

SRD OKs Record Budget

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A record-breaking $521.1 million budget, that puts emphasis on construction of Interstate Highway 95 in Duval and Brevard Counties, won tentative approval of the State Road Board Thursday. Officials estimate the state could finance only $445.9 million of the budgeted work in the fiscal year starting July 1, but approved the inflated figure to allow leeway in selection of projects.

For instance, $173 million in new and carryover work is budgeted on the interstate system, but the Road Department said it will have funds to finance only about $80 million.

Final approval was set for June 20 following a public hearing May 29 to permit county officials to add or substitute projects to take care of last-minute situations.

The biggest chunk of interstate money, $16.3 million, is budgeted for right-of-way and construction of nearly 59 miles of I.R. 95 in Brevard County.

Another $11.4 million is included for right-of-way and construction on Route 95 in Duval County.

Largest single project is $9.9 million for acquisition of right-of-way for work on Route 95 in Dade County from Northwest 20th Street south.

The largest individual job on the primary system is $2.8 million, for 6.7 miles of paving on U. S. 27 in Palm Beach County from Lake Harbor to South Bay.

The $512 million "inflated" budget compares with a work schedule of $433.5 million in the current year.

The proposed budget includes $173 million for interstate, $138.8 million for primary roads, $77.3 million for farm-to-market roads, $104.6 million for bond-financed projects and $18 million for maintenance.

Of the total, $412.8 million is for new work and $81 million to complete work already underway.

The budget includes $6.1 million of construction on Interstate 95 in Volusia County, and $10.1 million of right-of-way and construction on the same route in St. Johns County.

There also are funds budgeted for new work on Interstate 75 in Alachua, Hernando, Hillsborough, Marion, Pasco and Sumter Counties to link this limited-access expressway with the turnpike extension at Willwood.

The budget calls for projects on Interstate Four in Hillsborough, Orange, Seminole and Volusia Counties, and on Interstate 10 in Santa Rosa and Escambia Counties, including the first construction job on 3.2 miles near Pensacola.

Here is the breakdown by districts of the construction totals for primary, secondary and bond projects:

- 1st: primary $27.3 million, secondary $25.2 million, bond $12.2 million.
- 2nd: primary $25.2 million, secondary $11.3 million, bond $9.2 million.
- 3rd: primary $37.1 million, secondary $9.8 million, bond $8 million.
- 4th: primary $37.1 million, secondary $19.1 million, bond $67 million.
- 5th: primary $22.8 million, secondary $11.7 million, bond $8 million.

The budget total also includes $4.4 million for road work at state institutions.

Kennedy OK's Demands - Castro

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro told Cubans Thursday the Kennedy administration has accepted one of his five demands for an end to tension in the Caribbean.

In a one-hour, 40-minute speech, Castro said Washington, by forbidding exiles to carry out further armed attacks on Cuba, has fulfilled one of "five points for peace" advanced by him and endorsed by the Soviet Union.

"Four (conditions) still have to be fulfilled," he said. Acceptance of them, he added, is the only sensible thing the Kennedy administration can do.

One of the five conditions is U. S. evacuation of the big naval base at Guantanamo, in eastern Cuba.

Castro praised Washington for its crackdown on the exiles. He heaped scorn and ridicule on exile leaders who broke with Washington.

The premier boasted that Latin American leaders who oppose his Communist regime sooner or later are toppled.

He included among these former Argentine President Arturo Frondizi, former Peruvian President Manuel Prado and former Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes. He implied that their fall was due to their opposition to him as "instruments of (U. S.) imperialism."

Castro laughed at the falling out between Washington and the Cuban (exile) revolutionary council. "While the Cuban revolution is ever more unified, the counter-revolution is constantly more disunited," he said.

CPO WILLIAM G. SOWELL received salutes from Heavy Attack Squadron One chief petty officers as he transferred to the Fleet Reserve recently after more than 19 years of Navy service. He previously had served with VAH-7 and VAH-13. Chief Sowell and his wife, Barbara, reside at 1904 Patrick Place.

State Average Per Capita Income Hits 'A Plateau'

GAINESVILLE — Average per capita income in Florida, although rapidly rising during the 1950's, has hit a plateau, a recent University of Florida study reveals.

The study by University economist Dr. Madelyn L. Kafoglis shows that while the income figure rose by $679 from 1950 to 1960, per capita income in 1961 was $1,990, only five dollars above that of 1960.

"Whether substantial gains similar to those of the fifties can occur in the sixties is not yet evident," she says.

Published in "Economic Leaflets" by the University's Bureau of Economic and Business Research, the report attributes the small rise to Florida's continued population growth, accompanied by small gains or actual declines in some sectors of the state's economy.

Income from trade declined by some $35 million, the study shows. A slight recession in the northern U. S. affected the earnings of trade and service proprietors in Florida, resulting in a decline of some $50 million in their income. Also, construction income declined by $123 million during 1961.

Circle Elects New Officers

New officers have been elected by the Rebekah Circle of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church W.S.C.S.

Circle members visited the Sarepta Nursing Home in Sanford Thursday to take fruit, Easter booklets and an arrangement of plastic flowers.

Raging flames whipped by variable winds and fed by extreme dry undergrowth spread over an eight-acre area near the South Seminole Schools at Casselberry for more than three hours this morning endangering several homes in the vicinity.

Seminole County Ranger Albert Harris, of Longwood, said his department was hard pressed to man pumps since they also have been working with Orange County in the Winter Park area on a muck fire for the past week-and-a-half.

An investigation was started immediately on today's fire and every effort will be made to determine the act of carelessness responsible, Harris warned.

He also issued an urgent request that residents of the county put off any burning until the overall area has received a thorough soaking since a single spark can be whipped as far as 200-300 yards under present wind conditions and fire the dry undergrowth.

