

Girl Athlete Is Newest Threat To Amateur Golfers

By DELION GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—May be you didn't see that little item out of Los Angeles the other day. It was just a tiny squib, but big news for golf. It said that America's greatest all-around woman athlete was eligible for amateur golf competition.

The Babe, now Mrs. George Kahanian, was ruled ineligible by the U. S. Golf Association in 1936 because of her professionalism in other sports. Two years later, she applied for reinstatement as an amateur and now her request has been granted.

Babe was a golf star from the start, just as she was a standout in every other sport she took up. She shot a 95 her first round, soon chopped that down into the low 80's, and won medalist honors in the first tournament in which she played with a 77. Six months later she won the 1935 Texas championship.

Shortly afterwards, the U. S. G. A. barred her from amateur tournaments but she continued to play in open events and won the Western open in 1940, and the San Francisco match play open last year.

Babe quickly gained fame as a long hitter (she knocked out 200 yard shots with a putter under the aggression it was a No. 1 iron).

The last time we saw her play she was weak with the short irons, losing most of her strokes around the green. If she has improved her short game, she'll give any of the girls a battle and win most of them.

A few years ago this observer saw Babe play in her first open tournament against men. It was at Hot Springs, Va., and we recall how a pair of name pros ruined their chances of winning by trying to outslug Babe from the tee—and failing.

That same journey also saw the debut of another star, a local country assistant pro. This competitor grabbed the lead and held it for three rounds. He handed one into the woods in the last round, lost a half dozen strokes trying to get out, and lost the tournament to Billy Burke. The youngster's name was Babe.

Babe first caught the national headlines in 1930 when the women's national track and field championships were held in Dallas. She set U. S. records in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, and placed second in the broad jump. Prior to that she had won local titles in basketball, boxing, cycling, football, tennis, baseball, gymnastics, rifle shooting, and

Mail Restrictions Are Clarified By Local Postmaster

Complaints from the public of delayed or lost mail to members of the armed forces indicate that there is wide misunderstanding of how this mail is handled and the difficulty of delivering mail overseas, Mrs. Mary Holly, acting postmaster, stated this morning as she outlined the procedure and restrictions involved in mailing parcels and letters to service men.

Reflecting that the mail system is more satisfactory than during the last war, there have been fewer complaints from anxious relatives and friends, although the volume of mail is larger, a memorandum from the postmaster general states.

Delays in the mail to armed forces may be caused by various factors, Mrs. Holly continued. Transportation of the mail sometimes must be postponed so that more urgent need for arms, food or more military and naval personnel may be filled first. Ship sinkings account for much loss of mail. Censorship holds up many letters.

Ships must travel in convoys, in the interest of safety, and a convoy can start only when the last ship is loaded and ready to depart. This tends to slow up the voyage, as does the fact that convoy sailing includes round-about means of reaching a destination. Incorrect or incomplete addresses on mail makes it impossible to deliver the article.

Very small letters are the most satisfactory means of corresponding with men and women overseas since they are given priority over ordinary mail. Mail to the United States from overseas is more rapid and regular because ships and planes on return trips have more space available and the location of addresses in this country is more stable than soldiers who are constantly being transferred and moved around overseas.

No parcel shall be accepted for mailing to personnel of the United States Army, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard who are stationed overseas if it weighs more than 5 pounds, or exceeds 15 inches in length, or 36 inches in length and girth combined. This includes parcels addressed in care of the Postmaster at New York, N. Y., or San Francisco, Calif.

For the present, it is not necessary that an approval request be obtained from the addresses before parcels may be mailed to naval personnel overseas, but not more than one parcel within these limits of weight and size shall be accepted for mailing in any one week, when sent by or on behalf of the same person or concern to or for the same addressee. No perishable matter shall be accepted for such personnel.

For Branches of the services besides Navy, the sender must have a written request from the addressee to show at the Post Office window.

WHY SO MUCH SHOUTING ABOUT PRE-WAR FURNITURE?

IT'S BETTER THAN ANYTHING YO'LL BE ABLE TO BUY FOR YEARS . . .

