

OLD BUFFALO TO FIND HAVEN IN ROOSEVELT HOME

President's Son Picks Residence Which Just Suits Family

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—There is one tired, old buffalo which has finally come to rest in a happy hunting ground.

His massive, stuffed head stares dumbly up from the floor in the den of the new home of the young Elliott Roosevelt. One night soon the President's son and his wife will hang him up.

"He's a wedding present," grins young Roosevelt.

"And the poor thing has been in railroad express offices a whole year following us around the country," laughs Mrs. Roosevelt, her large brown eyes sparkling.

"This house was hard to find," she says. "We looked at dozens. But this one is just right. You see, we didn't want to be in Washington. Here we can go to the village stores and feel they'd be just as interested if our name was 'Smith,' just because we're new. In another month they'll know us and we'll be just another young couple coming in with a grocery list."

Their new home stands back from the road, hidden by a rise in the ground, surrounded by the famous hills of the Virginia hunting country, some 40 miles from Washington. "Just a good drive before we get to the office," says Mrs. Roosevelt.

That "we" is correct. She drives to town every few days to do her husband's typing. And she looks pleased about the arrangement. Mrs. Roosevelt seems to fit perfectly into the Roosevelt tradition of much-to-do, and an unruffled smile through it all. She has a house to settle, a five-month-old little Miss Ruth Roosevelt to watch, and yet there is time to work with her husband.

Their day in Washington is filled with hearings, conferences and shopping for the house, and then they turn the nose of their car into sunset.

At home, faithful Mary and her husband, servants Mrs. Roosevelt brought from her Texas home, are getting dinner. Usually the nurse is waiting for the young parents to put little Miss Roosevelt to bed.

Then a regular "country square" evening lies before them—reading before the fireplace, "puttering" around the home, or just strolling down the lawn and sniffing the autumn air.

Book lines the living room walls. A fine clipper ship model stands on the mantelpiece in a glass case, a gift from the President to his son. Soon the new Roosevelt interest—aviation, represented by Elliott—will find a place. His airplane models are not yet unpacked.

"Say, if a marriage outlasts picture hanging it's good," explains her husband. And they both laugh again.

The books were easy to place. They put their two libraries together and found there were several duplicates.

That pleases them. It means they liked the same things even before they met.

Mr. Roosevelt is particularly proud of a volume his wife inherited from her grandfather, a first edition of "North American Indians" with the original Catlin drawings. Her favorite is a leather bound parchment edition of "Quilver's Travels" which Elliott gave her.

Upstairs are two sunfilled bedrooms which are the particular pride of the newest Mrs. Roosevelt because the furniture is a gift from THE Mrs. Roosevelt—lovely, yellow-toned maple from the Val-Kill shop which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt runs.

And across the house stings a certain, responsible-looking young "Pete," a mountainous blond Dane. He looks his master and mistress over as they come out and unites a gentle "Woof!"

and it is feared that he had drowned in the flooded streets. Police estimated the damage to flooded homes would be $100,000. In addition, severe damage was done to state highways.

A window-cracking earthquake and a heavy downpour of rain visited Southern California yesterday.

The tent schools of Long Beach, temporary "safety" structures erected after the disastrous earthquake of Mar. 10, 1933, were shut down for the day because of the storm.

Many streets in Los Angeles and surrounding towns were closed. Considerable sand was washed into the thoroughfares of Manhattan beach. Slippery pavements caused many traffic accidents.

No loss of life was directly attributed to the earth shock or the storm.

Long Beach, where several score persons lost their lives during the quake of 1933, was severely shaken again yesterday. Virtually the entire city was awakened by the shock, which lasted two seconds. Many citizens dashed into rain-lashed streets in their night clothes, but soon returned to their beds when no repetition of the shock occurred.

The quake also was felt at various communities south and west of Los Angeles, including Huntington Park, Lynwood, San Pedro, Inglewood, Redondo, El Segundo and Venice, where several windows were cracked.

The marine exchange at San Pedro reported the appearance of a waterspout just before noon two miles out.

The combination of yesterday's rainfall and the 1933 earthquake resulted in the temporary suspension of classes in Long Beach. Virtually every school building in the beach metropolis was damaged by the shock a year and a half ago. Temporary tent bungalows replaced the school buildings and the heavy rain made most of these unfit for occupation yesterday.

Flooded streets and playgrounds also prevented many children from reaching their schools.

A continuation of the rain, which totaled 1.3 inches at Long Beach, would necessitate an extension of the school holiday, authorities indicated, and the weather bureau predicted more rain last night and today.

County flood control authorities said they anticipated no repetition of the New Year's day predicament as mustard seed had been sown on all burned off areas surrounding Los Angeles. This, they explained, would prevent any sudden run-off of water.

