

Nixon Certain Of Bid For Party Nomination

By CARL P. LEURSDORF

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is certain to be the only candidate placed in nomination at next week's Republican National Convention but one floor fight seems assured over a conservative-backed delegate reapportionment plan. Another could come on a proposal to legalize abortion.

Opponent's Pleo For Delegate Rejected By Rules Committee

McGovern plans to visit Johnson, whose foreign policy he often criticized, at the former president's Texas ranch next Tuesday. In the fight over delegate reapportionment here, a rules subcommittee had voted Tuesday to increase the strength of large states. That decision was overthrown Wednesday in the full Rules Committee, which voted 21 to 16 for the plan proposed by Sen. John G. Tower of Texas.

delegate can bring minority positions before the full convention. A majority of each of six delegations is needed to force a roll-call vote.

At Wednesday's platform hearings, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson assailed McGovern's positions as misguided, misleading and mistaken.

For his part Wednesday, McGovern criticized Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz in a speech at the Illinois State Fair. But the speech was overshadowed by the disclosure of Salinger's contacts with the North Vietnamese.

American Jets Hit 400 Strikes

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — American jets hit North Vietnam with nearly 400 strikes Wednesday in the heaviest raids since the resumption of full-scale bombing 4 1/2 months ago, the U.S. Command announced today.

The announcement was made just before U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger met with President Nguyen Van Thieu, who has been arguing that there be no letup in the bombing of the north. The U.S. Command refused to say whether the intensification of the air attack was a show of determination by President Nixon to back Thieu's government to the hilt. But other U.S. military sources suggested that the increase in the number of raids might be attributable to improved weather over North Vietnam. Nearly 300 strikes were made against North Vietnam Tuesday after a week of overcast skies that had cut

Overseas Funds Are Pouring Into Country

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — International economists say the tremendous strength of the dollar in foreign exchange markets over the past two days indicates that funds from overseas are pouring into the United States.

This could be the most important week of the year for the dollar, said William Wolman, vice president and economist for Argus Research. "I think the dollar is coming back and the higher prices for the dollar are proof everybody is buying."

However, the greater demand for the dollar overseas is not all good news for the United States. It could lead to higher interest rates on short-term loans. European reports on dollar sales volume Wednesday ranged from "massive" in Germany to "very strong" in London.

The gain in the dollar price meant that other currencies went down. The most notable loss was in the German mark. It closed at 21.35 cents, down from 21.36 the previous day. The pound, up a little, was the only major currency to gain more than the dollar. The French franc sank to its lowest figure in eight months. Why is the dollar coming back this way? Money men say that three factors are interesting to drive up the European quotations for dollars. — Henry Kissinger's latest trip to Southeast Asia, which some interpret as indicating that peace is nearer. — The improved figures on the U.S. balance of payments, announced earlier in the week. — Inflation is growing more rapidly in Europe than in the United States. Inflation overseas means that the dollar is now a better in-

King Of Morocco Escapes Bullets

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Defense Minister Mohammed Oufkir committed suicide early today, less than 12 hours after rebel pilots of the Moroccan air force tried unsuccessfully to assassinate King Hassan II.

Gen. Oufkir had been considered the strong man of the Moroccan regime and a staunch supporter of the king. It was not immediately determined why he killed himself.

Wednesday, after air force fighter pilots had shot up the plane in which the king was returning from Europe and then strafed the Rabat air terminal and the royal palace, Oufkir dispatched loyal troops to key positions in the capital. Oufkir also had been the king's strongest supporter when a group of high-ranking officers tried to kill him 13 months ago.

Official sources said Oufkir shot himself at 12:30 a.m. The sources said the king named Gen. Driss Ben Omar el Alami temporary defense minister. He has been minister of communications.

King Hassan's brother reported earlier that the king escaped assassination Wednesday by tricking the rebels into believing they had seriously wounded him when they attacked his plane with rockets and machine guns.

When the rebel pilots discovered the deception, Prince Moulay Abdallah said, they strafed the Rabat air terminal and the royal palace before loyal pilots drove them off in a dogfight over the capital.

The strafing killed at least four persons, including King Hassan's 22-year-old son, Prince Moulay Abdallah, in a radio interview, gave this account of the attack: A fighter from the royal escort turned on the king's Boeing 727 jet as it crossed the Moroccan coast on a flight from Paris, bringing the monarch and his entourage back from a three-week vacation in France.

After two firing passes had damaged the cockpit, cut the hydraulic lines, smashed the instruments and blown off a rear door, Hassan contacted the fighters by radio. Identifying himself as a mechanic, he said the king had been "seriously wounded" along with the pilot and copilot, and that he would attempt a landing at Rabat.

Hassan's pilot landed the plane with only one of its three engines working, and the King went to the terminal building. There he carried out the regular protocol, reviewing an honor guard and greeting his ministers and foreign diplomats.

Hassle With A Cadillac

Viet Vets Nearing Goal

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (AP) — With 50 miles and four days to go, a band of Vietnam Veterans Against the War camped by a lake Wednesday night after a long day's march marked by confrontations with a green Cadillac and veterans of a different philosophy.

The 42 antiwar veterans resume their 12-mile-a-day trek today toward Miami Beach where they plan to join demonstrators during the Republican National Convention. Their 135-mile journey down Florida's east coast started in Fort Pierce Sunday.

Two marchers said they were struck by a slow-moving green Cadillac at a Lake Worth intersection. "I went out into the intersection to half traffic while we marched through," said Mike Monahan, 24, of St. Petersburg.

"This guy in a green Cadillac made stop-and-go threats. I guess I made him mad because I smiled at him the whole time and didn't budge."

Monahan, who said he was assigned as a road guard because "we have a blind brother and one in a wheelchair marching with us," said the driver, "Finally just didn't stop and hit me in the knees with his bumper. I twisted around and then I was laying backwards on his hood."

Another marcher, 26-year-old Pete Rooney of Tampa, said he rashed up to try to stop the car, but was struck and also knocked onto the hood. "Then the car slowed down and we both rolled off and the car just sped away," he said.

Both young veterans said they were "okay" and neither required hospital treatment. Lake Worth police, the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and the Florida Highway Patrol all said they had no report of the incident. "We've had no complaints of any trouble whatsoever," said sheriff's deputy Gary Hill.

Earlier however, the antiwar demonstrators reported that they were jered as they marched past the Lake Worth Veterans of Foreign Wars lodge on U.S. 1. "A couple of the fellas went outside and threw a few remarks at them as they marched by," said Robert Ireland, manager of the Dugout Club in VFW Post 3588.

"I didn't go outside because I was too busy in the bar," Ireland said. "But I think they're pretty much marching with the American flag upside down and the Viet Cong flag. They're not acting like veterans; they're acting like animals."

The weary walkers bedded down beside Lake Osborne in the shaded John Prince County Park Wednesday night. Scott Camil, Florida coordinator for the VVAW, said the group is one of four caravans traveling to Miami Beach for the GOP convention, which opens Monday. Other contingents have departed from San Francisco and Los Angeles, he said.

1973 Models Unwrapped Chryslers, Plymouths Shown

By F. T. MacFEELY
Associated Press Writer

MAICO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — The 1973 Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles were unwrapped today for the automotive press, and they stress improved safety, reduced pollution and "more formal, sculptured lines."

Most of the changes, as far as the potential buyer will see when the cars go on display in showrooms late next month, are in hood, grill and light styling, plus bumpers designed to absorb a knock up front of five miles per hour and at back at 25 m.p.h. without body damage.

There are fewer models to choose from, continuing a two-year trend. The Chrysler-Plymouth division offered 86 models in 1971, which was cut to 59 in 1972, and is now down to 53.

The energy-absorbing bumper system is common to all models. So are two pollutant-reducing engine changes — induction-hardened valve seats to improve performance with unleaded fuel and an electric assist choke to reduce hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emission during starting and warmup.

An electronic ignition system optional since 1971 on V-8 engines becomes standard on all sizes and sights. Except for sparkplug service, Chrysler Corp. says tune ups are seldom needed in normal use since the electronic system eliminates distributor points.

Francis G. Hazelroth, division sales manager, said the company listened to consumers and responded with increased quality reliability and value.

The second of America's Big Four automakers to introduce its 1973 line, following American Motors' showing early this month, Chrysler projected a price increase averaging $10 a car.

The price picture was clouded this week, however, when President Nixon's Cost of Living Council Chairman Donald Rumsfeld called on all auto manufacturers to market 1973 models at the price of 1972.

'Silence' Paramount At Chess Match 'Think' Champions Battle In Iceland

SGT. GARY WELCH of Winter Springs, United States Air Force recruiter will be in Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce each Friday at 10 a.m. to explain new pay scales and other opportunities in the USAF for young men and women.

By HUGH A. MULLAGAN
AP Special Correspondent

RAYKJAVIK (AP) — The most important word in the Icelandic language these days is POKN, spelled out in neon lights with two dots over the "O".

It means SILENCE, don't even whisper, Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky are locked in mortal mental combat for the indoor think tank championship of the world.

POKN flashes in angry, glaring light above the green-carpeted stage whenever a rough erupts or a squeaky football disturbs the sepulchral silence of Reykjavik's Sports Arena where the world chess championship is daily being hushed up.

A slammed door or a crushed popsize wrapper is usually enough to bring Gudmundur Arnalugsson, the assistant referee, to his feet, peering out among the potted palms for the culprit, both hands raised to the rafters in supplication for silence.

Sometimes the POKN warning light goes on when neither the Brooklyn lad boy nor the reigning Soviet champ is enthroned in his $470 black leather tubular swivel chair beneath the huge TV screen transmitting their chess moves to the distant balcony.

A world chess match is probably the only spectator sport retailing for $5 a seat that can begin with none of the players in the stadium. On days when the habitually tardy Fischer leads off the batting order with the white pieces, as he did in Tuesday's 14th game, referee Lothar Schmid gets the quietude off to a punctual start by turning on the challenger's clock. This is like starting off a World Series game with both teams still in the locker room, but the audience of a thousand or more falls hushed and expectant.

Ten minutes later, sometimes more, Robert James Fischer steps through the curtains to a flutter of applause, like a guest on the Johnny Carson Show, and stretches his long, elegantly tailored legs beneath the marble and mahogany chess board that in his latest psychological play has become "aesthetically displeasing" to him.

New York Hunts Welfare Fraud

Keeping Up With 'Bamboozles'

By TOM THORP

NEW YORK (NEA)—The public has long suspected that some of America's 15 million welfare recipients are cheats who get on public rolls merely as a way of escaping hard work. Now it seems, if New York is any example, the public has had the frauds all wrong. Investigations here indicate some welfare cheats are not escaping work; some are, indeed, working very hard — at being welfare cheats.

Take John and Mary Bamboozle, for example. "Their names have been changed here, but not their illegalities). For the past six years the Bamboozles have labored endlessly if not admirably to bilk this town out of their share of dollars in public aid.

It began for them in May of 1966. The Bamboozles wished they had overpopulated their family (11 children), their income was modest and inconsistent, their future decidedly dismal. Actually, at the time, the Bamboozles were probably honest people who hungrily needed help. So they visited city authorities, asked for and received assistance to get them back on their feet.

The role did the trick. The Bamboozles recovered in a short time. With city help Mr. Bamboozle got a steady job, the family moved into a better home — and, in time, an automobile was acquired, a gold Cadillac no less, for weekend getaways.

Unfortunately, success spoiled the Bamboozles. In a daze, they committed another family, exactly like their own, to confuse, confound and cheat New York welfare officials. The other family, headed by John and Mary Swindle, was used as a front for the Bamboozles' legitimate pursuits. It was the Swindles, not the Bamboozles, who were employed; it was the Swindles, not the Bamboozles, who owned the new house; and it was the Swindles, not the Bamboozles, who had that gold Cadillac for those comfy weekend getaways.

Thus it was that, until recently, when the fraud was uncovered, John and Mary Bamboozle had fleeced this city for six years.

Registrations: Political Barometers

A significant milestone in the political parade which winds up with the Nov. 7th general election has been passed.

This was the registration of eligible voters for the primaries on Sept. 12th and Oct. 3rd. In Seminole County our experienced supervisor of elections Cami Bruce reports a total of 39,511 was run up which shows an overall increase of almost 25 per cent.

To those registrants goes our applause. This is, however, tempered with some conditions. For what happened when the eligibles took time to visit the registration offices and chose the party or non-party where their names would be listed was the easiest part of a proper exercise of the franchise.

It was not surprising that the Nixon coattails have attracted some lukewarm Democrats to switch parties. Nor is it unexpected that the Democrats gained the greatest number of new voters with 3,747 joining the majority party.

The total of new Republican registrants is 3,501, which is in keeping with the trend. But the statistic which holds within itself the most important message is that which lists 408 new voters as independents or non-partisan.

Thus the Democratic growth is by 19 per cent, the Republican is a healthy 33 per cent and the "others" beats them both with more than 62 per cent compared with six months ago.

