison Jenkins, of 4963 Woodruff Springs Road, allegedly went to the home of John H. and Polly Smith, of 901 S. Magnolia Ave., Sanford and allegedly made threats.

After Jenkins left that home following the 8:50 p.m. Tuesday confrontation with the battery victim's parents, during which the Smiths alleged their lives were threatened, police arrived and Michael Smith came to their home. While Michael Smith was there he reportedly received a threating call from the elder Jenkins. A policeman overheard the call, a police report said.

The elder Jenkins was arrested after questioning at the Sanford police station at about 3 p.m. Wednesday. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court July 13.

Officer Injured Making Arrest

A Sanford policeman who arrested an man who allegedly fought police and contined to curse and resist during his transport to the Seminole County jail at about 10:40 p.m. Wednesday, reported that the man kicked him, injuring his knee as he waited for guards to open a door to let them into the jail.

Policeman James F. Spears reported his knee "popped" when he was kicked and a jail nurse who examined him advised him to see a doctor.

Spears alleges he was kicked by Michael Yelverton, who was not carrying identification when he was arrested after allegedly fighting to get to stay at Fitzgearld's, 503 N. Palmetto Ave., Sanford, after bar workers and police tried to make him leave.

Yelverton was arrested on charges of battery on a policeman, resisting arrest with violence and assault on a policeman. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Charges Added Against Prisoner

A 20-year-old man already jailed in connection with a recent rash of Sanford burglaries has had charges added against him in connection with three more home burglaries which occurred May 13, 15 and 21.

Items taken in those burglaries have been recovered by police. Among the things stolen were video recorders and silver items.

Randall Scott Pierce of 9151/2 Park Ave. had charges of burglary to occupied dwellings, theft and burglary added at the jail Wednesday. His bond in these latest cases totals $15,000 and he remained Jailed.

Target Of Potential Bidding War

Sanford, County Parry Over Utility Purchase

By Ted Carter Herald Etaff Writer

Lake Monroe Utilities may soon become the target of a bidding war between the city of Sanford and Seminole County, as both entities try to position themselves to serve anticipated commercial growth in the vicinity of State Road 46 and Interstate 4.

City officials had been negotiating a possible purchase with utility owner Dr. J.W. Hickman. But the city's interest waned after Seminole County entered the picture and began discussing a purchase price of $1.2 million for the approximate 1 million gallon-a-day water plant and 100,000 gallon-a-day sewer facility.

Now, however, the door has been opened for the city to renew negotiations, though the degree of interest among city commissioners is uncertain, especially now that the price the city would be asked to pay is $50,000 more than the price offered to the county.

Hickman and his son Jim. the utilities' president, have declined to publicly discuss a possible sale of the water and sewer treatment plants. "We have no comment. period." said Jim Hickman Wednesday.

In the past few weeks, negotiations with the county progressed to the point that Environmental Services Director Jim Bible was scheduled to ask county commissioners to call a public hearing on the purchase. Bible changed his mind late this week. having learned that the utilities' consumptive water permit from the St. Johns Water Management District had lapsed.

Commissioners Tuesday agreed to put off the hearing for an indefinite period, apparently unaware that an unsigned purchase option had been given to the Sanford City Commission Monday night. City commissioners are scheduled to meet Monday to discuss whether to renew negotiations for the water and sewer plants which serve about 50 industrial plants and businesses within a several thousand-acre area in the northwest part of the county near 14.

Bill Simmons. Sanford's city engineer. said he has not witnessed a great deal of interest on the part of city officials and speculated that the utilities' owner sees a sale to the city or county as a way to increase sewer capacity to the 1-4 Industrial Park which he also owns. Without the increased capacity. the industrial park would be limited in its expansion, according to Simmons.

The county's Bible also said the owner is looking for increased capacity, noting several industrial projects in the area are on hold awaiting an increase in the plant's sewer capacity. "They need a larger capacity than he has available." said Bible.

Bible said that if the county did purchase the utilities, the sewer plant would be shut down once the Yankee Lake regional sewer plant planned by the county is operating. The number of industrial and commercial customers in the I-4 Industrial Park area which would hook into the Yankee Lake facility also would increase significantly by then, predicted Bible.

"We have several projects coming in around the interstate," said Bible. "The issue is being able to serve good projects that are ready to come into that area. Some of these will provide quite a bit of employment."

For that reason, said Bible, the county has its sights on providing utilities in the area. either through Lake Monore Utilities or through the regional plant it plans to build. "The county certainly would like to serve that area. We don't think Sanford's existing utility plants would adequately serve it."

Jay Marder. Sanford's city planner. disagreed, and noted Sanford has had the northwest area in its utilities planning for the past 10 years. "We anticipate serving development in that area, no question about it. I think one thing that is very clear is that Sanford has a Triple A rate bond program that includes extending water and sewer lines to that area." he said. referring to a utilities bond issue of about $16.9 million on which the city is working."

He said the area has been included in the city's expansion plans for so long because "that's our area of influence. and it influences us."

Lake Monroe Utilities' service area is situated near the northwest corner of the city, the closest portion being an approximate 500-acre area the city annexed in an action the county continues to dispute in court.

City Engineer Simmons said the real value lies in the service area, not the Lake Monore Utilities' water and sewer plants. He noted the city, through utility impact fees. could easily extend sewerage interceptor lines out to the northwest corner served by Lake Monore. "With our western interceptor in there we'd be in a good position to accommodate the customers there without the package plant being there."

The key difference, said Simmons, "is that we have an operating waste water treatment plant and they (the county) don't."

Nonetheless, he acknowledged the city would likely consider buying the private utility operation at the right price. "Given a choice. I'd just as soon we owned the utility. However, we're not going to get into a bidding war with Seminole County." he said. "Quite frankly, I don't think we can afford an offer like what the county has offered."

Observers speculate the county's interest in buying the private utility is linked to a desire to stop further annexations to the northwest by Sanford. It may appear so and it may be what occurs by the county acquiring the utility, said county commission Chairman Fred Streetman. But he added the purchase is not intended as a pre-emptive move. "That's not the intent but it may be one of the results." said the chairman.

Storms Hit Plains, Cold Front Nears

By United Press International

Scattered showers, thunderstorms and a tornado sprang ahead of a cold front from lower Michigan through the Tennessee Valley and into the South as fair skies and cooler air crossed the Plains early today.

One person was injured Thursday evening in Hazel Park, Mich., as a large sign was blown down by thunderstorm winds gusting to near 60 mph. Winds reached near 60 mph in Sterling Heights, a suburb of Detroit. and power lines were blown down near Rochester, Mich.

Thunderstorms also lashed the Gulf Coast and Florida and swirled through the high Plains from New Mexico into Colorado.

A tornado struck Austin, Texas, at about 4:30 p.m. Thursday, cutting a 4-mile swath across the city. The twister jerked trees out of the ground and yanked down power lines, said Bruce English, a police radio operator. There were no injuries, he said.

"We had a police unit that was damaged. probably (because of) the pressure. The windshields were busted out," English said. One police officer was inside the squad car but was not hurt.

'We had approximately 200 trees uprooted and knocked over." English said. "We had major power failures throughout the whole city."

A second twister was spotted over Lake Travis, west of Austin.

Three to four inches of rain fell on Austin in two hours. and the National Weather Service said it clocked winds blowing at 52 mph.

Just as the storm blew into town, a bolt of lightning struck a three-story house, setting it ablaze, said Lt. Larry Brown of the fire department. No one was injured there, but the house was heavily damaged.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered Thursday from the upper Great Lakes into the Mississippi Valley, the weather service said.

The storms brought winds of up to 58 mph at Champaign-Urbana, Ill., and marble-size hall and 60-mph winds to Laporte, Ind.

Rain fell along the upper Texas coast, the Louisiana coast and the west coast of Florida. Savannah, Ga., was drenched with 1.99 inches of rain in two hours Thursday and New Orleans Naval Air Station picked up 1.41 inches.

A cold front extended early from eastern lower Michigan through northeast Mississippi and into central Texas, the National Weather Service said.

Although Mars is now a freezing desert. a geologist says the planet appears to have had a global ocean 150 feet deep and much of that water is probably still there in the form of polar and underground ice.

If that is so, Ronald Greeley of Arizona State University says future Mars explorers could tap those great stores of ice for oxygen, water and fuel.

"The trick is to find out where these reservoirs are," he said.

