Tutu: The West Can Go To Hell

President Hears 'No Cheering In The Streets'

By Helen Thomas UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan is reaping a whirlwind of criticism for refusing to toughen U.S. policy toward South Africa with diplomatic and economic sanctions, but an aide said the White House did not expect "cheering in the streets."

In a speech Tuesday before an East Room gathering. Reagan called on the government in

Housing Authority Praised

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

The state Department of Housing and Urban Development has commended the Sanford Housing Authority for having expediently eradicated all administrative and operational shortcomings cited in the authority's last audit.

The HUD recognition is viewed by Authority Chairman Alexander Wynn as having laid to rest not only the audit's negative findings, also the controversy the audit generated after it was received by the authority last fall.

A statement Issued from HUD's Tallahassee office states, "We commend the (Sanford) Housing Authority for the efficlent and complete manner that was utilized in responding to the audit findings. The Housing Authority has responded to and addressed all issues involved All audit findings are now closed."

The document, signed by Sumner Wiles for HUD assistant housing management branch chief Verion Shannon, was filed by the authority at Sanford City Hall last week.

"I think this shows we were serious about taking care of business," Wynn said. "I'm glad they (HUD) feel we've handled the audit findings the right

On the verge of approving an impact fee schedule. Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday heard recommendations that the charges be fair, spent where collected and able to stand up to legal scrutiny.

Autopsy Slated On Murder Victim

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

An autopsy was scheduled today for a 23-year-old Altamonte Springs woman found dead in her daughter's bed at about 2:45 p.m. Tuesday, an apparent victim of foul play.

Altamonte Springs police released few details in the death of Mary Harper of 518 Baywood Court in the Spring Oaks subdivision.

Mrs. Harper's 3-year-old daughter was in the home when Mrs. Harper's sister, Maurine Montag, 19, of Orlando arrived and discovered the body.

Police reported that there was little sign of a struggle, but marks on the body indicated foul play. Viner said police are searching for the victim's husband, Al Harper, who did not report for work Tuesday.

'We're looking for the husband for questioning. He's not a primary suspect. We have reason to believe he was at home on that date," Viner said.

The autopsy was scheduled at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. In advance of that. Viner said, police believe Viner said.

Feds Unmask 'Captain Midnight;' He's A Florida Dishperson

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The government has unmasked the mysterious video pirate "Captain Midnight," a 25-year-old satellite dish salesman who broke into Home Box Office programming in April to protest the scrambling of cable TV signals.

Richard Smith, field operations bureau chief of the Federal Communications Commission, said John MacDougail of Ocala, Fla., pleaded guilty in federal court Tuesday to operating illegally a satellite uplink transmitter "to intentionally cause interference" to HBO's cable television programming.

The price for MacDougall's space-age crime: a $5,000 fine, one year of probation and suspension of his radio operator's license.

He could have faced up to a year in prison and $100,000 in fines, but worked out a plea-bargain agreement, officials said. Sentencing is scheduled Aug. 26.

House Impeaches Jailed Judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) - U.S. District Judge Harry Claiborne, who refuses to quit the bench despite his conviction for tax evasion, now must stand trial in the Senate as the first federal jurist impeached by the House in

The House invoking a rarely used constitutional power Tuesday and voted 406-0 for four articles of impeachment against the Nevada judge. If convicted in the Senate. Claiborne would be removed from the lifetime post he gained in 1978.

Claiborne, 69, is the only federal judge in history convicted and jailed while still in office. He has refused to resign despite his conviction for evading $106,000 on his 1979 and 1980 taxes, and continues to draw his $78,700 annual salary while serving a two-year prison term in Montgomery, Ala.

California Braces For Quakes

CHALFANT VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) - Residents secured their homes and authorities brought in emergency supplies to prepare for more jolts on the heels of back-to-back earthquakes and more than 1,000 aftershocks that rattled the eastern Sierra Nevada.

Experts said aftershocks could continue for several days and warned an even more dangerous quake could strike. but added no one knew for sure when the earth would fall silent again.

A quake registering 6.2 on the Richter scale struck Monday morning, causing an estimated $1 million in damage to homes, businesses, roads and sewer lines. A 5.5 quake hit the same region Sunday.

Residents in the Owens Valley, in the eastern Sierra Nevada about 220 miles northeast of Los Angeles, were warned to be ready for more shaking.

Top Soviets Attack System

LONDON (UPI) - Soviet Communist Party and government figures have launched a scathing underground attack on the way the Soviet Union is run and have called for a multi-party system with freedom of speech and press, The Guardian reported Tuesday.

The group took the "dangerous step" of leaking the manifesto to Western correspondents apparently because the Soviet media failed to publish or discuss it, the Guardian report said.

The newspaper published what it said was an edited version of the manifesto dated Leningrad, Nov. 21, 1985.

It said that after 70 years of communist rule. the Soviet Union "is now on the path to becoming one of the underdeveloped nations" trailing 10 to 15 years behind the West - "and this lag is growing."

It condemned the "undeclared and hopeless war" in Afghanistan and called for freedom of speech and press, citing the Watergate scandal in the United States, the Lockheed scandal in Japan and the sinking of the Rainbow Warrior in New Zealand as examples of how a campaigning media can expose official wrongdoing.

Skies Unfriendly For Disabled

Air travel is wearing enough for most persons. But for the disabled, it involves some particularly vexing obstacles and a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling only makes this unfortunate situation worse.

If you're one of America's 36 million handicapped, an airport promises uncertainty and difficulty. Even when booked far in advance, disabled persons are often notified only at the last moment whether they must be accompanied by an attendant. Then, there are hazards and indiginities: Expensive and delicate wheelchairs are thrown in with luggage; blind persons are forced to sit on blankets because airline officials fear they are

The disabled don't ask for first-class treatment as air travelers, but they do deserve some idea of what to expect at the boarding

That's why the Paralyzed Veterans of America brought suit against the Department of Transportation to force the airlines to develop a uniform set of procedures for dealing with the disabled. The DOT subsidizes the airlines by paying for air traffic control at the nation's airports. And, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 forbids discrimination against handicapped persons involved with federally funded programs.

Yet, in a 6-3 ruling, the justices decided that, because the airlines don't receive direct federal funding, they are exempt from the guidelines of the Rehabilitation Act.

The decision is maddening. True, the airlines don't receive actual federal payments. But air traffic control — which costs $2 billion a year - is critical to airline operation. Moreover, the airlines are airport gatekeepers: They should be impelled to provide service to all those with tickets.

The Paralyzed Veterans are now seeking Congressional help to amend .: DOT directive, the Adequate Service Act, that would ensure the disabled access to flight.

Failing that, it is imperative the DOT codify a set of rules for disabled persos who fly. If there are costs borne by the airlines — for the construction of storage facilities for wheelchairs, for example, or special seating disabled persons would probably not mind paying a nominal extra ticketing fee. Observes Cynthia Jones of Mainstream, a national magazine for disabled consumers, "I think it's appropriate to pay for the services

It's doubtful that air carriers, in the wake of the Supreme Court's misguided decision, will attempt to discourage disabled persons from air travel. In fact, some airlines are solicitous of the needs of the disabled. The problem is that now, they don't have to be.

No Explicit Sex

In Arlington, Va., where pornography commission chairman Henry Hudson earned a national reputation for prosecuting porn cases, reporter Robert Scheer interviewed the manager of a popular video store. "I can rent movies that dismember and mutilate, but not those that show sex," he told Scheer, who writes about the Porn commission in the August Issue of Playboy.

Holding up a cassette, the manager said, "In this cute one, a woman is sun-bathing by a river and this killer comes along and chops her head off with a shovel, and you see the blood spurting out. And then it gets worse. But it's legal; it's not considered obscene. There's no explicit sex.'

Fixing Human Parts With Non-Factory Equipment

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Thanks to the Journal of Irreproducible Results, it is sometimes possible to learn what national safety crusaders

In an article soliciting contributions to the Medily Preservation Fund, Not-Safe, a California organization, tackles the controversial organ

"Few auto mechanics would fix a bad Volkswagen engine by replacing it with parts of a Chevy or Ford." writes Not-Safe's executive director, Dale Lowdermilk.

"Why are doctors trying to fix broken human parts' with non-factory equipment?"

A good question, I say. One can hardly blame Lowdermilk for being curious. It is when he starts proposing solutions that the article gets

Not-Safe advocates new federal programs that would allow "spare parts" to be obtained from such "undesirables" as "prisoners. drug addicts, prostitutes, the homeless, the unemployed, the overweight, senior citizens, the handicapped, non-college graduates and atheists."

However, I believe there must be a better way. Let's leave Congress, the Supreme Court and the White House out of this. The next thing we know. Cabinet members, justices and lawgivers will be trying to pass themselves off as undestrable in order to participate as donors. Let us instead establish dealerships to make certain only factory-approved equipment is installed in human beings. Granted, setting up outlets for authorized factory replacements would not be as exciting as the "donor rodeos" envisioned by Lowdermilk. As he points out. "a huge roundup" of society's rejects in major cities each year "would provide entertainment rivaling the Olympics." He apparenty works on the principle that since the Olympic games only are telecast every four years, it behooves us all to help the networks fill in the gaps. "Imagine the network coverage of doctors and scientists in cowboy smocks riding in the back of pickup trucks and ambulances with their lassos and hypodermic needles whirling victoriously about their heads." Lowdermilk

I can imagine that all right. But I also can imagine Madison Avenue doing the same job. and doing it better.