These figures are, in practical fact, of more concern to the candidates — whose number is legion this year — than to the voters. This flood of political hopefuls who either want to test the waters of popular elections or want to go up higher on the ladder of success presents a second milestone which the conscientious voter must pass.

In any year this is difficult. This year, however, the very large number of candidates, the presence of petitions on the ballot, the complications which re-districting has created makes the voters' responsibility to understand an Herculean task.

Here in Seminole County where population growth makes the matter of residency as a qualification for registration and voting much more than a theoretical hurdle, it should be emphasized that the 60-day rule is still in force.

Political scientists are watching this presidential election with more than the usual attention. The reforms within the Democratic party already accomplished were sparked by a desire to bring political action to the grass roots.

The status quo which appears to be the decision of the Republicans, with the Nixon record to quote as reason for re-election, makes the response of the eligible voters much more than a matter of party strength or weakness.

Thus the real hurdle which the eligible, registered and concerned voter must take is casting the ballot. There are at least two of these. First the primaries in September and October. Then the high hurdle of November.

A word of caution on this is in order. And this goes back to the mechanics of supplying the election facilities, the operation of the election facilities and the reporting of the vote itself.

All of these, to be sure, the prime duty of the supervisor of elections in whose office every means possible is already being enlisted to meet the challenge.

But the final duty rests with the eligible voters who have registered. They are the ones who must vote. To do so properly they must be informed during the campaign and patient — very patient — when the polls open, crowds line-up and there is delay.

That will be the pay-off!

Offbeat Ruminations

How About Skipping All Of These

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without: Political candidates who have only one basic speech.

Suntan lotions that simply serve as a grease in which to fry you.

Television announcers who think it is still possible to make funny jokes about the weather.

Wives who hawl out their husbands in public.

Husbands at cocktail parties who try to show how dumb they really are.

The theory that you should tip waiters or bartenders 20 per cent of the bill, when anywhere else in the world 15 per cent is regarded as plenty.

Cabdrivers who, when you give them a $5 or $10 bill, say, "What do you think I am, a bank?"

Auto-conditioners that break down on the first day of a two-week heat wave, then mysteriously get well the day a repairman finally condescends to come.

Girls who get more aloof with each drink—and at $1.50 a drink.

Dentists who ask you questions while they're drilling out a cavity.

Telephone operators who insist a number isn't listed. And you can't tell them you got it from information only an hour ago but forgot to write it down. Snails — and the people who like to eat them. Letters beginning "to whom it may concern." Any letter that starts like that really doesn't concern anybody.

Stickie notes faces. Little kids can't understand unless you bring your psychiatrist along to interpret their meaning. From these and other annoyances, deliver us Amen.

It is estimated that as environmental agencies develop, federal pollution-fighting costs may take $4 billion a year. The Social Security legislation adopted this summer provides for a 10 per cent increase in the payroll tax rate over a little next year, and the income base from which those taxes are taken will be widened in 1973, and probably often thereafter.

Nevertheless, there is no real treasure trove to tap to cover the full range of enlarging expenditures. These will more than use up the so-called fiscal dividend, the tax revenue gain that accompanies general economic growth. That dividend has largely vanished. The reason, says the Brookings report:

in the space of 10 short years, federal civilian expenditures as a percentage of GNP (the nation's total output) almost doubled; even if no new programs are added, the annual growth in existing expenditure programs now absorbs a much larger fraction of the growth in revenues than was the case 10 years ago.

Notwithstanding these difficulties, politicians in both major parties keep suggesting that no new tax increases will have to be voted in the next year or two. The Democrats talk often of "tax reform," knowing full well that the expression is read by many voters as a cut in taxes.

The tax experts do indeed agree that the tax system is loaded with inequities—that the payroll tax falls with extra weight on lower income workers, some privileged people enjoy tax preferences (loopholes), the property tax is a jerry-built monstrosity.

But, realistically, there can be no reforms which amount to general tax cuts. Since 1964, Congress has enacted tax reductions depriving the U.S. treasury today of some $45 billion annually. The trend now surely is going to be the other way—to get it back, and more.

The fault could be either in the dies, which are produced here for all three federal mints, or in their application, he said.

Philadelphia coin collectors are reporting prices of between $40 and $100 on uncirculated double-dies, but they expect a boom and then the next few weeks.

"They should be $100 or more considering their rarity," said David Gorlin of Dave's Northeast Mint Inc. here.

Gorlin, who is now buying the misstamped pennies for less than $60, figures the price will rise after this week's American Numismatic Association convention in New Orleans, when "people realize there aren't too many of these things around."

A mint spokesman said many of the faulty images are not visible to the naked eye.

$100 Billion U.S. Budget Hike Seen

By BRUCE BHOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NSA) — In the next presidential term, the federal budget is going to rise at least $100 billion above present annual levels. If there are no tax increases, the deficit will be $20 billion, says a study by the Brookings Institution's new budget study had projected U.S. budget hikes totaling $91 billion between now and fiscal 1977.

Even before Congress added $8.4 billion to yearly federal outlays by enacting a 20 per cent Social Security benefit increase, the Brookings Institution's new budget study had projected U.S. budget hikes totaling $91 billion between now and fiscal 1977.

The future figures could go considerably higher if Congress continues its present course of enlarging major appropriations affecting social programs. Nearly $2 billion has been added by Congress to President Nixon's budget request for HEW funds this fiscal year.

The President's veto, of course, could put a damper on some of this expansion.

The Brookings budget review indicates that inflation will add $8 billion a year to the budget, representing higher federal workers' wages and higher prices for the things the government buys.

There are built-in escalators. More and more beneficiaries are coming under education, health, welfare and other programs. An automatic cost-of-living booster is contained in some, and now will be part of the Social Security system. Brookings figured the escalators as adding perhaps $6 billion a year to the budget, not counting the new Social Security features.

It is estimated that as environmental agencies develop, federal pollution-fighting costs may take $4 billion a year. The Social Security legislation adopted this summer provides for a 10 per cent increase in the payroll tax rate over a little next year, and the income base from which those taxes are taken will be widened in 1973, and probably often thereafter.

Nevertheless, there is no real treasure trove to tap to cover the full range of enlarging expenditures. These will more than use up the so-called fiscal dividend, the tax revenue gain that accompanies general economic growth. That dividend has largely vanished. The reason, says the Brookings report:

in the space of 10 short years, federal civilian expenditures as a percentage of GNP (the nation's total output) almost doubled; even if no new programs are added, the annual growth in existing expenditure programs now absorbs a much larger fraction of the growth in revenues than was the case 10 years ago.

Notwithstanding these difficulties, politicians in both major parties keep suggesting that no new tax increases will have to be voted in the next year or two. The Democrats talk often of "tax reform," knowing full well that the expression is read by many voters as a cut in taxes.

The tax experts do indeed agree that the tax system is loaded with inequities—that the payroll tax falls with extra weight on lower income workers, some privileged people enjoy tax preferences (loopholes), the property tax is a jerry-built monstrosity.

But, realistically, there can be no reforms which amount to general tax cuts. Since 1964, Congress has enacted tax reductions depriving the U.S. treasury today of some $45 billion annually. The trend now surely is going to be the other way—to get it back, and more.

The fault could be either in the dies, which are produced here for all three federal mints, or in their application, he said.

Philadelphia coin collectors are reporting prices of between $40 and $100 on uncirculated double-dies, but they expect a boom and then the next few weeks.

"They should be $100 or more considering their rarity," said David Gorlin of Dave's Northeast Mint Inc. here.

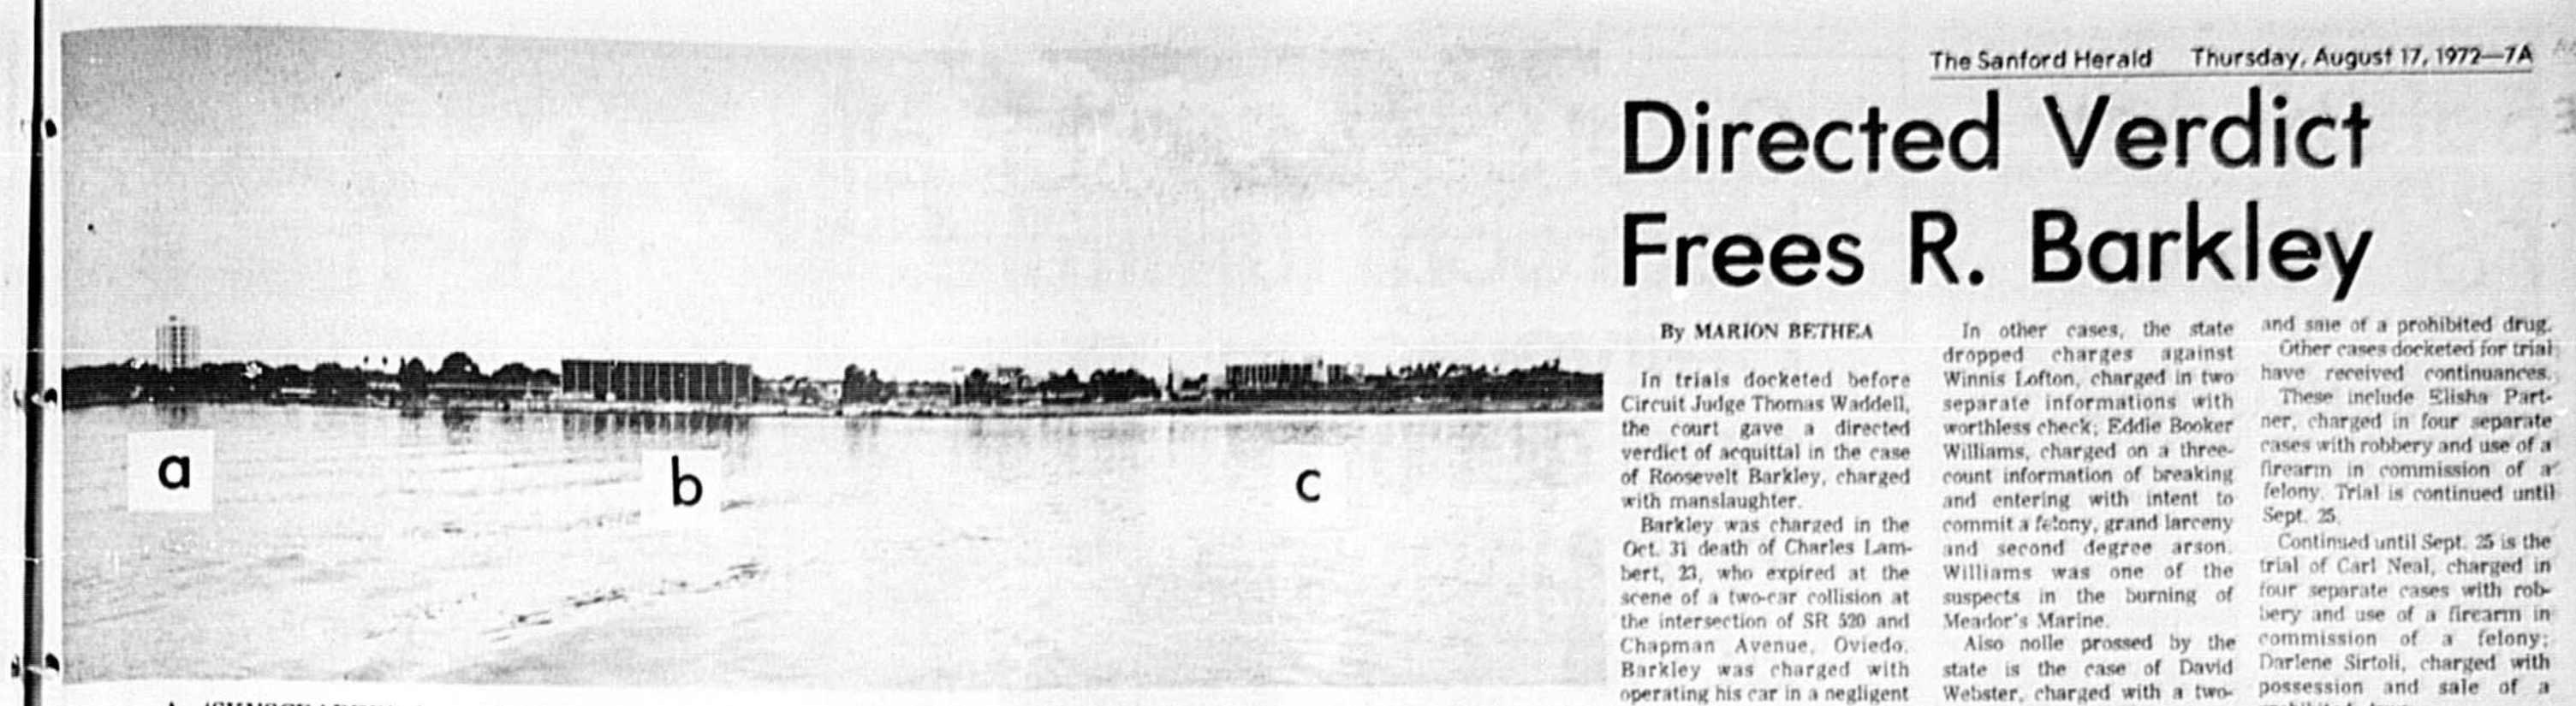

Gorlin, who is now buying the misstamped pennies for less than $60, figures the price will rise after this week's American Numismatic Association convention in New Orleans, when "people realize there aren't too many of these things around."