Greeley, reporting Thursday in the journal Science, based his estimate on the extent of volcanic rock now visible in satellite pictures of the red planet. He assumes volcanoes released water as they did on Earth.

In addition to the water that presumably came from documented volcanic action. Greeley said much more water may have been produced early in Martian history, but evidence of its early days has been erased by later geological activity.

Lake Mary P&Z Approves Crystal Ridge Subdivision

By Genie Lindberg Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary's Planning and Zoning Board this week, with what some board members said may have been its longest motion on record, unanimously agreed to Calton Homes' request for final subdivision approval of its proposed Crystal Ridge development. The approval, which will be considered by the city commission in July, hinged on several conditions.

The development, to be located at the intersection of Ridge and Country Club roads. is to contain 72 single-family residences, which will be sold for between $100,000 and $200,000, according to developers. Each house will be a minimum of 2,000 sq. ft. and will sit on four-tenths of an acre. The motion for approval that was initiated by P&Z member Clay Simmons included the conditions:

• That the developer install

Clean-Up Catches On In City

Lake Mary's "Clean Up Day" last weekend was a bigger success than Judie and Carl Chiappone, its instigators, had anticipated.

Friday afternoon they said they weren't sure if anyone would show up because the first organizational meeting they held this month had only produced eight volunteers, but "they were very enthusiastic." The next meeting. "no one showed. except for Commissioner Charlie Webster, but the meeting was held at his house."

So, Saturday morning when more than 30 volunteers picked up their trash bags and started collecting the city's litter, the Chlappones said they were delighted.

"We are not people with a lot of spare time; we're all busy but a little effort by a lot of people goes a long way." The group filled a giant dumpster with bags of litter that were almost falling out of the top of it. Mrs. Chiappone said.

catchy." and the Chiappones hope that the litter campaign will continue to grow until Lake Mary is free from litter. Raising the consciousness of people who casually throw litter is of primary concern to the Chiappones who moved to Lake Mary from Denver a year ago where "no littering" was a serious matter. Mrs. Chiappone said she has stopped her car along Country Club Road and Main Road a number of times to load her car with 33 gallon trash bags full of litter that she picked up herself. "I was glad to help," but it was soon after that when she launched her campaign to spread the word about the litter problem in Lake Mary. She said she sought volunteers from community organizations and businesses, all the neighborhood watch groups, Seminole County's forest rangers, Cub and Boy Scout troops, city officials and the police and fire departments. She was disappointed that posters announcing the "clean up day" were removed from the windows of local businesses less than 24 hours after the businesses had agreed to place them there.

Neighboring residents. After a prolonged discussion in which Simmons proposed that the wood and pilaster wall would be discuss the matter further when it came before the city commission.

That the wall along the four lots adjacent to the Murphys have a maintenance casement.

That no two-story houses be built on the four lots in guestion.

 That maintenance of the wall along the four lots be provided by the development's homeowner's association and that if it fails to maintain it, the city could come in and put a lien on the 72 lots for the cost of maintenance 30 days after writmore in keeping with the "look"

ten notice by a complainant.

 That a 15-foot pedestrian easement on one lot be deleted or modified if it was not to be deleted in the plans.

• That intersection improvements at True Lane and Frederick Avenue be incorporated into the plan.

• That the sidewalk on the northside of Frederick Avenue and onto Wheeler Way be reduced to four feet from six feet.

That three lots and part of a fourth adjacent to the Murphys have 12 foot trees planted adjacent to the 15-foot maintenance easement.

The motion passed unant- financial data processing center mously.

In other action. the board: • Approved a site plan for the construction of a drive-in banking facility for First Seminole Bank at 531 West Lake Mary Boulevard. Conditions for the approval include "good neighbor lighting." a revision of the engineering for a cross access casement. signage in accordance with the city's sign ordinance and no right-hand turn lane at the property's exit.

 Approved a request for a conditional use to permit the construction of a 60 foot high for Florida Informanagement Services. Inc. of Orlando, to be located on the west side of Lake Emma Road at the Intersection of Greenway Boulevard. Conditions for the approval include a request for a traffic study to determine traffic impact on Lake Emma Road because the center will employ approximately 500 people eventually: a request for two accesses onto the property and landscaping that will coin-cide with the height of the building which is to be 25 feet higher than the city's required maximum 35 foot height.

The makers of Glad Bags donated 2,000 garbage bags and Western Waste Disposal contributed $1,000 to cover costs of the program and 2,000 small litter bags with a Keep It Clean logo (K.I.C.) on them.

Webster, Mayor Dick Fess and City Manager Bob Norris participated in the Saturday clean up along with the other citizens.

Mrs. Chiappone was especially grateful to the Seminole County Chapter of Demolay which sent four volunteers. Local organizations were to receive 25 cents per bag of litter collected, but the Demolay volunteers insisted their money be donated to the city. The four volunteers were Dale Dietzman, Joe Larsson, Al Webb and Rick Bernard.

Brice Construction Company, builders of the city's new Publix grocery store, picked up the litter at the corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and Rinehart Road and residents of The Forest subdivision were responsible for picking up the litter in their neighborhood, Mrs. Chiappone said.

"For a first time effort. I consider it (the clean up) a total success." However, she added, there is still a lot to be done.

"Every once in awhile, you meet someone who is equally enthusiastic and excited and appreciative of the effort - they really fire you up," she said. -Genie Lindberg

Fourth Estate's Spy In The Sky

The news media, during the past year, have used images from private "remote sensing satellites" to snare pictures of the Chernobyl nuclear accident and to track the Iran-Iraq war. Imagine, though, TV networks and newspapers with the ability to transmit within minutes high-resolution photographs of military operations — photographs with enough clarity, for example, to show large objects being unloaded from cargo planes.

The Reagan administration and the Defense Department, concerned over the prospects of media-owned satellites transmitting such sharp images, have started trying to limit what the media may transmit. A conflict looms between the First Amendment and national security, even though such satellites are not yet on line and regulations are not official.

Media use of such clear photographs will, in fact, pose foreign policy and national security questions. But the administration is drafting regulations that come dangerously close to prior restraint. The regulations are as unnecessary as they are abhorrent to defenders of the First Amendment.

Consider that the media now have two sources for pictures of such incidents as the Chernobyl disaster — one domestic and one foreign. Even if regulations governing sale of photos by the domestic company were imposed, what would prevent the media from making purchases from foreign suppliers, which are expected to grow in number within the next decade.

Consider, too, that the Soviets already have unrestricted access to their own satellite images, which are far more precise than the high-resolution photos envisioned. Thus, it's only the American public that would be kept in the dark by limiting journalists' access to images.

Furthermore, the Defense Department has asked for "maximum discretion" in de-

GEORGE MCGOVERN The Anti-Communism Fallacy Continues

For four decades and more the driving force behind American foreign policy has been anti-communism. For almost as long I have felt that this was an overly negative approach to the world, unworthy of a great power such as the United States. We ought to be affirming what we are for instead of spending so much energy reacting to what we are against.

Time after time we have been drawn into foreign policy imbroglios that were not in our national interest because we wanted to uppose the Russians or the North Koreans or the North Vietnamese or some other communist movement. Seldom have we prevailed in these interventions at any level commensurate with the cost.

In other cases we have identified American values and prestige with shabby right-wing dictators such as Pinochet of Chile, or Marcos of the Philippines, or Rhee of South Korea simply because they were willing to wave an anti-communism banner.

In 1954, the CIA organized a military coup in Guatemala to overthrow newly elected Socialist President Jacob Arbenz. The coup succeeded. but to what end? This is the kind of high-handed operation supposedly carried out to advance American security. It had the opposite result. It weakened America's moral and political stature as an advocate of national self-determination and it opened the way for an unpopular. unrepresentative government to take control in Guatemala to the long-termi detriment of that nation.

Now comes the Persian Gulf Intervention by the present administration. Again, the basic reason for the hasty decision by the administration to put ships carrying American flags into the Iranian-Iraqi war zone was a desire to get ahead of the Russians.

The Kuwaitis. apparently distressed — as were their Iraqi allies — by President Reagan's decision to ship arms to Iran, approached the Soviet government about assisting the movement of oil through the Persian Gulf. The Soviets agreed to help and offered the loan of several tankers.

This was enough to prompt the Reagan team to tell the Kuwaitis we would go the Russians one better and place American flags on Kuwaiti tankers in the Gulf and provide naval escorts for the tankers. Why would anyone suppose such a hastily drafted move is in the U.S. interest? It was, after all, the Iraqis who started the

It was, after all, the Iraqis who started the attacks on shipping in the Persian Gulf. It was also an Iraqi missile that hit the USS Stark, killing 37 Americans.