Verdugo wash, which on Jan. 1 overflowed its banks, spreading death and destruction in the foothill towns through which it courses, yesterday carried only a meager stream.

Physician Says Robinson Is Not Legally In A New Man Who Treated Suspected Kidnaper Discusses Case

By DR. E. W. COCKE
Tennessee Commissioner of Institutions
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—My impression was that Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., was not legally insane.

He stayed with us for several months. It was the unanimous opinion of the asylum staff that he was a psychopathic personality.

He's one of many that we see these times, abnormal so far as his personality is concerned and obsessed with the idea of committing crimes.

After declining to release Robinson many times, I finally decided to let him go and dictated a statement which his father signed, making him responsible for the son's future actions.

I was fearful of the outcome of his release.

I did not consider the youth in danger; he knew right from wrong. He was that type that cannot resist temptation of committing crime.

He was very egotistical, constantly broke rules and regulations of the institution, and was a disorganizer and fault-finder.

I disagreed with the conclusion of Dr. W. S. Farmer (in charge of one state asylum in which Robinson stayed) that Robinson was suffering with dementia praecox when he was in the institution as a private patient with bills paid by his father.

"His type is born with a warped, criminal mind. Although his education was above normal, his mental condition was not balanced and his moral level was low.

Robinson's condition was identical to the following general type: "Intellect is tolerably developed as far as practical life is concerned; comprehend well; recognize knowledge and experience; views are narrow; cannot perform exacting, intellectual work and unable to develop any coherent conception of life."

"Born criminals and do not feel need of reflecting beyond present and immediate future."

"Love and ambition lacking."

Ten known dead, thousands of homeless people and untold ruins were left in the wake of a sudden and terrific typhoon that swept over Manila and other sections of the Philippine Islands. Police estimated 2,000 to 3,000 houses were razed or unroofed in the city and 3,000 families were reported homeless in adjoining provinces. Death Solves 9 Year Old Disappearance

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Death has solved the nine-year-old mysterious disappearance of E. M. Oliver, once wealthy St. Petersburg attorney, who stepped out of his office here on Dec. 3, 1925 and was not seen alive again by relatives or friends.

The aged attorney died in the county home at DeLand. He was sent there several years ago after becoming destitute when the small amount of money he had when he left here was exhausted.

Manley, Convicted Georgia Banker, Freed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—W. D. Manley, former Georgia financier whose banking chain collapsed and brought about the failure of 86 small banks in Georgia and Florida, has been released after serving five years of a seven-year sentence for using the mails to defraud.

The former Atlanta banker and head of the defunct Bankers Trust Company served five years in the federal prison at Atlanta and at federal camps at Fort Bragg, N. C., and Maxwell Field, Ala., where he was given his release Oct. 6.

Crooms Academy Grid Team Plays Tomorrow

The strong football team which represented Crooms Academy of Sanford in negro football circles last season, will play its first game of the 1934 season at St. Petersburg tomorrow afternoon.

James Foster, coach of the team, has announced that he will have all but two of his 1933 players back for the new season. The returning players include the powerful full-back known as "Prince Albert" Sherman, erstwhile caddy at Sanford Country Club.

Others players on the first team will include Patrick, Walder, LaFair, M. Clark, P. Clark, Gregory Dingle, LeEngle, Irick, and Jackson. Plans are being made to bring the New Smyrna team to Sanford for a game next week, Coach Foster stated.

STETSON MENTOR SURE OF VICTORY OVER GEORGIANS

McQuillan Will Send Strong Team Into Fray Friday Night

DELAND, Oct. 18.—Chances for a victory over Georgia State Teachers on Friday night, appeared brighter today as Stetson University's green clad wave swept through the freshman ranks in the course of a final scrimmage prior to the game which is to be played under the flood lights at Hatley Field here commencing at 8:00 o'clock.

The team went through light limbering up exercises today as did the visitors who arrived in time to acquaint themselves with the feel of Volusia county turf.

According to advance information the Georgians will number some 25 stalwart players, and their recent performance in lifting the scalp of Tampa University leaves no room to doubt that they will be out to repeat their success at the expense of the Hatters.

Questioned last night on his probable strategy on Friday, McQuillan, head coach at Stetson, declared that he was ready to shoot the works, if necessary, in a manner of speaking, since with the Mercer game at Jacksonville coming on Oct. 27, he can ill afford to empty the old trick bag for the benefit of the Georgia teachers.

Continued calls for tickets at the university indicate that Friday night's game will be a sellout. This is accounted for by the fact that the Hatters, have but two scheduled home appearances this year; that with Georgia State Teachers on Friday, and a tilt with University of Tampa as a

YUGOSLAVIAN TROOPS SAID NEAR BORDER

Concentration Of Men Said Along Hungarian Frontiers; Outlook Dangerous

MARIBOR, Yugoslavia, Oct. 19.—(A.P.)—An unconfirmed report from a usually reliable source today said that Yugoslavia is concentrating troops along the Hungarian border.

