Flooded Pacific Coast Staggers In Blizzard

40 Persons Die; Damage $200 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An Arctic-spawned blizzard blasted parts of the flood-ravaged Pacific Coast with swirling snow today, insulating hundreds of persons in the rough mountain country near the California-Oregon line.

At least a foot of new snow was reported in the Klamath and Salmon river areas of California's Siskiyou County. The weather bureau predicted that the total could reach more than three feet. Disaster officials said about 500 persons were stranded in the lumbering communities of Sawyer's Bar, Salmon, Cecilville and Soma Bar.

The Red Cross in Washington, D. C., said more than 16,300 families suffered flood losses to their homes, farms or businesses.

The breakdown was 8,617 in California, 7,170 in Oregon, 365 in Idaho and 149 in Washington.

The flood-connected deaths included 20 in California, 17 in Oregon, two in Idaho and one in Nevada.

Eleven of the California victims died in the crashes of two helicopters involved in massive rescue and relief operation.

Others were killed trying to save their homes or neighbors from the rampaging water. The Nevada victim was 11-year-old Robert Osborne of Reno, who was in the Truckee River while trying to rescue his dog.

Vigilante Use Is Curtailed, Navy Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy has curtailed training flights in the RASC Vigilante Reconnaissance plane pending an investigation into a Dec. 23 crash, a spokesman said today.

The spokesman said that while training flights have been held up, there has been no interruption of use of the plane in the Pacific or Atlantic fleets.

The RASC recently joined the U. S. Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Built originally as a bomber, the Vigilante has been converted into a reconnaissance plane packed with electronic gear.

On Dec. 23, one of the planes on a training mission from Sanford crashed into a residential area in DeBary, Fla., and, according to reports to the Navy here, destroyed three houses and damaged several others.

The pilot was killed and the co-pilot injured.

The plane was demolished. A Navy spokesman said that the reason for the crash is so far unknown and it will be several more days before enough information is at hand to decide whether to suspend training flights or to order modifications in the airplane.

MAINE'S STATE CLASS I CHAMPIONS, the Ellsworth Eagles, arrived in Sanford Sunday afternoon for games tonight and Wednesday with the Oviedo High School Lions. Martha Vance Killed Sunday In Car Crash

Mrs. Martha Ellen Vance, wife of the late W. L. Vance, of Sanford, was killed Sunday in a two-car crash of U. S. 231 near Troy, Ala.

A prominent member of First Baptist Church of Sanford, Mrs. Vance was the mother of Mrs. June Brodie 108 Temple Drive, Sanford, and Mrs. Richard Barreineau, who now resides in California with her husband who is in the military service.

Mrs. Vance left Sanford Saturday for a holiday visit in Troy with her mother. Four other persons, none of whom were identified in reports received, were injured in the accidents.

First Baptist Church officials said this morning that Mrs. Vance had been superintendent of one of the Sunday school's beginner departments for the past 20 years.

Dog Credited With Capture

Tex, a police dog owned by Lt. Earl Hourquades, of the Sanford Police Department, today was credited with tracking down a would-be kidnaper and saving a Sanford woman from further assault.

At 1:19 a.m. Christmas morning, the Seminole County Sheriff's Department received a call from Harley Anderson, of E. Onora Road, who said that a man had broken into his house, beat him up and forced a woman, Rosa Green, to accompany him into a nearby woods.

Deputy Bill Chandler and Constable Bob Carroll called on the Sanford Police Department to bring a dog to track the man.

Florida Death Toll 24 Over 3-Day Holiday

MIAMI (UPI)—Eighteen people died on the highways and at least six more were killed in other accidents during the Christmas holiday in Florida that was climaxed by a 17-car smashup on an interstate highway Sunday.

Noah Hodges, 25, of Apopka, was the last victim reported by the highway patrol during the long holiday. Hodges was killed in an auto accident south of Plymouth Sunday night.

The Florida Highway Patrol said 18 persons received minor injuries in the mass collision on Interstate 75 near Ocala. Police said the accident was caused by an unidentified motorist who stopped in the road where the highway merges from four to two lanes.

Four drowned in fishing accidents and a Jacksonville fire claimed the life of a Jacksonville invalid during the holiday period that began at 6 p. m. Thursday and continued through midnight Sunday.

By Saturday night nine smashups had taken the lives of 13 people in Florida.

Killed Saturday were Steven C. Wetherington, 22; Lydia Eates Wetherington, 19; and Mrs. Gertrude Christy, 75, all of Orlando.

A United Press International count showed 578 traffic deaths throughout the U. S. during the holiday. The breakdown of all accidental deaths: Traffic, 576; fires, 47; planes 18, and miscellaneous, 62, for a total of 703.

Sanford Guardsmen Save Youth

Two young National Guardsmen from Sanford are credited with saving the life of a 13-year-old Orange City boy, buried in a cave-in Saturday.

Raymond King, 20, of Lake Monroe, and Robert Murphy, 19, of Sanford were on their way back from DeLand, on SR 13A, just off Hwy. 17-92, when they were halted by Mike Blendinger and Calvin Malone, both 12, of Orange City, who said a companion had been buried in the sand of a cave the boys were trying to dig.

King and Murphy ran to the spot, grabbed David Lamb by his feet and pulled him out of the cave where he was buried head first down to his knees.

A passing motorist, Mrs. Carl Foote, who observed the happenings, called an ambulance. After a check-up Lamb was taken to his Orange City home, apparently none the worse for his experience.

Haydon Burns Fifth Mayor To Sweep Into Governor's Chair

By Hampton Dunn

In years past, voters haven't often looked to City Hall in Florida to pick a Chief Executive to run their State. Most of our Governors aimed for the Governor's Mansion via the legislative chambers, and that's where the people got to know them.

But Haydon Burns, longtime Mayor of Jacksonville, didn't let this political idiosyncrasy deter him from capturing the State's highest honor.

In sweeping to victory, Burns defeated in the Democratic runoff the Mayor of another large municipality, Robert King High, of Miami. He, like Burns, had had no experience in the State Capitol. Running third in the contest was Scott Kelly, former Mayor of Lakeland but better known statewide because of his service in the State Senate.

Trailing behind this trio were three men well known for their legislative services—former House member and State Senator Fred O. Dickinson of West Palm Beach, State Sen. John E. McInnes of Jacksonville, and State Rep. Frederick Karl, of Daytona Beach.

In the general election, Burns brushed away State Rep. Charles Holley, of St.

Petersburg, the Republican nominee.

Prior to Burns' smashing victory, only twice before in modern history, and just twice before then, has a municipal chief been named Governor.

The most recent occurrence was in the 1924 campaign when another Mayor of Jacksonville—John W. Martin—turned the trick. That was 40 years ago. A native of Marion County, Martin had only four years formal schooling in the rural schools but became a self-made man. Moving to Jacksonville, he studied law at night, passed the bar and went into practice. A brilliant orator, Martin was elected Mayor at the age of 32, the youngest in the history of the city, and served three terms, in his campaign for Governor, Martin stressed the need for good roads and business administration in State Government. Among his opponents in that campaign was a former Governor, Sidney J. Catts, also known for his flamboyant speaking ability.

In the governor's race before that, in 1920, another Jacksonville Mayor—Van C. Swearingen—did not fare so well. Also a former city judge of the Gateway City, Swearingen ran second to Cary A. Hardee of Live Oak. Hardee got 52,591 "first choice" votes to Swearingen's 30,240. Third man in the race was Lincoln Hulley, president of Stetson University, at the time, with about 8,000 votes.

The late Park Trammell was an ex-Mayor of Lakeland when he entered the Governor's race in 1912. He emerged the winner over four opponents. Trammell went down in history as "the most successful man who ever entered public life in Florida." He was never defeated for public office. His public service spanned some 40 years, about half of which was served in the U. S. Senate. (A fellow Polk Countyman, present U. S. Senator Spessard L. Holland, has an equally spectacular record and has exceeded Trammell's tenure in public office.)

Two other Florida cities have sent their Mayors to the Governor's office in Tallahassee. One of them, David Walker, had only to move down the street from the City Hall in the capital city to the State Capitol. The Tallahasseean became Governor immediately after the Civil War, in December, 1865.

Earlier that same year, upon the death by suicide of Florida's Civil War Governor, John Milton, a former Mayor of Apalachicola—A. K. Allison—served as Acting Governor during April and May, stepping up to the post from President of the State Senate. He was among the Confederate leaders who subsequently served in the Senate after stepping down as Chief Executive of the state.

Never having served in the Legislature, Burns is an inveterate from the norm of the past preferred men with legislative experience.

The last 30 Governors of Florida had legislative experience. The last man without this lawmaking experience to become Governor was John W. Martin in 1924—40 years ago!

Two men became Acting Governor by virtue of their position as President of the State Senate. They were A. K. Allison, who served briefly in 1885 upon the death of John Milton, and Sen. Charles E. Johns of Starke, who succeeded the late Dan McCarty of Fort Pierce upon his death in 1953 but who failed to win a full term in the next election.

Two elected Governors had served as President of the State Senate. They were Park Trammell, president in 1905, and Fred P. Cone, president in 1911.

Seven legislators who later became Governor had served as Speaker of the House. The men, and the years they were Speaker, were: A. K. Allison (1872), M. L. Stearns (1880), W. S. Jennings (1895), A. W. Gikhrat, (1905), Gary A. Hardee (1915 and 1917), Dan McCarty (1941) and Francis Bryant (1953).