Nor does the argument hold that we need to take these risks in the gulf to keep the Russians out. As Professor Arthur Schlesinger wrote in The New York Times (June 17, 1987). "An enlarged Soviet presence would only make the Soviet Union more than ever a target for Arab fear and Iranian rage."

In a sense we have taken the heat off the Russians through our heavy-handed role in the gulf. Thus far we are there without the support of the Arab States. without the participation of Europe and Japan and without the cooperation and support of Congress.

This is the anti-communism fallacy in its worst form.

Now Sing: Yes, No, Or Maybe

Nothing that is likely to happen in the Persian Gulf is half so dangerous to the United States as the current attempt of Congress to meddle in those murky waters.

It is not for nothing that foreign affairs have traditionally been the preserve of presidents. Conducting U.S. relations with foreign countries and laying down U.S. policy in matters concerning them often require degrees of clarity, consistency and confidentiality that it simply isn't reasonable to expect of 535 members of Congress and their staffs.

But the American people's recent bad habit of giving the White House to one party and the Congress to the other has put severe strains on this long tradition. The Democrats would be less than human if they could resist using their control of Congress to make President Reagan and his administration look bad wherever they can - and that most definitely includes the Persian Gulf. One incidental casualty of yielding to this temptation, however, is any hope of a consistent U.S. policy there. Of the crucial importance of the Persian Gulf to the West, there is simply no doubt whatever. A large percentage of the oil that is vital to the economies of Western Europe and Japan is carried in tankers that must pass through it. In January 1980, when it seemed possible that the Soviet Union might take advantage of our hostage crisis with Iran to intrude itself into the region. President Carter did not hesitate to proclaim the "Carter doctrine" in unmistakable terms:

BEN WATTENBERG Reagan For Czar

There is talk around the White House that President Reagan ought to appoint a "czar." The czar, or czarina, would organize the effort to win public and congressional support for continued military aid to the Nicaraguan contras.

imately been raised in the Irancontra hearings. But one big part of the agenda is the fight over a simple question: Who's in charge? If Congress, using scandal-hype and media carnage as levers, succeeds in derailing contra aid, the answer

science world Camel Makes Comeback

By Philip Williams

LODWAR, Kenya (UPI) — You either love them or loathe them. Sometimes, owners say, you can have both feelings about camels at once.

But the hump-backed beast of burden, so long despised as a smelly and awkward leftover from the unmechanized past, is making a big comeback, this time as an ecological star.

Praise for the not-so-humble and often aggressive animal ranges from scientifically warm to poetic.

"This animal can save the pastoralist way of life and the marginal rangelands." said Daniel Stiles, a United Nations Environment Program expert and authority on nomads.

At the turn of the century, barely a camel was to be found in the whole of Turkana, a once grassy but now arid, rocky stretch of northern Kenya. The ranges were grazed by big herds of cattle.

Drive now between Lake Turkana and the provincial capital of Lodwar termining what kind of satellite pictures would be harmful to the national interest. Giving "maximum discretion" to officials whose natural instinct is to stifle the flow of information is intrinsically dangerous. Government limits on access would almost certainly prompt lawsuits from the news media.

The government thus enters into a legal, technological, economic and political morass. It ignores the fact that the news media traditionally have respected the Constitution's common defense provision. When lives have been at stake or serious national security issues have been raised, the media have cooperated with the government by withholding information until the danger has passed.

In fact, media access to high-resolution satellite data could have a deterrent effect. Nations would realize that aggressive actions would be seen and reported throughout the free world.

Some secrecy on the part of the government is indispensable to national security. But secrecy, however necessary it may be, is inevitably at odds with freedom. And secrecy and security, despite the predictable concerns of the Pentagon, are not necessarily synonymous.

Before media use of satellite photos becomes routine, before the administration imposes restrictive regulations, we would hope that reasonable people reach a reasonable, informal accommodation.

BERRY'S WORLD

"An attempt by any outside force to gain control of the Persian Gulf region will be regarded as an assault on the vital interests of the United States of America, and such an assault will be repelled by any means necessary, including military force."

There was not so much as a peep out of the (Democratic) Congress.

Even a few months ago, when Iranian attacks on Kuwaiti tankers forced Kuwait to seek our protection and the Reagan administration began planning the transfer of 11 such tankers to the U.S. flag, Congress snoozed peacefully on. But then came Iraq's accidental attack on the U.S. frigate Stark. Public opinion focused on the gulf. public fears of greater involvement there were inflamed, the allegedly smaller military commitments of our NATO allies in the region were criticized - and lo and behold, Congress barged noisily into the fray.

It may not even be a very good idea. It is certainly late: The vote on contra aid is scheduled for September. There is only one person who can be the czar of this policy: Ronald Reagan.

There is renewed talk in Washington that the old fellow is losing his stuff, that he's not quite with it. Some of his most loyal supporters describe him as a "part-time president." He is seen as a lame duck. What can he do?

Reagan believes that the Nicaraguan situation may be the most important international issue facing America today. He is right. It will likely set the course of American foreign policy. We are either going to be an assertive power, an American eagle, that defends our interests and values, or we are going to be an American lame duck, waddling indecisively from crisis to crisis, hamstrung by a Congress with an isolationist tropism.

The national stakes are high enough, but for Reagan personally they are even higher. Remember, the Marxist-Leninist Sandinista government in Nicaragua grew and flourished on Reagan's watch. Clare Booth Luce has said that presidencies are usually summed up by a single sentence. If Reagan doesn't prevail, his one-liner may be, "He was the President who lost Central America to communism."

A president is also judged by whether he has preserved presidential power in the never-ending battle with Congress. Complex constitutional questions have legitwill be there for all to see. The 535 members of Congress will be even more in charge than they are now, and Reagan's legacy will be one more step toward 535 secretaries of state serving simultaneously.

There is also the matter of discipline within the Reagan administration, right up to the White House staff. There, too, the question is "Who's in charge?" Staunch Reaganauts suddenly feel betrayed by White House staffers who are leaking a strategy to undercut Secretary of State George Shultz's - and Reagan's - support of Assistant Secretary of State Elliott Abrams, now under fire from the Iran/contra fallout. The White House white-flag idea is to preemptively surrender, right now, to members of Congress who are demanding Abrams' resignation. That White House mushiness, say the Reagan loyalists, is a disastrous cave-in: throwing a baby off the sled to feed the howling congressional wolves will only whet the appetite for more babies.

So Ronald Reagan should take to the airwaves. He should go down to the White House Situation Room, take off his jacket, roll up his sleeves and say, roughly, this: "You betcha we need a czar to get contra aid. I've appointed one. Me, I'll be right here most mornings. I'll talk to the press and to the public. I'm calling the shots at the White House. I'll explain that the contras are making real military headway. I'll tell the public that if we lose down there, the Soviets will have a beachhead on the North American mainland. and you will be forced to slow at least once to allow herds of camel to cross the road, heads stuck snootily in the air on the end of elastic necks. There is hardly a cow to be seen.

About 3,000 years ago the whole volcanic district was under water. The lake level began to fall and is now a fraction of its former size. A thousand years ago the climate began to dry and pastoralists, the nomads of marginal Africa, moved in with their cattle.

Now the grass is all but gone and the land is turning to desert — flat soil-less scrub or bare expanses of ridged lava rock. Stiles and a growing body of expert opinion says the land was simply overgrazed by cattle, whose destructive, cloven feet broke up what was not edible and scattered it to the ever-present wind.

Yet the Turkana tribesmen's way of life demands animals. They are the bank, a deposit account, currency in emergency and a dowry. The answer for the Turkana and all the world's threatened pastoralists, says Stiles, is the camel.

"Historically, camel pastoralism has arrived in a region only after the desert has been created," Stiles said. "Perhaps if the camel were to arrive before, the desert would not follow."

A camel can produce between 4 and 10 times more milk than a cow. albeit 30 percent less meat and blood — a primary source of protein for the people of Turkana. It is taken from a small dart puncture in the jugular of the beast and drunk with milk

JACK ANDERSON

Carter Still Denies Plans To Attack Iran

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON – Ex-President Jimmy Carter, who had promised never to lie to the American people, told a whopper in 1980. Then he merely sought to distort the news; now he is trying to rewrite history. The story can best be told chronologically:

On Sept. 20, 1980, we received an urgent telephone call from then-CIA Director Stansfield Turner. He asked us to kill the Sept. 22 column, which had already been distributed to newspapers. He informed us gravely that the column jeopardized national security.