A mint spokesman said many of the faulty images are not visible to the naked eye.

Double-Die Cents Worth Up To $100

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Take a look at the pennies in your cookie jar and if you see double, don't go to an eye doctor. Go to a coin collector.

You may get as much as $100 if the penny has a double image of the date and the "In God We Trust" motto. The U.S. Mint, it seems, accidentally struck up to 100,000 of the pennies twice, thus creating a double image.

They are the first double-die pennies reported since 1955 and have become instant collectors' items.

Two burglaries yield $365 in varied items

Two guns and a camera were stolen from a storage closet at a South Seminole residence, according to deputy J. Leman. Mrs. William Matheny, 341 Melody Lane, reported a 357 magnum pistol, a Polaroid model No. 250 camera and a 16-gauge single-shot shotgun missing. Total value of the missing items was estimated at $325.

Adair's Gulf Station reported two new tires, valued at $40, missing from a rack in front of the station, located at 317 West First Street. According to Sanford police, a rack of tires was accidentally left overnight.

Dupty P. J. Higgins arrested Peter Hoelzer, Apt. 206, Spanish Trace Apartments, Altamonte Springs, on a charge of unlawful delivery of drugs. Hoelzer was arrested at his residence and jailed under a $5,000 bond.

Directed Verdict Frees R. Barkley

In other cases, the state dropped charges against Winnis Lofton, charged in two separate informations with worthless check; Eddie Booker Williams, charged on a three-count information of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, grand larceny and second degree arson.

Barkley was charged in the Oct. 21 death of Charles Lambert, 23, who expired at the scene of a two-car collision at the intersection of SR 530 and Chapman Avenue, Oviedo. Barkley was charged with operating his car in a negligent and culpable manner effecting the death of Lambert. Barkley's trial was continued three times.

Philmore Jones, who was charged with assault with intent to commit a felony, aggravated assault and use of a firearm in commission of a felony in the June 3 shooting of Willie Jordan, 1401 West Seventh Street, pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of count two, assault and battery. The court adjudicated him guilty and sentenced him to one year in county jail, suspending nine of the 12 months with credit for the time in which the defendant has been incarcerated since June 3. The state nolle prossed (dropped) charges in the other two counts.

Continued until Sept. 25 is the trial of Carl Neal, charged in four separate cases with robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony. Neal is charged with possession and sale of a prohibited drug, pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of possession of cannabis of less than five grams. Judge Waddell adjudicated Steele guilty and sentenced him to one year in county jail. The court then suspended sentence for two years. The state dropped charges of sale of the drug.

A guilty plea was entered by James Brown on Aug. 3 to charges of uttering a forged check. The court did not accept the plea and ordered the defendant bound over for trial. On Aug. 15 a motion was filed to determine the mental condition of the witness and trial has been reset for Aug. 21.

Heroin: A Hot Issue For The GOP

MIAMI BEACH — The prevailing wisdom is that the Republican National Convention will be about as full of surprises as Aunt Emma's Tuesday evening circles.

There are several Republicans around the country, however, who seem dedicated to enlivening the proceedings. One of them is Robert Moss, 34-year-old head of the Ripon Society branch in Philadelphia.

Moss' plans to ask the convention to endorse a platform plank calling for free distribution of heroin to addicts.

Moss' program would be modeled on a trial basis after the British system of maintaining addicts on both heroin and methadone in government-sponsored clinics in an effort to lower street crime.

The present British system went into effect in 1968, replacing a 10-year-old procedure under which physicians prescribed narcotics for addicts just as they prescribe insulin for diabetics.

"I know there are a lot of arguments against it," said Moss, whose Ripon unit membership consists of 100 liberal and politically active Republicans.

"People say that strict controls are needed to prevent abuse of the system. But I don't consider that a real argument. Any system has the possibility of abuse built in."

Moss said, "At the very least, it will be a plus for our party to discuss the issue at the Miami convention. We must not shun controversial topics."

Moss is a former aide to Philadelphia District Atty. Arlen Specter and was assistant campaign manager for last year's GOP mayoral candidate Thatcher Longstreth, who was snubbed under the polls by Democrat Frank Rizzo.

"Bringing up this issue may jolt the convention," said Moss, "but I'm determined to give it a try."

He dismissed arguments against the free heroin plan from former addicts.

"They claim that if a maintenance system had been in existence," he said, "that they never would have kicked their habits. But the large body of data that exists on the subject indicates that only about five per cent of all drug addicts have the capability and the motivation to rehabilitate themselves in standard rehabilitation programs."

"I'm interested," Moss said, "in the other 95 per cent who have to trip people off to support their habits."

One Man's Opinion

Stay-Put Sects Show the Gains

By DON OAKLEY

That "old-time religion" is making a comeback. Latest statistics published by the National Council of Churches show that total church membership rose slightly last year to 131 million, and the greatest gains were registered by fundamentalist sects. Most of the "liberal" Protestant denominations lost members or barely held their own.

Any number of explanations for this phenomenon are being offered. The mainline churches have diluted their basic messages and have been sidetracked into ecumenical movements and social action; people are looking for security, are retreating from the social turmoil of the 1960s; it is a reaction to the doctrinal confusion of the theologians, and so on.

The churches that are gaining members, observes Dean M. Kelley of the Council, are generally those that have held on to old-time beliefs, shunned contact with other have churches or secular causes and proclaim that they alone have the truth. They are strong on discipline, missionary zeal, conformity and even fanaticism.

The churches that are losing members are those that profess tolerance of diversity and openness to dialogue with others.

Efforts to foster interfaith cooperation "may be conducive to brotherhood, peace, justice, freedom and compassion," he writes, "but they are not conducive to converting or increasing the social strength of the religious groups involved."

City Pay Hike

(Continued From Page 1) under consideration for adoption anticipated $2,655,795 revenue and expenditures of $2,462,430 (not including pay raises). Salary raises could come from the $193,355 surplus if commission efforts to approve Knowles' projections.

Of the surplus $165,361 could be used to fund the salary increases leaving the city with a $110,000 contingency.

The mayor said a half mill cut on general operating funds could be realized. This would drop city payroll, including debt service, 1.5, and general operating millage, 7.5, or a total of nine mills ad valorem levy.

Commission already has sliced 1.5 mills from debt service starting the city millage from this year's 11 mills to nine. Action on this proposal is expected today on the millage reduction.

The mayor said Mayor Meyer has "all wet" in trying to cap Knowles' pay. "You are trying to beat the body and cut off the head," Morris said, Mayor Moore cautioned, "You will destroy the city's whole pay scale principal by digging out three positions."

Safety Act For Water Is Enacted

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

County Commissioners adopted a new water safety ordinance at the public hearing... The ordinance is so "watered down" that enforcement will be difficult, according to Chairman Greg Drummond.

Several residents from Loch Arrior were in attendance at the work session held to consider the new ordinance which had been amended since earlier objections.

Also facing numerous objections were the provisions regarding age of boat operators and operation of water skis... County Attorney Howard Marsee presented alternative amendments to the document at the public hearing.

Drummond carefully and repeatedly explained that the provision was not meant to favor anyone group or person... He pointed out that the distance of 50 feet, which is much more than many residents, was not being understood.

Altamonte Agenda Opened By Swofford

By MARION BETHA

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The old axiom "once burned, twice shy" is not applicable to Mayor Lawrence Swofford, who "did it again" in allowing a developer to make a presentation who was not listed on the formal agenda.

Last week Swofford gave such permission to E. Pope Bassett in an annexation request. Bassett was listed on the agenda this week... After making disposition of three listed agenda items, with none remaining, Swofford told waiting developers William Goodman "You asked to be on the agenda last week... well, you're on it."

Jack Ledoux Quits As SOKC Manager

Jack Ledoux, who has watched the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club grow into one of the top tracks in the state during his 17 years as general manager, is selling his interests in the Longwood track and leaving the organization.

"I guess you can just call me retired for a while," commented Ledoux when questioned about future plans. Ledoux has two children in college, and one is on a football scholarship. Lance Ledoux is in his first year at Lafayette and his father plans to take him to some trips to Gainesville for University of Florida games.

Ledoux is uncertain about the future, and is going back into some phase of greyhound racing is a possibility. Breaking records has been an annual event at SOKC as the attendance and handling continue to soar. Last year's handle climbed over the $22 million mark.

Crows have been so great that rebuilding and remodeling plans are already on the drawing board. The old grandstands will be torn down and new, modern facilities erected. More parking space will be paved in the plan. Ledoux, who owned 25 per cent of the SOKC interests, is selling his share to his father-in-

Sanford Girl Entered Special Olympics Ends Today

Adonis is a veteran of Special Olympic competition. He finished second in the 300-yard run two years ago in Chicago. "I met Jesse Owens," Adonis said, "and he told me I had nice size and build for the mile."

When I first met him, he was a wild kid," coach Joe Holman, 62, said of the 18-year-old Brown. "Now he listens. He's a man now." Adonis sprinted yards ahead of his closest pursuer to win the event in 5 minutes, 12 seconds. Wednesday in the international Special Olympics. A gold medal hung around his neck on a red ribbon.

Pearlie Mae Hampton, 14, of Sanford is out in the Special Olympics. Pearlie Mae was chosen from nearly 300 first place winners to compete. Only 60 from Florida were chosen. Running is the Midway student's specialty.

Brown, like the 2,600 other competitors in the two-day program, is mentally retarded. His home is the Rosewood State Hospital in Baltimore, Md. Shly, Brown confirmed what she said on his dark face the thrill of being a champion, the satisfaction of sacrifice and success. He was pressed by Bobby Maples, acquired last year from Houston. "Running the football will be Preston Pearson and Frenchy Higgins, a steady breakaway runner with a center of gravity like a manhole cover. Backup strength, a weakness in 1971, could be an asset."

The reasons: Franco Harris, the club's No. 1 draft choice; Steve Davis, who missed all of last season with a viral infection, and Rocky Bloor, who appears fully recovered from Vietnam shrapnel wounds. On the other hand, the defense was last in the AFC against the pass last year. Tentative starters in the secondary are Mel Blount and John Rouser at the corners and Chuck Beatty and Mike Wagner at safeties.

The front four, third best in 1971, is led by "Mean Joe" Greene, 270 pounds of defensive tackle. Dwight White and L.C. Greenwood man the ends, with Ben McGee and Lloyd Voss at the other tackle. Linebacking is solid with veteran Chuck Allen in the middle and Jack Ham and Andy Russell on the flanks. Some stability in the secondary and continued improvement from Bradshaw are the keys.

Are They 'SOS'

Steelers Face 39-Year Hex

Associated Press Sports Writer PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despondent and faded optimism, the Pittsburgh Steelers enter this season with a new kind of confidence. The division title has eluded them throughout their pro football history in within reach — if they can shake their image as the "Same Old Steelers."

"It's been said 'This is the year' so many times before that it doesn't mean anything. So don't even quote me on it," said the quarterback Terry Bradshaw, his eyes flashing. "We want to do it, not talk about it," he added. "We'll prove ourselves when the season starts."

That's the attitude that seems to pervade the Steelers, in their fourth year under Coach Chuck Noll. Noll, 40, took the job in 1969 after Bill Austin was fired, and he has led Pittsburgh to records of 13, 9 and 6.

One thing going for Pittsburgh is that it is in the Central Division of the American Conference with Cleveland, Houston and Cincinnati. It was the quarterback Terry Bradshaw, before going to Munich.

They will be here today to observe the first issue of the U.S. Olympic commemorative stamp, then attend a special joint session of Congress in honor of the U.S. team. The highlight of the two-day Washington trip will be a visit to the White House to meet Mrs. Richard Nixon and possibly President Nixon.

Nancy earned the trip to the 1972 Summer Olympics in Munich, Germany, by collecting the most money of 20,000 competitors ages 10 to 16 in a national contest. It was sponsored by Red Barn, a national fast-service food chain.

Nancy and the two runners-up, brothers Keith Schleicher, 11, and Kevin Schleicher, 14, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were in Washington Wednesday before leaving on a five-day visit with their parents to Athens, Greece.

Advise from Steeler quarterback coach Babe Parilli made a difference last season. Bradshaw completed 54 per cent of his passes for 13 touchdowns. He also rushed for 247 yards and five touchdowns.

Steelers receivers rank among the best. Ron Shanklin and Dave Smith were fourth and sixth respectively in the AFC last season in catches. Another threat is Frank Lewis, the club's No. 1 draft pick a year ago. Incumbent tight end Bob Adams didn't catch a touch-down pass last season, and he is being propped by Larry Brown and rookie John McMakin.

