

Package Tours Tailor Made For Senior Citizens

By Murray J. Brown
NEW YORK (UPI)—Travel and adventure are not the prerogatives of the young alone. In fact, surveys show an increasing number of America's "old folks" are eschewing the fireplace to go gallivanting to faraway places.

Some of these "senior citizens" venture forth on their own while others young in heart and spirit find group traveling more fun.

For those who have been putting off holidays abroad because they fear it may be too strenuous or lonely, there is a travel service which caters specifically to men and women in the 55 to 80 age group.

The American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association (AARP/NRTA) arrange package tours tailored to physical and other considerations of the older traveler.

Anyone 55 or over, retired or not, is eligible for membership in the AARP. Dues are $2 per year. It already has 850,000 members in the United States and overseas.

European tours run from 41 to 66 days and the all-inclusive rates range from $995 to $1,845. There are "Grand Circle" tours of England, Holland, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Austria and Monaco. Others cover the British Isles and Ireland, the Scandinavian nations, southern Europe and the Mediterranean, including Jordan and Lebanon or Israel.

According to Mrs. Ruth O. Lana, consultant and co-ordinator of national services for AARP, the travel service was initiated in 1956 because many AARP members found the pace of the usual group tour a little too taxing. The first year, she recalled, AARP's travel service sent 280 members to the continent. The following year the number doubled. In 1964, thousands of members signed on for almost 100 different tours, including 10 63-day round-the-world junkets by plane.

"Since warmth, congeniality and attention to personal needs are essential to travel enjoyment," Mrs. Lana said, "each group is limited to 30 persons."

Mrs. Lana said all AARP tour groups have carefully selected, multi-lingual expert guides. All tour directors also receive special training in traveling with older people.

Commie-Led Rebels Mass Against Marines

Flagship Joins Academy Fleet

By Paul Brookshire
"Wyndcrest II," a 66-foot twin diesel yacht, sailed into Sanford today to become the flagship of the Sanford Naval Academy.

The yacht, valued at $68,000, is a gift to the Academy from Roswell Miller, a wealthy New Yorker who has a winter home at Jupiter.

The Wyndcrest made its way to Sanford up the Intracoastal Waterway from Jupiter to Jacksonville and down the St. Johns River to Sanford.

Capt. John Williams and Chief William Holcomb, of the Academy, sailed the Wyndcrest to its new home.

J. P. Wiegars, of the Bernarr Macfadden Foundation, announced the gift of the yacht to the Academy here today. He said Miller had heard the Academy was looking for a boat and had contacted the Foundation.

Wiegars said the Wyndcrest was built in 1918 for the duPont family and was originally called "The Enterprise." It has been owned by Miller for the past 33 years.

The craft has a 12-foot beam and a draft of four feet, 9 inches. It sleeps 10 but the Academy will be able to accommodate 25 boys for weekend cruises, Wiegars said.

The yacht, of a rich mahogany finish, has been completely modernized. It has the latest sonar and ship-to-shore equipment. It is a 30-ton registered yacht and makes 17 knots at top speed.

Wiegars said the Wyndcrest will be flagship for 12 other boats now in the Sanford Naval Academy fleet. A dock is expected to be built at the Mayfair Inn, new home of the Academy, to house the craft.

The Wyndcrest will be used as a training ship and also for pleasure trips by midshipmen and their visiting parents.

Early 'Phone Action Promised

Seven GIs Die In Dominican Defense Action

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Rebel troops under Communist leadership today began massing forces north and south of the U.S. Marine defense perimeter here, U.S. military sources reported. The rebels had at least three tanks.

A military spokesman said the rebel strength included at least 300 rebel Dominican army troops and 12,000 armed civilians. He said some of them, armed with 50 caliber machine-guns, fired on a U.S. helicopter today.

The spokesman also reported the capture of a midget submarine at Point Torrelle, on the Ozama River that flows through Santo Domingo. The two-man submarine apparently was smuggling in arms for the rebels.

The spokesman said seven Americans have been killed thus far in the operation, and 49 wounded.

HARD CORE REDS — The latest intelligence reports said the rebel leadership included hard core Dominican Communists, and the spokesman said there were reports of Cuban Communists among them.

Opposing the rebels, he said, the Americans now have 14,000 troops ashore and about 5,000 in Navy ships offshore. They included 10,831 paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and more than 7,500 Marines.

CASH NEEDED — WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson asked Congress today to vote an additional $700 million to finance military operations in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

Johnson told more than 100 members of six key congressional committees that he was giving serious consideration to submitting a formal request later today and would do so unless there were serious objections from legislative leaders.

The President told the lawmakers that his proposal was "in no way routine" and that a vote for it would be "a vote to try to halt Communist aggression."

The action, he said, would join Congress with the President in telling the world that "Communist conquest shall not succeed."

PEACE PLAN — President Johnson will pull U.S. troops out of the Dominican Republic "the moment that the Organization of American States can present a plan that will bring peace on the island, and give some hope of stability of government."

The Chief Executive made the statement in a speech before a labor group even as the OAS met to consider a U.S. proposal which would have member Latin American nations send troops to the Dominican Republic to help keep the peace.

MANILA (UPI) — Despite recent anti-American outbursts in this country, Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal said today relations with the United States "have never been better."

Garment Strike
NEW YORK (UPI) — New York's huge garment industry, the clothes design and manufacturing center of the nation, today faced the possibility of a prolonged strike that could seriously delay production of fall fashions. The industry, always about six months ahead of the calendar, was struck Monday by some 10,000 office workers, shipping and stock clerks.

20-MPH Speed Limit Adopted By N. Orlando

By Donna Estes
North Orlando Village Council Monday night unanimously adopted an ordinance after three consecutive readings establishing a maximum speed limit of 20 miles per hour on all streets in the village except SR 434.

Included in the ordinance was a section designating all north and south streets as "through streets" at intersections and east-west streets as "yield right-of-way" intersections.

In other business, Mayor David G. Tilson urged that persons whose address labels are contained in garbage found at the village "trash only" dump be cited for violation of the village ordinance.

He pointed out that conviction of violation of said ordinance calls for a maximum fine of $200 and/or imprisonment up to 60 days.

He further urged citizens of the community to keep dogs on leashes or in pens and to have them properly inoculated against rabies. He announced that dogs attacking persons will be disposed of as "public menace."

Councilman Charles Rowell was authorized to look into the possibility of having stray dogs confined with a veterinarian and disposed of, if unclaimed, after three days.

It was voted to hire William Little, of Longwood, as village building and plumbing inspector until arrangements can be made for an inspector on a permanent basis. Application from qualified persons residing within the village will be accepted by Mayor Tilson.

Chimpanzees: Take Notice
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Senate passed a bill aimed at preventing chimpanzees and other pets from driving a motor vehicle in Florida.

The bill was proposed by Sen. Tom Whitaker, Tampa, after a chimp, with his owner at his side, drove down the streets of Tampa as a publicity gag one day.

Highway patrolmen were frustrated in penalizing anyone because present law prohibits unauthorized persons from operating a car, but doesn't say anything about animals.

The Whitaker bill, which now goes to the House, prohibits any but authorized "persons" from driving a vehicle and penalizes the car owner if he authorizes its use.

$900,000 Project
CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Army Corps of Engineers today announced the award of a $974,236 contract to the Smith and Sapp Construction Co. of Orlando, for construction of two maintenance buildings at the Merritt Island space port.

'Fire' Space Shot Slated Today

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A 460-minute countdown began on schedule today for a 32-minute up-and-down space probe which will report on the inferno astronauts face during re-entry in Apollo moonship.

The countdown for the 200-pound Project Fire spacecraft began at 8:40 a.m. The thermometer-laden probe vehicle was set to make a quick hop into space and then take a 25,000-mile-an-hour dive back to earth today.

The spacecraft was perched atop a silvery Atlas rocket. Launch was scheduled for 4:20 p.m. (EST) but engineers were prepared to wait as late as 12:19 a.m. Wednesday, if necessary.

Weather in the re-entry area over the South Atlantic was the only questionable item. Good visibility is needed to enable telescopes to track the blazing craft as it plunges toward the sea.

The Atlas will boost the payload about 500 miles into space and then a small solid-fueled rocket will ram it back into the thick layer of air blanketing earth.

The cone-like probe, similar in shape to the three-man Apollo craft, was expected to generate a 30,000-degree fire-ball as it plows into the atmosphere about 5,130 miles southeast of the Cape.

Project Fire was designed to find out how much heat from the hot layer of gases just ahead of the blunt heat shield is actually felt by the craft, itself.

Today's shot was the last of two in the $31 million re-entry research program. The first flight April 14, 1964, showed that the heating on a flight the speed of a lunar return — 7,000 m.p.h. faster than re-entry from an earth orbit — was about the same or less than expected.

Program Manager David G. Stone said the findings of the first Project Fire shot are classified but he said "Apollo" got more confident with the results.

The Apollo heat shield, designed by engineers with only laboratory tests to work with, is already in projection. Stone said no changes are necessary as a result of Project Fire's measurements.

Today's mission was designed to confirm Fire-I's readings and to make a more thorough study of high-speed re-entry heating. To make its measurements, the spacecraft has 258 thermometers woven into its six-layer heat shield. In addition, it carries three sensors that peer through quartz windows at heat radiating from the fireball.

All of the readings will be relayed back to ground stations before impact. The probe will not be recovered.

Milwee said if the reworked plan is not approved by Keppel's office, the school board may ask for a consultant to work out further plans.

A bid not to exceed $10,000 from the Allied Chemical Corporation for mixed fire ant bait was accepted today by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners in a special meeting.

Allied was the only bidder on $4,900 pounds of the poisonous bait to be used in the eradication program now under way in Seminole County. Allied bid .1178 cents per pound.

POSTPONED WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate commerce committee today postponed for a day its expected approval of legislation to require a health hazard warning on cigarette packages.

Sen. Mack Cleveland, of Sanford, shepherded the measure to 39-0 passage, six more than required to submit the proposition to the voters of Florida in November.

IT WAS A BIG DAY for RVAH-1 last Friday with change of command ceremonies and a real bang-up party that night.

For the COC ceremonies Mrs. Billie Taft, (whose husband Cdr. Jesse Taft was relieved), looked lovely in a flight green outfit with a matching hat. Mrs. Ann Matula, whose husband, Cdr. Val Matula is now the new skipper of Heavy One) was most attractive in white with contrasting black accessories.

Friday night, RVAH-1 officers and their ladies gathered at the ballroom to honor their departing skipper and his wife, with a delicious buffet dinner and the music of an outstanding band.

Highlight of the party was the entertainment planned by squadron officers with Lcdr. Ed Williams as master of ceremonies. Lcdr. Joe Gilmore did his famous "honey-moon" skit and then five fellows and one gal presented "Before and After."

Taking part in this hilarious skit were Lcdr. Jim Bell, Lcdr. Duffy Hutton, Lt. Bill Sherrill, Lt. Carl Gronquist, Lt. (jg) Dave Johnson and Kay Recknor.

As a most delightful surprise, Cdr. Matula, on behalf of all the squadron officers, presented the Tafts with a beautiful silver punch bowl set.

But more surprises were in store and Cdr. Taft had one up his sleeve. In his last official act as commanding officer, Cdr. Taft pinned Lieutenant's bars on Bill Sherrill and then Cdr. Matula pinned Bob Recknor with his Lieutenant Junior grade bars.

Lcdr. Jim Bell and his wife Holly received a special gift for their new daughter, Ann. As farewells were said to the old skipper, farewells were also given the new skipper, for shortly after the party the entire squadron departed for an eight month deployment cruise.

A FASHION SHOW and coffee are being sponsored by the CPO Wives Club next Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon at the NAS Ballroom.

Featured will be the very latest spring and summer styles in Beehive Fashions. Commentator and stylist will be Miss Barbara Willford.

Members of the CPO Wives Club and their guests are invited but are requested to make reservations before Friday. Call Mrs. Jack Turner (she's in the phone book) and tell how many guests you are bringing.