Financing Big Issue In Capitol

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A pitch was made for additional funds for state prisons today as the Legislature moved into its third week with finances the big issue.

House and Senate appropriate subcommittees are meeting early and late to try to put together a general spending bill before May 1. . . . It would leave three weeks to a month for the lawmakers to raise the money to foot the bill, expected to be in the neighborhood of $1 billion.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Bills to give school teachers a $100 annual across-the-board pay raise and freeze contributions to support of the schools at 25 percent of the total costs were introduced in the House today.

State Prison Director Loula Wainwright asked a joint committee to provide funds for a total of 170 new employees in the prison system, reinstating 99 jobs which the cabinet cut out on the grounds the state could not afford them.

Meanwhile, Sen. Charley Johns of Starke gathered his forces for an all-out pitch to get his controversial Legislative investigating committee continued for another two years.

The committee, which has spent in excess of $100,000 investigating homosexuals in the schools and universities in the past two years, is faced with a strong move both within and outside the Legislature to get the committee abolished as having gone beyond its field.

Apparently to appease Legislators and try to sell newspaper editors on the need for the committee, Johns has set up a closed session for Thursday to "brief" the press and lawmakers on just what the committee has found in its investigation.

Johns said the meeting would be an executive session, meaning it will be closed to the public and persons attending it are not supposed to discuss on the outside what goes on behind the closed doors of the Senate chamber on Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

There was no Senate action scheduled for the morning. The House worked its way through another batch of new bill introductions and a heavy calendar of minor measures but the Senate does not come back until 3 p.m.

When it does, Gov. Farris Bryant's bond financing plan for university construction is due to hit the hopper.

Aircraft Safety Briefing Set

Forty fire, safety and law enforcement officials from Seminole, Volusia and Brevard Counties will visit the Sanford Naval Air Station Tuesday for briefings and demonstrations on aircraft safety.

The day will be devoted to acquainting civilian safety personnel with the special features of landing military aviation accidents.

Afterwards, Covill will move the classroom to the VAH-5 flight line where conference delegates will inspect the aircraft.

Hero To Be Honored For Saving Girl, 9

A young sailor serving with Heavy Attack Squadron One of Sanford Naval Air Station will receive official recognition on Thursday for his heroic conduct in rescuing a nine-year-old girl from drowning.

Airman Harry W. Bryan, Jr., 18-year-old native of Massillon, Ohio, rescued Faye Mathes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mathes, 2100 Chase Avenue, during a boating trip on the Wekiva River April 7.

The Mathes girl fell into the water while the boat was at anchor. Bryan immediately dove into the water and swam to the side of the panic-stricken girl. Despite determined resistance and a strong current, he was able to swim with the girl about 100 yards to shallow water where he received help from the girl's father and uncle.

For his heroic action, Bryan will receive a letter of commendation during special ceremonies Thursday at NAS. The commendation will be presented by Cdr. Leonard J. Reinhardt, commanding officer of Heavy Attack Squadron One.

U. S. Steel Nears Decision

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The giant U. S. Steel Corp. today may disclose its position on the sensitive question of price increases in the industry. Two smaller firms already have announced price hikes.

Lukens Steel Co., of Coatesville, Pa., stirred the watchfulness of President Kennedy and the rest of the industry Sunday when it announced increases ranging from $5 to $7 a ton. Wheeling Steel Corp. had announced hikes last Tuesday.

U. S. Steel, the nation's number one producer and the bellwether of the industry, will influence the rest of the steel firms whichever way it moves.

If it raises prices, the rest of the industry may follow suit. This probably would precipitate new wage demands from the Steelworkers Union, which is free to reopen talks for pay and fringe benefit increases on May 1.

Football Libel Trial Slated

ATLANTA (UPI) — Federal District Judge Lewis R. Morgan today set the week of Aug. 5 to try a $10 million libel suit brought by Wallace Butts against the publishers of the Saturday Evening Post.

The former Georgia athletic director sued the Curtis Publishing Co. for accusations published by the Post saying Butts "rigged" last fall's Alabama-Georgia football game.

Honor Student Killer Faces Court Hearing

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — A hearing was scheduled today to decide if a studious-looking high school honor student who admitted killing the two-man crew of a charter boat should be bound over for grand jury action.

The hearing was set before County Judge Hedio Gomez when 17-year-old Roger Foster pleaded guilty to the murder of skipper Douglas Trevor, 47, and his first mate son, Edward, at an arraignment Sunday.

Police said the husky son of a Griffin, Ga., physician remained "calm and very coherent" in jail while undergoing questioning.

Sheriff's Investigator Robert L. Brown said the youth told him he dumped the bodies of the father and son overboard near a small group of islands 20 miles west of here called the Marquesas Keys.

Foster told authorities he tried to commit suicide in a motel here Wednesday night, but when he couldn't go through with it, he decided to charter a boat and take his life at sea.

The "boy of the month" student told investigators he killed the Trevors when his plan for getting them off the chartered boat, the Dream Girl, went awry. Brown said the youth told authorities he stabbed the older Trevor in a brief struggle on the lower deck, then knifed the younger man while he was trying to call the Coast Guard for help.

Clerk Item On Agenda

The matter of hiring an assistant town clerk in Casselberry will come up for further discussion at today's 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Board of Aldermen in Town Hall.

Other items hanging from last week's meeting for tonight's agenda include the possibility of hiring a traffic control officer for the town and approval of the March financial statement.

VAH-5 Set To Deploy

The "Savage Sons of Sanford"—Heavy Attack Squadron Five—is departing today for a short cruise aboard the Attack Carrier Forrestal.

During this cruise, the squadron will be conducting its annual Operational Readiness Inspection which will demonstrate the squadron's readiness to perform its assigned mission of all weather attack. The "Sons" will also be participating in the Forrestal's annual Readiness Inspection as part of Carrier Air Group Eight.