A New York marketing researcher has been quoted as saying "sophisticated research techniques. first developed for multimillion-dollar advertising campaigns, can be successfully transformed and creatively adapted to the needs of political parties."

I take that to mean we will be exposed to more political advertising than ever during future campaigns. Each candidate, says this researcher, can have "a well-defined image." But we certainly don't want diet-conscious candidates who are barely dry behind the ears masquerading as overweight senior citizens, do we?

If "sophisticated research techniques" work for politicians, they should work for safety

What's wrong, for instance, with hiring an actor to portray Dr. Goodscapel to assure the public that only factory-trained surgeons operate on human beings?

Farm Belt Must Be Protected

beautiful farmland surrounding this clean, attractive university town on the eastern edge of the state is typical of the progressive agricultural base of South Dakota. Many Americans may not be aware that South Dakota is the most completely agricultural state in the nation. News items about the Dakotas rarely appear in most newspapers or on television. Yet Americans would not enjoy the blessings of low-priced food without the productivity of these heartland farm states.

The U.S. undoubtedly has adopted mistaken farm policies over a long period of years. In World War I. farmers were urged to expand production to the limit. Demand contracted after the war, and the farm depression occurred. The Roosevelt administration began the foolish and costly policy of paying farmers not to plant. The Eisenhower administration continued erroneous production controls with the Soil Bank, which became a scandal and laughing stock. In the 1970s, farmers again were urged to achieve maximum protection for world markets. These markets have now virtually disappeared.

The plight of the nation's farm economy is indicated by the fact that the United States suffered a farm trade deficit in May — the first since 1971. At $348.2 million, it is the largest in the nation's history.

Some of these matters are touched on by Dr. Clyde Wilson of the University of South Carolina, writing in the July issue of Chronicles of Culture. He says that there is a "coterie of sophisters and calculators, calling themselves conservatives, who have recently discovered that the production of the staff of life is just another form of corporate enterprise" and that "we must let the 'marginal' farmer go to the wall so that the market can wisely redistribute resources."

Without submitting any brief for the present government price system. Dr. Wilson says that "every enlightened and prosperous nation on the globe makes special provision for its farmers, and not from an obsolete affection for the yeoman ideal." He wisely states that the "truth is that the agricultural market is the great unsolved problem of the modern economy. No one has yet to devise more than a makeshift solution to the cycles of overproduction and underproduction and price fluctuation that have beset agriculture since at least the 18th century. Whatever due obelsance we give to the market, and much is due, there is something wrong with the approach of the sophisters and calculators."

Sterile Moral Posturing

The House of Representatives has indicated overwhelmingly, by a voice vote, that it considers the government of South Africa obligated to permit riot and mayhem. The vote placed the House on record as being in favor of prohibiting American individuals and corporaions from investing in, importing from or exporting to South Africa. Except, ho ho ho, the House exempted strategic minerals happening to be our most important import from that country, uranium. molybdenum, platinum, etc., without which our airplane industry would rapidly grind to a halt.

Just what the House hopes to accomplish by this display is difficult to discern, perhaps merely to persuade liberal and black voters more important blocks than Americans of South African origin - that the House is "doing something" about apartheid.

But what is it accomplishing? If a corporation "divests." that is, puts on the market what stock it owns having to do with South Africa, the price of that stock will be affected downward temporarily. The consequence of that will be to provide stock at bargain prices to buyers less exercised about South Africa's internal policies.

Is it the object of the House vote to assist the African National Congress

(ANC) to power? The ANC represents one large tribally based grouping, the Xhosa-speaking blacks. Their political rivals, the Zulus of Chief Buthelezi, regard them with great hostility. There is some but not much discussion of the program of the ANC in the U.S., but the program would be about black tribal nationalism plus socialism, hardly a program which one can become morally excited about supporting. The ANC would hardly provide a democratic alternative to the current white regime, and if it came to power tribal warfare would be the most likely result. Minority white and Asia rights would go out the window.

There is much talk of Nelson Mandela, in prison for terrorism, as a plausible black leader. But Mr. Mandela has refused repeatedly to renounce violence in return for his release. Not long ago, his wife Winnle addressed South Africans in Munsieville and said: "Together, hand in hand, with our boxes of matches and our necklaces, we shall liberate this country.

The term "necklace" here refers to a common mode of execution employed by radical blacks against blacks who in some way cooperate with the system. They fill an automobile tire with gasoline, throw it around the victim's neck, and set It on fire. Are these the reassuring people to whom the House of Representatives desires to hand over power? Is a government like that of the dictator Mengistu in Ethiopia one that our congressmen are enthusiastic about?

There are those, including this columnist, who do not think that there exists any good solution in South Africa. They consider that the government there possesses the sheer physical power and the will to use it, and that the most likely eventually will be a bloodbath followed by a sullen peace of exhaustion and futility. This is not a happy prospect, but then there may be no happy prospects there at all.

Others believe that a "federal" solution is possible, something along the lines of Switzerland's German. French and Italian cantons. This is a bare possibility, but you are not going to get it from the Mandelas or from the ANC. They want all the marbles.

Whatever the future holds, it is surely disgusting - if not altogether surprising - to see the U.S. Congress engaged in a sterile moral posturing that can accomplish nothing at best, much harm at

SCIENCE WORLD Star Burst

Detected By Delthia Ricks

UPI Science Writer LOS ANGELES (UPI) - A giant exploding star packing more energy than any other star in its distant galaxy has been discovered by scientists who now scan up to 400 galaxies nightly with a new automated system. The brilliant supernova, detected by astronomers at the University of California's Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory, was located in the galaxy M99 in the Virgo Cluster, 70 million light years from Earth.

"This supernova is one of the better studied ones in the last ten years," said chief scientist Carlton Pennypacker. "We've put a lot of effort into exploring it throughout its explosion.'

The supernova was photographed shortly after it burst to life and was captured on film with the new sky search system developed by the university's astronomers and computer scientists.

The system uses a special roving camera attached to a powerful telescope. As the camera scans the entire sky, it snaps pictures of all accessible galaxies.

It is estimated that 10 billion stars exist in the M99 galaxy but scientists confirmed the newly discovered star as a supernova because it is significantly brighter than all other M99 stars - 10 percent as bright as the entire galaxy -

Pennypacker said. He explained that the scanning system is designed to instantly compare discrepancies spotted in the distant galaxies with a set of reference coordinates on file in the system's computer.

Any sudden change in the fixed brightness of a galaxy, the system alerts the research team that a possible supernova has been found.

"This supernova is what we call a Type 2." Pennypacker explained. "Type 1s in comparison turn into carbon and oxygen dwarfs and burn matter explosively, leaving nothing behind.

But when a Type 2 reaches the end of its evolution it collapses into a neutron star or black hole."

Black holes - a fascination of science flction writers - are so dense that light cannot escape the gravitational pull of the former star-

In reality, the supernova in M99 already has burned out and the explosion recently captured on film occurred 70 million years ago 'when dinosaurs roamed the Earth," Pennypacker sald.

Ever since that explosion cons ago, the light of the supernova has been traveling through the universe at 186,282 miles per second and just now can be detected by telescopes on Earth.

U.S. Knew About Israel's Cluster Bombs

By Jack Anderson

and Dale Van Atta WASHINGTON — The Jonathan Pollard spy case has apparently inspired a series of leaks by government officials who don't subscribe wholeheartedly to President Reagan's staunch support of Israel.

The latest of these stories involved cluster bombs. U.S. Customs officials leaked word that Israel is suspected of trying to obtain U.S. technology on the grisly bomb.

We wrote about Israel's use of U.S.-made cluster bomba in Lebanon four years ago. Artel Sharon, Israeli defense minister at the time of the 1982 invasion. admitted to us that he had authorized use of the hombs, despite Israel's 1978 pledge to use them only in the event of an attack by more than one Arab country.

Now our associate Donald Goldberg has obtained a secret

Defense Department document that shows U.S. intelligence agencies have known for at least four years about Israel's development of its own cluster-bomb technology. The project was designed specifically to give Israel cluster bombs it can use without restrictions.

"Both Israel- and U.S.-made cluster bombs have probably been used by the Israeli Air Force in the conflict in Lebanon." the Defense Intelligence Agency report concluded. It was dated July 16, 1982, the very day that President Reagan stopped the shipment of new cluster bombs to Israel because of the controversy surrounding their use in the Lebanon invasion.

This allowed the White House to avoid an investigation into Israel's use of the U.S. supplied bombs. If such an investigation had the 1978 agreement on cluster- made there. Production of these bomb restrictions — and it un-doubtedly would have — then sale to be completely dependent on the of all military items to Israel would U.S. for defense material." have been stopped by law.

The secret DIA report explained that Israel's development of its own cluster bombs was "undoubtedly spurred" by the widespread criticism of their use in Lebanon, and Jerusalem's concern that the United States "might cut off supplies."

But the point is that even in 1982. Israel had a well-established capability to produce cluster bombs and was "no longer completely dependent upon U.S. supplies of such munitions." the report says.

The report goes into some detail: 'Israeli-made cluster bombs include the TAC-A. B. C. D and apparently also the TAL-1. These bombs were developed in the 1970s at the Rafael Armament Development Authority established that Israel had broken north of Haifa and are probably. Service officials have charged.

Sharon's disclosure to us in 1982 was the first public acknowledgment by an Israeli official that the cluster bombs were being used in Lebanon. The bombs are canisters full of golf ball-sized pellets that explode like grenades on contact with a hard surface. But when they land on soft ground, the pellets often fail to detonate; they become alluring toys for children, who are then cruelly maimed or killed when the balls explode.