Serving on the committee for the fashion show are Mrs. Shirley Simas, Mrs. Thelma Conkle and Mrs. Jan Turner.

CPO Wives will observe Mother's Day this year with a "Mother's Day Picnic" Sunday at Lake Golden. Members are requested to bring a picnic lunch and, of course, bring your mother, if possible. Making arrangements for this event are Mrs. L. E. Fay and Mrs. Phillip Simpson.

Chief's wives who baked goodies for the USO during the month of April were Mrs. Nellie Morrell, Mrs. Mary Jane Webber and Mrs. Gloria Simpson.

Next board meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. S. Bernal at 8 p. m., May 12.

DINNER AND BRIDGE was the occasion for RVAH-1 Officer's Wives last week but the real news was the fancy desserts—do mente pie and cheesecake! The main course was chicken.

The group gathered at the home of Ann Fall in Ravenna Park with Gloria Gehrig as co-hostess.

An arrangement of daffodils formed the centerpiece at the dinner table and Susan Ryan's mother, Mrs. Betty Brees, was a special guest. Susan did herself proud in her mother's presence and took high in the bridge game, receiving a bottle of perfume as her prize.

clubs in nearly every outfit the Navy Wives Club has found its ranks dwindling. In a hopeful attempt to remedy the situation, the club is having a membership coffee at 10 a. m. Friday in the Navy Wives Club Room and all Navy enlisted wives are invited. A particular invitation is issued to wives of VAH-12, which has no squadron club at present. But all other wives, even if you belong to a squadron club, are urged to give consideration to attending the 211 coffee. This group represents all enlisted Navy wives everywhere.

Sponsor of the club is Mrs. Chandler Swanson, wife of the commanding officer of the station and she and Mrs. Robert Cooper, president of 211, will be there to greet you. The club has two meetings each month, one a business meeting on the second Monday of each month and the other purely a social event held on the fourth Monday. The group undertakes many charitable events and attempts to be of service to all Navy wives in time of need or trouble. Socially, they promote friendship and fellowship among wives of Navy men with picnics, luncheons, covered dish suppers and other events. All enlisted wives from seaman to chief are invited to join and attend.

REMEMBER THE KENNEDYS?

Jetstream recently received an announcement of the birth of the Kennedy's eighth child, a boy who has been named Daniel William! Chief Robert Kennedy and his wife Nelda and their youngsters lived in Sanford for several years before he retired last July. During that time they were attached to Heavy Three, Nine, Eleven and Det 8.

In addition to their new son, there is also a new grandson in the family, the note adds. If you want to send a note of congratulations or get in touch with the Kennedy's the address is 3920 Lincoln Avenue, Corpus Christi, Texas.

GETTING AWAY from it all is the aim of the RVAH-13 Enlisted Wives Club members who have invited their husbands on a picnic to be held at Lake Golden Saturday beginning at 10 a. m.

The slogan for the event is "leave the kids home" and relax for a day with your spouse. Each member is expected to pack a lunch of her self and her "guest" and cold drinks will be furnished by the club. Games are planned and course, there will be swimming, or just sunning on the beach.

Sandy Harrington and Marge Harvey are in charge of this event and they would like for you Thirteen wives to call them and make your reservations so they will know how many to expect.

WASPS in the DeBary Mansion? There were last week—but not the buggy kind. These WASPS were the Wives of Aircraft and Support Personnel of Sanford and they took a tour through the historic old mansion which is now the headquarters of the Florida Federation of Art.

Mrs. Edith Brooks, president and Mrs. Archie MacNaughton, vice president showed the ladies through the galleries lined with pictures created by local artists, pointing out along the way some of the original furniture once used by the famous Count Frederick DeBary and many interesting features of the architecture.

Of particular interest to the tourists was the old ice storage house near the main house. Here the Count stored ice which he had brought down from Jacksonville in his ships to be used in his home. Smaller pieces were transferred to the antique ice chest which still stands in the kitchen of the mansion.

The ladies were much interested in the fact that the Count had devised a means of having "running water" in the mansion, by placing a reservoir on top of the house. This was fed by a windmill which pumped the water from the ground and by this pressure was used

United Church Women To Have May Fellowship

The Sanford Council of United Church Women will observe May Fellowship Day this Friday with services to begin at 11 a.m. Holy Cross Episcopal Church will be hostess for the day under direction of Mrs. Fred A. Dyson and her committee.

A light luncheon will be served at noon in the Parish House with women of the churches affiliated with the Sanford Council to provide sandwiches. Dessert and beverages will be provided by women of the Episcopal church.

Mrs. Randall Chase of Holy Cross Church will be in charge of the program. Serving with her will be Mrs. H. L. Nielsen of Christ Methodist Church, Mrs. H. S. Foden of the Salvation Army, and Mrs. Clifford McKibbin of First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Harry Echeberger will sing "American the Beautiful." Judge Vernon Mize, guest speaker, has chosen as theme for his address, "People, Poverty, Plenty."

Mrs. Vernon Fuller, local president who urges attendance at the service and luncheon, advises that plans are made so that the noon hour will afford opportunity for all to share ideas and constructive advice in order that efforts of the local council may be more effective for betterment of the community and for various projects supported by the church women.

LBJ Lays Prestige On Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration placed its prestige on the line today against any over-all increase in steel prices.

It said in a new productivity study that the steel industry could afford a wage increase up to three per cent of payroll without raising prices.

President Johnson urged management and leaders of the steelworkers' union to read the report with care and reflect on its findings. He said the nation's prosperity depended on a non-inflationary wage agreement and overall stability in steel prices.

There was no immediate comment on the study from big steel producers. Roger M. Hough, chairman of U. S. Steel, the country's top producer, made no direct reference to price increases Monday during a report to the company's annual stockholders meeting in Chicago.

He contended however, that labor costs have been growing at double the rate of productivity and said that profits "are not adequate if the steel industry is to make its full contribution to its stockholders, its employees and the economic growth of the nation."

I. W. Abel, the new president of the 480,000-member steelworkers' union, said in Pittsburgh that "the thinking of the government in these things always has some impact, but I don't think anyone can predict the extent at this time."

The 67-page study by the President's Council of Economic Advisers, released Monday, added up to a strong case against price increases for the basic industrial metal.

Major steel companies are negotiating this summer with the steelworkers over new contracts. An interim agreement extended the strike deadline from May 1 to Sept. 1 and provided a "down payment" pay increase of 11.5 cents an hour—about 2.7 per cent.

New Remapping Plan Offered

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Another congressional redistricting proposal has been sent to the Legislature from the state's badly split delegation in Washington.

The latest plan, third to go to the Legislature, was authored by Congressman James Hiley, of Sarasota, and would eliminate the seats of Congressmen Paul Rogers, West Palm Beach Democrat, and Ed Gurney, Winter Park Republican.

Orange County, home of Gurney, would be moved from the 11th district to the Fifth district of Rep. A. Syd Herlong, of Leesburg.

T. G. Johnson Succumbs At 78

Theodore G. Johnson, 78, of Eureka Hammock, South Sanford Avenue, died at 9:25 p.m. Sunday at his home.

Born July 18, 1886, in Galesburg, Ill., he had lived in Sanford for the past 50 years.

He attended the Church of God of Prophecy. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and was employed by Atlantic Coast Line as a switchman. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of Sanford American Legion Post 53.

Never Let The Boss Find Out

There is no truth to the idea that judges have no sense of humor.

While examining a prospective Juror Monday, Circuit Judge Tom Waddell Jr. entertained a request from the man's employer that he be disqualified as necessary to operation of his business.

Waddell told how that reminded him of this story: A prospective juror asked to be disqualified because he did not want to take the time off from his job to sit on the jury.

"Do you mean to tell me," the judge said, "that your company can't operate without you?"

"No, Your Honor," the juror replied, "they can get along without me very well . . . but I don't want them to find it out."

Mother Superior Defies Order To Close Shelter

VICTORIA, B. C. (UPI)—A gentle, 75-year-old Roman Catholic nun here said she will risk excommunication rather than obey an order to close her animal shelter today.

London-born Mother Cecilia Mary, an Anglican convert to Roman Catholicism in the 1920s, was told by church authorities she must get rid of the 40 homeless dogs, cats, goats and other animals she has cared for since 1962 or face disciplinary action.

Monsignor Michael O'Connell, chancellor of the Victoria diocese, said disobedience by Mother Cecilia and the five sisters who help run the Good Shepherd Animal Shelter would mean the sisters probably will be considered "not in good standing" by the church.

He said the church's decision was made because "animal welfare work on such a scale has interfered with their lives."

He added that there were complaints to church authorities from residents living nearby that the shelter was a nuisance.

Despite the closure order, Mother Cecilia said she will keep the shelter open and "ring it with animal lovers" should church authorities turn up to enforce the order.

"The church doesn't own the shelter and has no control over it," said Mother Cecilia. Since she opened the shelter three years ago, Mother Cecilia and the five sisters have cared for more than 1,200 abandoned and homeless animals.

She has borne a great proportion of the cost personally, using up most of a $60,000 legacy left her by her father.

Donations also have come in from many parts of Canada, the United States and Europe.

Cub Pack 560 Has Meeting In DeBary

By Mrs. Ritchie Harris
Badges of advancement were awarded at the recent meeting of DeBary Cub Scout Pack 560 held the Community Methodist Church. Members of the pack come from DeBary, Deltona, and Enterprise.

Awards, presented by Cubmaster Russell Rudd, went to Leonard Laird, wolf; Donald Neyer, wolf; Clifton Larsen, wolf and gold arrow; Johnny Padgett, wolf; Kevin Laughlin, wolf; Joey Brenner, wolf, gold and silver arrow.

Gold arrows went to Roger Starnes and Mike Kelley and those receiving silver arrows were Terry Larsen, Gregory Craighton, Jack Cheney, Marty Hatchett, Ralph Trof and Ronald Perlick.

In business, the boys planned a goodwill trip to DeBary Manor to deliver cheer plants to the residents and announced that a plastic wares party will be held at 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday, at the Florida Power Clubhouse in Enterprise for benefit of the cub scout work.

Next meeting of the pack will be Saturday, May 29, with a picnic at Earl Brown Park in DeLand. Preceding the picnic, the cubs will go to Sanford to board the train for the trip to DeLand.

Club Election

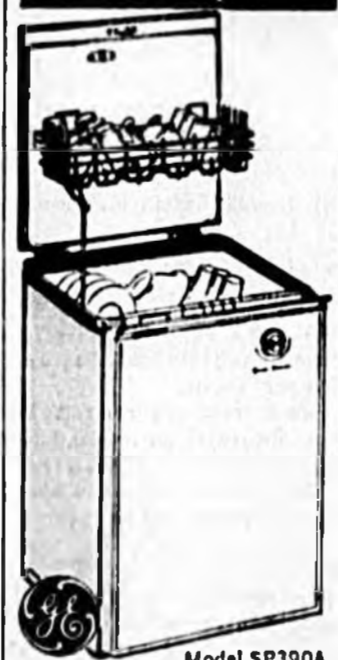

DeBary Arts and Crafts Club will have election of officers at the regular May meeting scheduled for 10 a.m. this Thursday at the DeBary Mansion House. Members are urged to be present for this important meeting.

Sign Of The Times

Seminole Joins U. S. Army

DeLAND (UPI)—Billy Cypress, whose Seminole ancestors battled the U. S. Army in the Everglades swamps, will be commissioned a reserve second lieutenant this month when he graduates from Stetson University.

Born in an open-air chickee in the Everglades, the 22-year-old Indian is believed to be the first of his tribe to graduate from a four-year university or receive a commission in the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC).

Cypress, who spoke no English until he was five years old, is a good student and will graduate with a major in English and a minor in education.

His ancestors battled the Army from 1835 to 1842 before most of them were relocated in Arkansas.

Only about 150 escaped deep into the Everglades at the end of the war.

