WASHINGTON (UPI) — Concerned lawmakers in both the Senate and House looked today for a way to keep the religious issue from killing President Kennedy's entire federal school aid program.

As pressure mounted in the public-private school aid dispute, differing proposals were advanced to separate loans to private and parochial schools from grants to public schools.

But the situation remained so muddled that the only agreement seemed to be that aid to education of any kind is in serious trouble.

The religious issue appeared likely to come up today at the Senate education subcommittee's hearings on Kennedy's $2.3 billion proposal to help states pay teachers and build schools.

The subcommittee scheduled testimony from Baptist, Unitarian and Masonic groups. It will hear Roman Catholic spokesmen next week.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, (D-N.Y.), of the House Education and Labor Committee proposed his solution late Thursday.

Declaring that under present circumstances Kennedy's aid request was doomed, Powell suggested separate legislation to authorize loans to private and parochial schools from the elementary to college levels.

Powell's approach "to clear the air" differed from that of Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr., (D-Pa.), a member of the Senate subcommittee. Clark proposed inserting a three-year, $305 million loan program for private schools into the general school aid bill.

Clark, a Protestant, won the support of Sen. Philip Hart, (D-Mich.), a Catholic, Thursday. But Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) another Catholic, said he couldn't commit himself for it now.

Both Hart and McNamara supported a similar proposal last year. Kennedy was the only Catholic senator to oppose it when the proposal was narrowly defeated.

Mr. J. A. Edwards Dies Thursday

Mr. J. Arthur (Jack) Edwards, 73, died Thursday at his home on Lake Emma near Lake Mary. A native of Chaptico, Md., he had lived in Lake Mary for the past two-and-one-half years after retiring as manager of passenger traffic for Southern Railroad System of Cincinnati, Ohio.

He was a member of All Souls Catholic Church, of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and of several railroad organizations.

A., Detroit, Mich.; Jerome H., Austell, Ga.; Carroll E. and Lloyd E., Lake Mary; one daughter, Mrs. Kay Michael, Erlanger, Ky.; three sisters, Mrs. C. Welch and Mrs. Charles R. Kinsey, Chaptico and Mrs. Lillian E. Simpson Newport, Md.; one brother, C. Bernard Edwards, LaPlata, Md. and seven grandchildren.

Benefit Races Scheduled Sunday

A second Sunday of matinee racing sponsored by the Casselberry Lions Club will be held at Seminole Park Raceway on March 12, for the benefit of the club's Sight Conservation Fund.

In addition to three harness races there will be a five race card of quarterhorse races put on by members of the Florida Quarterhorse Association.

A new sport to Central Florida, quarterhorse racing, according to its devotees, packs more thrill and punch per race than any other kind of racing sport.

Run at distances of 350, 400, 440 and 660 yards, the quarterhorse race is a flat-out, go-for-broke proposition with the horses doing their utmost over the short dash distance. An additional feature of this portion of the program will be a cow pony race which will run at a shorter distance than the best of the registered quarterhorses.

The proceeds from the afternoon card will go to help increase the scope of the Casselberry Lions Club's work in the field of sight conservation, according to club president Elton P. Richards. In its short eight year history the club has been able to assist over 200 needy children and adults with glasses, medical care and eye surgery.

Kennedy Urges Housing Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy unveiled a program Thursday to pep up home building and revitalize slum-infested cities with emphasis on better housing for low and middle income families.

In a special message Kennedy told Congress it must redeem the pledge of the Housing Act calling for "a decent home and suitable living environment for every American family."

To achieve this goal, the President proposed expansion of present federal housing efforts and several new uses of federal mortgage insurance.

Kennedy made these proposals: Temporary, experimental use of no-down payment, 40-year insured mortgages available to any family for purchase of a home costing up to about $15,500. These loans, made by private lenders and insured by the Federal Housing Administration, now are available only to families displaced by public projects.

Low-interest government loans for construction of rental and cooperative housing. Officials are thinking about asking Congress for $500 million for these loans. They would be made to local housing authorities, cooperatives, non-profit associations and limited-profit corporations.

Action by Congress to permit the Public Housing Administration to subsidize construction of 100,000 low-rent housing units. "Unless we increase the supply of low-rent housing, our communities cannot rid themselves of slums," Kennedy said.

Doubling the present authorization of $50 million for direct loans to non-profit groups for construction of housing for elder persons.

Girl Thinks She's Tall Enough At Eight Feet, Two

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Delores Pullard says she liked being able to score 40 to 50 points a game for her school's girl basketball team, but thinks she's grown enough.

At 14, Delores is eight feet two inches tall, and she's been growing at the rate of nine inches a year since she was 11. Doctors at Charity Hospital here say there's no reason to believe she won't keep growing.

One doctor says as far as he knows, she's already the tallest girl in the world.

The 278-pound Negro girl, who uses a specially-constructed hospital bed, said no one in her little home town of DeQuincy seemed to give her a second thought.

"No one at school kids me about it," she said. But when she arrived at the hospital for treatment of a minor knee injury suffered in a basketball game, she said the doctors made a fuss over her.

Unofficial spokesmen at the hospital said it is hoped Delores will stay after her knee heals, so she can be studied by experts to determine why she is so huge.

Her father, presently unemployed, is only 5-9 and her mother is 5-11. Delores has a 12-year-old brother and sisters aged five months, two years and eight years—all about average height.

Delores weighed 12 1/2 pounds at birth, her mother said, and at four was big enough for a 10-year-old. Delores said she has to get her size 18 shoes by mail order from Brooklyn. "But they're getting too small lately," she said. She enjoys basketball, but complains the team doesn't let her get much exercise during the game. "I just stand under the basket through the whole game," she said. "When they throw me the ball, I put it through."

Jack Paar Challenges Sullivan To Duel Via TV Spectacular

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ed Sullivan today accepted Jack Paar's challenge of a TV duel to settle their differences over guest star payments, but said they should fight it out in a great debate on Paar's own show.

Several television headlines already were picking sides. Sullivan started the hassle Thursday by announcing that stars who perform on Paar's show for a flat $250 fee will no longer be able to demand $7,500 for appearing on Sullivan's show.

"Most unfair and wrong," Paar told his nationwide TV audience Thursday night. "I believe Mr. Sullivan—if he could put this thing over it would be the end of the Tonight show as we know it."

Sullivan—stressing that "Paar and I have always been good friends"—replied calmly: "If NBC (Paar's network) wants to do that its entirely up to them. They've thrown everything else at me, they may as well throw Paar."

But more to Sullivan's fancy was a face to face meeting on Paar's home grounds.

"I've wired him and NBC to set up a debate on Paar's show, where both of us can indulge in offbeat talk," Sullivan told United Press International.

"My telegram said 'I'll meet you on your video-taped show tonight, tomorrow night or any night that is mutually agreeable,'" he said. But he added he wanted the debate to be held without a studio audience to eliminate any cheering for favorites.

There appeared little chance of a Paar-Sullivan battle tonight. A repeat of an earlier Paar program was scheduled.

Girl Scout Week Program Opens Here Sunday

National Girl Scout Week begins Sunday.

During those seven days special emphasis will be placed on public information concerning the Scout program.

Each day next week, one phase of Scouting will be stressed, with the comments of local citizens who are proficient leaders in their field.

In Seminole County there are over 700 Girl Scouts between the ages of seven and 17 and there are 181 women who devote many hours a week to leading, teaching, organizing, promoting and planning in the comprehensive fields which are encompassed by the Girl Scout organization.

The word "Scout" means a pathfinder or a pioneer. It also means to look or search or to keep watch.

Fun in the out-of-doors, camping and hiking, swimming and adventuring are only one phase of the Girl Scout program.

They also study health and safety which is needed in every thing we do. A healthy person has physical, mental and social well-being and Scouts learn about personal health, first aid, child care and home nursing as well as studying all phases of safety, indoors and outdoors, in the home in the community.

They learn to be a good citizens and active citizens in home, school, Scout troop, community and nation.

One of the primary aims of the Scout program is teaching girls to become good homemakers. They learn that homemaking is an art, a profession and a business involving themselves, family and friends.

The international friendship phase teaches Girl Scouts to broaden their thinking and widen their horizons through interest and knowledge. The Girl Scouts are an international organization with branches in almost every country in the world.

Judge Misses Legislator's Phone Calls

By LARRY VERSHEL

One of the best known leaders in Florida legislative history is in Sanford this week but not in his role as a "fighting legislator."

Thomas D. Beasley, who served 20 years in the legislature representing Escambia and Santa Rosa Counties, is the judge presiding over the condemnation proceedings on W. First St. right of way in Circuit Court this morning.

Judge Beasley, who was twice speaker of the house in 1947 and 1959, is expected to be here for the remainder of the week.

Judge Beasley was appointed circuit judge in the First Judicial Circuit in December and "it will feel funny not going to Tallahassee next month after some 20 years," he said before he put on his robes this morning to open the proceedings.

Beasley, looking back over that 20 years, said that the biggest change in the legislature was increase in spending by the state.

"I helped pass the first appropriations bill in 1939 which was $65 million dollars. Now the legislature will study appropriating some $712 million," he said.

Beasley cited the fact that state officers "are willing to spend more of the people's money than ever before."

"Increase in population and expenses for schools are the big factors in the increase in funds needed," he added.

The 55-year-old judge has seen a lot of governors come and go, and in his opinion, the two who did more for Florida than any others were LeRoy Collins and Millard Caldwell.

"There are a lot of things Collins and I disagreed over, but one thing is sure, this state accomplished more under Collins than under any other governor," he said.