The secret Pentagon report raises an interesting question: If Israel has been developing its own cluster bombs since the 1970s, why would it need American technology, stolen or not? Yet this is what Customs

Weicker: Reagan Policy Helps Communists

By E. Michael Myers
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard Lugar. R-Ind., opened hearings of the Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday with a warning that the United States must be careful in ordering sanctions against South Africa or it will lose influence with both blacks and the white minority

"The first reality is that the United States does not possess unlimited influence and leverage over events in South Africa." said Lugar. "This is not to argue that the United States has no influence. but rather that our influence and leverage are limited and must be applied with wisdom and in the service of well-founded goals and objectives."

"The situation in South Africa is too serious for acts of desperation or resignation on our part." Lugar warned. "We want to prevent a bloody civil war and the destruction of a nation."

Lugar's committee opened as seven senators discussed a proposed bill - sponsored by Sens. Edward Kennedy. D-Mass., and Lowell Weicker. R-Conn. - that would impose a virtual trade embargo against South Africa to shock President P.W. Botha into dismantling its system of rigid racial separation, known as apartheid.

Reagan Policy All But Name 'Constructive Engagement'

By Matthew C. Quina

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan, apparently resolved to stick with his embatiled "constructive engagement" policy toward South Africa in all but its name, has set the stage for Congress to impose economic sanctions.

Reagan did not use the term "constructive engagement" to describe his policy toward South Africa in a 25 minute speech Tuesday, but it was clear the influence change tenets of the policy remain.

The president urged the white-minority government in Pretoria to negotiate with black leaders but was as forceful as ever in opposing "punitive eco-nomic sanctions" against South Africa - an approach that is gaining steam on Capitol Hill, to his chagrin.

Reagan was warned by Senate Republican leaders Monday that Congress was on the verge of enacting sanctions unless he acted strongly to pressure Pretoria into negotiations and end its apartheid system of racial

Sen. Richard Lugar. R-Ind. and chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, urged Reagan at the least not to use the words "constructive engagement," the term the administration has used for its policy of leaving U.S. investment and diplomatic channels open to

Analysis

But other than bowing to Lugar on language and expressing his moral outrage, the congressional debate. He even called for "deeper involvement by the Western business community" in South Africa.

The lack of new initiatives in the speech set the stage for a Senate vote for at least limited sanctions and a potentially veto the measure as may be expected.

The House last month passed sweeping legislation to impose a trade embargo on South Africa. Lugar, disappointed with Reagan's address, promptly said he will draft a bill for limited sanctions.

Such measures may include a freeze on the U.S. bank accounts of South African citizens, a ban on landing rights for South African Airways and a denial of U.S. visas for white South Afri-

Lugar's committee began hearings on sanctions legislation this week and Secretary of State Reagan did nothing to oblige the George Shultz planned to testify Senate Republican moderates today about a recent adholding the balance of power in ministration review of its policy.

> A senior administration official was asked by reporters Tuesday whether "constructive engagement" remains.

"I've been told that I should not use those words and I won't," he replied. "However, I believe that it would be a great bruising fight should Reagan mistake for the United States to wash its hands of a situation that it doesn't like and leave."

"Constructive engagement has by its fruitless tracking with white oppression become the greatest pro-communist force existent in black Africa." Welcker said. "That is a truth that this nation will pay for many times over in the decades ahead unless we exhaust ourselves. traveling a road of peaceful change to justice on behalf of South Africa's blacks."

Reagan opposes a major effort in Congress to order new trade and investment sanctions, and in his speech today he was expected to warn they only would hurt blacks and leave the United States without influence in South Africa.

Moderate Sen. Daniel Evans, R-Wash., agreed with Lugar, but California Democrat Alan Cranston urged action by the committee or vowed to promote his own disinvestment bill for a vote on the Senate floor.

Lugar, who along with other Senate leaders met Monday with Reagan, said the limited economic sanctions President Reagan ordered against South Africa last September have not brought peaceful change to the troubled country. But, he added, many senators "question whether the withdrawal of American influence from this situation helps or hinders the promotion of a democratic and just society in that country."

"An appropriate U.S. policy toward South Africa must contain multiple elements, carrots and sticks, not simply punitive measures." he cool in the saucer in this difficult and emotional issue. No one can point to where sanctions have been used effectively in the last decade or so. We shoot ourselves in the foot more often than not. It makes us feel good politically but does not accomplish much economically.

Evans said, "The Senate ought to let the coffee

The more conservative Republican Sen. Larry Pressier said he was fearful that sanctions were becoming more of a civil rights issue than a foreign policy matter. Cranston said unless the committee acts to bring the strongest possible anti-apartheid bill to the Senate floor within 10 days, he will push his disinvestment bill. Sen. Paul Sarbanes. D-Maryland. added. "Constructive engagement was clearly a failure long ago. Now it is a tragedy and a disgrace."

Kennedy. Weicker and others say tough action. including withdrawal of U.S. investment, is needed to avert full-scale civil war in South Africa over the white-minority government's apartheid policy of racial segregation.

Last year Reagan reluctantly ordered limited sanctions against South Africa, including a ban on bank loans to the government, but he has strongly opposed a bill that passed the House this year calling for a virtual trade embargo.

The renewed effort for tougher measures has risen from increased violence in South Africa and the lack of movement toward a negotiated

Hassan, Peres Enter Second Day Of Surprise Summit

RABAT. Morocco (UPI) - Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres and King Hassan II today faced the final round of a surprise summit, the first between an Israeli leader and an Arab head of state since the 1978 Camp David accords.

The discussions, which officials said covered ways to revive the Middle East peace process, began after Peres secretly flew to Morocco on Monday night aboard an leraeli military jet.

After more than 24 hours of government silence. Moroccan officials who asked to remain unidentified said the two leaders held a total of seven hours of talks on Tuesday but gave few specific details of the discussions.

The Moroccan officials, however, said Peres and Hassan discussed ways to negotiate a Middle East peace settlement.

China Expels Times Reporter

HONG KONG (UPI) - New York Times correspondent John Burns, expelled from China after six days in Jail on suspicion of spying, said today the affair was "nonsense

Burns arrived in Hong Kong looking tired but fit and said he had been treated "quite fairly" in detention. His wife, Jane, said in Peking she hoped to fly to Hong Kong with their two children Friday to Join her husband.

Burns, 41, was detained July 17 in connection with a motorcycle expedition earlier this summer in which he. American Ed McNally and a Chinese companion crossed through and photographed areas of China prohibited to

The trio was briefly detained at the time but was released after turning over their film and writing "self criticisms."

Agents Returned To French

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) - Two French secret service agents jailed for manslaughter in the 1985 bombing of a Greenpeace ship were flown from New Zealand early today and turned over to French authorities to spend three years in custody on a remote island.

The transfer of custody completed a U.N.-mediated agreement between New Zealand and France that ended months of bitter recrimination between the two countries over the fate of the agents.

The agreement also called on France to pay New Zealand $7 million in compensation for ordering the bombing of the Rainbow Warrior - flagship of the Greenpeace environmental and anti-nuclear activist group.

The vessel was sunk in Auckland Harbor in July 1985 to prevent it from leading a sotilla to protest French nuclear testing in the South Pacific.

Mexico Gets Help On Debt

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Mexican Finance Minister Gustavo Petricioli planned to travel to New York today with officers of international lending institutions that signed agreements to help his nation cope with its crushing debt

Petricioli, World Bank President Barber Conable and nal Monetary Fund director Jacques de Larosiere planned to discuss the agreements with principal private-sector creditors in New York.

The pacts, signed Tuesday in Washington, are worth about $3.6 billion to Mexico in exchange for implementing measures to promote domestic growth and stability. In addition. Petricioli accepted a $41.3 million loan for rural health assistance from the Inter-American Development Finance Ministry officials said the agreements do not subject Mexico to strict austerity measures.

Graham said Tuesday that his decision will depend on what he learns during a meeting of police, educators, drug rehabilitation experts and jurists planned for next week.

Proposals to get tough on erack traffickers have come from Sen. Lawton Chiles and several of this year's crop of statewide candidates. Some of the proposals - such as changes in the state's sentencing guidelines and its schedule of illicit drugs - would require the Legislature's

Attorney General Jim Smith, a Democratic candidate for governor, noted that state law considers possession of 28 grams of cocaine presumptive evidence of trafficking - but that traffickers in crack, which sells in small chunks for as little as $10, often carry much smaller amounts.

'State Taxes Could Quadruple'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - The plan to improve the state's infrastructure could quadruple Floridians' state tax burden by the time it is fully implemented in 1995, the president of the government watchdog group TaxWatch, Inc. said.

State taxes remain well below the national average, according to a report the group released Tuesday. But president Dominic Calabro said the State Comprehensive Plan, adopted in preliminary form in 1985, could push taxpayers into the top twenty states within the next nine

The state plan, adopted in preliminary form in 1985, is designed to be a "blueprint" for growth. It calls for major improvements to roads, schools, prisons and other elements of the state's aging infrastructure.

The average Floridian paid $26 more in taxes in 1985 than the year before, the TaxWatch report found.

Reagan, among the few world leaders who stand with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher against sanctions, urged Congress "to resist this emotional clamor for punitive sanctions."

More, not less, Western investment in South Africa is needed, he said.

'We need not a Western withdrawai but deeper involvement by the Western business community. as agents of change and progress and growth," he said, asserting a strong South African economy would help raise the standard of living for the entire continent.