Because of drainage of the swamp, forest fires and timber operations, most of some 1,200 descendants have been driven from the Everglades and live on government reservations. A few live along U. S. 41 which runs through the Everglades from Naples to Miami, and some still live in independent camps in the deep Everglades, or in commercial camps near Miami.

Ruby Cypress, Billy's mother, makes souvenir skirts, blouses and dolls for sale to tourists, while his stepfather wrestles alligators at a Fort Lauderdale tourist attraction.

Many Seminoles have been slow to throw off their old customs, but Cypress typifies an increasing contact with modern living.

His mother never attended school, but unlike some Seminoles had no objection to her son going, so he began classes at the Dania Reservation School in Southeast Florida.

He graduated from high school in 1961 in the top 10 per cent of his class and won a four year college scholarship from the Daughters of the American Revolution.

To help finance his college education, Cypress worked in the Stetson cafeteria, sold Bibles, worked in a library and was employed by the Bureau of Indian Affairs in West Hollywood for two summers.

One of his tasks with the Bureau of Indian Affairs was to gather information on Seminole customs, legends and rituals for use in a history.

He talked to the tribal medicine men, a close, secretive group fast dying out among the Seminoles.

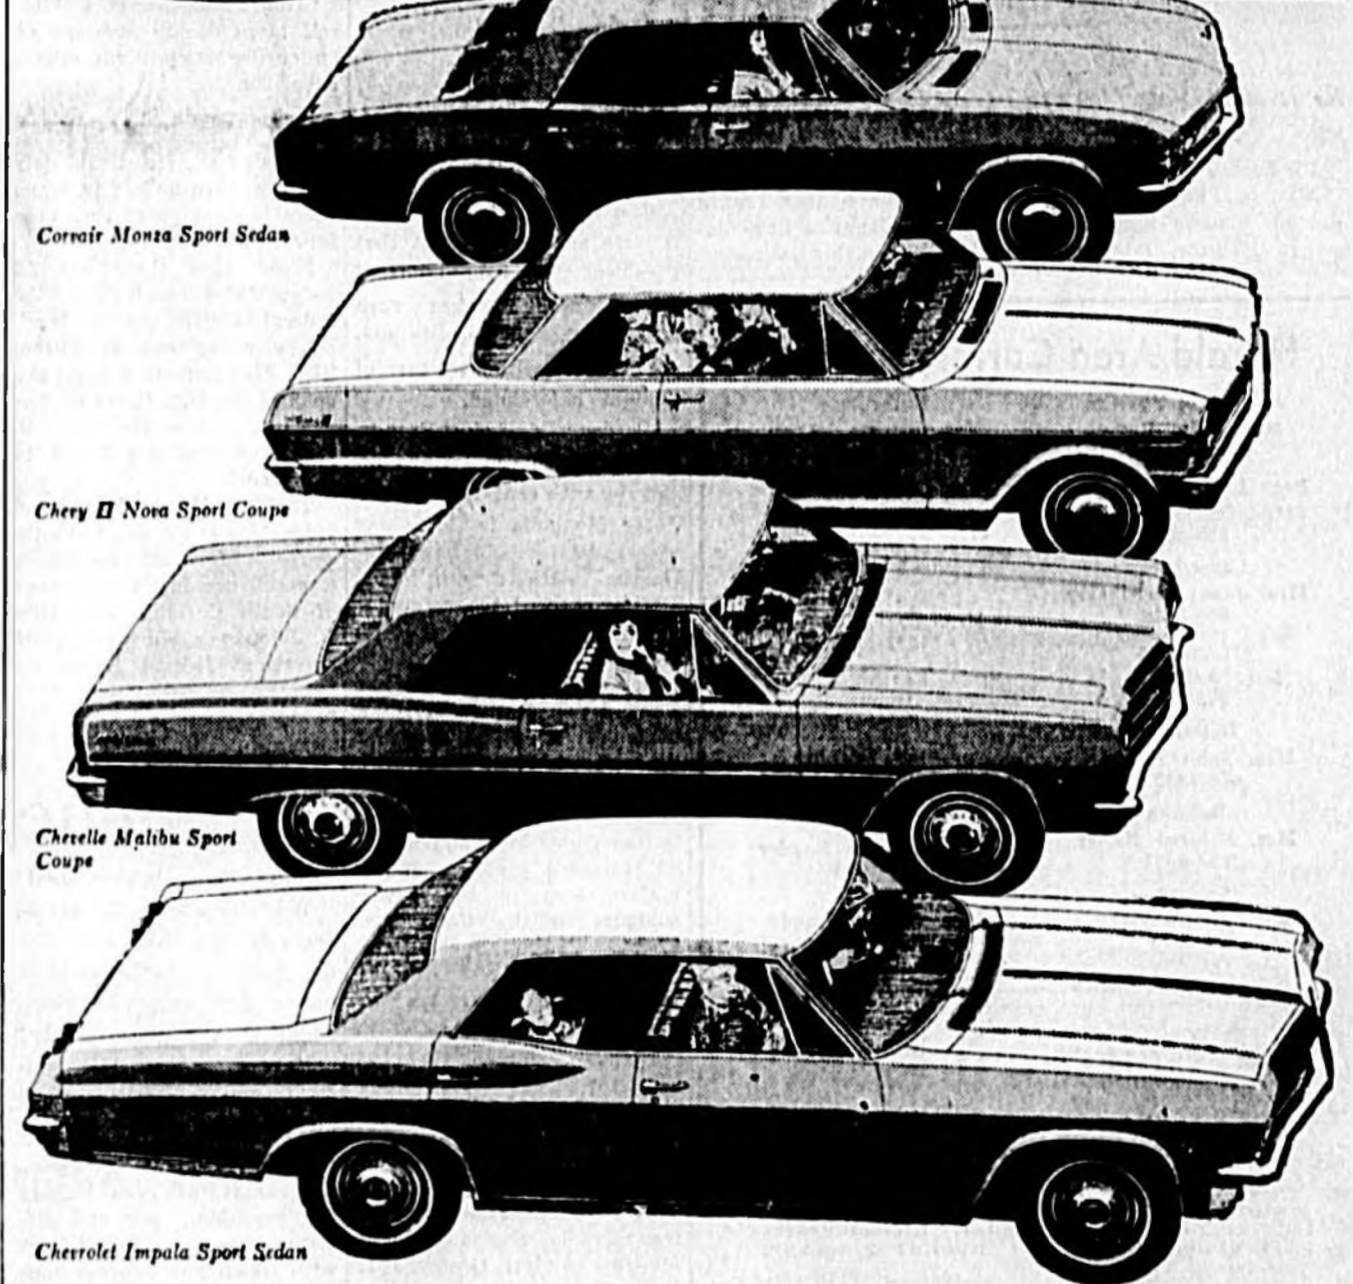

"When I explained why I wanted the information—that it was to preserve the Seminole culture—the medicine men were willing to co-operate," he said. "They don't want the legends and customs of their forefathers to die out either."

While he is interested in his tribe's history, Cypress hopes to do all he can to help the Seminoles adjust to modern ways.

"I want to do something for my people," he said. "I don't want to see them sit still while the world moves on to better things. I want to see them progress."

He plans to do graduate work this summer in a special program on American Indian culture at the University of Colorado. He will go on active duty in the Army this September for two years and plans to teach in Florida public schools when he gets out.

Want A Job?

Once upon a time—and not so long ago—a young man could walk into a place of business and announce he was looking for a job.

The prospective employer would ask him a few questions—his name, his age, how much education he had had, and, of course, how much money he wanted.

The employer would then take another look at the applicant and either turn him down or hire him.

It was that simple. But no longer. Nowadays, a college senior takes as many tests from industrial employment experts as he does from his own professors.

Intelligence tests. Aptitude and attitude tests. Personality tests. Hours and hours of them. Hundreds and hundreds of questions, many of them in areas that once would have been regarded as strictly private.

And these tests are no longer confined to executive jobs. They are now being given to all sorts of job seekers, including aspiring truck drivers.

At least one company is said to ask almost 500 questions of the eager applicant. Real blockbusters, some of them. Such as: does he prefer a tub bath or a shower? Is he afraid of deep water? What does he think of women being allowed in bars?

Some companies not only are giving these tests to new applicants for jobs but also are tossing them at employees who have been working there for years—including even senior executives.

It's all part of space age efficiency. Sometimes you have to wonder where efficiency leaves off and invasion of privacy begins. On the other hand, if it helps the applicant and the company find what each is looking for, how can you fight it?

You can't help hoping, however, that among all those questions there is one which asks: "By the way, what do you think of being courteous to other people, including the customer?"

If the answer to that question were weighted heavily, the whole testing machinery might be well worth-while.

Treason To Comics

It may disappoint some people—especially romantics old enough to remember the comic strips of the '30s. Space travel then was even more fantastic and far away than the idea of tapping energy from the atom.

The space suit in the picture looks like either a fire fighter's asbestos outfit or a lumpy snowsuit. There's a helmet with plastic faceplate, but over that goes something like a parka hood attached to some sort of a shapeless jacket with flappy mittens, and under that long, baggy trousers and ordinary-looking shoes.

No shiny black boots with zipper compartments, no degravitation belt with attached holster and disintegrator pistol, no ridgelike epaulets on the shoulders, no crisscross bands on the chest with an array of buttons in the center to activate the automatic space galvanizer. Nothing, nothing in the old tradition.

Undoubtedly, this is the best of all possible suits that they have been able to come up with yet. But space travel is getting so prosaic and businesslike in so many ways, it's a shame they can't keep a few of the old illusions.

Today's comic strips still dress their fictitious spacemen properly, but how long can they fight the trend of reality?

Thought For Today

He who is of God hears the words of God; the reason why you do not hear them is that you are not of God.—John 8:47.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Two dozen vacancies on the federal bench are contributing heavily to the burdens of the nation's overloaded judicial system.

Necessary senatorial recommendations are extremely slow in coming in a substantial number of cases. But the appointment of judges is being further delayed because President Johnson injects himself more personally into the selection process than did John F. Kennedy and other predecessors.

Says an official: "The President gets himself more deeply involved at an earlier stage than others have done."

"There are some places where he shouldn't be stepping in at all. He should only move in when he has to, when there is an impasse or a controversy."

Right now there are 18 judgeship vacancies at the federal district court level, not counting one in Puerto Rico. Five important spots are open in the U.S. Court of Appeals, and two on the U.S. Court of Customs based in New York.

The backlog of unfilled judgeships could get suddenly worse a few months hence. Chances are high for passage of South Carolina Sen. Olin D. Johnston's bill creating 41 additional federal judgeships.

to ease the judiciary's burgeoning caseload. This is a follow-up, of course, of recommendations by the Judicial Conference of the United States, a body led by Chief Justice Earl Warren and meeting semiannually to study the court system. This is the first proposed expansion of the judgeship roster since 73 new federal posts were created under President Kennedy in 1961.

Where Lyndon Johnson faces the biggest gun is in the South's Fifth Circuit embracing Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

Two vacancies exist there on the normally nine-man appeals court panel. One, usually filled by a Texan, may not prove too troublesome. The other, going usually to a Mississippian, is the real stickler.

The dilemma is obvious. On the one hand the President must look to Mississippi's staunch segregationist senators, Eastland and Stennis, for recommendations. On the other he must listen to Negro and other civil rights advocates who argue that the federal bench in the South already has too many segregationist judges.

Consequently the "Mississippi vacancy" could continue a long time. No resolution of the problem is anywhere in sight.

Meanwhile, the Fifth Circuit's incredible workload goes on mounting precipitously. The proposed court enlargement would include four new but temporary appeals court judgeships for the overburdened Fifth. Yet the necessity of filling these, if they are created, will only heighten the President's southern dilemma.

Contrary to much opinion, it is not civil rights cases which account for the rising caseload in this southern tier of states. Officials say it is just the expected result of a populous region exhibiting tremendous new growth.