Of the crucial questions coming before legislators Judge Beasley listed the following:

County code proposal—"I would never favor allowing the County Commission to act as a legislative body. I don't mind a limited amount of home rule—but too much can hurt the people."

Reapportionment—"I believe the same old bill will be presented again this year."

Rights of way funds—"I don't see how the legislature can levy any additional money to take the burden off the counties on rights of way."

"It'll be an interesting session this year and I'll miss it—although it will be pleasant not to be awakened in the middle of the night being asked for some favor or another," the judge said.

Peel Attorney Called Liar

FORT PIERCE (UPI)—Defense attorney Carlton Welch made an all-out effort today to win access to tape recordings which had cracked the sensational Chillingworth case and led to murder charges against former West Palm Beach City Judge Joseph A. Peel Jr.

At one point in the debate over whether Welch should be given the tapes, prosecutor Phil O'Connell shouted at the defense attorney: "Mr. Welch, you are a deliberate liar."

Circuit Judge D. C. Smith immediately gavelled the two attorneys to order.

Judge Smith took Welch's request under consideration and called a recess. He was expected to rule at the afternoon session of the trial.

The jury was out of the room for over an hour as the trial began its second week.

Peel is charged with masterminding the murders of Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth in 1955. Ex-convict Floyd (Lucky) Holzapfel and Negro moonshiner George (Bobby) Lincoln confessed to the killings and named Peel as the man who ordered them, after they heard the recordings made in a Melbourne motel room.

Two former pals of Holzapfel, P. O. (Jim) Wilber and Jim Yenser, were to be called by prosecutor O'Connell as state witnesses today. Wilber and Yenser, acting as undercover agents, recorded Holzapfel's original story of the murders during a two-day drinking bout at Melbourne.

Wilber testified briefly at Saturday's half-day session, charging that Peel once admitted to him that he "did the job" on Chillingworth. Wilber said Peel frequently attempted to obtain information on "what was going on in the sheriff's department" because as a bondsman Wilber was often at the department.

He said he once asked Peel why he "did the job on Judge Chillingworth." Wilber said Peel nervously replied that "it was either that SOB or myself."

Faced with the recordings, Holzapfel and Lincoln later confessed, naming the 37-year-old Peel as their employer. The handsome ex-judge had been using his office to hide his connection with gambling and moonshine rings, the state charged, and ordered the murder when Chillingworth discovered his illegal activities.

Bryant Proposes Tax Plan To Take Right Of Way Load Off County Road Programs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant today proposed doubling the state gross receipts tax on utilities and pledging the whole amount to purchase of highway right of way.

Bryant, in an address to a morning session of the State Assn. of County Commissioners, said the proposed tax increase would take some of the burden of right of way purchase off the shoulders of the counties and give it to the state.

"It will relieve local needs," said Bryant, "but it will not relieve state needs. It will further the state program."

Bryant said he supported the proposal in place of a $5 million revolving fund he had announced in his campaign platform for the state use. He said upping the tax from one and a half percent to three percent would provide some $10 million a year for right of way purchases.

The governor said his support of the increased tax did not violate his pledge against new taxation. He said he was pledged against new taxes for state purposes. "Local funds are another matter," he said.

"City and county governments have been tremendously strapped," he said, in obtaining revenue. This plan, he said, would free for their use revenue normally used to buy right of way.

On another subject, Bryant defended his administration's acceptance of private industry funds to supplement the salary of a new employee of the Development Commission. Commission Chairman Wendell Jarrard, in announcing the hiring of Otho Bruce of Jacksonville to head up the Industrial Services Division, said he would recommend a state salary of $12,000 a year.

The state salary will be supplemented by an unannounced amount, boosting Bruce's salary considerably. Jarrard will not say what the total of the two salaries will be.

Bryant said the only way Bruce could be lured away from the Florida National Bank, where he was a vice president, was the offer of a higher salary than the state was paying for industrial division heads. He said he had discussed with power companies as early as last December the idea of supplementing state salaries. The companies have put up $5,000, out of which some of Bruce's salary will be paid.

Bryant also told the commissioners, here to plan their 1961 legislative program, of his plan to loosen up state road money to permit early letting of primary contracts.

Midwest Braces For New Snows, Powerful Gales

United Press International

A new snowstorm rocketed into the upper Midwest today, powered by winds expected to reach gale strength on the thawing Great Lakes.

Nichigan and Wisconsin braced for up to a half-foot of snow and the U. S. Weather Bureau warned of sleet and snow accompanying 40 mile an hour gales on Lakes Huron, Erie, St. Clair and Michigan.

High winds and tornado conditions that threatened southern Illinois and Indiana during the night shifted east into the Ohio Valley. A Weather Bureau spokesman said the winds appeared to be losing strength as the low pressure center broadened.

Tornadoes Sunday scraped Missouri and Arkansas and hovered over southern Illinois. The Ozark twisters killed a woman and injured her husband and 10 other persons at a West Plains, Mo., prayer meeting. At least 33 other persons were reported injured in Missouri and Arkansas.

Three Nebraska teen-agers were killed Sunday night when their automobile slid into the path of a truck on a slushy road west of Wahoo.

Thunderstorms blanketed a wide area south and east of the Ohio Valley and lower Mississippi Valley east to the Atlantic Coast.

British Begin Trial Of Five On Spy Charge

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's biggest spy trial in a decade opened today with three men and two women pleading innocent of stealing British naval secrets for transmission to Moscow.

The FBI in Washington has identified a married couple among the defendants as Americans.

Not since Klaus Fuchs was convicted in 1950 of passing atomic secrets across the Iron Curtain has Britain been so concerned about her security. Lord Parker, wearing the red robe of his office and a grey wig, was presiding as a trial judge for the first time since his appointment in 1958. The attorney general, Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, personally took charge of the prosecution.

The government alleges the five stole valuable secret documents from the big naval base at Portland—nervous center of Britain's and NATO's planning operations against Russia's 450-vehicle submarine fleet—and transmitted the information to Moscow over a powerful radio buried under the kitchen of a cottage in the suburb of Ruislip.

One by one the defendants were brought before Lord Parker to enter their pleas. First was Miss Elizabeth Gee, under-employee at Portland's underwater weapons establishment since 1950. The clerk of the court asked how she wanted to plead.

"Not guilty," she said in a loud voice.

Then, entering the same plea, came Henry F. Houghton, 35, Miss Gee's fiancé; Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, 37, a director of a London dock company; Peter John Kroger, 50, a book seller and owner of the Ruislip radio cottage; and Helen Joyce Kroger, 47, his wife. The FBI has identified them as Morris and Lois Cohen of New York.

British justice moved with its traditional swiftness. Despite several challenges by defense counsel, a jury of 12 men was chosen within 15 minutes.

Sir Reginald's opening statement made clear what the prosecution hoped to prove. It was that Miss Gee and Houghton stole the documents, passed them to Lonsdale who then took them to the Kroger cottage for transmission.

Pro-Lumumba Troops Captured

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's forces captured three companies of pro-Lumumba troops in an offensive near the Oriental Province border, the Congolese Foreign Ministry announced today.

Mobutu's long-expected drive was coupled with reports from Stanleyville that Antoine Cirenza was being eased out as boss of Oriental, which is in the hands of followers of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The announcement said one Lumumbist company was trapped in the town of Mondombe, about 300 miles southeast of Coquilhatville, in Equatorial Province.

Mobutu's force of 1,200 troops then pushed on to the town of Ikela, 40 miles to the south, and captured and disarmed two more companies. Dispatches from the bush country said his troops had captured the Lumumbist stronghold.

The communiques came as Congolese leaders, except Gizenga, announced at their "summit" conference in Tannanarive on the island of Madagascar that they have agreed to form a confederation of Congolese states.

British Begin Trial Of Five On Spy Charge

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's biggest spy trial in a decade opened today with three men and two women pleading innocent of stealing British naval secrets for transmission to Moscow.

The FBI in Washington has identified a married couple among the defendants as Americans.

Not since Klaus Fuchs was convicted in 1950 of passing atomic secrets across the Iron Curtain has Britain been so concerned about her security. Lord Parker, wearing the red robe of his office and a grey wig, was presiding as a trial judge for the first time since his appointment in 1958. The attorney general, Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, personally took charge of the prosecution.

The government alleges the five stole valuable secret documents from the big naval base at Portland—nervous center of Britain's and NATO's planning operations against Russia's 450-vehicle submarine fleet—and transmitted the information to Moscow over a powerful radio buried under the kitchen of a cottage in the suburb of Ruislip.

One by one the defendants were brought before Lord Parker to enter their pleas. First was Miss Elizabeth Gee, under-employee at Portland's underwater weapons establishment since 1950. The clerk of the court asked how she wanted to plead.

"Not guilty," she said in a loud voice.

Then, entering the same plea, came Henry F. Houghton, 35, Miss Gee's fiancé; Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, 37, a director of a London dock company; Peter John Kroger, 50, a book seller and owner of the Ruislip radio cottage; and Helen Joyce Kroger, 47, his wife. The FBI has identified them as Morris and Lois Cohen of New York.

British justice moved with its traditional swiftness. Despite several challenges by defense counsel, a jury of 12 men was chosen within 15 minutes.

Sir Reginald's opening statement made clear what the prosecution hoped to prove. It was that Miss Gee and Houghton stole the documents, passed them to Lonsdale who then took them to the Kroger cottage for transmission.

Pro-Lumumba Troops Captured

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's forces captured three companies of pro-Lumumba troops in an offensive near the Oriental Province border, the Congolese Foreign Ministry announced today.