Reagan did not use the phrase "constructive engagement" in his speech, though he restated its tenets, saying. "We are determined to remain involved, diplomatically and economically, with all the states of southern Africa that wish constructive relations with the United States."

In restating his belief the United States must maintain a presence in South Africa to help oppressed blacks, Reagan did not call for renewal of the one-year limited sanctions he imposed last September — a move that forestalled congressional action — but aides indicated he would do so.

Those sanctions put an end to computer sales to South Africa and a ban on imports of South African gold coins known as krugerrands.

The report sparked discord last fall between then-authority board chairman A.A. Mc-Clanahan and his fellow board members, when McClanahan' said his colleagues were dragging their heels to address its findings.

Resultant discord between McClanahan and the board contributed to his resigning from the authority in January.

The audit covered a 24 month period ending June 30, 1985. HUD representatives came to Sanford to review housing authority operations soon after receiving the report and conducted a follow-up review this spring. Findings during the second review led to the HUD letter filed last week at City Hall.

Wynn said the audit findings were successfully addressed during a series of work sessions the board had with authority staffers. He said the meetings led to eradication of the cited shortcomings and further enabled aevelopment of "organizational guidelines" the authority continues to adhere to. Wynn also said this summer

Penick, Martin, Petersen Head For Nationals

The Seminole County trio is hoping to enjoy the same success as Sanford's Alvin Jones and Shownda Martin who won the triple jump and 880 run. respectively, at last year's Nationals in Scattle, Wash.

Penick and Martin will be accompanied by Seminole High coach Ken Brauman while Lake Mary High coach Mark Magee will make the trip with Petersen.

Penick, who will run for Florida State this fall, will compete in the steeplechase and the two-mile relay. Martin will run the 440 dash along with the mile and 440 relays. Petersen will compete in the 1,500 meters.

Brauman said Penick will runs both of his races on Friday. Martin's events will be spread over the three days (Friday, Saturday and Sunday) at the University of Nebraska track.

This past Friday, things started off with the long jump and, in the five and under girls age group, Tiffany Gibson daughter of Mike Gibson, took the honors with a leap of 5-feet even. In the boys five and under Tommy Talmadge won jumping

In the 10-11 girls, Taressa Gibson won with a leap of 8-5. There was a duel in the 14-15 age group as Jim Polser won with a jump of 17-1 as Derek Bates placed second at 14 feet as did Brad Bolton, Bates was awarded second as his second longest jump was longer than Bolton's.

Garth Bolton, who plays basketball at Oviedo High, won the 16-17 age group leaping 17-6 as Garland McCoy took second with a 15-21/2 jump.

There were four competitors in the high jump, the last field event of the day. Brad Bolton won in his division clearing 5-feet even and Bates placed second going over 4-10. McCoy also won his division with a lump of 4-10 and Garth Bolton was second at 4-8.

In the 50 yard dash McCoy was the overall winner with a time of 6.3. Bolton finished second with a time of 6.7. In the 5-under boys Talmadge won again running a time of 12.0. In the girls five and under Tiffany Gibson won with a time of 10.4. Taressa Gibson won the 10-11 girls age group with a time of 8.6 as Brion Deese ran 8.7 to win the boys 6-7 age group.

Brant Deese won the 10-11 boys running an 8.0. In the 14-15 boys Brian Hammontree took first with a time of 6.5 and Jim Polfer placed second with a time of 6.7.

In the mile, Petersen took the overall and 16-17 age group running a 4:54.8. Petersen's coach at Lake Mary High. McGee, ran in the 25-29 age group finishing with a time of 5:36.9.

Bates won the 14-15 age group with a 6:00.9, as Brad Bolton followed with a time of 6:03.4. Debi Smith won the girls 14-15 running a time of 7:16.9. Jack Likens won the 40-49 age division with a time of 6:28.9.

In the 100 yard dash. Tiffany Gibson won the 5-under girls once again with a time of 21.6. Brion Deese won the boys 6.7 age group running a 17.2 and Taressa Gibson won the 10-11 girls with a 17.3. Brant Deese won the boys 10-11 age group with a 16.4, and Jim Polfer won the 14-15 boys age group with a time of 12.6.

Stufflet's 'Right Stuff' Numbs Niceville

Dr. Charles Clough, who was the chief surgeon in the procedure, told reporters Tuesday afternoon that the brain tumor was cystle in nature and appeared to be a "glioma" - a malignant tumor.

The tumor was determined to be malignant following tests on a frozen portion of the growth. He said the full pathology report will not be available for at least two days, at which time a prognosis would be made.

Although doctors are waiting for the pathology results to decide treatment, long-time Royals team physician Paul Meyer, who observed the procedure, said radiation treatments were likely.

The doctor said there were no

WINTER GARDEN - Manager Howard Mable and his District 14 Nationals may not have the whole wide World Series' bid in extremities. He was able to their hands yet, but they do have a pretty firm grip on a berth to the Big League State Tournament next week in Dunedin.

> The Nationals used home runs from Mark Merchant, Mike Pinckes and Mike Hinde along with stellar pitching from Jay Carter and Craig Duncan to flatten District 14's Americans, 10-3, Tuesday night before 177 unruly fans at the Winter Garden Little League Field.

The Nationals, who have outcalled Howser about an hour scored the opposition, 29-4, in two games now await the survivor of tonight's losers' bracket final between the Americans and Jacksonville Highlands, a 10-2 winner over Inverness in Tues-

Mable said he thought his squad was in pretty good shape since tonight's winner would have to beat his team Thursday Baseball survivors has well-rested hurlers while Mable has used his staff judiciously.

'We're leaning toward (Steve) Shakar Thursday night," Mable said about the Lake Mary High lefthander. "We got a good job from Carter and Duncan tonight. Everyone will be ready to go Thursday."

Unlike Monday's 19-1 win when the Nationals unloaded early, the Americans took control when Casselberry's Damon Marlette singled to left center and Mark Cross slugged a homer over the right center field fence for a 2-0 lead. Carter, who struck out five while working five innings for the win, regrouped, however, and escaped further damage.

Marlette, a shrewd lefthander who received little mound work at Lake Howell High this year, kept the Nationals in check for two innings. In the third, howevand Friday. Neither of tonight's er, the Nationals got to him for seven runs despite just two hits. Both hits, though, were homers. Marlette, who struck out six in five inings, though. deserved a better fate as shortstop Gary Thomas kicked two ground balls which kept the inning alive for the potent Nationals.

"We executed when we had to on defense," Mabie said, "And they didn't make the plays when the fifth. Yulee conceded the they had to. That was the difference because they do have a good team."

Apopka's Tim Bruehl reached on Thomas' first boot to open the frame and moved to second on a passed ball. Carter then Marlette who threw to third but first inning. Bruchl barely beat the play with a head-first slide.

Leadoff man Shane Letterio. who had two hits and reached base four times, followed with another ground ball to Thomas' reach second.

Crush Yulee By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer often a game that everyone expected to be close, suddenly turns out to be a blow out.

ROLLING HILLS - Every so

That was the case Tuesday night as the Altamonte Juniors clobbered Yulee, 21-2, in Section I Little League Baseball action before 155 damp fans at the Rolling Hills Little League Complex.

The victory places coach Duke Pletcones' team in the championship game that will be held on Thursday in Rolling Hills at 7 p.m. Since Altamonte is undefeated the team that will face It on Thursday will have to beat It twice to advance to the state tournament, Crystal River, a 4-3 winner over Jay East Brewton on Tuesday, and Yulee willsquare off tonight at 7 in the losers' bracket for the right to meet Altamonte on Thursday.

"We came out swinging tonight." Pleicones said. "We were facing some teams that were pitching very slow, but now that the fast pitching is coming along we are crushing the ball."

Pletcones said that he will make a decision at game time on Thursday as to whom will pitch against the Crystal River-Yulce winner.

Altamonte pounded out nine hits while taking a multitude of walks, leading directly to many of their runs. Nelli James was the offensive star for Altamonte as he drove in six runs with four hits in five trips. Terry "Downtown" Brown alsochipped in as he doubled in a pair of runs and singled home another. Andy Spolski went the distance and took the win for Altamonte as he pitched the first four innings and Steve "Squeaky" Sheiman came in for game after batting in its half of the fifth. Spolski also helped himself at the plate as he doubled in a run. Ron Kimble was the starter and loser for Yulee as he gave up seven runs on only three hits but walking pushed a bunt in front of seven. Kimble was pulled in the

Miltenberger Defends 50-Meter World Record

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

It takes a special kind of athlete to hold a world record in any sport. Holding a world record is the ultimate achievement a climb to the top.

Dr. Chester Miltenberger, who practices internal medicine in Sanford and lives in Maitland, is such an athlete. Miltenberger defended his world record in the 50-meter breast stroke in the 30-34 age group. His time of 30.88 has stood since 1982. Miltenberger, 34, recently returned from Tokyo, Japan where he competed in the World Masters Championships on July 15. Miltenberger, competing against 5,000 entrants, won the 50- and 100-meter breast strokes while taking second in the 200-meter breast stroke.

"I was very pleased with the way I performed." Miltenberger said Monday. The competition was very tough. though. There were a lot or ex-olympic and ex-national champions swimming and they were tough to beat." Miltenberger belongs to the Central Florida Masters Swimming Club in Orlando and said that he has been swimming ever since he can remember. Tve been swimming for a long time." he said. "I swam at Florida State University from 1969-1973 and was ranked in the top 10 in the nation."

