Orlando Mayor's Plan Destroys OSOTA Compromise

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

The plan has changed but at least two Seminole County commissioners remain opposed to a proposal to give Orange County a majority of the seats on a reorganized regional transportation authority.

County commissioner Sandra Glenn said today a proposal by Orlando Mayor Bill Frederick to give Orange County five of eight seats on a reorganized Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority board "is just not a fair mix."

Frederick's plan was revealed at the Wednesday meeting in Orlando and destroyed a compromise reached earlier in the meeting between Orange County Commissioner Lou Treadway and Seminole County's representatives.

Treadway had suggested an eight-person board with Orange County having four seats, Seminole, two, Osceola and DOT one seat each.

"I have no problem with Lou Treadway's plan," said Mrs. Glenn.

Treadway's compromise evolved from discussions two weeks ago with Seminole County commissioners. At that time, commissioners said they were not interested in changing to a 12-person board with Orlando and Orange County having seven seats.

OSOTA operates bus service in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties. The agency may soon also take control of planning for a proposed 34-mile light rail system connecting downtown Orlando, Orlando International Airport and Disney World.

Orange County and Orlando officials have been pursuing for the past two months a change in the makeup of the authority's board. The changes would give them decision-making power over the light-rail system which would be located primarily in Orlando.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, one of Seminole County's representatives on the OSOTA board, predicted at Wednesday's meeting that Seminole commissioners would not go along with the plan. He said Seminole County does not want Orange County to have a majority on the board.

Orange County has five representatives now, Seminole has two, and Osceola County, the East Central Florida Planning Council and the Florida Department of Transportation have one member each.

Frederick, who represents the planning council on the OSOTA board, said the planning council and the state DOT should be dropped from the board. He said OSOTA does not do enough for his city, which paid $370,000 to the authority last year. Orange County is the largest contributor to OSOTA, paying $1.2 million last year. Seminole County contributed about $70,000 last year.

The reorganization requires approval of all 10 board members. If Seminole doesn't go along with the plan, Treadway has threatened to dissolve OSOTA and form a new transportation authority. Seven votes would be required to dissolve the authority.

Mrs. Glenn said she hopes the power struggle won't come to that. "I would hope we can reach a compromise."

Tax Rates Down, But Most Will Pay More

1983 Tax notices have been sent out to 106,000 taxpayers in Seminole County, County Tax Collector G. Troy Ray said today.

Ray said 67,000 notices have been sent to individuals with the remainder sent to mortgage companies.

The tax rates are down slightly from 1982's rates but most residents will pay slightly more than last year because of higher appraised value of their property.

The tax roll (the amount to be received) climbed this year to $52,569,795, said Ray, up from $48,429,948 last year. He said new construction in the county is responsible for most of the increase.

He said tax rates in the county are about the same as last year.

County commissioners set a countywide tax rate of $4.32 per $1,000 assessed value for the county's operating budget. A tax of $1.80 per $1,000 value will be paid by residents of the unincorporated areas for fire protection. Unincorporated residents will also pay a $.53 tax rate for road improvements.

The Seminole County School District set a tax rate of $5.50 per $1,000 assessed value for operating expenses. An additional $.16 per $1,000 value was approved by voters. A tax rate of $1.45 is being levied for capital improvements.

The St. Johns River Water Management District is levying $.28 for

Teen Held In Plot To Kill His Dad

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

"I'm very shocked. All I know is what the police have told me and I believe them. I feel very sick. I can't talk."

This was the reaction today of Prentice Meeks, 40, of Rt. 3, Box 404 A, Sanford, told by Orange County sheriff's deputies that his son allegedly hired a friend to buy poison to kill him for his money.

Montgomery Todd Meeks, 18, who listed his address as his father's home, was arrested Wednesday and remained in Orange County jail today charged with solicitation to murder his father.

His bail has been set at $25,000.

Todd was charged in Orange County because that is where the conspiracy to commit murder allegedly occurred. Meanwhile, Seminole County Sheriff Duane Harrell said law enforcement here will apparently have no involvement in the case. He said although Todd may have thought he was poisoning water his dad drank, he was not in fact doing that.

The senior Meeks is a mobile home dealer in Orange County and moved to Sanford only eight months ago.

His son, who goes by the name of Todd, worked part-time at his father's business skirting mobile homes and continued to attend Colonial High School in Orlando after the move.

Todd was scheduled to graduate from Colonial High School last summer, but he continued as a part-time student at the school to get additional credits.

While authorities at the school refused to divulge any information about Todd, a source there said he was on the Colonial football team last year and quit halfway through the season.

The sequence of events, according to Joyce Drazen of the Orange County Sheriff's Department, is:

Todd approached a fellow student at Colonial High, and gave him money to travel to Louisville, Ky. on Oct. 21 and buy the poison.

In Louisville, Todd's friend bought an extract of the castor oil bean, which is used in some insecticides and is known to be a poison. The student apparently bought the poison over the counter as if for industrial use.

When the student returned with the poison, three other students talked him into replacing the poison with water, deputies said, and those students called the sheriff's office.

On Oct. 24, the student who bought the poison gave the vial to Meeks who did not know it contained only water, deputies said.

The next day, Todd is said to have told the student who bought the poison for him that he had poured the contents of the vial into a glass of water, which his father drank, deputies said.

The senior Meeks was told by sheriff's investigators Oct. 25 that his son had tried to kill him, deputies said, and on that same day, the senior Meeks and his wife moved to a motel where they remained until their son's arrest Wednesday, investigators said.

The couple told their son that they were going away for a few days.

Deputies said Todd told fellow students that he planned to kill his father for his money.

Deadlines Near In Dec. 6 City Elections

Friday is the deadline for candidates to qualify to run in the Casselberry city election and the final day for Longwood residents to register to vote in the city election there. Both elections are slated for Dec. 6.

Prospective voters in Longwood and Casselberry may register to vote at any of the city halls in Casselberry, Longwood, Oviedo, Lake Mary, Altamonte Springs or Lake Mary or at the courthouse or Interstate Mall offices of Elections Supervisor Sandy Goard.

Meanwhile, in Altamonte Springs where a city election will be held Tuesday, two city commission seats are up for grabs and the voter registration books for that city's election are closed.

There is no city election in either Winter Springs or Sanford this year. Elections were held in Oviedo and Lake Mary in September.

Altamonte Springs voters will be asked to choose two city commissioners Tuesday.

For the District 1 seat on the city commission, Dudley Bates, seeking a second two-year term, is opposed by Russel Hauck. Incumbent Commissioner Cheney Colardo, also seeking a second term, is being challenged by Bette Griffith.

Both Bates and Mrs. Colardo were elected unopposed to their first terms.

Altamonte City Clerk Penny Conahan said that the city has 9,903 voters eligible to cast ballots in the election Tuesday.

Or the job only six weeks, replacing resigned clerk Bobbi Floyd, Ms. Conahan said this will be her first city election.

However, she said that since the two commission seats are the only items on the ballot, a large turnout is not expected. "But, we are hoping for a good one," she said.

There are three polling places for the Altamonte Springs city election. Voters registered in precincts 11, 23, 25, 36, and 59 will vote at the Eastmonte Recreation Center off Longwood Avenue; voters in precincts 4, 34 and 64 will vote at city hall, Newburyport Avenue and voters in precincts 9, 12, 35, 48, 51, 65, 69 and 70 will vote at the Westmonte Recreation Center in Springs Oaks.

Greyhound Leaves Driving To The Competition

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Greyhound is leaving the driving to the competition today.

Although things are quiet today at the Sanford Greyhound station because of the bus drivers strike, the Sanford Trailways Bus Systems station is busy as Greyhound customers look for another way to travel and ship packages.

A local Greyhound spokesman said there has been no bus travel in and out of his station since the 2 a.m. EST walkout by the drivers. He said those who were in transit at that time were diverted to other bus companies or Amtrak, which were accepting Greyhound tickets. He said customers had been warned in advance about strike so were not showing up today looking for a ride.

John Root, local Trailways agent, said that his "phone has been ringing off the hook" and he is anticipating an increase in business today because of the rival bus line's strike.

He said Trailways is honoring all tickets issued by Greyhound representatives on Trailways regular routes. "For obvious reasons we will not be going into routes that are exclusively Greyhound's," he added.

"We just had a lady come in with a Greyhound ticket concerned about getting a kid past Chattanooga," he added.

Greyhound workers walked off their jobs today rather than accept a pay cut and the nation's largest transportation company parked its buses, closed its stations and forced thousands of travelers to find other transportation.

In some places weary passengers were delayed up to 24 hours despite earlier Greyhound assurances they would reach their destinations and few had anything good to say about the strike by 12,000 employees.

Thousands of Greyhound drivers dropped passengers at the nearest depot and parked their buses Wednesday night as the strike deadline approached.

Greyhound officials said it would shut down for "a matter of days" to hire new drivers to replace the 7,500 striking drivers, as well as to give all 12,000 striking employees a chance to reconsider the firm's last offer.

It was far from business as usual at Greyhound office today.

Goals Peace And Fairness

It's Official: Jackson To Run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civil rights activist Jesse Jackson, the first major black presidential candidate to announce this year, entered the Democratic race today saying he offers a "new leadership" with peace and fairness as its goals.

Jackson, a 42-year-old expected to mount the most extensive presidential campaign ever by a black, made it official with a revival-like address making him the eighth Democratic Party entry in the contest.

His announcement ceremony ran late, and Jackson was not in the hall when his prepared remarks were made available to reporters.

Introduced to the crowd by former Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., who in 1972 became the first black to seek the presidential nomination of a major party, Jackson declared:

"We offer a new leadership that will choose the human race over the nuclear race, that will freeze the weapons and not burn the people. We offer a new leadership that will measure greatness by how we treat the least of these — a leadership that will measure greatness by standing (on) the troubled waters and reaching out to a free world yearning for freedom and safety."

With Washington mayor Marion Barry, congressmen, and other black officials looking on, Jackson said, "The gauntlet of destiny has been tossed to a new generation. The hour is now. The challenge is clear. We can either join together to make America over again or by our complacency assure our demise."

The articulate and charismatic Jackson hopes to fuel his effort with thousands of newly registered urban and southern voters, members of what he calls a "rainbow coalition" that also includes Hispanics, women, teenagers and anti-nuclear groups who want to oust President Reagan from the White House.

NATION IN BRIEF

Chrysler Threatening To Shut Down Over Strike

TWINSBURG, Ohio (UPI) — Relations between Chrysler Corp. and striking employees at its Twinsburg stamping plant were "very strained" today with the nation's No. 3 automaker threatening to close down because of a lack of parts.

Negotiators for Chrysler and United Auto Workers Local 122, which represents the 3,200 workers at the Twinsburg plant 30 miles southeast of Cleveland, met for about two hours Wednesday but reportedly came away "very far apart."

For 15 months, the local and company have tried to reach an agreement on work rules, including safety issues, scheduling and job assignments.

The striking workers make front doors and floors for all Chrysler cars, and the strike has choked off needed parts for the other plants.

Chrysler officials said only two of their eight plants would operate after Friday because of the three-day-old strike, which had idled nearly 15,000 workers nationwide.

Nearly 15,000 Chrysler workers were laid off as of Wednesday, and about 21,000 workers at six plants were expected to be laid off by Friday, the company said.

Mystery Professor Pleads

CARLISLE, Pa. (UPI) — The professor accused of using 33 false names and impersonating more accomplished professors to get jobs pleaded guilty under a plea bargain and says he'll write a book using his latest alias — "The Mystery Professor."

Paul Crafton, 60, who admitted impersonating professors at two Pennsylvania colleges, pleaded guilty Wednesday to four counts of misdemeanor forgery and his attorney said he hoped Crafton would not have to spend time in jail.

Crafton, known as the "mystery professor" who allegedly used 33 aliases for employment and other purposes throughout the northeastern United States since 1977, had faced 26 felony charges.

Crafton, of Potomac, Md., claimed he needed the money from the fraudulent teaching jobs to care for his handicapped daughter, Laura, 18. He said she currently needs a brace that he cannot afford.

Proposition 1 Debate Scheduled For Nov. 10

The pros and cons of the tax-cutting Proposition 1 will be discussed at the semi-annual meeting of the Friends of the Library of Seminole County at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 10 in the Seminole County Agriculture Center auditorium at the county's Five Points complex, U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

Guest speakers will be Clive Thomas of Orlando news radio station WKIS and Daryl Traynor, co-chairman of Orange County Floridians for Tax Relief.