It would be simpler here to list the former Governors who had no legislative background than to name those who had. In addition to Burns and Martin, the nonlegislative Governors were Harrison Reed (1868-72), who had served as U. S. Tax Commissioner and Postal Agent; George F. Drew (1877-81), Edward A. Perry (1885-89), Francis P. Fleming (1889-93) and Sidney J. Catts (1917-21), all of whom had held no public office before their governorships, nor afterwards either.

G. T. Willey Appointed Director

G. T. Willey, vice president and general manager of the Orlando division of the Martin Company, has been elected to the board of directors of the Winter Park Telephone Company, according to President J. K. Galloway.

"The addition of Mr. Willey to our board of directors will provide us with valuable advice in the field of long-range planning," said Galloway. "The impact of the Martin Company on the Central Florida area has given Willey a basis of judgment that is important to our future operations."

Galloway added that Willey's background, in engineering and electronics are particularly appropriate to his association with the telephone business.

"As a resident of Winter Park his association with this community is valuable to our company and our stockholders," Galloway emphasized. The Winter Park company now serves some 32,000 telephones in the northern part of Orange County and south part of Seminole County, including Winter Park, Maitland, Casselberry, Longwood, Fern Park, Forest City, Altamonte Springs, Eatontonville and Gold creek.

Willey joined the Martin Company in 1929 after working with the Vickers Company in Montreal and the Bristol Airplane Company in England.

He holds an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Rollins College and an honorary degree of doctor of science from Stetson University.

Willey is director of many local civic and service groups. He is also director of the First National Bank at Orlando and R. G. LeTourneau, Inc. He is director-at-large of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and director of the Central Florida Development Committee. He is honorary chairman of the Board of Junior Achievement of Orange County.

Willey received the Central

Florida Sales and Marketing Executives Club's "Salesman of the Year Award" in 1963 and the United States Air Force "Systems Command Award" for Outstanding Achievement in 1964.

Lindstrom Idea 'Best Overall' Lighting Entry

By Dottie Austin
The creative, decorating ideas of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lindstrom of 111 Jenkins Circle, Pinecrest, have won for them the title of "best overall" in the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees Christmas Lighting Contest, Dave Berrien, chairman, announced today.

There were three categories of entries with first and second place winners and one winner in the commercial decorations, he noted.
Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Place, of 125 Pinecrest Drive, took first place in the "traditional" category. The home of Mrs. Donald T. Reagan at 242 Key Avenue was named to second place.

In the "artistic" category, the Lindstroms' home was first, with the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Brooke Smith taking the second place prize.
Among the entries in the religious theme lighting, first place was won by Scott Skibenes, of 2624 El Portal Avenue. Second prize winner was Gretchen Lewis-Crawell, of 1800 South Palmetto Avenue.

First Federal Savings and Loan Building was judged best in the commercial category and will receive the Florida Power and Light Company's traveling trophy.

Judges who had the problem of choosing between the many fine entries were Mrs. Sara King, Sanford head librarian, and Mr. and Mrs. Al King, of Loupoe, Calif., visiting here.

The first and second place winners trophies are donated by Florida State Bank, Sanford Atlantic National Bank, The Sanford Herald and Florida Power and Light. They will be presented at the Jan. 28 Jaycee Luncheon at the Civic Center.

"We noticed as we toured the city, that there were many fine displays which were not entered in the contest and might well have won a prize," said Berrien.

"The Jaycees would like to urge everyone who decorates with lights next year to enter the contest," he said.

U. S. Population Tops 193 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau estimates that the U. S. population as of Nov. 1 was 192,320,000, up 12,997,000 or 7.2 per cent from the last census on April 1, 1960.
Including armed forces aboard the Nov. 1 estimate would be 193,038,000.

Mourner Weeps, Mortician Loses

VERONA, N. J. (UPI)—An apparently distraught woman collapsed in the arms of funeral director Michael Prout as she told of the death of her mother.

After the woman left, Prout discovered his wallet containing $20 also was gone.

Hugh Taylor Oilers' Coach

HOUSTON (UPI)—Sammy Haugh and Hugh (Boss) Taylor, the one-time pass-catch combination of the Washington Redskins switched titles Tuesday, making Taylor the fifth head coach of the Houston Oilers since the club was founded five years ago.

At a press conference, Houston owner K. S. (Bud) Adams announced Taylor was being moved from his job as defensive backfield coach to head coach, replacing Haugh who unexpectedly resigned last Friday.

I Could Have Danced All Night

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Transient Bill Salazar, 31, hoped to spend the night in a hollow space under the sidewalk near an excavation site in the downtown area.

But he put his foot in a cable loop accidentally, lost his balance and tumbled into the excavation head-first.

For eight hours, he dangled hanging by his ankle through the cold, wet night. His cries for help were finally heard by a passer-by next morning.

Scouts On 3-Day Trip

By Herb Pedrick
Associate Advisor

A three-day, 20-mile wilderness canoe and camping trip, starting from Lake Ashby, was a highlight for Explorers and Boy Scouts.

Thirteen young adults and their leaders, Bill Duxbury, of Post 501, and the writer, of Post 502, packed camping gear into eight canoes for the holiday.

The canoeists found themselves in darkness by the time they were in the middle of the lake but with the use of headlamps and spotlights, the headwater of Deep Creek was easily sighted and after a short trip down the creek the adventurers found suitable dry land for the evening's camping.

One of the highlights of the trip was fish jumping in one of the canoes. When Paul Gilmartin and Butch Kendrick's canoe entered Deep Creek, they disturbed a two-pound bass, that was under the hyacinths, with their paddles and it jumped in their canoe.

Camping was done on the banks of the creek. Friday evening and lean-tos were made with the canoes. After a hearty supper, most of the tired Scouts hit the sack early with the anticipation of a long and strenuous day ahead.

Saturday morning the eager boys were underway and 10 minutes later, the first log jam was encountered and the beginning of many more portages to come, which made the trip difficult but intriguing and adventurous.

Six miles down creek the Scouts made a rest stop to replenish their spent energy with food and recount their experiences of sighting deer and other wild life. Part of their lunch consisted of wild oranges picked along the creek bank.

Saturday night the group camped a short distance from the St. Johns River and this stop-over gave the "swimmers" a chance to dry their wet clothes. While chopping out trees that had fallen across the creek some of the axmen lost their footing and slipped into the creek and a cold bath was had.

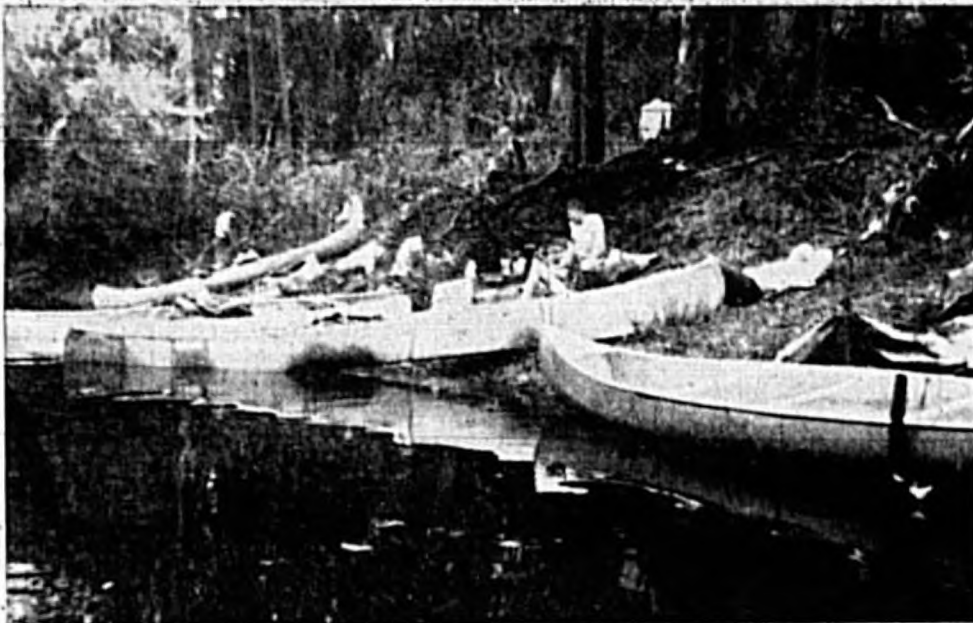

During the evenings cooking over fires, the aroma traveled so far, it brought in two hunting dogs and they enjoyed their supper, too.

Sunday morning the campers broke camp and proceeded down the creek to the Osceola Fish Camp on the St. Johns River to drop off some of the young men and their canoes to enable them to attend church in Sanford. The trip was continued down the St. Johns River to Lemon Bluff fish camp. En route to the Bluff, many possible future camp sites were noticed and a future canoe trip was discussed.

The canoeists would like to thank John Cassidy of Longwood, for the use of his canoe trailer to make the trip possible as well as one of the Explorer's fathers, Bill Moore, for transporting the trailer up to Osceola Fish Camp early Sunday morning to bring some of the canoes back to Sanford and Mrs. Pedrick for taking the trailer up to Lemon Bluff to pick up the remaining canoes that completed the trip.

Participating in the canoe trip were Earl Tilson, of Troop 34; Chuck Scott, Bob Jackson, Jay Stokes and Bill Halback, of Troop 242; Curt Abney, Butch West, Ken Von Herbulis and Rick Michels of Post 502, and Butch Kendrick, Steve Stankiewicz, Eugene and Paul Gilmartin, of Troop 543.