The World Masters was not the first time the Miltenberger swam in a meet of that magnitude. Last year in the World Masters Games in Toronto, Miltenberger won the 50- and 100-meter breast stroke

'My goal is break my world record in the 50 and the 100 before I turn 35." Miltenberger added. "I need to break the record before I move out of the 30-34 age.

Miltenberger attributes much of his success to his vigorous training routine. "There is question that my training is helping me a great deal." he said. "It is why! am successful." Miltenberger went on to say that his training consists of lifting weights four times a week and swimming three times a week. "I work very hard and it is paying off." Miltonberger said.

Despite having to pay for his trip to Japan. Miltenberger said that it was well worth it. "I really had a good time. For six days I was at the pool from eight in the morning until eight at night. It didn't give me a lot of time to see the sights but what I did see I enjoyed." Miltenberger Millenberger was especially fond of the gold medals that he won. "The medals are very heavy and awfully pretty," he said. "The Japeneese treated us well and the accommodations were great.

Miltenberger said that he going to train especially hard this month for an apcoming meet in St. Petersburg, "I amgoing for the records in St. Pete," he added. "It is now or never for me."

Major-League Scuffle Mars

Mets' 6-3 Win Over Cards

Benches-clearing brawls are becoming as commonplace in the national pastilme as they are in the National Hockey League.

There were two brawls in the National League Tuesday night, one in Cincinnati and one in St. Louis, resulting in the ejection of seven players and countless bruised egos.

Ray. Knight of the New York Mets. who may soon be called "Sugar" Ray Knight for his propensity to flash his fists on the baseball diamond, and Eric Davis of the Cincinnati Reds started the brouhaha in Cincinnati with a bumping incident at third base.

By the time the umpires got everything settled down, the Mets had lost Knight and infielder Kevin Mitchell, and the Reds were without Davis and pitcher Mario Soto. The Mets were so strapped for players they had to use relief pitchers Jesse Orosco and Roger McDowell in right field, but they went on to win the game 6-3 in 14 innings on Howard Johnson's three-run homer.

At St. Louis, a difference of opinion as to whether it is proper to steal bases with a 10-2 lead precipitated the brawl between the Cardinals and the Glants.

With the Cardinals leading 10.2 in the fifth, Vince Coleman stole two bases before getting tagged out at home by reliever Juan Berenguer, while trying to score on a passed ball.

"Coleman was trying to show us up," said Randy Kutcher. "He is an S.O.B. I thought Coleman was out of line.

When Coleman came up to bat in the seventh. pitcher Frank Williams threw Inside, Immediately, home plate umpire Bob Davidson warned Williams and both managers. Williams' next pitch hit Coleman in the foot.

Davidson ejected Williams and both benches came out to the home plate area. St. Louis manager Whitey Herzog and San Francisco manager Roger Craig began arguing and the players began pushing and shoving. Tom Herr got spiked by the left car and required eight Herzog, who suffered a spike wound above his left ankle, wound up throwing Kutcher and Joel Youngblood down to the turf.

Davidson also ejected Craig and Chris Brown. who cursed him.

Herzog and Craig did not touch each other. although they were nose-to-nose.

"If he'd (Craig) have touched me, I would have knocked him on his butt," Herzog said. "Who does he think he is? Did he write the book on

Cubs 6, Padres 4 At Chicago, Jerry Mumphrey had two hits and scored twice and Leon Durham added an RBI double in a three-run seventh to pace the Cubs. The loss was the Padres' fifth straight. Ed Lynch. 2-1, went the first seven-plus innings and Lee Smith pitched the ninth for his 16th save. Lance McCullers fell to 5-4. Casselberry's Dave Martinez scored as a pinch runner. Dodgers 4, Pirates 3 At Pittsburgh, Reggie Williams cracked a two-run homer to cap a three-run ninth inning that gave the Dodgers a comeback victory. Cecilio Guante, 4.2, yielded Williams' second homer.

Astros 1, Expos 0 At Houston, Glenn Davis led off the bottom of the 10th with a first-pitch home run to give Astros their fifth straight victory. The Expos managed only one hit - a fifth-inning double by Mike Fitzgerald - off Nolan Ryan, who went 9 1-3 innings, and winner Dave Smith, 3-6, Floyd Youmans fell to 10-6. Ryan struck out a National League season-high 14 batters, the 159th time in his career he had struck out 10 or more batters. Tim Raines was 0 for 4.

Game Loses Importance For Royals

United Press International

The Kansas City Royals, tled for third place in the American League West, are hoping for a miracle ... and it has nothing to do with the standings.

The Royals Tuesday learned Manager Dick Howser's brain tumor was malignant. Part of the lumor was removed in a three-hour operation in Kansas City. A prognosis on Howser, who is listed in fair condition, will not be made for at least two days, following a pathology re-

Prior to Tuesday night's game. which the Baltimore Orioles won 5-4, the Royals joined in prayer at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium for their ailing skipper. A Catholic priest presided over the ceremony.

"The game doesn't seem that important," Royals second baseman Frank White said, "cause you're talking about the real thing, which is life.

"As a player, you're not supposed to think about personal problems on the field no matter what they are. However, the more we talked about the situation, the more depressed we got. It was so sudden hearing the news about him. It shocked everybody. I can only hope there is a miracle left for him."

"The news was a shock, but Dick is a fighter." said interimmanager Mike Ferraro, a longtime friend of Howser, "He has never given up. Our prayers are with him."

Cal Ripken provided the winning margin in the game with a solo homer in the eighth inning. The homer. Ripken's 15th of the season, came off Bud Black, 4-5, with two out in the eighth inning and snapped a 4-4 tie. Don Aase, who pitched the final 1 2-3 innings, carned the victory to Improve to 4.3.

"It was a breaking ball up in the strike zone a little," Ripken

"Black seems to get me out a lot with the fastball and the breaking ball down and in. I wasn't looking for the pitch I got. I was ahead in the count looking for a pitch over the plate. I didn't hit it well, but when you bit down the line, you only need 310 feet."

Rookle Jim Traber hit two home runs for the Orioles, giving him three for the season.

A's 4, Red Sox 2

At Oakland, Joaquin Andujar combined with two relievers on a six-hitter and Dave Kingman keyed a three-run first inning with a two-run single to power the A's over the struggling Red Sox. Andujar. 6-2. gave up six hits over 7 1-3 innings. Tom Seaver fell to 4-8 overall and 2-2 with Boston.

Tom Candiotti, 9-7, allowed eight hits, struck out five and walked three, Richard Dotson, 7-10, absorbed the loss.

Tigers 3, Twins 0

At Detroit, Walt Terrell yielded three hits over 8 2-3 innings and John Grubb slugged a pair of home runs to lift the Tigers. Both Grubb blasts were off Twins loser Bert Blyleven, 9-9, who has now surrendered a major league-high 32 homers. Terrell struck out seven in raising his record to 9-8. Brewers 6, Angels 2

At Anaheim, Calif., Cecil Cooper drove in four runs to lead the Brewers and send the Angels to defeat for the fifth time in their last six games. Juan Nieves, 9-4. pitched five innings to earn the victory. Don Sutton, 8-7, suffered the defeat.

Mariners 8, Blue Jays 7

At Seattle, Phil Bradley singled home Spike Owen with two out in the 12th inning to give the Mariners the victory, Jerry Reed pitched the final two innings to improve to 3-0. Blue Jays reliever Bill Caudill dropped to 2-2.

thing" at hand. "But the game doesn't seem that important ... 'cause you're talking about the real thing. which is life," he added.

Mike Ferraro, the Royals' third-base coach and a longtime friend of Howser's, was named interim manager last week and will guide the team for the remainder of the season.

After complaining of neck and headaches for two weeks. Howser was admitted to the hospital Thursday - two days after guiding the American League to its second All-Star Game victory in 15 years.

Royals spokesman Dean Vogelaar said Howser's family wanted to extend a "sincere heartfelt thanks" to the people who have been calling and expressing their concern for the Royals manager the relatives.

Virginia's 8-Point Outburst Derails Central Florida AAU

The Virginia Stars scored the first eight points of the second half and never looked back en route to a 73-53 victory over Seminole Youth Sports Association of Central Florida in losers' bracket play at the AAU/USA Junior Olympic 14 and Under National Tournament Tuesday at Roanoke, Va.

The loss is the second for SYSA of Central Florida which will play in the consolation tournament beginning today. SYSA led by as many as eight points in the first half before Virginia came back to take a 30-29 halftime lead.

Virginia took command by scoring the first eight points in the second half.

Jennifer Clark was high for SYSA with 10 points while Oviedo's Suzanne Hughes tossed in eight, Kiesha Maxwell added seven. Sanford's Liz Long contributed six and Longwood's Tracy Brandenburg chipped in with five.

In the 12 and under consolation bracket, SYSA of Central Florida dropped a 36-30 decision to West Virginia. Behind a pressing defense. SYSA pulled within 32-30 with 27 seconds left then fouled to stop the clock. West Virginia then made the free throws to sew up the win.

Oviedo's Betsy Hughes led the way for SYSA with 12 points while Kelly Hartman added seven.

Forest Hills Tops Seminole, 11-3

Tampa Forest Hills and Miami each picked up victories Tuesday night as the rain-delayed Pony Baseball Bronco Tournament opened at the West Seminole Pony Baseball Complex.

Tonight, Seminole and West Seminole play at 6 while Miami and Forest Hills meet at 8 in the double-elimination Forest Hills knocked off Seminole, 11-3, scoring two runs in the first inning and four runs in the third to take charge of the game. "They hit the ball and we didn't," Seminole manager Dave Desabrais said the game which was delayed three hours by wet grounds.