Returns in the offensive line include tackles John Brown and Jan Kolb, guards Sam Davis and Bruce Van Dyke and center Jay Mansfield. Mansfield has started 126 straight regular season games for Pittsburgh, but he is being pressed by Bobby Maples, acquired last year from Houston. "Running the football will be Preston Pearson and Frenchy Higgins, a steady breakaway runner with a center of gravity like a manhole cover. Backup strength, a weakness in 1971, could be an asset."

Olympic Collection Earns Munich Trip

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — For five weeks, 14-year-old Nancy Miller of Elkhart, Ind., began her day at 6 a.m. to collect money for the U.S. Olympic team. For her efforts, she will see her heroes in action.

Nancy earned the trip to the 1972 Summer Olympics in Munich, Germany, by collecting the most money of 20,000 competitors ages 10 to 16 in a national contest. It was sponsored by Red Barn, a national fast-service food chain.

Nancy and the two runners-up, brothers Keith Schleicher, 11, and Kevin Schleicher, 14, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were in Washington Wednesday before leaving on a five-day visit with their parents to Athens, Greece.

They will be here today to observe the first issue of the U.S. Olympic commemorative stamp, then attend a special joint session of Congress in honor of the U.S. team. The highlight of the two-day Washington trip will be a visit to the White House to meet Mrs. Richard Nixon and possibly President Nixon.

Acquiring QB Johnson Delights Denver Coach

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Veteran quarterback Charley Johnson starts a new career with the Denver Broncos in the National Football League today. "We are delighted to have Charley in a Broncos uniform," said Denver Coach John Ralston Wednesday after the Houston Oilers traded the 33-year-old Johnson to the Broncos for a high, undisclosed 1973 draft choice.

"His experience will be invaluable to our team," Ralston added. In another development involving a veteran quarterback, Coach Tommy Prothro of the Los Angeles Rams said Roman Gabriel would start against Oakland Saturday night. Gabriel suffered a collapsed lung on July 11, but in recent days has been throwing the ball long and hard. As to how long Gabriel will play, Prothro said, "we'll see how the game goes."

Denver is the third NFL team for Johnson, starting his 12th season in the league. Johnson started at New Mexico State before starting his pro career with the Denver Broncos in the 1961 season. He was traded to Houston after the 1969 season in a deal that sent quarterback Pete Beathard and cornerback Miller Farr to the Cardinals. With the Oilers he was hampered by injuries. He played most of the 1970 season with a special hardness for a broken left collar bone.

He started only three games with the Oilers last season, but completed 46 of 94 passes for three touchdowns. He is reported fully recovered from a knee operation during the off-season. In another deal Wednesday the Cardinals acquired running back Billy Taylor from Atlanta for an undisclosed future first choice.

Taylor was the University of Michigan's most valuable player last season. He broke the Big Ten Conference career rushing record of Jim Grabowski by gaining 3,072 career yards and scoring 22 touchdowns. Steelers disclosed that running back John Fuqua would miss at least two exhibitions because of a calf muscle injury.

Chuck Lattourant, 27, a five-year punt specialist with NFL St. Louis Cardinals, says it's doubtful he'll report for training. In his final semester at University of Tennessee College of Medicine at Memphis, Chuck is unwilling to give less than full time to medicine. He's offered to play weekends.

Dodgers Get 'Willies'

Stargell's Dramatic Homer Kills LA

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

For 26 innings, the Los Angeles Dodgers were giving people the willies.

They got some of their own medicine back Wednesday night.

Willie Stargell erased earlier damage done by Los Angeles' Willie Davis with a two-run homer in the ninth inning to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a dramatic 2-2 victory.

Davis, who had won two previous games with homers, put the Dodgers into a 2-0 lead with a two-run double in the second inning. It lasted until the final frame, when the Pirates scored three times to beat Don Sutton.

Stargell's wallop followed a run-scoring single by Al Oliver and marked the 18th time this season that the Pirates have won games in the ninth inning.

The National League's East leaders, who boosted their lead to 10 games over the New York Mets, have also come from behind to win 33 times this year.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds ripped the Philadelphia Phillies 8-2; the Houston Astros trimmed the Montreal Expos 5-0; the San Francisco Giants smashed the Chicago Cubs 14-9; the Atlanta Braves topped the New York Mets 3-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the San Diego Padres 6-4.

American League scores: Chicago 8, Milwaukee 6; Kansas City 3, New York 2; Oakland 4, Baltimore 3; California 2, Cleveland 1 and Texas 9, Boston 8 in 10 innings. Rain postponed the final game in Detroit.

Sutton was pitching a fourth-inning no-hitter through eight innings before Pittsburgh rallied in the ninth. Dave Cash led off with a double, took third on a balk by Sutton, and scored on Oliver's single. Stargell then prodded.

Tony Perez knocked in four runs, two with a homer, to pace the Atlanta Braves topped the Cincinnati past hapless Philadelphia. The loser was Ken Reynolds, who dropped his 10th game without a victory this year.

"I think he lost his composure," said Philadelphia Manager Paul Owens of Reynolds, who failed to last the first inning. "I don't know what else you'd call it. He was throwing all over the place."

Bob Watson and John Edwards each drove in two runs and Don Wilson span a five-inning, leading Houston over Montreal. The Astros took the lead with two runs in the fourth on a single by Watson and Edwards' sacrifice fly.

Houston scored three more times in the sixth, helped by three Montreal errors. Watson drove in one run with a squeeze bunt, his third hit of the game. Edwards drove in another with a base hit and Doug Rader singled home the final run of the inning.

San Francisco crushed Chicago with a 20-hit offense, including four by Ken Henderson and three by Tito Fuentes and Dave Rader. Henderson drove in five runs with his hits, one of them a three-run homer, and Fuentes knocked in four.

The Cubs had 15 hits, including a homer by Jose Cardenal in the seventh when they scored five runs.

Dusty Baker singled home the tie-breaking run in a two-out sixth inning and Hank Aaron blasted the 64th home run of his career to help Atlanta defeat New York. The home run put Aaron an even 50 in back of Babe Ruth's career record 74.

Luis Melendez hit a two-run homer in the second inning and Ted Stremore singled home what proved to be the winning run in the sixth that gave Bob Gibson and St. Louis a triumph over San Diego.

Nate Colbert belted his 3rd home run top in the majors this year—for the losers.

Seeks Racing Tests

Jim Knott has several years of roadracing experience he would like to put to the test in competitive machinery. Jim will be competing in the fall four hour IMSA Daytona event in a Porsche 911S. Knott, who works as a mechanic at Contemporary Cars in Orlando, has raced his 914 Porsche in the IMSA series this year. This is a street driven auto which will have to watch in the future to see how he progresses in competition against competitive machinery. He should do quite well.

Whiteman Trophy Races

As we have previously pointed out this weekend will mark the running of the SCCA Paul Whiteman Trophy races at Daytona International Speedway.

There's nothing quite like driving the "Big D" as Daytona International Speedway is known. And this is the time of year when SCCA club racers get their big chance to run at Daytona. This year the dates are August 19 & 20 with the weekend continued in the Regional-National tradition. This allows the novice driver the opportunity to drive on one of the premier circuits in road racing. The largest field ever, 350 - 400 cars, is expected.

SCCA drivers will come from all over the nation to run this important race. Many will be trying to gain needed points to get to the ARRC while others will be drawn because of Daytona's magic name. Among the hot contests shaping up for the weekend will be the C-Production race with Don Kearney of Clearwater currently leading in the S. E. Division. Don's swift 240-2 will run against stiff competition from such drivers as Bob Sharp, Jim Fitzgerald, and former BRE car driver by Jim Gammon of Miami.

Bill McDill of Orlando will be trying to keep his lead in the race for the Formula Ford championship. Bill has won championships in 1967, 68, 69 in D-Sedan driving an NSU. He drove a Camaro to victory in the 1970 & 71 24 Hours of Daytona and 12 Hours of Sebring. He is currently Director of Driver Training for the Central Florida Region.

Bobby Clark, a Clearwater Datsun dealer, 1971 S. E. Division B-Sedan champion will be trying out his new 510 Datsun at Daytona. Bobby was first introduced to SCCA racing in 1970 and after eight months went on to become Regional Champion in his class. After campaigning his car throughout the country last year he became both divisional and regional champion. Although being a late starter in the points race he is still confident he can win again this year.

The SCCA's newest class - not yet recognized by the FIA - will see the Showroom Stock Sedans competing in the finale on Sunday.

SCCA Trans-Am

The last SCCA Trans-Am of the season at Mosport, Canada was won by Warren Tope in a Mustang. The AMA Javelina of Roy Woods and George Follmer who have won the Trans-Am Championship this year chose not to compete. Finishing second in a Camaro was Milt Miller. The Trans-Am series this year has been marked by great racing between Warren Tope and Milt Miller. Tope has done well in a Firebird as well as gaining a Camaro ride from Warren Agar for the last race. Vince Gimondo raced at Mosport event and was running fifth when a broken transmission put him out of contention. Vince will race next in the IMSA event this fall at Daytona International Speedway.

Moto-Cross Championship

The in-fighting for America's first national Moto-Cross championship will explode at Alabama International Motor Speedway Saturday afternoon, Sept. 2.

The Dry Valley Moto-Cross is the final stop in 1972's national 250cc title chase. The six-event program will feature over 100 riders competing in both the 250cc and open classes... but it's the smaller division that's getting most of the attention.

High-flying Gary Jones of Hacienda Heights, Calif., apparently has the title wrapped up but eight of the top ten spots in the 250cc standings are so close that the Talladega event will have to settle the issue. This is the first competition that the American Motorcycle Association has held for a national moto-cross champion. The open class title will be decided later in the year.

Ferrari Offered Help

An offer to support the famous Ferrari auto racing team was called recently to Enzo Ferrari, president of the Italian company, by Anthony (Andy) Granatelli, one of the world's leading supporters of the sport of auto racing.

"It is almost unthinkable that the prancing horses of Modena - the blood-red cars of Scuderia Ferrari - should disappear from the racing scene for economic reasons," Granatelli said.

"My proposal for support is made with the primary motive of preserving the important developmental engineering activities of Ferrari in the related fields of racing and automotive design.

"Our secondary and equal motive, of course, is to enhance the position of STP Corporation in the field of marketing promotion through auto racing and to have the Ferrari expertise working on a side of STP through the years ahead. I believe it is a sound business proposition for STP and I certainly hope that Ferrari management is able to give this proposal fullest consideration."

Granatelli said that only one stipulation was placed on the offer to Ferrari - participation by the Ferrari engineering staff in design and construction of an STP-Ferrari team entry at Indianapolis and other major races on the U.S. Auto Club championship trail in this country.

Enzo Ferrari has told several times, "Granatelli said, "that it was his desire - if he ever brought cars or engines to Indianapolis - that he would bring them in a partnership arrangement only with the Granatelli brothers. It would be my expectation, of course, that the STP support would produce an STP-Ferrari entry in major racing classics in the United States."

RELAXED SERVE IS BEST

All great servers have one thing in common—they are always in a relaxed position prior to and during their serve! Our drawing shows the player in a comfortable position—weight on the back foot, with his arms in close and ready to begin the serve.

As a youngster I used to squeeze the grip tightly, and I was unaware that this was detrimental to both my serve and game. When I was twelve a well-town pro pointed out to me how much more effective I would be serving if I relaxed both my grip and body.

At first I found the whole idea contrary to my thinking. However, in time my mental attitude changed, and I could see my serve and game improve—due to my learning to relax! It was a good pointer, and one which I always pass along to my pupils.

U. S. Vaulters Forced To Use Older Poles

By DAN BERGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Bob Seagraven, who won't be able to use the pole with which he vaulted to a world record, and shot putter Brian Oldfield, who smokes to relieve tension, underscore a mixture of youth and experience for the United States in the Olympic field events.

Seagraven's Cata-Pole, with which he set a world record of 18 feet, 9 1/2 inches a month ago, has been banned from the summer Games because it wasn't available to the rest of the world long enough. Olympic officials say Seagraven would have an unfair advantage.

Even so, using the older poles made by the same firm, the former University of Southern California star had shared the world mark at 18-4 1/2 with Kjell Laaksson of Sweden. These two, along with Americans Steve Smith and Jan Johnson, Italy's Renato Dionisi and East Germany's Wolfgang Nordwiesing, figure to battle for the gold.

Oldfield, who says he smokes to relieve tension on the field, warns up by heaving the 16-pound iron ball over his head with both hands. He also admits he drinks when the day is done.

The other U.S. shot putters are George Woods and Al Feuerbach. World record holder Handy Matson failed to make the team.

Art Walker, the first of America's first international triple jumpers, joins teammates Dave Smith and John Craft to give this country its first top threesome ever at an Olympics. Smith's American mark of 56-0 and Craft's wind-aided 56-2 make them top contenders for the gold.

But Walker, 31, is still around and many feel his international experience puts him a mental step ahead of the other two. His best is 55-1.

The world long jump record of 29 feet 2 1/4 inches may not be approached in quite some time, but the three Americans here have shown they are ready to take on the world's best.