A 7 p.m. "get-acquainted" coffee and the debate itself are open to the public. A brief business meeting will follow the program.

U.S. Military Forces Begin Withdrawal From Grenada

United Press International
Assured that "hostilities have ceased," U.S. military officials ordered 2,300 Army troops to withdraw from Grenada today, nine days after they invaded the island and crushed a hardline Marxist government that seized power in a coup.

The order from Washington to begin a full withdrawal of soldiers of the 82nd Airborne Division came as 57 Cubans wounded during the initial stages of the invasion arrived in Havana to a hero's welcome led by a grim-faced President Fidel Castro.

Thousands of spectators ignoring a call on national radio to stay away lined the airport road and a military band played Cuba's national anthem as the wounded descended from the Red Cross DC-8 into a drizzling rain.

Some of the Cubans were carried off on stretchers — victims of the largest U.S. military operation since the Vietnam War. U.S. casualties were put at 18 dead and 91 injured.

The Cubans were ferried 150 miles to Barbados from Grenada aboard a U.S. C-130 Hercules transport jet, apparently because military officials doubted the Red Cross jet could land safely at the Point Salines airstrip on Grenada.

Cuban diplomats in Grenada, their embassy surrounded by U.S. troops, continued to resist orders from Grenada Governor-General Sir Paul Scoon to leave.

Diplomats said they would remain on the tiny Caribbean island 1,900 miles southwest of Miami until the release of an estimated 600 Cuban prisoners who were moved Wednesday into a new prisoner compound on a hill near the Cuban-built Point Salines Airport.

In Washington, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger informed President Reagan that military commanders in Grenada advised him that "in their determination, all hostilities have ceased," the Pentagon said in an indication the scattered pockets of resistance to the invasion had been eliminated.

It was not known how many days it would take to complete the withdrawal.

Maj. Douglas Frey, public affairs officer for U.S. forces on the island, said 2,300 troops of the 82nd Airborne Defense Department officials said an 1,800-Marine amphibious task force withdrew from the island Wednesday and were headed for Lebanon to relieve the newly fortified Marine force in Beirut.

On Capitol Hill, the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., asked the Army to investigate charges that up to half of the 18 U.S. servicemen killed in the fighting died because of fire from other U.S. forces.

The Pentagon has acknowledged that 12 men were wounded by a bomb "inadvertently" dropped by an A-7 on a U.S. position.

...Election Deadlines Approach

Casselberry City Clerk Linda Zike said today that the candidate qualifying period in her city for the Dec. 6 city election will end at 5 p.m. Friday.

The three incumbents — Mayor Charles Glascock, and Councilmen John Leighty and Tom Embree — whose offices are up for election have qualified.

In addition, George Smith, who has run several times for Casselberry office, is opposing Glascock while Al Harmon, employed by Freedom Savings & Loan Association, is challenging Leighty.

Leighty has served on the city council on and off for the past 13 years. Glascock, completing his one year split term as mayor, has also served on the city council. Glascock was elected a year ago to the one year remaining in the term of Owen Sheppard, who resigned.

Embree, who has served a total of seven years on the council, has not as yet drawn opposition.

In addition to the candidates, a series of three charter questions will be on the ballot, Mrs. Zike said.

The electorate has a choice of voting for the present full time mayor or for a city manager form of government with the mayor fulfilling only ceremonial functions; expanding terms of office to three years or keeping terms at the present two years; and continuing city elections in December or changing them to general election time in November.

In Longwood, the three incumbent city commissioners — June Lormann, Charles "Chick" Pappas and Steven Uskert — have drawn opposition. Mrs. Lormann, completing her fifth consecutive term as a city commissioner and currently serving as mayor, elected to that office by her colleagues, is being challenged for the second time in her political career. She won three terms without opposition. Her opponent is a podiatrist, Dr. Frederick Pearl.

Ed Myers, who ran once before in the late 1960's for a city commission seat unsuccessfully, is opposing Pappas, seeking his second term. Harvey Smerilson, a member of the city's planning and zoning commission, is eying Uskert's post. Uskert is completing his second term in office.

Longwood voters will be voting on a four part $1.1 million bond referendum.

Part I concerns the acquisition, construction and equipping of a community building and municipal complex as well as acquisition of about two acres of land on W. Warren Avenue adjacent to the fire station, $373,000; acquisition, construction, equipping and improving public works projects including construction of a sidewalk and bicycle path along Church Street, road improvements and paving and drainage improvements and acquisition of one acre site for the public works department and replacement of a back hoe, $562,000; acquisition of an equipped ladder truck and new ambulance for the fire department and acquisition and training of dogs for the police K-9 corps, $115,000; improvements and repairs to existing public parks, Candyland Park north of the cemetery and Reller Park west of the fire station. Total cost of all the projects is $1.1 million.

Tax rates in five of Seminole County's cities either declined or remained the same.

In Altamonte Springs residents will pay $2.85 per $1,000 of assessed value. Casselberry residents have a $1.08 tax rate, plus an additional $1.25 per $1,000 tax rate which was approved last year by voters. Longwood's residents will pay $2.52 per $1,000, Lake Mary residents will pay $4.1, Sanford's tax rate is $4.06, Oviedo will pay

Taxes are due by March with discounts to taxpayers who pay early. There is a 5 percent discount for payments this month. The percentage declines one percent each month through March. —Michael Beha

Sanford Woman Robbed By Knife-Toting Bandit

A 30-year-old Sanford woman was robbed at knife-point late Wednesday as she was walking along east 25th Street at Orange Avenue.

Marilyn Francis Becker, of 1305 Douglas Ave., said a brown 1970 Falcon with two men in it pulled alongside her at 11:30 p.m. as she was walking along the Sanford street, according to a police report.

One of the men got out, pushed a 6-inch hunting knife against her chest and told her to either get into the car or give him her money, the report said.

Ms. Becker gave the man $95 in cash, he got back in the car and drove off, the report said.

ELDERLY VICTIM

Someone posing as a cleaning woman apparently stole a 96-year-old Fern Park woman's purse Wednesday.

Kathryn B. Burke, who lives at the Fern Park Mobile Home Park off U.S. Highway 17-92, said a woman she had never seen came to her residence at 2 p.m. Wednesday and said she had been sent there in place of the regular cleaning woman.

Mrs. Burke said she was not suspicious because the Visiting Nurses Association and Community Care for the Elderly both send nurses and volunteers to her home to assist her, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report.

She said the woman vacuumed the residence, tidied up and left. A short time later, Mrs. Burke discovered that her black leather purse, which contained $20 in cash and her Social Security insurance card, was missing, the report said.

Both agencies told sheriff's investigators that none of their employees were assigned to visit Mrs. Burke on Wednesday, the report said.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

The Florida Highway Patrol has identified a man killed in a traffic accident near Sanford Wednesday as Billy Royce Love, 37, of 6851 Van Road, Orlando.

Love was killed when a truck collided head-on with the car he was driving on State Road 46 at State Road 415A in the Midway area east of Sanford at 6:30 a.m.

Love's wife, Lisa Love, 22, and their infant son, Billy Love Jr., were also injured in the accident. Mrs. Love was in fair condition at Central Florida Hospital in Sanford today and the infant was in stable condition, a hospital spokesman said.

The driver of the truck was not injured.

CAR VANDALIZED

An unknown instrument was used to smash out the windshield, left front window and rear window of a Casselberry woman's 1974 AMC Matador between 5 p.m. Friday and 3:25 p.m. Sunday.

Stacy Montgomery, 36, of 1312 Zapata Court, told police the car had been left parked off the roadway at Red Bug and Citrus roads after it broke down. Damage was estimated at $475.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—James Nessly Porter, 29, of 1219 Florida Ave., Casselberry, was arrested at 2:48 a.m. Monday on U.S. Highway 17-92 at Sunnyside Avenue in Casselberry when police saw his car driving the wrong way.

—George Byrd, 26, of 119 Oak St., Longwood, was arrested Sunday at 9:28 p.m. at Jackson Street and Depugh Street in Altamonte Springs.

—Randall Gene Scott, 25, of 1805 Sanford Landing, was arrested Sunday at 1:40 a.m. on Airport Boulevard in Sanford when police saw his car cross the center line.

—Wayne Brooks, 31, of 865 Ballard St., Altamonte Springs, was arrested Monday at 6:50 p.m. on State Road 436 at Jackson Street in Altamonte Springs after police saw his car strike the curb of the median several times.

—Bryan L. Johns, 22, of 97 Exeter Court, Sanford, was arrested Sunday at 1:30 a.m. on Silver Lake Drive and South Sanford Avenue after police saw his car fall to stop at a stop sign.

Need Help Paying Home Energy Costs? Apply Now

Applications are now being accepted from low-income Florida residents for grants from the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program, according to Lisa Ferrara, supervisor of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) service center at the Live Oak Center in Casselberry.

All applications must be received by HRS or be postmarked on or before Dec. 16, 1983.

The program, authorized by Congress, is designed to help low-income families and individuals meet home energy costs. Assistance will be limited to a one-time only payment to eligible households. The program is not a crisis program and does not pay monthly utility bills.

In order to qualify for assistance, households will have to meet income standards based on family size and total case income for all household members. Income limits are $405 per month for an individual; $545 for two persons; $825 for four; $1,105 for six, plus $140 for each additional person.

Mrs. Ferrara said that on earned income, 20 percent is deducted from the gross figure to get the amount for testing income eligibility. In the case of unearned income, such as Social Security and retirement checks, it is figured on the entire amount.

Payments will vary among eligible households based on the differences in total household income, fuel type, the geographic area of the state, and the number of persons in the household. Mrs. Ferrara said Seminole County is in the middle area which will be allotted less than northern Florida and more than south Florida. After all applications are in, the funds allotted to this area will be divided among all eligible applicants, she said.

Mrs. Ferrara said 1,800 applications were received in Seminole County last year and she hopes to exceed that number this year. Energy assistance checks last year ranged from $2 to almost $200, she said.

Applications are available at the local HRS offices at 107½ N. Oak Ave., Sanford, and at 420 Live Oak Blvd., Casselberry, and various area agencies such as AEGIS and Meals on Wheels, Salvation Army, Sanford Christian Sharing Center, mental health and health department clinics. Mrs. Ferrara said she hopes to have applications available at 100 different locations around the county. She said she is particularly interested in locations in outlying sections of the county such as Chuluota.

"The important thing is that if someone is interested in applying and cannot get to any of these locations, we will be glad to mail them an application if they will call us," said Mrs. Ferrara. There is a staff member available at the Casselberry office to help them fill out the forms and there will be someone at the Sanford office to provide such aid beginning the first week in December. Anyone needing information on filling out the forms may also call 339-8200. In extreme circumstances, as in the case of a severely disabled person, Mrs. Ferrara said she would have an HRS worker go to the applicant's home.

The completed applications can be returned by mail or dropped off at an HRS office.

A decision will be made within 45 days of receiving the application and applicants will be notified by mail by late January whether or not they are eligible to receive assistance.

The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program includes one payment for both heating and cooling expenses. There will be no separate application period for cooling assistance later in the year. —Jane Casselberry

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Unitary Tax Defended By California Official

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — California Comptroller Ken Cory says multinational corporations will not boycott Florida because of its unitary corporate profits tax.

Cory urged the Legislature Wednesday to stick with the tax despite a fierce campaign for repeal by big business.

California has had the tax in one form or another since 1936 and "we've had a great deal of economic development since 1936," he said. "There is no evidence California's use of the unitary method has had an adverse effect on economic development."

Cory came to Tallahassee to appear before the Senate Finance and Tax Committee and refute some of the arguments being made by big business. He is one of the few people to support the tax during a debate that has been waged in Florida for the last several months.

The $95 million to be produced by the tax in Florida is going for education. Graham has contended Florida will become more attractive to business and industry because of its increasing commitment to education, rather than less attractive because of the unitary tax.

EDB Found In Wells

BRANDON (UPI) — Three families in west Brandon have been told to use bottled water for drinking and cooking after state officials discovered unacceptable levels of the cancer-causing pesticide EDB in their wells.

The contaminated wells were discovered after the Hillsborough County Health Department sent eight water samples to the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services for analysis.