Just compare furniture made within the past six months with good old Pre-War stuff . . . they simply are not in the same category. Curtailments of manufacture, restrictions and general shortages of materials have drastically affected the quality of new furniture . . . so the wise buyer will select Pre-War merchandise if it is available. Mather still has a fairly good stock on hand but it is being moved out every day, and the management hopes all the old friends of the store will go some of it.

Allied Military Leaders Plan New Pacific Offensive

MacArthur Says Japs Did Not Evacuate New Guinea Area; All "Perished"

(By Associated Press) A concerted offensive against Japan was foreshadowed today with an earlier disclosure by the British government that high-ranking American, British and Chinese military leaders have met and agreed on "offensive plans."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today virtually called Japan's Mikado a liar, saying Gen. Tomitaro Hori and his army did not evacuate the Buna area of New Guinea at the end of January as the Japanese claimed but "perished."

This pointed commentary was included along with the announcement of the fresh Allied ground victory on the approaches to Salamaua and Lae, the next Japanese bases of importance since the victory at Buna sealed triumph for the Allies in the Papuan peninsula. The communique announced that the main Jap force has been encountered in the Waru area, some 35 miles southwest of Salamaua, and forced back five miles, after which our artillery continued to pour it on the retreating enemy.

The communique's blunt giving of the lie referred to yesterday's statement in a Japanese imperial headquarters communique that its troops pulled out of Buna.

"It is a complete fabrication and must be regarded as propaganda rather than a military report," snapped MacArthur's version of the battle.

He stated the first time Gen. MacArthur had given the lie direct to the Japanese and his language was typically forthright and blunt.

He said "the necessity for such subtlety" as the Japanese claim "is the result of their desperate lack of any real military strength."

Plans Explained For Giant Bond Purchase Program

Areas Represented To Choose Names For Flying Fortresses

Plans for a War Bond purchase campaign to buy Flying Fortresses to bomb the Axis, were today explained to Mayor Edward Higgins, by Karl Lehmann, deputy administrator of the Florida War Savings Staff of the United States Treasury.

Mr. Lehmann, en route to the Land to address representatives of the citrus industry concerning the drive, was accompanied by J. P. Braxton, of Orlando, associate administrator in charge of the agricultural division of the War Savings Staff. Mr. Braxton as head of the educational bureau of the Citrus Nitrate Company, has been working for the company for War Savings work.

The bond buying plan to purchase bombers was initiated by Florida citrus growers, and the matter was actively taken up by John A. Snavely Jr., who acting as president of the Florida Orange Festival at Winter Haven, called off the mid-winter festival in order to get the campaign started in the 30 citrus growing counties.

Smaller counties which cannot sell enough bonds to buy a Flying Fortress, may name a medium bomber, which costs $175,000 or a pursuit plane which costs $75,000, he said.

In addition to the proceeds of bond purchases by growers and workers, all amounts in excess of the bond sale quotas of the counties would be devoted to the bomber drive, Mr. Lehmann added.

The plan, which was outlined with a quota of $43,000 of bond sales set for December, exceeded that amount by $35,823. Had the citrus bond campaign been in effect here, at that time this difference would be credited toward the purchase of a plane.

Mr. Lehmann highly praised the efforts in War Bonds selling by Vivian Speer, Seminola County War Bond savings chairman, and his assistants.

Axis, British Clash In Ben Gardane Area

Unconfirmed Report Says English Have Been Driven Back To Tripolitania

(By Associated Press) Britain's eighth army was today officially reported to have stormed 20 miles into Axis held southern Tunisia and the vanguards were clashing with Axis troops in the Ben Gardane sector, while a Vichy radio broadcast an unconfirmed report that Marshal Rommel's forces had driven the British back into Tripolitania.

The American fifth army and the British first Army, extended western units holding the battle weary French now being re-armed for a big push.

In the air, Allied planes from the east and west and Matys sent one ship and left another sinking off Tunisia, strafed Axis troops, pounded at Tripoli, Sicily and raided the Italian naval base of Palermo.

Last night Gen. Sir Harold Alexander expressed the opinion that the March 15th 40 miles in side Tunisia and only 40 miles long, could be easily gained by motorized forces sweeping around its end, but he did not say the line was now under attack.