Mobutu's long-expected drive was coupled with reports from Stanleyville that Antoine Cirenza was being eased out as boss of Oriental, which is in the hands of followers of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The announcement said one Lumumbist company was trapped in the town of Mondombe, about 300 miles southeast of Coquilhatville, in Equatorial Province.

Mobutu's force of 1,200 troops then pushed on to the town of Ikela, 40 miles to the south, and captured and disarmed two more companies. Dispatches from the bush country said his troops had captured the Lumumbist stronghold.

Band, Majorettes Get Meet Honors

The Seminole High School Band and Majorette Corps came away from the Bandsman's District Contest in Winter Park Saturday with 12 Superior ratings for their efforts.

The band as a whole rated Superior in Inspection, Superior in Drill, Excellent in Sight Reading and Good 1st Concert.

In ensemble, both the A and B corps of the majorettes came out with a Superior, and a twirling duet composed of Barbara Bradley and Bobby June Berry also rated a Superior.

Other individual competition for the majorettes found Sherry Lee, Regina Clark, Irene Johnson, Nylsena Alberta and Ruthie Carlton all winning Superior marks.

In individual band solo Superior ratings went to Richard Feinburg for trumpet, Dottie Jardine, clarinet and Doug Griffith, drum.

The mark of excellent went to twister Susan Brown, Feinburg for coner, Mike Corbin on French horn, Barbara Miller, clarinet and Sarah Priest, clarinet.

All those who won the Superior rates are now eligible to go to the State Band and Twirling Contest, which will be held in May.

"I am very proud of our band members and majorettes," said Bandsman Ernest Cowley, "and I know that Sanford is, too."

Green was treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital for serious burns and released today. Galloway said that Green might lose the sight of his right eye.

First Degree Murder Charged To Woman

TITUSVILLE (UPI)—Mrs. Esther Delaney, who admitted she shot her husband and lived with his corpse stuffed in a cardboard box for 17 months, was charged formally today with first degree murder.

Defense attorneys Kenneth Morton and Kenneth Moran, who had handled Mrs. Delaney's suit for divorce from her dead husband, Thomas, on grounds that he had "deserted" her and gone to Mexico, withdrew an earlier request for a preliminary hearing on the murder charge.

Meanwhile, Brevard County Sheriff Jimmy Dunn disclosed the names of the persons who found the skeleton of Mrs. Delaney's husband wrapped in a rug and blankets and stuffed in a cardboard box inside the garage of her house at Indian Lake.

Dunn said that Mrs. Celeste Eisenkopf Sr. of St. Petersburg and her son, Otto Eisenkopf Jr. of Cocoa Beach, made the grisly discovery.

The sheriff said Mrs. Eisenkopf had come to stay with Mrs. Delaney while Mrs. Delaney went to a hospital for an operation.

The visitor complained of a musty odor that smelled like a "mildewed rug" and sent her son to investigate while Mrs. Delaney was at work.

Police Foil Armed Attack As Castro Opposition Grows

HAVANA (UPI)—Police guards foiled an armed attack by an anti-Castro band on the Soviet Embassy residence shortly before Maj. William A. Morgan of Toledo, Ohio, died before a firing squad for allegedly aiding the enemies of Premier Fidel Castro, diplomatic sources reported.

The incident was seen as another indication of mounting opposition to the Castro regime in spite of harsh reprisals. Observers said that rather than discouraging the counter-revolutionaries, the executions appeared to have sharpened their determination to overthrow the revolutionary government.

The sources said the attempted attack on the Soviet Embassy residence in swank suburban Miramar was made at 8:30 p.m., Saturday night—about 90 minutes before Morgan was executed in La Cabana prison fortress, about five miles away.

At least a dozen shots were exchanged between the police guard and the attackers, according to the informants. The anti-Castroites were scattered by the police gunfire and at least one subsequently sought asylum in a foreign embassy, they said. It was not known if any were captured. Soviet Ambassador Serguei Kudriatsev, who took up his post here eight months ago, was not at home at the time of the attack. He was at a reception at the Chinese Communist Embassy which also was attended by Castro.

Morgan, who protested his innocence to the end, made a death cell request to see Castro for whom he had forfeited his U.S. citizenship. But his appeal went unanswered.

Also unheeded was an appeal for mercy from the 34-year-old Morgan's mother. The appeal was relayed by the United States through the Swiss Embassy since Washington broke off relations with the Castro regime.

Morgan was convicted of sending arms to anti-Castro guerrillas in the Escambray Mountains. It was in these same mountains in central Cuba that Morgan had fought against Batista and won acclaim as a hero of the revolution.

An official observer at the execution said Morgan died with "extraordinary valor." He said the former American paratrooper embraced the captain of the firing squad as he stood before the bullet-pocked wall of the grassy moat around La Cabana.

Even as he faced the squad of army marksmen holding high-powered Belgian rifles, Morgan swore his allegiance to Castro and his revolution. The cheers of other prisoners were still ringing in his ears when the crash of the rifles ended his adventurous life.

Morgan was buried in Colon Cemetery with his aide, Maj. Jesus Carrera, who died with him "at the wall." Officials said there was no chance that the body could be claimed by the Morgan family in Ohio.

Morgan's Cuban-born wife Olga, who also was convicted at the trial and sentenced to prison, remained in asylum at the Brazilian Embassy.

Missing Family Of Four Turn Up Safe And Sound

KEENE, N. H. (UPI)—A Georgia loan company executive and his family, found here after being missing for eight days, is looking for a new job and doesn't plan to return to Georgia, a family friend said.

Michael Potter, 30, his Canadian born wife, Ann, and their two small children, vanished from Waycross, Ga., March 3 while supposedly on a 60-mile trip to Valdosta, Ga. They were found here Saturday night after phoning Potter's boss in Waycross from Vermont Friday.

"Apparently they didn't like it down there," said Miss June Murgford, a nurse here who is housing Mrs. Potter and the children. She declined to disclose Potter's whereabouts but did say he was looking for a new job.

Miss Murgford, a long-time friend of Mrs. Potter, said she didn't know "what all the fuss was about."

The search for Potter began last Monday when he failed to show up for work at the Beneficial Finance Co. in Waycross. He had told neighbors three days earlier that he and his family were going to Valdosta for a birthday party. But they never appeared there. Food was left in the Potter's refrigerator and clothes were hanging on the line.

Potter's 1956 pink Cadillac, which he recently purchased with a Waycross bank loan, was found abandoned Friday in a railroad station parking lot in Brattleboro, Vt. The search for the family then was narrowed to the Keene area. It was reported that Potter had mailed the keys of the car to the Waycross bank which financed the purchase. Potter telephoned his employer to say he and his family "were just on a little holiday" and were "too embarrassed to return."

4 Youths Face Federal Charges

ROME, Ga. (UPI)—Four teenagers, including two girls and a "sickly" boy who was feared kidnapped, today faced federal charges of transporting a stolen car across a state line.

The FBI filed charges Sunday against Eugene Williams, 16, Crayton Lamar Cherry, 19, Diane Broome, 19, and Patsy May, 17, all of Gastonia, N. C., Floyd County Sheriff Joe Adams said the four were being held here on $2,500 bond each.

The four were arrested on stolen gasoline charges Friday night in nearby Rockmart after leading police on a 120-m.p.h. automobile chase.

Special agents in charge of the Atlanta FBI office, C. E. Weeks, said Rockmart police notified the FBI after it was discovered that the car the teenagers were driving, a 1961 Ford, was reported stolen in Gastonia.

Williams, who was described by his parents as a sickly child with a rheumatic heart condition, was the object of a widespread search after his parents reported him missing Thursday and when his uncle, E. L. Williams, of Gastonia, said he received a telephone call demanding $2,000 ransom for the boy's return.

The FBI originally was investigating the ransom call but dropped that probe when it appeared stolen vehicle charges would be filed, Weeks said.

The four will be tried in Georgia, Adams said. If they desire grand jury action, the trial will be held in Rome. He said if they plead guilty a federal judge in Atlanta will hear the case.

"ON MY HONOR, I will try to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times and to obey the Girl Scout Laws."

This is the pledge committed to memory and recited frequently by girls and women all over the world who are a part of the vast organization which is now celebrating Girl Scout Week.

In Sanford and Seminole County special emphasis is being placed on public recognition of the highest order of ideals of womanhood, promoted by the Girl Scout organization.

These aims and ideals are embodied in the women who lead, teach, instruct and guide the American girl, in this intrinsic society which is unparalleled in its scope of activity.

Through this column, this week, you will meet a few of the 181 Seminole County women, from all walks of life, of varying backgrounds, who together possess a myriad of skills and talents which they share with each other and with over 700 girls.

MABEL CHAPMAN

MISS MABEL CHAPMAN is one of the most experienced Scout leaders in Sanford. At present she is leader of Troop 96, third and fourth grade Brownies, sixteen little girls from Lake Monroe.

Miss Chapman's experience in scouting began in February, 1933, when she enrolled as a charter member of the first Girl Scout troop in Sanford. She grew up along with scouting here and she then became a leader.

She has worked for nine years in all phases of scouting, Seniors, Intermediates and Brownie Scouts. Besides her groups in Sanford, she has also been the leader of troops in Amherst, Va., and Nashville, Tennessee.

A number of special pins are worn by Miss Chapman. One which she won is the Golden Eagle Pin, for superior scouting. Another interesting pin is the Birthplace pin. This she wears because she has visited the birthplace of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting. Two years ago, Miss Chapman took 35 girls with her by chartered bus to Savannah, Georgia, the birthplace of Mrs. Low, now a national commemoration.