Paul Thompson had two singles and Jeremy Chanut chipped in a single.

In the second game, powerful Miami jumped to a 6-0 lead en route to a 12-2 win in a game stopped after five innings due to the slaughter rule.

Jets Sign First-Round Pick

Offensive tackle Mike Haight, the New York Jets' first-round draft pick, agreed Tuesday to terms on a series of one-year contracts, the team announced.

Haight is the fourth NFL first-round pick to sign and was expected to join the team Wednesday afternoon after taking a flight from his lowa home in the morning.

"We are happy it is settled and Mike can get right to work." Jets coach Joe Walton said. "It is to his advantage that he can get right into the system and learn passblocking techniques. Reporting on time can do nothing but help him and us."

By signing Haight, the Jets avoided a lengthy holdout by their top pick like they went through last year when wide receiver Al Toon stayed unsigned until after the first regular-season game.

The Jets and Haight's agent. Jack Mills. had been at an impasse, with the Jets reportedly offering a deal worth $1.030 million over four years and Mills asking for

$1.3 million over the same period for his client, the 22nd pick in the draft. The deal was worked out in a face-to-face meeting in Mills' Boulder. Colo., office between the agent and the Jets treasurer Steve Guttman. who had handled the negotiations from the

The agreement leaves New York with two unsigned draft picks, second-rounder Doug Williams and seventh-rounder Bob White. Both are offensive tackles.

With most of the 28 training camps open. 209 of 335 drafted players had been signed. Six second-round picks and 13 thirdrounders have come to terms.

New York Glants coach Bill Parcells warned that time is growing short for his four high draft choices who are unsigned one week into training camp.

The team's fourth second-round draft choice, safety Greg Lasker, reached agreeement Monday and practiced for the first time Tuesday.

"A couple of guys in a couple of positions will be running out of time soon." Parcells said. "I feel sorry for them, I really do. They don't know what's going to happen to them when they get here.

"I don't really know what these guys can do. it's their job to show me. I wouldn't be surprised if it cost at least one or two of them a spot."

Chicago Bears coach Mike Ditka sald he likes the draft choices who are in training camp and has little to say about the two who have not arrived.

Receivers David Williams and Lew Barnes, and tackle Paul Blair have made strong impressions on Ditka.

Martina Plays To Applause In Homecoming

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) -Never in all her years did Martina Navratilova experience such a day.

In what amounted to a dazzling exhibition by a virtuoso, she danced around the court, the single focus of all eyes and hands Tuesday in her first Federation Cup match.

Every point she won was greeted with applause, to the point of slowing down play, and in a highly unusual gesture, her opponents asked her to pose for pictures with them after she had finished toying with them.

The return of Martina Navratilova to her homeland of Czechoslovakia after an 11-year absence was complete. For all the doubts she carried with her from her adopted America, she was greeted warmly, the way one would welcome a heroine.

The score of her first match never was a matter of concern, only the reaction of the people. And from the first moment Navratilova stepped onto the court at Stvanice Stadium, the affection of the fans was evident.

"I really didn't know what to expect." Navratilova said. "I told friends before I came here I thought everybody would be friendly and nice. but I didn't think it would be as warm as it has been. If I did something special they would get really excited. I had to slow down between points because they were still clapping for the last point, and that just doesn't happen very often.'

In a match which rates among the easiest she has played. Navratilova overwhelmed Xinyi Li, 6-1, 6-0, to provide the clinching point for the United States in its opening round match against China.

After a half-hour break, Navratilova returned with Pam Shriver to register a 6-2. 6-0 victory over Xlufen Pu and Lilan Duan to complete a 3-0 sweep.

Following each of the matches, the Chinese women asked Navratilova to pose with them for pictures.

"The Chinese are so thrilled to be here," Navratilova said modestly when asked for an explanation. "They don't play that much international tennis. They may have asked the same thing if they played someone else."

The match was played on the outside Court 1, which seats only about 800 people, ostensibly for television purposes. People unable to get a seat lined the outside of the court as deep as they could get, and others were hanging over the ledge and standing on stairways of the adjoining Center Court.

Navratilova, obviously overjoyed at her reception, warmed up to the crowd and following the singles she amiled broadly and waved. After the doubles, she blew kisses as she walked off the

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) - As 33-year-old, 14-year professional tennis tour veterans and the oldest players in the 1986 U.S. Professional Championships, Guillermo Vilas and Harold Solomon are enormously popular with the knowledgable crowds at the Longwood Cricket Club.

But while Argentine poet-bachelor Vilas was winning - handily over a man a decade his junior - and talking of playing "another 20 years," family man and former players' union head Solomon was losing and talking about life after tennis.

"One thing is to be a veteran. It's another thing to feel like a veteran," Vilas told the packed news conference after dropping a first set tiebreaker then storming back to crunch unseeded Michael Robertson of South Africa, 6-7 (3-7), 6-0, 6-1 in a featured second round match Thursday even-

LIVINGSTON, N.J. (UPI) -Australian Wally Masur railled to defeat sixth-seeded Brian Teacher, 4-6, 7-5. 7-5. Tuesday to register the only upset in second-round action in the $125,000 Volvo Tennis championships. Masur, mixing up his game well between baseline play and the net, wiped out 4-5 deficits in each of the second and third acts.

"Conditions were completely differeent here because I just came back from our Davis Cup match with England where we played on grass," Masur said. "The heat and humidity was much higher for this match and the court was very quick. Brian had a letdown at the end of the second and third sets and I was able to pick up my game."

New Hero Emerges From Clay

I have a new tennis hero. I'll bet that if you watched the U.S. Davis Cup match with Mexico you have a new one, too. His name is Tim Mayotte but Sunday afternoon on the slow clay courts in Mexico City and before 20,000 blood-thirsty Mexican partisans, his name might have well as been El Toro. They not only wanted Mayotte's tail and ears, they wanted the Davis Cup victory over the U.S. They got neither because this young, strongwilled American fought off three match points and won this dramatic quarterfinal match against Mexico's young Leonardo Lavelle. The scores were a gut-wrenching 6-4, 3-6, 0-6, 6-4, 9-7. It took over four hours, and out of the dust of the red clay courts a new U.S. tennis hero was born. Tim Mayotte was proud to play for the U.S. In fact he said after the match that this was the biggest match of his life and the proudest moment. Heavy stuff from one who is ranked No. 10 in the world and who has been to the semifinals at Wimbeldon.

Earlier this past year Mayotte won the title at the Stella Airtos grass court tournament in England and then came back a week later to get to the quarterfinals at Wimbeldon, Yet. this Davis Cup match meant more to him. I liked that. I think we all liked that.

Leonardo Lavelle is not a household name. On any other surface and in any other situation Mayotte would have had him for lunch.

Mayotte is a fine grass court player and does well on hard courts but clay is not his surface. He seemed lost at times and his footwork was not that of a sure-footed clay courter. He fell short in those departments but he did not fall short in the heart and mind. He showed courage and fight and because of this will to win he prevailed.

The U.S. barely got out of Mexico with the win. It was hard fought but the bottom line is, we win. Now it's on to the semifinals against Australia.

This writer would like to see this same team play the semis against the Aussies. I'll admit that I shuddered when this team was announced. Brad Gilbert and Mayotte were to play the singles. Both are fast court players and neither does well on clay. Both are serve and volley players, not baseliners.

Actually, I thought that Jimmy Arlas and Aaron Kricksteln would have been better choices. Those two are clay, courters and good ones. Instead the Davis Cup committee chose Gilbert and Mayotte. Well it turned out to be a good choice. Now against the Australia team they will be right at home. On grass in Australia or on hard courts in the U.S. we should prevali - especially if Mayotte and Gilbert play.

The doubles, of course, is handled by Ken Flack and Robert Sequseo, only the best doubles team in the world. It was great seeing a new face and particularly such a fighter and gentleman as Tim Mayotte. It almost makes you forget John. uh, whats his name?

Cook Of The Week

An Outdoorsman At Heart His Cooking Is Not Of The Ordinary

By Dorothy Greene Herald Correspondent

When he's not spoiling his precoclous little poodle, Gabby, or cooking up a feast for hundreds, our Cook of the Week. C.O. "Dick" Jones, is lavishing some tender loving care on his glorious garden of Hibiscus. Of the 5,000 varieties of this decorative blossom. Jones nurtures more than 50 kinds in his backyard and is quick to share their enviable beauty with friends and neighbors.

Not only does Jones have a way with flowers, but he is also a pro at the stove, where he can please a crowd with very little effort. His cooking is not of the ordinary, and he was hard pressed to come up with specific measurements, but was willing to let go of one or two "secrets" to his success. A hunting enthusiast, Jones has been cooking for fellow hunters for years and hearty meals are the order of the day. Explaining one of his specialties. White Bacon (salt pork), Jones says, "I cook 40 or 50 pounds of that at a time. After slicing it, I put it in a big pot, cover it with water, and add pure cane syrup until the color of the water is a light brown. Bring it to a boil for a minute and a half, then pour the water off. Put it in a pan and fry it, and it's just like smoked meat. I've had women come up to me and say, 'Now, how did you do that?"

Originally from Roanoke, Va., Jones has been a Floridian since the age 8, and recalls "growing up right across the river near the Florida Power & Light plant. I went to school in Benson Springs, which is now Enterprise, and finished high school in DeLand." As a young man, Jones' spare time was taken up with hunting, fishing and athletics. "Softball, mostly."

city championship one year."