The plan for four temporary judgeships (likely to be made permanent later) in the Fifth Circuit is a substitute for another more controversial proposal — splitting the Fifth into two separate circuits. This is opposed by the federal judiciary's administrative arm and the Department of Justice.

The more circuits, the more conflicts among them and the more cases winding up in the Supreme Court's crowded lap.

The whole problem of swelling caseloads would be vastly eased if some sitting judges pulled a stronger oar. But of 78 judges eligible for retirement last year by reason of age and service, only 15 quit. The lingering oldsters (one from Calvin Coolidge's day) help to throw the matter into Johnson's slow-grinding appointment mill.

as might be expected, on Madison Avenue, that eternal wellspring of aesthetic enrichment.

A New York adman named Ernie Fladell, and some of his associates, conceived a plan of putting enlarged drawings of comic strip heroes on posters and making them available to the art hungry public.

Each pop art portrait is inscribed with an inspirational message. One shows Flash Gordon in red cape and blue stretch pants leaping over a caption which explains that he is setting out on "a daring, one-man rescue expedition against fearful odds."

Mandrake the magician is caught in a similar pose. His caption reads: "Hold on, Lothar, I'm coming!"

The posters were introduced in New York last month with amazing results. More than 4,000 were sold in the first three weeks. It was one of the biggest things to hit the art world since French postcards.

Acting on the theory that people in other parts of the country also will embrace pop art if given the chance, the portrait producers are now gearing up for national distribution.

If pop art really catches on in America, I intend to take advantage of it. I plan to commission a pop artist to turn out a heroic portrait

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Rarely have I visited any educational institution that applied such superb psychology as Supt. Brewer demonstrated at the Soldiers and Sailors Children's Home at Knightstown, Indiana. In this age of broken homes and soaring delinquency, it is refreshing to see the affection, plus freedom, and superb training that 500 children obtain in this one big happy family!

CASE V-450: Supt. William Brewer gave Mrs. Crane and me a personal tour of the unique children's home over which he presides.

He seemed to know every child by name, whether two-year-olds or high school seniors and there are over 500 at this Indiana Soldiers and Sailors Children's Home.

The nursery schoolers would rush up to him and hug him or put up their arms so he could lift them up.

Prof. Paul Todd, director of recreation, also escorted us and the youngsters greeted him with similar enthusiasm.

For this children's home actually operates much like a large private family group.

In fact, the children there are actually better off than the youngsters in the "average" American home.

For they get better training and more encouragement in self-reliance.

As soon as they are old enough to read and write, they have their own checking accounts, and write checks for five cents or more for whatever they wish to purchase.

For they receive an allowance of 75 cents per month and can earn other money doing chores.

"Dr. Crane," Supt. Brewer

Letters

Editor, Herald: In reference to your article, "Technology, Security," in the April 30 edition of The Sanford Herald, I assume this is merely a release from the Association of American Railroads. This article is misleading as nothing has been resolved by the Federal ARBITRATION AWARD as it is effective for only two years.

When industrial peace is obtained through compulsion as in this case, instead of collective bargaining between those involved, then some group loses part of their freedom (in this case the workers). I might add that the firemen remaining have lost most of their rights and are working under the most chaotic conditions.

In any event this temporary measure was not brought about by reasoning and reasonableness on the part of both Labor and Management as stated in your article but imposed by excessive legislation, litigation, formal awards and public pronouncements of this disease are politicians.

President Fast Man With A Comeback

The Sanford Herald

Tues. May 4, '65—Page 5

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans are trying out a different angle of attack on President Johnson's Great Society programs.

But the Chief Executive is proving a fast man with a comeback.

The new tack was foreshadowed when GOP leader Gerald R. Ford (Mich.), urged Johnson to ask Congress for more money to build up U. S. military strength in the face of Communist threats in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

Then, almost as an afterthought, Ford added:

"If we are to bolster our effort in fighting Communism in two hemispheres, it may require a revision of certain legislative programs, including a new look at the President's recommendation on over-all fiscal policy and tax reduction."

Ford gave no details, but his statement bulged with possibilities for a new GOP assault on the President's ambitious domestic welfare programs.

The Chief Executive, wise in the ways of such political ploys after 30 years on Capitol Hill, wasted no time in framing a firm reply to Ford.

"No world problems are going to keep us from meeting the needs and desires of our own people," Johnson told a cheering crowd of labor lobbyists at the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department's 10th legislative conference.

Boss Barnlot Better Bossies

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—If you think a cow's world is democratic, forget it—it's strictly a whose moo ranking, a University of California professor says.

Professor of animal husbandry Kenneth A. Wagoner has reported that studies of cows in the university's breeding herd show that certain regal old bossies have the pick of feeding time.

The less aggressive cows prefer to wait for their turns to eat—even when there are stalls available next to the social leaders, Wagoner said.

"Age, weight, aggressiveness, agility and timidity are important factors that influence a cow's social rank in the herd," he said.

Altamonte Group Visits County Health Center

By Julia Barton
The Seventh-day Adventist Health and Welfare Society of Altamonte Springs recently toured the Seminole County Health Department at the invitation of County Health Director Dr. Frank Leone.

Tour of the building was led by Mrs. Edna Ruth Gray, county health nurse, who first showed the visitors the admitting room and files where up to date information is kept on each patient.

There is a modern dental department where two local dentists donate their services and the prenatal clinic is made up of three examination rooms, each furnished with table and facilities to insure thorough and proper examinations.

The group saw two films, one on family planning and another on care of a stroke victim, which were shown by Mrs. Grace Fisher, supervisor of the nursing department.

Following the tour, members of the group received free pamphlets on various subjects such as cancer, arthritis, tetanus, pre-natal care and care of the aged.

The Health and Welfare Society works along with the public health officials on local affairs and projects.

African Election Sidetracks DR Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Security Council paused briefly today in its debate on the Dominican crisis and turned its attention to Southern Rhodesia, where African powers want to block Friday's scheduled elections.

The council was to take up the Rhodesian problem this morning, then resume its session on the Dominican situation late this afternoon.

Monday's acrimonious council meeting lasted almost nine hours, ending shortly before 1 p. m. It was called by the Soviet Union, which charged the United States with aggression in sending 14,000 Marines and paratroopers into the revolt-torn Dominican Republic.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson cut off a running denunciation from ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko of the Soviet Union and Fernando Alvarez Tablo of Cuba by telling the 11-nation body:

"President Johnson said to night, if this is a consolation to him (Fedorenko), that U. S. troops will be withdrawn from the Dominican republic as soon as the OAS can get a plan into effect to bring peace and stability there."

Fedorenko, with an assist from Alvarez Tablo, used the council session to exploit traditional Latin American resentment and distrust of the landing of U. S. Marines in the territory of any of the area's countries.

Stevenson told the council the United States did not look upon the Dominican Republic Party (PRD) of exiled President Juan Bosch, which started the revolution, as "extremist."

But he said Communists, Cuban-trained in revolutionary tactics, had taken over the movement.

"The American nations will not permit the establishment of another Communist government in this hemisphere," Stevenson said. "... So we have acted to summon the resources of this entire hemisphere to this task."

Mental Health Week Observed In County

This week has been proclaimed National Mental Health Week in Seminole County, Florida and the nation.

In issuing his proclamation, Gov. Haydon Burns noted that mental illness is the cause of more suffering and drain on human and financial resources than any other single condition.

"There is a need to expand and improve our existing standards of care but more important, to plan for future improvements to satisfy the demands of our rapidly increasing population. Regionally based mental health centers are proven as the best method of treatment for the mentally ill," Gov. Burns continued.

He called upon all citizens to become better informed as to the activities conducted on behalf of the mentally ill and help work toward the implementation of a program to accomplish greater progress in the field of treatment.

The Seminole County Association for Mental Health has scheduled the showing of a film at the Civic Center at 8 p.m. Thursday entitled "Why Does This Boy Steal?"

Speaker for the program will be James Luce, former Brevard County juvenile court counselor.

On May 1 at 8 p.m. at the Seminole County Health Center Dr. Arthur Blood, Orlando psychiatrist, will be the speaker and the film will be "Why Does This Man Mistrust Everyone?"

Both films will be shown as a public service of the local mental health group and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Weight, Experience Lack Faces Seminole Gridders

Page 6—Tues. May 4, '65

By Barry Lawes
Lack of weight and actual game experience is the big problem facing Seminole Coach Jim Pigott, as he reads his Seminole High School football team for spring practice which opens May 10.

Faced with the loss of 17 lettermen—16 through graduation, and one on eligibility—Pigott faces a tough Conference competition.

Biggest difficulty of all will be in filling the vacancies in the interior line. Pigott has only three interior linemen returning for action next year: Steve Harris, Tony Gonzalez and Johnny Cannavino. Each of these boys will be doing well to weigh in at around 165 pounds.

Gaps in the line will be left by graduation of Joe Farless, Joe Purdy, Steve Clark, David Howe, Steve Balint, and Steve Groover. Vieing for these vacancies will be David Jarrell, Russell Lee, Harvey Johnson, Mike McGuire and Danny Lee.

Because of the weight problem ahead, Pigott will probably lean heavily on an aerial game for the coming season, relying heavily on the tossing arm of Frank Whigham.

"I think the backfield will be all right," Pigott said, "but we are really concerned with our defensive material."

In an effort to overcome the weight lack, Pigott plans to develop a double defense. Outside their 20-yard line, the Seminoles will work on a stunting defense in an effort to wear down their opponents. But when they are pushed back behind their own 20, it will be a just plain stubborn defense, holding the line at all costs.

Jarrell, moving up from the junior varsity, will probably be the biggest member of the squad, tipping the scales at around 250 pounds. He played tackle last year, but Pigott says he will probably use him as a defensive middle guard.

Another boy moving up from JV status whom Pigott will keep a close watch on during the spring practice is Terry Echols, who will most likely see action as line backer.

"The boys face a mighty big job in getting ready," Pigott says, but he opines they'll make it.

Thirty-three boys will probably take to the field for the three weeks of spring practice, culminating in the spring game at 7:30 p. m., May 28. The boys, and their playing positions, are:

Quarter backs: Whigham, Bour, Sterl Weber, Ernie Baumester, Truby Kinnard, and

JIM PIGOTT

Al Boniface, Chuck Scott, Rick Walstrom, Bernie Bar-

Kelly Ogden; full back: Sonny Messer and Ronnie Dudley; end: Mike Gray, Leroy Nopper, Chuck Pigott, Greg Ganas, and Don Nicholas; tackle: Jay Stokes, Mike Ogden, Jimmy Williams and Mason Wharton; guard: Harris, Cannavino, Jarrell, Lee, Johnson, and McGuire; center: Roy Dunn, Gonzales and Lee. Bill Frisby, Allan Herbat and Tom Forman will complete the squad.

There is still some doubt whether Baumester will see action. He was ill last year and will need his physician's okay to resume play.

Lost to the squad this year will be:

Farless, David Noell, Ronnie Hinson, Purdy, Clark, Brad Pruden, Tommy Cason, How, Balint, Groover, Larry Watson, Bill Kuykendall, Eddie Griffith, Andy Lyons, Buddy Burton and Danny Tills. Leo Sparkman will be lost under eligibility rules and Erney Steele will vacate his tackle slot when he moves to Pittsburgh.

Describing the coming season, Pigott said, "It will be a spectators' delight but a coach's nightmare... there'll be plenty of scoring."

Next year's schedule tucks up this way, with last year's results in parenthesis:

Sept. 17, Titusville, home (13-13); Sept. 24, Colonial, away (13-0); Oct. 1, Evans, home (32-0) Oct. 8, Edgewater, away (0-13); Oct. 15, Boone, away (0-0); Oct. 22, Winter Park, home (33-0); Oct. 29, Bishop Moore, home (7-4); Nov. 5, Lyman, home (36-0); Nov. 12, Oak Ridge, away (27-7); Nov. 19, open; Nov. 24, DeLand, away, Thanksgiving night (27-14).