Another canoe trip of this type is planned for the near future to a different location and will be for the Explorer-age young men.

REST AND LUNCH STOP made by weary canoeists on Deep Creek. Rick Michels getting his rest while Butch West, Curt Abney, Bill Duxbury, Bill Halback, Gene Gilmartin, Steve Stankiewicz were preparing their lunch.

ONE OF THE MINOR LOG JAMS being sawed out by Bill Duxbury and Bill Halback while Steve Stankiewicz, Curt Abney and Butch West supervise.

PREPARING BREAKFAST after a restful sleep under improvised canoe lean-to along the banks of Deep Creek.

FUNDS collected at a joint meeting of the Longwood Volunteer Fire Department and Auxiliary for benefit of Mrs. Kenneth Brabazon are turned over to Mrs. Brennetta Morris (right), fund chairman, by Mrs. Jean Willis, auxiliary president.

Longwood Sets Court Sessions For Thursday

British Plumbing Held As 'Quaint'

LONDON (UPI)—A British Travel and Holiday Association spokesman told an investigation showed British hotels have deplorable bathroom facilities, shrugged and said: "American visitors to Britain, who are used to a much higher standard, do not complain about these conditions. They just think, 'well, we are in Britain and their plumbing is rather quaint.'"

Ellsworth Quintet, Oviedo Five Clash This Evening

Maine Team Welcomed For Holiday

By Marshall Ling
The Ellsworth High Eagles, Class L champions of Maine, rolled into Sanford yesterday aboard the ACL's West Coast Champion ready for a two-game series with the Oviedo High Lions.

The first game will be played at 8 p.m. tonight at the Lyman High Gymnasium in Longwood. The set of titles was approved by the high school activities associations in both Florida and Maine and by the national group.

The second affair will be played between the same two clubs Wednesday night in Oviedo.

A letter of welcome from Florida's Gov. Farris Bryant was read during the brief arrival ceremonies. In addition, a letter of greeting from Maine's Gov. John Reed was also read.

The Eagles were welcomed to Seminole County and Oviedo by Oviedo's Mayor Lee Gary when the entourage of 12 players, two managers, Coach Stuart and a faculty advisor arrived in Sanford. Also on hand to greet the visitors was the Oviedo High band and a host of Oviedo basketball players, other students, parents and civic leaders.

Shortly after their arrival the Eagles were honored at a luncheon at the Pinercrest Inn. Last night they were honored at the First Baptist Church of Oviedo and at 7:30 this morning they departed by bus for the east coast for a "VIP" tour of Cape Kennedy.

Tuesday the Eagles will go to Silver Springs and Wednesday they will see Cypress Gardens. On these trips the Eagles will be accompanied by Oviedo school officials and student groups.

Although Oviedo has the best won and lost record so far this season, the Eagles will be favored in tonight's initial contest. This is mainly due to the height advantage the Maine club has on the Lions.

The Ellsworth quintet is led by 6-foot-5 John Nash and the roster includes several other hardboarders who tower over the 6-foot level. On the other hand, the Lions don't have a single member of the squad over 6-feet but the Oviedo five is long on experience and they'll use this advantage to try to offset the height edge the Eagles maintain.

The games will be taped by radio stations WJFA in Ellsworth and WTRR in Sanford for rebroadcast.

Taylor, the Eagle coach, has been in charge of the Ellsworth club for the past five seasons. Although they are the defending state champs in their class, the bulk of the Eagles who won the title last season are no longer on the squad. This year they have won only one of five games but Taylor is expecting the club to jell anytime and they do have considerable potential as soon as they get more experience.

The Lions have split four titles this season. They were downed twice by the Metro's Colonial Grenadiers but posted victories over Lyman and Umattilla.

Football To Display Top Wares

United Press International — The Southeastern and Southwest conferences, which are constantly engaged in a verbal battle regarding football superiority, display their prime wares on New Year's Day in three of the four major bowl games—with the SEC already holding the upper hand.

The SEC sends national champion Alabama in quest of its second perfect season in four years in Miami's Orange Bowl and perennial powerhouse Louisiana State into the Sugar Bowl, where it meets Syracuse.

Texas, national champion last year and the runnerup in the HWC, opposes "Bama in the Orange classic, and second-ranked Arkansas, southwest champion, tackles Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Mighty Michigan, Big Ten kingpin, tangles with Oregon State in the Rose Bowl to complete the New Year's Day picture.

The SEC took the initiative in this inter-sectional rivalry when Georgia whipped Texas Tech, 7-0, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Saturday in one of two bowl games played that day.

The North toppled the South squad, 10-6, in the 27th annual Blue-Gray game in the other bowl contest.

Boggs Smashes Pins For A 550

John Boggs had himself a fine present of a 210 game and a 550 series while rolling for the Handicappers in the Saturday Morning Junior League at Jet Lane as they won all four points from their opponents the Alley Cats. It was doubly rewarding for John because the youngsters were having their annual Christmas party and the good game and series entitled him to a prize of a bowling pass good for three games.

In other competition at the Christmas party, the bowlers received games and toys as their reward for good efforts. Frank Patterson came in for a prize as he rolled 191-514 while paring the Gully Dusters in a three game romp over the Zulus. The Lucky Strikes won three from the Four Pros as Don Nicholas notched a 180/518 series to barely nudge John Smith with a 186/517 series. The Masters grabbed a four game sweep at the expense of the New Breed team despite some fine rolling by Ralph Unger who tallied a 180/510 series.

Jim Woods set the pace for the Unbeatable's in a three point win as he hit for a 190/527 series. The Pin Boys plus Two waged a stalemate with the L.F.M.I.'s with Tom Petrunic grabbing high series honors with 186/530.

Kevin Spolaki paced the Saturday Morning League with a 182/546 series while pacing the Beatles in a three game win over the Jet Bowlers and thus found himself the recipient of a nice prize at the party. The Beatles' also were three game winners over the Beatles and the Pin Smashers and the Impatient Bowlers battled to a tie.

Hicks Third

OSBERSDORF, Ger. (UPI) — Dave Hicks, 19-year old United States star, finished third in the Osberdorf international ski jumping meet Sunday.

The games will be taped by radio stations WJFA in Ellsworth and WTRR in Sanford for rebroadcast.

Members of the visiting squad are John Petros, John Hoyal, John Linnehan, John Whitmore, Wayne Mayo, Jim Markos, Larry Gross, Steve Bethem, Mark Nash, Greg Stanley and Bruce Braley.

Taylor, the Eagle coach, has been in charge of the Ellsworth club for the past five seasons. Although they are the defending state champs in their class, the bulk of the Eagles who won the title last season are no longer on the squad. This year they have won only one of five games but Taylor is expecting the club to jell anytime and they do have considerable potential as soon as they get more experience.

The Lions have split four titles this season. They were downed twice by the Metro's Colonial Grenadiers but posted victories over Lyman and Umattilla.

ON JIM'S TREE — As the Cleveland Browns and the Baltimore Colts prepared for their National Football League championship game yesterday, there's one player who can look back on a record-breaking Christmas. That's Jim Brown. Above, photographers dramatized what the record books say as he reaches the height of his career. Not mentioned: this season Jim hit the 1,446-yard-gained mark for the seventh time in his eight seasons as a pro.

Cleveland Downs Colts 27-0 To Snag NFL Title

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns are champions of the National Football League today because quarterback Frank Ryan, who holds a master's degree in higher mathematics, remembered his simple arithmetic.

Two minus two is zero, reasoned Frank, and with "Mr. Zero" covering wide-open flanker back Gary Collins it took only basic subtraction and an accurate passing arm to lob three touchdowns, throws to Gary as the Browns swept majestically to the NFL championship Sunday by demolishing the favored Baltimore Colts, 27-0.

"They were doubling on Paul Warfield so that had to leave somebody open," said Collins, whose three TD receptions set a league title game record. "It just happened to be me."

Warfield, a rookie out of Ohio State and Cleveland's top receiver, was an infrequent target and caught only one pass for 13 yards while the Colts were double-teaming him with corner back Lenny Lyles and right safety Jim Welch.

Collins caught only five but three were money in the bank for touchdowns from 18, 42 and 51 yards out.

The sudden collapse of the Colts in the third period was a complete shock to the 79,844 packed into Cleveland's vast stadium trying to keep warm in a 20 mile an hour wind off Lake Erie that had the thermometer right at the freezing point.

For 33 minutes and 21 seconds of actual playing time, the Browns and the Colts not only were scoreless but so locked in a defensive struggle it appeared a field goal somewhere along the line would decide the 45th NFL title and the difference between an $8,000 share for the winners or $5,000 for the losers.

At 3:21 of the third period, big old Lou Groza booted a 43-yard field goal to shatter the futility.

At 6:28, after the superb Jimmy Brown had contributed a 48-yard run to his day's total of 114 yards in 27 carries, Ryan fired his first strike to Collins.

At 8:48, with the Browns in possession on Baltimore's 42 as a result of the second wind-blown punt by Tim Gilburg good for only 22 yards, Ryan unloaded another one to Collins for 42 yards to complete a 17-point third period spurt.

Groza popped over his second field goal from the 10 at the start of the fourth period and Ryan put some more arithmetic to work by pitching a 51-yard touchdown to Collins.