However, he expressed the belief that Marshal Erwin Rommel would husband his depleted Italian and German forces behind that system of French fortifications as long as he was not threatened with being cut off.

The German radio has been heralding an impending attack from the west for several days, and the Italian high command's communique yesterday betrayed Axis concern over "massed motorized vehicles and concentrations of troops of the British which it said were extensively bombed by the Axis air force formations."

In Tunisia there was inactivity by the land armies, but American Flying Fortresses, the spearhead of the Allied air armadas which are out daily to destroy German air power, blanketed the Italian air field with bursting bombs which showed 25 to 40 planes parked about the landing strips.

The Italian communique acknowledged the attack was "intensive" and resulted in many casualties.

A Pressing Announcement

In this day and age when most of us are worked to death, it is refreshing to find that a few remain who can still find time for the refinements of life

The Office of Price Administration has a great deal to do, but it has not lost sight of the crowning importance of the youngest members of the family

So the high cockleorum of the OPA has ruled that laundries cannot exact a higher deposit for baby's britches than the ceiling price on rented diapers

Well, thank heavens that has been settled! Now if the War Production Board, or the Bureau of Economic Warfare, or the Emergency Relief Administration does not come out with some clarifying announcement tomorrow, we will know exactly where we stand

Isn't it nice that the government has time to give to such weighty problems?

Prices And Wages

The surest thing about price-raising is that one raise leads to another

The same thing is true about wage-raising. There are always some wage inequalities here and there that need to be ironed out

It should be borne in mind constantly, by everybody concerned, that monkeying with prices and wages is dangerous

And it is so easy to start the inflation process! A little pressure here for higher wages, a little pressure there for higher prices

The only safe way in a time like this is to "peg" prices and wages firmly to solid ground

And this country can do it

Sieges That Failed

The bloody failure of the siege of Stalingrad ranks with other great unsuccessful sieges of history

In all these cases but one city lay between the assailants and apparently unlimited progress

Equally large stakes depended on the resistance of Vienna and Syracuse

The great career of Rome. All these would have altered history unrecognizably

The defenders of Stalingrad now take their stand beside these other valiant defenders of the past

Mrs. Knox Tells Block Leaders Of The Point System

Point rationing means share and share alike and Mrs. Daisy Knox to the block leaders who will assist the people of Sanford in all programs relative to furthering the war effort. The meeting at which Mrs. Knox analyzed the duties of the 400 Sanford block leaders and the point rationing system was held Friday at the Women's Club.

Point rationing, Mrs. Knox continued, has been deemed necessary by the government to assure our fighters a sufficient quantity of everything they need. This will mean we must get along on less. Hence essential commodities must be distributed fairly to all.

Enumerating the system's advantages, which she stated outnumber its inconveniences, Mrs. Knox said that housewives will have freedom of choice under the program of rationing a group of related or similar commodities which can be substituted for each other in actual use.

Explained, you must know the money price plan and the point plan. You must give the stamp-keeper cash as well as a ration stamp. You must know as you can get away with it.

When you shop for your family you must also keep the record of the total number of points allotted to all members. Point values of food will be posted in the stores.

Mrs. Knox then described the appearance of the War Ration Book 2 and stated that the coupon book is used by the family member applying for coupons. She declared the amount of canned goods on hand, she will include. Home canned foods should always utilize cans containing less than eight ounces and frozen or dried foods.

Concluding, Mrs. Knox said, "The function of the block leader is such that confidence and warm welcome into every home is assured." Her block leaders give information and data to all housewives in complying with the system. She said adding that War Ration Book 2 is a key to the system between the community and the Defense Council edicts complete cooperation from block leaders and county citizens.

Dog Champ Does His Bit Aiding War Charities

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 11. (AP)—He's only a little fellow about 18 inches high—but he's a champion of champions, this Noriday Saddle!

In the dog record books, they call him a smooth-haired Fox Terrier. He has won 56 "best of show" titles and sired more than 20 champions, both records. He has earned $10,150 for war charities since Pearl Harbor. He has rallied every other pet dog to do his part for victory.