Yanks Lose Ailing Howard, Trade Blanchard To Athletics

NEW YORK (UPI) — A heart-broken Johnny Blanchard headed for the Kansas City Athletics today and Elston Howard for the hospital in a stunning series of events that left the reeling New York Yankees with their thinnest catching corps in more than two decades.

The Yankees, mired in eighth place with a 7-9 record in defense of their American League pennant, turned to their old "cousins" in Kansas City for help Monday night and came up with catcher Howard (Doc) Edwards from the A's in return for Blanchard, also a catcher, and pitcher Roland Sheldon.

In addition Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk also announced that Howard, the League's Most Valuable Player in 1963 and a .313 hitter last year, will enter Lenox Hill Hospital today to undergo surgery on his right elbow for the removal of a loose chip.

The 35-year-old slugger, who probably will be operated on Wednesday, will be placed on the disabled list, thus making him ineligible to play again for at least 30 days.

Howard injured his throwing arm during an exhibition game in Puerto Rico April 3 and caught only the opening game of the regular season at Minnesota, when he re-injured his arm. He's also played three games at first base and compiled a .222 batting average in 18 times at-bat.

The Yankees now are reduced behind the plate to Edwards, who hit .224 for the A's last year, and 32-year-old Bob Schmidt, a journeyman performer who was promoted

Maples Fans 19, Hurls Elks To 1-0 Win

Gary Maples and Skip Senkarik hooked up in one of the tightest pitching duels in Junior League play Monday night at Pinehurst Park, with Maples and his Elks teammates blanking Shrine 1-0 in eight innings.

Maples gave up two singles in the first inning and then proceeded to pitch no-hit ball over the next seven innings, as the game went one inning over the regulation seven.

He struck out 19, tying a Junior League record set earlier this season by Bobby Powell of Rotary. Maples yielded only one walk and hit one batsman. He was making his first appearance for Elks this season, after joining the team from the Sanford Junior High School team.

John Hunt's infield single, an easy roller down the third base line, scored Cecil Simpson from third base with the winning run in the eighth. Billy Miller with two hits, and Simpson and Hunt with one hit each, accounted for the Elks four safeties.

Shrine had two hits, both in the first inning. Eddie Warren and Mike Long had singles. Maples allowed only one man past second base and was touched for only two balls hit out of the infield. In a losing cause, Skip Senkarik struck out 13 and walked only one. He too, allowed only two balls hit out of the infield. The former all-star Little League performer was making his first appearance in Junior League play. He played Junior High ball before joining Shrine.

In an afternoon game, Civitan stopped the four game winning streak of Rotary and won 13-3. Tommy Hekson struck out eight and walked three in receiving credit for the victory. Each team accumulated only four hits apiece in the free scoring affair. The win left Civitan just one-half game behind Rotary in the league standings.

In Little League action, First Federal nixed out Chase, 4-3. Al Grooms starred

Pro Gridders Ink Draft Pact

BATON ROUGE, La (UPI) — Louisiana State University Athletic Director James J. Corbett announced Monday the professional football leagues have reached a "hands off" agreement with the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA on early signings of colleges athletes.

Corbett, who is chairman of the NCAA's College-Professional Relations Committee, said the pact insured the colleges "reasonable protection" by keeping the professionals away from players with college eligibility remaining.

The agreement forbids the signing of student athletes until after the close of the football season of their fourth academic year.

Rangers Coach Renews Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — George (Red) Sullivan, coach of the New York Rangers, has another year to carry out his rebuilding program for the National Hockey League's fifth-place club, General Manager Emile Francis announced Monday that the Rangers had given Sullivan his contract for the 1965-66 season at a salary increase despite his inability to lift the club out of fifth place in 2½ years.

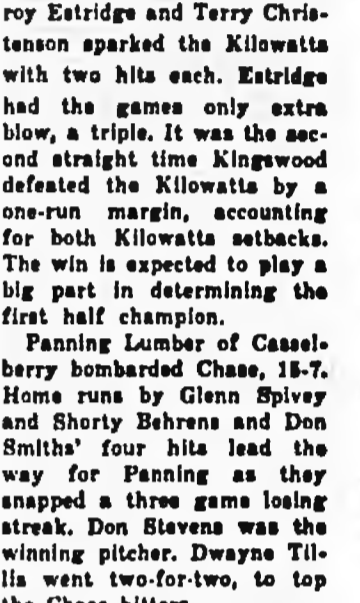

Jersey Derby Next Race Set For Bold Lad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bold Lad definitely will bypass the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico, the second jewel in racing's Triple Crown, because of knee trouble which may have hampered his performance in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

The Wheatly Stable colt, who was awarded the favorite's role by the crowd of 100,000 at Churchill Downs but finished a badly beaten 10th in the field of 11, instead will be pointed for the Jersey Derby at Garden State Park, May 31, according to his trainer Bill Winfrey.

Winfrey, who revealed that the trouble is in Bold Lad's right knee, noted that the Preakness, scheduled for May 15, would not give the three-year-old son of Bold Ruler enough time to recover and still maintain his sharp racing form.

Pigeon Racing Just The Thing For Those Who Like Quiet Sport

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — If you're tired of football and baseball, think hockey is too rough and auto racing too dangerous, you might give pigeon racing a try.

The devotees of this fascinating but little-publicized sport are scattered throughout the country.

They pay up to $1,000 for a good breeder imported from France or Belgium, spend months training and conditioning their ratters, and have elaborate devices for clocking their birds.

Nobody knows for sure why they do it, but the pigeons when released hundreds of miles from their lofts, soar high into the air, get their bearings and head directly for home at speeds ranging from 25 to 50 miles per hour.

They keep going until they reach their lofts or until darkness falls, at which time they settle in a tree for the night.

"At night they're as blind as a bat—no, as blind as a chicken, a bat can see at night," says pigeon enthusiast Louis J. Celoria. "If they kept going they would fly into a pole or a tree."

The birds face many dangers on their cross-country jaunts, which generally run 100-600 miles in the southeast but may be as long as 1,000 miles in some sections of the country.

"Heart attacks claim many of our racing pigeons," says Celoria, who is past president of the Jacksonville Itacing Pigeon Club. "The second would be hawks and falcons. Falcons are the worst."

"If the wind puts them over Okefenokee swamp we lose half of them. That place is loaded with falcons."

The pigeon owner must be certain to bathe his bird before the race, or it will plunk down in the first pond it sees and rectify the omission.

While frolicing on the water, it may fall prey to a water moccasin, an alligator or a snapping turtle.

If its bath is uninterrupted, the pigeon will stop to preen its feathers afterward. "Then the owner wonders why his pigeon shows up four to five hours late," says Celoria.

To an untrained eye, a racing pigeon may look pretty much like his counterpart in a city park, but the looks are deceptive.

The sturdy racing pigeon are fed a special high protein feed made in Philadelphia and are much stronger than the ordinary pigeon.

"Regular pigeons are in poor health because of malnutrition," Celoria says.

The pigeons are trained by taking them out a couple of miles from their loft the first day and gradually lengthening the distance.

Pigeon training is an ancient art. There are records of them being domesticated in Egypt 3,000 years ago.

Hogan To Get Special Award

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Ben Hogan will receive an award as the greatest professional golfer of all time during the windup ceremonies of the Colonial Invitation tournament next Sunday at the Colonial Country Club.

The presentation will be shown on national television. Sports Network Inc. will televise the final round of the Colonial to more than 180 stations from 4:30 to 6 p. m., EDT.

Hogan totaled 684 points in a national poll of golf writers and sports editors. Arnold Palmer was a distant second with 598 points and Walter Hagen finished third with 371.

Power Up Front!

"Wind-Tunnel" action in Toro's New 2T Whirlwind

You just steer. Toro's 51" Whirlwind rotary mower does the rest. Pulls you up hills, pulls you through heavy grass. Front-wheel Power-Drive makes cutting your lawn as easy as taking a walk. Extra power, more durability, because of automobile-type positive gear drive.

Toro's unique "Wind-Tunnel" action puts the power of the whirling wind to work for you. It creates such a powerful pulling force it actually pulls flat grass up so it can be trimmed cleanly and evenly.

Chance Hurls Second Win, Stops Reds 1-0

By Joe Gergen
UPI Sports Writer

Lee Thomas, the fallen angel, has permanently renounced his halo. Whatever feeling the Los Angeles players might have had for their former teammate vanished Monday night when Thomas, now a member in good standing of the Boston Red Sox, lashed a clean single to right field in the eighth inning to break up Dean Chance's bid for a no-hit game.

The brilliant 23-year-old Cy Young Award winner, who usually is a slow spring starter, had permitted only one Boston batter to reach base through the first seven innings and that on an error by first baseman Costen Shockley.

But Thomas, a 29-year-old first baseman who broke in with the New York Yankees and later made the All-Star team as an Angel, singled cleanly as lead-off batter in the eighth. However, he inadvertently preserved Chance's shut-out and the Angels' 1-0 victory seconds later when he was thrown out attempting to steal second.

It was a fortunate move for Chance because the next batter, Felix Mantilla, singled, was forced at second by Eddie Bressoud and then rookie catcher Mike Ryan connected for the third safety of the inning. But Chance got out of the frame without permitting a run by retiring pinch-hitter Russ Nixon.

The young pitching ace, who recorded 11 shutouts last year among his 20 victories, still had to sweat out the ninth as he loaded the bases with two men out on two walks and Carl Yastrzemski's single. But here Chance reached back and buzzed three straight strikes past Mantilla, whose .365 batting average is the second best in the American League.

It was one of eight strikeouts by Chance, who boosted his record to 2-0. The loser was rookie Boston righthander Jerry Stephenson, who struck out seven in the five innings he worked but allowed the only run of the game—a slightly tainted tally in the third.

Fleet Jose Cardenal had opened with a single and the little outfielder raced all the way home as Albie Pearson, an even littler outfielder, singled to center where Lennie Green muffed the play. The run was officially ruled earned because of a subsequent fly ball which the scorer estimated would have scored Cardenal in any case.

The Kansas City Athletics whipped the Washington Senators 5-3 in the only other American League game on the schedule and the St. Louis Cardinals topped the San Francisco Giants 3-1 in the only National League contest.

Dedham Police Chief Walter H. Carroll says he will bar spectators from sparring sessions of ex-champ Liston at the Towers Inn today unless the Liston camp complies with certain state and local regulations.

And Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne says he will seek an injunction blocking the Boston Garden fight three weeks from tonight unless the Massachusetts Boxing Commission satisfies him that no laws will be violated in staging the championship bout.

Byrne has given the boxing commission until 2 p.m. EDT today to clear the air.

Even Clay, 100 miles away in Chocopee, is being scrutinized. Dist. Atty. Matthew Ryan of Hampden County has advised Byrne that he will check the young champion's training camp at Schine Inn for possible violations of the law. Byrne had been scheduled to meet with the boxing commission Monday but the confrontation was cancelled with explanation.

Instead, Byrne sent a memorandum and a covering letter to commission headquarters. The memorandum alleged specific law violations in connection with promotion of the May 23 fight, and the letter warned that unless the problems were corrected by 2 p.m. today Byrne would go to court to seek an injunction barring the match.

The nature of Byrne's charges was not revealed.

"Candid Chatter"

By Doris Williams
Society Editor

Among the members of the Democratic Women's Club of Seminole County attending a state quarterly meeting at Tallahassee over the weekend were SHEILA ROBERTS and KATHY PETREE.

The local lovelies report a delightful meeting with a visit to the legislature and a lavish luncheon with MILDRED BURNS at the Governor's mansion.

KATHY, who is a resident of English Estates and bursting with intelligence, beauty and poise, will report on the state meeting at the regular meeting of the local club this Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p.m. at the Health Center on French Avenue.

A proposed change in the meeting time, date and place will be discussed at this meeting for the convenience of so many county Democratic women who are desirous of joining the forces, but previous commitments prevent their attendance.

All conscientious DEMOCRATS in the county are welcome to become members of the local organization and lend your support.