Exiles May Reveal Embarrassing Paper

MIAMI (UPI)—The Cuban Revolutionary Council meets here today to decide whether to reveal a document it says will "embarrass" the Kennedy administration and to plan the future of Council President Jose Miró Cardona.

In Washington, however, high state department officials said that any charges made publicly that President Kennedy had secretly promised the exiles support to overthrow the Castro regime and then had reneged on his pledge would be challenged forcefully.

Miró resigned from the council last week in protest against this country's Cuban policies. The exile group backed Miró's criticisms, but rejected the resignation.

Miró's resignation letter reportedly outlines President Kennedy's public and private assertions to him about the eventual liberation of Communist Cuba.

But state department officials insisted today that Miró's resignation followed the administration's rejection of his ultimatum to resign unless the United States supplied him with $50 million to develop invasion plans.

A council spokesman here has termed this report "false and tendentious."

One member of the council, the largest Cuban exile organization in Miami, said that if Miró's letter were made public, "it would prove very embarrassing for the Kennedy administration." But he said he will ask the entire council to endorse the letter before releasing it.

U. S. officials, making no attempt to hide their anger over Miró's attitude, are holding fast to their story that Miró came to Washington on April 5 to present his demands in a highly emotional state.

MAS Housing Bid Awarded To Native Son

Recently, a contract was awarded to the successful low bidder, Andrew C. King, North Miami Beach, Florida, for the construction of eight sets of housing at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

The contract award price of $144,117.00 includes family units of the single and duplex types, three for officers and five for enlisted personnel.

This project will be completed with landscaping, sidewalks, streets, storm drainage and water and electrical distribution. Work on the housing is scheduled to be finished in early October.

King is a native of Sanford, as are his parents. He attended Seminole High School and went to Miami in 1945, entering the construction business as journeyman carpenter. King started his own business in 1950.

Millions Honor Resurrection

United Press International Millions of Americans celebrated the Resurrection of Christ Sunday in joyous services and Easter feasts.

From the time dawn met the nation on the Atlantic Seaboard until long after the sun had passed its zenith in the West, gay and reverent Christians celebrated anew the triumph of life over death, of spring over winter, of Christ's empty tomb over the burdened cross.

The brightness of the festive colors they wore in the season's new fashions were matched only by the splendor of the perfect spring day and their spirits cheered by the renewal of an age-old truth.

The solemn joy of the cry, "He is risen" echoed through caverns at Staten and Leasburg, Mo. It was heard at sunrise atop 11,500-foot Ajax Mountain near Aspen, Colo. It resounded from a Navy barge in the harbor at Long Beach, Calif., and across the runways at New York's Idlewild Airport.

More than 8,000 worshippers climbed to a knoll overlooking the hills of southwestern New Hampshire to attend sunrise services near Rindge, N. H., at the Cathedral of the Pines.

Sgt. Alvin York Fights For Life

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Sgt. Alvin York, one of America's mightiest fighting men, lay in critical condition today with both heart and lung trouble.

The 76-year-old World War I hero was brought to the St. Thomas Hospital here Saturday by ambulance from his Palm Mall, Tenn., home. He had been in the same hospital two weeks ago.

The hospital late Sunday night said that York's condition was still critical but noted that his blood pressure, which had been fluctuating, was back to normal.

Doctors were to get the results of tests this afternoon to determine whether the old soldier suffered permanent heart damage and to pinpoint other troubles.

York has been paralyzed from the waist down for the past eight years. He had been brought to St. Thomas in March this year when he had chest pain and it was feared he may have cracked a rib in falling out of his bed at home.

York won the nation's highest military honor—the Medal of Honor—for his World War I exploits. A mountain man who didn't want to fight, York was credited with single-handedly killing 132 Germans and taking 125 prisoners in a battle in the Argonne Forest 45 years ago.

First Hand Look

Residents and visitors will get a first hand look-see into what makes Seminole County tick industrially when the "Seminole Industrial Show" is staged Tuesday evening at the Civic Center.

Chairman Scott Burns has been working like the proverbial beaver to line up a "good show" and promises some unusual exhibits among those by more than 40 local companies.

Burns was most enthusiastic today when he announced there will be "an unusually good exhibit" by the Sanford Naval Air Station.

A highlight of the show will be a 15-minute address by Gov. Farris Bryant over a closed television hookup, starting at 8 p.m. Seminole's "Man of Industry" will be announced. There will be a fashion show for the ladies.

It's all a part of the state's Industry Appreciation Week, starting today.

So, for an evening's entertainment, along with obtaining an insight into the county's industrial growth... Y'ALL COME! It's free and there will be refreshments.

Brazil Woes Grow

By Stewart Hensley
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration, with its fingers crossed, is undertaking another effort to help Brazil straighten out its chaotic financial and economic affairs.

The outcome could prove critical for the Alliance for Progress, which is based on the principle of helping only those who help themselves. Brazil has promised to mend its ways in return for the new U. S. assistance.

President Kennedy's decision to advance Brazil another $100 million was an admitted gamble. But it was a gamble administration officials felt had to be taken to prevent economic collapse and possible revolution in South America's biggest country.

This time the United States, which has provided Brazil with $1.7 billion in aid since World War II without detecting any great results, has tied some strings to its assistance. It also has made it clear that Washington feels President Joao Goulart would do well to worry more about Communist infiltration of his government.

The new Brazilian aid agreement, signed last week, has disturbed some congressmen. Administration officials admit to some doubt whether Brazil can make good on her promises.

The problems facing this country of 71 million people are gigantic. Brazil's external debt now stands at $2.2 billion, with the United States the chief creditor.