The tests showed three samples had EDB residues, three had no trace and two could not be analyzed because of air bubbles in the water.

One of the wells had residues measured at 5.0 parts per billion. The other two tested out at 4.47 parts per billion and .228 parts per billion. The Environmental Protection Agency considers anything over .1 part per billion unacceptable.

30 'Stung' In Pool Hall

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Escambia County sheriff's deputies have arrested at least 30 people and seized more than $350,000 worth of stolen property and drugs during a "sting" operation in a pool hall, officials say.

Sheriff's Lt. Don Parker said Wednesday those arrested were charged with felonies including dealing in stolen property, burglary and narcotics violations. Arrest warrants for an additional 50 people have been issued, he said.

Stolen items recovered during the four-month operation included firearms, outboard motors, stereos, silverware, televisions, cameras, motorcycles, citizen band radios and building materials taken in burglaries in Alabama, Florida and Louisiana.

'State Should Accredite Its Own Schools'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A leader in Florida's push to upgrade the state educational system has urged the Legislature to implement additional improvements, including a return to state accreditation of high schools.

R. Frank Brown, appearing before the Senate Education Committee Wednesday, said Florida should pull out of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and do its own accrediting, as it did five years ago.

The Atlanta-based association is too concerned with school buildings, the number of teachers and things like that and not concerned enough with evaluating curriculum and testing student performance, he said.

Brown chaired Gov. Bob Graham's commission on secondary schools which produced a report that was the basis for the far-reaching "RAISE" bill, whose educational improvement provisions include state graduation standards and extension of the school day.

He is heading up a new commission implementing some "RAISE" provisions, including a merit pay plan for teachers.

As the state takes almost unprecedented steps to improve its schools, it needs to consider why they got into such poor shape to begin with and do something about it, Brown said. One of the culprits is the Southern accrediting association, he said.

"Present standards for accreditation are based upon 'the things of education' — the adequacy of the buildings, condition of the science laboratories, numbers of library books...What is now needed is an evaluation of the classroom output...an assessment of how much is being learned by students.

"Florida's present accrediting association...cannot be trusted with this important task. This association 'is in a serious and alarming state of intellectual disrepair. Attitudes of staff and mode of operation are archaic and anachronistic.'"

Accrediting of high schools should be based on an assessment of curriculum and "the schools' output in the form of student performance," Brown said.

"To ensure this kind of review is performed, the Legislature should establish a new state association on accreditation "which is directed by a committee of citizens and businessmen, rather than educators."

Senate Republican leader Clark Maxwell of Melbourne, who sits on the education committee, was skeptical. Maxwell recalled the paperwork that had local school officials up in arms years ago and reminded Brown that when he was Brevard County School superintendent he fought for repeal of state accreditation.

Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington said he would favor an evaluation of the work done by the Southern association and the several other accrediting groups.

He also agreed accrediting should include a review of student performance, but he said Brown apparently believes physical facilities should not be considered and he disagreed with that.

Land Developer Jaffe Must Face Fraud Charges

DELAND (UPI) — Despite the manner in which Canadian land developer Sidney Jaffe was brought to Florida against his will, he will still have to face organized fraud charges, a judge has ruled.

Jaffe, 58, was abducted from his Toronto home in September 1981 by bounty hunters after he failed to show up for trial in Florida on charges of land sales fraud that are separate from the organized crime accusations.

The abduction triggered an international dispute concerning extradition procedures. U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz even entered the fray, urging Florida authorities to free Jaffe, claiming his imprisonment had unnecessarily strained American relations with Canada. In retaliation, Canadian authorities brought criminal charges against the bounty hunters.

Jaffe returned to Toronto last month after serving nearly two years of a 35-year sentence on land fraud and bail-jumping charges. The land fraud conviction was overturned in August by the 5th District Court of Appeal in Daytona Beach. He was paroled on the bail-jumping conviction.

Jaffe is scheduled to go to trial Jan. 9 in Deland on new organized fraud charges that were filed early in the summer.

Volusia County Circuit Judge Edwin Sanders ruled late Wednesday, rejecting Jaffe's request that the charges be dropped.

Record Malpractice Award Challenged

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The losing lawyer in a $9.25 million medical malpractice jury award says he will ask for a new trial.

"There was no basis for it (the award) that I know of," James C. Rinaman, who represented Dr. Michael Phelan, an obstetrician, and St. Vincent's Medical Center.

The amount of damages was the highest awarded for medical malpractice in Duval County's history and the second highest in the state.

The largest malpractice award in Florida — $12.47 million — was in 1980 for a Fort Lauderdale woman who suffered permanent brain damage while in a Broward County hospital.

Following a 12-day trial, a Circuit Court jury Tuesday found in favor of Darryl and Susan Blatzer, parents of 2-year-old Joel, who suffered brain damage at birth when he was deprived momentarily of oxygen.

The jury awarded the Blatzers the full amount they had sought.

Mrs. Blatzer said she was surprised and pleased with the award, adding, "I don't know if it's hit us yet — we're quite happy that justice has been done."

'Boot' Doesn't Stop Parking Violator

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — City officials are vowing to make the "Denver boot" work against parking violators even though the first victim of the device in south Florida was able to reach down and remove it in seconds.

The first time city police used the feared boot to lock the wheels on a car belonging to a habitual parking offender, the man simply took it off.

The boot is a device clamped to a car's wheel intended to immobilize cars belonging to parking ticket scofflaws. It has been used in Denver for years, but it is new to Fort Lauderdale and apparently police have something to learn about using it.

"I just jiggled it around and pulled it," said Alan Costello, 32, a businessman. "It took me about 30 seconds. I really didn't mean to do anything wrong."

After they discovered the boot and Costello's black convertible gone, police and traffic officials gathered at Costello's apartment. The boot was sitting on the floor near a glass coffee table.

Assistant Parking Manager Chester Good handed Costello a notice to appear in court and authorities left boot in hand.

Costello asked Good: "Wouldn't you be curious to see if it could come off?"

Good suppressed a chuckle and confessed that perhaps he would be.

Tom McCormick, Fort Lauderdale parking manager, said, "It shouldn't come off. We should have taken off the hubcap. We'll do that from now on."

Witnesses said the de-booting of Costello's car was simple.

"He just came, pulled it off, put it in his car and drove away," said the owner of Rocky's Deli, where Costello's car had been parked illegally for three days.

In addition to $215 in parking fines, Costello has been charged with the misdemeanor of "unauthorized removal of a boot," police said.

The threat of the boot resulted in the payment of thousands of dollars in old fines in recent weeks.

Officials were ready to start applying one of their four yellow boots Monday but it wasn't until Wednesday when Costello became the first.

Airline Pilots And Shorter Work Week

Airline pilots are fighting tooth and nail to protect their comfortable working conditions despite the fact that many of the air carriers are in the red financially and need to use whatever devices they can to reduce operating costs.

Pilots say that the airlines are requiring them to fly more hours each month, with shorter rest periods between trips. They contend that the new requirements raise serious questions about safety.

There can be no compromise with safety, of course, but it's impossible to agree with the pilots.

The average pilot now works 83 hours a month, up from the standard of the major carriers of 75 hours a month before the federal government deregulated the airlines. For this, the average pilot receives $69,000 a year — and some make as much as $140,000 annually.

The Federal Aviation Agency has stated that airline pilots can fly up to 100 hours each month without compromising passenger safety. It says that pilot fatigue caused by long working hours has never been cited for a major airline accident or a crash.

The Air Line Pilots Association, representing 31,000 members, plans to appeal to the public, using the safety ploy to regain the old work schedules. The public should turn a deaf ear.

Pilot pay is extraordinarily high for what often amounts to "two weeks of labor out of every month, even though the work does require precise skills and responsibilities.

Any demand for working conditions beyond the strict FAA requirements is featherbedding. If the pilots cannot accept reasonable conditions, there are plenty of other qualified fliers who will replace them for a whole lot less money. And if the airlines don't operate with economy and efficiency, they will not survive in the free market.

The Polite Cabbie

New York taxi drivers have at least one thing in common with Limburger cheese and Howard Cosell: You either love them or hate them, but you never forget them. Now the Big Apple is embarking on an experiment that, while well-intentioned and probably a good idea, runs the risk of taking some of the flavor out of the unique experience of getting into a Manhattan hack.

As part of a larger effort to improve the city's image, new cabbies will be required to take a 20-hour course that — in addition to driver safety, traffic regulations and the geography of New York — will include instruction on the fine art of being nice to customers. They'll even get into role-playing. "One student," a spokesman said, "will play the role of the obstreperous passenger and the other the driver."

That should be interesting in itself; the risk is that New York cab drivers eventually will become so uniformly and predictably polite as to take all the uncertainty and adventure, out of one of life's singular journeys, so to speak. Experience tells us, though, that the risk isn't all that great.

Spell It Again, Sam

People who haven't been exposed to the thrills of working on a newspaper are not likely to believe the variety of requests that pour into our hallowed sanctuaries.

Someone heard that a railroad station in Wales with an awfully long name was for sale, and could we please spell it.

Well, yes, as a matter of fact, we could — assuming our sources are correct.

The name of the town is spelled: Llanfairpwllgwyngyll.

For the name of the station, just add: Gogerychwyrndrobwllll (to be perfectly honest, there may be an extra "l" or two in there) antysylllogogoch.

Type and the eyes tend to run together on a word that size.

In answer to the next question:

Sorry, we don't do pronunciations over the phone.

A special program, tailored for diabetics and their families, will again be offered by Central Florida Regional Hospital in the hospital classroom at 1401 W. Seminole Blvd., Sanford. The free classes will be held from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Thursdays starting Nov. 10 and continuing through Dec. 22 excluding Thanksgiving.

Entitled "Diabetes Update," the six classes explore diabetes, special diet, food exchanges, insulin and oral hypoglycemics, urine testing and diabetic lifestyle. Pre-registration is required. Call the nursing education department at 321-4500 or 668-4441, ext. 607.

The Optimist Club of Sanford will observe the 12th Annual Sanford Youth Appreciation Week, Nov. 6-12 highlighted by a special luncheon at Western Sizzlin honoring outstanding students from local middle and high schools.

Students will be recognized in four categories from Seminole High School, Lake Mary High School, Sanford Middle School, and Lakeview Middle School including athletics, music, scholarship, and leadership.

Three students in each category will be interviewed by club members from each school and the top student will be selected and will receive an award. The latter two students in each category will be presented Certificates of Recognition.

The student body of Lake Howell High School will sponsor a "Pet Care Drive" by collecting animal food and supplies for the animals of the Humane Society of Seminole County. Anyone wishing to donate, may deliver items to Lake Howell High School, Nov. 14 through Nov. 18.

In celebration of the Silver Anniversary of Grace United Methodist Church, 118 W. Airport Blvd., Sanford, a signature quilt signed by members will be featured at the church bazaar this Friday and Saturday. Another featured item will be a lithograph of an original painting done by the Rev. John Grant, former church pastor now resident in Leesburg.

WASHINGTON WORLD

On The Silent Tip O'Neill

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Thomas O'Neill, now nearing 71, may be living in a political world that no longer exists — a world that died in the Vietnam War. O'Neill's old-fashioned approach during a national crisis is to rally around the flag on whatever foreign soil it is planted by American Marines, American Rangers.

In the past month, O'Neill has given a remarkable demonstration of this form of blindfold patriotism.

To begin with, O'Neill strongly supported an 18-month extension of the U.S. presence in Lebanon, as requested by President Reagan.

This, despite the serious misgivings among many younger, more vocal Democrats under his command and the near-unanimous opposition of Senate Democrats.

After the Beirut massacre, O'Neill once again rallied to Reagan's call that the Marines must stay in Lebanon.

And in the days after the invasion of tiny Grenada by 2,000 U.S. soldiers and leathernecks, the speaker refused to criticize the administration's action, of which he was informed but on which he was not consulted.

"I'll have plenty to say about this after the action is over," O'Neill said on the second day of fighting in Grenada. "This is not the time in my opinion for my party or the press to try to divide the nation."

"It's great to be partisan but there are times when people have to be patriotic too," O'Neill said. "I'll have plenty to say about Grenada when the action is over and our boys are secure."

O'Neill's genuine patriotism and his sincere efforts not to make either Lebanon or Grenada a partisan issue are laudable.