The other half of the Jones team is his wife, Joyce, whom "Dick" met when she was sweet 16. Married in 1942, the Joneses are looking forward to their 45th anniversary next February, and are especially proud of their three beautiful daughters. Suzanne (Mrs. Jlm) McKenzle of Windermere, Pam (Mrs. Paul) Fileger of Huntsville, Ala., and Robin Jones, who Joyce and Dick call their "extra bonus," having been born to them 20 years after their second child. A grandson, Josh, 16, and two lovely granddaughters, Lori, 21, and Christi, 17, also share a very special place in their hearts. along with two fine sons-in-law.

Jones has seen his share of military service during World War II and can relate many experiences while serving his country. As a member of the National Guard. Jones was inducted into the service in 1939. After a 6-year stint with the Guard, he left to work for FP&L in Miami. When the war started, he was recalled to the military and served with the Air Force for three years, then transferred to the infantry as a foot soldier in the South Pacific.

Now retired from the Seaboard Coastline Railroad, Jones spends gardening and cooking. "I guess ready." the cooking started when I was too. There were times when his expertise to the festivities.

Exercising his passion for the outdoors. Jones has been devoting many years to the raising of Hibiscus and can be found amongst the dozens of potted plants carefully pruning, grafting, cutting, clipping and watering. He has been a member of the Hibiscus Society "for ages." he says, "and there are chapters in 21 countries. Some of the members in the southern part of the state take summer trips to Australia to bring back new varieties. They just brought back one that's a deep, deep lavendar." Grafting is a specialty that Jones does frequently in order to increase his stock, and a 2-quart casserole. Top with he has as many as six different cheese. Bake in a 350° oven flowers on one bush. Make Crowd Pleasers

NEW YORK (UPI) - One of the things that strikes fear into the hearts of otherwise confident cooks is the prospect of preparing food for what looks a lot like the masses.

Somehow, that time-tested recipe for 4 or 6 starts seeming frayed and dangerous when applied to a dinner party. Even going from sit-down to buffet fails in the most extreme cases to knock out the anxiety.

Michele Evans, a veteran of 11 cookbooks including "Fearless Cooking for Men" and "Fearless Cooking for Company," focuses her acquired wisdom on this trauma. The result is "Fearless Cooking for Crowds" (Times Books, $18.95).

With a no-nonsense, nohysteria approach. Evans gives a wealth of pointers and more than a few great recipes serving anywhere from eight to 50 guests. Here, for instance, is her recipe for Fried Wontons Stuffed With Italian Sweet Sausage and Mozzarella.

ITALIAN WONTONS

34 pound Italian sweet sausages, removed from casings and crumbled

1 medium onion, minced l pound mozzarella, shredded 4 cup chopped fresh parsley

I pound wonton wrappers Peanut oll for deep frying

Cook the sausage with the onion in a large frying pan until the meat is completely cooked but not brown. Cool completely.

Combine the cheese and parsley with the sausage mixture. Put 1 rounded teaspoon of the mixture into the center of a wonton wrapper. Brush a little water along two inside edges of the wonton. Fold the wonton over and press slightly to seal

Bring the two pointed ends of the wonton up over the stuffed center and press together. Assemble the remaining wontons in the same manner.

Heat 2 inches of peanut oil in a deep pot to about 370 degrees. Fry the wontons, about 6 at a time, until they are golden brown all over. Drain on paper towels. Serve the wontons immediately, or keep warm in a low oven.

The wontons can also be cooled, wrapped in aluminum foil and frozen. To reheat them, place on a baking sheet in a preheated 350-degree oven for 15 minutes.

This recipe yields 48 wontons. enough to serve about 8 people. It can be doubled easily to make 96 wontons, enough for 16

Summer Vegetables Are 'Best'

As most of you have already discovered vegetables cooked by microwave are the "best."

Because of the short cooking time and the very small amount of water used, the nutrients and flavor are retained. The color, texture and taste is enhanced.

When vegetables are washed before cooking, it is usually not necessary to add more water.

Cover the vegetables with a tight-fitting lid or use plastic wrap that is vented on one corner. Allow 6-8 minutes per pound of fresh vegetables.

The fresher the vegetable the quicker they micro-cook because the vegetable contains more favorite way of preparing it is natural moisture.

From Russia, With Kid Gloves guess. Only these communists

By Guy MacMillin

I hope you're watching "Comrades" each week on the PBS "Frontline" series. It's not often we see real communists up close on TV.

Not that I have any affection so rare around here. As a kid, I thought I spotted one. I watched "I Led Three Lives" every week, and Herb Philbrick was always finding communists - in schools, government, libraries, right out in the street.

We 5th graders started an Investigation. We suspected our teacher might be one. No particular reason, just that she was pretty tough. She was also the only adult we knew, other than our parents and their friends, and we gave them the benefit of the doubt. What they didn't tell you on "Happy Days" was that, in the 50s, we were all crazy. Years later I met a real communist here on an exchange visit from the Soviet Union. She was a bright young woman who edited a youth magazine. We got along famously at first. I told her I had reservations about things the Reagan administration had done; she told me she had reservations about things the Reagan administration had done. She told me all 270 million people in her country support her government's foreign policy. I told her either something had to be wrong with her or some of them. That's how I lost my communist friend. Back to "Frontline." It's one of the few remaining PBS shows underwritten by public-TV stations and their viewers, not by some corporation. So the programs can be controversial. If you're tired of documentaries about bugs in the desert, remember "Frontline" the next time you're asked to give $30 to public TV.

don't seem particularly dangerous. Each week, a different Soviet citizen is profiled: a town official, a player on a factory soccer team, an eye Devoting 12 weeks to profiles surgeon, a fashion designer, a for communists. It's just they're of communists is controversial, I draftee.

Winner Spends His Life Debunking

By Wendy Zents
WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Randi is a "hit man" for some of the nation's top scientists, exposing the tricks of professional psychies, seers and faith healers.

A magician by trade, the "Amazing Randi" knows a fake when he sees one.

'The scientist is not prepared for deception. When it comes to human chicanery, the magician is the only one who can deal with it." he says.

"I can walk into a department store, and I'll show you a shoplifter. I'm capable of spotting those things. I'm a professional charlatan.

Randl got his start as a debunker with the Committee for the Scientific Investigation of Claims of the Paranormal, a panel of skeptical philosophers. psychologists, physicists and astronomers.

"I've been called the committee's hit man. I'm the one who has to be called on to do the investigation and come up with the answers," he says.

Randi, 57, is so successful at debunking that the MacArthur Foundation recognized his craft Monday and gave him a $272,000 fellowship. commonly known as a "genius prize."

Randi says he plans to use the money from his MacArthur fellowship to update his computer equipment, hire a full-time assistant and most importantly, track down more fraud.

One of Randi's most prominent psychic casualties was self-styled psychic Uri Geller. Randi duplicated by trickery Geller's "supernatural" ability to bend spoons and showed appearing before crowds. parapsychologists how the professional psychic performed the Recently, Randi decided to take on faith healers. He had met people who, at the urging of certain evagelists, threw out their insulin, nitroglycerine tablets and cortisone medication they needed to stay

Randi showed how the Rev. Peter Popoff of Upland, Calif., used a radio transmitter to obtain information on members of the audience while appearing to be struck with divine intervention.

A videotape detailing what Popoff actually heard through a concealed earpiece and what he projected to the audience ran on Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show" this spring.

Popolf says the use of a radio transmitter and the detailed healing cards the audience fills out before each show are aids that help him do his job. The that in those areas that were actual healing, he says, comes from God.

Popoff declined to be in-Ira McCorriston, defended the criticism. We've crystallized that use of the transmitted information. "We make an announcement that if you want to be prayed for, bring your cards up. television program."

"(Popost's) feeling is that he realizes Randi is an atheist and a humanist that doesn't believe in God." he added.

Randi, a child prodigy bored with school, decided to become a professional magician at the age of 17 because he wanted to lick the thing he feared most -

Not everyone appreciates his cureer choice.

'Some people are determined to have their head in the sand," magicians, posing as psychics, he says with a sigh. "They've to a St. Louis laboratory and already decided that it is real convinced parapsychologists to and there's no way you're going study their special powers. He to tell them it's not real. You later revealed they were can't do anything about it except tell the truth.'

The Skeptical Inquirer, a quarterly magazine published from his home in Sunrise, Fla. every time it hits the stands,

"This is very sophisticated refuting fire-walking, astrology. poltergeists and other seemingly inexplicable happenings.

Paul Kurtz, chairman of the committee, compares the public's belief in the paranormal to ducks in a shooting gallery. No matter how many ducks you knock down, there will always be more popping up.

Gullibility is very deep. There is what I call the transcendental temptation. That's the desire of people to ... attribute things they can't explain to magical rauses." says Kurtz. a philosophy professor at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

Kurtz says the media fans the public's gullibility with uncritical coverage of psychies. If reporters want the other side, they should talk to the committee, he says.

"I've been interested in the paranormal for over 25 years. The thing that intrigued me was very popular, the public wasn't very informed," he says.

'Until we came on the scene. terviewed but his spokesman, there was very little effective critique." he says.

But Marcello Truzzi, a defector from Skeptical Inquirer, says he fears the publication has become We use the (radio) device for so critical that it blocks, instead security and for taping the of encourages, examination of the paranormal.

Truzzi left the journal after one year as editor and started his own publication. The Zetetic Scholar, to promote a dialogue between parapsychologists and scientists.