Four former opponents of the late King Alexander were freed today from a government prison against them. They are Dr. Korotich, former premier of Yugoslavia; Dr. Kulovec, Dr. Natlic, and Dr. Obrivic.

It was generally believed here that a general amnesty soon would be granted all Croatian leaders who are in prison.

Meanwhile, at Belgrade, young King Peter, II, ascended Yugoslavia's throne for the first time yesterday as his father, the murdered King Alexander, was placed in the grave he himself prepared at Topolo.

A hastily erected throne was prepared for Peter in the national cathedral, where his father's body was interred.

German's Counsel Declares He Has Perfect New Alibi

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Defense counsel expressed confidence today that new evidence tending to support Bruno Dick and his partner, who will appear in court in New York today, would show that Dick was not in the city at the time of the kidnapping.

The defense, however, is uncertain as to what will be done to introduce new evidence which it hopes will prevent the German carpenter's removal to New Jersey to face an indictment charging him with the murder of the infant.

Evidence which has come to light since Hauptmann lost his habeas corpus fight in Bronx county supreme court purports to show that Hauptmann worked at his trade as a carpenter in New York until five P. M. the day of the kidnapping.

The defense has obtained permission to take unusual action when the appeal in the habeas corpus case comes before the Appellate Division of the supreme court later today.

Noted Georgia Bandit Nabbed Near Baldwin

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A noted Georgia bandit and a co-conspirator in the capture of a stolen automobile, Louis Parham, Georgia bandit, was nabbed near Baldwin today.

Parham, 35, who gave his address as Baldwin, was arrested at the scene of the capture of a stolen automobile near Baldwin today.

Parham had been the object of an extensive search by both Georgia and Florida officers since he was reported to have been in Baldwin, Fla., after he had served his 18-month term in a 20-year sentence for kidnaping the bank of Tallahassee in Baldwin, Ga.

Armed Bandits Stage Big Robbery In Havana

HAVANA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Police yesterday jailed the city's chief bandit and two of his associates after four men armed with machine guns robbed the municipal treasury of $150,000.

Describing the bandits as gangsters, authorities said they took Jose Gomez, the leader, and his aides into custody until their investigation of the robbery, believed to be the biggest in modern Cuban history, had been completed.

CITRUS GROUP REFUSES TO SIGN NEW AGREEMENT

95 Growers, Shippers Claim Wallace Has Broken His Promise

LAKELAND, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A group of 95 shippers and growers, claiming to represent more than half the citrus crop produced in Florida, voted late yesterday to reject the proposed citrus marketing agreement tentatively announced two days ago by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The group agreed not to sign the pact, which would replace that which Secretary Wallace rescinded in August, until the secretary "carried out in letter and spirit promises made to committees in Washington early in September."

Secretary Wallace, in a letter to the group, said he had authorized the group to be authorized to forward to Washington immediately the decision of the conference.

A committee of six growers and shippers was named to obtain a charter for the State Grower-Shipper Co-operative Association "as a medium for collective effort to serving and protecting our interests and those of the Florida industry."

Immediate purpose of the organization, a resolution adopted by the group said, "shall be safeguarding and protecting of interests of all of us and the grower interest of Florida in connection with any citrus marketing agreement or license which may become effective as to marketing of Florida citrus fruits under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration."

It was contended by a number of the growers and shippers attending the meeting that the secretary had named a "committee" "the very men removed by one group, as highly objectionable."

The meeting urged that grower members of the Control Committee be selected in accordance with the following principles:

BANKERS URGED TO CONFORM TO PUBLIC OPINION

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, said last night that bankers never will redeem their place in America until they fight for themselves and for the recovery of the country.

"Bankers must alter their steps in line with perfectly apparent developments. They must conform to public opinion," he said.

Governor Black, who is a contact man between bankers and the Roosevelt Administration, addressed the forty-first annual convention of the National Bankers Association of New York states.

Speaking on "The Future of Banking," he said it involved considerations of the immediate past and present conditions of banking and responsibility. These, he asserted, centered on present business conditions; whether the United States is recovering; the fears and apprehensions of business—such as the destruction of individual initiative—profits, monetary policies, the budget and taxation.

"It is necessary to have a renewed confidence and a renewed courage," said Governor Black. "The future of banking is up to the bankers."

"They've got to have the right attitude toward recovery both for their own sake and for the sake of the country."

"Finally, in the interest of recovery and in their own interest, banking strength of America must be combined."

"What bankers have done in the past must be recognized. There is a weakness in the separateness of bankers. None has authority to speak for bankers. None has authority to fight for the bankers."