The pin in the shape of a golden torch she wears indicates that she has trained at the National Training Center, Camp Edith Macy, in the mountains near Pleasantville, N. Y. Here she studied advanced outdoor leadership and primitive outpost camping. This last course was really rough, she remembers, as it was an 11-day camping trip in the mountains, in which they carried all food and equipment on their backs and hiked for miles to a "primitive outpost" deep in the mountains. But camping is her main interest and she loves it.

Miss Chapman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Chapman of Sanford and teaches the second grade at Lake Monroe School.

New Arrivals

From Chuluota Club

Members of the Chuluota Woman's Club, meeting at the home of Mrs. Carol Jepson, March 7, made financial contributions to several community projects.

Included was a $75 donation to the American Legion George M. Jacobs Memorial Post 225 for the distribution of traffic safety signs throughout the community.

Donation of $25 to the Seminole County Water Safety Committee of the American Red Cross for the purchase of the film "What They May Live," which deals with life saving techniques in all emergencies. The film is in technical color and after its purchase will be made available to all clubs and organizations of the county free of charge through the Sanford Red Cross Chapter.

The women also voted to give $100 to the Chuluota Sportsmen's Club to be used for purchase of equipment and other needed supplies for the educational training program for community children archery, fire arms and for the annual Fishathon.

The group set aside $50 for their adopted family to be used for Easter.

Other business included making of tentative plans for an Easter Egg Hunt for community children under 11 years of age. Mrs. Grace Fox was appointed chairman of the project with Mrs. Joan Sinclair as her co-chairman. Time and place of the Hunt to be announced.

Mrs. Jepson, assisted by Mrs. Hossie Jones, served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

MIMI SCHOONOVER

MIMI SCHOONOVER, Navy wife and daughter of Navy parents, was born in China, when her parents were stationed there.

She has no children in Scouts, for three year-old Stevie and five year-old Sandy are too young as yet. But she was a Campfire Girl herself when her family lived in Arlington, Virginia.

She became interested in Scouts when her flier husband was transferred to Sanford and has an active troop of Fly-Up Brownies meeting at her Pinecrest home each week, with the help of assistant leader, Marion Bent.

She took her basic leadership training here and worked with Brownie Day Camp program last summer, which she thoroughly enjoyed.

BEVERLY WALLER, leader of Intermediate Troop 321 and co-chairman of the coming-up Girl Scout Fair in April, is a veteran Girl Scout having been active in one way and another for the past ten years.

Beverly's mother was a Scout

leader, as well as a District scout executive and Beverly "grew up" in Scouting, although her family traveled around the country a lot, because her father was in the Maritime Service.

Her daughter Debbie, nine, is a Brownie scout and she has a five year old son, Ricky. Assistant leader of Beverly's intermediate group is Verna Bolton.

"I would like to say that I think Scouting is wonderful, both for the girls and for the leaders," says Beverly enthusiastically, and she should know.

Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mrs. Malvin Campbell and Mrs. Floyd Cooper were elected by secret ballot to serve as a nominating committee for the North Orlando Garden Club Thursday.

This committee is to choose two candidates for each club officer and to present the nominations at the April meeting.

Election was held at a meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. George Sommers, 70 N. Second St., with Mrs. Malvin Campbell serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. Richard Stodden took over to read the minutes and treasurer's report in the absence of both officers.

Members voted to include reading of the minutes from executive board meetings at the regular meetings.

To hold the annual June Banquet at the Villa Nova Restaurant with each member to purchase her own dinner. The club will take care of tax, tips and other miscellaneous expense.

To refrain from having guest speakers at each meeting but, instead, spend more time in open discussion and to have local members give the program at some of the meetings.

To have a small plant exchange by number drawings at the April meeting instead of a white elephant sale. Each member is to bring a small plant suitable for the exchange.

To send gifts to any members who are in the hospital and also to those who are confined to their homes due to a lengthy illness;

To collect articles of clothing, food and household supplies which will be kept for needy families in emergencies such as fire or prolonged illnesses. Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Frank Bailey and Mrs. Joseph Tufts were appointed to be in charge of this project and residents with donations should contact any of the three women.

Announcement was made that the Littleton Nursery of Oviedo will sell plants to members for their own use at wholesale price. It was stressed that these plants may not be purchased at the reduced costs for any purpose other than individual uses. For further information members were advised to contact Mrs. Robert Dean.

Plans were made to devote the next meeting to open discussion by all members on their likes and dislikes of the club. Members were informed that the Garden of the Month awards will be resumed in April and will be made each month during the summer.

Recession Attacked

For the third time in seven years the nation's businessmen, acting through the Advertising Council which they support, are attacking recession "through the minds of men, where all action starts."

Theodore Reppler, council president, thinks this psychological warfare probably did some good in 1954 and 1958, though he says frankly there's no way to prove it. Most Americans, especially the hard hit, probably would agree it's worth a good try.

In the new campaign, called "Confidence in a Growing America," the planners insist there's to be no "Pollyanna stuff," no blinking of the facts of recession. In the words of one, they simply want to "look at the whole stairway instead of the broken step."

What this means is that they intend to emphasize what they consider is legitimate optimism about the country's long-range future. The soberest economic projections largely agree, they say, that by 1975 we'll have a hike in gross national product from $500 billion to $800 billion, and a 22-million boost in jobs.

Some of the advertisements already prepared suggest the council is using what might be termed the "four B" approach. Again and again, alluding to the future, the campaigners say: "Brilliant—Bigger—Better—Brighter."

Heavy stress is laid on the value of organized research in fulfilling this promise.

The council's figures put U. S. business research today at $12 billion a year. By 1960 it's expected to reach $22 billion. Says Reppler: It's the best answer to automation."

In its 1958 campaign, the council got donations of 25 million dollars' worth of advertising space. This time it figures on at least 10 million dollars' worth, and possibly much more.

For this time the program won't end once the recession danger is over. It will be continued at lower pace, with the idea that some constant psychological stimulus will do the economy good.

President Kennedy's commerce secretary, Luther Hodges, likes the whole idea, providing the rough facts are always faced. He should have plenty of company. The campaign, if it's realistic, can't hurt. And it might help a lot.

I have found in the past that the surest way to receive action or a sound explanation to a problem is through this column. So, again I write:

There is a very dangerous traffic hazard at the southern end of our county. I am referring to intersection 77-92 and road 436. Why isn't there some type of traffic light or signal for motorists at an intersection as congested as this?

I do not know what requirements must be met for proper traffic signals but surely the loss of human LIFE is very sufficient, not to mention several people being seriously injured at this location. Who handles such traffic hazards and why has an intersection as dangerous as this been ignored?

Respectfully yours,

Chuluota Men Report Barbecue 'Big Success'

American Legion members of the Chuluota George M. Jacobs Memorial Post 225 report that their chicken barbecue, held at the Community House picnic area March 4, was a "big success."

They reported a profit of between $300 to $350 and said that 500 diners were served with people coming from Geneva, Titusville, Cocoa, Oviedo and Sanford in addition to local residents.

The 40 & 8 locomotive was on hand all afternoon to give rides to kiddies "from 1 to 100 years of age and the sound of its horns resounded through the area until late in the day."

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD

By William Drury

It was an evening of culture at the civic auditorium. Among the audience were grandmothers, demure young ladies dressed in their best, and deeply appreciative teenagers.

In fact, the usual bloodthirsty mob you will find watching wrestling.

That night, Mr. Primo Carnera, former heavyweight boxer in a champion of the world, would attempt to beat the living daylight out of Mr. Al Lolait, the heavyweight wrestling champion of Hawaii.

The spectators enthusiastically applauded the entry of these gladiators. Some were so overcome that they stuck their fingers into their mouths and pierced the thick, smoke-laden air with shrill whistles. Others merely called advice, such "Murder him, Al!" and "Kill him, Carnera!"

The frail old lady next to me screamed: "Butcher the bum! Slaughter him! Tear him up! Feed him to the birds!" It was not quite clear whose side she was on.

Her husband sat silent beside her, a timid man, smiling a queer little smile.

This was a non-title bout. Two falls out of three, for the fun of it and an unspecified purse.

At the sound of the gong, Mr. Carnera and Mr. Lolait circled each other warily. For a while they played pat-a-cake while the fans snored for blood.

"Hey, you boys need an orchestra!" inquired the frail old lady. "Quit dancing around."

Her husband said nothing. Just smiled that queer little smile. Mr. Carnera and Mr. Lolait, locked in a loving embrace, managed to fall out of the ring. The referee began to count. They had to be back on the canvas before he reached 20.

One of the qualifications necessary to be a wrestling referee is the ability to count up to 20. A much lower standard of education is accepted for boxing referees, who need only count up to 10 and can use all their fingers or toes.

At the count of 17, Mr. Carnera languidly began to climb back through the ropes. Mr. Lolait grasped the giant's leg, jerked him back among the fans, and quickly scrambled into the ring himself.

That cost Mr. Carnera a fall. The frail old lady said it was unfair. So did Mr. Carnera. He returned protesting. The referee tried to soothe him, but the giant's pride was hurt. To show it, he began throwing Mr. Lolait all over the ring.

The frail old lady moaned with ecstasy. Mr. Carnera picked up Mr. Lolait, walked to the ropes and gazed at the ringside seats, looking for someone to drop Mr. Lolait. The frail old lady shrieked: "Here, Primo! Throw him to me!"