So you can't blame Saddle for having a proud bark these days as he romps over his master's 100-acre estate at Old Westbury, L. I., chasing the rabbits and squirrels.

If he could talk, the perky little black and white would tell you of two horrible experiences he had, probably like this:

"I was whelped in Workop, England, some five years ago. My mother had crawled off to a far corner of the Cowards' estate for my birth, and the first thing I knew, I was lying in mud with the rain beating down on me.

"My mother grabbed me in her mouth and headed for the warm house. I was so tiny and dirty that the kitchen maid thought my mother had a rat in her mouth. She pulled me out and was just going to throw me into a stove, when mother's yelps brought Mr. and Mrs. Coward.

"After a hot bath, I was named Noriday, because that was the name of the Cowards' stable, and Saddle because Mrs. Coward thought she saw what looked like a saddle on my back.

"My life was uneventful until I heard that I was going to America. I'll never forget the trip over. Like many another first-time seagoer, I nearly died. If it hadn't been for the kindness of a ship's butcher, who rescued me from the deck to which I had crawled, and furnished me, I wouldn't be here today.

"Since his arrival in the United States, Saddle has lived at the Long Island home of James M. Austin. Up to Dec. 7, 1941, dog shows and an average of 300 fan mail letters a month, kept him pretty busy, but since that memorable day, the little fellow has been doing his bit in the war effort.

Austin gives the black and white credit for inspiring the War Dog Fund of the Dogs for Defense, Inc. "I was sitting there with Saddle one night, thinking about the war, and as I looked into his eyes I thought of what a little fellow like him could do in the war. Like a flash, the plan for the War Dog Fund came to me.

"After weeks of study, and conferences with Washington officials, the plan was put into operation. It gives the pet dogs at home a chance to serve their country. The Army and Navy want 200,000 dogs for the K-9 corps. It will cost about $3,000,000 to assemble and train them.

There are 20,000,000 dogs in the United States. All of them can't join the Army or Navy, but they can enlist in the War Dog Fund.

"When a dog enlists, he receives a certificate, a Dog for Defense Tag, and an Army or Navy 'rank.' Contributions of $1 make the dog a 'private' or a 'sergeant'; $5, a 'sergeant or chief petty officer'; $10, 'lieutenant' or 'ensign'; $15, 'captain' or a 'naval lieutenant'; $20, 'major' or 'commander'; $25, 'colonel' or a 'naval captain'; $100, 'general' or an 'admiral'.

To help swell the growing fund for war dogs, the Westminster Kennel Club will hold its 67th Dog Show at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 11 and 12 for the benefit of Dogs for Defense. A dramatic feature will be the showing of champions headed by Noriday Saddle, the dog who was too little to go to war, but who is doing his bit to end it.

Corporal Conn Is Army Tutor Of Leather Pushers

By ROBERT T. MOORE
AP Features
CAME LEE, Va., Feb. 11.—The big, handsome glamor boy attracting all the attention doesn't mind if he's 15 pounds "over weight" because "I can use some extra poundage," and "I'm never too far from the peak of condition at any time."

Heavy weight Billy Conn, the "golden boy" of the ring, was doing the talking, and there were plenty of listeners around this army camp, where Corporal Conn is boxing instructor.

Conn stays in shape by working out with his students a constant growing assortment of leather pushers that includes such former promising professionals as Francisco Montanari and Italo Colaninno.

Conn, who now tips the scales at 195 pounds, says he's taking his work as boxing instructor here just as seriously as he does his training for a championship fight, says with champion Joe Louis.

"It felt sorta funny when I first started coaching, but I soon found out that the boys in the army camps have plenty of what it takes," the Pittsburgh Irishman declared. "They seem to realize that a knowledge of boxing can prove highly important to them."

"This war has made everyone more defense conscious than ever, and the boxing programs being fostered in army and navy installations throughout the country will give the ring just the push what it needs—a 'shot in the arm.'"

"The way I see it," Conn continued, "the boxing knowledge I may be able to give a soldier here could very easily be the means of saving his life when he gets into combat."