Groza, appearing in his eighth title game to tie a durability record set by Andy Robustelli of the New York Giants, extended his own championship marks to eight field goals and 25 conversion attempts.

Thus, the Browns regained the NFL throne for the first time since 1955 and the fourth time in eight tries. They previously won in 1950 and 1954 after sweeping the board in the ill-fated All-America Conference during the first four years of their existence.

Michigan, St. John's Favored In Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan, the nation's No. 1 ranked team, and St. John's, one of the East's powerhouses, are solid favorites to win their opening round games today and tonight in the 13th annual Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

Michigan (6-1) opposes Manhattan (5-1) and Temple (5-2) plays Cincinnati (6-1) in a night doubleheader.

Between Us Fans

By Murray Olderman
NEA Sports Editor

Now it's a well known fact that Cookie Gilchrist has seen the inside of a Buffalo precinct station and doesn't practice brotherly love with the men in blue. But in the dressing room tumult after Buffalo beat Boston in the AFL's Mush Bowl, the big Bill full-back gathered round him the five cops assigned to that station and yelled for a photographer. "See," he exulted while he embraced the Hub's finest, "I'm big with the cops in Boston."

A year ago linebacker Bill Koman of the St. Louis Cardinals announced he was quitting because he'd never been named to the Pro Bowl, an honor he felt long due him. He was lured back this season and finally gained that distinction. Now he says, "I don't know if I deserve to go or not. I played six or seven good games. The rest of the time I was hurt and shouldn't have been playing."

Darts of criticism haven't tempefed Jimmy Brown, the great Cleveland fullback, who divides people into friends or enemies — with one criterion being whether or not they liked his book, "Off My Chest." "I was a target with out ever saying anything," he says. "People still take pot shots at me . . . because of the color of my skin." He feels he can go two more years at top speed as a running back, and then it'll be time to quit.

Jim Lee Howell, the Giants' personnel director, made a pitch to a kid they were interested in. The kid told him, "You're off $30,000 for the first year alone."

Ev Case, just retired as basketball coach at North Carolina State has followed a midday nap regimen for years. From 12 to 3 he is not to be disturbed, no matter what hotel he's staying in. He gets around intrusions by checking in as "Mr. Simmons" — after a well known interspring. The team he turned over to Press Maravich at State isn't designed to give any coach trouble. Of the 12-man traveling squad, eight are married . . . One of them, Pete Coker, is a transfer from an Ivy League school. Why? "I wanted to play basketball," answers Pete simply, "where they care whether we win or lose."

The Van Arsdale twins of Indiana are rated good pro basketball prospects and are interested. There's just one problem. They have indicated they want to play for the same team, and the pros just don't draft kids in bunches.

The cage pros are all upset about the rash of injuries which has hit the NBA this year — and what to do about it. It could mean the end of the 24 second rule, with a change to the Olympic standard of 30. "We no longer set up a play," complains coach Harry Galatin of St. Louis. "We just run, shoot and fight the boards." And with the species getting bigger, stronger and more mobile, and fighting themselves frantic over an 80 game season, it figures some guys are going to get hurt.

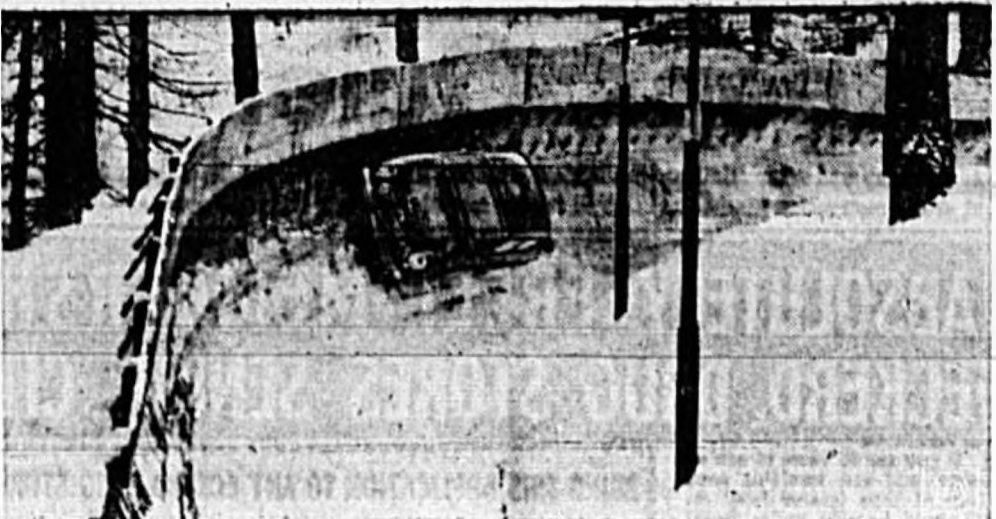

The Chicago Cubs used to have a third baseman named Cy Block who hung around organized baseball for 15 years and barely got into 17 major league games. So he switched to insurance and last year sold $6,230,000 worth of policies. But he's still bugged on the old sport and has just financed the publishing of his own book, "So You Want to Be a Major Leaguer." And he gives them away for nothing.

Matt Snell, who was the AFL rookie of the year, once had some boxing aspirations and got into Golden Gloves as a Long Island high school kid. "I lost one fight," muses the young Jet fullback, "and I quit."

Between you'n'me, isn't it going to be fun if the Justice Department ever gets around to investigating the opinion of Sonny Werblin (he owns the Jets) that the collegiate draft is immoral?

AUTO-BOBBING — Scottish racing driver Jim Clark drives his Ford Cortina in a steep bank of the bobsled run at Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy. Clark averaged 55 miles an hour on this stretch of the 1,700-meter run in the newest thrill sport, auto-bobbing.

Auto-Bobbing Now-What Next?

Special to NEA

A new winter sport, auto-bobbing, is mad, thrilling and dangerous enough to satisfy even the most jaded of the international speed set. It consists of aiming a fast, small car down a regulation bobsled run and stepping on the gas.

"The most exciting sport I ever tackled," says Britain's Jim Clark. "Races like the Indianapolis 500 and rallies like Monte Carlo can't touch it."

The whole business started early this winter when some Italian drivers decided it might be good sport to try to stay on the steeply banked, twisting bobsled course. The fad was quickly picked up by others and just recently 19 of the world's leading drivers, in Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy, for a banquet, played the perilous game and found it much to their liking.

"The car turns over almost vertically on some of the turns," says Clark. "Just a thin margin off line and you can hurtle over the embankment into the trees. You're on the edge of disaster all the way down."

Ho Ljungfeldt, Swedish rally champion, says auto-bobbing is "a supreme test of timing, coordination, nerve and driving skill."

"The new sport proves there are worse hazards than the race track," says Peter Hughes, winner of the 1964 East African Safari Rally.

The 19 visiting drivers took the new sport gingerly at first, but as it inevitably when competitive souls gather, before long the pace was hotting up as they sought to outdo each other.

The climax came when Colin Chapman, chief of Britain's Lotus Cars firm, took an ordinary Cortina sedan into the helvetic bend at high speed. The car hung on the top of the banking for a split second, then slowly came back to safety.

Clark said the designers of the bob run didn't have motor cars in mind when they built the track — but then I'm sure the designers of cars didn't have bob-bobbing in mind when they built their automobiles."

Collegians Break Six Football Records

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Six records were broken and one tied during the 1961 football season by members of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, according to the final NAIA statistics released today.

Dan Miles, freshman quarterback from Southern Oregon, completed 101 of 133 passes for 1,074 yards and a completion percentage of 77. The old mark was 71 of 101 (70.3) set by Gordon Taylor, Anderson (Ind.), in 1958.

Another underclassman, Leonard Scheuffer, Ottawa (Kan.) sophomore, caught 15 touch-down passes to break the one-year mark of 14 set by Hugh Rohrschneider, Northern Illinois, last year.

Ray Riteley, William Jewell (Mo.), senior, booted 29 consecutive extra points to break the oldest mark on the books. Cecil Abrams, Millikin (Ill.), established the former record of 28 in 1921.

Upper Iowa's Larry Nemmers was credited with four interceptions in one game to become the first player listed in this category.

A 99-yard pass play from John Williams to William Carter against Colorado State provided New Mexico Highlands with a spot in the record book. The old mark of 95 was set in 1961 by Western New Mexico, Walter Winkowski to Leon Jameson.

Bill Swartz, 250-pound tackle, from College of Emporia (Kan.), added to his extra point total by booting 32 of 38 to finish his four-year performance with 135 conversions. He also kicked four field goals to fall one boot short of the career record of 10.

Dee Kolsow, Kansas Wesleyan, ran 98 yards from scrimmage against Sterling (Kan.) to tie the mark set by Brad Husted, Luther (Iowa), in 1958.

Jim Van Gorden, Eau Claire State (Wis.), the NAIA's all-America quarterback, averaged 236.3 yards a game in total offense to win the most coveted individual NAIA title of the year.

Van Gorden, a senior, finished second in passing with 115 completions in 272 attempts for 11 touchdowns and 1,950 an average of 216.6 yards a game.

The passing champion is junior Jerry Bishop, Austin (Tex.), who completed 182 of 300 attempts for 17 touchdowns and 2,246 yards and an average of 219.5 yards a game.

Ed Buzzell, Ottawa (Kan.) junior, threw the most touch-down passes, 24, as he hit on 103 of 191 attempts for 1,744 yards while having only five passes intercepted.