We replied that the column was based on intercepted Soviet cables, that the Soviets knew the National Security Agency routinely intercepted their cables and that presumably they also knew what was contained in their own cables. So the column didn't reveal anything the Soviets didn't already know. Turner argued that the publication of a single cable would enable the Soviets to focus on it and learn about our intelligence methods. We were aware of this danger, we said. But we pointed out that the same secret message had been sent to several Warsaw Pact governments and that we had taken care to quote only phrases that had appeared in all the messages. So the Soviets couldn't isolate any single cable.

The Sept. 22. 1980, column appeared on schedule. It reported that President Carter was preparing a military assault on Iran as an "October surprise" to rescue the American hostages, punish the regime of the Ayatollah Khomeini regime and win support for his re-elecion.

The column also warned that the Kremlin had alerted its Warsaw Pact allies to prepare for a military confrontation in Iran and "was prepared to intervene milian 'October coup.' ... The Red Army has shifted significant numbers of men and materiel from Europe to the Iran region. ... The Russians now have at least 23 divisions in position to move into Iran."

In response, President Carter charged angrily that the column was "false, grotesque and irresponsible." We replied that, for security reasons, the CIA director had asked us to kill the same column the White House now claimed was false. "The president cannot have it both ways," we wrote. "If the column was false, it could not possibly jeopardize security. In fact, the story is true, and the president knows it." After the October mission was canceled and Carter was replaced in the White House by Ronald Reagan and the hostages were home safe, veteran investigative reporter Richard T. Sale (now with Aerospace Daily) retraced the events. He wrote: When syndicated columnist the White House officially denied it. Yet even as Anderson wrote, secret military rehearsals for the second mission had been taking place."

Now a Reader's Digest editor. John Barron, a former intelligence specialist, has concluded in his new book, "Breaking the Ring":

After the aborted hostage rescue mission, "the Carter administration laid plans to redeem itself in the eyes of the electorate by mounting a much larger attack upon Iran. During the summer, preparations proceeded in unprecedented secrecy

"With equal secrecy, the Soviet Union moved 22 full divisions to the Iranian border. They were all ready, just waiting. ... Prudently, Carter canceled the raid."

Jimmy Carter, meanwhile, continues to reject the accumulating evidence with benign stubbornness. He scrawied a note that reached Barron's publisher. "Barron's account is pure fiction," Carter wrote. He signed it "Love, Jimmy."

WASHINGTON (UPI) - After 23 days of testimony about diversions, coverups. lies and profiteering, doubt is growing within the congressional Iran-Contra committees that the central figure in the scandal, Lt. Col. Oliver North, will tell the truth even under oath.

The decorated Marine was praised by, many committee members at the outset of the hearings seven weeks ago as a dedicated patriot and a tireless. if perhaps misguided, National Security Council aide to President Reagan.

But since then - and significantly Thursday - his image and those of other figures in the case have been tarnished severely by testimony that:

-They altered proposed congressional testimony of the late CIA Director William Casey in November to cover up the administration's role in selling arms to Iran through Israel in 1985. The idea was to blame the deals on Israel, although investigators have since found Reagan approved the sales.

-North oversaw the diversion of at least $3.5 million to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels in profits from secret U.S. arms sales to Iran, then altered documents and destroyed others to cover his tracks as Justice Department officials

Pro List Grows To 13; Livernois To Test Osceola

Seminole County's minorleague baseball connection has swollen to 11 with the signing of four players from this year's draft.

That is a major accomplishment even though 11 of them are in the minor leagues.

'With Expo Tim Raines and Cubble David Martinez in the major leagues, that totals a lucky 13 for the county pros.

Lyman, Oviedo and Lake Brantley high schools have three players each in the pros. Lake Howell has a pair while Seminole and Lake Mary each have one.

Raines, who signed in June of '77, went to Seminole and Martinez, who signed in January of '83, attended Lake Howell.

Here's a look two ex-Greyhounds:

Houston's Bob Parker, a Lyman graduate, is stationed at AA with Columbus in the Southern League. Parker, an infielder, played at Seminole Community College and Mississippi State.

The left-handed hitter is beginning his second year with Columbus. He is backing up at second base and shortstop.

He has played in 35 games while batting .202 with 20 hits in 99 at-bats along with six RBI and four steals.

Boston's Derek Livernols, another Lyman product. Is playing A ball with Winter Haven in the Florida State League. The curveballing right-hander was 6-6 with an ERA just over 4.00.

Livernois will pitch tonight against the Osccola Astros at Kissimmee at 7.

Sanford Steals Past Leesburg

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

LEESBURG - One of the key plays of the night for the Sanford American League All-Star team against Leesburg American came in the top of the fifth with the score tied at 4-4. Pinch runner Jermaine Hartsfield was on third and Narvel Fuller was on first with two outs.

Fuller broke for second on the first pitch to Adaryal Jones and drew a throw from Leesburg catcher Torey Clements. As soon as Clements released the ball, Hartslield dashed for home and he slid in safely with the goahead run.

When asked about the "trick play" after the game, Sanford manager Otis Raines said: "That wasn't no trick play - that was Sanford baseball."

There was a double dose of Sanford baseball in the Florida Little Major League Sub-District Tournament at the Susan St.

Baseball

'That wasn't no trick play: that was Sanford baseball."

— Otis Raines

Jermaine Hartsfield, left, and Narvel Fuller pulled a double steal to lift the Americans past Leesburg.

"They have been hot," Livernois said Thursday about the first-place Astros. "They got us by 21/3 games (31/3 after Osceola's victory Thursday) games, so we've got to catch them."

These five signed last year: Chicago White Sox Jeff Greene, an Oviedo product, is playing for Peninsula (Hampton, Va.) in the Carolina League (A). The left-handed hitting first baseman also played a year at SCC.

Greene is hitting .290 with four homers.

Cincinnati's Tommy Novak, a Lake Brantley grad, is pitching for the Tampa Tarpons in the the Florida State League (A). Novak also pitched at Valencia Community College and UCF.

Novak is pitching mostly short relief. He has a 0-0 record in 26 innings with a 5.88 ERA. The right-hander has struck out 15 and walked 15.

Cincinnati's Ed Taubensee, a Lake Howell product, is catching for Billings. Mont. in the Ploneer League (Rookie).

The 6-foot-4 left-handed hitter catcher slugged a homer in Billings' opener to help the team to a 4-1 beginning.

Houston's Mike Beams. another Brantley product, is playing in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) at Sarasota. Beams is a third baseman.

Kansas City's Mike Davis, another Patriot who graduated with Beams, is also in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) at Sarasota.

Davis is splitting time behind the plate and hitting .333 through the first five games.

These four signed this year:

Pittsburgh's Mark Merchant, the highest draft pick ever at No. 2 in the first round, is also playing in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie). Oviedo's switch-hitting outfielder had two hits Tuesday night.

San Diego's Darrin Reichle, another Oviedo product via Saint Leo College, is pitching for Spokane, Wash, of the Northwest League (Rookle).

Reichle, a hard-throwing right-hander, has pitched nine innings allowing just six hits with nine strikeouts. Control has been a problem in the early going, though, as he has walked 12 through two no decisions.

The 6-foot-5 pitcher is looking forward to Saturday when he starts against Bellingham, Wash., which features Northwest League Player of the Week Ken Griffey, Jr.

Spokane, which is owned by Ken and George Brett, leads the league with a 6-1 record.

Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia and two of his mainstays, linebacker Jeff Harris,

Bisceglia, Staff Send 13 Grads To College Game

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

Mike Bisceglia. Lake Howell High's hardworking football coach, had more than enough success on the field this past football season.

The Silver Hawks posted a 9-1 record and won the Seminole Athletic Conference. They also posted back-to-back victories over Metro Conference powers Winter Park and Orlando Evans - a feat not accomplished too often.

As great as the Silver Hawks were on the field, however. Bisceglia and his coaching staff - Mike Bouch, Bob Irvin, Bob Luby, Buddy Garrison and Doug Blackwell - did a better job off the field. They procured scholarships for 13 of their graduating seniors.

Bisceglia and staff did not rest on their laurels when the season ended - they took care of their players after their prep playing days were over which is the sign of a complete football program.