Her husband's smile faded and he covered in his seat. The giant dropped Mr. Lolait on the canvas instead, and pinned him for a fall. Then they got really mad, and slapped each other, pushed each other around and tromped on each other, until Mr. Lolait found himself on top of Mr. Carnera and Mr. Carnera felt his own broad shoulders kiss the canvas.

Mr. Lolait rose with a satisfied grin. The giant-killer had conquered.

"It's a fix!" screamed the frail old lady. She turned to her mouth of a spouse. "Even you could do better than that."

He smiled again, timidly. "Yes, dear," he said.

WORRY CLINIC

by Dr. G. W. Crane

CASE H-431: Homer G., aged 29, is a successful insurance man. "Dr. Crane, we have 49 agents," he began. "They are divided into units of 7 men each. I have charge of one of these.

"For five years I have been quite successful. But lately I have grown very self-conscious and analytical. So I am losing my confidence.

"I used to hold group sales meetings, but now I am actually afraid to stand up before people. "I can go out with one of my men and do all right, but I am afraid to make a speech.

"I think it all started when I hired an older man of 45 in my sales unit. He had been a former lawyer.

"He is inclined to criticize me. Recently he told me that I was slipping in my leadership of the men. Now I'm afraid he has actually caused me to develop a complex.

"For I hate to go to the office in the morning. I am so uncertain and fearful that I blush and act like an amateur.

"I can't go on like this, for my men will lose all their respect for me. So what do you recommend?" You readers may recall the old rime about the centipede:

The centipede was happy, quite, until the toad, in fun, asked which leg followed after which.

This wrought him up to such a pitch he lay quite prostrate in the ditch inquiring how to run."

The moral of that little poem is obvious. As soon as we become too analytical, then we interfere with the previous smooth operation of our habits.

Homer was a successful salesman, extroverted and happy, until this ex-lawyer criticized him. Then Homer grew introspective and analytical.

But the longer he analyzed himself, the less assurance he possessed. And a star salesman MUST feel sure of himself.

Excessive self-analysis is one reason why a person stutters. Some embarrassing slip of the tongue calls his attention to a monkey wrench into its smooth machinery.

The person who blushes profusely is also a victim of this undue self-analysis.

At some time in the past his attention was called to his pink skin and red ears. Since then, he keeps thinking about himself exclusively.

Homer is handicapped by this ex-lawyer, who is older and of course distrustful of being thought a "big shot" because he once had a successful legal practice.

The lawyer thus tries to browbeat others so he can again stand out as the top man in the group. For it rankles the 45-year-old lawyer's pride to think a 29-year old is now his boss.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK

By Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Free-swinging Jimmy Hoffa and his Teamsters union are now nearing position from which they can give the Kennedy administration—and the country—one of its most serious domestic problems and battles in the next few years.

Federal District Court Judge F. Dickinson Lettis' order abolishing the board of monitors control he had set up over the Teamsters gives it a green light to go its own way.

Judge Lettis authorized the calling of a union convention. This will end in the legal election of Hoffa as president, giving him almost undisputed control over the world's largest union. With nearly 1.7 million members, it comprises about ten per cent of the American organized labor movement.

Hoffa controls about $300 million in pension and welfare funds collected for his union.

The law passed by Congress two years ago to require reporting of these funds has been found to be ineffective. It does not regulate these funds as rigidly as insurance company reserves are regulated. New legislation will be needed to bring union pension funds under tight control and audit.

Teamster officials can now use these funds almost as they please. They can be put in banks as interest-free deposits. These can be used as security for personal loans for almost unlimited use.

Hoffa's power is growing constantly. He has just won 28-to-32-cents-an-hour increases for 200,000 Teamsters in the Middle West. The new contracts—all to expire on the same date three years hence—could give Hoffa a stranglehold on American transportation by 1964, which is an election year.

Hoffa's political influence was shown to be not too strong in the last national election. He picked out 36 congressmen to oppose because they had voted for the Landrum-Griffin labor bill. Only one of the 36 was defeated.

It is pointed out, however, that Hoffa does not need this kind of political influence for his power. He defied the Senate labor racket investigation for three years. In the course of these hearings it was shown that two previous congressional investigations of his activities were called off. He now emerges more powerful than before.

With other labor union alliances Hoffa has made — including Harry Bridges of the West Coast Longshoremen and the equally left wing Mine and Smelter Workers — the Teamsters' boss must be reckoned with as one of the dominant labor leaders in the United States. This in spite of the fact that the Teamsters have been suspended from the AFL-CIO for failure to clean up racketeering.

Hoffa is now throwing his weight around to demand a place on future labor-management-public industry conferences which the Kennedy administration may organize to bring more peace and stability to the industrial scene.

The Teamsters were left out — probably deliberately — when the president named to his first 21-member advisory group six representatives of AFL-CIO unions and President Tom Kennedy of the Miners.

But Jimmy Hoffa, given another clean bill of health in the courts — as he has been in three previous cases — cannot be ignored in the U.S. labor movement.

He is ambitious and driving hard for the right to unionize all unorganized workers under his Teamster banner.

He is younger and more aggressive than the older leaders in the union movement who have now gained recognition and some respectability as labor statesmen.

WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — They scuffed down the walk in the quiet of late afternoon. The air was sweet and warm and the shadows were long. Hand in hand they went, the old man and the boy.

Often the neighbors in the Chevy Chase section see them like this, a bond borne of love, loneliness and tragedy.

There's a spread of 67 years between them. Old Carl Vinson is 77. Till, blue-eyed, chubby-faced and vibrant, is 10.

On Capitol Hill they give the elderly gentleman of Georgia the tyrannical tag of "Backstage Boss of the Pentagon." That's because Carl Vinson holds a lifetime to our military as chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee.

But the old timer lives mostly for that 10-year-old boy, no relative but sort of adopted through the years. I watched the other day as Till looked up and softly addressed the lowering form: "Grampa?" Vinson gave the kid's hand a squeeze, and then listened to the question.

Admirals and generals of the highest rank in the country milled about, but the old man paid heed for the moment only to the lad.

This was a ceremonial luncheon. They were honoring Uncle Carl because a story about him was appearing in the Reader's Digest. Till was mentioned in the story, too, of course.

Lou Stochtil of the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal, author of the piece, was there. He recalled how he had phoned Vinson after the story was published. Till took the call.

"Say," said the boy, "that was quite a story you wrote about us."

That's what is so fine about this friendship. They both consider the association inseparable. It was 10 years ago that Till came to fill a tragic void in Carl Vinson's life—two weeks after Mrs. Vinson died. Till's parents had moved in with the Congressman. Till's dad, Tillman Sneed, is Vinson's administrative aide. Now on week ends when the two aren't out strolling or going to the movies, the old man has Till down to the Capitol, and the two take turns presiding over the empty chamber, ruling the world as to speak.

At the big luncheon Till sat on the podium in the No. 1 spot—immediately to Vinson's right. One seat over—in a lower echelon—sat the Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara.

Speaker Sam Rayburn strolled in late—right past McNamara and directly to Till for a big, warm greeting. McNamara said nothing. He understood.

Then the big moment . . . a White House aide stood up and read a message from the President of the United States. It flowed with praise for the old man. Vinson lowered his head. The sentimental old timer was visibly moved.

The note went on. The President was now addressing young Tillman Sneed. "Come to the White House and see me," it said. "And bring Grampa Vinson along."

The little boy grinned. The old man reached for a handkerchief.

West Hopeful New Congo Group Will End Red Threat

TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic (UPI) — Western diplomats expressed hope today the newly formed "confederation" of Congo states would end the threat of Communism in the Congo and bring stability to the strife-torn nation.

Congolese leaders attending a "summit" conference here agreed Sunday to establish a loose confederation of eight sovereign states on tribal lines to replace the Congo republic.

Joseph Kasavubu, president of the central Congolese government, was unanimously selected president of the new confederation, with the capital to remain in Leopoldville.

Delegates to the week-long conference on the Indian Ocean island of Madagascar included Kasavubu, Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Kasai Chief Albert Kalonji. Notably absent Antoine Gizenga, Communist-inclined leader of leftist followers of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba in Oriental Province.

An invitation had been extended to Gizenga, but he refused to attend and denounced the conference. Informed sources in Leopoldville said moderate Jean Foster Manzikala is gradually taking over from Gizenga as boss of Oriental Province. Manzikala is premier of the province.

The fact the new confederation might make things difficult for the Communists was seen in the angry reaction from Moscow. Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, immediately called the plan a "colonialist plot."

Pravda said the plan was written by "puppets" who plotted to "dismember the young republic and tear from it the richest provinces of Katanga and Kasai."

The newspaper added that the set-up would "gratify the Belgian and other colonizers."

However, diplomatic sources regarded the plan to divide the Congo into eight equally sovereign states operating under an executive body of coordinate cooperation as a final challenge to Gizenga's leftwing Stanleyville regime.

The organization of coordination between the sovereign states would be a Council of Ministers responsible for domestic and foreign policy.

Kasavubu described the conference as a "resounding success." Tshombe, who conceived the idea of the conference, said "I am very content. We have settled our own affairs. East and West must now leave us in peace and keep their hands off the Congo."

Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., was opened in 1837 with 80 students, under the name of Mount Holyoke Female Seminary.

This week in London's Lancaster House, the 11 independent members of the British commonwealth meet in an atmosphere of discord markedly at odds with their gracious surroundings.

At the storm's center is Prime Minister H. F. Verwoerd of the Union of South Africa whose stern policy of "apartheid" denying equal rights to non-white has resulted in Asian and African demands that the Union of South Africa be ousted from its commonwealth membership.