STABILIZATION FUND FOUND NEARLY INTACT

Report Is Denial Of Rumors That Huge Sum Is Being Used For Bond Dealings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The treasury's two billion dollar stabilization fund is 90 percent intact. That fact was learned yesterday, scotching frequent reports and rumors that the money was being used for dealings in government bonds, silver and foreign exchange on a scale much larger than is not shown to have been possible.

The fund was created when 40 percent devaluation of the dollar early this year brought a "profit" of about $2,812,000 to the government. The treasury put $812,000,000 of that in its general fund and made the remainder available for stabilization fund operations.

Since then, gold certificates to the amount of only $200,000,000 have been deposited with Federal Reserve Banks to the credit of the fund.

That does not necessarily mean, however, that all of the $280,000,000 has been or is being used. But it does show that the $280,000,000, stabilization fund carried on the treasury's daily statement represents untapped gold.

Secretary Morgenthau has had power to use the huge fund for any financial transaction necessary for stabilization of the dollar. He could buy silver or gold, deal in foreign exchange to hold the American dollar at a desired level, and purchase government bonds to support the market.

There was no indication yesterday that the fund had been employed for any purpose other than stabilizing exchange. But the fact that it was still 90 percent intact showed definitely that if there had been such operations they had apparently been over-emphasized.

The $200,000,000 of surplus, which have been turned over any number of times, but it could not have contributed to support of the bond market to anything like the degree frequently rumored.

No official statement has been made as to the ultimate disposition of the $2,000,000,000 fund, although Secretary Morgenthau in a recent speech said the $812,000,000 gold profit held by the treasury would eventually be used for (Continued On Page 4)

MORGENTHAU AND FARLEY FULL OF NEW OPTIMISM

Business Assured By Cabinet Head That New Deal Is Friend

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The Administration made another attempt last night to assure business and industry that they have nothing to fear under the New Deal.

The newest disciples of confidence and cheer were two important members of the Roosevelt cabinet—Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau, and Postmaster General Farley. Both had messages intended to inspire faith and optimism.

Morgenthau had a word for industrial and financial leaders who have charged the Administration's experimental monetary policies with retarding recovery. Wall Street has been especially apprehensive of future moves under the silver purchase program.

The treasury secretary announced yesterday that profits will not be used for the present at least, to meet current government expenditures. This money, which amounts to $3,171,299.96 to date, will be used as a "nest egg" and will be held in reserve as was the profit accruing to the treasury from the devaluation of the gold content of the dollar.

ROBINSON IS STILL JUMP AHEAD OF LAW

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Oct. 19.—(A.P.)—One jump ahead of the law, the man hunted as the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, along his trail today evaded officers of fear that his capture is inevitable.

Meanwhile, the police of Philadelphia and adjoining towns joined in a lookout for a sedan which may contain Robinson.

The fugitive's wife is held at Louisville under a $50,000 bond. Both are accused of taking part in the abduction. Three Nashville business men signed the wife's bond.

One definite trace of the car left by the discharged inmate, sought as the kidnaper of Mrs. Stoll was found yesterday in Springfield, and counties, thus continued to pour in from other parts of a nation, aroused to the great man hunt.

CITY IS WITHOUT PROPER CITIZENS

Orlando Realtor Sees Sanford As "Dead", Needing New Vigor

Indicting this city as a "place with three times as many advantages as we have in Orlando but a place without the right kind of citizens," Carl Dann, Orlando realtor and self-styled "international humorist" last night pointed out before members of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce, some of the needs which must be remedied before this city will ever "take its place in the sun."

He summed up these recommendations by telling the Jaycees "If you young fellows can't bring Sanford out of its present condition, you're all dead on your feet; you might as well fold up your tent."

While Mr. Dann was listed as the principal speaker at the regular business and social meeting of the organization, Harry M. Papworth, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, commended the organization for its timely appearance, and made a suggestion which Jaycees President Gordon Barnett ordered incorporated as a feature point in the "Forward Sanford" movement. FERA To Embark On Ambitious And Housing Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Harry Hopkins, Relief administrator, said at his press conference today that 12 rural industrial communities housing from 150 to 700 families each would be built immediately with relief funds in different sections of the country.

The administrator disclosed the plans for about 50 such projects have been made at Relief headquarters, but that the money to build all of them is not yet available.

"I am convinced that every one of the 12 communities which we are going to build at this time will be self-liquidating," he said.

Noted Food Specialist Suggests Hot And Sharp Flavors For Brand New Flavor

By ELIZABETH MAY
Men who like a prepared mustard that combines sweetness with spiciness, that is hot and sharp, should try the "latest" condiment made of fine, dry English mustard seasoned with hot spices from the Bahamas. It is recommended both as a condiment and as a dressing. To give a pleasant surprise to the palate, it is suggested to add a half teaspoon of this mustard to the usual recipe. It imparts a new flavor to most patties when a very small amount is used in the pan in which they are frying. As a condiment, it has an affinity for pork, veal, thick broiled steaks, & the roast beef. It comes in a plain glass jar with a glossy, black metal cap that screws on, selling for 35 cents. It is packed also in an attractive turquoise blue jar and tied with yellow ribbon for a gift package. This costs 65 cents a jar. One of Manhattan's fashionable food shops. We shall be glad to give shopping information.