Arnie Robinson has done 26-8 1/4, young Randy Williams 27-4 with an aiding wind and newcomer Preston Carrington 26-4. Carrington, the Wichita State kid who surprised the experts by beating out favored Henry Hines for the team, went a half foot farther than he's ever done in making the team.

The other field events are rather predictable. At least one man can be said to be favored.

Brundage 'Preparing' To Go Out 'Fighting'

By HERBERT SCHMITT
MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Avery Brundage preparing to step down as president of the International Olympic Committee, acted like a man who welcomed the chance to bow out fighting.

Still athletic looking at 84 years of age, Brundage was in a jovial mood as he talked to a small group of reporters Wednesday night and what he likely be his final—what he called the toughest—fight of his 20 years in office.

His opponent this time is not professionalism or commercialism, but politics—in the form of a burgeoning black African movement to boycott the Munich Olympic Games because of participation by athletes from the breakaway British colony of Rhodesia.

"We cannot tolerate political interference," Brundage said after putting the boycotters on notice that their national Olympic committees stand to be dropped from the IOC and their athletic teams disqualified from future Olympic competition.

"This is one of the most serious issues yet," he said. "Naturally, the people who furnish the money want to take charge. But we can and will resist this with the help of local people. We've done it before successfully."

He admitted that he was "worried and concerned" but his successor will be. We are at a crucial point of the Olympic movement. Just look at this political interference."

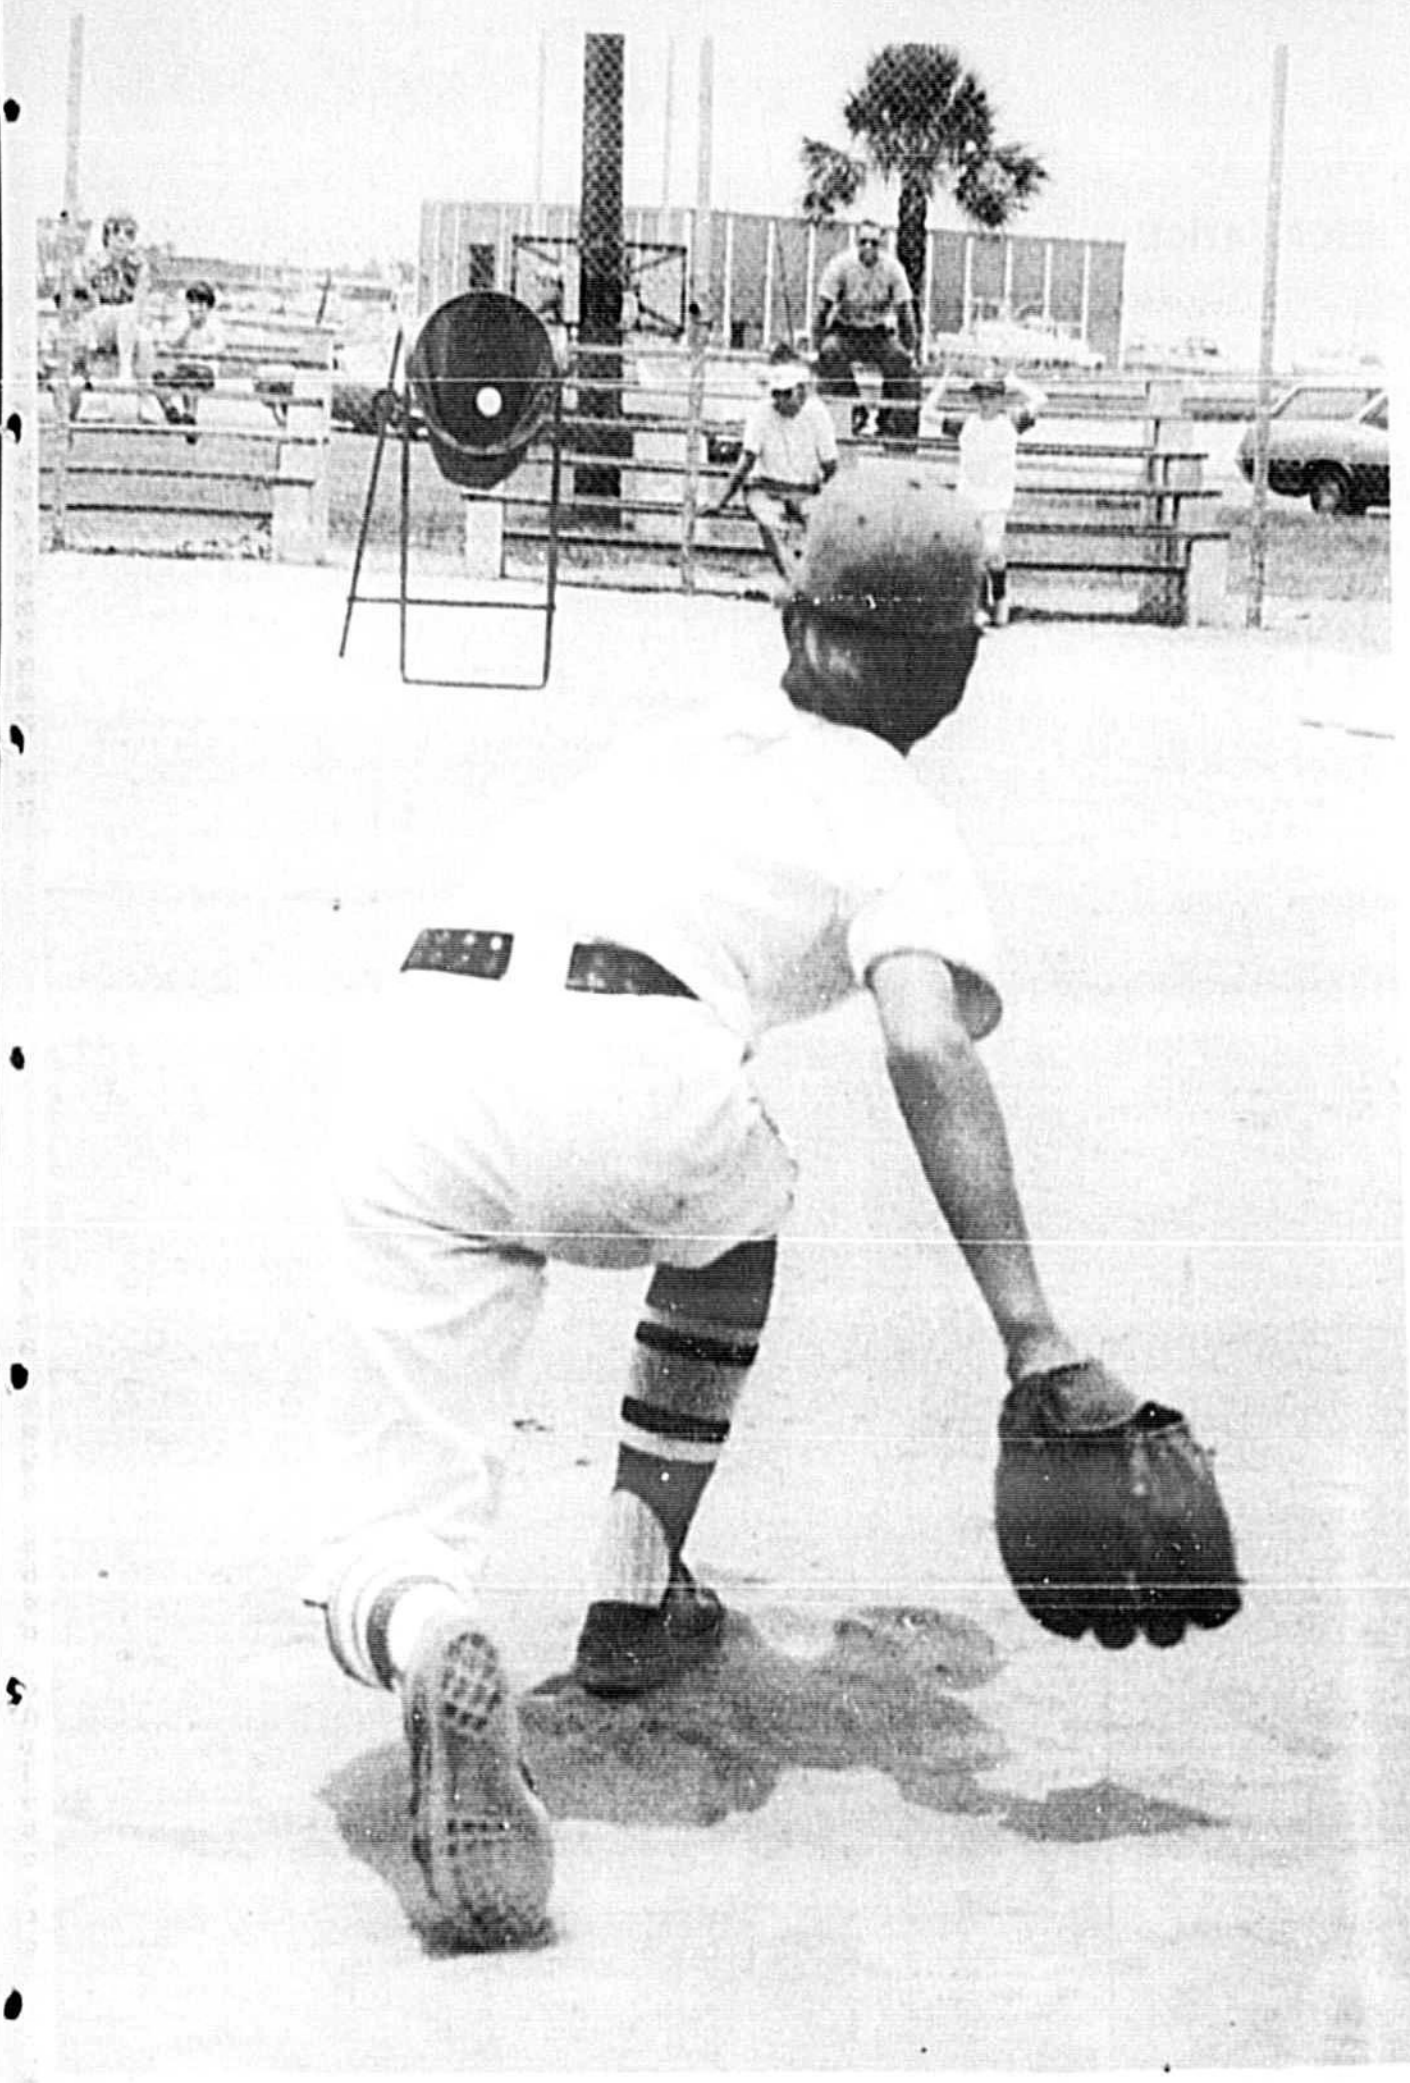

Ten days before the start of the Games, seven African states had served notice that their teams would not participate if the Rhodesians did.

Brundage insists the Rhodesians will remain since they are adhering to conditions the Africans themselves prescribed last year. These included marching under the old colonial flag with the Union Jack, accepting the designation of southern Rhodesia and observing "God Save the Queen" as Rhodesia's national anthem.

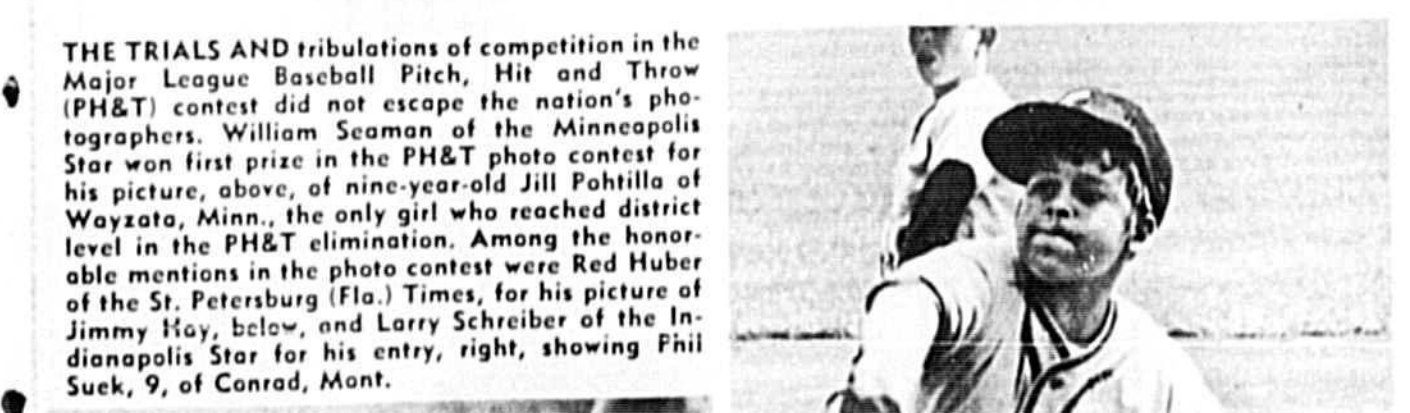

Brundage's successor is expected to be elected during the pre-Olympic IOC meeting here. The plenary session opens on Aug. 21.