Yet in neither case would O'Neill's criticism endanger the security of Americans under fire.

What is lost, however, is a major voice in opposition. And only O'Neill, as the highest-ranking elected Democrat, can provide that.

The criticism leveled at the administration's policies in Lebanon and the invasion of Grenada by rank-and-file Democrats, in addition to a good number of Republicans, has negligible impact.

The O'Neill approach was the prevailing one in Congress during the Korean War, the invasion of the Dominican Republic and the Vietnam War.

Only because it existed, was President Lyndon Johnson able to rush through the Gulf of Tonkin resolution — which he then used as a virtual declaration of war.

Only two back-bench senators — Ernest Gruening of Alaska and Wayne Morse of Oregon — rose in opposition, smothered by their colleagues eager to give Johnson a free hand.

The unquestioning loyalty to a presidential action that sends Americans into combat is no longer valid. Many of the Democrats, and some of the Republicans, recognize that.

Is Case Against DeLorean Marred?

WASHINGTON — Like the Abscam cases, the government's prosecution of auto-maker John DeLorean hinges on testimony by an informant of questionable reliability — who was paid by the government for his efforts.

DeLorean's trial on federal narcotics charges has already been postponed indefinitely and may never take place. When a government videotape of DeLorean's arrest was shown on nationwide television, the auto-maker's attorneys argued for dismissal on grounds that the pretrial publicity made it impossible for him to get a fair trial.

If the case eventually does proceed, DeLorean's lawyers will attempt to destroy the credibility of the chief government informant, James T. Hoffman. They claim that on at least two important points Hoffman lied to the grand jury that indicted their client.

The government's own documents indicate that Hoffman was indeed less than candid with the grand jury.

The Problem In Beirut

First of all, the immediate military facts are absolutely appalling to anyone who has had any military experience at all.

The Marine command in Beirut — and in Washington — had every reason to expect exactly what happened. After all, the same technique had been used in an attack on the U.S. embassy in Beirut last April, and what an enemy has done once he is likely to do again, especially if he has been successful.

Worse, there were only two sentries — and no effective roadblocks — between the truck and its target. And still worse, the two sentries were carrying unloaded guns. One marine sentry was struggling to load his gun when the explosion occurred.

And, of course, many Marines were concentrated in that single vulnerable building when they should instead — according to all principles of combat — have been dispersed.

This is a professional military organization? You don't know whether to laugh or cry. It was General Custer stuff, the Iranian helicopter fiasco all over again.

The unloaded Marine guns, of course, are a metaphor for the whole U.S. — and Allied — operation in Lebanon. The fiction is that they are there as a "peacekeeping" force. Such a force does not shoot; it monitors violations of an agreement, it sorts out minor jurisdictional disputes, and so forth. But that is not what the Marines are doing, or can do, in Lebanon.

The problem for President Reagan is that the situation in Lebanon has changed so much during the last 18 months that the assumptions underlying the Marines' mission are no longer valid.

The hope was that, with the P.L.O. and the Syrians smashed by the Israelis, both the Israeli and Syrian troops would agree to withdraw. In that case, a legitimate Lebanese government might be established in Beirut, and perhaps be able to extend its control over the rest of the country. American, French British and Italian forces would police the situation and preside over the transition.

None of this has happened, nothing like it, and the "peacekeeping" forces find themselves in the midst of a civil war. The Syrians stayed, the Israelis moved southward to better defensive positions, and the Moslem, Christian, and radical factions pursued a bloody struggle for power. There is no agreement for us to police, and no peace for the peacekeeping force to keep.

President Reagan argues that for the United States to withdraw now, under fire, would damage our credibility and undercut our interests all over the world. That would be true of a precipitate withdrawal.

What the administration might well do, in a damage-control operation, is wait a couple of months. During the period, the Marines should certainly assume a more combat-ready stance in order to protect themselves and reduce casualties. In due course, we could meet with the other nations contributing to the peacekeeping operation and agree jointly upon a phased withdrawal. That would go far toward protecting U.S. credibility, since we could not be expected to remain in Lebanon alone if the French, British, and Italians were pulling out.

The present government of Lebanon, which the United States, in effect, is backing through our military presence, controls little beyond a portion of Beirut. It certainly does not have the capacity to expel the Syrians and impose order on the warring religious and political factions. The United States could do so, but it would take at least the 82nd Airborne Division plus what would amount to a permanent military occupation of the country.

To say that such would not be in our interest is hardly to embrace isolationism. It is, rather to admit that there are limits to our ability to achieve what, on paper, would be desirable conditions in today's Lebanon. Nor would it damage any vital U.S. interest if Lebanon were partitioned between Syria and Israel. And a presidential election year, it must have occurred to the president, is hardly a time to get bogged down in an endless religious and political civil war in the Middle East.

Lease Kings Get Tax Breaks

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Noted fashion designer Ralph Lauren is into buses these days. He isn't designing them; He and dozens of other wealthy individuals and corporations are buying them as part of a perfectly legal tax-avoidance scheme using a loophole that Congress is trying to close.

Lauren's company, Ralph Lauren Women's Wear, Inc., is buying about $3 million worth of buses that it will lease back to the New York City Metropolitan Transit Authority.

So far, the TA has sold and leased back about 1,200 buses, with a total value of $30 million, to individuals and corporations. It's a no-lose situation for both these investors and the TA: The TA gets new buses without making a multimillion-dollar capital outlay, and the investors, in turn, reap millions. The only loser is the U.S. Treasury — and the taxpayer.

Depreciation is the key to this transaction and to the hundreds like it that have been made in recent years. In all cases, the seller is a tax-exempt organization; therefore it has no use for the investment tax credits and accelerated depreciation write-offs that are available to profitmaking and taxpaying individuals and corporations. These credits and write-offs are the result of the 1981 tax-law revisions that the Reagan administration pushed through Congress.

However, companies like Ralph Lauren's can take advantage of these write-offs: They buy the buses, lease them back to the TA for an amount that equals the monthly payments on the loans needed to finance them — and then write off the depreciation and investment tax credits.

Many other cities are engaging in the sale-leaseback business. Among those that have become public:

— One city needed funds to rebuild its city hall. It sold the structure to a group of private investors who are refurbishing it and will then lease it back to the city.

— Another city wanted to acquire an auditorium, but lacked enough funds. It allowed a group of investors to make the purchase, then agreed to lease-purchase the structure.

— One college is trying to sell and lease back its entire campus: The fundraising scheme would allow it to create an instant endowment while providing millions in tax write-offs for a group of investors.

— A major bank — which pays little in taxes — sold and then leased back its $300 million headquarters.

— New York City, desperate for funds to complete its $600 million convention center, has announced plans to sell the center to a group of investors. The city will then lease it back and operate it with an option to repurchase it after 30 years. The move will save New York City the estimated $75 million it needs to finish the structure and will be a bonanza for the investors.

— Then there's what might be the most perverse case yet: The Pentagon is reportedly looking into the possibility of having private investors buy ships and planes for the Rapid Deployment Force. It would then lease them back so the purchase funds wouldn't come out of current appropriations.

compensated.

"My expenses are," replied Hoffman. "But not other compensation?" the juror asked.

"My expenses of travel, incidentals, airline tickets, hotel, things of that type," Hoffman said.

But government vouchers and disbursement records show that before DeLorean's indictment, Hoffman had received $10,500 in "relocation and security payments." He also received $44,000 in "informant payments" from the FBI and the Drug Enforcement Administration.

And since his grand jury appearance, Hoffman has received $12,000 more in relocation and security payments and $35,000 in informant payments.

That adds up to $101,500 in payments to DeLorean's chief accuser — a total remuneration the grand jury might have liked to know about when it considered Hoffman's credibility as a witness.

A jury member asked whether he was

Non-Whites Get Limited Power In South Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — South African whites decisively endorsed a proposed new constitution granting limited power to Asians and people of mixed race but excluding the black majority from government, final returns showed today.

Results from only the second referendum in white-ruled South Africa's history showed 66 percent of the voters approved of the new constitution at the end of a grueling two-month campaign that deeply divided the 2.7 million eligible voters — all of them white.

The constitution specifically excludes South Africa's 22 million blacks — 70 percent of the population — in line with National Party policy of putting blacks on a "separate constitutional path" by making them citizens of government-created "homelands."

New Aquino Probe Begins

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The mother of Benigno Aquino's alleged assassin today identified her son's frozen, bullet-riddled corpse in an emotional opening of a new investigation into the popular opposition leader's slaying.

The panel replaced an earlier commission disbanded after critics accused its members of being beholden to President Ferdinand Marcos.

Many Filipinos, including Aquino's family and opposition leaders, say the military had a hand in the killing.

Aquino's slaying has rocked the nation of 52 million people, sparking a series of anti-government rallies which has left at least 12 Filipinos dead.

Polish Sanctions Eased

United Press International

President Reagan further eased economic sanctions against Poland in hopes of inducing Polish leaders to erase the remaining vestiges of martial law, a spokesman said.

Reagan has lifted curbs on trade with the Soviet Union that formed much of the backbone of his original sanctions.

The Polish countermeasures still in place include a suspension of civil aviation privileges, a freeze on Export-Import Bank loans and other credit, limits on access on high technology and a suspension of special trade status for Poland.

Rumsfeld To Replace McFarlane

Renewed Lebanese Fighting Could Scuttle Peace Talks

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Fighting erupted between rival Palestinian factions in northern Lebanon today, with exploding artillery shells touching off a major fire at an oil refinery and killing at least four civilians, Beirut radio said.

"The shelling is very intense," the state-run radio said. "One of the shells hit an oil storage tank at the refinery. The tank caught fire and efforts are under way to prevent the flames from spreading."

Mortar shells crashing into the northern city of Tripoli, 42 miles north of Beirut, killed at least four civilians and wounded many others, the radio said.

The broadcast said Lebanon's troubled mountains east of Beirut were quiet early today after a night of artillery, mortar and machine-gun exchanges between army troops of Lebanon's Christian-led government and Druze Moslem rebels.

The fighting also was reported to have subsided in the capital amid reports that former Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld would be named today as President Reagan's special Middle East envoy.

The fighting, another breach of the country's Sept. 26 cease-fire, threatened to scuttle the national reconciliation talks in Geneva, Switzerland, among the top leaders of Lebanon's feuding religious and political factions. State-run Beirut radio said that when the nine Lebanese leaders in Geneva learned of the shooting, they began calling their Christian and Moslem field commanders to try to silence the guns.

Army sources Wednesday reported Druze shelling of the Defense Ministry in Yarze and the Shoul mountain village of Souk el Gharb, a key army base that guards the southeast approaches to the capital 8 miles away.

"Beirut's southern suburbs, the mountains and the Kharoub region are quiet. But the situation is very dangerous in the north around Tripoli," Beirut radio said.

Today's fighting in the north between forces loyal to guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat and Syrian-backed opponents erupted on the outskirts of the city after a night of sporadic clashes, but stray shells crashed into the city.

A spokesman for the Arafat faction accused the Syrian-backed factions of launching an all out attack against loyalist strongholds at the Nahr al Bared and Baddawi refugee camps on the outskirts of Tripoli, 42 miles north of Beirut.

The Palestinian news agency Wafa said Syrian artillery gunners joined in the barrage against the Baddawi and Nahr al Bared camps and that the shelling began escalating after 5:30 a.m. (10:30 p.m. EST Wednesday).

In Washington, Reagan administration officials said the president would appoint Rumsfeld as his special Middle East envoy today.

White House sources said Rumsfeld, 51, agreed Wednesday to take on the diplomatic mission, succeeding Robert McFarlane, recently named Reagan's national security adviser.

Rumsfeld, president of G.D. Searle & Co. in Skokie, Ill., a major American drug company, is a former Republican congressman from Illinois. He served as head of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the Nixon administration before becoming White House chief of staff and, later, defense secretary under former President Gerald Ford.

In Geneva, the Moslem and Christian leaders announced their first accord, declaring Lebanon a sovereign Arab nation that depends on no outside country except within the framework of the Arab League. The text of the declaration was not immediately made public.

Druze leader Walid Jumblatt later stormed out of the meeting, angered by President Amin Gemayel's refusal to hear discussion on the controversial May 17 troop withdrawal agreement with Israel.