The food forecast for this week is alive with facts that are of vital interest to the everyday housewife. Typically summer fruits are fast disappearing from our markets and are being replaced with autumn fruits. The small berries have been beyond the reach of thrifty shoppers' pocketbooks for some time, although there are a few still available. Paches and plums will soon be gone. The shopkeepers plan their desserts now with apples in mind, since there is a colorful variety of fine apples and grapes, and grapefruit are cheap and more plentiful. Pineapples and melons are still with us, and the ones they are, too. Two year-round favorites that vary little in price are bananas and oranges. The season for persimmons and pomegranates is short, and therefore shopmakers will want to utilize them while they are cheapest.

Quinces are moderately priced and can be turned into delectable desserts, as well as gay, colorful preserves, jellies, marmalades, since mince meat and other puddies to be enjoyed during the winter. Our tested recipes for fishy pudding, encased quince, Spanish quince dessert and baked quince are delicacies that you will want to introduce to your guests.

Put together with recipes for preserves, jelly, and marmalade, will be sent to you on request. Address your inquiry to the Food Market editor, and inclose an advertisement, stamped envelope.

Frying chickens are at the peak of their season with both price and quality tempting the market. Beef prices are lower than they have been in two months. Lamb is very reasonable, but even lower prices are anticipated by leading market authorities.

Those who plan to serve fish in the early part of the week will be attracted by the lower quotations for lobster. Clams are inexpensive and so are flounders. A large chain market reports that Northern oysters are of fine quality and moderate in price.

One of the city's specialty food shops has a tempting candy special this week. Clusters of crunchy, chewy, chocolate-covered peanuts are on sale for 65 cents a pound. We shall be glad to give shopping information.

For the filling, make a cream sauce by blending one tablespoon flour and one tablespoon butter and slowly adding one-half cup cream. Cook for a few minutes stirring constantly. Then add one cup chopped cooked chicken, three mushrooms chopped and salted, one-fourth cup chopped almonds and season with salt and pepper.

For the pancakes combine one cup flour with one beaten egg and one and a half cups milk. Fry on griddle in the usual way. Put a tablespoon of the chicken mixture on each pancake and roll up. Place rolls in a buttered pan with a teaspoon of sour milk on each roll, sprinkle with grated cheese and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) fifteen minutes. This makes four to six servings.

FARMERS 2 TO 1 PIERPONT DIES IN FAVOR OF AAA IN CHAIR WITH CORN-HOG PLAN SMILE ON FACE

Continuation Of Program For Another Year Gets Approval

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. —(AP)—Farmers by their own ballot and overwhelmingly in favor of continuation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's corn-hog program for another year. Nearly complete returns from 500,000 farmers showed recently a 2 to 1 vote of approval on the controversial production-control feature of the AAA in a poll of the big corn producing states conducted by county extension agents. The corn-hog program provides that farmers who reduce their corn acreage and limit hog production will receive government benefits which so far in 1934 have amounted to approximately $70,000,000.

Sixteen states which already have balloted recorded a 237,707 to 166,362 vote in favor of the 1935 program. A second question of the "one-contract-per-farm" plan for 1935 received an adverse vote — 232,959 against 229,480 for. Two states, Kansas, and Nebraska, were unfavorable to continuation of the AAA program next year. Six states, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Ohio and Wisconsin, voted against the one-contract—the adverse vote recorded being enough to overbalance the favorable margins of nine other states.

The sixteen states canvassed will produce approximately 65 percent of the nation's 1,416,772,000 bushels of the 1934 corn crop as estimated of Oct. 1. In this third of the United States received something over $52,000,000 in benefits or about three quarters of the money distributed. The entire crop is only 56 percent of the average yield.

Texas, which leads all other states in the distribution of all farm benefits, voted 9 to 1 in favor of continuing the reduction program. Iowa, whose $15,000,000 topped the corn-hog benefits, was nearly 3 to 1 for the plan. The second largest corn producing state, Illinois, with corn-hog benefits 1-15 those of Iowa and total benefits 1-20 those of Texas, voted almost 3 to 1 for the '35 program. Missouri, whose corn crop will only be 8 percent of the normal yield, voted nearly 2 to 1 in favor of continuation, but Kansas, with a 4 percent normal crop, and Nebraska, with a 7 percent yield pilled up a 9000 margin against the plan in a combined tabulation.

Dillinger mob, was electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary recently—the first of the nomadic gang of robbers and killers to receive by legal process the full wages of crime.