Two leading prospects for the post are IOC Vice Presidents Lord Killanin of Ireland and Count Jean De Beaumont of France.

Looking back on his 20-year reign, Brundage said, "I don't regret having taken the job, exhausting as it sometimes was. I don't regret it at all. I do believe that the Olympic movement is the greatest social force in the world. I had a lot of work, some grief but also much happiness. The Olympics are something worth working—and living—for."

White Sox Wilbur Wood Not Looking At Records

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'm not looking at records," says Chicago's amazing Wilbur Wood. "I'm still a relief pitcher at heart, pitching one batter, rather than one game, at a time."

That's the approach to the game of baseball—or rather the artistry of pitching—by the 30-year-old knuckleballer, a referee from the bullpen, the winningest hurler in the major leagues this season.

Wednesday's performance was hardly one of his more successful efforts of the year. He was clipped for 10 hits and five runs by Milwaukee and departed after only 8 1/3 innings. But he'd hung around long enough to record his 21st victory—and that was good enough for Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner, who said: "I got no complaints. Woody won the game."

The White Sox' 8-6 triumph over the Brewers, coupled with Oakland's 4-3 victory over Baltimore Wednesday night, enabled the White Sox to remain within a game of the front-running A's in the American League's tight West Division race.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City defeated the New York Yankees 3-2, California edged Cleveland 2-1 and Texas topped Boston 9-8 in 10 innings. Minnesota's game at Detroit was rained out.

My delivery was too high right from the first inning," said Wood, who has lost 11 games this year. "The ball was moving good, but with a knuckleball, if it's too high, it loses its effectiveness."

The White Sox gave him a 6-0 lead to work with. In the second inning, Luis Alvarado hit a three-run inside-the-park home run and, in the third, Rick Reichardt drilled a two-run triple, then scored on Carlos May's double.

But it was a pair of runs in the sixth—obtained without benefit of a hit—that provided the winning margin. They came on three walks and a pair of grounders.

Mike Epstein's eighth-inning, tie-breaking home run, Oakland's third solo shot of the game, Detroit scored on Carlos May's double.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Ellen thinks she is abnormal! For she is never full of pep and energetic when she wakes in the morning. It requires hours before she is figuratively "hitting on all cylinders." So get the medical facts that explode the fallacies about morning pep!

Case U-564: Ellen G., aged 26, is a pretty housewife.

But, Dr. Crane, she protested, "I never have any pep in the morning. It isn't till the middle of the afternoon that I really grow energetic and can accomplish my housework."

"Yet I have heard of people who spring out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigor."

"How do they do it, anyway?"

HEALTH FALLACIES They don't. They're just like you, automobile.

Both require a "warming up" period before they hit on all cylinders.

Indeed, this same "warming up" interval is appreciated by college football and track coaches.

For cold muscles and tendons may tear or be strained.

So athletes slowly jog up and down the track or the sidelines of the gridiron to get their hearts more active.

Then, as more blood circulates through their muscles, there is less likelihood of a Charley horse or sprain or torn ligament!

The reason why most Americans order coffee and doughnuts or sweet roll for breakfast, is also to overcome two "low" spots in their morning physiology!

For when you have been shivering all night, your heart slows down in its pulse rate, and your blood pressure drops.

This means your brain, as well as your muscles, are sluggish.

So the caffeine in your coffee (or cola and tea) speeds up your pulse rate and zoons your blood pressure moderately.

Both of these changes mean that you can think more efficiently and also move faster.

But a second great value of that "coffee and sweet roll" breakfast menu is the sugar in the sweet roll.

For your blood sugar level is low in the morning, too, so you subconsciously feel the need for a quick booster of blood sugar.

Old people, as in Nursing Homes, likewise may be disoriented or wobbly in their thinking until they've had their coffee and rolls.

But emotions can likewise zoon your blood pressure!

In my case, if I think about certain ideas that infuriate me, I can be peppier in 60 seconds than by consuming two cups of strong coffee.

For during anger, the adrenal glands exude far more adrenaline into your blood stream.

Adrenaline speeds up your heart rate and zoons your blood pressure, both of which actions place you on what we call a "war basis, physiologically.

Another of Ellen's faults, however, was too much late TV.

Her eyes were thus unduly fatigued!

And any excessive fatigue of muscles demands a disproportionately long rest period for recovery thereof.

Though most of your other muscles are at almost complete rest during the hours you sit in front of your TV screen, your small eye muscles are not!

Little Things Do Irk You

By SAM STEWART Copy News Service

I guess we've got a few new versions, and for the record here are a few:

The observer who calls in, outraged, because he's seen a picture of a stick-carrying policeman standing over a bearded individual prostrate on the ground. Because there is invariably a castigation of the brutal officer, but never an inquiry as to how Mr. Whiskers got himself in this pickle.

—Repetition of the same commercial within a single program segment, something you self-respecting network could manage to avoid. Usually, you weren't even impressed the first time.

The supermarket shopper who, after getting a $23.76 order rung up, asks the checker to wait while she goes back for the special bargain on Salsos. Always has to come back and ask the checker where to find it.

—The cars laden with surfboards protruding to port and/or starboard which would be dangerous even if they carried "wide-load" warnings and had escorts fore and aft.

—The cats that park straddle the line in angle parking zones, lying up two places on a busy street or parking area.

—The telephone calls which inform me that my name has been selected scientifically, from the telephone book, thus qualifying me for free services of some sort, provided I pay the nominal fee suggested.

—Wandering how I get selected so often for calls like these, but never have been contacted on a poll, be it Gallup, Field or Harris. Nor do I know anybody who has.

—The red boulevard steps which sometimes nestle behind a palm tree or an overgrown hedge.

—The freeway driver, just astern, who keeps flashing his high beams at you when you are romping along at a smooth 70 in the inside lane.

—The quirk of fate which makes the folks with the thirdest tonsils or the weakest bladders sit the farthest from the aisles at any baseball game.

—People who leave numbers but no name, and ask that a call be returned.

—Putting something away where I will be sure to find it, and then forgetting where I put it.

—The driver who whizzes down the freeway, right arm draped casually over the back of the front seat, fingers drumming in time to the music from his radio.

—The coupons which are stapled together, it seems, alternate pages of your favorite magazine. Which, if this keeps up, will no longer be your favorite magazine.

—Candidates whose campaign sign cards and posters are still with us, weeks after the primary. Not all of them survived for runoffs in November, either.

—The inability of paving men and equipment, who do so beautifully when a street surface is first laid, to match that smooth perfection when the same street is repaired after being torn up for utility installation or a storm sewer.

—The cars laden with surfboards protruding to port and/or starboard which would be dangerous even if they carried "wide-load" warnings and had escorts fore and aft.

Who has the Answers?

by Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President, and Director,
White House Office of Consumer Affairs

Where would you go if you wanted information about Federal insurance on a loan to buy a mobile home? Or who could tell you if there are Federal standards for ice cream?

In over 70 cities around the country, a local call to a Federal Information Center will provide you with the answers. The public information specialists at the FICs will tell you that the Department of Housing and Urban Development provides insurance for mobile homes through any Federal Housing Administration (FHA) approved lending institution. They will also tell you that the Food and Drug Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare sets standards for ice cream. The information specialists in the FICs will also answer other questions about Federal programs and services or refer you directly to the appropriate agency for help.

The Federal Information Centers were established in 1966 as an experiment by the General Services Administration, which runs the program, and by the Civil Service Commission, which oversees the program. In 1969 President Nixon endorsed the idea of the FICs and included them in his program to make the Federal Government more responsible to the people. There are now 35 centers throughout the country. Citizens in 37 additional cities can call these FICs by dialing a local toll free number. Even if you don't live in one of the 72 cities, you should be able to reach the centers with a relatively low cost long distance call.

In addition to providing information about Federal programs and services, the Federal Information Centers furnish:

- 25 free or nominally priced booklets about consumer products including the Consumer Product Information specialists at the FICs will tell you that the Department of Housing and Urban Development provides insurance for mobile homes through any Federal Housing Administration (FHA) approved lending institution. They will also tell you that the Food and Drug Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare sets standards for ice cream. The information specialists in the FICs will also answer other questions about Federal programs and services or refer you directly to the appropriate agency for help.
- courtesy phones in the centers to put you in touch with the appropriate agency to help
- Centers are located in Albuquerque, Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Denver, Detroit, Fort Worth, Honolulu, Houston, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Louisville, Miami, Memphis, Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Newark, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Philadelphia, Phoenix, Pittsburgh, Portland (OR), Salt Lake City, St. Louis, St. Paul, St. Petersburg, San Diego, San Francisco and Seattle.

Senior Citizens Rally For Their Cause

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—America's 20 million senior citizens are rallying to their own cause and fast becoming one of the most organized groups in the nation.

The National Council of Senior Citizens, an AFL-CIO backed organization, reports it has three million members in more than 3,000 affiliated clubs. Another 3.8 million are members on the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons, both predominantly white-collar groups.

Both the National Council and the AARP have doubled their membership in the past five years and the AARP said that each week 2,000 more people are paying the $2 membership fee to join.

Many state organizations also report record growth. William Hutton, executive director of the 11-year-old National Council, said the recent trend toward organizing is due to the pressing needs of the steadily increasing numbers of retirees, who are living longer thanks to medical science but on fixed incomes, during a time of inflation.

Their presence felt primarily through letter writing, telephone calls and telegrams but more and more, where possible, have taken to demonstrating, visiting congressmen and legislators, even grading politicians.

In Ohio, legislators were besieged by a "prayer" of senior citizens, the day a bill to make sprinklers in nursing homes mandatory passed the Statehouse.

In California the League of Senior Citizens, has its 18,000 Adult Community Action program sponsors a bus service to keep their homes; food programs, especially opening up school cafeterias to their elderly; transportation, health care, federally assisted public housing and employment opportunities.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Late vacationers need not fear that Europe's shops will be bare when they get to them. They are loaded with goodies—antiques, contemporary furnishings, great handicrafts—for those who are shopping for home furnishings.

Many people think only of the traditional shopping places in England, France and Italy, but there is a lot to be said for the great shopping centers in other areas of Europe and Northern Africa, observes Valerian Rybar, well-known for his imperceptible last in interior design. Rybar shops all over Europe for the houses he decorates, and many famed American homes enjoy the treasures he has found. What makes a home different may be the little conversational piece one finds in a remote place, he comments.

A book available abroad, "Guide Emer," may be an invaluable aid for one seeking antiques, as it lists shops country by country, stating their specialties, he points out.

Here are some of his notes on shopping in southern Europe, country by country.

GREECE: Inexpensive fur rugs are available and the town of Castora is the center of the industry—hand embroidered designs are also available but not in a variety of designs or colors. Icons and Greek objects d'art reproductions are available.

GERMANY: Beautiful porcelain stoves can still be found. It is considered the European center for minerals from over the world. Rock crystal, agate, lapis lazuli and malachite ashtrays, boxes, candlesticks are available.

Mexico: Munich has rustic hand-blocked linen prints—beautiful flowers made of wood shavings—gayly printed fabrics.

Not Too Late To Shop In Europe

AUSTRIA—Biedermeier antiques... Tyrolean artifacts... Plain, cut or etched crystal stemware.

HOLLAND—Large selection of Delft tiles, vases, urns... Still-life paintings of all periods and price categories. Brass-inlaid wood from Bali, Sumatra, Java... 17th and 18th century furniture may be less expensive.

SPAIN—An abundance of wrought iron, tin lanterns, candleabra, mirror frames... woolen bedspreads that may be used as rugs.

Food Prices Higher Than Ever

Grocery Bill Political Issue

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's grocery bill is higher than ever this presidential election year and the debate over who gets what share of the pie—and the blame—for rising food prices is heating up.

Candidates are farmers, middlemen and retailers, all of whom say they are caught in an economic crunch.

Some typical breakdowns of food prices:

A pound of choice beef cost an average of $1.14 the last time government shoppers checked out the nation's food stores. Ranchers took 78 cents of that and the men who slaughter, ship, wrap and sell the meat the other 36 cents.

On lettuce the split was 22 cents a head for retailers and processors, 10 cents for farmers. Of the 25 cents for a loaf of bread, 6 cents went to farmers. Altogether, marketers get an average 60 cents of every food dollar.

What about farmers? There are more dollars to go around now than ever before, and farmers are getting two cents more of the food dollar than they did a year ago.

Retailers say they're not profiting from the rising food prices. Of criticism to this effect, economist S. Kent Christensen of The National Association of Food Chains said, "We think we're getting the brunt of this and we don't deserve it."

The struggle was precipitated by the appearance across the nation of regional food chains undercutting the national giants.

Farmers spend 5 per cent more to live than they did a year ago. The money they received increased 13 per cent in the same time. But the latest jump came after a 30-year period in which the prices farmers received increased 5 per cent.

The biggest cost increase in the farm-to-market journey has not been on either end, but in the middle.

Look for such words as PRE-SHUNK, 2 PER CENT SHUNKAGE, etc. Vat-dyed cottons and solution dyed rayons and acetates have excellent colorfastness.