FOREIGN STUDENTS IN U.S. COLLEGES

Iran heads the top 10 — even after Khomeini

(Source: Institute of International Education) MEA/Cecil

Iranians comprise the largest number of foreign nationals attending U.S. colleges, a position they've held for years. Most of the Iranians are enrolled in engineering programs which, along with business and science, are the preferred fields among foreign students in U.S. schools.

Pressure Of Purse Has Lessening Clout In Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least since the days of ancient Greece, nations have used economic sanctions against each other to pursue foreign policy goals. Now a new study finds this tactic has been less effective in modern times.

The Institute for International Economics said in a report that, among 78 instances of economic sanctions since World War I that it has studied, 40 percent were more or less successful.

But the success rate has declined in the last decade, the report said. From 1973 into this year it was only a third, compared to 45 percent from World War I to 1973.

Authors Clyde Hufbauer and Jeffrey Schott said one explanation may be that increasingly global trade has made target nations somewhat immune from sanctions. They are less dependent on any one nation for trade. When sanctions are imposed, other nations are willing to fill the gap.

In modern times the United States has been the biggest user of sanctions. Among 99 cases since World War I — some still under study for inclusion in a forthcoming book — 62 were by the United States, either alone or with allies. Britain used sanctions 18 times; the Soviet Union, 10, and the Arab League, 6.

The purposes vary widely. In recent years, U.S. sanctions have been imposed in an effort to pressure

Paraguay and Guatemala to restore human rights, Brazil and India to adhere to nuclear safeguards, Libya and Iraq to stop supporting terrorism, and the Soviet Union to withdraw from Afghanistan and to lift martial law in Poland.

The authors have several pieces of advice for heads of government planning economic sanctions. Among them:

- "Don't bite off more than you can chew."
- "Don't pick on someone your own size."
- "Do impose maximum cost on your adversary."
- "Do apply sanctions decisively."

Report Says Americans Healthier Than Ever

NEW YORK (UPI) — Government statistics show Americans are healthier than ever despite recent scares about food additives, pesticides and pollutants, a consumer education group says.

The report was issued by the American Council on Science and Health, a consumer education group that compiles reports on issues relating to food, chemicals, the environment and health.

Dr. Elizabeth Whelan, president of ACSH, said the report counters health scares she claimed bombard the public on an almost daily basis.

"Our statistics, from government sources, indicate that Americans are healthier than ever before," she said.

"This is not what the health scare stories tell us."

"We are constantly being bombarded with allegations that the health of Americans has worsened due to poor dietary habits and exposure to man-made products such as food additives, pesticides and pollutants."

The report, America's Health: A Century of Progress But a Time of Despair, said common measures of the health status of a population — life expectancy, death rate and infant mortality — show America's health has improved significantly during the 20th century.

Dr. Whelan, supporting her case, noted that an American baby born today can be expected to live 27 years longer than someone born in 1900.

Thousands Of Poor Children Malnourished: Study

BOSTON (UPI) — Maria is only 18 months old, but already her growth is stunted, her body is wasted by malnutrition and she is anemic. Her mother works only two days a week and her father has lost his job.

Maria does not live in a poverty-stricken area of South America or Africa. She lives in Massachusetts and, according to state authorities, her family receives no government aid.

Her case is detailed in a report by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health that shows malnutrition among the state's poor children is a far greater problem than commonly believed.

The study estimated there are 10,000 to 17,500 poor children in Massachusetts between the ages of 6 months and 6 years who suffer chronic malnutrition.

Some 9.8 percent of the children surveyed had stunted growth, showed signs of wasting or were anemic or obese. The poorer they are, the more likely they are to exhibit these symptoms, according to the report, which officials said was the first of its kind in the nation.

"The results of that study are, in a word, shocking," said state Sen. Ways and Means Chairman Chester G. Atkins, the Democrat who requested the study. "They are a savage indictment of what has happened on the national level."

He urged other states to use the study as a guide and a whip against Reagan administration cuts in health and welfare programs — "It seems unconscionable that we have a national administration that will not fund these programs."

Atkins particularly criticized the administration for cutting back the federal program for women, infants and children that provides food and nutritional counseling for pregnant women.

Oviedo Marine Killed In Beirut Bombing To Be Buried Saturday With Full Honors

Lance Cpl. Jack L. Martin, 22, of 144 Reann Drive, Oviedo, who died Oct. 23 in the terrorist bombing of the Marine barracks in Beirut, Lebanon, will be buried Saturday in Osteen with full military honors.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. at Gramkow Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Roy Davis officiating. Visitation will be from 7-9 p.m. Friday at the funeral home. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the Cancer Society or a favorite charity in his memory.

Born June 23, 1961, he moved to Oviedo five years ago from Osteen. He was a Methodist and a 1979 graduate of Lake Howell High School. Prior to joining the U.S. Marine Corps two years ago, he attended Seminole Community College and was employed by Scotty's in Altamonte Springs. He volunteered in August to go to the Lebanon as part of the U.S. peacekeeping force.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Martin, Oviedo; three brothers, James Jr., Joe Carroll, and Jeb Scott, all of Oviedo; a sister, Jill Martin, Oviedo; paternal grandmother, Lillian Martin, Willacochee, Ga.; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Doris Lee, New Smyrna Beach.

Gramkow Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

You're responding to our energy-saving conservation programs. To date, you've:

- Used our cash incentive programs to help pay for 70,409 energy-saving ceiling insulation, cooling & heating, water heating and window treatment installations.
- Requested 72,509 pool pump timer adjustments to save energy.
- Bought 50,206 high-efficiency Select & Save appliances.

- Added 65,086 energy-saving certified new Watt-Wise™ homes to our community.
- Requested 181,761 energy audits to find ways to save energy.
- Made 98,002 calls to our Watt-Wise Line™ to receive energy-saving information.

In total, helped save 785,000 barrels of expensive oil annually—oil no one has to pay for. And also helped us postpone the costly construction of additional power plants.

We're conserving, too, by operating efficiently, by continuing to do everything we can to be the kind of power company you want. We've:

- Saved $600 million by bringing our St. Lucie II nuclear generating unit into production in six years instead of the usual nine. And compared to oil-powered generation, St. Lucie II will save customers $180 million annually.

- Achieved high standards for operating efficiency. On a list of the 100 best performers, our fossil fuel generating system has ranked in the top ten nationally for the past five years. And the twin nuclear units at Turkey Point are rated as the least costly to operate and maintain of any in the country.

- Introduced economical coal-by-wire and added many technological advances to improve efficiency and fight rising costs.
- Increased our manpower efficiency by serving more customers per employee.

- Achieved a power supply performance rating of 99%, ranking sixth out of more than 100 systems in the entire Eastern half of the nation. (Operating Committee Report of the North American Electric Reliability Council.)

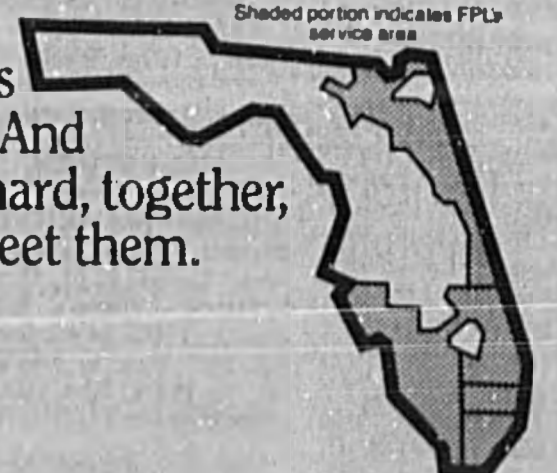

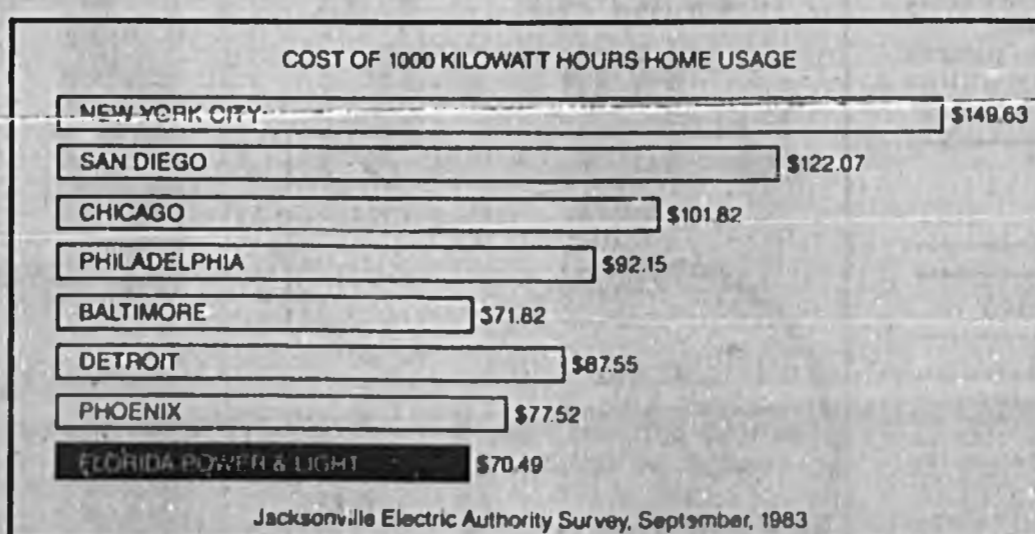

Together, we've achieved a lot and we'll achieve a lot more in the future. Look at these results:

- The average electric bill was lower this past summer than it was two years ago. And it was one of the hottest summers on record.
- Average residential electric use actually has decreased this year.
- The amount of oil used to generate electricity was reduced 27% last year.
- Our working together has helped keep FPL rates in the lower half of rates nationally—lower than New York City, San Diego, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Detroit, Phoenix and many other cities. (Source: Jacksonville Electric Authority Survey, September 1983.)
- Results. They show that being Watt-Wise works. That working hard works. But we can't stop now. There are major challenges ahead, with many factors beyond our control. FPL must:

- Maintain and replace equipment to assure continued good service to customers.
- Add the facilities required to keep pace with Florida's growing electric needs, for expanding neighborhoods, jobs and classrooms.
- Continue the fight against the dominance of oil (oil prices are rising again, up 17% in the past few months).
- Meet Florida's strict environmental standards.

- Keep up with rising costs related to the day-to-day activities, like meter reading, postage, telephone, rent.
- Borrow money when necessary to get the job done.
- The challenges continue. And working hard, together, we can meet them.

We're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

Paid for by the more than 50,000 shareholders of FPL.

Black Hammock Residents Seek County Water

Efforts to get a county water system in the Black Hammock area are continuing, according to Carl Bowman, who has spearheaded action seeking the system.

Bowman said Black Hammock residents who want the system should contact him at 365-3033.

Underground water in the Black Hammock area has a high salt content, making it difficult to use without extensive treatment. Water from most wells in the area is not potable according to state standards.

The county plan is to drill a well near Oviedo, where there is no problem with salt infiltration, and pipe the good water to the Black Hammock homes.