Ladies were IN THE MINORITY at the recent farewell luncheon at the Civic Center for CAPT. AND MRS. JAMES MAYO. Seated at the head table with all the brass and braid and local civilian dignitaries were JEAN FOWLER, JUNE MAYO, MARGE JERNIGAN, president of the Pilot Club of Sanford, and ARIOLYN THUE, president of the Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club.

The BPW's and PILOTS were the only ladies organizations represented at the almost all male luncheon. It is with regret that we bid bon voyage to June Mayo, since she has been a definite asset to Sanford in civic as well as military activities.

Lovely Jean Fowler is a live wire with a magnitude of philosophy. She has the reputation for being an organizer and stresses more unity among all Navy wives for better relations. There is a definite demand for originality in the area, so with Jean's enthusiasm, we have additional talent to combine with the civic and cultural minded around town.

Delightful chatter with JERRY KIRK reveals that MRS. W. L. GRAMKOW SR., MRS.

DEWITT MATHEWS and MRS. RALPH AUSTIN SMITH recently attended the Women's Club's 70th annual convention at Hollywood.

The theme of the event was "Freedom and Growth by the Sea" with Gov. Haydon Burns officially opening the convention. MILDRED BURNS was a former District Director of Florida Federation of Women's Clubs at Jacksonville, so the governor had first hand information.

A Certificate of Merit was awarded the local group by the Scholarship Division for outstanding achievement.

MRS. SMITH, state president from 1942-44, was afforded many honors at the meeting. She was seated at the speakers table, and gave the seconding speech in behalf of her friend, MRS. E. D. PEARCE, of Miami, whom the club has endorsed for National President. Mrs. Pearce is well known in Seminole County, having visited here on many occasions with the local club and her sister, MRS. L. D. HASTINGS.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs will convene in Chicago in July and Mrs. Smith will attend as a delegate.

SPEAKING OF MRS. RALPH AUSTIN SMITH, recently had the pleasure of attending a tea at her home, which was fascinating with the priceless rare antiques, some of which were museum pieces.

CHARLOTE had her collection of silver spoons on display for her guests to enjoy. One of the most interesting was a spoon given her by her mother many years ago engraved with CHARLOTE MARIE, with two lively monkeys engaged in aerial acrobatic antics.

Another interesting spoon depicted GEMINI, the zodiacal sign under which Charlotte was born. I pointed out to her that she just had to be a lively one—just happen to know of a teenager born under the same sign and the monkey spoons would be very befitting to her also. Welcome to the club, MISS MARY.

SPEAKING OF TEEN-AGERS — Hold your ears, mother! Some glutton for punishment has developed a juke-box for home use. Marketed by a Swiss firm, the unit features pushbutton selection of 40... yes, 40... seven-inch records. Yeah, yeah!

FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN GOOD MUSIC from a cultural viewpoint, SUSAN RAY, talented eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Ray Jr., of this city, will be presented in the 12th annual student recital sponsored by the Central Florida Music Teachers Association, Orlando, to be held on Tuesday evening, May 11, at Keller's Music Store.

Susan will play "Waltz Intermezzo" by the composer Kabalevsky. She is a pupil of Mary E. Tolar Nance of the Tolar School of Piano, on honor roll student of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, and an entrant in the 1965 National Piano Playing Auditions.

THETA EPSILON CHAPTER of Beta Sigma Phi members and their husbands recently gathered at the home of SHERRY and STERN BOLTE for a Tacky Party. The event was real swakin' with BETTY ERICKSON winning the prize for being the tackiest gal and AL DAVIS was the tackiest guy.

JULIA CHASE received FSU ALUMNI of Seminole County at a coffee at her home recently. The gracious Mrs. Chase is one of the most wholesome and genuine persons I have ever had the pleasure of meeting. It has been my experience that all persons with a similar background to Julia's are real "earth people" with no evidence of visible snobbery or veneer. The gals who have everything to be snobbish over are actually the most friendly and gracious.

Some of these fine days columnist plans to unwind and "sing out" with her version of snobs.

Another charming and gracious hostess was JEANETTE MCKEAN, when she entertained at a recent shindig at her fabulous estate, "WINDSONG," in Winter Park. A thoughtful columnist was not influenced by spirits on that occasion since live elephants, parachutists and a professional vocalist provided the delightful entertainment.

THE FLORIDA CITRUS COMMISSION would adore this one. We all, yes, all, including HUGH MCKEAN, president of ROLLINS COLLEGE, had a blast feasting the elephants a citrus salad, combining oranges and grapefruit with palmato leaves, which they relished with gusto, but ignored the hay. Could this be a new use for surplus citrus?

By the way, all art lovers will be interested to know that Jeanette, who is a nationally famous artist, designer and president of one of central Florida's oldest and developing firms, has a magnificent exhibition of vignettes on display at the Central Art Gallery in Winter Park.

Bon Voyage Party Bids Farewell To The G. Millers

By Julia Bartos

A farewell party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Miller of Dol Ray Manor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rosenfeld on Elderwood Lane in Sylvan Highlands.

The Millers and children, Lori, Bobby and Martin, will be leaving Florida to live in El Paso, Texas, where Mr. Miller will be on tour of duty for the Martin Company for which he works. He will be stationed at White Sands Proving Grounds.

Before arriving in Texas, the Millers will take a month's vacation and will tour Washington, D. C., and will visit friends and relatives in New York City. They will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Goldstein, her parents, and will also visit with his mother, Mrs. Florence Miller. The two school age children, Lori and Bobby, are quite excited about their trip.

The Millers received a beautiful Scotch plaid travel luggage from their friends. Those attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pores, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Haber, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Francis and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Haberman.

Social Corner Clubbers Enjoy Scenic Outing

The Social Corner Club had a special treat Sunday when the entire group motored to Winter Park.

They all enjoyed dinner at Morrison's, then took the scenic boat tour. However, rain shortened the trip so at a later date they will again take the boat ride.

Attending were Mrs. Florence Dawley, Mrs. May Sanjio, Mrs. Edna Norman, Mrs. Melba Starke, Mrs. Bertha Rhodes, Mrs. Lillian Andrews and Mrs. Beaula Thornton. Also J. B. Cole, A. J. Kirchoff, Ed Ludecke, Ken Aldridge and Leonard Ellis.

B And P Women Install Officers This Wednesday

Installation of officers of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Sanford will be conducted this Wednesday, May 5, at the Educational Building of the Lake Mary Presbyterian Church, located on Lakeview Avenue behind Gleason's Store.

Dinner will precede the installation at 6:45 p.m. with the ladies of the church in charge of serving.

Miss Rose Marie Beasley, H. M. Banks United In Impressive Church Rites

By Evelyn Lundy

Miss Rose Marie Beasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua G. Beasley, and Henry Moultry Banks, Orlando, were united in holy matrimony April 24 at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Oviedo, Lt. Col. (Ret) Derritt Combs, Gainesville, officiated at the impressive candlelight and double ring ceremony. Potted palms accented the altar background with three-branched, standing candelabra containing tall white tapers. Two baskets were beautifully arranged with white gladioli and white mums.

W. H. Martin, organist, played the wedding music and Mrs. Joan McIntire sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion.

Mrs. Billy Smithson was matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Curtis Banks, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Miss Charlotte Schlegel and Miss Jan Beasley. All were attired in identical sea foam green broad-clothed taffeta street length dresses, featuring a pleated skirt with tiny matching net head pieces attached with a circular head piece. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

Debra Higgins and Norman Nolle, niece and nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. Curtis A. Banks served as his brother's best man. Ushers were John David Beasley of the bride, and Gene Herand Jimmy Beasley, brothers-in-

MRS. HENRY MOULTRY BANKS

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a formal gown of silk peau de sole designed with a lace petalled neckline and featuring re-embroidered appliques interspersed down the front of her modified controlled skirt. Deep pleats at the waist further accented the skirt with a streamered bow and the bouffant back extended into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of imported lace was attached to a tiny pillbox and she carried a bridal bouquet of white rose buds in a crescent design.

Mrs. Beasley chose for her daughter's wedding a light blue sheath lace dress with blue accessories and she wore a corsage of pink rose buds.

The groom's mother was attired in a gold toned brocade suit and she wore a corsage of white rose buds.

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Educational Building of the church. The refreshment table, overlaid with a white net cloth which was draped at either end with wedding bells and ribbon bows, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by silver candelabra. Wedding punch was served from either end of the table from silver punch bowls. Nuts and mints were served from silver bon-bon dishes.

Serving punch were Miss Suzanne Partin and Miss Peggy Parrott; cutting the cake was Mrs. S. E. Parker.

Background music was provided by Mrs. George Means at the piano. Mrs. Louis Beasley was in charge of the refreshments.

After a honeymoon at Mammoth Cave, Ky., the couple will be at home May 2 at Lake Breeze Trailer Court, Orlando.

The Henry Russells Host Azalea Club Dinner Meet

Azalea Club was entertained recently at the Marina Isle home of the Henry Russells. The Russells killed a young porker for the occasion. The banquet table was festive with Spring flowers, white candles in crystal candelabra and Easter egg cake.

Members brought a covered dish so with the delicious roast pork there were creamed fresh corn, green beans, macaroni and cheese, slaw, potato salad, cucumbers in sour cream dressing, congealed pineapple salad, carrot sticks, chocolate cake, cream cake and a fabulous Easter egg cake. All went back for second and third servings.

After a brief meeting, Mrs. Young at the piano and Mrs.

Harkey at the organ played requests and the group sang along as they went on kitchen police detail. It was a real "Fun" evening.

Mrs. J. P. Cullen offered to donate a tricycle to "The Little Red School House."

Enjoying the food, fun and Russell hospitality were the Mmes. C. P. Harkey, J. M. Moye, J. D. Callahan, Porter Lansing, Lee A. Wheeler, Roy Tillis, H. R. Ervin, Clyde Stinson and J. A. Young.

Also the Mmes. J. P. Cullen, Fred Pope, J. H. Coon, Dempsey Carnes, Ely Russ, houseguest of the Russells, and Miss Ellalae Kirchoff.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When my father saw my report card, he hit the ceiling. He said there was no excuse for grades like mine, and from now on I was going to act and look like a human being instead of a sheep dog. Then he went and got the scissors and cut my bangs. All the kids wear bangs down over their foreheads, just covering their eyebrows. I think it looks neat. So what if my grades weren't so great? Do you think cutting my hair was any solution? Yours for a speedy answer.

DEAR PAUL: Your father was annoyed with you because your grades were poor, and he punished you by attacking your bangs because they annoyed him, too, and were handy. Get those grades up, Paul. And if they are really good next report card time, I'll bet your father won't care if you wear your hair in a pony tail.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos your comment that the "male determines the sex of the child": Please let me assure you that it is indeed a female who makes the choice. Not the wife, however, but the vixen, Lady Luck. To be sure, the sperm cells carry the sex-determining load of chromosomes; but the male supplies great quantities of both kinds—apparently in equal numbers. And it is pure chance which will predominate. Perhaps it is not "pure" chance, but, if not, it is just as likely that conditions in the female may favor "girl-making" or "boy-making" sperms as it is that the male asserts influence on this preponderantly random process. Let's not oversimplify.

ANN ONYMOUS: You are correct, and it is all a matter of "pure chance," who made "Luck" a lady?

DEAR ABBY: Every Easter since we've been married, my husband has bought me an Easter plant. I have told him a dozen times that I would much rather have a corsage, but he goes right ahead the next Easter and buys me a plant. He says a plant is more practical because he can plant it in the yard later. I say if that is what he has in mind when he buys me an Easter gift, he is thinking of HIMSELF, not ME. What do you think?

PREFERS A CORSAGE: DEAR PREFERS: You should be glad he remembers you at all. When it comes to expressing gratitude for your husband's thoughtfulness at Easter, you certainly do lay an egg.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I had five beautiful children. Today I have only four who are beautiful, and one who may be beautiful again, but we aren't sure.