"He's got to learn to be resourceful and to be tough, tough and nasty when he comes in grips with the rap or the knife."

Someone inhaled up with the "What about Joe Louis?"

Conn didn't answer but went right on talking.

"Lots of these soldiers who never had an opportunity to see big time fights before, have taken a genuine interest in the battles of former professionals fighting in the training camps today," the husky Conn asserted.

"The students say they have a 'swell teacher' and Conn, a bit modest, comes back with, "Yeh, and I learn plenty from the students."

"Now what was that about Louis?" Conn said, shaking his big fist at one of them. "I can beat Louis. If the bout ever comes off, I know I can beat him."

Kentucky Derby Will Be Run This Year As Planned

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (AP)—The Kentucky Derby, run annually without interruption since 1773, will not become a war casualty, Col. Matt Winn, who has conducted America's premier three-year-old classic for 11 years, said last night the race would be run on May 1 as scheduled, and pledged full cooperation with government officials in restricting attendance.

Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, last Saturday requested that the turf classic be cancelled this year because of the transportation problem.

"The 81-year-old Col. Winn said the race might be termed a "street car affair" this year, with the spectators coming for the most part from the Louisville, Ky., area. Churchill Downs, home of the derby, is accessible by Louisville street cars and is located within three miles of the downtown section.

He pledged that Churchill Downs would not honor further requests for box or reserved seats from anyone not a resident of the Louisville area and had not and would not make requests for any special transportation facilities to Louisville.

After Experience, Girl Is Willing To Pay For Milk

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer
FARMINGDALE, N. Y., Feb. 11.—You milk a cow on the right side—always.

"I'm just a city girl—but I learned that during the day I spent being on the ropes at the New York State Institute of Applied Agriculture here, where 60 girls a month will graduate to farms, they hope—to help alleviate an expected shortage of farm help."

Most of the girls joined because they love the outdoor life and meet the requirements of not being in an essential war job. But with a need for 3,500,000 additional farm hands this year these transplanted country girls may help keep us city people buttered on our bread.

"This bevy of serious looking girls means business. They don't want the farmer to get the impression they are glamor girls just because they're from the city," said one girl.

"With eggs 70c a dozen, a chicken in the country is of more value right now than a chickadee in the city."

"Please don't say we're from Broadway—we aren't," said a Connecticut girl.

"After all," said another, "we must like the life or we wouldn't have well-paid jobs for an extended 8 to 10 months and keep—and buy our own work clothes—besides."

"All the rope-too-easy chores on the farm such as greasing tractors, caring for livestock, chopping wood, and milk are being done with zest. There are classes in poultry, animal husbandry and rural culture.

The farmhand, Bill Miller, says: "The girls are downright serious—but it takes longer than a month to learn farm routine."

"There are milking machines but the cows are being milked by hand—at 5 A. M.!! My instructor, an expert milker, gave me all the details before I tackled my tuberculin-tested Banga-free Betsy.

"The cows near leg should be back, just so much—my head should rest against the right side, elbow in so I could sense a kick. The pail should be between the knees."

No sooner shown than tried. No sooner tried than no milk! If she'd been a contented cow well, maybe. But she was more set on upsetting plans; moving her leg up, swung her tail and moaned.

Even Felix, the cat, sauntered away to better his interests.

"You haven't the right technique," called out Edith Drury, an outdoor looking Boston girl, granddaughter of Roger Wolcott, an ex-governor of Massachusetts.

"I decided my talents lay elsewhere."

So I tried to learn how to harness a horse team for a wood-chopping trip. It was dark. I backed into something and its tail swished.

"Oh, excuse me!" I cried.

The preliminaries of getting food usually don't concern city folk, who don't see their eggs until they are scrambled, chicken until it's fried or milk until the milkman arrives. But, if they could realize all the work done by a farmer to produce just one quart of milk.

Well, after my experience, I'm delighted to be a consumer at 17c a quart.

Iraq is the first full-fledged Moslem member of the United Nations.

Gunnery Students At Tyndall Field Are Put Through

AP Features
PANAMA CITY, Feb. 11.—So you think you are pretty good because you can stand in one spot and shoot down a "bird" as they come sailing past you?