County officials estimate there are about 150 potential users of the system now, but believe there may be 500 to 1,000 families in the area within 10 years.—Michael Beha

Tribe Rips Rams, Plays DeLand Tonight

Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer

Patriots, Apopka, Rams Will Pick Up Prep Wins

I'm too busy covering volleyball to write some profound lead for this column. All I'm going to say is, a 6-6 record last week leaves me at 45-33-1 for the season and, here is a look at this week's games:

LAKE BRANTLEY AT SEMINOLE

I was ready to pick an upset in this one, but since three key Seminole players (Tim Lawrence, Bryan Debose and Mike Tanner) were dismissed from the team, I'm going with the Patriots. Seminole has had some really good moments this season so maybe the Tribe can bounce back for next week's big meeting with Lake Mary. Lake Brantley by 16

LYMAN AT APOPKA

A headline on page 8B of Wednesday's Evening Herald read, "Greyhound Strike At Midnight." Midnight will be too late for Lyman's Greyhounds to strike Friday night at Apopka. The Blue Darters will continue their quest for the state playoffs with a victory over Lyman. Apopka by 10

LAKE MARY AT SPRUCE CREEK

Lake Mary's defense will be the key to this game. We all know the Rams are capable of scoring lots of points, but so are Spruce Creek's Hawks. The Rams' defense will plug the gap though and the offense will manufacture enough TDs for the victory. Lake Mary by 7

LAKE HOWELL AT MAINLAND

Since five teams call Daytona Beach Memorial Stadium "home," Mainland's Buccaneers had to schedule the Silver Hawks tonight. That gives Lake Howell one extra day to prepare for next Friday's meeting with Apopka. Lake Howell by 20. Sports Editor Sam Cook picks the Silver Hawks by 17

OVIDO AT COCOA BEACH

Both teams were successful in 1982, but 1983 has been a rebuilding year for the Lions and the Minutemen. Cocoa Beach has a little more size and bigger teams have been able to contain Ovido this season. Cocoa Beach by 6

UCF AT CARSON-NEWMAN

Carson-Newman has a powerful rushing attack, but not much in the passing department. However, the Central Florida Knights' defense gives up 189 yards rushing per game. Carson-Newman should be able to sustain a few drives and keep UCF out of the end zone enough to pull out the win. Carson-Newman by 12

FLORIDA VS. GEORGIA AT JACKSONVILLE

Georgia has used some miracles in the past to beat the Gators so its just about time for the Dawgs luck to run out. The Gators are acing over the loss to Auburn and the loss of the SEC title. The way I see it though, both Florida and Auburn will beat Georgia and Alabama will beat Auburn making Bama the SEC champion (of course that decision could be biased on the fact that I went to the University of Alabama). Florida by 8

SOUTH CAROLINA AT FLORIDA STATE

If a quarterback (Bob Davis) can throw a touchdown pass without his contact lenses against Arizona State, just think what he can do against the Swiss Cheese defense of South Carolina. Florida State by 18

DOLPHINS AT 49ERS

An off day for the Dolphins as the Niners rebound from last week's loss to the New York-New Jersey Jets. 49ers by 14

BUCS AT VIKINGS

Well, John McKay won't be able to blame me for adverse publicity prior to the game. In an upset special, the Bucs perfect losing record is brought to a halt. Bucs by 9

Tonight's 4A-9 District Volleyball Tournament semi-final matches at Lake Mary High, promise to be very interesting with four completely different teams competing for a chance at the district title. In the first game, at 6:30 p.m., the determined young Lady Greyhounds of Lyman High go up against the talent-laden, experienced Lady Hawks of Lake Howell. The second match, slated for 8 p.m., is a grudge match between the hungry Lady Tribe of Seminole High and the top-seeded Lady Bulldogs of DeLand. The winners tonight advance to the district final on Friday night at 7.

Lyman's surprise win over third-seeded Lake Brantley was the only upset of Wednesday's first-round action. DeLand had an easy time with Mainland, Lake Howell disposed of Spruce Creek and Seminole fought off inter-county rival Lake Mary.

Lyman picked the right time to peak and the young Lady Greyhounds, with only one senior in the starting lineup, would like to continue as the tourney's Cinderella team with an upset tonight against Lake Howell.

"I'm really pleased with the way we've come along," Lyman coach Annette Griffin said. "All of our players felt we had a chance to beat Lake Brantley and we were really up for it. Everything we do from here on is icing on the cake."

While Lyman's enthusiastic young squad hopes for an upset, Lake Howell is banking on its experience. Four of the Lady Hawks' six starters are seniors and three — Christy Scott, Kathy Barma and Cathy Saunders — are four-year members of the team.

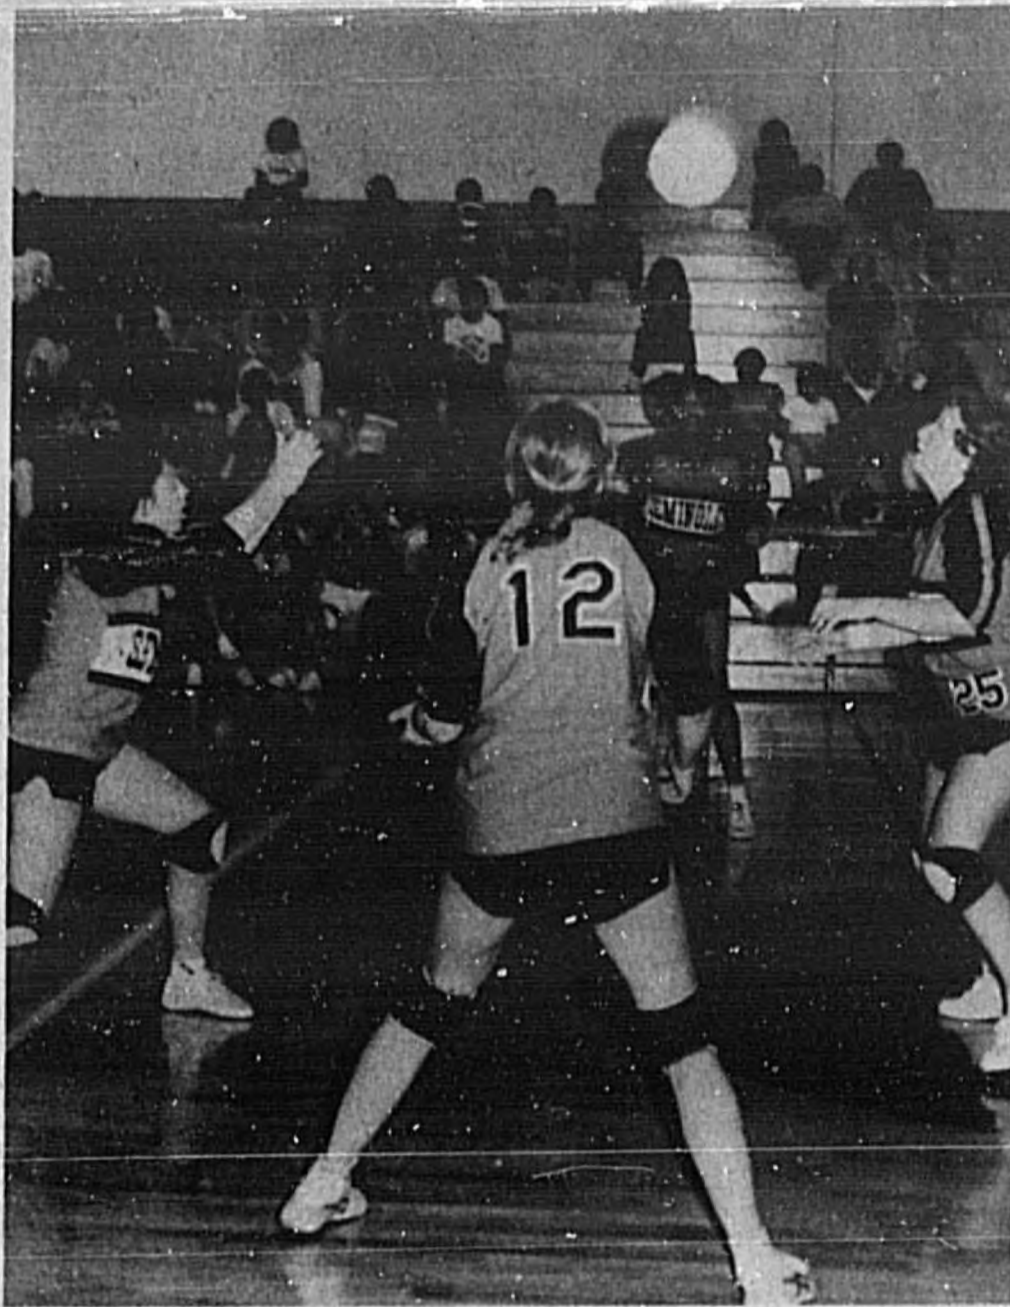

"Our three, four-year veterans (Scott, Barma and Saunders) are very much mentally prepared for the tournament," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "Lyman is a young team and they really hustle, but we're more experienced and that will help us and hurt them."

In tonight's second game, Seminole will be out to avenge a loss to DeLand which the Lady Seminole felt never should have happened. In the last match of the regular season, the Tribe won the first game against DeLand and had a 12-6 lead and the serve in the second. But, DeLand fought its way back and eventually won the match.

"We got burned by DeLand the last time and we don't want it to happen again," Seminole coach Beth Corso said.

While Seminole is trying not to get burned, DeLand coach Clifford Cox will have to contain his temper or it could cost his team the match. Seminole was awarded two points for unsportsmanlike conduct calls against Cox in the two teams' previous meeting. Wednesday night, in DeLand's match with Mainland, Cox was complaining about the official scorer and one of the officials warned Cox saying, "I've had about all I'm going to take from you." Seminole hopes Cox will contain himself, because the Lady Tribe would like to beat DeLand on the floor and not win by forfeit, although the 'Noles would take it either way.

Here is a look at Wednesday's results:

District Volleyball

Seminole Sweeps Lady Rams

Lake Mary got off to a horrendous start in the first game and Seminole took full advantage of it. With Seminole holding a 2-1 lead, Gene Stallworth served five straight points for a 7-1 lead before a block by Laura Glass gave it back to the Rams. The Rams had the serve three times with the score at 7-1, but didn't have a chance to score any points as a result of three missed serves.

Janet Hauck then took over the serve and the Lady Tribe reeled off seven straight points to take a commanding 14-1 lead. Key plays in the rally included a pair of spikes and a block by Stallworth. A spike by Peggy Glass gave Lake Mary the serve, but a missed spike gave it right back to Seminole. Jill Janak got her unorthodox serve in and it was good for the final point in the first game for Seminole.

The second game was a back-and-forth struggle in the early going, but Seminole turned a 5-4 deficit into a 10-5 lead as Hauck served six straight points, two coming on spikes by Stallworth. Lake Mary cut the lead to 10-8 on Robyn Christensen's serve, but Seminole got it back on a missed serve and Janak served two points for a 12-8 lead.

The two teams traded serves and points for a while until Hauck got the serve back with Seminole holding a 13-11 lead. The Seminole senior then served the final two points for the victory.

"Gene (Stallworth) played very well at the net," Corso said. "Our serving was very consistent and we held tight under pressure. Lake Mary missed a lot of serves but they are a much better team than they showed tonight."

Lyman Outlasts Lake Brantley

The Lady Greyhounds never gave up and wound up winning in a three-game marathon, the second three-game victory in a row for Lyman in the district tourney.

The first game was nip-and-tuck from the outset. The game was tied eight times and the lead changed hands five times. The biggest lead was a four-point advantage, 8-4, by Lyman.

With Lake Brantley holding a narrow 10-9 lead, Regan Stump served three straight points for a 12-10 Lyman lead. The Lady Greyhounds later took a 14-11 lead and had the serve. But, after a time out settled Lake Brantley down, the Lady Patriots regained the serve and Dana Gebhart served three straight points for a 16-14 victory. The final point was a service ace by Gebhart.

Lyman wasn't phased by the turn of events in the first game, and the Lady Greyhounds dashed out to a 5-0 lead in the second game as Kim Reis served five straight points, one an ace.

Lake Brantley fought back to tie it at 5-5 and the Lady Patriots seemed to have a little momentum when they took a 11-7 lead. However, a nice spike by Kim Forsyth not only gave Lyman the serve, but got the Lady Greyhounds fired up.

With Donna Ball and Lori Helms serving two points each and Dawn Boyensen serving four, Lyman erased Brantley's 11-7 lead and took a 14-11 lead. Gebhart served two points for Lake Brantley to make it 14-13, but Lyman got it back and Sheila Mandy served the final point to force a third game.

The Lady Patriots built an early 8-2 lead in the final game, but Lyman stayed tough and battled back to take a 9-8 lead. After a Lake Brantley missed serve, Kim Voeks served two points for a 11-8 Lyman lead. The Patriots made it 11-10 on Tammy Jones' serve. A spike by Gebhart gave Lake Brantley the serve again, but Mandy came up with a key spike to give it back to Lyman.

Helms then came on to serve four straight points and the Lady Greyhounds celebrated the victory.

Lady Hawks Blitz Spruce Creek

Spruce Creek played tough in the first game, but crumbled under Lake Howell's powerful attack in the second. Lake Howell snapped a 7-7 tie in the first game as Kathy Barma served six straight points for a 13-7 lead. Lake Howell made it 14-7 on a service ace by Cathy Saunders and Christy Scott served the last point of the first game.