U. S. aid and postponement of debt payment have failed to halt economic deterioration, despite the paradoxical fact that Brazil's rate of industrial growth—6 per cent annually—is the highest in the hemisphere.

The Brazilian government has 330,000 people on the payroll, and any administration that tries to reduce this swollen figure courts disaster at the polls. The cost of living in the country is estimated to have risen 52 per cent in the past year. The cruzado, once worth 100 to the dollar, has soared to more than 600 to the dollar.

Director David Bell of the Agency for International Development said the Kennedy administration was helping Brazil again, despite the dismal record of the past, because "we have been tremendously impressed" by a series of promises that country has made to reform various policies.

Another reason is that the United States has been startled by the growth of Communist strength in Brazil, particularly in the poverty-stricken section of the country. All these troubles have caused Goulart to pursue a somewhat wobbly "neutralist" course in some international matters.

Lyle C. Wilson Says: Recruiting Left Wingers?

Foxy old Norman Thomas (he's 78) would have us believe that President Kennedy has hamstringed the liberal movement in the United States by recruiting the best left wingers into his administration.

Thomas spoke last week to the left wing political organization, Americans for Democratic Action. The occasion was ADA's celebration of Roosevelt Day. Thomas is a Socialist, five times Socialist candidate for U. S. president, twice for mayor of New York, occasionally for governor and so forth. Socialist Thomas knows the liberal movement like the corridors of his own home.

He knows, therefore, that it was not the Kennedy administration that kidnapped the left wingers. The left wing ers, including Thomas' own Socialist Party, were kidnapped by Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

So, when Norman Thomas told the ADA that at present there is no independent liberal movement of any importance in the United States, he should not have assessed blame against the Kennedys. He should have been talking about the Hyde Park Roosevelts.

The left wing stampede for FDR's New Deal became apparent and was first publicized in 1935 on the basis of political surveys in industrial northern New Jersey. Election statistics underwrite now the conclusions drawn then, that the left wingers were moving into the Democratic party in force. For example: The Socialist party has been relatively strong in New York state. In 1920, the Socialist vote for president in New York State was 293,201.

Thereafter, the Socialist trend was down. In 1932, Thomas for president polled 177,397 New York votes against FDR and Herbert Hoover. Four years later, Thomas' vote was only 18,950 and in 1944 he got only 10,553 in New York. Against Harry Truman and Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, Thomas did better, 40,879 votes. The Socialist vote was down to 2,664 in 1952 when Dwight D. Eisenhower beat Adlai E. Stevenson.

Thomas told the ADA that the Kennedy administration was not getting very close to any frontier, either domestic or foreign.

Some of this will come as a shocking surprise to the Kennedys. Americans for Democratic Action has been rough on the Kennedys and on the President's performance on civil rights and in other areas in which ADA has special interests.

ADA's principal complaint against the Kennedys, however, is that they joined forces with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. ADA condemns Johnson as a conservative, anti-labor, gas-and-oil Democrat. A sort of coyote in the henhouse.

LITTLE MISS MUFFET

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Alice is the unfortunate victim of a sex feud that produced a divorce. And her mother is now using Adam's famous huckpassing strategy. So Alice's father is made to appear as a villain and heinous monster, though such divorces usually start in the bedroom and are chiefly due to the wife's "sins of omission."

CASE P-413: Alice W., aged 14, is a high school sophomore. "Dr. Crane," she asked during our forum discussion, "my parents are divorced."

"My mother now hates my father because he has married again. And she doesn't want me to visit him at all."

"Yet I am sure it is just to spite my daddy, for he has always been very nice to me."

"I don't know just what caused their divorce for I was only 8 years old at that time, but I would guess my mother was certainly half to blame."

"So why does she try to make my daddy seem entirely at fault?"

"We human beings often criticize other unmercifully who have our own faults."

"This is called 'projection' for we thus project our self-criticism upon some outside scapegoat."

"Even a youngster will do this. And it doesn't require any training, for the strategy develops spontaneously."

"For example, a boy may accidentally bump his shin on a chair."

"You mean old chair," he may then exclaim angrily. "Take that!" whereupon he kicks the innocent chair to vent his ire.

Actually, the chair was not to blame for it couldn't have gotten out of the boy's way if it had wanted to.

So the entire fault for that bump on his shin lay with the boy. He was clumsy or awkward or too lazy to turn on the light in the first place.

But nobody likes to deflate his ego by thus admitting that he has been stupid or lazy.

So human beings quickly "project" or externalize their anger upon somebody or something else.

Adam started this habit of passing the buck, for when God asked him sternly if he had tasted the forbidden fruit, remember what Adam said?

"The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat."

Ever since Adam's time, husbands have engaged universally in this most popular household sport, namely, blaming their wives for their own mistakes.

But Eve was a smart wife, so when she saw how cleverly Adam had sidestepped the issue, then Eve quickly adopted his back-passing strategy, too, by telling God:

"The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat."

Alice's mother may have been 75% at fault for the divorce. Perhaps she now realizes that fact, but it ranks her to realize that her sins of omission in the bedroom drove her husband to the other woman.

So she avoids self-criticism by projecting her combined ire and jealousy upon her husband. She wants to make him suffer and squirm and feel heart broken at not even being able to see his daughter, to whom he was deeply devoted.

Before you wives (or husbands) consider divorce PLEASE look ahead to the dilemmas that will then face your innocent child!

For they really should have a vote in every divorce, though you parents cast their proxy ballots, even in the courtroom.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. It can stop most divorces if you'll follow the simple sexual techniques outlined therein.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 5 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Everybody loves a parade, but the real annual March is now over.

It'd be really tough if all the pessimists and grouches were as bad off as they think they are.

Authorities disagree on why you have to sleep, and so do youngsters disagree when they want to stay up and watch television.