Football World Series Looms

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two professional football classics over the weekend at Buffalo and Cleveland were powerful indicators that:

—An annual world series game between the National and American Football League champions must become a reality soon because of the tremendous live-spectator and home-TV interest in the sport.

—Neither the National (NFL) nor the American (AFL) title games, nor the potential gridiron world series, will ever be shifted to Southern cities merely because of Northern cold weather.

—Arthur B. Modell, youngish president of the Cleveland Browns, knew exactly what he was doing when he hired head coach Blanton Collier as a replacement for Paul Brown in January 1963.

—A flock of loud-voiced admirers of the NFL's Western Division must be eating a flock of crows because those holler guys claimed that five or six teams in the West could wallop either Cleveland or St. Louis in the East.

—In the first of two title games over the weekend, the East's Buffalo Bills won the AFL championship by beating the West's San Diego Chargers before a sellout 40,842 paid spectators at Buffalo on Saturday.

Sunday, the East's Cleveland Browns amazingly blanketed the West's Baltimore Colts, 27-0, at Cleveland before a sellout paid attendance of 79,544. The Colts' with 428 points this season, were the third highest scoring club in NFL history.

No one was frozen at either game because the weather had turned somewhat mild for those locations.

However, the tickets to both games had been sold in very cold weather preceding the holiday period.

The heavy advance sales proved that torrid grid fans could mush to the arena, perhaps, to watch their heroes make touchdowns.

In this connection, it should be emphasized that the three preceding NFL championship games had been staged in such tropical cities as Chicago, New York and Green Bay, Wis.

A representative of the Cleveland club said Monday, "We could have sold 150,000 to 160,000 tickets to Sunday's game, regardless of the weather.

"Remember, our attendance this year for eight games at Municipal Stadium averaged 79,000."

Another indicator of the tremendous interest in the pro game is the fact that it is now commanding millions of dollars from television and radio.

The Cleveland game received approximately $1,800,000 from these sources.

Next year, the American circuit starts on its new five-year $34-million contract with the National Broadcasting Company.

And should the AFL expand during that period, each new franchise would benefit by $500,000.

SNAS Vigilante Makes Hop To South Pacific

The Sanford Naval Air Station tower gave the signal a few days ago for what was to be a 10,000 mile flight of a locally based Vigilante from here to the USS Ranger somewhere in the South Pacific.

At 3:07 p. m. on Dec. 14 the first trans-Pacific flight of a RA-5C aircraft got under way with these words:

"Sanford tower this is Navy 151620 standing by for clearance."

"Roger," came the reply, "ATC clears Navy jet 151620 to Alameda Air Station via."

The trip was not going to be an easy one for Lt. Charles E. McKenna, pilot, and the reconnaissance attack navigator, Lt. (jg) Forrest W. Sherrill Jr. There would be long hours for the pilot and the reconnaissance attack navigator sitting in their cockpits of the Mach two reconnaissance attack bomber. During these hours many tasks would be performed: radio communications, in-flight refueling, and constant alertness to the performance of the versatile RA-5C aircraft.

CLIMBING ABOARD their RA-5C Vigilante in a historic trans-Pacific flight from Sanford to the South Pacific are these two men stationed at Sanford Naval Air Station. In the foreground is Lt. Charles E. McKenna, pilot, and with him is Lt. (jg) Forrest W. Sherrill Jr., the navigator. (Official U. S. Navy Photo)

Sanford to Alameda in California would be the eastern leg of the long journey. However, from California to the final destination, performance of the pilot, the reconnaissance attack navigator, and the aircraft would have to be perfect. The crew and the RA-5C did perform perfectly; to Hawaii, across 2,200 miles of water to Wake Island, over another 1,360 miles of ocean to Guam, 1,300 more miles to the Philippines and then to the USS Ranger.

The first trans-Pacific flight of an RA-5C, however, could not have been accomplished if the crew and the aircraft had not received outstanding support from the various Naval Commands, squadrons, and ships which provided in-flight refueling, radar, and communications assistance, and navigational aids along the flight path.

And so, at 7:35 a. m. on December 20 Navy 151620 landed aboard the aircraft carrier Ranger somewhere in the South Pacific. The landing followed 10,000 miles of flight, the longest extended flight of an RA-5C Vigilante, and the first Trans-Pacific flight of an RA-5C.

In the words of Vice Admiral Ramsey, Commander Naval Air Forces U. S. Atlantic Fleet: "The planning and smooth execution of the first RA-5C Transpac is a tribute to the skill and high degree of competence of personnel involved. Well done in all and especially to Lt. McKenna and Lt. (jg) Sherrill."

Holiday Dance Slated Friday

Sanford Recreation Department announced today, the annual holiday dance will be held on New Year's Day, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Music will be the Sensations, one of the more popular teenage dance bands in the Central Florida area. The event will conclude at 11 p. m.

Department director Jim Jernigan said that regular school clothes will be the dress for the occasion. All teenagers are urged, Jernigan added, to pick up recreation cards so they will not miss out on the big holiday affair.

Dusty Boots December Show Leads Off With a 'Bounce'

The December Dusty Boots Horse Show started off with a bounce as Club Vice President Bob White, in a false takeoff leading the Grand Entry, had his horse spooked by Old Glory and "Rebel" acted like a buckin' bronco coming out of the shoot.

Entrance to the rodeo arena sported a brand new sign lettered cleverly in rope which was made and given to the club by Miss Marjorie Adams of Daytona Beach at the November show.

Junior high point trophy for the day went to Tommy Austin of Longwood who grabbed off 26 of the possible 42 points with two firsts and two seconds among others.

Senior high point trophy went to Joe Cannon of Orlando who raced away with 23 points including three firsts and one second.

These show points, second in a series of six, are being accumulated toward a two-foot tall six months high point trophy sponsored by Mitchell Trailers of Sanford which was on display for the first time and apparently was an incentive to the riders for events were paced fast as they ever had been.

Leader in competition for this award, with four more shows to go, is senior division rider Jack Kelley of Cocoa with 31 points, followed by juniors, Ewart Shoemaker, 29 points; Tommy Austin, 26 points; Christine Copen, 25 points; Valerie Altred, 23 points and senior Joe Cannon with 23 points.

Providing a more sober note in the afternoon's activities was the announcement that the Christopher family, whose mother and son, Lee, was in a serious automobile accident in Orlando, would enjoy hearing from their rider friends. The Christophers have been active in gymkhana since "forever" and young Lee, in critical condition in Orange Memorial Hospital, is popular among spectators and riders alike.

Event winners, first three in each in order as named, were junior keyhole, Darlene Ferrell; Tommy Austin; Linda Murphy; senior keyhole, Van Stuart; Larry Cannon; Dale Ferrell; junior clover leaf, Ewart Shoemaker; Tommy Austin; Michael Kelley; senior clover leaf, Van Stuart; Har-

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI) — The most famous tourist in this snow-packed mountain resort town turned in early Sunday night while most of the vacationers here whooped, it up at parties.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children, Caroline, 7, and John Jr., 4, were in bed by 8 p. m. after a full day of activity which began before dawn.

The widow of President Kennedy and her children attended 7 a. m. mass at St. Mary's Catholic Church with the Robert Kennedy family, then ate breakfast at Aspen Meadows Lodge, the plush resort where they are staying.

Despite an open invitation to more than a dozen parties, the former First Lady chose to stay in her room and rest after a morning of skiing instruction on 7,900-foot Butter-milk Mountain, a "beginners" slope three miles west of Aspen.

She began her day at 5:30

a. m. today and after additional skiing instruction lunched at the exclusive Aspen Alps Club. More than a foot of snow fell from its normal size of 1,200 Colorado community, swelled about 5,000.

Lighting Contest Winners Named In Village

By Margaret Cosby
Judging the North Orlando outdoor displays last Tuesday evening, among with members of the Garden Club, contest sponsors, were Rev. Jack Lindsay and Roy Clanton of Longwood and Rev. Dolmas Copeland of Casselberry.

Amazed at the beauty of the decorations, the committee found it difficult to determine four place winners and had to make a number of trips through the area.

The final vote went for: first, $50, the George Sommer home at 70 N. Second Street which featured a multitude of lights and a small Nativity scene in front and a rear garden sanctuary with a Madonna; second, $25, the Howard Klock home at 2 Sherry Avenue, Coronado, which displayed a giant cross outlined in lights and a Santa Claus panel among a bevy of lights; third $15, the George Duquette home at 71 S. Cortez Avenue, showing personable reindeer, sleigh and miniature Santa Claus and fourth, $10, the Frank Fasula home at 300 Moss Road, Rancho, lawn decoration of a beautifully lighted tree and aways of pine boughs on the front and garage doors.

Boy Scout Troop Enjoys Party

By Jane Casselberry
Boy Scout Troop 341 of Casselberry held its annual Christmas Party in Weaver Hall of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church.

The troop presented Scoutmaster W. T. Daniel Jr., with tickets in order that he and his wife can attend the Annual Banquet of the Central Florida Council to be held Jan. 11 in Orlando.

Daniel presented each scout with a handcarved neckerchief slide, each individually and carved by him, and a game kit to the troop. There was an exchange of gifts between the boys and refreshments were served.

The group also went caroling in the neighborhood.

Final plans were made for the winter camping trip to be held at O'Leno State Park near High Springs. The scouts will be accompanied by Daniel and Fred Staedler Sr. and will make the trip in the Troop Bus.