In the second game, Spruce Creek scored the first two points, but a booming spike by Scott put an end to the Creek's rally and Beth Saunders served five straight points for a 5-2 Lake Howell lead. Lake Howell then regained the serve and Caryn Krumweide served five points as the Lady Hawks built a 10-2 lead.

DeLand Hammers Mainland

The hapless Mainland Bucs were no match for DeLand's Lady Bulldogs, although Cox complained about his bracket, saying Mainland was the biggest upset threat. DeLand built a 12-2 lead in the first game and then became complacent, and Mainland later came back to cut the lead to 14-11 before the Lady Bulldogs could win it.

Washington Twirls 2-Hitter As DeLuxe Moves Closer To Title

Burnett "Slim" Washington hurled no-hit ball for five innings before finishing with a two-hitter as the DeLuxe Bar moved in on the Sanford Men's Softball League championship with a 9-0 victory over Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar Wednesday night at Pinehurst Field.

Washington retired 18 of the first 20 hitters he faced before Marty Ceresoli laced a one-out single in the sixth inning. David Lively collected the other hit, a seventh-inning single for Uncle Nick's 9-3.

DeLuxe, 10-1, broke a scoreless tie in the third inning when Lee Banks singled and Kendall Atkins tripled him home. Two batters later, Levi Raines hit a sacrifice fly to score Atkins for a 2-0 lead.

In the fourth, "Steady Eddie" Jackson powered a solo homer. Lenon Anderson tripled and Ned Raines singled in Anderson for a 4-0 lead. DeLuxe added three more in the fifth on RBIs by Levi Raines, Billy Griffith and Jackson. Griffith tripled home a run in the seventh and another scored on an error by the shortstop.

Don Hibbard was the losing pitcher.

In Wednesday's other game, winless Sanford Landing rallied for four runs in the seventh inning, but came up one short while losing a close 7-6 decision to Session Time.

John Lambert's two-run double highlighted the outburst, but the tying run was thrown out at third to end the game, giving John Myers the mound decision. George Morris was the loser.

Session, 5-6, was led at the plate by Wayne Crocker who ripped a pair of singles. Russell Holloman, who doubled, and Brian Hanarahan, who singled home a run. Terry Rawls added a sacrifice fly and Wayne DeLander singled in a run.

Jim Burton led Sanford Landing with three hits including a double and an RBI while Lambert drove in three runs with a single and a double.

In Monday's action, Session Time dropped a 7-4 encounter to Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar and the Pookie Bears, 4-7, hammered Sanford Landing, 16-1.

Uncle Nick's pushed across three runs in the fifth inning as Alan Cook, Wayne Russell, Joe Ervin and Dan Cannon collected successive singles. Two hitters later, Mike Laubert drove in a run with a fly ball.

Cannon had three hits for the winners while Russell had a triple and a single and Ervin had two singles. Crocker singled in two runs for Session while Holloman added two hits.

The Pookie Bears went on a nine-run rampage in the first inning to blow away Sanford Landing in Monday's second game. Fred Aikens singled in two runs. Doug Burleson plated another one while winning pitcher Gary Muse delivered the big blow with a three-run homer.

In the second, the Bears erupted for six more as Mark Smith singled home two runs while Nicky Whitehead and Bob Beine each singled in one. Mark Whitely led the Bears' attack with three hits while Aiken ripped two and Burleson had two each. Muse homered and doubled while Whitehead singled and tripled.

John Rystrom singled home Sanford Landing's run and Morris was the loser.

LaRussa Selected Top Manager — Nixon Haunts Lakers

Roundup

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tony LaRussa, who guided the Chicago White Sox to the most wins in the major leagues en route to a Western Division title, today was named American League Manager of the Year by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

LaRussa, 39, managed the White Sox to a 99-63 record in winning the West by a whopping 20 games. He received 17 of a possible 28 votes in the inaugural BBWAA voting for AL Manager of the Year to easily outdistance Joe Altobelli, who was named on seven ballots after leading the Baltimore Orioles to the world championship.

Bobby Cox of Toronto received the remaining four votes for keeping the Blue Jays in pennant contention until a weary bullpen gave out in August.

LaRussa, a former infielder for the Athletics, Braves and Cubs, has been manager of the White Sox since the middle of the 1979 season. The only AL manager with longer tenure is Detroit's Sparky Anderson.

The White Sox shook off a sluggish start to run away from the pack after the All-Star break and beaten opponents said Chicago had a knack for "winning ugly," referring to the slightly sloppy nature of many White Sox' victories. LaRussa integrated Julio Cruz into the lineup at second base after a trade with Seattle and the starting trio of LaMarr Hoyt, Richard Dotson and Floyd Banister was masterful down the stretch.

Altobelli, whose quiet confidence was in stark contrast to the effusive style of predecessor Earl Weaver, had spent 14 years in the Orioles' organization before taking over the top spot and he seemed comfortable maintaining Weaver's platoon policy. He managed the Orioles to 98 victories and a decisive AL East title.

After dropping the playoff opener against Chicago, Baltimore took three straight to earn a World Series berth and the Orioles closed out Philadelphia in five games.

Norm Nixon has found out NBA life without Magic can still be thrilling.

Nixon, who combined with Magic Johnson in the Los Angeles backcourt to help the Lakers to a pair of world championships, scored 25 points and added 12 assists Wednesday night in his first game against his former teammates in the San Diego Clippers' 110-106 triumph.

Nixon spent six years with the Lakers before being traded in the off season and he didn't waste much time taking out any lingering frustration, pouring in 15 points in the first quarter as the Clippers took a 17-point lead. San Diego took a 4-2 lead and never trailed thereafter as they defeated the Lakers for only the 19th time in 61 games.

"I had a lot of fun out there," said Nixon, who shot 10-for-15 from the field and scored all of his points before intermission. "I haven't played that well since I've left the Lakers and it makes me real happy — how sweet it is."

"It's an early-season present for me.

Emotionally it was a great win for the team."

Elsewhere, Boston ripped Milwaukee 119-105, Cleveland topped Houston 103-94, Dallas beat Portland 123-117 and Seattle downed New York 125-119.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Wimbledon mixed doubles champion Marty Riessen said Bjorn Borg, who temporarily returned to competitive tennis for a rich mixed doubles match, impressed him as someone who has happily retired.

Borg reached back in his storehouse of shots and teamed with Bettina Bunge to beat Riessen and young Chinese rising star Hu Na, 6-4, 6-7, 7-6 Wednesday night in the opening round of the $400,000 World Mixed Doubles championship.

Chris Evert Lloyd and Jimmy Connors reunited for the first time in nine years, were scheduled to make their first-round appearance tonight in a match against local favorite Zina Garrison and Jimmy Brown.

Raiders Host Brevard

Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders play their home opener of the 1983-84 basketball season tonight at the college when Brevard comes to town for a 7:30 game. The Raiders, 0-1, will be out to even their record after an opening-game setback to Manatee Tuesday night. "They just ran us to death," said SCC coach Heana Gallagher about the loss to Manatee. "We played their game and not ours." Tonya Alexander flipped in 14 points to lead SCC while Kim Ross chipped in 11. Alexander, Ross, Val Roessler, Carolyn Brinkley and Sanford's Cathy Jones will be in tonight's starting lineup. On Saturday, Southern Georgia College comes to SCC to a 2 p.m. game.

Taylor Passes, Morris Punts Lift Seminole JV — Hawks Play Bucs

Daryl Taylor completed 10 of 23 passes for 110 yards and two touchdowns and Kenny Morris' key punting enabled the Seminole junior varsity to come away with a 12-0 victory over Titusville's JV Wednesday night at Titusville.

The Tribe ended the season with a 5-2 record and the county championship. It was one of the most successful junior varsity seasons ever for Seminole.

Seminole took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter as Taylor connected with Robert Hill on a 18-yard scoring strike. The defense held back Titusville the remainder of the quarter and held on to its 6-0 lead at halftime.

Morris played a key role for the Tribe in the second half as he came up with a couple of fine punts when Seminole had its backs to the wall. Twice in the third quarter, Morris punted out of his own end zone and he came through with kicks of 35 and 40 yards.

Seminole put the game on ice in the fourth quarter as Taylor hooked up with Melvin Brinson on a 24-yard TD pass. For the game, Brinson caught four passes for 57 yards while Hill nabbed five passes for 38 yards. The passing attack was Seminole's only hope Wednesday, as the Titusville defense shut down the Tribe's rushing game.

Theron Liggins, Larry Byrd and Dennis Lawrence turned in fine defensive performances for Seminole. The closest Titusville came to scoring was the Seminole 30-yard line.

Lake Howell's Silver Hawks open the football weekend tonight when they travel to Daytona Beach for a Five Star Conference game with Mainland at Welch Memorial Stadium. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

Lake Howell, 4-3 overall and 3-3 in the conference, will be attempting to bounce back from a 21-13 licking to Lyman last Friday. The loss mathematically eliminated coach Mike Bisceglia's crew from the Five Star race.

Sports Roundup

"We just haven't been able to play well in the big games," says Bisceglia who has lost to Seminole, Lake Brantley and Lyman. "I don't know what are problem is."

Passing and running were a problem last Friday as standout fullback Jay Robey totaled just 34 yards in 10 carries and quarterback Darin Slack hit just 3 of 13 passes for 81 yards. He was intercepted once.

When Robey and Slack are on their game, Lake Howell is an explosive outfit as the Hawks' offensive line — spearheaded by Jim Royal, Austin Manuel and Mark Paffort or Timm Weber — can open huge holes. Slack, too, has some fine complements in wideouts John "No Relation" McKay, Jim Daniel, Jeron Evans and Jack Colson along with tight end Allan Jack.

Defensively, blue-clip safety Bill Lang and senior Troy Quackenbush head up the secondary while Pat Lacore and Rick Pugh are the mainstays in the trenches. Steve Cina is a topnotch linebacker.

Mainland, like Lake Howell, has been unpredictable this fall. The Bucs blanked Seminole, 7-0, for their only win but have played well on several occasions after opening the season with three straight losses. They lost to Lake Mary, though, two weeks ago before taking last week off.

Lake Howell handed the Rams easily (32-6), but was surprised by Sanford (29-27) after blowing an 18-point lead.

The Silver Hawks would also like to put it together tonight since next week the Hawks take on sixth-ranked Apopka.

The Inter-County Basketball Association (ICBA) is raring to go as it enters its second season of play and, from all indications, the number of teams will increase for year two.

Initial signups have been held at South Seminole, Tuskawilla and Jackson Heights with 40, 80 and 77 boys and girls respectively in the ICBA fold. They will be divided into teams and start to practice shortly, according to ICBA organizer Mickey Norton. Altamonte Recreation will again field teams at both their Eastmonte (Milwee area) and Westmonte (Teague and Rock Lake areas) as will Winter Park Recreation, Eatonville and possibly a few private church schools in southeast Seminole county.

League play will begin right after the Christmas holidays with a 10-12 game league schedule. In addition, there will be a Christmas Tournament, Postseason tourney, exhibition games at Rollins, Stetson (including the Stetson-Army game) and possibly SCC and UCF. Also, some of the teams will participate in out-of-town and out-of-state tournaments and trips.

The ICBA has a varsity boys division (8th grade), a JV division (6-7th grades) and a girls division (Middle school). League games are held mostly on Saturdays and Sundays at Oviedo and Lake Howell High Schools, plus some during the week at Winter Park Junior High.

Any boys and girls wishing to sign up or learn more about the ICBA may call the following: South Seminole and Tuskawilla — Mickey Norton, 365-4040; Jackson Heights — Jim Norton, 365-6434; Milwee, Teague and

Pat Lacore Troy Quackenbush

Rock Lake — Marc Hultin, 830-3880, or Ron Newman, 862-0090; Winter Park — Kevin Weidcker, 844-9860, ext. 334.

A completely revamped Angelo's Mice women's softball team opened the Longwood Fall League with a thriller, a 12-11 extra-inning victory over Stromberg. Carlson, Angelo's spotted Stromberg a 6-0 lead in the top of the first, another in the third, then came back with six runs of its own in the fourth.

Stromberg took a 9-6 lead in the seventh, but Angelo's came back with three runs in the bottom of the frame to tie the game at 9-9 and send it into extra innings. Walls to Natalie Barth and Linda Martin, Karen Boehmer's two-run triple and a run-scoring single by Sonia Villett enabled Angelo's to stay in the game.