Strongly allied with Verwoerd is Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky of the Central African Federation of North and South Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

The federation is not yet independent, but it is traditional that its prime minister attend commonwealth meetings. Welensky's policy of segregation has been described as even more severe than that of South Africa.

The commonwealth system is at once both irrational and effective, and even the British who invented it have trouble explaining exactly how or why it works.

A vice president of India once said of it: "Commonwealth means for us complete independence and informal association, sharing of ideals, though not of allegiance, of purposes through not of loyalties, common discussions . . . though not binding decisions."

From a practical standpoint, the commonwealth works because it provides economic advantages both to Britain and to her former colonies through tariff and various trade agreements.

Among the 11 members, Ghana and Nigeria are attending their first meeting since attaining independence. Others are Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Federation of Malaya, and, of course Great Britain.

Once a white man's "club" the commonwealth now has fewer than 100 million whites against 500 million Asians and Africans. The commonwealth system has no mechanics for removing a member.

But in October 1960, white South Africans voted to become a republic instead of a constitutional monarchy under the British crown.

According to custom any commonwealth member changing its status must ask permission to remain in the commonwealth. South Africa has been unable to obtain assurance that her request will be approved.

Patterson, Johansson Mix For Title Tonight

Gate Mark Assured

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Champion Floyd Patterson and Swedish Ingemar Johansson were officially notified today that the gate had passed the all-important $400,000 mark for their third and decisive heavyweight title fight tonight at the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

Both boxers expressed relief that sportsman Bill MacDonald of Miami Beach would lose no money on his $400,000 guarantee for the scheduled 15-round fight, and officials of Feature Sports, Inc., sent a telegram to MacDonald releasing him from the guarantee.

A crowd of 13,000 is expected when 26-year-old Patterson of Rockville Centre, N. Y., and 26-year-old Johansson of Sweden and Switzerland square off with the six-ounce gloves at 10:30 p. m.

Left-hooker Patterson, first man to recapture the heavy crown, is favored at 15-5 to beat Ingo, the explosive right-handed puncher—as he did in their second fight last June 30. Floyd's left hook floored big, brown-haired Ingo twice in the fifth round for a knockout that night. Johansson, who knocked out Patterson in the third round of their first fight in 1950, told friends today he hoped his unprecedented stiff training this time had geared him to stiffen Floyd again and make himself the second man to win back the title.

Although tonight's international "rubber match" is scheduled for 15 rounds, the betting is at "even money" that it doesn't last more than six rounds, regardless of the winner. And it's 5-1 that it doesn't go the full 15 sessions. However, should it unexpectedly last its scheduled distance, the betting is 25-1 that Johansson doesn't win the decision.

When tonight's match was first made for the 15,922-seat arena, officials of Feature Sports aimed at a sellout of $1,000,000—with tickets priced at $100, $50 and $20. But now it appears unlikely that the gate will reach $500,000. However, the best still may be the richest fight in history because of the booming sales at theater-TV locations in the United States and Canada, as well as the large guarantees paid for radio, movie and foreign kinship.

Irving B. Kahn, president of Telepromier—which bought the rights to theater-TV, radio, movie, etc.—announced that the total receipts from those "ancillary" promises an unprecedented gross of $4 million.

Johansson, who floored Floyd seven times in the third round for a technical knockout in their first fight, will be free to defend against any challenger he chooses if he takes the title from Patterson tonight. There's no return-bout contract.

Thanks to the possible $4 million in gross ancillary receipts, plus the "live" gate, the purses of Floyd and Ingo may approach the million-dollar mark this time.

Each gets 25 per cent of the net live gate, and Feature Sports receives 50 per cent. However, Patterson's cut of the promotion's ancillary receipts is 50 per cent; Johansson's, 25.

WINTER ASHORE—SUMMER AFLOAT is possible in this new Merri Mac houseboat, the latest craft for living to suit the owner. It has catamaran hulls, amphibious wheels and insulated topsides. Trailer hitch can be added.

Happy Houseboaters Have Lot Of Explaining To Do

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(NEA)—The biggest problem in living aboard a boat during a northern winter, a houseboating couple tell me, is not to keep warm but to explain to their friends that they're not crazy.

The late sun had been slanting cold yellow across a frozen inlet of the Mississippi as I walked out on the dock to their houseboat home locked in the ice, houseboat home locked in the ice, houseboat home locked in the ice.

"This is our second winter afloat," Fred and Janet explained, "and we're still warm, healthy, and completely sold on year-round boating. But if you quote us, please don't mention our last name. We'll start getting phone calls from landlubbers again during the next cold spell, wanting to know if we're still all right."

Their boat's name however is Suzy, because they thought it sounded right for their 35-foot home. She has a broad beam of 14 feet, needs only two feet of water to float her flat bottom, and has a large living room cabin, small bedroom galley, and bathroom with both tub and shower. She can sleep four comfortably, six easily if cot bunks are added, and once had 12 sacked out on floors and top deck after an all night summer party.

"That was while we were moored down in the city before we moved up country here and our baby Joan arrived," Fred told me. "Janet was still working and we both walked to work from our slip. But we got a good deal of wake there from passing riverboats, and we also ended up with a pretty strong backwash of parties from the office. Entertaining is fun but expensive, and we had originally bought Suzy to save money, before we found what fun she could be as well.

Heating is no problem since the cabins are small, and the fireplace is just a pleasant luxury. Boats are made wind and water tight, and we're more likely to be too warm than too cold. We cook and heat water from a tank of L.P. gas, and run in electricity and water from ashore. I was afraid our water pipe would freeze so I talked to a houseboat friend who hauls out into a riverside trailer camp each winter. He told me about insulated wrapping for the pipe that has a wire in it like a heating pad. When the temperature drops low a thermostat turns it on long enough to keep the water flowing.

"At first I really wondered if if the ice around the boat would crush it," Janet volunteered, "but we found enough heat goes out through the hull to keep the ice thin or melted. We also put straw on the ice around the boat, and that seems to absorb sunlight and keep the ice thin.

"We've been told by people who moor along the open river where there is a current that the floating skim ice is most dangerous and can saw at a hull along the waterline as it sweeps past. Some people anchor a log boom upstream of their craft, and that deflects driftwood and ice floes floating down.

"Someday we may sell Suzy and move ashore," Fred admitted, "but then I hope we can buy one of the small new house-trailer houseboats. Some are insulated for winter use and have retractable wheels."

A number of that type are being introduced this year, and can be used for everything from winter fish shacks and duck blinds to hunting lodges

Sports Goods Cops Cage Play

Facing the Seminole Sporting Goods team was Bobby Barbour with 17 points.

In other city loop action, Higginbotham defeated WSPR, 35-28 with 5. Richards pacing the victors with 16 points.

Robson defeated Stemper, 30-24 as R. Hinson dunked in 23 points.

Bat Happy Bucs Picking Up Where They Left Off

United Press International
Dick Groat and Don Hoak, inspirational leaders of the Pittsburgh Pirates who were limited to words during the off-season, are using their bats during the spring training session to answer those critics who thought the best team lost the 1960 World Series.

The Pirates, picking up where they left off with the world championship over the New York Yankees, are still winning in the Grapefruit Circuit while the Yanks are losing.

With Groat, the National League's most valuable player last season, and fiery third baseman Hoak supplying the punch, the Pirates won their third straight exhibition game Sunday, defeating the Baltimore Orioles, 6-2. Meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Yankees, 4-2, for their second victory in a row over the American League champions.

Hoak hit a home run and Groat smashed a double, each knocking in two runs in the Pirates' four-run eighth inning off the Orioles' rookie, Johnny Papa. Hoak broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth with his blast following a walk to Roberto Clemente. Hal Smith's single and a double by Roman Mejias set the stage for Groat's double which provided the insurance runs. Groat and Hoak had three hits apiece for the day.

With slugger Mickey Mantle forced to the sidelines with a recurrence of his trick right knee injury, the Yankees cumbered four Cardinals hurlers for 10 hits but pushed across only two runs, both batted in by perennial infield candidate Fritz Brickett.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am sick of hearing the beefs about pointed shoes for women. The reason we sell so many is because you women must WANT them.

SHOE SALESMAN

DEAR SHOE SALESMAN: Please don't tell me what we women want. We take what we can get. I am convinced that the sack dress, those goofy mile-high hairdos (that no woman can comb herself) and those hideous, pointed-toe shoes were designed by men who hate women and want to make them look as ridiculous as possible. If there is a national shoe manufacturer's association, please give me the address, I would like to send them all the mail I receive from women who protest the new style shoes. A letter (or postcard) to this column will help—and I lead all the rest.

DEAR ABBY: I am with you all the way in your campaign to get rid of those homely Wizard of Oz witches' shoes. I have a long and narrow foot, (nine) and you can imagine what my feet look like in the new spring shoes. I refuse to wear gray shoes because they look like gun boats!

GUN BOAT ANNIE

DEAR ABBY: My husband can tell you how much women suffer from pointed shoes—especially young girls whose feet are still developing. They are making themselves candidates for bunion surgery and a multitude of other foot disorders.

PODIATRIST'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: The pointed toes are bad enough, but oh, those heels! I have to walk "hippos toe" so I won't get my heels caught in gratings, between cracks in the sidewalks, or even on shag carpets. Please, please help us get some sensible shoes before I break my neck. TIPPEE TOE

DEAR ABBY: This will kill you. Now they have pointed-toe BOWLING SHOES! Abby, are they going crazy? GOING BAREFOOT

DEAR ABBY: The woman who complained about pointed shoes is no doubt wearing cheap shoes. Also she is probably one of those peacocks who needs a size 8 B and fights with the shoe clerk to make him give her a 7 Double A. The new, pointed shoes are beautiful and comfortable when you get the proper fit.