Seven Students Score 'A' Honors

Seven Sanford Junior High School students made the "A" Honor Roll during the second six weeks grading period, Hugh Carlton, principal, announced.

Those in the ninth grade were Sheralynn Williams and Sue Price; eighth graders were John Durham, Betty Kaykendall, Analee Moore and Van Robbins. Lone seventh grader was Ann MacLaughlin.

There were 176 students on the "B" honor roll — 65 in the ninth grade, 51 in the eighth grade and 60 in the seventh grade.

Garden Club Fetes Author At Coffee

The gracious Washington Drive home of Mrs. Volle Williams Jr. was the setting of a reception coffee for the Garden Club of Sanford honoring Amy B. Lau, author of the new book, "Teaching Table Techniques."

Mrs. Williams greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line headed by Mrs. Lau of Winter Park; Mrs. Herbert Challis Sr., a neighbor of Mrs. Lau, who assisted with sewing and preparing for the book as well as lectures and tours, and Mrs. Francis J. Mueller, president of the Winter Park Garden Club, who assisted with the programs.

The Williams home featured magnificent creative holiday decor with a topiary over the spacious stone mantle designed from corn husks, pine cones and colorful fruits and berries.

The Isora Circle members served as hostesses for the serving and pouring were officers of the circle who are Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Brooke Smith, Mrs. Robert Rosemond and Mrs. Kenneth McIntosh.

Amy Lau's "Teaching Table Techniques" is a fabulous interpretation of splendid table settings designed for moderate incomes combined with ingenuity, patience and elbow grease.

The book is actually a prelude to gracious living with brilliant colored photographs featured throughout. The contents include table coverings and how to make them; table appointments; a decorative unit; every day "quickies"; holiday and special occasion tables; Christmas decorations; extras and flower shows.

Copies of this fascinating publication may be purchased from "Now Show" in Winter Park or from the author herself.

Mrs. Donna Wells Hosts WASPS Yule Meeting

Mrs. Donna Wells and Mrs. Dorothy Wade hosted the Dec. 13 Christmas coffee of the WASPS (Wives of Aircraft Support Personnel of Sanford) held at the home of Mrs. Wells.

The guests were greeted by bright decorations and a table laden with delicious home made pastries, and centered with a lovely Christmas candle engraved with golden leaves.

The wives continued in the holiday spirit as they exchanged gifts and entertained special guests, Mrs. Ruby Matthews, mother of Mrs. Mary Ellen Hughes, and Mrs. Betty Barley, guest of Mrs. Wade.

The business of the day was presented to the members by Mrs. Cindy Parsons, and included election of a new secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lou Gellner, and a telephone committee chairman, Mrs. Jean Musgrove, as the members bid farewell to the former secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mary Jo Loftus, and telephone chairman, Mrs. Katie Kent, as both will be leaving the area soon.

The gala morning gathering was brought to a close as the members presented two door prizes to lucky winners, Mrs. Katie Kent and Mrs. Lenora Thiel.

WASPS attending were the Meses. Carolyn Conroy, Marti Dankief, Louise Fadden, Pam Garcia, Lou Gellner, Isabelle Goshorn, Mary E. Hughes, Katie Kent, Mary Jo Loftus, Molly Mahman and Kathy Mantel.

Snowbound Pancakes

Although we don't have snow down here let's try these.

PANCAKES:
2 cups milk
2 eggs
2 tbsps. melted shortening
2 cups pancake mix
FILLING:
1/4 lb. chopped beef, chopped
2 tbsps. margarine
2 cups dairy sour cream
For pancakes, place milk, eggs and shortening in bowl. Add pancake mix. Stir lightly until batter is smooth. Somewhat lumpy batter makes light pancakes. For each pancake, pour about 1/4 cup batter on to hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown. For filling, pan-fry chopped beef in butter. Stir in 1 cup of the sour cream. Place about 1 tbsp. filling on each pancake and roll up. Arrange in two 1 1/2 qt. greased casseroles or one 9 by 13 inch greased baking pan. Spread remaining sour cream on top. Bake in pre-heated 325 degree oven about 5 minutes or until heated. Serves 8.

Put a wide rubber band on jar top caps that are hard to unscrew. The band will help with the grip.

Monroe Handy Helpers Aid Santa At Children's Home

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
Twenty-one girls from the Lake Monroe 4-H Handy Helpers club motored to Umatilla Saturday to visit the Harry-Anna Crippled Children's Home. They were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pent, Mrs. J. V. Warren and Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

The girls took a large package of gifts they had made to be distributed to the boys and girls.

They were given a complete tour of the building by one of the nurses, Mrs. McCormick, and they spent some time with the children talking to them about Christmas and their hobbies.

The therapy room proved an interesting point to the girls as it was explained to them very thoroughly by Nurse McCormick.

After the tour of the different rooms they were taken to the hobby room and showed the many things the children had made. This was in charge of Nurse Freeman, who is the grandmother of one of the visiting girls, Julie Ganas.

Mrs. Freeman instructs them in making their own molds for making ceramics and they have their own kiln for baking the ceramics. They also have a loom from which they do their own weaving.

Several articles that thrilled the girls were pictures made out of rice and macaroni, a framed picture of a map of the United States made with four colors of yarn, eperges made from palmello fronds, vases made from plastic containers and a motto which says: "Seek the truth, Act in kindness, Create Beauty, Do the useful deed."

This motto was written down by the girls to be remembered in the future. This will be done by them because they are making plans to start on another project for these children to be taken to them at a later date.

Later the same evening the girls had a wonderful time at the Christmas party planned and prepared by them at the home of their leader. A gaily decorated tree was placed in one corner of the living room. The decorating committee composed of Betty and Charlene Baker, Linda Patton, Gail Cooper and Myrtle Harris used a color scheme of red and green in decorating the room.

Becky and Barbara Gowan were in charge of the gift exchange. Donna Pent, Karen Kirkpatrick, Cookie Russell and Ruth Bullard were in charge of refreshments. The mixed cold drinks were given to the girls by William Harris, father of Myrtle.

A special guest of the girls was the county agent, Miss Myrtle Wilson. She and Mrs. Johnson were presented gifts by the girls during the evening. Various games and other activities were participated in during the party hours.

OVEN CLEANING
MANSFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Home service specialists suggest you clean your oven this way: fill a sauce dish with household ammonia and leave it in the closed oven overnight. In the morning, even the most stubborn soil will be easy to remove with a cloth dipped in warm, soapy water. The home service specialists for Westinghouse explain ammonia has an amazing faculty for loosening even baked-on spill-overs.

Computer Capability
CHICAGO (UPI) — What kind of science fiction is this? You show up to take your driver's test and the examiner tells you to step right up and let the computer evaluate your capabilities!
It's not happening yet and probably won't happen, says Dr. Ross A. McFarland, of Harvard University School of Public Health. But Dr. McFarland notes that computers and other electronic aids will be of considerable value in the future in aiding those responsible for licensing the ever-increasing number of driver applicants.

Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been best friends with the couple next door together, have taken trips together, and our children play together. One night (a few weeks ago) the husband went to bed early, so his wife came over to watch TV with for years. We play bridge us. She went home around midnight, but forgot her house key and was locked out. Her husband, being a very sound sleeper, didn't hear the doorbell. She came over to our bedroom window (not wishing to awaken our children by ringing our doorbell), and shouted up to us to help her get into her house. My husband put on his bathrobe and went outside to try to find an open window in their house where I kept ringing their doorbell, hoping to wake up her husband. I finally succeeded and my husband was home in five minutes. One of the neighbors must have seen my friend under our bedroom window, and watched my husband join her in his bathrobe, and now we find ourselves in the middle of a big scandal! Some say we've been switching mates for years. Others say this woman is trying to break up my home. Anyway, the talk is all over town and we are afraid our children might hear it from their playmates. I can't go up and down the streets selling it isn't true. What can we do? We can't all leave town. We own our homes, our husband's jobs are here, and we can't afford to move.

DEAR ABBY: I am disgusted with women. My husband plays with a well-known band. Women call him up and write to him from all over the country. Some of them are old enough to be his mother. I often travel with my husband and have actually seen women follow him to the door of the men's room! Any time now I expect to see one go in after him. Whatever happened to decent women?

guilty. Worthwhile people neither believe gossip nor spread it. And the most wholehearted denial has yet to still one vicious tongue. Stay where you are and keep your sense of humor.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the mother of the 17-year-old boy, who tried to tell her that he should be allowed to stay out until midnight every night because "all of his friends" could, fascinated me. I am the mother of five sons. My oldest (now married) tried the same stunt with me. I asked him for the names of the boys who had all the privileges he wanted and I telephoned their mothers in

"I have the problem of dry, wavy hair, which is also a dirty gray and blonde mixture. What should I do? I must do the work of home, as I have no money for beauty parlors—Mrs. W."

First, comb and "inspect" your hair. Brush up and out, then cut it in an even length. Next shampoo with a good modern shampoo, rinse and rinse and rinse again. Dry with friction, using a lintless towel. Now apply cosmetic oil directly on the scalp; yes, the same cosmetic oil you use on your face and neck. Scalp is skin and readily absorbs the oil. Then, when your hair shows improvement, use a color-rinse. You can apply it like shampoo and get a nice color. Visit your hair-coloring cosmetic counter and get the saleswoman to help you select the right shade for you.

