Priest Said To Be Better After Illness

Physician Blames Intense Work, Worry For Coughlin's Collapse On Sunday

NUSJ Convention Abruptly Closed

Apologizes For Not Being Able To Proceed With Speech

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin rested in seclusion today but is said to be recovering from a sudden illness which brought an abrupt halt to his address yesterday in which he renewed his attacks on President Roosevelt.

Dr. George P. O'Malley, a Cleveland physician, said the radio priest was stricken by exhaustion and a nervous disorder caused by the intense work of planning and carrying out the first convention of the National Union for Social Justice.

Father Coughlin's illness caused him to halt his address to the closing gathering of delegates.

On Sunday Coughlin, priest of an obscure parish but a national figure, led a massed phalanx of more than 25,000 followers of social justice to the political battle to elect William Lemke president of the United States.

Father Coughlin spoke yesterday for 1,000,000 active members of his National Union for Social Justice and some 4,000,000 others who have aligned themselves with his crusade, without becoming walking delegates of his cause.

The priest's abrupt fall toward the end of his speech and he was led faint from the platform. The mass meeting was abruptly adjourned.

Father Coughlin was denouncing the banking system and the international bankers, sweating profusely under a sun which blazed full in his face. Suddenly he said:

"I must apologize to you. I have been ill all night and I shall not be able to proceed any further."

Father Coughlin was the last speaker at the mammoth rally to launch the NUSJ campaign to elect William Lemke, Union party candidate for president, and his running mate, Thomas C. O'Brien.

The National Union is pointing both at the White House and Congress. Twenty-eight of its endorsed congressional candidates were introduced in the convention yesterday.

The priest said he will have 800 Republicans, Democrats, Farmer-Labor and Progressive in the field by election day. (Continued on Page Two)

Dr. Townsend's Arrest Asked By Former Helper

Townsend Plan Head Is Said To Be In Chicago Retreat

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Blames Farley, attorney for the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, a former director in the Townsend Old Age Pension organization, asked Judge George W. Kerr to order the arrest of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of pension plan, and Gilmore Young, national secretary, for their failure to appear at a deposition hearing here.

Dr. Townsend and Young were scheduled to testify at a hearing in connection with Wright's receivership suit against the Townsend organization. Neither of them appeared, and Young sent a telegram saying Townsend is ill in Chicago and he is not coming since he assumed he was not wanted unless Townsend was there too.

Blames Farley CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend expressed the opinion Saturday "the inference is pretty strong" that James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, and R. E. Clements, coasted pension movement secretary, backed a court suit against directors of Old Age Revolving Pension, Ltd., Attorney Charles H. Hubbell, at a deposition hearing, yesterday recounted to Townsend that Raymond J. Jeffreys, Ohio pension leader, testified several days ago that a suit brought by the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, deposed Townsend National Board member, was actuated by Clements who, in turn, was backed by Farley.

"Would you care to express an opinion?" the lawyer asked.

"It would be nothing but an opinion," Townsend replied. "The inference is pretty strong, however. The present administration spent (Continued from page three)

3 Taken Into Custody For Hotel Slaying

Bride Found Beaten To Death Thought To Have Been Victim Of Degenerate

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Three negroes, two women and a youth, were taken into custody today for questioning in connection with the killing of Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell, who was found beaten to death in her hotel room. The crime was the fourth hotel room slaying of women in recent months.

Those held were listed as Myrtle Hynes, Amy L. Martin, and Claude P. Davis. The two women were arrested when their telephone numbers were found in a note book dropped by a prowler at the hotel a week ago. Davis is a bell boy at the hotel.

The woman's nude body was found by her husband who returned home from his job on a railroad dining car.

Mrs. Trammell, 24-year-old brunette and bride of a year, who was found beaten to death Sunday in her hotel room, was the victim, Police Lieutenant McCarthy theorized, of a degenerate who invaded the room from adjoining elevated tracks.

A desk clerk, standing on the shoulders of the woman's husband, Thomas Trammell, peered through the transom and saw her nude body sprawled on a bed.

Pillows and bed clothing had been piled on the body, and a window on the fire escape was partly open. On the ledge, investigators said, was imprint of a canvas shoe.

Trammell, who said he had married the girl in Knoxville, returned to Chicago yesterday, after completing his run as a railway dining car conductor.