Well, you're not so good as you think you are. You're being put through a preliminary course at Tyndall Field here.

That is the aerial gunnery student's first taste of shooting moving objects from a moving base. It is a preliminary to learning to fire a 30 caliber machine gun from his own lightning fast plane at an enemy trying to shoot him down or to bomb his business on the ground.

As in the later phases of his course, the aerial gunnery student has the benefit of the best instructions. The shoot shooting is in charge of Lieut. Graddon D. Hubbard of Elwood, Ind., former national skeet shooting champion and twice a member of All-American skeet teams.

The students ride the 2 1/2-mile course in army trucks, shotgun poised and trigger fingers itchy. Suddenly clay targets start flying through the air at all angles and they bang away.

Before he has gone far the student has another chance as more targets fill the air—some horizontally, only three feet or so from the ground, some at a 45-degree angle, some flying straight up.

He aims at from 50 to 100 targets in a day's shooting. If he hits half of them, it is considered good shooting.

Lieut. Hubbard said boys who have done some hunting have an advantage in this type of shooting, although it happens that a "natural marksman," a youth who never had his hands on a gun before coming here, will make a higher score than an experienced shooter.

Judge Miller Bears Down On City Cases

Judge F. L. Miller continued to bear down hard on drunken and reckless drivers, when in City Court Monday evening. Joseph Johnson was found guilty of driving while drunk, penalty, $200 and costs or 60 days, and for reckless driving $25 and costs or 60 days. In addition, his driving license was revoked.

Thomas Flannery, negro, 17-year-old, guilty of driving while drunk and without a drivers license, received a sentence of $200 and costs or 60 days.

Cases of negroes arrested for drunkenness were: James Ferrall, $11 bond arrested; Ethel Stokes, $11 bond arrested; Walter Lockley, $11 bond arrested; George Johnson, $11 bond arrested; Louis Wilson, $11 bond arrested; James Johnson, $10 and costs or 60 days; Lily Mae Smith, $11 bond arrested; Henry Brewer, $11 bond arrested; Horace Mitchell, continued; Ben Bletcher, $11 bond arrested; and Henry Coleman.

Rollins Animated Magazine Will Be Sunday, Feb. 21

WINTER PARK, Feb. 11. (Special)—The Hon. Francis B. Sayre, United States High Commissioner to the Philippines from 1930 until the Japanese invasion of the islands, Major Alexander P. The three famous Americans will appear here in person, along with several other notables in various fields, to read their contributions from the completed platform in the out-of-door arena on the campus. Their scheduled appearance here on the Animated Magazine, an event which has attracted nationwide attention, will highlight the events of Founders' week which commemorates the 50th anniversary of the founding

The Animated Magazine will go to press at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with President Holt appearing in his customary role as "editor" of the publication, and Dr. Edwin Osgood Grover and Dr. Edwin Osgood Grover serving for the first time as "publishers." Allies, Striking Out Near Mateur, Report Advances

British, French Set Dormant Northern Front in Tunisia Into Quick Action

(By Associated Press)

American bombers and torpedoes were credited in delayed dispatches with sinking three Japanese destroyers and crippling at least four others in an attack on enemy ships attempting to traverse Guadalcanal during the first week in February.

(By Associated Press)

In North Africa, British dispatches reported a surge of Allied offensive activity on both ends of the 300 mile Tunisian front, but confirmation was lacking.

Frontline reports to Reuters said British and French troops were striking out in the Mateur sector advanced eight miles and another dispatch reported Marshal Rommel's army had fallen back in good order on the southern sector, declaring the maneuver short of the whole battle.

Other reports said rainstorms were sweeping the area and observers said bad weather might delay the showdown a month or six weeks.

The report came from a Reuters correspondent in the Mateur sector about 15 miles south of Hirta—who declared that Allied troops including British and French commandos attacked the Italian-held line in the northern sector at dawn Thursday.

The attack carried eight miles deep over an area of about 100 square miles, he said, adding:

"By evening the men reached their primary objectives."