Veterans Remembered

Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, from left, makes the first donation for a Disabled American Veterans Forget-Me-Not cluster to Irving J. Leary, liaison officer DAV Chapter 30, Sanford; June Blair, DAVA chairman; and Mary Leary, DAVA co-chairman of the Forget-Me-Not campaign. The flowers will be handed out Friday and Saturday in Sanford in remembrance of disabled veterans. Funds raised from this project will be applied directly to the assistance of disabled veterans in Veterans Hospitals in Florida.

Miss Smith, D.L. Geiger Repeat Vows

Cynthia Dawn Smith and Daniel Lee Geiger are announcing their marriage today. They were married Aug. 6, at 5 p.m., at Lakeview Baptist Church, Lake Mary. The Rev. Jackie Nix performed the 5 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Smith Jr., 143 Fairway Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Geiger, 1807 Maplewood Drive, Orlando.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal Qiana gown fashioned along the empire silhouette. She carried a cascade of yellow roses, yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Carol Overton attended the bride as maid of honor. Deanna Routh was the bridesmaid. Each wore a green Qiana gown and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies interspersed with baby's breath.

Tom Geiger served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Jim Geiger, Tom Smith and Terrill Smith. Michelle Geiger was the flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lee Geiger

Following a reception at Lake Mary City Hall, the newlyweds are making their home in Orlando. The bride is a student at University of Central Florida and the bridegroom is sales coordinator for Space Science Services.

Candy Striper's Kindness Helps A Worthy Cause

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl working as a "candy striper" (volunteer) at a home for the aging in Cleveland. During my lunchtime an elderly lady came up to me and asked if I would walk her to the medical building next door to buy a pair of sunglasses.

Dear Abby

I walked her over there and she tried to give me a dollar. I told her I couldn't accept it, and besides, it was such a beautiful day I really enjoyed the walk. She got very mad and threatened not to go back with me if I didn't take the dollar. She said, "Just take it, and don't tell anyone!" Then she stuck it in my pocket.

Abby, I don't know what to do with this money. I'd feel so guilty if I spent it. I feel like throwing it out, but there are people who could use it. I know it isn't much, but I'm sending it to you. Will you please send it to a worthy cause?

M. K.

DEAR M.K.: You are to be commended for (a) not wanting to keep the money and (b) asking that it go to a worthy cause.

I am sending your dollar to the United Way in Cleveland. It supports 175 separate agencies — among which are the American Cancer Society, the Heart Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, help for the hearing-impaired and the visually handicapped, crippled children, etc.

You say a dollar isn't much, but every dollar counts. If everyone who reads this sent a dollar to his or her own United Way, millions of disabled, sick, poor and elderly people would be better served.

DEAR ABBY: "Billy" and I dated for five years before we got married two months ago. We live in my house. I have a good job and it pays well.

The problem? Billy does not have a job, and he doesn't seem to care if he gets one or not. He never goes job hunting — he just does odd jobs whenever he feels like it, which is not very often.

I have tried to impress on him the importance of getting a steady job because I don't want to go on supporting us forever.

My parents will help us out if we need money, but it's not their place to support Billy and me. It's our place to support ourselves. Your advice would be greatly appreciated.

LOSING PATIENCE IN S.C.

DEAR LOSING: Give Billy an ultimatum. Let him know that if he does not seriously seek employment until he comes up with something, the honeymoon is over! And give him a time limit — unless you want to carry this freeloader indefinitely.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your fine column on fire prevention during Fire Prevention Week.

You wrote: "The phone number of your fire department should be taped to every telephone." An excellent idea, but you should have added, "along with your address."

A sitter or guest in your home may not know your address. Also, people sometimes panic when calling the fire department and "forget" their own address.

Cordella Treece

Pen Woman Of The Year

The Winter Park Branch of the National League of American Pen Women announces that Cordella Treece of Altamonte Springs has been selected as "Pen Woman of the Year." Mrs. Treece, president, will represent the branch at the Florida State Association of NLPW's Biennial Conference to be held in Clearwater Nov. 4, 5, and 6 when she will compete for the Florida State Pen Woman of the Year.

Mrs. Treece, a prominent artist, moved to Florida from Ohio in 1977 and joined the Winter Park Branch of NLPW in 1979. She has held several offices in the local, state and national organizations of NLPW. She was president of the Toledo Artists Club for 10 years and was a member of the City Arts Commission.

Since moving to Florida, Mrs. Treece has won numerous awards and has held offices in various art organizations including president of the Central Florida Art Association.

She is listed in Who's Who in the South and Southeast, Who's Who in American Women and World Who's Who of Women.

GETTING MARRIED

Engagement and wedding forms are available at the Herald offices to announce these events. The forms may be accompanied by professional black and white photographs if a picture is desired with the announcement. Wedding forms and pictures must be submitted within two weeks of the wedding.

Pernicious Anemia Is Sometimes Fatal

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 65-year-old woman and just found out last year that I have pernicious anemia. No one knew what was wrong with me until I was hospitalized. I was told at that time I would need vitamin B-12 shots for the rest of my life.

Crossword puzzle grid with numbers 1-33 and some filled-in letters.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 4, 1963
Your greatest successes this coming year will come in situations where you can act independently.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Fresh opportunities may arise today to transform for the better a joint venture in which you are presently involved.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) New benefits can be derived at this time through an important relationship you've already established.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If your past efforts merit it, apprise your superior of your accomplishments.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Beginning today, strive to cultivate a stronger relationship with two new friends.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Starting now there will be a favorable shift in domestic conditions which should prove beneficial to everyone and enhance family life as a whole.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Any new, bright ideas you get today should be pursued.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are entering a cycle which should prove materially advantageous.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Knowledge, experience and expertise which you've acquired will soon be put to advantageous uses.

But I am pleased to hear that part of your problem has been solved. DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 64 years old and had bypass surgery done on my heart. Shortly after the surgery the bypasses occluded. The latest catheterization indicated any further surgery would be too risky. Recently I was told by a friend that laser beams are being used successfully on animals to open up clogged arteries. Is this true? If so, is it likely to be used on humans in the near future? DEAR READER - Yes, it is true, but at this writing the effort is largely confined to animal and cadaver studies. It has great promise. Also, even old clots are being successfully treated with an infusion of streptokinase enzyme as a research method. While this is being developed, I would strongly recommend that you use a diet and exercise program your physician thinks is acceptable to you. If you have any excess body fat - eliminate it. I wouldn't object if you became a vegetarian. You need to strictly limit your fat intake and cholesterol intake as well as getting rid of any body fat you have. Many bypass operations are successful because of the diet and exercise program that follows, not because of the surgery. So take as much advantage as you can out of such a program and perhaps you will not need further surgery if your program is really successful. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Matthew Laborieux: TV 'Whiz Kid'

By Vernon Scott
HOLLYWOOD REPORTER
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Teenage computer pests who drive the FBI and other constabulary organizations bananas are closely paralleled in the Whiz Kids, the new TV series co-starring kids and computers.

Stories of youngsters tapping into national security networks, banks and big business computer programs have become daily headlines and a threat to the sanity of private institutions and government agencies.

So far, no youthful culprits have been prosecuted. But if these brainy scamps get away with it, what about industrial and international espionage?

What inspires young computer miscreants to explore the byzantine mysteries of microchip magic in the first place?

Whiz Kids has come under fire as a possible source for felonious enterprises among neighborhood kids with home computer networks.

Matthew Laborieux, the show's 16-year-old star, defends Whiz Kids with the observation that "there are no written laws about computers, but the press tore us up over our pilot show for doing illegal things. That's not fair."

Matthew is no smart alec pop-off.

He's a well-mannered, exceedingly bright young man who co-starred for six years in Little House on the Prairie. He also has a lot to say about Whiz Kids.

"Some of the things kids do with computers may be morally wrong but not legally," he said. "On our show the kids are like Robin Hood. They use the computer to help the law. They've even added an adult to the cast to give some supervision to the kids."

Matthew is a member of the Atari advisory board, along with 19 other young computer experts around the country.

He was selected last year for his familiarity with home computers and expertise with video games. He placed 10th in the Centipede competition at the video game world championships in Chicago two years ago.

Matthew's dexterity at video games, of course, does not make him a spokesman for young computer experts. He is gaining in knowledge and expertise all the time, although he's not as good as Richie Adler, the computer genius he plays in Whiz Kids.

"Everything we do on the show is as realistic as we can make it. The computer elements in the stories are all possible. The only liberty we take is condensing the time needed to program the computer."

A couple of expert consultants work with us to program our computers and to make sure everything is possible and realistic.

"It's a tough show because working with computers is like working with animals — which I did in Here's Boomer with the dog. We keep doing a scene until the computer gets it right, no matter how I may have goofed up."

"The acting is harder than for Little House. I was sort of an all-American kid when I played Albert Ingalls. I could play myself. But Richie is a totally different person."

"My friends tease me about playing a computer nerd, wearing really dumb clothes like plaid shirts, white socks and jeans rolled up at the ankle. But I guess that's an improvement from my overalls in Little House."

"I think kids should be encouraged to experiment with computers," Matthew concluded. "That's where the future is. Once laws are drawn up regarding computer usage, maybe there won't be so many kids getting into trouble with them."

UCLA Student Charged In 'War Games' Scam

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A UCLA student was accused of using his home computer to penetrate a sensitive Pentagon international computer network in a War Games-style scheme the district attorney said "was no childish prank."

"We don't know what his motives were, or if he sold any of the information," District Attorney Robert Phillibosian said Wednesday in outlining the case against Ronald Mark Austin.

Austin, who used a Commodore 64 computer and local telephone connections from his home to gain access to the computer network, is accused of 14 counts of "maliciously" accessing the computer communications system.

The 19-year-old science major, arrested at his suburban Santa Monica home Wednesday and jailed in lieu of $10,000 bail, also faces 14 companion counts of theft and receiving stolen property.

Phillibosian said the property included airline tickets he allegedly acquired through his illegal computer activities.

The district attorney said the tampering may cost $200,000 to correct because of the massive reprogramming needed and the damage to sensitive data linking government, industry and academic computers in the United States and Europe.

"These computers store data consisting primarily of research projects for such agencies as the U.S. Department of Defense," Phillibosian said. "Some of the information we can see was very sensitive."

A Defense Department spokesman in Washington said it had a policy of not commenting on cases of this nature. "We do not comment on any case that would end up in active litigation," Maj.

Bob Shields said.

A spokesman for the Rand Corp. one of the agencies involved, said no classified or sensitive information was released through its computers.

Also among the accounts accessed were the Advanced Research Projects Agency Network (ARPANET) and the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, the Naval Ocean Systems Center in San Diego and the Norwegian Telecommunication Administration.

"Basically, Austin was working from his home terminal," said UCLA spokesman Tom Tugend. "It's a little like the War Games scenario without the nuclear effects."

Tugend was referring to last summer's popular film in which a young computer buff taps into the North American Defense Command computer system and almost sets off World War III.

School Advisory Committees Honored

A citizen advisory committee at Oviedo High School has been selected as the best in the region and given a $100 prize by the state Department of Education.

Advisory committees at three other Seminole County schools were among the 16 schools honored by the DOE as having outstanding advisory committees. Those schools are Lake Howell High School, Teague Middle School and Sabal Point Elementary School.

Oviedo was one of five schools selected as regional winners for the work their advisory committee has done.

"To have four of the top 16 committees in the state is quite an honor," said Karen Coleman, coordinator of community relations for the school district.

Advisory committees are groups of parents and other interested citizens who help the schools gather outside resources and determine their relationship with the community.

There is no set way for advisory committees to work, according to DOE officials, leaving flexibility for committee members to adapt to specific local situations.

But most of the advisory groups have by-laws and meet regularly, usually once a month, Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington said.

Turlington said a report honoring the top advisory committees in the state, prepared by the Florida Education Council, is designed to highlight their achievements and give other schools ideas of ways to improve their own advisory committees.

The most successful committees reported easy access to school and district information about programs, test scores, budgets and other information and an ability to set school objectives for achievement.

What exactly do advisory committees do?

Here's some examples of policy considerations from Seminole County's four top-flight advisory groups:

Expanding the school volunteer program, coordinating teaching at different grades, meeting school needs for increased art, music and physical education classes, improving student test scores, school traffic problems, drug and alcohol awareness programs.