SHOE MAN

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "FOOT-SORE AND WEARY" you said, "I have been told the woman LOVE the new pointed-toe shoes." Please tell me EXACTLY WHO told you that women love these ainine, ridiculous, pointed awcleties?

AUGUSTA

DEAR AUGUSTA: Every shoe salesman to whom I complained.

DEAR ABBY: I beat the fashion experts and ruined my feet years ago when it was stylish to cram your foot into a pointed shoe. Now I wear leather moccasins just like the Indians did.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

"Lady—Are You the Man of the House?" is the intriguing title of a short article in a recent issue of a national magazine.

The article didn't offer a list of little questions to help you answer the big question. But don't worry, I've worked out some for you!

Do you take over your husband's pay check and give him pocket money, pocketing the balance to budget as you see fit? Have you taken any of the following jobs that traditionally are a man's responsibility—mowing the lawn, painting the house, making household repairs, or putting out the garbage cans?

Do the children clearly understand that what mom says goes and the foot to worry about being put down is mom's?

Do you write the checks for the monthly bills and keep the check book balanced?

Do you brag that you are the mechanic of the family?

Do you make the arrangements, buy the tickets, and even insist on helping carry the luggage when you and your husband take a trip together?

Do you carry in the week's supply of groceries when your husband is at home?

Do you make major family decisions without discussing them with your husband?

When you and your husband return from an evening party do you volunteer to drive the baby sitter home?

When you are both at home are you the one who goes out to boss the repairman or workman who has been hired to do a job around the house or yard?

All "yes" answers by a wife would seem to make it pretty obvious who is the man around HER house.

It's Difficult To Pick Outstanding Congressman

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—I recently received a billet-doux from the American Political Science Association inviting me to nominate candidates for "congressional distinguished service awards." This is a heavy responsibility to have placed on one's shoulders, and I have been giving the matter a lot of careful thought. The fact that the same responsibility has been placed on the shoulders of about five thousand other newspapermen does not, as I see it, lighten my own load one bit.

In outlining our duties as nominators, the association observed that the House and Senate "have many hard-working and distinguished members, whose services to their country often are not reflected in the daily press."

"The award program will seek to call attention to distinguished service, whether or not it is of the kind likely to come to the public's attention," it said.

I have tried to keep this point in mind in weighing the qualifications of prospective nominees, and I find that it rather adds to the burden. I mean, distinguished obscurity is a hard thing to measure.

"It's true that some of the things our congressmen do are not called to the public's attention. But on the whole, this probably is a good thing for both the congressmen and the public. Nevertheless, by dint of exhaustive research I have been able to find two relatively un-publicized actions that I regard as worthy of the association's consideration.

One of my nominees, therefore, will be Rep. W. R. Poage, a Texas Democrat who last month took a firm stand against chanting by livestock auctioneers.

Poage said he attended an auction and found he could not tell what cattle were sold, who bought them, or what the price was. Furthermore, he said, "One of the largest cowmen in Texas confided to me that he did not know when he was raising his own bid."

If cattle buyers have been raising bids without knowing it, that probably accounts for the current price of beef steaks. Therefore, I credit Poage with a truly distinguished service in demanding that auctioneers "go back to the use of the English language."

My other nominee will be Rep. Seymour Halpern (R-N. Y.), who called last week for an embargo on imports from Cuba. Buying Cuban tobacco, he said, puts money in Castro's pocket and "dangerously increases the menace to this Communist satellite."

Halpern contended that cigar smokers in the United States could switch from Havanas to Jamaican cigars without undue hardship. He pointed out that Sir Winston Churchill has been smoking Jamaicans for years.

As a clear smoker myself, I appreciate Halpern's proposal. It pains me to think that I might be aiding Communism every time I light up a cheroot.

Paar, Sullivan Seconds Meet To Set Up Debate Rules

NEW YORK (UPI)—The seconds for Jack Paar and Ed Sullivan meet today to lay down the rules of honor by which the two stars will stage their feud of words on television tonight.

"If people around the country want to stay awake for this," Paar said, "I'll guarantee it will not be a friendly debate. I don't want to see Sullivan before the debate. I don't want to give him a chance to soften me up. At the moment I'm not so crazy about Ed Sullivan."

The "Great TV Debate" between the two high-powered emcees over payment of guest stars on their programs is scheduled for broadcast on Paar's "Tonight" show on NBC-TV at 11:30 p. m.—one hour after the preliminary battle between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson for the world's heavyweight boxing championship in Miami Beach.

Sullivan's representative, Robert Frecht, meets with Paul Orr, named by Paar as his second, at 11:30 a. m. to map out detailed ground rules for the debate to make sure no one has an unfair advantage. The meeting of the seconds takes place on neutral ground in the office of publisher Bennett Cerf, of the TV show, "What's My Line," who was named moderator for the debate.

Sullivan, who named the moderator at Paar's behest, said that "Bennett Cerf is a man of great dignity and reputation who has never mixed up in any silly shannigans and that's what we need here."

Frecht, Sullivan's son-in-law and show producer, said Cerf would lend "serious dignity" to the debate.

Paar, who often has been embroiled in feuds with show business personalities, became involved in the dispute with Sullivan because he pays stars only $320 to appear on his late-hour show, while Sullivan has to spend up to $7,500 for guests on his Sunday CBS show.

Sullivan, after a few years, considered this unfair and announced recently that any stars who appeared on Paar's show for $320 would get that amount and no more for going on his program.

Paar reacted sharply. He suggested their shows have a rating contest. Sullivan counterattacked with a demand for a debate.

Needs Assistance
 Mrs. Frank Russell, Longwood Girl Scout leader, has issued an appeal for assistance in the program especially from the North Orlando area.

Transportation for these girls, Mrs. Russell says, is a major problem and she asks any interested mother to call her at TE 8-3774. North Orlando calls also may be made to FA 2-2291.

Congolese On Rape, Ravage Binge

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Savage tribesmen who have seized control of Kivu Province and inflicted "undescribable humiliation" on nuns and priests there are threatening 300 whites in the area, United Nations authorities said today.

An American girl missionary was raped repeatedly by four Congolese soldiers loyal to the murdered President Lumumba, nuns were forced to dance in the nude and priests were forced to confess to the martyrdom of Lumumba, "Christ of the Congo," UN reports said.

Terror spread throughout the Lumumbist-held province and almost complete anarchy reigned in the area. UN forces said they felt grave concern for the 300 white there, including 250 missionaries. At least nine of the missionaries are Americans.

A UN spokesman said the behavior of the Kivu population and the pro-Lumumba troops was "heinous" but gave no indication the United Nations forces there were able to do anything about it. A Malayan UN patrol was sent out to check the reports the American girl was raped, but has not been heard from since.

Most of the terror was centered around the Kama area, 128 miles southeast of the Kivu capital of Bukama. There has been widespread violence there since the death of Lumumba and many Europeans fled across the border to Belgian-controlled Urundi-Ruanda.

But the Congolese tribesmen ruled that 300 whites still in the area could not leave. A handful of refugees did make it safely to Leopoldville and told of even more horrible stories—stories so horrible the refugees would not describe them in detail.

Priests were clubbed to their knees with rifle butts and forced to chant "I killed Lumumba, Christ of the Congo," the reports said. The atrocities were reported as late as March 3 and UN authorities feared they might be continuing.

The first group of refugees to arrive here include three nuns, two priests and five civilians. They arrived two days ago and were immediately hospitalized. The arm of 63-year-old Belgian Sister Amanda Marie had been broken in two places by the Congolese.

The refugees said more than 250 missionaries, nuns and priests were trapped in the Maniema region of Kivu Province where chaos reigns and terror has been spread by both troops and the wild tribesmen loyal to Lumumba.

Police Recover $15,000 Jewelry Cargo In Car

Sanford police early this morning recovered a stolen auto and approximately $15,000 worth of jewelry three hours after the theft was reported.

The car, owned by Howard Orr of St. Petersburg, was found being a store at 2826 Park Dr. It was reported stolen at 9:45 p. m. Monday night while parked behind the Mari-Nella Court Motel at 2564 Park Ave.

Orr said he checked into the motel around 9 p. m. and the car was missing some 45 minutes later.

Patrolmen Edward Hayden and Fred Kelley found the vehicle with the jewelry intact but said the trunk of the car was battered and smashed in an attempt to get the diamonds which were in it.

Orr said that a special chain lock was on the trunk and it was impossible for anyone to break into it. He said the jewels were valued at $15,000.

News Briefs

Sheriffs Liable

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin Monday ruled Florida sheriffs are liable for budget overruns if the additional money spent was not authorized. Ervin made the ruling for State Auditor Bryan Willis Monday.

Debate Postponed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Russia was reported today to have agreed to postpone a full-dress disarmament debate but attached conditions that made it appear the deadlock over shortening the current General Assembly session was still unbroken.

Back To Work

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Private citizen Richard M. Nixon goes to work as an attorney today for the first time in 20 years, planning to leave plenty of time to the business of politics. The defeated presidential candidate Monday joined the Los Angeles law firm of Adams, Duque & Hasseltine.

Troops On Alert

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—American military forces in South Korea have been placed on a full scale alert, a United Nations Command spokesman said today. The spokesman denied there was increased tension along the Korean truce line but said the alert was part of a "worldwide readiness exercise" of American armed forces.