First, take clothes for going ashore, and for deck and casual wear, also dinner dresses and a few attractive cocktail type dresses. Shoes for deck and going ashore are important and must be comfortable. If you swim, be sure to have a nice bathing suit (I advise

Jacoby On Bridge

The weirdest hand of 1964, if not of all time, appeared in the Men's Pair event of the Summer Nationals in Toronto.

It was bid in almost all many ways as there were pairs that got to play it. The bidding in the box was about as normal as any.

East was down five at seven spades for a loss of 1,400 which was the best East and West could do since seven hearts was a lay down and worth 2,210 points.

Curiously enough, while a few North players were allowed to play six hearts and score 1,160 points, not one to bid seven was permitted to collect the grand slam bonus.

A few East players decided

We The Women:

The woman of today has less freedom than her grandmother had to participate in community and government affairs, says a visiting British economist—who happens to be a woman.

She says the reason is, unless a woman today is wealthy, she doesn't have household help. In spite of all the so-called labor saving devices, women are putting in longer hours at housework to keep up with ever higher standards of homemaking.

That's part of the reason all right, but not the whole answer—at least in America. In America, women are losing their freedom to do worthwhile things because they mismanage their time.

All too often hours they could spend in really creative activities, in learning, in important community activities, are squandered on "busy work"—attending endless meetings, carrying out count-

Lonely Woman Given Chance For New Life

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Mrs. Ruth Lance, a 66-year-old widow who slept in theaters and public restrooms because she could not afford to pay rent, received for Christmas a chance for a new life.

Mrs. Lance appeared in Municipal Court on a charge of stealing a $1 headscarf from a downtown department store.

"I took it because I was cold," she told Judge George S. Heitzler. "I've never stolen anything before."

Mrs. Lance's husband died 20 years ago, leaving her no estate. She said she receives $32 a month in Social Security payments, most of which is spent for food. She said she sells nametags for doors and mail boxes but earned little from it.

"I don't have enough money to rent a decent room anywhere," she said, "and I prefer to stay in downtown theaters and sleep in the ladies' lounge at an all-night garage." She told the court she has a Golden Age card which admits her to theaters at a reduced price.

Mrs. Lance said she had been living in this manner for the past two years.

The judge reached in his pocket for a dollar to pay for the scarf and dismissed the petty larceny charge against her.

Mrs. Ida Bruner, the department store's security officer, refused to take the money.

"Mrs. Lance is a nuisance and besides we don't sell scarves in courtrooms," snapped Mrs. Bruner, who had made the arrest.

The judge said he would mail the $1 to the store.

Then the manager of the garage where Mrs. Lance has been sleeping stepped forward and offered her a job keeping the ladies' lounge clean. He said she could stay there as long as she liked.

The Sisters of the Poor also offered Mrs. Lance a home for life.

Largest Plane Studied By U. S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is pressing a head with development of what will be the world's largest plane — a military transport capable of carrying up to 700 passengers, or cargoes as heavy as Army tanks, anywhere in the world.

President Johnson approved Pentagon plans for development of the gigantic new plane during a conference with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara at his Johnson City (Tex.) ranch.

McNamara told newsmen that development of the plane would cost $250 million with an additional $1 billion in cost if a contemplated fleet of 30 of the planes is built for the Air Force.

He said the President had approved a $137 million budget item for this year to begin development of the plane.

The Pentagon chief said the plane—given the military designation "C-70" and the experimental designation of "CX-45" (cargo experimental heavy logistical system)—probably would be operational by the 1969 fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1968.

The plane will have a range of 5,000 to 7,000 miles, depending on its payload weight, at a speed comparable to the Boeing 707. Thus it will be subsonic in speed and not comparable to the supersonic transport (SST) presently on the drawing boards.

The chief military use of the C-70 apparently would be to outsize cargoes which cannot be lifted in today's biggest transports. These would include Army M60 tanks, construction equipment, helicopters, and missiles.

"We have eight combat divisions in the United States. Obviously we don't intend to use them here. One of the major objectives in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations has been to increase the mobility of U. S. forces, the movement of men and equipment to the perimeters of the defenses of the West," McNamara said in outlining the possible military uses of the C-70.

Motives In Mess

The Russians, booted out of the Congo once before, are again scattering rubles like dragon's teeth in hopes of keeping the rebellion in the northeastern part of the country going.

They reportedly have agreed to provide weapons and money for an airlift of arms and advisers to the Congolese rebels, to be run by Egypt and Algeria.

The reasons for this latest Soviet safari into troubled jungles seem clear-cut. The central government of the Congo is not pro-Communist. Thus by Marxist logic it is anti-Communist. So the new leaders in the Kremlin are anxious to demonstrate to restless Africans that Russia will support all wars of righteous revolution against the colonialists or their lackeys.

It is also quite likely that they are not happy over the points the Red Chinese have been scoring as chief source of aid to the rebels. Anything the Chinese can do, they are in effect saying to African radicals, we Russians can do better.

The reasons behind the action of Algeria and the United Arab Republic are not so immediately evident. The leaders of these countries, while definitely anti-Western, do not want a Communist Africa dominated by either Russia or China.

What they want—particularly by Nasser of Egypt—is an Africa dominated from the Arab north. Nasser's dream of pan-Arab empire does not stop at the desert's edge.

A strong Congo could play a commanding role in the future of the continent.

Huge, rich and potentially populous, and lying as it does between expansionist Arab North Africa and isolated, white South Africa, the Congo has inevitably become an ideological battlefield.

The struggle, of course, is more than ideological. But despite the bloody events of recent days, the Congo may be closer to stability than it was six weeks or six months ago.

Whether it continues this progress or begins to retreat back to chaos now seems to depend on how vigorous this Arab-Russian pump-priming operation will be.

Thought For Today

Take heed to yourselves and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit has made you guardians, to feed the church of the Lord which he obtained with his own blood.—Acts 20:28.

Phil Newsom Says

Issue In Forefront

Foreign News Commentary
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the foreign news cables:

PHILIPPINE BASES
The Philippine government is not anxious to reopen talks on the U.S.-Philippines bases agreement until after its presidential elections next November.

But two recent fatal shootings by American entries of Filipino intruders on U.S. military installations and an attempted bombing of a U.S. dependent children's school at Clark Air Force Base has pushed the issue into the forefront.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Mauro Manalang said "there is no question about a need for a revision of the treaty." But he added that "we would like to proceed on this question very cautiously."
Inevitably, the issue of court jurisdiction over crimes involving both Philippine citizens and alien Americans is charged with emotion. "Since negotiation involves compromise, the political results in Manila could be great."

Any administration making concessions to U.S. military jurisdiction would be politically vulnerable to political attack for "selling out" Filipino interests.

On the other hand, the opposition could find its hands tied politically. It could be hamstrung by having to go along in the interests of continued good relations with the United States, or it could take an "anti-American" attitude which might hurt in the election.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS
Britain's elite "public" schools—which in reality are fee-paying private schools—will start in the new year to break down their present independence and exclusivity. The labor government is planning to set up a special body to see how these schools can be fitted into the state system. But old establishments like Eton, Harrow and Rugby will fight back. These places, where the sons of the wealthy and aristocratic have been educated for generations will not yield easily—especially the ones with a religious background. And many of these schools have a close association with both the Church of England and the Roman Catholic Church.

SIX-NATION TALKS
Six-nation talks on European political unity, which have been at a standstill since April of 1962, are expected to resume early in the new year. Belgium, Italy and West Germany all have put forward new proposals which will be considered by the other partners—Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands. The talks probably will begin between Common Market foreign ministers or deputy foreign ministers. If they make headway, a Common Market summit meeting in the spring is considered likely.

FRENCH THOUGHTS
The French government is bracing for more public and city strikes soon after the first of the year. They may be more prolonged than the muscle-flexing nationwide strike of Dec. 11, or the sporadic school strikes, such as last week's rail stoppage called by Communist unions. But the government is urgently seeking support in its resistance to the "go over" to force higher pay hikes. It hopes the public is fed up enough with transport, electricity and gas stoppages to provide needed backing for its program.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Marie expresses the usual coed's admiration for a good teacher. Alas, SOPHIE, professors are not in the majority. But every good teacher is a star salesman of ideas. He "packages" the material in his lectures so the students enjoy the course because they learn "things worth knowing." So send for the "Test for Good Teachers" described below.

CASE U 467 Marie Donato was a coed last year at Bliss College in Columbus, Ohio.

"Dr. Crane" she began, "Professor Earl Edmondson conducts our class in Applied Psychology.

He employs your textbook and makes the course very interesting by means of very practical experiments that are very practical.

"And he assigns your Completion Club as a class-room project.

In fact, he demonstrates what he teaches for he also issues compliments on us students.

"And we appreciate having psychology applied to our everyday problems.

"Wouldn't you consider that Edmondson a very good teacher?"

Yes, the first test of a good teacher is how well he can generate student enthusiasm for the course.

A superb teacher is thus a star salesman in the realm of pedagogy.

Next, he should "dress up" or "package" his lectures so they will keep the pupils awake and vitally interested.

The "Case Method" is one device by which to show the practical use of any college course.

Alas, some professors waste in polysyllables and are up in the clouds—most of the time so they never turn their lectures to the current problems of everyday living.

Marie Donato and her classmates informed me that Prof. Edmondson not only assigned them the completion Club project, as hundreds of alert teachers of Applied Psychology are doing on many campuses.