Quietly, unaided and with the ghost of a smile on his lips, the 32-year-old killer sat down to death in the gaunt wooden chair within the high stockade of a prison guarded in unprecedented fashion, so fearful was Warden Preston E. Thomas of the zero hour possibility the law would be frustrated.

With him into death, Pierpont carried the "inside story" of his break in September, 1933, from the Michigan City, Ind., state prison.

From the ten felons that walked to bloodless liberty on that occasion, John Dillinger, himself an ex convict from that institution and Pierpont organized a machine gun gang that etched a frightful chapter in the history of modern crime.

"I am the only man alive who knows the 'who's' and the 'how's' and I'll take this little story with me on my last walk," Pierpont recently wrote Miss Jessie Levy, Indianapolis attorney, who defended him.

That's what Pierpont did. He was not asked for any "last word," as happens now and then at electrocutions, and he volunteered none. He just sat down with a rueful smile, closed his eyes, strained the muscles of his lanky, six foot-two frame as the current struck, clenched one fist—that was all.

Pierpont died one year and four days after he, Charles Makley, 50, and Russell Clark, 33,—all of the group that escaped at Michigan City—walked into the residence office of Sheriff Jess Sarber at Lima, O., and killed him to free

LEGION AWAITS NEW ROOSEVELI TALK ON BONDS

Buddies Hope That Administration Has Changed Its Mind

Speaking at the dedication of veterans' hospital, the President may give answer to the pre-eminent question of the ex-servicemen here for next week's national convention.

"Has there been any change in the Administration's attitude against immediate payment of the bonds?"

While National Commander Hayes has said it was his "understanding" the President would not come to Miami, there was sufficient uncertainty to give rise to reports Roosevelt might come unexpectedly as he went to the Chicago convention floor last year.

Many of the legion's departments have adopted resolutions calling upon the national convention for immediate cash payment of the adjusted compensation certificates.

The man some call as next national commander of the legion, California's Frank Belgrano, came here yesterday with the pledge "If I am elected, I will carry out the mandates of the convention."

"What my personal stand in an matter is makes no difference to the San Francisco banker and the convention is the voice of the Legion and the man elected to head this great organization of ours must listen to that voice."

Edward Hayes, of Decatur, Ill. cannot succeed himself as national commander, and the California appeared in pre-convention conclave here to have the support necessary to win the prize.

Carl Dann Says City Is Without Proper Citizens

Declaring that "the progress of this city is being held back because of an intolerable bonded debt situation," Mr. Papworth said, "If you boys really want to do something worthwhile, set your attention on the job to work out a local bill which will authorize the City tax collector to accept in payment of all taxes, one half cash and one half in City of Sanford bonds."

He also charged that the Jaycees could perform a "worthwhile" credit for the community if they could bring about a change in the attitude of local merchants toward the city in which they reside.

"With one or two exceptions," Mr. Papworth stated, "our merchants have absolutely refused to do anything to help any of our boys for the good of the city. We've invited them to participate in our meetings, and to help us carry out plans to make the city a better place in which to reside. But, our big merchants refuse to help us. You fellows ought to set to work on them, for if the merchants don't care what happens here, we can't get very far."

During their business session, the Jaycees voted to send a committee composed of V. A. Williams, W. J. Toll, and Irvin L. Jackson before the City Commissioners at their Monday night meeting to suggest that, pending a settlement of differences between them and the Florida Power and Light Co. concerning a contract for electricity, the Commissioners purchase enough additional electricity to light all white-way lights on First Street and the adjacent business section, and at once.

Mr. Dann turned humorist at the start of his short talk, and not until he had nearly concluded did he ask and answer the question "What's the Matter With Sanford?"

Reminiscing, Mr. Dann recalled that among other accomplishments of his "grandfather," whom he termed as one of the "earliest of early settlers in these parts," had been the St. Johns River. "Not only that," Mr. Dann said, "but he filled it with water from the Indian River, hauled overland by oxen after having been dipped up with boards, and if you don't think that was an accomplishment, your razz."

Leading up to his conviction that Governor Phelps has committed political suicide, Mr. Dann said, "You know, I've got a good mind to run for governor. My platform will include $3 auto tags, free school books, ridding the state of illegal racketeers, and cheaper gasoline."

"What might think that you'd stand that platform before," he said. "Well, you have, but the man who stood on it never has and it, so it's just as good as a ew."

Asserting that Sanford has three times as much as we have in Orlando but it is without the right kind of citizens," Mr. Dann declared "There must be something terribly wrong up here. You're located in the heart of the tourist section, and yet you don't have any. You have a live-wire Chamber of Commerce secretary and some mighty good men that I know of at you are lagging behind. Wake up, boys! Find out what's wrong with this picture! Don't commit suicide up here. Either boost this place or get out."