"The attacking force was a good deal, but the results will not be known until the second day of fighting in progress has been completed."

There was no word of the attack immediately from any other source.

Meanwhile, far to the south on the vital Tunisian battlefield, the British Eighth Army was reported as fighting 30 miles inland from the Tunisian east coast, hemming in the German and Italian forces. Incipient rains kept the sticky black soil of the center and north so soupy that only patrols were active.

Registration For War Ration Book Begins Feb. 22

Schools To Close To Handle Issuance Of Second Rations

Registration to secure War Ration Book 2, embracing the point system, will take place at schools throughout Seminole County from 9:00 A. M. to 4:00 P. M. on Monday Feb. 22, according to A. H. Peterson, secretary of the Price and Rationing Board.

By agreement with Supt. T. W. Lawton, all school classes will be dismissed on this date and principal and teachers will take care of the registration.

This plan was decided at a meeting between Mr. Peterson and Supt. Lawton, Mrs. A. W. Knox, chairman of Home and Community Service of the Seminole County Defense Council, and Mrs. James Moughton, block chief of Seminole County.

"It is hoped that all registration will be completed by this date," Mr. Peterson stated, "but in case this cannot be accomplished, teachers will be requested to register the extra names at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon during the several days following."

The following instructions were issued by Mr. Peterson, which, he stated, must be observed by those making registration:

1—Only one person should register for each family.

2—Ration books No. 1 (sugar and coffee books) representing EVERY member of the family MUST be brought for checking, otherwise the new books cannot be issued.

3—A written report, either on an official declaration form, or an informal newspaper clipping of the form, must be made of how many cans, jars or bottles of eight ounce variety of berries, cherries, cranberries, grapefruit and juice, grape juice and fruits for salads and cocktails, and all other canned and bottled fruits and juices and combinations.

4—At a later date the OPA is expected to make known a certain allowance of cans of food that may be kept on hand, and the declaration of cans will be that which is in excess of this amount.

The following tanks were conferred by Major Wiley: first lieutenant, John W. Myles, Jr.; first sergeant, Porter Lansing; staff sergeant, Byrd J. Goode; sergeant, James Robson, Jr.; corporal, William H. Ferritt; corporal, Vivian A. Speer.

Captain John Galloway presented the promotions to each of the men.

Drill consisted of general instruction and practice of the informal guard duty and the use of men in the troop platoons. Kenneth Barinas was accepted as the newest recruit.

Babies, Adults Will Get Same Amount Of Meat

New Rationing Will Probably Start About March 28

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—OPA officials announced that babies, children and adults all will get the same meat allowance when rationing starts, probably about March 28.

Officials explained they could not find a workable plan of grading meat rations according to age, and the only alternative was to deny meat to small children. That wouldn't do, they said, because the parents would then have to divide their rations with their children, particularly teething babies. Under the present plans, parents will in effect get extra allotments.

R. A. F. Aircraft Hit Axis Targets In Burma Valley

NEW DELHI, Feb. 2. (AP)—R. A. F. planes have attacked enemy targets along a 200-mile stretch of the Northern Irrawaddy Valley in Burma, damaging storehouses, river steamers and railroads, a communication reported Thursday.

The attacks were carried out roughly between Kyalikthin, in Central Burma, and Chank. At the same time Hurricane fighters destroyed railroads, Magyichang and Blackwater, situated in a fire in two villages in the Akyah district.

Last night, the communists said, bombers raided the Japanese air base in Central Burma while enemy planes retaliated with a weak attack on Allied positions in the Rangoon area.

The continuing widespread raids included the Akyah air base in Burma. Yesterday's communists told of United States B-24 bombers attacking Rangoon, Mandalay, Prome, Akyah and other cities.

U.S. Sub Crew Returns Home—Sank 8 Jap Ships

BEWHISKERED GUN CREW of U.S. sub is pictured after it returned with their war vessel to an overhauling job after a successful South Pacific patrol. They found "Old Betty" on deck, a bit rusty, but still able to back plenty of bad news. The eight Japanese flags hoisted on the conning tower show that the sub sank 1 warships and 7 merchantmen.