Escape Test

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency plans to test the Mercury pilot escape system this week under the most severe conditions that might occur during an attempt to put a man in orbit. If this and other planned flight tests are successful, the agency said, an astronaut will be launched into orbit around the earth "perhaps late this year" under Project Mercury.

Engine Trouble

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Engine trouble at the edge of space Monday night stopped a bid by an Air Force advanced model Atlas missile to match the world distance record for military rocket shots. The 85-foot Atlas streaked more than 7,000 miles across the Atlantic in about 40 minutes—but landed short of its target 9,000 miles from here, southeast of Africa.

Annexation Can Bring Burden, Manager Says

City Manager W. E. Knowles told the City Commission in a lengthy and comprehensive report Monday night that it was "feasible and desirable" to annex the Prayer Homes area but not the area between 27th St. and 29th St. west of Sanford Ave.

Knowles explained that it would take $73,000 worth of capital improvements to maintain the area between 27th and 29th St. and "we just can't take on that financial burden at this time."

The commission held off action for further study of Knowles' report and agreed to consider it again at its next meeting.

Knowles had been authorized to

Space Man Due Soon, Red Says

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said today the sending of a Soviet astronaut into space "is not too far off."

"We are confident that the time is not too far off when the first space ship with man aboard will dash into outer space," he told an agricultural conference at Akmolinsk in Siberia.

Loyal Order of Moose, Sanford Lodge 1831, will hold its regular Wednesday meeting on the second floor of the Evans Building in Lake Mary at 8 p. m.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in the City Commission room in the City Hall from 9 a. m. to noon Wednesday to interview applicants for social security.

There will be no meeting of the Kiwanis Club this Wednesday due to the special divisional district meet Saturday.

R. S. Hillimer, chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee, will speak to the Democratic Women's Club Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the courtroom of the courthouse.

There will be a called meeting of the fathers of Boy Scout Troop 501 at 7 p. m. today at the Episcopal Parish House. Mothers also are welcome to attend.

Latin America Bill Goes To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for $600 million to fight poverty in Latin America and meet "a grave and imminent danger" of underprivileged peoples turning to Communism.

The president urged the legislators in a special message to appropriate immediately the $500 million in general assistance and $100 million for earthquake relief in Chile they authorized last year.

He stressed the urgency of his request and said the funds would be committed as quickly as possible to put into operation a bold, 10-year program for raising the living standards of the Latin American nations.

But in an apparent effort to head off any charges he was proposing "blank check" aid, Kennedy promised that no funds would be allocated until there are assurances that "each recipient nation will live up to the principals of self-help and domestic reform."

Spy Trial Hears Secret Agent

LONDON (UPI)—Britain brought to the witness stand today a pretty girl secret agent identified only as "Miss K"—in an attempt to prove that an international spy ring that included two Americans stole vital naval secrets and sent them in code to Russia.

There was a burst of excitement in the No. 1 court of the Old Bailey when the prosecution said: "Call Miss K."

Miss K followed a line of male secret agents—"the nameless men"—who testified about how they shadowed three men and two women being tried on charges of penetrating the security of Britain's vital naval base at Portland.

City Institutes Cost Survey On Recreation

The City Commission Monday agreed to accept the resignation of Recreation and Parks Director Ronald Perry "if he desires" and at the same time asked for a study of the costs of the department's program.

Perry informed City Manager W. E. Knowles that he had been offered another position.

The commission agreed that they could not afford any raises and if Perry decides to resign, authorized Knowles to look for a suitable replacement.

The board also discussed the payroll of the department which, including Perry's amounts to almost $11,000.

Commissioner J. H. Crapps said he thought the department was a little too "top heavy" and asked Knowles if it was possible to reduce some of the added features.

"I just can't see paying $7,000 a year to a man to teach kids how to twirl a baton," Crapps said.

Mayor Joe Baker said that the city "must put a stop to expanding the program" and emphasized that 12 percent of the general fund goes to recreation.

Commissioner Tom McDonald called for a study of the department's expenses and program while Crapps said that "we should keep the important phases of the program like swimming but eliminate some of the little stuff."

Council Accepts Charter Draft

The Casselberry Town Council, as worded in the resolution "after great study" and "lengthy discussion," Monday accepted the draft for a new charter, with approved amendments as suggested by Council Attorney Kenneth McInosh, for presentation to the Seminole County legislative delegation.

Don Willson, member of a charter board appointed in September, 1959, pointed out, however, that he was not in full accord with all proposals contained in the document.

McInosh advised that changes of getting legislative approval would be greater if both council and charter board were in agreement but that a ruling from the offices of Attorney General Richard Ervin, read at the meeting by Councilman Rohn Lady, states that opinion or former work of the charter board is not binding upon the new draft.

Council Chairman Lytle Swope and Councilman Ben Evans also are members of the charter board.

Taxpayers Assn. Hear Hutchison

County Commission Chairman J.C. Hutchison Monday spoke before the Taxpayers For Better Government in Seminole County Assn., on the county tax structure.

Following Hutchison's brief address, a lively question and answer period was conducted during which the need for a dog pound and stabilizing laws was mentioned.

Another fact brought out for discussion was that at the present time, road improvements and building depend upon one man only. . . . Max Brewer, Fifth District road board member.

County Covered By Rain; Winds Near Gale Force

Heavy rains and winds of near gale velocity drenched Sanford and Seminole County Monday night.

The Weather Bureau reported that more than an inch of rain fell over the city within a period of three hours and winds were reported in the neighborhood of 40 miles per hour.

However, city officials reported little damage during that period. Ocean gales bore down on the California coast today and threatened flooding in the East near a windy New England blizzard.

Heavy snow measuring at least four inches was expected by midday in Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire. Coastal points in the Northeast were warned of flooding at high tide.

The U. S. Weather Bureau posted gale warnings for the Pacific states from Cape Mendocino, Calif., northward. The winds accompanied rains from northern California to Seattle.

In the eastern half of the nation, a low pressure system responsible for late winter weather drifted slowly east and centered today over lower Michigan. Fair skies covered most of the Great Plains and the Southwest.

Mild weather with a slight warming trend was forecast through the day in the Southeast.

Serving with Lewis on the committee to map out plans for the meeting will be Ralph W. Pezold, manager of the Installment Loan Dept. of the Florida State Bank; Robert Mahan of Seminole Loan Co., and Chester Muse, manager of Mather Furniture Co.

Hoffa Fraud Case Resumes

ORLANDO (UPI)—Attorneys for Teamster President James R. Hoffa resumed arguments today that fraud indictments against him should be quashed because the grand jury was illegally selected.

Hoffa and two associates are charged with 18 counts of using interstate communications to promote a real estate development near here, financed by $500,000 in Teamsters funds which the government claims they misused.

Defense attorney Jacob Korman asked U. S. District Judge Joseph P. Lieb to throw out the indictments because the federal jury was selected under state rules instead of federal rules.

City Attorney William Hutchison was authorized by the City Commission to draw up a resolution to Fifth District Road Board Member Max Brewer urging him to expedite plans and make available the necessary money for the W. First St. widening project.

Landfill Fire Action Explained

Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr. in a report to the city Monday night defended his department's not fighting a fire at the city sanitary landfill area Feb. 26.

The City Commission, at its last meeting, asked for a detailed report on the fire which was brought under control by three city employees.

Cleveland said in his report that he felt it would have required five men approximately six hours to extinguish the fire with water.

The fire chief termed the fire more of a nuisance than a fire hazard. Therefore Cleveland said, in his judgment it was in the best interests of the city to keep the men and equipment at the station for the overall protection of the city.

Although there was no comment from any members of the commission, Mayor Joe Baker termed the report "satisfactory."

Chappell Rules Out Teacher Pay Hike

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—House Speaker designate William V. Chappell said Monday the theme of the 1961 Legislature will be "progress through productivity rather than progress through spending."

He said that rules out any across-the-board pay increase for Florida school teachers.

He said, however, he would support a program to reward what he called "quality" teachers. Chappell said he believed Florida was coming out of a business slump responsible for falling tax revenues. Recovery would give about $100 million more to spend from present sources in the next biennium, he said.

"We absolutely must not have new taxes for state purposes," he said.

There is a great need in the state to get the federal government to surrender some of its tax sources to Florida, he said, rather than the Legislature to impose taxes itself.

is deposited with the Circuit Court.

"These monies were derived from the $1 million bond issue that was sold some years ago," the letter said.

Krider said that "we should have some sort of commitment in writing from our new road board members that W. First St. will be the first primary road 'let' in Seminole County."

City Manager W. E. Knowles said that Brewer has stated recently that unless the legislature changes the law concerning the 20 percent reserve, no primary roads will be let until after June 30 and that W. First St. could not be expected to be advertised until after July 1.

FORT PIERCE (UPI)—A surprise witness testified today that Joseph A. Peel Jr. tried to get him to poison Floyd (Lucky) Holzapfel—the man who named Peel as mastermind of the sensational Chillingworth murders.

Robert E. Johnson of Greensboro, N. C., a former trustee at the Palm Beach County Jail, was called by Prosecutor Phil O'Connell.

He said he was approached by Peel last November while all three men were confined in the Palm Beach jail. Johnson was serving time for assault and battery and drunkenness and Peel and Holzapfel on charges in the deaths of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife Marjorie.

A group was in the audience to protest the location of the proposed school but the delegation walked out of the room when the discussion was tabled.

The school board already has approved final plans for the new school and hopes to have it constructed by the end of this year. In a memo to the commission, City Manager W. E. Knowles said that the proposed vacating will give it a buffer zone on Mellonville Ave.