My year-old baby put a plugged-in extension cord in her mouth and burned off her upper lip. The doctor says it will take a series of plastic surgery operations to make her look half way normal again. Please, please, tell mothers to keep extension cords where children can't get at them. It's a miracle my baby is alive today. If this letter saves just one baby from being burned as mine was, it will be worth the space in your column. I beg you to print this.

We The Women:

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our son is in some deep trouble over a girl. When he first met her, he wanted the family to meet her but now he won't discuss her with any of us. I know she doesn't care for him because of his nervousness. This past month he has been calling up on Fridays to say he's coming home for the weekend; but when he gets here, he's restless and impatient. Then he'll put in a long-distance call to this girl and leave without staying the night. She is leading him on...

ANSWER: She couldn't do it if he didn't want to keep the ring in his nose.

We are mistaken, I think, to allow sympathy for a painfully infatuated child to blind us to the fact that vindictiveness has become the mainspring of his continuing attachment to his tormentor. At this point of painful infatuation the secret feeling is: "I'll bring you to heel if it kills me."

Though our dear child appears to be the victim of his tormentor—that bad girl who "leads" him on—the truth is that he is the victim of his own insistence on compelling her to acknowledge his irresistible charm. That is why, when he comes home for a weekend's relief from battle, he can't stay there. The drive to break the tormentor into surrender to his charm takes him over again.

The problem, of course, is that our infatuated child glorifies his demands for vengeance on the person who has hurt and humiliated him. He calls it "love"—one of those special, world-shaking passions which change maps. It is only by seeing himself as the hero of epic romance that the poor lamb can account for his willingness to put up with its heroine's caprices, betrayals, lies and cruelties.

How much of this stuff he's willing to take before he is ready to know that, instead of loving his costar in epic romance, he hates her, is always the question.

However, as your boy has begun to reach out to the relief of home at weekends, it's just possible that he's begun to know that he needs it.

Anger at the girl is a waste of our time. She's really not to blame because our child refuses to know when he's licked. He, not she, is our business. We may be able to point out to him, "It's actually a little cruel to try to force love from people who haven't got it to give." And it is, you know.

The American Contract Bridge League conducts a nationwide charity game in connection with each of its three national championships. Hands are duplicated all over the country and everyone competes directly with the players in his own group and indirectly with others from the rest of the country.

Here is a hand which probably was bid many ways. The bidding shown in the box finds South going down three tricks at four spades for minus 500 and a good match point score since at most tables West would be allowed to play four hearts.

The play at four spades starts with a diamond lead by West. East takes his ace and leads the queen whereupon West ruffs South's king of diamonds with the queen of trumps. West leads the

Beauty after Forty
EDYTH THORNTON McLEOD

The other day I met at lunch a most exciting personality, a woman now long past "after forty" but simply great! She has so long kept things "stirred up" that people have referred to her as "that Pellet woman"—so, of course, Betty Pellet gave that title to her new book, "That Pellet Woman."

She has known all sorts of people, has been everywhere and is still "that Pellet woman"—loved by many and, I would guess, rather feared by many. Betty Pellet has been a Broadway actress, a film star, a politician (and a very good one), a legislator, housewife, hard-rock and bonanza-hunting miner. She campaigned for women's suffrage and, indeed, met the man in her life when engaged in this work. She loved him dearly and in "a real woman's fashion." She said, "Although I was in no sense a clinging-vine type, I felt (after her marriage) I was becoming truly myself with Bob. And I don't think it takes away one iota from women's talents and their essential career capability or independence to admit that emotionally MOST women need a man to feel truly complete. After all, aren't most men as incomplete without a woman?"

She lives in the far west and although she has been in the Colorado legislature for years doing what we call "man's work," she is all woman and is quite willing to admit it. When Betty Pellet went to Washington, they "knew" she had arrived when she tangled with everybody from Truman to Roosevelt and "go away with it." She told me she did not run for office this year because she "wanted to take a little time to look around and visit with some relatives and write"—and have published the dramatic and truly exciting book, "That Pellet Woman."

She will probably go on a lecture tour with her book. It is all Americana and she should be on every Women's Club platform from here to there! As a General Federation of Women's Club member, Betty Pellet represents all American women who actually "care" and are active in public affairs and work at doing civic good.

When I left this dynamic woman, she strode off on a shopping trip, waving me a jaunty farewell. She wore a smart navy blue suit, a white brocade blouse, a smart little blue hat atop her gray waves and a fur stole. She was in New York for only a few days.

She is a real personality, a woman who has done things and will keep on doing them. Johnny Carson said of her: "If I had been born a woman, I think I would like to have been Betty Pellet." What more could she want?

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you are in the mood as well as able to see the right ways and means by which you can put your own particular talents into shape so they are marketable — whether ideas or wares. Thus others can also get the benefits of them as stated in your own sign following:

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Look to own kin or close ties for the solution of present problems instead of relying on outsiders. Be sure to get abode in ideal order. Be happy and unworried by evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Long and sincere talks with associates bring forth the right answers to current problems. Get busy with your correspondence. Much help comes to you from that source in short time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Follow your inclination to increase abundance, since you have the right ideas now. Make intelligent investments. Sitting down with authorities in your field brings good advice.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A tailor-made day for you. Dress in high symmetrical style and off to the many interesting activities you like. Get into right social circles. Attain desires via positive action.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find ways to get rid of whatever is a deterrent to your advancement, but don't disturb higher-ups. Let faith, hope and charity spur you onward. Don't be forceful with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take the trouble to do something nice for loyal and good friends you truly like. Don't be so stand-offish. Get out to the social affairs that are good for you, help you to express yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look to persons in high places for the ideas and support you desire at this time. Things quickly come into the open. Take advantage of such opportunities very fast.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) So many ideas occur to you now for advancing in your particular field that you should take action at once. Be more broad-minded with others. Set a high goal for yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Relying on your fine hunches can bring some fine profits your way today. Talk things over with mate for best results. Get advice from that department as well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need greater co-operation from others, so think up better ways of getting it. Focus attention on some unusual deal that has real promise. Be more original.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fine ideas and ideas — see that you carry through with them today. Your co-workers can be spurred to greater effort also. Get an early start and then full speed ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Others require some cheering up and this is the best way for you to get what you want. Join them in some sport or other that is mutually enjoyable. Be happy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be best suited to merchandising of one sort or another upon reaching adulthood, so it would be wise to plant the education along such lines early, especially in a field that would cater to the majority of the people, such as commodities, utilitarian items. The success here can be very pronounced if you teach early to get rid of self-pity.

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

State Overseer, Seriously Ill, Continues On

The 103 Churches of God of Prophecy in the state of Florida are offering special prayers in recognition of devoted services of their state overseer, Rev. R. Clement Lynch, of Winter Garden, who, although suffering from serious illness, is continuing his work.

Rev. Bobby Welch, pastor of the Sanford Church, has asked all members of his congregation and people of the community to join in these special prayers.

Rev. Lynch, who has been overseer in Florida since September, 1959, was born in Lincoln County, N. C., where he was reared and became a member of the church in which he served as Sunday School superintendent and youth leader.

He attended and was graduated from Bible Training Camp, Cleveland, Tenn., and began his ministry at churches in Laboratory and Saw Mills, N. C.

In 1948 he was appointed youth secretary for North Carolina and served in this capacity for three years after which he worked for one year as private secretary for the state overseers of North Carolina.

On Dec. 19, 1947, while serving as pastor of the church at Bethany, N. C., he was elevated to a bishop and the following month received appointment as state overseer of North Carolina where he served until his appointment to Florida.

He is married and he and Mrs. Lynch are parents of four children.

Some People Cannot Adjust To Idleness

(EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the hazards of turning old is the psychiatric jar of unexpected idleness. Some people who can't adjust to it become bored and resentful. People accept the deterioration of their bodies with better grace than the restlessness of their minds.)

By Harry Ferguson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is a popular belief that old age itself is a disease and that people die from it. Nothing could be further from the truth.

"There is no known case of death from old age," says Dr. Edward L. Bortz, a Philadelphia expert on aging. "No pathologist has ever established at the autopsy table that a person dying of natural causes had body tissues correct and adequate in every way except that they had worn out in the process of living. In other words, people do not die of age. They die of diseases which occur with passing time. These diseases are recognizable and can be studied."

What does happen is that there is likely to be impairment of some of the faculties. Eyesight can deteriorate. About one in eight persons aged 65 to 74 had an impairment of hearing and after 75 the rate becomes one in four. Old people lose their teeth, but the experts are inclined to blame it more on lack of care than on advancing years. The American Automobile Association has found in simulated driving tests that reactions of persons aged 70 are a tenth of a second slower than those aged 20.

FOREMOST WORRY Probably the one thing that worries old people more than anything else is a decline in the powers of memory. In other words they become absent minded, and that arouses fears that they are drifting toward mental trouble.

The President's Council on Aging gives this example of the problem: Recently in St. Petersburg, Fla., Joseph Letter was addressing an audience of 5,000 old people who had assembled to hear a concert. He opened his remarks this way:

"There's a brown Buick parked on the street behind us here. The owner probably won't remember the license number, but perhaps he will remember his Buick is brown. It's not in the way or anything. The owner simply walked away and left the motor running."

Many old persons accept the deterioration of their faculties with good grace and a sense of humor, but for millions retirement from an active life is a shock. Women make the transition better than men because there still are floors to sweep, dishes to wash and beds to be made up. A man who retires at 65 can be in for serious trouble as Dr. Alexander Reid Martin explains in "Education for life off the job":

COMMON SYMPTOMS "Sleeplessness, the inability to relax and the fear of leisure are among the earliest and most common symptoms of so-called psychiatric illness. These symptoms are, of course, unrelated to pain and any demonstrable physical disease.

"When these patients are confronted with leisure, they are restless, dissatisfied, irritable and they show great intolerance of inactivity and waiting. They have great feelings of guilt if they read a book, go to the movies, watch TV or do anything for a lifetime to get any benefit from it.

A man who has ignored books and music all of his adult life, is unlikely to acquire a sudden taste for them on his 65th birthday. More likely he will sit in the living room and worry and speculate on what is going on down at the office or factory.

For persons who make the transition into old age gracefully the activities fall into two categories: Active and inactive. The most popular in the inactive field are watching television, listening to the radio, reading newspapers and reading magazines.

Lyman Twirlers Rate Superior

By Jane Caselberry
Lyman High School twirlers won superior ratings in state competition at Daytona Beach Saturday.

Sandra Howe, Lyman Senior, took solo twirling honors and the majorette corps as a whole also received superior rating from the judges.

Members of the corps, in addition to Sandra, are Christine Fransen, Barbara Ellis, Nancy Copeland, Nanaua Linton, Kay Dagner, Patricia Halsey, Connie Murry, Karen Currens, Jane Wiggins, and Judy Carson.

Drummers for the corps were Don Miller and Don Pott.

Excellent ratings went to Allen Harkins for his trumpet solo and Dennis House for his clarinet solo. They were accompanied by Sara Blair and Jackie Waddles at the piano.

Combat Gls On Scene

The Sanford Naval Academy brigade had to do some fast-stepping to get down to the city dock Tuesday before the "Wyndcrest II" sailed in.

In fact, Capt. John Williams, piloting the Wyndcrest, had to slow the craft down in time to allow the midshipmen to make it to the scene.

The arrival of the SNA's future flagship was a momentous occasion with full coverage by the press, radio and TV, and a flyover of jets from the Naval Air Station.

Capt. Richard E. Fowler, commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, will be the guest speaker Thursday night at a meeting of the Central Florida chapter Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, in Orlando.

The Seminole County School Board will have a new school desegregation plan. Supt. R. T. Milwe believes the board can meet the requirements set up by the federal government.

Our delegation went to Tallahassee the other day to plug county-wide telephone service came home "very elated" by the reception they received before the Florida Public Utilities Commission.

Overheard at the court house: "The Cuban situation is really puzzling. The capital of Cuba is Havana, the government is in Moscow, and most of the people live in Miami Beach!"