Lieutenant McCarthy said there were little evidences of a struggle in the room, although a blood stain was found on a pillow.

Deputy Coroner Victor I. Schaefer said the woman's left eye had been blacked, several bruises discolored her face and marks on her throat indicated she might have been choked.

Her clothing was piled on a chair and the cord of an electric lamp was still plugged into a socket, giving further evidence no struggle preceded the killing, Lieutenant McCarthy said.

The lieutenant suggested that because of the heat Mrs. Trammell might have retired Saturday night without wearing her pajamas, thus accounting for the nude body.

He suggested, also, that a man might have observed her through the window from the adjoining elevated platform, dropped to the tracks and swung to the hotel fire escape, which is only three feet from the elevated structure.

Police found indications the assailant left the room by the same route he had entered it, stepping to the fire escape and swinging back to the elevated span.

Trammell gave his age as 40. He said he formerly lived in Dallas, and that he met his wife at Knoxville. Three months ago he entered the employ of the railroad, Trammell said, and a month ago his wife followed him to Chicago.

'Big Jim' Dixon To Get Chair During Week Of Aug. 24

Sheriff J. F. McClelland received a death warrant bearing the signature of Governor Dave Sholtz today from Tallahassee for George Dixon, alias "Big Jim" Dixon, negro who was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death by the Circuit Court on May 26 during the spring session of that body.

Tomorrow the sheriff will take Dixon to Hainford, where he will turn the negro over to L. F. Chapman, superintendent of the state prison, to await execution.

Dixon will be electrocuted during the week of Aug. 24, it was said.

The issuance of a death warrant for Rufus Johnson, negro who was also convicted of first degree murder by the Circuit Court at the same time Dixon was sentenced, is pending on account of a request by Wilson and Nix, attorneys for Johnson who have made application for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Battles On Three Fronts Spread Death

Hostages Killed In Spanish Revolt As Answer To Rebel's Attack On Bay City

British Laborers Condemn Fascists

Government Confiscates Industries To Hurt Opponents

Battles on three fronts in north central Spain between Fascist rebels and the Madrid government forces left death and destruction.

Rebels in Burgos announced they had repulsed the government in their wake today at Atienza, northeast of Madrid in the mountains, and routed soldiers marching against the rebel city of Zamora.

Reports reaching the Franco-Spanish frontier said that government soldiers answered rebel warship shells thrown against them and San Sebastian with swift death for hostages before firing squads. The bombardment of the Bay of Biscay section lasted about 2 1/2 hours, paused for a while, and then was resumed.

U.S. Labor Party In Formation Of

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Spain's civil war went into its second month Sunday with rebel forces taking the offensive in north and south and with both sides resorting to mass executions by way of reprisal and punishment. Major developments included:

Conservative estimates of 20,000 killed, 14,000 wounded, 18,000 jailed and 6,000,000 pesos damage as the most of just one month of war.

Rebels controlling Badajoz after the bloodiest battle of the war admitted at least 1,500 communists killed in the fighting. With the Spanish Foreign Legion in the vanguard they prepared to march on Madrid.

Insurgents headquarters, describing a smashing offensive against Malaga, loyalists naval base on the Mediterranean, threatened wholesale reprisals in the south upon discovering 150 fascists were executed at Antequera near Malaga. Antequera now is in rebel hands.

Gen. Emilio Mola, northern insurgent commander, announced 600 loyalists were killed by rebel machine gunners in an abortive attempt to attack the insurrectionist stronghold at Zamora.

It was feared that the fate of 700 fascist prisoners at San Sebastian was in doubt.

Oviedo Negro Shot At Rainbow Farm Following Quarrel

Sheriff J. F. McClelland and his deputies are looking for Steve Johnson, Snow Hill negro, who late Saturday night shot and killed Eugene Ross, negro of Oviedo, at Rainbow Farm, located between Geneva and Oviedo.

What caused the shooting is not known, but it is believed that a quarrel precipitated the fatal shot. Immediately after the sheriff was notified he, his deputies, and posse set out upon Johnson's trail, but the negro had already made his escape, and could not be found anywhere near the scene of the tragedy.

Blood hounds followed his tracks for several miles but lost them on the highway, where it was thought Johnson was picked up by an automobile and taken out of this section.