Check for neatly finished edges. Securely sewn trim and close stitching are important if the spread is quilted. Check the entire surface, top and bottom, of a quilted spread to be sure that there are no broken threads.

AUDITIONS for Seminole Junior College Chorales will resume on Aug. 24. New music classes have been added at SJC, including sight singing, keyboard harmony and class piano.

Bedspread Should Be Most Durable

One household textile that gets very little publicity is the bedspread. Bedspreads get more wear than one may imagine. Teenagers sit on their beds to do homework, listen to music, talk on the phone, etc. When traveling, guests put their suitcases on the bed to pack and unpack them. Clothes get put on the bed for various reasons. So as you can see, bedspreads get a great deal of abuse.

Next time you need to purchase a bedspread look for one that is made of a fabric that is firmly woven. It should also be colorfast and shrink resistant. Check the label or hangtag to be sure.

Rebecca Ann Coxon, Don R. Bowen Married In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Rebecca Ann Coxon became the bride of Donnie Ray Bowen, June 16, 1972 at 3 p. m. in Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford.

Father Leroy D. Soper, was officiating clergyman at the candlelight ceremony. Miss Beatrice Burk, organist, presented an appropriate program of nuptial music.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frederick K. Coxon and the late Mr. Coxon, 2709 Narcissus Ave., Sanford. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Bowen, Geneva.

Church decorations included two basket arrangements of white mums, carnations and greenery. A white aisle carpet was marked with white carnations and white satin ribbon bows.

MR. AND MRS. DONNIE RAY BOWEN (Bob Orwig Photo)

Given in marriage by her brother, Frederick K. Coxon Jr., the bride wore a formal length gown of white silk organza, over satin, with full length train of matching material. The gown featured a high neckline and rose designs on the bodice and sleeves.

A shoulder length veil of silk illusion was secured to a beaniepiece of organza and she carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, pink baby's breath, white ribbon streamers and a removable corsage.

Miss Vickie Coxon served her sister as maid of honor and wore a pale yellow silk organza formal length gown, over satin. It featured short puff sleeves and she carried a bouquet of assorted spring flowers.

Bridesmaids and matron were the Misses Coleen McClary, Nancy Meyers, Janet Patterson and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Becca Coxon. Their gowns and flowers were identical to those of the honor attendant except the colors were in soft pastels, green, pink, lavender and blue.

Thomas E. Vucetich was best man. Stephen Coxon, brother of the bride was senior usher and other usher-groomsmen were Robert Feleore, Charles Gartin and Richard Pugh.

Little Miss Tammy Carter was flower girl and ring bearer was John Dale Coxon, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a blue coat dress with matching shoes and purse and a corsage of blue tinted carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue striped dress with matching accessories and a blue tinted carnation corsage.

Mrs. Dale Eyerett, Albion, Mich., grandmother, wore a pale blue dress with black accessories and a blue tinted carnation corsage.

The couple is leaving this week for Salt, Colo. on a belated wedding trip and to make their new home, where the groom will be employed by a lumber contractor in Salt.

Out of town guests came from Albion and Homer, Mich., Geneva and Lake Mary.

Dear Abby
Priest goes to bat for office secretaries

Priest goes to bat for office secretaries

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: To recap an interesting letter in the Cleveland Plain Dealer: A receptionist in a large business office failed to recognize a valued customer because he wasn't dressed as he usually was, so her boss chastised her, causing her to spend the weekend in bed with a migraine.

Console the poor lady! Nuts who wear Sears dresses or "contemporary pastels" must now produce identification when they request "discounts to religious" while shopping. Clergymen who insist on walking about in casual multi cannot complain when they're herded like hot polloi; they also must produce identification for "clergy discounts."

The moral is: If the customer is so valued and esteemed, but dresses in a manner not associated with his august presence, he should be prepared to identify himself and not expect hardworking secretaries to discern his invisible "Roman collar."

Gen. Montgomery, and every general since Napoleon, wore a peculiar noggin-piece to avoid being accidentally shot by one of his own men, as was Stonewall Jackson, and more recently an Israeli general.

Accidents, as befell the poor secretary, do happen. Most understanding persons smile thru the discomfiture of not being instantly recognized. Bob Hope does. Sincerely,
FATHER LIEDERRICH, CLEVELAND

DEAR FATHER: Bob Hope's most readily identifying feature is his instantly recognized as a general's noggin-piece. Everyone "nose" Hope.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in reply to "Tempted Teacher" who admitted that he found one of his young female students somewhat tempting. Being a 28-year-old male teacher who has taught in the public schools for a few years, may I share with you and your readers the following:

A few weeks after school began (last year) some male teachers were talking about some of the girls in their classes. One of them said, "I can hardly keep my mind on my teaching because of the way some girls are dressed!" (I am sure this is the case in 99 per cent of the schools in America.)

Many girls come to school wearing miniskirts, and the teacher must teach in full view of their underclothing, which is bad enough. But try teaching with girls in your class who have absolutely NOTHING on underneath!

Some teachers say nothing because they enjoy looking. Others are too embarrassed to say anything.

Parents say nothing because they don't make parents any more like my Mom and Dad.

So, you tell me: What is a teacher to do when tempted? Keep his eyes off! Ha! In my opinion the girls need to put something ON!

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are all too apt to state some good too badly that another with whom you want to keep on good terms takes offense. You then find you have made an opponent of one you never thought possible to have against you. But if you keep tactful and refrain from critical and unwise comments, you can hold such friendship with ease.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to go off to some new interest you know little about at the cost of present good set-up, so think twice and refrain. New contacts are fine, but don't shed current allies as a result. Keep poised.

Taurus: (Apr. 20 to May 20) You must endeavor to get out of some responsibility you have assumed could really cause you trouble today, so follow through instead and show you have real character. Use patience where care is concerned. Forget that temper.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) Troublesome matters with associates can be handled satisfactorily if you are willing to listen to their views more. Do nothing to start an argument. Forget that desire to be kingpin - remember it is a partnership.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) Why don't you get right down to all that work you have on hand and be charming about it? This gets you back into the good graces of bigwigs. Taking health treatments simply is a must now.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to run off to fun places at the cost of important work, etc., so stop such mistaken thoughts and carry through wisely. Get into creative things during spare time. There much pleasure from them.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't let some unkind remark at home touch off a big argument, but take it in your stride, and quietly find out what brought it on. Keep busy at whatever it is you have to do. A show of wisdom pays off well.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use diplomacy in dealing with others and you get along just fine, provided you show you enjoy them despite any pressures on either side. Drive with particular care, especially on the highway and before taking a SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are tempted to put all your eggs in one basket and could certainly regret it later, so think before you act. Steer clear of a business partner who acts in a confusing manner. Show more affection for a true friend. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You had better think that plan over again before you make the radical changes you are tempted to make. Be sure you think things you will speak, especially with higher-ups. Don't say things you will have to retract later.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need to get into behind-the-scenes work so you can take right action soon, so avoid public limelight. The latter could prove detrimental to your best interests now. Add to present security.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Rather than criticize good pals, be sure you pay compliments where due, then you can make big headway with them. Get out to that social affair, but show courtesy and kindness to all. A fine new friend can be made.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure you do not argue with a powerful person, or make radical charges you do not have the courage to back up. When a raise cannot be passed the bid becomes a dual type. It may be a very weak bid or it may be the start of a slam sequence.

North's three-spade call was one of these tempering bids. He just wanted to hear South rebid to four spades to show that he really had spades and wasn't making some ultra fancy forcing bid. South did rebid to four spades and then North took

POLY'S POINTERS
Can You Be Nice Guy And Still Get Service?
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY: My husband and I are a well-dressed and well-mannered couple in our early 30s. We both believe in the understanding and genteel approach to all situations but are realizing the nice guy is usually the fall guy. We make reservations at a restaurant prior to the evening rush hour, enter an almost empty room and are seated next to the kitchen. Where are we wrong, as we do not appear that much?

Reservations are made at a motel well ahead of time and a room is requested away from the highway but even during off-season, the middle of the week and other dull times, we are told the only rooms are on the noisy side. Other friends arrive earlier and are given larger and quieter rooms. When standing in line for tickets, ride, etc., people rush in front of us, and when standing quietly in line in a store we are passed by some loud-mouthed person demanding service.

Is there a proper approach to getting a fair shake without resorting to bitchish behavior? Please, someone tell us of a workable solution to this problem without resorting to ill-mannered behavior.—MRS. R. R.

When a raise to one trick from game may be passed it stands to reason that the jump to game must be stronger. When a raise cannot be passed the bid becomes a dual type. It may be a very weak bid or it may be the start of a slam sequence.

North's three-spade call was one of these tempering bids. He just wanted to hear South rebid to four spades to show that he really had spades and wasn't making some ultra fancy forcing bid. South did rebid to four spades and then North took

State Pension Plan Hit

Vince Fechtel Jr., of Leesburg kicked off his campaign in the Sanford area for the Florida House of Representatives at an open house given in his honor by Mr.

and Mrs. Tom Taconet of 124 Lake Mimie Drive Lake Mary. Fechtel is a newcomer to politics and Republican candidate for the newly-created District 34 House seat.

Fechtel talked with friends and guests and revealed his principal concern is fiscal responsibility in state government. He emphasized his background and experience as a business-man and the need for greater attention to budgeting and cost-cutting.

In talking with guests, Fechtel said, "too often when the politicians are voted in, the voter is voted out." For example, Fechtel attacked the enactment by the last Legislature of a pension plan for elected public officials. The plan provides for a retirement pension for a legislator who has served a minimum of 8 years in office. The pension would apply to the governor, cabinet members, legislators, and judges alike. For an eight-year legislator the pension would be $240 a month starting at age 62.

Gunter Supporting U. S. Sunshine Act

Congressional candidate Bill Gunter has joined with U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles in an appeal for enactment of a Federal "Government in the Sunshine" law, similar to the one they successfully supported for Florida.

"Secrecy is probably the most insidious aspect of our government today," said the veteran state senator, who was a major force in the passage of Florida's Sunshine Law. "What we have demonstrated in Florida is that it can be successfully overcome," Gunter noted. "Now I am joining with Senator Chiles to help bring the experience of Florida, in the area of secrecy, to bear in Washington," he added.

The 5th District Congressional candidate noted that official secrecy is in no way an abuse limited to the sprawling federal bureaucracy, but that it has seriously invaded the halls of Congress itself.

"In spite of so-called reforms, which we have been given in recent years," Gunter said, "we find today that fully 35 percent of the committee meetings in the U.S. Congress are still being held behind closed doors with usually no legitimate justification. The people still are denied a view of their business being transacted in the Congress."

ARTHUR EVANS is running for Oviedo council seat of Ben F. Ward Jr., who is not seeking re-election this year. Evans is 25 years old and makes his home in Oviedo with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans. Unmarried, he is a native of Oviedo and office manager for Nelson and Company. He is also associated with Southward Investment and Realty of Sanford. Evans has a degree from Emory University, where he was a finance major. He has also done graduate work at Rollins College.

Gunter noted that the most flagrant abuse is by the House Appropriations Committee, which holds 90 per cent of its sessions in secret. "Maybe that is one reason why our federal finances are in such a mess," he speculated. "Considering all of the waste, the inexcusable deficits, and misplanned programs, I can understand why the Appropriations Committee would want to hide behind bolted doors," Gunter said. "But I do not believe they should be permitted that privilege."

Sunshine Law Wins Support

Miller Newton, Democratic candidate for Congress, District 5, today came out in support of a national version of Florida's "Government in the Sunshine Law" which was recently introduced as a bill by Sen. Lawton Chiles. V. M. (Red) Newton, pioneer of Florida's Sunshine Law while he was president of Sigma Delta Chi National Journalistic Society and as a member of its Freedom of Information Committee.

Newton commented, "Coming from a family committed to open government I believe all the people's business should be done in the light of sunshine."

He went on to say, "Open government activities is an absolute necessity. We as citizens have a right to know what goes on behind the closed doors of Washington."

Newton indicated that when he is elected he will do everything he can to get a government-in-the-sunshine law passed by Congress and on the books. "To open the government's closed doors would be a great step in bringing the government back to the people where it belongs."

Parents.. And Kiddies.. Can Rest

By FRANK MACOMBER Copy Editor

American parents can sleep easier now. The new federal standard for the flammability of children's sleepwear has gone into effect.

It provides that children's pajamas, robes, nightgowns and other sleeping clothes up to and including size 6X — the size range for most children up to six years of age — must comply with stiff new fire-retardant regulations. And those which fail to pass fire prevention test must bear a label saying so.

By July, 1973, garments not meeting the new standards must be removed from the market. And those remaining on the shelves must bear "use and care" warnings to guard against the inadvertent removal of flame retardant in home laundering.

The new standard is a long stride toward increased safety for children, says the National Safety Council.

Another vital step, it adds, is the proposal to apply the new rules to size 7 to 14 for older children.

Buy flame-retardant garments as they appear on the merchants' shelves, the council advises parents, even though they might cost a little more. Paying a little extra for your child's safety and your peace of mind could save his or her life, the council reminds.

low and middle 70s and Mrs. Marcy breaks 80 more than she jumps over it.