"That says a lot for the kind of talent that we have in the county." Bisceglia, who was Sanford Herald Coach of the Year, said. "The county is producing a lot of good football players, and the colleges realize it."

There have been several productive years in Seminole county football, but 1986 produced some of the finest talent that the county has ever seen. Twenty-two players received scholarships and three others will walk on next fail.

The Silver Hawks, of course, dominate the list. "We had a heck of a lot of talent last season." Bisceglia said. "I'm very proud of all the kids that will be playing ball."

Bisceglia said that a modern technological advancement, video tapes, helped him to reach a lot of colleges. "A couple of years ago, you'd send a college a game film, and have to wait for it to be returned even if a another school was interested in a kid." Bisceglia said. "Now that there are video tapes, you can make copies of games, and send them to several different schools. There is a lot more to coaching than just being on the field. I try to get in contact with as mant different colleges as possible."

Last year. Jeff Harris and Craig Wagner were two of the top defenders in the county. Harris was named the Sanford Herald Defensive Player of the Year for his superb linebacking. Wagner, a strong defensive end, registered four sacks while proving to be one of the area's toughest blocks. Wagner and Harris both signed with Memphis State.

"I'm real excited to be playing college football." Harris said.

"Memphis State has a good program and I think that Jeff and I will fit right in." Wagner added.

Running back Nate Hoskins, who was named the Sanford Herald Offensive Player of the Year after rushing for 1,005 yards, will be attending Samford, a Division III school in Alabama. Hoskins will be joined at Samford by teammate Steve Vadala and Lyman's Bobby Luce.

Another Lyman standout, Benny Glenn, a linebacker who led the county in tackles, will be playing for Tarleton State in Stevensville, Tex.

Brantley's Reed Fires 2-Hitter, Tips Howell In 'Best Game Ever'

Dalton Reed tossed a two-hitter to lead Like Brantley to an 8-3 victory over Lake Howell in American Legion baseball Thursday at Lake Brantley High School.

"That was the best game that Dalton has ever pitched." Lake Brantley coach Jerrey Thurston said. "He has really done a heck of a job this summer."

Thurston said that Reed kept the Howell confused as he changed the speed of his pitches frequently. "He kept the ball low, and he was changing things up all the time." Thurston said.

Reed recorded a pair of strikeouts while walking four. The victory lifts Brantley to 9-3. Brantley will return to action tonight at 5:30 when it plays host to Winter Park.

Brantley used a balanced 10-hit attack to knock off Birto Benjamin's squad. Mark Gabrovic (2 for 2) and Jerrey Thurston (1 for 3) both led Brantley with a pair of ribbles cach.

Reed helped himself out at the plate as he went 2 for 5 with a double and an RBI. Jim "Mongo" Morse had an RBI double while Jason Varitek rapped out two base hits. Shane Stufflet, Ricky Sheiman, and Matt Fair all had base hits for Brantley.

Wood Brothers Return To No. 21

For the Wood Brothers, the famous No. 21 could be a good sign in the Pepsi Firecracker 400. It seems like certain things go with certain people, and the No. 21 goes with the Wood brothers, just like No. 43 has always been connected with Richard Petty.

The Woods, who made 21 famous with drivers such as David Pearson (four Firecracker wins). Cale Yarborough (two Firecracker wins). Buddy Baker and Nell Bonnett (one Firecracker each), broke with tradition in 1985 when Kyle Petty signed to drive their Ford Thunderbirds.

In honor of sponsor 7-Eleven, the team switched to number 7 for two seasons. When Citgo became their sponsor for the 1987 season the team went back to their old winning number.

'It just seems like an old friend - a sentimental thing," said Leonard Wood.

Petty and the Woods are due for something good to happen in the Firecracker as they have finished fifth the last two years in the race which will once again start at 10 a.m. on July the Fourth.

"Daytona is special to me and it's special to the Woods." Petty, who won his first stock car race, the 1979 ARCA 200, at Daytona, said. "We've run good there the last two times down in the summer and we expect to do it again."

Darrell Waltrip agreed.

"Winning at Daytona is nice. no matter what the circumstances," Waltrip, who owns 11 checkered flags in various races at the 2.5-mile speedplant, said. "But winning the Daytona 500 is an honor everyone'd like to own, and the Firecracker doesn't rank much behind that."

Part of the race's prestige rests in its rewards. The record 400-mile race purse stands at $517,645.

This Sunday at noon Orlando's WESH-2 will telecast live the Miller American 400 at the Michigan International Speedway.

Bill Elliott is the defending champion. while Tim Richmond holds the Winston Cup qualifying record of 172.031 mph set in 1986. Darrell Waltrip holds the 400 mile race record of 153.863 set in 1984.

Other former winners of the Miller 400 expected to 20 apete are Cale Yarborough with eight wins. Elliott with three consecutive Miller wins, Bobby Allison and Richard Petty with four wins each and Benny Parsons with one win.

Daytona Beach driver Greg Ward led the last half of the NASCAR Winston Racing Series late model feature and was rewarded with a victory at Volusia County Speedway Saturday.

The young Kansas driver won only for the second time ever, and his second in a row. Rob Underwood of Umatilla was second at the strip after pressuring Ward in the late stages of the event.

Altamonte's Steve Harris led the first 12 circuits of the 25-lap race. Harris has really been improving and should be visiting Victory Circle any Saturday night seen. Saturday's third place was his best so far.

The lower classes have really been putting on a good show as they run three deep in the turns and four wide down the front and back stretch. Louis Davis of Osteen maintained his points lead in the mini-stock division with a second place finish. Louis has been a steady consistent racer all year.

Lewis Wants Long Jump To Re-Establish Himself

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) - Carl Lewis, who suffered through an Injury-plagued 1986 outdoor season, heads into the long jump final at the USA-Mobil Track and Field Championships today with his sights firmly set at re-establishing himself as the man to beat in the world of track.

Lewis, who won four gold medals at the 1984 Summer Olympics, also qualified for the 100 meters semifinals in a time of 10.06 with a strong wind at his back. He blazed to a 20.22 in the 200 to qualify for the semifinals and leaped 26-11 1-4 on his only, jump to advance to the finals of the long jump.

"My goals are to go under 10 in the 100, under 20 in the 200 and definitely somewhere in the mid 28 (feet) range." he said. "The track is conducive to that. I hope to prove that I'm ready to go under 20 in the 200. I feel that I'm on target."

Lewis, who has overcome knee surgery and the death of his father, will compete in the long

Track & Field

200 meters semifinals about three hours later. The 200 finals are scheduled for 6 p.m. PDT.

The closeness of the events should not bother Lewis, who says he's in the best shape he has been in since before the 1984 Games.

"I'm more rested than at any time in either 1983 or 1984." he said. "I feel I'm in better shape. I'm running better races and getting better pop ups on my approaches. In 1984 there was a lot of motivation to run and there is a lot of motivation in this meet as well."

Another athlete who is motivated for the meet is Edwin Moses. Less than a month ago. Moses had his streak of 122 consecutive victories in the 400 meter hurdles broken when Danny Harris defeated him in a meet in Spain. Both men will be coached by ex-Winter Park High grappler Jerry Hartman.

Last season, the Seminole High School basketball,team was a club with many leaders. Every player on the Seminole team had the ability to make the big play when it was needed.

But when the 'Noles really needed a key bucket or were in a compromising situation, there was one player that they looked to: Roderick Henderson.

Henderson was a player who possessed a great deal of poise. He was always as cool on the court as he was off of it. His mere appearence on the court often brought out the best in his leanmates.

Pensacola Junior College recognized Henderson's talent as the 6-foot-3 Henderson signed a grant-in-aid recently to play for

Gooden Claims He Didn't Crave Cocaine

NEW YORK (UPI) - New York Mets pitcher Dwight Gooden, in his first public comments on his recent cocaine treatment program, says he was not addicted to the drug and did not belong in the clinic where he was cloistered for 27 days.

A doctor who has treated professional athletes agreed Thursday that - if Gooden's description of his experience with drug use was true - it may not have been necessary to treat him in the clinic setting.

After Gooden tested positive for cocaine during spring training. Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth ordered him to immediately enter a drug treatment program or be suspended for a year without pay. One day later, Gooden was escorted to the Smithers Alcoholism and Drug Treatment Center in Manhattan where he remained for four weeks until his release April 29.