Peter Edson Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The consensus at the black tie dinner honoring Harry Flood Byrd's 30 years of continuous service in the U. S. Senate was that the Virginia gentleman apple grower will run for re-election in 1964.

"If he doesn't, all hell will break loose in Virginia among the people who want to succeed him," one Old Dominion official put it.

And if that happens, the famous Byrd political organization—the most effective but the loosest-knit political machine in the United States, built around the personality of one leader—might well fall apart.

Byrd will be 76 in June. If he runs he will be re-elected, and he would be 83 at the end of another term.

But as Virgilinus Dahney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, said to unanimous applause: "I hope he runs for another term in 1964. Any man who can climb Old Rag Mountain every year, leading younger men, is able to serve a sixth term."

Byrd did announce that he would resign at the end of his fourth term, when he was a mere 71. But all his cohorts and followers demanded that he run again. And in that connection, Vice President Lyndon Johnson told this story:

Among those who went down to Richmond to make impassioned speeches that Byrd should change his decision not to run was the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla. As ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee Kerr might succeed to the chairmanship if Chairman Byrd retired.

Three days after Kerr pulled off all his oratorical stops in an appeal that Byrd must run for re-election, the withdrawal was withdrawn. And the erstwhile Kerr came to Johnson, who was then majority leader to ask, "Why do you reckon Harry changed his mind?"

Johnson in turn asked his long-time desk-mate Byrd and got the cryptic reply, "I just couldn't let Hob down."

"It was the only time," Kerr commented later, "that Harry Byrd ever paid a damned bit of attention to any of my speeches."

These were just a couple of the highlights at the Smithfield (Virginia) ham and (imported) champagne dinner which the Reader's Digest gave for some 300 of Byrd's colleagues and admirers to mark—a month late—the 30th anniversary of his original appointment to the U. S. Senate, March 4, 1933.

"Just think of it," said the Digest's executive editor Horst Lewis, who presided. "Senator Byrd has been down here holding his finger in the dyke all this time. We wanted to title an article about him, 'Profile in Courage,' but decided not to."

Bernard Baruch, now 93, came up from South Carolina to honor the 75-year-old Byrd with this tribute: "If Diogenes had lived in this age, he would have put out his lantern and gone home, happy to have found his honest man."

There were more than 200 Republican senators at the dinner as Democratic senators, which was only to be expected. Because that's the kind of following and appeal Harry Byrd has.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen spoke for the Republicans, and also as a Virginian, because, as he said, his opponents back home in Illinois had accused him of being a "fugitive" when he built a house near Leechburg, Pa., "a $150,000 estate," they charged, though it was all on one floor.

"The Senate has just conferred on Winston Churchill the citizenship of the United States," said Dirksen. "We have no titles in America, but we have a nobility which has to be earned. And you (Senator Byrd) are of the nobility of free men."

There were other tributes galore which the senator modestly said later, he did not deserve, though they filled his heart.

At the end they gave the senator a golden apple because, as Lewis said: "We hope all your endeavors will bear fruit and that all of your days will be golden."

"I hope these can be raised on my trees," said Byrd. Somebody had pointed out earlier that in all his years as an apple grower, Byrd had never taken one soil conservation payment from the government and had never sold the government one apple.

That characterized him as well as anything said all evening.

Major Loop Wrapup

Phils Gets Boost From 'D'

By United Press International

You've only to look at Don Demeter's .474 batting average to understand why Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies calls him "Big D."

Big D is a sort of Jack of all trades with the Phillies but fortunately no matter where he plays he's become a master of the bat. And he's the most important reason why the Phillies were the hottest team in the National League over the second half of the 1963 season and today are in a three-way tie for first place with the San Francisco Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Demeter owes his development as a hitter directly to Mauch. Don used to be a free swinger who tried to pull every pitch. On Mauch's advice, he started to "hit with the pitch" last year and he wound up the season with a .307 average, 29 homers and 107 runs batted in.

Demeter staged virtually a one-man show in St. Louis Sunday when he collected six hits in nine at-bats and drove in three runs as the Phillies downed the Cardinals, 4-3 in 10 innings, and 5-4. Chief beneficiary of Demeter's blasting was relief ace Jack Baldschun, who received credit for both victories although he worked a total of only 2 1/2 innings.

The Chicago Cubs snapped the San Francisco Giants' four-game winning streak, 3-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 1-0, the Houston Colts defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-4, and the Milwaukee Braves topped the New York Mets, 1-0, in 10 innings in other NL games.

In the American League, the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles, 5-1, the Cleveland Indians scored a 6-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers, the Washington Senators edged out the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, and the Kansas City Athletics beat the Minnesota Twins, 5-4.

Demeter singled the winning run to third base in the 10th inning of Sunday's first game. Then he homered in the eighth inning to tie the nightcap and singled home the decisive run in the ninth. During the afternoon he also played first base, left field and center field.

Ron Santo scored one run on a double by Ernie Banks and drove in another with the solo homer to help the Cubs' Larry Jackson gain his first win of the season. Willie McCovey doubled home the only run for the Giants, who had won their first four games.

Al McBean yielded 10 hits but struck out five and walked only one in out-pitching the Reds' Joey Jay, who dropped his second straight decision. A walk to Bob Skinner and singles by Smoky Burgess, Donn Clendenon and Bill Virdon produced the game's only run in the fourth inning.

The Colts kayoted strikeout king Sandy Koufax in 5 1/2 innings and then hung on for the victory with Don McMahon shutting out the Dodgers on one hit for the last 1 1/2 innings. Pete Runnels and Howie Goswami had two hits each for the Colts and Frank Howard and Dick Tracewski had three each for the Dodgers.

Bob Hendley pitched a four-hitter against the Mets and finally won out in the 10th when the Braves scored on a walk to Lee Maye, Hendley's sacrifice and a single by Ty Cline. Roger Craig, a 24-game loser in 1962, allowed only seven hits but suffered his second straight loss.