But he also encouraged his students to select any practical project in psychology and then report their results in a classroom "stimulus" flash-out.

Some of the men thus dared not to quit smoking and then reported their results in brief classroom talks.

Thus they obtained public speaking experience as they stood before their classmates and described their personal project.

Many of the college projects, of course, are very interesting, but they offer their students little or no extra-curricular credit for the work they do during the week-end class hours.

Some of them "pre-arrange" their projects so that they can quickly derive from that field of knowledge.

These notes that I said "quickly derive" for courses that are not slanted to the daily needs of students are regarded as relatively impractical.

College students want to know how to carry on conversation and to study more effectively. Many interesting subjects are available, but they offer their students very little or no extra-curricular credit for the work they do during the week-end class hours.

Political Notebook

SAN JUAN, P. R. (NEA)
—If the curious improvisation called "commonwealth" endures indefinitely in Puerto Rico, it probably will be for one outstanding reason: it seems to work.

This unique status will, of course, soon be the subject of an intensive study by a commission composed of Puerto Ricans and U. S. mainland officials, who will at the same time be looking into the alternatives of statehood and independence.

Recently a United Nations subcommittee, representing mostly new African and Asian nations, urged a fresh inquiry into the possibility of independence for Puerto Rico.

On the island itself, less than 2 per cent of the voting population—to judge from 1964 returns—appear to favor independence. A bit more than a third support statehood.

Puerto Rico's Gov. Luis Munoz Marin suggested to this reporter that any sincere U.N. complaints simply are confusing independence and statehood.

"They don't seem to understand you can have freedom in different ways. Commonwealth is one way, statehood is another."

A veteran observer of Puerto Rico does not, however, credit all the complaining subcommittee nations with sincerity. Says he:

"Some of them 'pre-arrange' their projects so that they can quickly derive from that field of knowledge."

These notes that I said "quickly derive" for courses that are not slanted to the daily needs of students are regarded as relatively impractical.

College students want to know how to carry on conversation and to study more effectively. Many interesting subjects are available, but they offer their students very little or no extra-curricular credit for the work they do during the week-end class hours.

to the Puerto Rican satisfaction.
In the vital arena of economic development, Puerto Rico's success is an oft-told story. The point to note here is that the success is being maintained.

Puerto Rico's economy grows at the rate of about 10 per cent a year. A planning group predicts this advance will continue for the next several years at least. Nearly every economic index shows gains.

The key to this development is what Munoz calls "fiscal autonomy," the island's freedom from federal taxes under the commonwealth status—which provides for a common defense, common foreign policy, common currency with the United States, but not a common tax structure.

Though statehood advocates continue to deny it, Munoz argues today as always before, that any status change which wiped out this tax advantage would come close to destroying Puerto Rico's climbing economy.

"You can't take away the main thread of the cloth," he says, "without destroying the cloth."

Munoz never has felt that a continuing commitment to the commonwealth idea bars forever any move toward either statehood or independence. He insists this is not the moment in Puerto Rico's history to consider these things.

Another Puerto Rican government official adds:
"It's a little like a young boy wanting to get a pilot's license or a driver's license, when it's perfectly plain he won't be able to fly a plane or drive a car for many years."

Munoz is not worried that Puerto Rican adherence to commonwealth status might disturb some Americans who might read into it a rejection of "things American." For such people, statehood would presumably be the only satisfactory link. Says the governor:
"Some Americans may find commonwealth status a strange and unfamiliar condition. But they are deeply in love with success, and this is a status which works."

Most people think the best place to talk about their operation is at the bedside of a hospital patient about to have one.

During a college football game, it's cheers for all the spectators during the game, and "Cheer!" for the old grads afterward.

'Ho-hum' Say Senators Over Race For Whip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A hot race for Democratic whip is boiling up in the Senate, but oldtimers say it's a ho-hum affair when compared to the fireworks of 1937.

That was when the late Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky defeated the late Pat Harrison of Mississippi for the Senate Democratic leadership.

Harrison "attracted the support of the moderates who wanted to seal the party breach" opened by President Roosevelt's court-packing plan and other administration proposals, writes Gregory.

There followed a series of pressures seldom equalled in the history of the United States, according to Gregory.

Sen. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina withdrew as a candidate to unofficially manage Harrison's campaign and New York financier Bernard M. Baruch vigorously for the Mississippi.

But the strength of the opposition was illustrated by the late Sen. Tom Connally of Texas when he wrote in his memoirs that "a carload of patronage jobs was being offered to anyone who would leave Pat for Barkley."

Harry S. Truman of Missouri reported that Tom Pendergast, the Kansas City political boss, called to solicit a vote for Barkley but Truman said he was already committed to Harrison.

"Pressure was exerted, of course, to get me to change my position, but it didn't work," Truman wrote to Gregory.

Harrison figured before the contest, his friends told Gregory, that Barkley had one more vote than he did — including that of his Mississippi colleague and bitter political enemy, Theodore G. Bilbo.

Gregory cites a published report that Bilbo told Byrnes he would vote for Harrison if the Mississippi personally asked him to, but that Harrison replied, "Tell that ... of ... I wouldn't speak to him if it meant the presidency of the United States."

Appeal Voiced Following Fire

An appeal for help has been voiced by neighbors of Mrs. Carrie Mae Moore, of Paola, whose home was burned to the ground a few days ago, destroying everything Mrs. Moore and her invalid son owned.

Mrs. Myrtle Ethell has offered Mrs. Moore and her son a house but it has no furniture. Also Mrs. Moore has no clothing or other household supplies. She wears a size 14, and the son wears "medium sized" clothing.

The Moores are presently staying with friends in Orlando. Mrs. Ethell told The Herald that if anyone has furniture, bedding, household items or clothing that the Moores could use they may bring it to the grocery store at Wilson's Corner in Paola, (West First Street) or Mrs. Ethell will pick it up.

Florida Citrus 'Five-Year Plan' Leads Schedule

By Orval Jackson
LAKELAND (UPI)—The Florida citrus industry's "five-year" plan to recover from the disastrous 1962 freeze is running well ahead of schedule and both the grower and the consumer will benefit.

"Ideal conditions have resulted in rapid recovery of groves and optimistic citrus industry officials believe crops will be back to normal a year earlier than originally had been expected."

Herman F. Steele, assistant general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, a plant grower's co-operative, said barring further disasters, consumers will be offered totally adequate supplies of citrus within the next two years and at prices that can be competitive with other juices and synthetic beverages.

"The groves are in better condition than normally could be expected," Steele said. "Having suffered all of the ravages of the low temperatures two years ago, they have made a marvelous recovery."

The rapid recovery of the groves has resulted in a wide drop at the retail level of all forms of citrus and citrus products, Mutual's executive assistant Frank Trovillion said, and further drops are anticipated in 1965.

Indicative of the price drops is that found for frozen orange concentrate, one of the most popular citrus products. Mutual estimates that $5 million is spent weekly on concentrate.

The price of orange concentrates for the past year has averaged 25 to 26 cents per six-ounce can, covering both advertised and non-advertised brands in a variety of markets.

Trovillion said the housewife can look forward to paying an average of 22 to 23 cents per can during the coming year.

Similar savings for the consumer are noted in fresh oranges, fresh grapefruit, and fresh tangerines. Trovillion said fresh oranges and tangerines are running about 10 cents a dozen lower at the retail level this season, selling at an average 49 cents.

Tangerines are a holiday season fruit and supplies will be depleted rapidly, but Trovillion said fresh orange prices should hold steady into next year.

Fresh grapefruit prices to date this season are running about the same as last year but Trovillion said a price drop can be expected in January and February when the industry moves into its normally slow post-holiday period.

Citrus production in the next few years will be limited not only by the trees that recover from the freeze, but also by vast new plantings extending to the north of what normally is considered the citrus belt.

Beverage Head Named By Burns

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Gov. elect Haydon Burns' appointee as state beverage director says he will give up his present job with the liquor industry Dec. 31 to dispel "any and all conflict of interest."

Ben Morris, 54-year-old Jacksonville resident, the first member of the liquor industry ever to be appointed to the post of beverage director, said the prohibition of illegal liquor "is a tremendous detriment to the tax income of both the state and federal governments."

Driver Watches Auto Ruined

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Alexander Campbell, 33, found himself sitting in his car on the railroad tracks, a freight train bearing down, and unable to drive forward or backward because he was caught in a line of traffic that wouldn't move.

So he did the only logical thing—stepped out and watched the train demolish his car.

Legion Unit Enjoys Novel Gift Game

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 259 of DeBary found much merriment in the unusual gift game played by members at their Christmas party in the Community Center.

Those attending formed a circle and as Mrs. Asenath Butler read 'Twas the Night Before Christmas, packages were passed in order from hand to hand until direction change was indicated by a key word in the poem. The switch in gifts from right to left, and back again, time after time, resulted in a gay time for all.

Refreshments were served from a buffet table covered in dark green linen and centered with sprays of holly and greens in a silver vase. Crystal punch bowls, flanked by fall red tapers in double candleabra were at each end of the table which also held trays of holiday sandwiches, cookies, nuts and mints. Coffee and cake were served later in the evening.

Honorary committee for the occasion was made up of Martha Newell, Rose Williams, Ruth Iovanna, Viola Leone, Nancy Brumbaugh and Mrs. Lloyd Utman.

All-Out Effort

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The state Development Commission has joined National Air Lines in an all-out effort to attract residents of western United States to Florida at vacation time.