"I never belonged in Smithers, with some of those guys who were crack addicts, herion addicts, on angel dust. PCP, acid. alcoholics." Gooden said in Thursday editions of The New York Post. "I never had that kind of problem. Never.'

Gooden, however, aid not completely regret the experience. "It was a good program, but the only thing I got out of it was learning about myself." he told the Post.

Dr. Forest Tennant, the NFL's drug advisor, said if Gooden's comments in the Post and New York Newsday, that he wasn't addicted to the drug, were accurate, he would have treated him on an outpatient basis.

Dr. Allan Lans. Gooden's doctor at Smithers, refused to comment on the right-hander's assertion that he did not belong in the treatment center. saying that would violate patient-doctor confidentiality.

Tennant. speaking by phone from California, said that his normal procedure would involve testing the patient to determine the extent of his addiction.

'Say a parent brings their child in to be tested. We would take a blood test to see how much of the drug is in the blood and urine. We would then examine the individual's thyroid. nose. lungs and eves, and we can tell if he is really addicted. He may need to go into a hospital, but those who aren't we handle on an outpatient basis."

"I usually restrict (the definition of) addiction to people who are using drugs daily." Tennant said. "Once the drug gets out of the bloodstream they need more. It requires using the drug at least once a day."

Gooden said his cocaine use had escalated over the winter from once a month to once a week. While he claimed he never craved cocaine, the 22-year-old former Cy Young Award winner said he was headed down the same path as Maryland basketball star Len Blas, who died last year of cocaine intoxification.

"I might have ended up like Len Bias. In a way, I'm glad I got caught."

Simmons Hits Hubbard, Knocks Tanner For Loop

United Press International

Chuck Tanner has managed 2,604 games in his 17-year major-league career - 1,299 of them losses - and none ended as strangely as the Atlanta Braves' 2-1 defeat Thursday night to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I've never lost a game like this in my entire career." Tanner said. "As a matter of fact. I've never seen it happen in my 41 years in pro baseball."

"It" came with runners at first and third with two out in the ninth. Ted Simmons faced Orel Hershiser, and hit a ball too hard for his own good, for Glenn Hubbard's good. and definitely for the Braves' good.

Simmons lined a shot toward right that should have driven in pinch runner Trench Davis from third with the tying run. Instead, the ball hit baserunner Hubbard as he broke from first, making him the final out of the game.

"I saw it coming at me and I just turned to try to get out of the way," said Hubbard, who was struck in the neck and unable to rise for approximately a minute.

Hershiser, 8-7, escaped with an eight-hitter - including Simmons' ill-fated single in the ninth. The right-hander struck out seven and walked one in his fifth complete game this season.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) - The Minnesota Twins have floundered in mediocrity for the past few seasons with a fine arsenal of power hitters and front-line starting pitching. Jeff Reardon and a revamped bullpen have turned Minnesota into the firstplace Twins.

Twins 4

Dan Gladden, Kent Hrbek and Roy Smalley hit home runs Thursday to power the Minnesota Twins to a 4-3 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

The victory enabled the Twins to complete a three-game sweep of the Indians and stretch their winning streak to four games.

Bert Blyleven, 6-6, scattered eight hits over six innings to notch the triumph. George Frazier worked one inning with Reardon pitching two scoreless innings for his 15th save.

"They are the team to beat in the West." Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales said. "They have a pretty good ballclub, pretty good hitting, pretty good pitching, good defense, some power, some speed. But the change in the builpen is the big difference." Reardon, who came from Montreal in an offseason deal for Neal Heaton, said, "This was my best performance. I feit wellrested and in control."

Gladden and Hrbek homered in the first inning off loser Phil Niekro, 5-7, to help stake the Twins to a 3.0 lead. Gladden led off the Twins' first with his fourth homer of the season and, with one out, Kirby Puckett singled and Hrbck followed with his 18th home run.

14 ENOUGH FOR NATIONALS After scoring only two runs on three hits in Wednesday's loss to Leesburg and being shutout on three hits in the first four Innings Thursday. Sanford National seemed headed for elimination as it trailed Orlando Recreation Bureau, 6-0, going into the fifth inning. But the silent Sanford bats let out a major roar in the fifth as the Nationals rallied for 14 runs on 11 hits in the 14-7 victory over Orlando.

"I think the kids realized that they were two innings away from being eliminated." manager Rick Taylor said. "They knew they didn't have anything to lose so they finally came out and started swinging the bats.

Andre Rawlings started the rally with an infield single and took second on an Orlando error. Angelo Cash followed with a walk and Rawlings the first run of the frame on Don Hunt's single. Champions To Washington

The Saniando Greyhounds AAU/Junior Olympic National Championship Team are sponsoring a fund-raising project to send the team to Bellevue. Scattle, Wash. These young men were successful in defending the Florida State AAU/Junior Olympic for 1987. They were 13-year-old Florida champions when they competed for the National Championship and were one of the final eight undefeated teams out of 35.

However they only finished in 13th place after losing to the top three teams: Washington, D.C., Indianapolis and S.W. Louisiana.

The team averaged 87 points per game and held their opponents to an average of 38 points per game - a winning margin of 49 points per game. Last year Sanlando Greyhounds winning point margin per game was 23 points.

These talented 12 team members have been guided and led by Norman Ready, head coach, assisted by Thomas Demps II who have molded them into a selfless, exceptional basketball team.

Husband's Double Lives Will At Some Point Collide

DEAR ABBY: I am 23. "Elliott" is 45. I am single. Last year he celebrated his 25th wedding anniversary. He and his wife get along very well. He just happens to love me, too. She knows nothing of me. yet I know so much about her. I have known (and loved) Elliott for three years and we have a one to inform his family. beautiful 7-month-old son. For now, he sees his son the middle of the afternoon and every day and loves him very much. Elliott is basically living a double life. We spend a lot of time together. I am a Catholie and know it was wrong to get involved with a married man, but it's too late to feel guilty now. Abby, should his wife be told about this? I don't want her to be hurt, but something like this could give her a heart attack. Elliott and his wife have a 24-year-old son whom I have met. Wouldn't it be nice if he knew he had a half-brother? Should this be brought out into the open? Or is silence the best solution?

Care Of Flowerbulbs Important In Summer

Special to the Herald

With the exception of certain Allium and Anemone varieties, most spring-flowered bulbs are finished by the time June arrives. In this period between spring and summer-flowering, a bit of garden maintenance should be practiced. Daffodils, tulips and hyacinths should have had their expired flowers removed once the blooms faded. However, their foliage should have remained intact — this helps the bulb produce food and energy for flowering next spring. Only when all the foliage has withered and died should it be removed. If the sight of these plants is annoying to you there are a few options available.

Information Center says that developing seed pods will sap during the next season. It is not really necessary to worry about like will produce seeds that will help them to naturalize. This naturalization process results in more plants, thus more flowers during the next blooming period.

neglect those summer-flowering bulbs about to break into bloom. the bulb of necessary nutrients Top heavy cactus-flowered and result in poor flowering dahlias and some of the very tall gladioli are prone to damage from strong wind and lack of this occuring with the small natural support. Extra support spring bulbs. Grape hyacinths, may become necessary. This is Scilla, glory-of-the snow and the not difficult. Carefully insert a wooden or bamboo stake a few inches from the plant, taking precautions not to pierce the tubers. The plants should then be loosely tied to the poles with While tending to the needs of cotton fabric strips, old nylon next spring's flowerbulbs, don't stockings or plastic coated wires.

KEEPING QUIET IN ARIZONA

DEAR KEEPING: What are Elliott's thoughts on the matter? And what will you tell your son when he gets old enough to know that his "Daddy" is not married to his mother - but to some other lady? As I see it, if Elliott loves your child and continues to see him daily, there is no way he can keep the truth from his wife and family. Nor should he. But he should be the often sunbathes in her vard for an hour. We are the only ones who can see into her yard. Sometimes she wears a bikini swimsuit and sometimes she wears an ordinary brassiere and a short panty girdle with the garters tucked up out of sight. I once made some catty remarks to my husband about the bra and panty girdle outfit, and he asked me to explain what was wrong with it. He said it actually covered about twice as much of her as the bikini. What are your thoughts on this?

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: How much is covered is not the issue; more to the point, a bikini is appropriate attire for sunbathing lingeric is not. However, since your neighbor was sunbathing in' the privacy of her own yard (at least she thought she was), she is not accountable for her attire.