There's no cure for what ails a pitcher like those New York Yankee plastrics.

The story has been told over and over again but it looks like there's a new example in Stan Williams, the 6-foot, 4-inch, 230-pound right-hander who walked home the San Francisco Giants' winning run in their 1962 play-off finale with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

It was an experience that could have made the 26-year-old Williams a couch case. Instead it made him a Yankee. Because the Yankees happily acquired the big fireballer in a winter deal that sent Bill Skowron to the Dodgers and caused New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk to predict that Williams would be the world champion's fourth starting pitcher.

Lyman Topples Crescent City

Lyman banged out 13 hits and got some superlative hurling by Gene Griffin to win over Crescent City Saturday, 10-1.

Greg Griffin in picking up the victory allowed only one hit while his teammates slammed Crescent City pitching for three runs in the first and led the game with four in the third.

Marvin Cook connected for two four-matters and Freddie Grant chimed in with a circuit clout to pace the hard-hitting Lyman squad.

Yowell's 1st In Play

Yowell's Navy and George's pace Little Major League baseball at the start of the season, official loops statistics revealed today.

Yowell's hold the National League lead with a 2-0 record while the Navy and George's are tied for first in the American League.

Second in the National loop is Standard Oil, 1-1 tied with First Federal and Chase, with identical 1-1 records. Locomotive Engineers hold down the cellar.

In the American League, following the Navy and George's, is Peoria, Peoria State Bank and the Sanford Atlantic Bank.

In Junior loop play, Kiwanis and CPO leads the pack followed by Shrine, Rotary, O. P. E. U.

In Softball league play, Babcock is first followed by Kingswood, Wilson - Maier, McHoney and Chase. In the women's league, Williams Restaurant is first, A&W second and Jet Lanes in the cellar.

THE KNOW-HOW

Do you know how to put out fires involving paints, oils, fats, gasoline, kerosene or paraffin? These sometimes occur when you're cooking or painting or refinishing furniture. Dump Baking Soda on the flames. Apply it quickly and generously, to smother flames before they can become deep-seated. Keep several pounds of baking soda on hand nearby when you work with these materials, just in case.

She also read a list of five tips on bad housekeepers, like getting help, throwing out unnecessary work, turning on charm when entertaining so the guests won't notice fingerprints and being a doll so devoted that your husband will be glad he married you in spite of dishes in the sink and chaos in the house. Discussion was held on pet gripes and peevish about housekeeping.

The group met at the Sunland home of Mrs. John Alexander for the program meeting and vice president, Mrs. Vernon Hardin, conducted the business session. Mrs. E. C. Harper Jr. announced that she attended a Nu Phi Mu meeting and that the girls conducted an interesting meeting and were making

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I can turn to with this problem and when you read it you'll know why. My husband likes a bottle of beer after dinner. I don't object to that because he never has more than one. But he likes to drink it out of the baby's bottle and nipple! I thought he was clowning when he fixed it that way once, but now that's the only way he'll drink it. He never does it when anyone else is around, but it makes me sick. The baby is only 7 months old, but he looks so puzzled when he sees his father with a bottle, too. Is this serious or not? My husband is 26 and I am 23.

respectable and lonesome. I am a small town guy who recently moved to a big city to take a daytime job and study law at night. Every evening I pass a certain bakery and see a girl working there. I can't get her out of my mind. She is tall and slim and looks about 20. She has beautiful dark eyes and hair. My problem is how to meet her. I don't know if she's married or going with someone or available. I'm afraid if I walk into the bakery and start a conversation with her she'll think I'm fresh and that will be the end of it. Have you any suggestions?

WORRIED WIFE

DEAR HONORABLE: Go into the bakery and buy half a dozen cookies. See if she has an engagement or wedding ring. If she's ringless, be just a very pleasant customer on first contact. A few days later, go back again and buy six more cookies. (This is to let her know you live alone; no family man buys six cookies.) Repeat this routine for about two weeks, and if she has any interest in you, she'll engage YOU in conversation. Otherwise, I hope you like cookies.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school sophomore and my mother still wants me in the house at twelve o'clock sharp every time I go out on a date. How can I let her know I am not a baby any more?

NOT A BABY

DEAR NOT: She knows. That's why she wants you in the house at twelve o'clock sharp.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single,

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The Association of American Playing Card Manufacturers conducts an annual intercollegiate bridge tournament in which the contestants play a series of preparatory hands. The players obtain points for both bidding and play and Bill Root and Harry Rossler who prepared this year's hands insure that everyone gets his chance to gain points for play by having the players bid first as they choose, but then play the hand at a directed official contract.

Dummy's ace of diamonds will be cashed and when West follows South will have accounted for all of his cards and will play East for the rest of the diamonds.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Grace and Fred Hechinger not only have found a name which neatly describes the world of the teen-ager (they call it "TeenAge Tyranny"). They have written a thoughtful book describing that world and how it happened. It's a book all American parents should read. And the younger their children are when they read it, the better. For "Teen Age Tyranny" doesn't start with teenagers. It begins much earlier. The pressures on parents that eventually lead to "TeenAge Tyranny" may start when a child is only 10.

Boy-girl parties that ape the dating pattern with obliging mothers chattering the child couples, often start in elementary school. Though many mothers are sensible enough to worry about their children being hurried toward too early dating, there are in every group silly mothers who dream up these parties and put the pressure on other mothers. Without the consent and even the co-operation of mothers, little girls of 10 or 11 wouldn't be having weekly appointments at beauty salons. They wouldn't be experimenting with lipstick. They wouldn't be giving parties that pair off boys and girls.

in line for such foolishness, they are laying the foundation for "TeenAge Tyranny." They are asking for it—and they are going to get it. So young parents of young children are the ones who will get the most from the book, "TeenAge Tyranny." They can learn how it starts—and be ready to say "No" to the very first pressures put on them to let their children do what "all the others" are doing.