"Why," he said, "you don't hear enough about Sanford. Look at Orlando. Why, we've got a town full of kidnapers, robbers, and gangsters. We'll make Chicago look like a park before the winter is over."

Admitting that the task of holding tourists is costly, Mr. Dann said that they must be taken care of. "They'll ask and demand a 'soft course,'" he said, "and if you can't give it to them, they'll go elsewhere for all of the kind of people you want here play golf. incidentally, if you can't spend as much as $12,000 a year on your golf course, close it up. A half an hour's course, is one of your worst advertisements."

Concluding, Mr. Dann stressed the value of a smile, particularly when "We're going to have more people in Florida than ever before in his winter." "Smile at every stranger you see," he said. You'll find it pays big dividends. Smile hard, boys, and boost this town into the place it belongs."

The Jaycees adopted a resolution urging Florida's senators and congressmen to press for the inclusion

The remarkable luck that attended the abduction from the start continued for the time. Three or four times before Mrs. Stoll was released federal agents missed catching him by minutes. They were confident such luck could not continue.

ROBINSON INDICTED BY JURORS

Wife, Father Of Stoll, Woman's Abductor Also Incriminated; Youth Still Hunted

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 20.—(A.P.)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., his father, and his wife were indicted in Federal Court here today in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

But Robinson was at large the object of an intensive hunt extending over a large part of the United States.

A Fort Erie, Ontario, hotel man said today he had identified a man who visited his hotel last night as Robinson, while officers maintained a close watch on the Canadian border after a restaurant employe at Buffalo reported he was positive the fugitive had eaten there last night.

Mrs. Stoll accompanied by her husband, Barry V. Stoll, testified before the grand jury as did her mother, Mrs. William S. Speed, Melvin H. Purvis, Department of Justice agent who led the Dillingham squad and was a member of the group of investigators who overtook Mrs. Stoll when she returned home from Indianapolis last Tuesday, also was called in as a witness.

Mrs. Robinson is held in jail here in default of $50,000 bail, and the elder Robinson was at liberty on a bond of $25,000 pending a hearing at Nashville in a removal warrant.

A SEA TRAGEDY—IN THREE ACTS

These three pictures in sequence vividly show the tragedy that overtook a seaplane chartered by Fox Movietone News which plunged into the ocean and sank 600 miles offshore with the loss of one life. The plane flew out to meet the liner Washington and pick up films showing the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia. It fell in sight of its goal and Captain George Fried of race fame, master of the Washington, saved five of the six fliers. The top picture shows the plane descending. ICKES CLAIMS NEW DEAL IS ONLY ISSUE

Republican Claims In Pennsylvania Ridiculed By Secretary In Pittsburgh Talk

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20.—(A.P.)—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes last night carried the weight of the Roosevelt Administration into the bitter Pennsylvania political campaign with a declaration that the "New Deal" is the only issue.

The cabinet member said the Republican party no longer is the "party of Abraham Lincoln, devoted to the welfare of the average man and woman," but one in which "wealth and special privilege are its chief concern."

He turned to Andrew W. Mellon, three times Secretary of the Treasury and for years a stalwart of Republicanism in Pennsylvania and charged:

"He was one of those chiefly responsible for the crash of 1929 and one of the largest contributors to the slush fund that has served to lubricate the political machine that has made possible the reactionary Republican majority in this state."

Of Senator David A. Reed, fiery critic of New Deal policies, whom he termed "the logrolling Senator Reed," the secretary said:

"With mounting land on the left arm and a bit of extra crepe for a handkerchief, he goes from place to place denouncing the loss of liberties of rich citizens whom he assumes to be people and lugubriously predicting early fall of the republic since it no longer is in the safe and possessive grasp of Mr. Mellon."

"NO BONUS," ROOSEVELT TELLS VETS

President Says Average Ex-Soldier Is Better Off Than Majority Of People

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 20.—President Roosevelt yesterday served notice to America's veterans that they could not expect payment of a cash bonus at this time.

Carefully restraining from direct mention of the bonus, the President nevertheless left no doubt as to his meaning in an address at the dedication of a new $1,700,000 veterans' hospital here.

Standing in the slanting rays of a dying sun in crisp autumn weather, the President declared the veterans already possess privileges not accorded other citizens, and that from the point of view of employment and of annual income he is better off than the majority.

"I mentioned once upon a time," the President said, "that we must do first things first; the care of the disabled, the sick, the destitute and the starving is the first thing. To this the veterans of American wars give their approval in agreement with the overwhelming majority of our citizens."

Close White House friends interpreted Roosevelt's remarks as a definite effort to outline the Administration's position before the national convention of the American Legion convention at Miami. At the meeting there is expected to be a drive by a group for an immediate cash bonus payment, headed by Hanford McNider, former minister to Canada, and at one time a bonus opponent.

The President pointed out that the government had an obligation to untold thousands of underprivileged persons throughout the United States—the slum dwellers and others "handicapped by environment and circumstances."