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with kids today, anyway? I amtalking about grandchildren. You go to visit friends and their adults in charge of the kids who permit the kids to run the show.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a man (I'll call him "Tex") who was hospitalized many years ago for a mental illness. I am really afraid to marry him without knowing more about his mental illness. Tex told me it included depression and some kind of schizophrenia, which he managed to overcome with treatment.

I wrote to my fiance's psychiatrist asking if I could talk to him about my flance's history of mental illness. My flance not only approved of my doing this - he encouraged me. I stated this in my letter. The psychlatrist ignored my letter. What do you advise?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: Ask Tex to arrange a consultation for both of you with his psychiatrist. Of course the doctor is entitled to be paid for the time he spends to answer your questions. And by the way, ignoring your letter was inexcusable.

For bulbs clustered in a garden setting, it is possible to carefully dig out the plants, and move them to a less conspicuous location. Another option is to dig them up, foliage and all and put them in a well-ventilated, shady area. The bulbs will be just find out of soil for a short time. Once all the foliage has dried, it should be removed. The bulbs should then be stored in a cool, dry place until it is time for fall planting.

A third alternative is to leave the bulbs where they are. Summer annuals can be planted in among the remaining foliage. Once these new summer plants begin to grow and spread out, the foliage from the spring bulbs will be less noticeable.

One must make sure that seed pods do not develop on the daffodil, tulip and hyacinth plants. Seed pods are formed if the expired flowers are not removed from the stem. They are usually small pouches on the tips of the stems that remain after the petals have fallen away. The Netherlands FlowerBulb

DEAR DR. GOTT - An in-

As we age and develop arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries), we are likely to experience symptoms that result from narrowing of the coronary arteries. Not enough oxygen-rich blood passes through the obstructed arteries to meet the needs of the cardiac muscle.

In patients with angina, the burning or constricting chest pain typically appears when the heart is stimulated to work harder, and thus to require more oxygen. For example, physical exertion, exposure to cold weather and emotional upset usually will trigger anginal pain.

Angina is a warning that must be heeded. It means that the heart is deprived of oxygen; coronary thrombosis (heart attack) may be preceded by angina, which should be treated. Nitroglycerine and other medicines are useful for this purpose.

Most angina patients can be successfully treated by a family internist or general doctor. Patients must take medicine, stop god 37 Rake smoking, modify their physical activity, reduce dietary fat and 39 Different - if they are obese - lose weight. The alteration of lifestyle plus the use of medication usually reduces both the intensity and the frequency of anginal attacks. Under these circumstances, the angina is 50 Play a role said to be stable.

However, unstable angina is more troublesome and serious. Sometimes patients don't respond to medicine or their anginal attacks become more 62 Songstress severe and longer-lasting. In these instances, a cardiologist (heart specialist) should be brought in for consultation. Patients with unstable angina could be on the verge of a fatal or massive heart attack. They need further testing, such as coronary arteriography, to identify the extent and location of coronary blockage. They also need careful monitoring of their medications, many of which are new and unfamiliar to the general doctor.

Although most angina patients can be successfully treated by a physician who is not a cardiologist, patients with severe angina (or symptoms that do not respond to standard medical treatment) should be under the care of a cardiologist.

I'll bet many of you would bld the South hand differently. You would respond with one diamond, but after North's rebid of one spade, you would bid two diamonds. You would get to the same contract, but with a different declarer. (North would now try two no-trump and South would raise to three.) That's the bidding I recommend, but today's bidding does have the advantage of creating a problem in play. When West leads the heart five, there is a chance that South will go wrong at trick one.

If declarer plays low from dummy and East puts up the queen, declarer may just be depriving himself of any entry to his hand for the diamond tricks.

Edward Shopkorn, partner in charge of institutional equities at Mabon, Nugent & Co., said the market's two-day retreat earlier in the week was largely the result of weakness in the dollar and bond prices. When bond prices firmed Thursday morning, buyers came back into the market, he said.

"What's behind it is the fact that the dollar firmed up and bonds responded," said Martin Krouner, manager of listed trading at Jefferies & Co. "That's caused buyers to come back in."

Dollar Lower In Markets; These quotations provided by Gold, Silver Edge Higher

By United Press International The dollar opened mostly lower on major world money markets Friday in light trading. Gold and silver edged higher.

In New York, traders said the currency markets were quiet in the absence of fresh economic statistics.

Traders noted the U.S. May leading economic indicators, expected to be released next Tuesday, and the June employment data. expected on Thursday, could excite greater activity in the currency markets. In early New York trading, the dollar drifted slightly lower against key foreign currencies.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar firmed slightly against the yen, closing out the week at 145.90 yen, up 0.48 from Thursday's 's close of 145.42.

Traders in Japan noted sentiment toward the dollar was positive and indicated a further climb for the dollar in trading next week.

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) -OPEC oil ministers today reached a compromise agreement to keep production below a proposed 18.3 million barquarter.

OPEC President Rilwanu Lukman and Indonesian Oil Minister Subroto told reporters the final production figures for the jourth guarter would be

The dollar began the day unchanged in Amsterdam at 2.0575 Dutch guilders and in Milan at 1,323.00 lire.

In London, the pound gained slightly in what one dealer. described as "extremely quiet" pre-weekend trading, opening at $1.6165. up from Thursday's close of $1.6115.

Bullion prices opened higher in light trading, with traders in New York noting they gained little from the lackluster performance of the currency markets.

The oil ministers were shuttlrel-a-day level for the fourth ing between two Vienna hotels in bilaterals talks after postposting their formal session until 4 p.m. (Noon EDT).

her selection. "I found out about the job opportunity through some family in the Orlando area. I flew down on Monday for an interview and just now found out about the job." she said on Thursday.

Clacke, said she hasn't really had time to figure out all that her job will require yet.

"I really need to come down and see what the situation is," she said. "I know it's a new position and that they've had a part time curator before. I'm going to be depending on Mrs. Caskey quite a bit in the beginning." she said.

Clarke said that she needs to get her feet wet before she can comment on what methods she will use to guide in the direction the museum is proposed to take.

"I need to speak to the boards and get an understanding of now the progress is foreseen. I just want to help them do what they want to do."

Clarke said there is one thing she can comment on, and that is the purpose of museums in general.

'A museum exists for education and preservation," she said. "I want to make the museum as easy to-get around as possible. People have to come, or the purpose of the museum fails." On Monday night the Sanford city commission heard the first reading of an ordinance to create a new advisory board to monitor the progress at the museum and report directly to the commission. The commission will hear the second reading of the ordinance at next month's first commission meeting. It is proposed by the city that the new advisory committee be made up of current members of the museums's Historic Preservation Society and Board of Trustees.

Deputies Field Calls In Florist Shop Murder

Since release of descriptions and sketches Thursday of a teenage couple being sought in connection with the execution-style killing of a Seminole County floral designer in a robbery of a shop at Hunt Club Corners, Apopka, Seminole County sheriff's deputies have fielded almost 100 calls with information on the pair from all over the state. But deputies say, so far, there are no solid leads.

The family of the victim, Diane Lynn McGinnis, 39, of 113 Duncan Trail, Longwood, established a reward fund and is offering $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the person who shot her in cold blood behind he florist shop at about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Plane Crashes Into House

BOSTON (UPI) - A twinengine cargo plane took a wrong turn, hit a house and exploded in a fireball early today, killing the pllot and touching off a fire that burned three homes and seriously injured three people.

The Piper Seneca hit the top of at least one three-story home in the city's Dorchester section at 1:12 a.m. before it crashed in the middle of Lonsdale Street, said Fire Capt. Matthew Corbett.

The fireball from the crash created a nine-alarm blaze that sent residents fleeing and took three hours to extinguish.

"It was just unreal," said Julie Corbett, 39, who lives across the street from the house that was hit by the plane. "It was an inferno. It happened in seconds. I heard screaming. I looked out (my window) and there was a car turned over, and then I saw a ball of flames.'

The pilot apparently took a "mysterious left turn" off course about 4 miles from Logan International Airport, said Mike Ciccarelli, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Adminstration.

"The Logan tower then lost all radar and radio contact with the aircraft, which crashed several minutes later," he said.

Foremost among those mentioned as possible replacements are Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, and Judge Robert Bork of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

While any Republican nominee is expected to have a hard time whating confirmation In the Democratic-controlled Senate, legal experts believe Hatch would have the easier time because of the practice of senatorial courtesy.

Other possible replacements include federal appeals court judges Richard Posner and Frank Easterbrook of Chicago, Ralph Winter of New Haven and Pasco Bowman of Kansas City.