Vocational Courses Now Open At DBJC

Vocational and business training courses open for new students at the Mary Karl Vocational Division of Daytona Beach Junior College beginning today were announced by Director Hal Massey. Automotive Mechanics, Basic Electricity, Cabinet Making, Horticulture (commercial landscaping and industrial nursery work), Cosmetology, Drafting (electronics and radio-TV). Applications will be taken for the September class in practical nursing, effect and letterpress training, small motor repair and watch repair. Information and program details will be given those contacting the vocational counselor on campus. Appointments may be made after Tuesday.

Without the co-operation of mothers, little boys wouldn't be sending little girls corsages, or taking them to dancing parties and Saturday afternoon movies, or practicing the twist instead of riding bikes and flying kites. Once parents start falling

Meshier Europe Bound

Cdr. Charles W. Meshier, the Chief Staff Officer of Heavy Attack Wing One for nearly two years, has received orders to the Joint-Staff of the Commander-in-Chief Europe in Paris, France, the Navy announced today.

Meshier will detach from the local command about June 10. His successor has not been officially disclosed. This is the Wing's second major staff change announced during the past month's time. In March Capt. Joseph M. Tully Jr., Wing Commander, received orders to the National War College in Washington, D. C. He will be relieved in early July by Comdr. James O. Mayo.

Meshier will be Operations and Plans Officer on the CincEur staff, replacing Captain James M. Nifong. He becomes eligible for selection to the rank of captain this July.

Meshier joined the Wing Staff in July 1961. He came here after an impressive tour as Commanding Officer of Heavy Attack Squadron Six at NAS Whidbey Island, Washington. During the year of his leadership VAH-6 made a Western Pacific deployment aboard the USS Ranger, flew incident and accident-free and won every Bomber Stream competition the squadron entered.

Meshier, a native of Lincoln, Neb., was a 1944 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy. He became a designated Naval Aviator in December 1945.

Much of his early career was devoted to developing, flying and testing helicopters. He has the unique distinction of making the third and fifth sea rescues ever made by helicopter.

In 1952 Meshier earned a Master's Degree in Aeronautical Engineering from Princeton University and soon thereafter put his skills to work with the Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington. During this tour he was engaged in extensive research, development and testing of Naval helicopters.

He rejoined the fleet as Operations Officer of Utility Squadron Seven in 1957, then in 1959 reported to fly the A3B Skywarrior attack bomber at NAS Whidbey. He served a year as executive officer of VAH-6 before assuming command of the squadron.

Cdr. Meshier, his wife Rusty and their three children live locally at 211 Forest Drive.

City Commissioners will leave for Tallahassee Thursday to meet with the delegation on approval of the cigarette tax which if okayed in the Legislature would give this city about $72,000 extra per year.

Speaking of the delegation, we tried to get Joe Davis this morning at 7 a.m. The switchboard operator at his motel said his phone was off the hook. Checked with Jan Fortune who told us he was getting along fine in the capitol and expected the delegation to make a decision on Fern Park incorporation sometime this week.

The non-profit Sanford Male Chorus may hold its concert April 20 at the Woman's Club since the City Fathers declined to go along with their request for free use of the Civic Center.

County Zoning board meets Wednesday for a continuance of last week's meeting while the city planning and zoning board will meet Thursday night to hear a request to rezone Celery Ave. to allow light industry.

VAB-11 expected back in Sanford the week of April 21.

Atty. Ken McIntosh was in Tallahassee and received an OK from the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund to build docks in Lake Monroe for the pipeline. He also brought back a long list of suggested legal changes in the charter of Casselberry for the Town Council's study and approval.

'ACL' President Tom Rice has pushed through the red tape to get that Pipeline Co. permit okayed.

Which reminds us... construction of the docks will start this week.

Spring grand jury dismissed as of midnight.

How about an Easter Parade here next year?

Nobody asked me but have you ever noticed how reckless some youngsters are riding their bikes coming out of side streets and driveways? Wish parents could do something about it.

Fred Dickinson will be the guest speaker at the quarterly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors Wednesday, April 21.

The mother of Monday's Herald "baby with the sun glasses" on the front page... we thought it was cute... was in today to buy 30 copies of the paper. "For relatives," she said.

Tonight's the night... the Industrial Show at the Civic Center. Your big opportunity this year to view the lifeline of Seminole County. Should be interesting as well as educational.

Have you ever given it a thought? Supposin' South Seminole's towns, villages and communities should band together into one city? And supposin' the county commission doesn't build a new courthouse here in the next decade? We might find the county seat right in the middle of Fern Park. Stranger things have happened.

The Good Samaritan Home for aged Negroes of the county is desperately in need of your help. Here is your opportunity to be a Good Samaritan yourself.

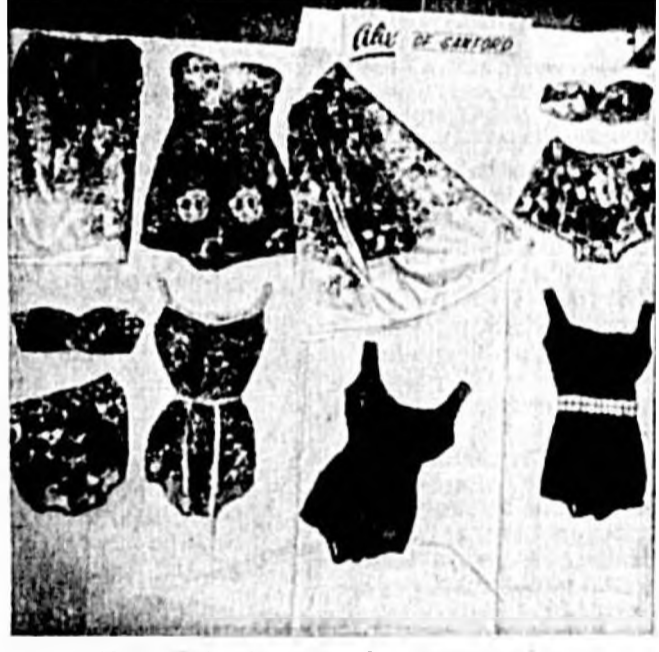

Bellemead still hasn't picked up their building permit... work was supposed to have started last Friday on that new A & P Store.