He appealed to the veterans to go along with him in recognition and solution of the problem.

"The improvement of their hard lot compels our immediate attention," Roosevelt reminded his audience, "not only because of the individual human beings who suffer today, but, even more important to the future of America, because future generations of American citizens will become the descendants of those who are now in need. In this thought also the"

Weed-Killer Said To Have Been Used

Potential Loss Held Running Into Many Thousand Dollars

Modern night-riders, carrying buckets or spray cans filled with what is believed to be a deadly weed-killing acid, destroyed 104 matured celery seed beds valued at approximately $5000 some time Wednesday night, after a sudden and mysterious appearance on the Chase and Co., A. B. Mahoney, and J. Howell Fish farm properties on the East Side.

Quoting an official of Chase and Co., the losses are estimated as follows, not counting replacement costs:

It was the first mass attack on the private properties of an individual or corporation in this section for many years, and reports of the affair have created a sensation in every section of the county. Approximately 104 acres of celery might have been planted had not the beds been destroyed.

Discovery of some sort of damage to seed beds was made on the Mahoney farm on Celery Avenue Thursday afternoon when negro workers who had been setting out plants from the beds, reported that they appeared to be suffering from a new form of blight.

While Mr. Mahoney and others investigating, agents for the Fish

Roosevelt Honored At Historic School

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 20.—(A.P.)—In an historic setting and under a warm October sun, President Roosevelt today witnessed the inauguration of John Stewart Bryan of Richmond as the 19th President of the 241-year-old college of William and Mary, and in accepting the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws he pointed to the need of a "Broad and Liberal" education for the rising generations.

Colonial Williamsburg now being restored to its physical appearance of the 17th century gave the President a cheery welcome on his arrival from Roanoke, and thousands joined him in formally opening the restored Duke of Gloucester Street.

SHOLTZ APPOINTS JOHN MEISCH TO FARM DEBT BODY

Group Will Work To Ease Burden For State's Farmers

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 20.—(A.P.)—Governor Sholtz yesterday named a Florida Farm Debt Adjustment Commission to work with the Federal Farm Credit Administration in easing the debt burden of Florida farmers.

Members were selected, the Governor said, with a view to representation for both creditor and debtor groups.

"This is one of the most important committees I have had the privilege to appoint," the Governor said. The committee has an opportunity to do a noble work for the people of the state in bringing debtors and creditors together so that past indebtedness may be liquidated or payment arranged."

J. F. Newell, executive secretary to the Governor, was named chairman of the commission. Newell, J. A. Texada, Jr., director of the Rural Rehabilitation campaign for the FERA, and G. C. Ware, Leesburg banker, will serve as an executive committee, with S. Lehr Miller of Clearwater as executive secretary.

19 Planes Speed Toward Australia In Great Air Race

Market Agreement Is Approved, Appointments Called Unfair

They were the contestants in the Mac Robertson International Air Race. They started from Millershall Airfield, England, early today hoping to reduce, appreciably the present flying time to Melbourne, Australia, of six days, 12 hours and 46 minutes, set one year ago today by Charles Ulm. The total distance is approximately 12,000 miles.

By mid-afternoon, English time the Dutch team of K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Mbil, flying an American plane appeared far in the lead.

At that time no report had come on the progress of Colonel Rector Turner and Clyde Pangborn, a team considered as America's hope in the race.

HAYES DISAGREES WITH ROOSEVELT VIEW ON BONUS

Many Veterans Handicapped Because Of War Service, He Says

MIAMI, Oct. 20.—(A.P.)—Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, yesterday expressed disagreement with President Roosevelt that World War veterans are "better off from the point of view of employment and of annual income than the average of any other great group of citizens."

Commenting on a portion of the President's address, made in dedicating a new veterans' hospital at Roanoke, Va., the national commander said:

"I cannot agree with the observation made by the President that it has been amply demonstrated that the veterans of the World War are better off from the point of view of employment and of annual income than the average of any other great group of our citizens."

"The experience of those of us who have been devoting the past 15 years to the problems of the World War veterans has supplied us with ample proof to show that a vast majority are in a class of handicap because of their service to the government in war."

"The loss of time, which they virtually donated to the government; the interruption of their careers; the loss of their property; and the decrease in their earning power in thousands of instances, due to disability, have permanently set them back of the average citizen."

"For this reason, we have all ways contended and will continue to do so, that the man who gave protection of all the other citizens and is in that class which the public generally conceded was his due in 1917 when he was called to war to receive justice."

"One should not judge the economic condition of all of the 4,000,000 veterans of the World War by that of one and one-half millions of men and women in the Legion and Legion Auxiliary, the fact that they are members of the Legion has demonstrated that many of them have been able to overcome the physical and economic handicaps resulting from their service."