Soviets Debate Economic Reform

MOSCOW (UPI) - The leaders of the Communist Party assembled in the Kremlin today to debate Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's demand for radical economic reforms to prevent the country from falling further behind the West.

Gorbachev, in an exhaustive listing of the steps needed to revive the national economy, called Thursday for a drastic shift of power from the central bureaucracy to those directly running industry and agriculture.

With Gorbachev warning of "shortages of everything" in the Soviet Union, the 300-member Central Committee entered the second day of its plenum behind the closed doors of the Kremlin today.

The plenum was considered a key test of the opposition's strength, which is a crucial factor for the future of Gorbachev's reforms and perhaps even for the Soviet leader himself.

Harry Rowan takes careful aim with his 'Hammer-Head' dart, the type used by the serious participant in the sport sharp-pointed missiles with tailfeathers, may seem more likely to find their target mark if the dart thrower is a bit inebriated.

Beer and the bull's-eye of the dartboard seem to be a traditional mix. But Sara Watkins of Geneva, who owns a South Seminole County flea market dart shop, said that darts are also a game for Home Sweet Home, as well as for dozens of bars and pubs in the county. Youngsters can also get in on the act at home. Watkins said say that either gender has the upper hand in the speedy discharge of darts aimed for the buil's-eye, or other specifically marked areas on the board.

Darts became Rowan's game, he said, on a snowy night in Franklin, Tenn., when five men braved the snow in their four-wheel drive vehicle to bring their own darts and board into his bar.

"They taught me to play," he said.

That was a decade ago and when Rowan moved to Florida in 1980 he brought his love of darts with him. He found that there was no lack of play here in his sport, a game that can be mastered with a bit of observation and practice. There is darts league play in bars and Rowan said the players are classified according to their skill. They play not only for fun, but in some cases for cash pots, he said.

Beginners are classified as C-players. The B-group is the largest, the middle of the road players, he said. 😁 And those in the A-class are, of course, the experts. There is a level of play to suit most any gamesman, Rowan said.

The players come armed with their own set of three darts. Those with the least experience bring "fat" darts, which cost from $6 to $8 per set. These darts are about six-inches long and are about one-Inch In diameter.

After winning a cash pot, Rowan said, the serious dart thrower may well invest $80 to $160 in a set of three "hammer-head" darts, which are not only thinner than a pencil, ensuring a closer fit against another dart on the board to grab additional scores, but which also have points that retract on impact and give an extra burst of force when entering the board.

That's to make sure they stay in place once they hit the target. Rowan said if a dart drops from the board the points it hit for are lost.

There are several versions and variations on the game of darts, but Rowan said the most common play is "301" and "Cricket."

The circular board, which costs about $33, is divided off and assigned values to sections leading into the bull's-eye. In the game of 301, Rowan said a player first tries for the bull's-eye, and then tries to score a total of 301, by hitting marks of various value on the board until that total is reached, but not exceeded.

similar, but the score is figured on a different scale.

"It sure does improve your math, Watkins said of the game of darts. Because, whether under the influence of alcohol or not, the dart's thrower has to keep track of his or her own score, and to know what section of the board they need to aim for on each throw to end up with the winning total.

The darts are thrown from a standard distance of 7-feet, 93/4-Inches from the board, and players who are used to throwing from that distance will usually miss the mark if they move slightly forward or back, Rowan said.

It's really a matter of hand-eye coordination, with a bit of balance hinged on placing a bit of your weight on your right foot as you lean into the dart toss, which isn't thrown with the same thrust that would be used to throw a baseball.

With that technique, Rowan said, you can be on target in the game of darts.

"They Have Souls. Too," the third documentary from the ABC News Closcup unit this year, is by far the best documentary to emerge from any network news organization in 1987. Sadly, it airs in a dead zone for news, on a Friday night. (June 26, 8:30-9:30 p.m. EDT on WFTV-Channel celebration at NBC News, Closeup unit, "They a very moving piece of Have Souls, Too" examines the way the mentally ill have been treated in the United States.

> After the hour is up the result is that the victims who were caged like animals in glant state institutions and then abandoned to the streets cannot be ignored.

"These people have souls just like everybody else," says John Nagle, whose cousin Mary is mentally ill.

There are disturbing pictures of the institutions and the people who lived behind the walls. Faces that scream, hopeless eyes that dart, heads that snap and twist and dip.

But in this documentary, the words pack the punch. Each one is worth a thousand pictures. And together with the pictures, it is impossible not to be moved by the plight of the victims.

Mr. Green Jeans. Was He Frank Zappa's Dad?

Dear Dick: I am sick and tired of being langhed at when I tell my friends that Frank Zappa, one of my all-time crasy men from the 1960s, is the son of the sweet, mild-mannered. courteous man who played Mr. Green Jeans, Capt. Kangaroo's sidekick for many years. should my friends be laughing at me, or lan't it a fact that this is true? - K.S.T., Kalamazoo. Mich.

Dear K.S.T.: Ho ho, that's rich! I don't mean to laugh but - ha ha - you are wrong. Frank Zappa's father, Francis Vincent Zappa, Sr., was a barber in Baltimore. Junior Zappa once told me he earned his first money by helping his father lather faces. The late Hugh Brannum, who played Mr. Green Jeans, had one son. Tom, who isn't Frank Zappa.

Dear Dick: How old is Ralph Macchio, of "Karate Kid" fame? Will appreciate your immediate reply. - F.K., LaPorte, Ind.

Dear F.K.: I'm hurrying! Macchio was born in 1961.

Dear Dick: Is the grandpa on "Our House" the same actor who plays on "Easy Street"? I think he is. My husband says no. Also whatever happened to Audie Murphy? My husband really liked him. - R.H., Klamath Falls, Ore.

Dear R.H.: Wilford Brimley is the foxy grandpa on "Our House." I'm not sure who you mean on "Easy Street." but the regular males are Lee Weaver and Jack Elam. Brimley isn't on that show. Audie Murphy died in 1971.

Dear Dick: I've got a lunch bet with the No. 1 "Dallas" fan. He says Tina Louise never played on the show. I say she played J.R.'s secretary and was killed off. What was her role name and what year was that? I am hungry. - P.C.Z., Reading, Pa.

Dear P.C.Z.: Try the banana pizza. Your friend is hereby demoted from No. 1 to No. 8.673.099. Tina played Julie Grey on "Dallas" in 1978.

Dear Dick: Is the voice behind the Honda automobile commercials that of Burgess Meredith? - J.H., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Dear Dick: Can you tell me who does the voice of the koala bear on the gantas commercials? - N.P., Orem, Utah.

Dear J.H. & N.P.: Yes, that's Meredith whispering

those Honda words. The koala bear voice is supplied by Howard Morris, who was one of Sid Caesar's folls on the old "Show Of Shows."

Dear Dick: My husband and I love watching "Crime Story" with Dennis Farina. We are very curious about where the show gets all these cars from the 1960s. Could you help us out? -D.J.M., Midland, Mich.

Dear D.J.M.: There's a big business in renting props of all kinds to movie and TV production companies. In Hollywood, you can rent anything from '60s cars to swarms of bees, from costumes of all sorts to elephants. So it's a very common procedure to rent cars of that era. Some collectors offer cars to rent, if needed. But mostly the producers obtain them from prop rental outfits.

Dear Dick: Were the TV movies, "At Mother's Request," with Stefanie Powers, and "Nutcracker," with Lee Remick, based on the same true story? - M.K., Portage, Mich.

Dear M.K.: Yes. Both were based on books about the true case of Frances Schreuder. She was convicted in Salt Lake City in connection with the 1978 murder of her millionaire father - apparently to protect her right to an inheritance. Her son was also imprisoned in the fatal shooting.

One class of daytime show not represented in any major category is the syndicated courtroom dramas such as "Divorce Court." "Superior Court." "People's Court" and "The Judge."

The daytime Emmys are presented by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences. Nominations cover the broadcast period from March 6, 1986 through March 5.1987.

The name of the Emmy, an eight-pound statuette, was derived from "Immy," a nickname for a piece of early television technology called the image orthicon tube.

'K' Numbers

'K' with a number imprinted on gold jewelry assures a certain value of content: 14K indicates 14 parts gold and 10 parts alloy. The higher the K number, the purer the gold and therefore it's more expensive. Sterling means no fewer than 925 parts of pure silver to 75 parts copper.