May has been proclaimed as "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up and pick-up" month in the city of Longwood by Mayor David R. Wentworth who urges all citizens of the community to cooperate in this worthwhile effort.

May is Mental Health Month and the Seminole County Mental Health Association will present a film on the "Compulsive Car Thief" on Thursday 8 p.m. at the Civic Center. The public and all interested persons are invited to attend. This film is one of a series on mental illness on "The Disordered Mind." James Luce, of Cocoa Beach, will be present. He is a counselor and is on the White House committee.

They tell us that Cassius Clay went through town the other day. . . . and we never heard a thing.

A bill will be introduced in the Florida Legislature to give the chairman of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners an increase in his automobile expense account.

The chairman has been receiving $1500 annually. Under the new legislation he would get $1800.

Dr. Arthur Blood, Orlando psychiatrist, will speak in connection with Mental Health Week at 8 p.m. May 18 at the Seminole County Health Center.

Insurance Rate Increase Denied

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Broward Williams today denied requests by Nationwide Mutual and Nationwide General Insurance Company for a 25 per cent increase in automobile insurance rates.

Simultaneously, Williams announced that a public hearing on another rate increase request by the 90 companies represented by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters will be held May 27.

'Firm Truce' Signed In Civil War

Both Factions In Agreement To Cease Fire

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — The Organization of American States (OAS) announced today that both sides had signed a "firm truce" in the civil war that cost more than 1,000 dead and brought U. S. armed intervention.

Several hundred more American troops landed today as the OAS officials met at the loyalist stronghold of San Isidro Airbase. Junta leaders and rebel provisional "president" Francisco Caamaño Deno signed the truce.

The agreement called the "Act of Santo Domingo" had four provisions:

—It formalized the cease-fire already shakily in effect.

—It demarcates an enlargement of the security zone carved out by U. S. Marines and paratroopers to include all foreign embassies.

—It provides for evacuation of persons who have taken asylum in various embassies and of refugees caught up in the fighting.

—It provides for distribution of food, medicine and medical equipment to both sides regardless of political beliefs.

TRAWLER SUNK
SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — U. S. paratroopers opened fire on a 350-foot rebel trawler in the Ozama River today, touching off an explosion heard throughout the city. The trawler apparently was carrying ammunition.

The trawler (of unknown nationality) first opened fire on the paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division, who have carved out an international refuge zone and a supply line through rebel-held territory. The paratroopers returned the fire and the explosion followed.

The ship did not sink but was lying disabled in the river which bisects Santo Domingo. Fate of its crew was not known. Observers believed it was bringing in arms and ammunition from a foreign country for use by the rebels.

OTHERWISE QUIET
Otherwise the military situation was comparatively quiet with only scattered firing heard through the city. The political situation appeared static with diplomats, including representatives of the Organization of American States (OAS), making little progress toward permanent peace.

$1 Billion Bill Prepared For Quick Approval

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The hefty $1,061,541,048 general appropriations bill to support the many facets of state government in the next biennium, was put in the Senate today and made a special and continuing order of business for Friday.

The bill, that would give Florida its very first billion-dollar general spending authorization, was hammered out by the appropriations committee after weeks of study and amid pleas to keep it within anticipated income of $1.1 billion.

The House measure, calling for a two-year outlay of $5.1 billion less than the more generous Senate version, is also to be voted on this week. This represents the earliest a Florida Legislature has ever gotten the bulky money bill to a vote.

Kenneth Ireland, chief consultant to the Senate committee, got special permission to throw the bill into the hopper shortly before the Senate went to work on another dull but heavy calendar of so-called non-controversial bills.

House money chairman J. J. Griffin of Ocala expects to bring his appropriations bill to a vote in the House Thursday.

Sam Sheppard Freedom Bid Gets Setback

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — The 6th District U. S. Court of Appeals today reversed the decision of a federal judge freeing Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard from prison.

Sheppard, a suburban Cleveland osteopath, was freed from Ohio Penitentiary last July after serving nearly 10 years for the bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

Sheppard was ordered released by Federal Judge Carl Weinman of U. S. District Court in Dayton, Ohio. The state appealed the release, demanding that Sheppard be sent back to prison for the remainder of his second degree murder life sentence.

After serving almost 10 years for the slaying, Sheppard was freed following many legal maneuvers by his attorneys to win freedom.

Weinman granted a habeas corpus writ on grounds that overwhelming newspaper publicity caused an unfair trial.

The Circuit Court jury deliberated approximately 2 1/2 hours before returning its verdict. It did not recommend mercy.

Albert N. Pitts, attorney for the two boys, this morning said he will file a motion for a new trial. Sentencing has been delayed until the motion is acted upon. Pitts has until May 16 to file.

If the motion is refused, the automatic death sentences will be appealed to the state Supreme Court. This is an automatic move when any death sentence is passed in the state of Florida.

The two-day trial ended rather speedily after a first day of jury selection, which lasted late into the night Monday.

Witnesses heard Tuesday included the little girl who was raped.

2 Youths Face Death Sentence In Rape Case

Israel Gilley and Jimmy Lee Drumright were found guilty Tuesday of the Feb. 8 rape of a 12-year-old girl.

The Circuit Court jury deliberated approximately 2 1/2 hours before returning its verdict. It did not recommend mercy.

Albert N. Pitts, attorney for the two boys, this morning said he will file a motion for a new trial. Sentencing has been delayed until the motion is acted upon. Pitts has until May 16 to file.

Burns' Road Plan Questioned

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A serious break developed today in the wall of support Gov. Haydon Burns has been building for his proposed $200 million highway construction bond program.

Sen. George Hollahan, of Miami, one of the early and strong supporters, questioned the reportedly high cost of borrowing the four - laning money through the bond method.

Hollahan said he has heard that it will cost the state $112 million in interest to get the early use of $140 million.

If this be true, Hollahan said, the amount of interest seems highly excessive. Hollahan hand-delivered to Governor Burns today a two-page letter listing his reservation and concern and demanding that the Governor furnish the Legislature with the full information on costs of the program.

Hollahan said he supported the bond proposal because it would provide $90 million in roads for Dade County, including an expressway from downtown Miami to Homestead and would expedite construction of Interstate Highway 75 from Tampa to Miami.

"I write you because of serious concern on my part concerning the exorbitant cost the taxpayers apparently will have to pay in interest in order to obtain this bond money. He said the report of $112 million (in interest costs) gives him "serious pause and genuine cause to question the financial feasibility of the bond proposal as it now stands."

Meanwhile, a number of senators complained privately that pressure was being put

'Savage Sons' Return Home Next Two Days

Six RA-3C Vigilantes from RVAH-3 are expected to land at Sanford Naval Air Station at 11 a.m. Thursday, ending a 10 - month deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger in the South China Sea.

Support personnel and equipment are expected to arrive in six airlifts starting Friday afternoon at 5:30, with additional arrivals at 6, 7, 7:30, 7:45 and 9 p.m.

Friday's airlift is expected to bring in a total of 183 men in addition to the pilots and bombardier navigators arriving Thursday.

The Savage Sons of RVAH-3 are commanded by Cdr. Wallace L. Russell, who took command of the unit in January while they were aboard the carrier USS Ranger in the Pacific. He relieved Cdr. Paul F. Werner, currently chief staff officer of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One.

RVAH-3 was the first operational Vigilante squadron to deploy aboard a carrier. Since its deployment, two other Vigilante squadrons have gone into the fleet, RVAH-1 and RVAH-2.

Plans are currently underway at Sanford Naval Air Station to welcome the incoming squadron.

Capt. Richard E. Fowler Jr., the new commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, will greet his first returning squadron since accepting command of the wing last Tuesday.

Also expected to be on hand for the squadron's arrival will be the wives and families of the returning fliers. Members of the press and other news media also are anticipated.

on them by the Governor, his road board and other lobbyists to support the bill.

"There's a lot of arm-twisting going on," said one.

In the House, Rep. Wilbur Boyd, of Manatee, was trying to work up a faction to fight the measure and, if not able to kill it, at least keep it from going on the ballot for a vote of the people until next year.

The Governor needs 84 House members and 33 senators to put the proposal before the people this November and get started on the road-building. If they approve, next January. A delay until 1966 would mean the money would not be available until January of 1967 and it also would throw the proposal into the 1966 campaigns for governor.

Berserk Father Kills 2, Self

MIAMI (UPI) — A berserk man blasted into his ex-wife's home Tuesday night and killed his daughter and her step-father in a hall of five bullets. Then he took his own life as police closed in.

Police said Ward F. Rinehart, 45, of Miami, shot his 15-year-old daughter, Janice Gale Rinehart, and James E. Miskelley, 41, owner of the house and the girl's stepfather.

PEACE TERMS
CAIRO (UPI) — Peace terms ending the civil war in the Yemen have been adopted by the rival Republican and Royalist regimes.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House appropriations committee, acting with unusual speed, today unanimously approved President Johnson's request for an extra $700 million to finance the expanding war in South Viet Nam.

The House, setting aside customary, parliamentary procedures that might have caused brief delay, planned to vote on the emergency money bill early this afternoon.

Senate ratification was set for later today or Thursday.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara detailed the President's request at a closed joint meeting of the Senate armed services and appropriations committees.

Congress rushed to start the money measure through the legislative mill Tuesday even before Johnson's formal request had been transmitted to Capitol Hill. He had outlined it orally to key members at the White House Tuesday morning.

The House appropriations committee approved the money request at a closed session on recommendation of two defense subcommittees which cleared the bill swiftly late Tuesday.

MORE Gls
SAIGON (UPI) — More than 1,200 U.S. Army paratroopers landed near Saigon today—the first Army units committed to an acknowledged combat role in Viet Nam. In the Da Nang area U.S. Marines avenged weeks of harassment with two successful combat patrols.

In the air war U.S. Navy and Vietnamese Air Force planes destroyed or damaged boxcars, radar stations, military buildings and three small bridges in Communist North Viet Nam.

All planes returned safely to base, a military spokesman reported.

The Marine combat patrols from Da Nang killed seven Viet Cong and captured a wounded guerrilla in perhaps their most successful strike of the war.

KILL GUERRILLAS
One Marine patrol killed seven guerrillas in a thrust at the village of Thal Binh, six miles west of Da Nang.

In this operation two companies caught the guerrillas between them and called down an artillery barrage in a classic "hammer and anvil" maneuver.

The other patrol ravaged the village of La My where four leathernecks were wounded Tuesday. It encountered some fire but made no serious contact. The patrol captured a guerrilla wounded Tuesday and heard reports from villagers the Viet Cong carried off two dead and three wounded Tuesday.

An American military spokesman reported that Viet Cong guerrillas have sharply increased their activities with the coming of the first monsoon rains. He reported 25 "incidents" including one attack, seven cases of sabotage and 17 incidents of terrorism in the past 24 hours.

Debate Gag
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The threat of a gag on debate was expected today to nudge the Senate into a speed-up on the voting rights bill. Speaking for the Southerners who oppose the measure, Sen. Allen J. Ender (D-La.) blocked an agreement which would have applied a debate limitation on amendments to the bill.

Georgia Votes
ATLANTA (UPI) — Georgians vote today to nominate candidates for a reapportioned House of Representatives in a primary election that has drawn a number of Negro candidates and a grand dragon the Ku Klux Klan. More than 300 Democrats and Republicans are seeking the 141 seats at stake in the 205-member House. No other offices are affected by the primary which leads to the overturn of the rural bloc stronghold and gives to Greater Atlanta a total of 36 representatives where it has had only six.

"THOSE GUYS are trying to make monkeys out of us chimps," was the gripe this morning of Carmen, prize resident of Sanford Municipal Zoo, when informed the Florida Senate Tuesday approved and sent to the House a measure forbidding chimpanzees from driving automobiles on state highways. Carmen laid the blame on "my smart Alec cousin over at Tampa" for driving on city streets. The Tampa chimp defied a state trooper while driving on Interstate 4 because there are no state laws forbidding animals from driving automobiles. (Herald Photo)