"I'd put them up against any golfers their age in the country," says Doug Danover, Lake San Marcos professional. "Irene smokes the ball off the tee. You can't believe how strong she hits it." Doug marvels. "If she could putt consistently she would be right at par."

Frakes, Doug believes, is "Sammy's special." He shared the Lake San Marcos course record at 68 with the former club pro, John Kile, then went out and shot 67. And that was the year of his 67th birthday.

Both these septuagenarians have scored holes-in-one, Mrs. Marcy a couple of them.

"Things will be a lot easier for them from here on in," predicts Doug. "Just think how it'll be when they're 90. Just a breeze to shoot their own ages on the golf course."

But aside from their golfing prowess, Doug Danover makes another point. "These wonderful old people should be an inspiration to thousands of other elderly people who think that just because they have tacked on a lot of mileage, it's time to sit back and wait for the end.

Opium Control Urged By Solon

In a driving effort to improve the lot of young people in America, Congressman Bill Chappell has introduced legislation to control international opium traffic, improve vocational training for junior high students and encourage the employment of young students. The bills were the result of recommendations by the 30-member Fourth District youth advisory committee, one of six citizens' groups advising Chappell on legislation.

"This committee has been at work for the past 20 months," Chappell said, "discussing the problems of youth and some realistic solutions to those problems. I am tremendously proud of the committee's recommendations and for the opportunity to translate their ideas into meaningful legislation."

Chappell's comprehensive International Opium Control Act, H.R. 1612, authorizes the President to negotiate a proposed treaty with foreign countries providing for a systematic and uniform international system of enforcement standards and penalties for illegal opium producers and traffickers.

It permits the President to discontinue all military, economic and other assistance to any country continuing to permit the production and processing of opium which illegally enters the United States.

"One of the most effective ways to eradicate drugs from our society is to dry up their sources," Chappell asserted. "It is absolutely imperative that we get nations to agree on regulations and enforcement

Land Values Enhanced
By BILL SCOTT
In explanation to some comments over the tax-free status of Sanford 12-story senior citizens high-rise apartment complex, John Oakes, Bram Towers official reported the open house this weekend will be an opportunity to develop several background facts concerning the impact and value to Sanford of Bram Towers, which was sponsored, developed and brought to conclusion by private institutions with no cost to the city, or efforts by such bodies as the industrial commission.
Oakes said, "we will bring Sanford about 225 people, mature, and responsible citizens, requiring practically no police cost and minimal fire protection cost."
He stated the study of comparable units at Orlando reveal that these occupants have disposable income of over $60,000 a year and due to general lack of mobility, the money will be spent in Sanford.
Beautiful and fully landscaped, Bram Towers should add immeasurably to the appearance of downtown and should enhance property values in the area, Oakes stated.
"Bram Towers and others like it pay their fair share for city water and sewer utility costs and the city and county will break even at least, particularly as there are no children to further burden the school system," Oakes added.
Although the complex pays no ad valorem taxes, since it is a non-profit institution, it should be pointed out that homeowners with comparable square footage of living space and the same age group, pay little or no ad valorem taxes either due to Homestead Exemption.
Bram Towers is equipped with three high pressure water pumps plus standby electrical generators powered by natural gas to boost city water pressure to all levels of the building. It is also fully equipped internally to fight any fire, thus city equipment will not be needed, although several key departmental personnel have been trained to use Bram equipments.
"Bram tenants are not wealthy but neither are they poverty cases," Oakes said. "They are a fine group of steady, stable older citizens, fully able to take care of and entertain themselves within the complex," the housing official said.
Oakes concluded with the observation, "Bram Towers in a strictly monetary sense is worth as much to Sanford as a new plant employing 500 people, but it cost the city nothing and the city will incur no cost through its presence."

Apartment Building Is Self Sufficient
By DONNA ESTES
The walk-in closets in the apartments for senior citizens at Bram Towers were designed by architect Eoghan Kelley, undoubtedly with the woman in mind. Not only is sufficient space provided for hanging up clothes, but in addition shelving is also placed conveniently for storage purposes.
The entire apartment appears to have been designed by Kelley to save steps, insure safety and yet provide gracious living. The apartments are carpeted wall to wall in attractive shade of gold and green.
The kitchens are furnished with built-in appliances from sleek refrigerators to ranges and yet sufficient counter space is provided. A pass through bar is located between the kitchen and dining/living room. One can either arrange stools at the bar for eating there or have a section set aside in the adjoining room for a dining table.
Permanent rails are set up in the bathrooms to assist in pulling oneself up from the bathtub and to stabilize one while showering.
Bram Towers is not a subsidy-rental complex. Each couple or single senior citizen will pay his own way and the facility will operate solely on revenues.
Median age of residents is expected to be within the mid-70s range. The complex includes 23 efficiency apartments (all rented for sometime), 77 one-bedroom apartments and 48 corner apartments. Rentals costs are $100 monthly for the one-bedroom apartments and $109 monthly for corner ones. The corner ones are slightly larger. All utilities, with the lone exception of telephone, are included in the monthly rent. Limitations on earnings of residents are $4,470 for single persons and $5,535 for couples.

Bram Open House Set
By BILL SCOTT
"For every house is builded by some man, but He that builded all things is God." This Bible scripture is contained on the wall plaque honoring the late Bishop Martin J. Bram, former rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church of Sanford, the man in whose honor the new downtown Sanford senior citizen high-rise 12-story complex is named.
Bram Towers, over five years in the planning and built at a cost of over $2 million, will hold open house this weekend, and will begin moving in new occupants on Monday.
Located on East First Street, just east of the Winn-Dixie, Faust Drug Store shopping center, Bram Towers, consisting of 160 apartments, is leased to senior citizens only and offers a complete rental service to all occupants.
Included are all utilities (except telephone), carpets, range, refrigerator and traverse rods for drapes.
All apartments, whether they be one of the 127 one-bedroom units or one of the 33 efficiencies, will have a view of Lake Monroe. Automatic washers and dryers also are available for tenants, who rent either a $100 one-bedroom or $75 efficiency unit.
To become a renter, one of the couple must be age 62 or over with incomes of no more than $4,500 a year for one person or $5,400 yearly for a couple.
Bram Towers probably had its start on Oct. 19, 1967, when a Chamber of Commerce executive committee adopted the following action:
"The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce endorses the concept of a downtown high-rise, senior citizens apartment complex, and the organization of the group to develop the project."
The second step was the creation of the organization to develop the project and to accomplish this 40 citizens were selected to be a Part. In 1969, a committee consisting of the following sponsors: Joe B. Baker, Robert Bessner, John A. Burton, Andrew Carraway, POSTOFFICE box numbers correspond with apartment numbers at Bram Towers for the 158-apartment tenants at the complex, thus providing the convenience of one rather than two numbers. Residents' addresses need only contain the development's name, apartment number and city of Sanford.

ONLY the postman will have keys to this sleek stainless steel room to comprise the postoffice sub-station at Bram Towers. Mail will be placed in individual slots daily by noon and convenient receptacles are on hand for the deposit of outgoing mail.

Seminole Artists Decorate Hi-Rise
 By DONNA ESTES
 Paintings from the best artists in the area grace the walls of the halls and gathering places of exclusive Bram Towers and the collection can be seen during the open house there this weekend.
 Georgia Hall, of the Seminole Art Association, gathered the paintings from the talented artists in the area and all were donated to the facility. They were chosen carefully to blend in with the color scheme of the decor which is predominantly in orange, green, white and gold tones.
 The complex, under the control of Cooperating Parishes Inc., an Episcopal sponsored organization, is estimated to be worth approximately $3 million and will be completely self-supporting from rental and other revenues.
 Personnel at the facility includes Hawkins Connelly, administrator; John Oakes, administrative assistant; Tom Persinger, building superintendent; and Mrs. Dora Pugh, secretary.
 The main entrance circular drive to the complex enters and exits on the east side at Pine Avenue.
 The apartments are cooled and heated by a large central system which functions all the time. Yet the individual apartment controls are contained within the units.

Residents To Plan A Full Schedule
 By DONNA ESTES
 The sky's the limit on the scope of activities available to residents of Bram Towers—from catered banquets to classes in advanced German. Tenants can be as active or as inactive as they choose to be. A full and busy life can be attained right within the confines of the complex. For the first 90 days following the open house this weekend, a tenant board will coordinate and arrange activities. At the conclusion of this period, tenants will elect a board to handle this project.
 In other buildings similar to Bram Towers, sewing clubs, bridge clubs, shuffleboard, dances, breakfasts, dinners, Bible study and prayer groups and dozens of other activities are going on all the time.
 Under the federal grant to Seminole Junior College, classes in any subject can be organized at the senior citizens high rise. It is expected classes on sewing, ceramics, wood-working will begin almost immediately.
 The gracious community room on the east side of the building is large enough, not only for individual activities, but to permit seating of the entire Bram Tower population at one time for dinners or a special program.
 At the south end of the room is a raised platform. Adjoining the community room is the kitchen which will be open daily to serve breakfast and lunch. The community room gives the appearance of an elegant hotel rather than the usual apartment building. Clusters of Early American tables and chairs are conveniently placed near the kitchen while in another section of the large, airy room are overstuffed leather couches and chairs.

DRY SPRING
 ISTANBUL (AP) — One of the most sacred springs in the Christian world has run dry. The spring is at the "House of the Virgin Mary," a tiny 1st-century house near Ephesus in southwestern Turkey, where some believe the Virgin spent her last days.
 Until this summer the spring provided ample water for the thousands of pilgrims who visit it each year. This summer only a few drops trickle from the spring.
 The Roman Catholic custodian of the shrine, which was visited a few years ago by Pope Paul VI, has forbidden pilgrims to fill bottles with the sacred water.
 Widespread drought in the surrounding region is believed responsible for the failure of the spring.

Bram Open House Set

H. Dycus and John Krieger met and pledged to give $100 each to pay for the estimated $10,000 needed for a public room in the planned complex.
After receiving word from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that the governmental agency would look with more favor toward funding a larger organization, preferably a church group, the Episcopal Enterprise came aboard, and they are the official owners and operators of the non-profit apartment complex.

The present board of directors include: Rev. Leroy Soper, Mrs. Bram, Howard Hodges, Bruce Bowder, Mrs. Randall Chase, Thomas Thurston, Rev. Ernest Pugh, Vernon Mize, Harold Kasher, Hawkins Connelly and John Krieger. Mrs. Bram, the former Mable Bolton, resides in Sanford.
With the coming of Cooperating Parishes, the impetus to build the "towers" was started that culminated with Wagner Construction Company of Orlando receiving the contract to begin construction. Rev. Soper suggested the Bram Towers name.
With Sanford architect Eoghan Keel providing the plans and design, construction was finally started over a year ago.
Next Monday, the results will be seen by the first residents to occupy the facilities.
In addition to the apartments a public room located on the first floor will accommodate residents and their guests.
Also, a beauty shop and restaurant will be opened for use by residents and guests only on the ground floor.
Operating the beauty shop will be Betty Weber and the restaurant will be handled by Rita Shilling.
Bram Towers is the largest and tallest structure in Seminole County.
Mrs. Chase said approximately 16 paintings by local artists had been donated to the complex and would be placed near elevator landings on each floor and in the public room.
Judith Gillis, Orlando interior decorator, is also assisting with the decor.

Safety Features Are Highlighted

By DONNA ESTES
After months of study and a survey of all similar complexes in Central Florida, the best ideas were incorporated in the new Bram Towers, 12-story senior-citizens' apartment facility in downtown Sanford, to provide the safest possible atmosphere for residents. An innovative feature is the special system to check the residents' well-being every day without intrusion on individual privacy.
Attached to the face of every mail box is a small plastic marker with a slide cover. Every morning the staff at the apartment building will move a small, gray slide to expose a bright red flag. When a tenant picks up his mail, he will push the gray slide over to cover the red flag.
In a packet of information given to each tenant is the individual admonition to go to his mail box each day without fail to see the marker. At the end of the day all red flags should be covered, indicating that every resident has been accounted for. If any red flags are showing for 16 days, the desk attendant will either telephone the tenant or go to the individual's apartment to make sure he is alright.
A fire protection panel is also installed in the clerk's office to pinpoint the floor where any fire may start.

Tenants are also urged to keep a general eye on his neighbors and friends in the building and to advise the desk, which will be manned around the clock seven days a week, of any sign of trouble.
Another safety feature is an emergency switch in the bathrooms of every apartment whereby a tenant, who should fall or become ill, can signal an alarm to the clerk's desk. When the emergency switch is activated, the apartment light on a panel in the office will go on and the clerk with a pass-key can enter and give or arrange for assistance.
To assure that only persons who should be in the complex during the night time hours are there, the lobby will be locked from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m. Those tenants who are outside the confines of the building after the lockup hour can easily gain admittance by ringing a door bell to be answered by the desk clerk.
A fire protection panel is also installed in the clerk's office to pinpoint the floor where any fire may start.