Lawmakers Get Bond Plan

Education Boost Sought

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) —The Governor's package program for a $125 million bond financing program for higher education went into the Legislature this today.

The two-bill package includes authorization to issue bonds and a companion measure setting out eligible university and junior college projects totalling $169.9 million.

A spokesman for Gov. Farris Bryant said the governor wants the Legislature to approve a broad enough construction program to give the cabinet latitude in selecting projects. But the $10 million a year state utility tax revenues earmarked to finance the bonds over a 30-year period would support only about $125 million in buildings.

The bill delineates $35.9 million in specific junior college buildings and $108.3 million in specific university projects plus a $22.7 million lump sum allocation for junior colleges.

Both bills received a double committee reference, which will slow down their progress but give Legislators critical of a full-scale bond program more time to study the advantages and disadvantages. References were to finance and taxation and higher education.

Meanwhile, Legislators who voted themselves a $10 daily expense allowance increase yesterday, voted to be a little more generous with other state employees.

With only one dissenting vote, the Senate Appropriations Committee sent to the floor a uniform state per diem and travel expense bill that would add an estimated $100,000 a year to the cost of government.

The bill raises the expense allowance for state employees traveling within Florida on business from $11 to $14 a day and up to state officials for in-state travel to $16 a day.

Fire Sweeps Boat Yard

MIAMI (UPI) — A fierce blaze, fed by highly combustible materials, enveloped a Miami boat yard early today causing heavy damage.

At the same time, another fire scorched several stores on Collins Avenue in downtown Miami Beach.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thiokol Chemical Corporation has received major contract awards for the development of large solid-fuel boosters for the Air Force, Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, reported today.

Kimmons Named Chief Of Staff For Attack Wing

Cdr. George W. Kimmons

The skipper of Sanford's Heavy Attack Squadron Nine, has been named Chief Staff Officer for Heavy Attack Wing One, the Navy announced today.

Kimmons, who recently deployed to the Mediterranean with his squadron aboard the USS Saratoga, will report to June to relieve Cdr. Charles W. Meshier, who currently is the Wing's second in command.

Meshier has orders to the Joint Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, Europe, in Paris, France.

Kimmons' assignment completes top rebel changes on the Wing staff. Last month Cdr. James O. Mayo was ordered to Sanford to replace Wing Commander Capt. Joseph M. Tully Jr. Tully will be relieved in July, then report to the National War College, Washington, D. C.

Kimmons recently began his fifth year in Heavy Attack Aviation. He came to Sanford in January 1959, underwent flight instruction in the A3B Skywarrior attack bomber at VAMI-3 and finally joined VAMI-1 as Operations Officer.

Casselberry Acts 'Contrariwise'

Casselberry Town Council, by its own admission Monday evening, moved contrariwise to overall plans for the community's future expansion.

L. E. Woodhams first raised the thought, in discussing the subject under question, that the Council was moving in opposite direction from action taken four weeks ago.

At that time the Council voted 4-1 to oppose incorporation for Fern Park because it could hamper future growth of Casselberry to the south.

Chairman Ed Lunn, who opposed the Fern Park vote, Monday evening elaborated on Woodhams' first pronouncement by pointing out that not only had the Casselberry Council objected to Fern Park's incorporation but also had voted to return any vacated property to the county.

The question was raised when Hibbard Casselberry, of Casselberry Gardens, renewed a request to vacate undeveloped plots spread throughout the town. Casselberry said he was desirous of having the areas returned to "agricultural" zoning to cut down on his real estate tax assessments by the county.

The Council did vote approval of vacating four pieces of Casselberry's property staggered throughout the Town but tabled action on two pieces, including the site of the water plant.

Referred to Mayor Fred Heath and Clerk Lillian Henning the matter of employing a part-time assistant to Mrs. Henning at $4.25 per hour.

Fixed May 13 for a discussion of the Town's audit and next year's budget.

Approved a mutual aid fire control agreement with Altamonte Springs.

Renamed all of an arterial route between SR 46 and Seminola Boulevard as Winter Park Drive "in order to expedite the flow of traffic."

Approved a lease with Casselberry Gardens for a recreational field and facilities at a $1 annual rental.

Approved Mayor Heath's appointment of James Hogan as a relief policeman, succeeding Fred Erdman, resigned as of April 30.

U. S. Steel Still Silent

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — U. S. Steel Corp. remained silent on the week-old steel price increase issue today despite an average $6 a ton hike by two more firms, including third-ranked Republic.

U. S. Steel, the nation's No. 1 producer, has not commented on the subject since Wheeling Steel Corp. last Tuesday announced a $6 per ton boost in several of its major products.

Also yet to be heard from were Bethlehem, No. 2, Inland, No. 8, and Kaiser, No. 9. The latter two, coincidentally, did not go along with last year's abortive increase.

But "Big Steel's" silence does not appear to be a deterrent and industry observers say it is only a matter of time before the "selective" increases are adopted by other major firms.

This feeling was based on Republic's action Monday. The third-ranked producer was the first of the "Big Three" to break the line and is said to have enough influence to make its increase hold.