The majority of committee members seem to be more interested in discrediting than disproving. I see them as counterproductive," says Truzzi, a sociologist at Eastern Michigan University.

"The odds are that 90 percent of the wild new ideas are going to turn out to be wrong. The problem is sometimes you're wrong. We tend to forget that even when the phonograph was invented, the French Academy insisted it was a ventriloquist."

Randi says he tries to approach every psychic claim with the possibility that it might

John Palmer, a parapsychologist at the institute for Parapsychology in Durham. N.C., says the problem with skepties like Randi is they're asking the wrong question.

"What we're really dealing with in parapsychology is that we have a set of reported observations, which seem to transcend what could currently be accounted for by scientific theory. The question is really not. 'Do these things exist?' but. How do we explain them?

"I think that someone who calls themself a skeptic should adopt a very critical attitude of both sides of the explanation."

Despite his own research efforts. Palmer welcomes Randi's efforts to expose fraudulent psychics and seers.

When the claim goes beyond the data, then the people making the claim need to be shot down, he says.

The institute does a lot of rigorous studies of its own, conducting scientific experiments on extrasensory perception, psychokinesis and telepathy and publishing a journal of its findings.

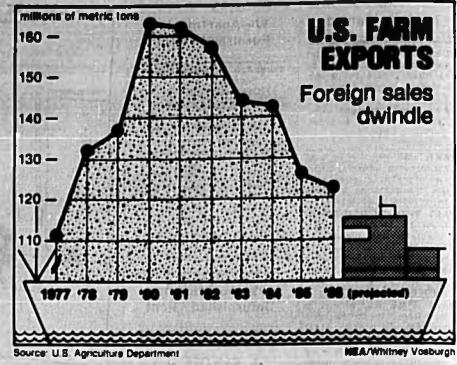

But the field of parapsychology suffers from the inability of scientists to duplicate many psychic feats in the laboratory and the unsuccessful search for a theory to account for the paranormal.

'ldon'i think it (parapsychology) has a great deal of credibility within science generally. I think that's been the case throughout the history of the field." Palmer says.

While parapsychologists struggle to gain professional respect, the public's embrace of the supernatural provides skepties like Randi with a lifelong challenge.

"As a magician, I've gained a certain amount of expertise. I know a trick when I see it." he says. "I feel that I owe it to the public to tell them what the Irith is about these things.

"I must admit I'm obsessed. I have a strong compulsion to

Authors Link Proper Diet As Key To Success For Executives

By JOHN DeMERS UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - After 33 moderately successful books, June Roth is hoping the bestseller lists have room for at least one more diet book or one more book on how to get rich.

To that end, the New Jersey nutritionist has teamed up with a California psychiatrist and turned out a volume that is both.

A kind of crash course in good eating, the highly readable volume draws its inspiration from the fact that poor nutrition can result in subpar job performance, wasted work hours and extended periods of inadequate concentration.

In accordance with their lowfat, high-energy approach to things, the two promote "double density nutrients" (food combinations that meet several needs at once) to combat stress and potential degenerative diseases.

Microwave cooking has an advantage for the cleanup crew. Food sticking to surfaces is not a common problem. Usually it is not necessary to grease a baking utensil, for example, unless the recipe calls for it.

A rice casserole dish for after-work supper or to take to a cookout is quickly put together. It is hearty, with Cheddar cheese, broccoli and cream of mushroom soup. Make ahead and reheat, if desired.

BROCCOLI-RICE BAKE

1/2 cup chopped onions

1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped broccoll 2 tablespoons water 15 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon butter or marga-1 can (10% ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup

2 cups cooked rice 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese MICROWAVE METHOD: In a 1-quart microwave-proof casserole dish, place water, salt and broccoli. Cover and cook on High (maximum power) for 5 minutes. Stir once during cooking time to break up pieces. Cook onions in butter in a 11/2-quart microwave-proof casserole dish on High for 4 minutes. Stir in soup, rice and broccoll. Top with cheese. Cook. covered, for 10 minutes on High. Rotate dish ¼ turn after 5 minutes of cooking. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings. CONVENTIONAL METHOD: Cook broccoli according to package directions. Drain. Cook onions in butter until soft but not brown. Stir in rice, soup and broccoli. Turn into a buttered shallow 11/2-quart casserole. Top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

CRUNCH TOMATOES 4 large ripe tomatoes

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

3 tablespoons finely chopped

1 cup crushed dry bread crumbs

14 teaspoon poultry seasoning ⅓ teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons butter, cut in

1/2 cup chopped roasted peanuts Remove stem end of tomatoes and scoop out center pulp and seeds. Place tomatoes in

8-inch-by-8-inch square baking dish. Set aside. Combine butter and onion in 1-quart casserole dish. Cover and microwave 21/2 to 31/2 minutes on High or until onions are transparent. Stir in bread crumbs, poultry seasoning and pepper. Mix well. Spoon stuffing mixture into tomatoes. Dot with remaining butter. Cover. Microwave 3 to 4 minutes on High or until skin begins to break and tomatoes are heated through. Sprinkle roasted pea-

8-ounce redfish fillets 2 eggs i pint Half and Half 6 ounces unsalted butter 1 cup flour 1/2 pint whipping cream 14 cup chopped green onions 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms

1/4 tsp salt

14 tsp white pepper

1/4 tap red pepper ¼ tap minced garlic

1 tap paprika 6 ounces crawfish, boiled. seasoned and peeled

Season redfish fillets with liberal amounts of sait, white pepper, red pepper and garlic. Beat together eggs, Half and Half and more of the same seasonings to make a batter.

Place butter in a skillet over medium heat. Dip fish in batter, then in flour. Brown in butter on both sides, about 3 minutes on each side. Place fish on plates and keep warm.

In a clean skillet, combine whipping cream, green onions, mushrooms, salt, white pepper, red pepper and garlie. Cook over high heat to a thick consistency. about three minutes.

Add paprika, stir and remove from heat. Add crawfish. Top fish fillets with crawfish sauce. Serves 2.

BARDINE PATE

2 cans (3 % ounces each) Norway sardines packed in oil, drained

3 tablespoons plain yogurt 3 tablespoons mayonnaise 1 1/2 teaspoons soy sauce 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice

Fresh paraley or dill for garnish

Assorted breads, crackers and vegetables

Lightly mash sardines with a fork. Combine remaining ingredients; mix in sardines. Garnish with parsley or dill. Serve chilled or at room temperature as a dip for assorted crackers and fresh vegetables.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes about I cup pate.

STUFFED PEAR

1 cinnamon graham cracker 1 medium ripe Bartlett pear 2 tablespoons coarsely shredded Cheddar cheese 2 tablespoons chopped pea-

1 tablespoon apricot preserves MICROWAVE METHOD: To prepare graham cracker crumbs. wipe counter top with damp cloth. Place rectangle of plastic wrap on counter, set graham cracker in center; cover with another rectangle of plastic film. Crush cracker finely using rolling pin (about 3 tablespoons of crumbs).

Cut pear in half lengthwise. With melon scoop or teaspoon. scoop out core of pear, making 2 scoops in each pear half. Set pear halves in microwave-proof dish. Sprinkle each half with 1 teaspoon cracker crumbs. Cover dish with piece of plastic wrap. turning corner back to vent. Cook in microwave oven 1 minute at High. Remove plastic wrap, lifting corner to release steam away from you. Put remaining crumbs, cheese, peanuts and preserves in small bowl; mix with fork. Spoon half of stuffing into each pear half. Cover dish with piece of plastic wrap turning corner back to vent. Cook in microwave oven 30 seconds at High. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 serv-

CONVENTIONAL METHOD: Stuff pear halves with other ingredients and bake in covered 1-quart casserole at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Food Authorities Speak Out On Supermarkets' New Roles

Light foods, fresh ingredients, low fat, reduced calories ... these are buzzwords that define major lifestyle influences of the Eighties. According to a group of leading food authorities who gathered recently to discuss today's food and supermarket trends, consumers need look no further than the local supermarket to create contemporary meals that cater to these important concerns.

"Today's supermarket is more than just a convenient place for one-stop shopping," said James L. Moody, Jr., Chairman of Food Marketing Institute, an association of food retailers and wholesalers in the United States and overseas. "It is becoming a nutrition center for the family, with healthful food and information about good eating habits.'

Quick to agree. Frieda Caplan, president of Frieda's Finest/Produce Specialties, the leading mass marketer of unusual and exotic fruits and vegetables, commented, "Today's supermarkets are doing a great job of educating consumers about unfamiliar foods. The nationwide influx of new ethnic groups wanting a taste of home has encouraged supermarkets to stock a tremendously wide range of specialty produce items."

Orient Is As Close As A Barbecue By Alleen Claire

NEA Food Editor

Looking for something different in grilled foods? Turn to the Far East.

Grilled foods have been a part of Asian cooking for centuries. Asia is the home of creations like satay, yakitori and Mongolian beef. Meats often are marinated in pungent combinations of flavors that tenderize.

Barbecuing in Korea and China was a practice introduced by roaming Mongol tribes.

In Thailand, grilling is thought to have developed from the wartime cooking practice of placing meat on long swords and roasting the meat over campfires. Spicy Thai Chicken is redolent of the six seasonings that distinguish Thai foods: corlander, red pepper, coconut, garlic, citrus juice and fish flavoring. A cool, crisp salad of cucumbers is typical accompaniment for Thai barbecued dis-

ORIENTAL PORK CHOPS 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
