

CAR BURNING OIL?

Engineer's Discovery Stops it Quick

Without A Cent For Mechanical Repairs!

If your car is using too much oil—if it is sluggish, hard to start, slow on pickup, lacks pep and power—you are paying good money for oil that's burning up in your engine instead of providing lubrication. Why? Because your engine is leaking. Friction has worn a gap between pistons and cylinder wall. Oil is pumping up into the combustion chamber, fouling your motor with carbon. Gas is exploding down through this gap, going to waste.

SAVE $50 TO $150 REPAIR BILL

Before you spend $50.00 to $150.00 for an engine overhaul, read how you can fix that leaky engine yourself, in just a few minutes, without buying a single new part, without even taking your engine down. It's almost as easy as squeezing toothpaste or shaving cream out of a tube, thanks to the discovery of a new miracle substance called Power Seal. This revolutionary, new compound combines the lubricating qualities of Moly, the "greasy" wonder metal, with the leak-sealing properties of Vermiculite, the mineral product whose particles expand under heat. (Up to 30 times original size.)

Just squeeze Power-Seal out of the tube into your motor's cylinders through the spark plug openings. It will spread over pistons, piston rings and cylinder walls as your engine runs and it will PLATE every surface with a smooth, shiny, metallic film that won't come off! No amount of pressure can scrape it off. No amount of heat can break it down. It fills the cracks, scratches and scorings caused by engine wear. It closes the gap between worn piston rings and cylinders with an automatic self-expanding seal that stops oil pumping, stops gas blow-by and restores compression. No more piston slapping; no more engine knocks. You get more power, speed, mileage.

This genuine plating is self-lubricating too for Moly, the greasy metal lubricant, reduces friction as nothing else can! It is the only lubricant indestructible enough to be used in U. S. atomic energy plants and jet engines. It never drains down, never leaves your engine dry. Even after your car has been standing for weeks, even in coldest weather, you can start it in a flash, because the lubrication is in the metal itself. That's why you'll need amazingly little oil; you'll get hundreds, even thousands of more miles per quart.

TRY IT FREE!

You don't risk a penny. Prove to yourself that Power-Seal will make your car run like new. Put it in your engine on 30 days' Free Trial. If you are not getting better performance out of your car than you thought possible—if you have not stopped oil burning and have not increased gas mileage—return the empty tube and get your money back in full. Power-Seal is absolutely harmless; it cannot hurt the finest car in any way. It can only preserve and protect your motor.

POWER SEAL MAKES WORN OUT TAXI ENGINE RUN LIKE NEW
Here are the Test Engineer's notarized figures showing the sensational increase in compression obtained in a 1930 De Soto taxi that had run for 93,086 miles. Just one POWER SEAL injection increased pep and power, reduced gas consumption, cut oil burning nearly 50%.

	Cyl. 1	Cyl. 2	Cyl. 3	Cyl. 4	Cyl. 5	Cyl. 6
BEFORE	90 lbs.	90 lbs.	105 lbs.	90 lbs.	80 lbs.	100 lbs.
AFTER	115 lbs.	115 lbs.	117 lbs.	115 lbs.	115 lbs.	115 lbs.

"We simply inserted the POWER SEAL per instructions and made no other repairs or adjustments. Compression readings were taken before and after and showed a big improvement in both cars. As a result the engine gained a lot more pick-up and power which was especially noticeable on hills. What impressed us most was the sharp reduction in oil consumption. In one cab, we've actually been saving a quart a day and figure we have saved $11.20 on oil alone since the POWER SEAL was applied a month ago. In the other cab, oil consumption was cut practically in half. We have also been getting better gas mileage. All in all, POWER SEAL turned out to be just about the best investment we ever made. It paid for itself in two weeks and has been saving money for us ever since, to say nothing of postponing the cost of major overhauls that would have run into real money." Town Taxi, Douglaston, N. Y.

20th Anniversary Is Being Observed By First Federal

Howard Faville, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, now observing its twentieth anniversary, is serving his second term as chief executive officer. He moved into the office in the election of January 1937.

In the 20 years of operation of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, only four men have served as its president, the records reveal. These four are Frank Evans, George D. Bishop, E. W. Harper and Howard Faville.

When the association was formed in November, 1931, the board of directors, elected Frank Evans as president, for this executive officer, elected Lake Mary, had been one of the moving forces to set the firm under way. Evans served until February, 1937, when the demands of his chronic manufacturing business in the North compelled him to resign.

Commercial Survey Underway

Water Billings Are Delayed

Following completion of a month's billing for the new City sewer service charges, City Manager Warren E. Knowles today says computations came within $12.78 of the actual amount assessed.

The charges have been a hot issue in the City of late, particularly among commercial sewer users.

As a result of the trouble caused among commercial users, a surcharge on bills of commercial users has been levied to offset any relief which might be obtained in the near future.

Under the plan set up by the City, the City would be charged for the sewer service charges. The City would be charged for the sewer service charges. The City would be charged for the sewer service charges.

The Taming of Carney Wilde

by BART SPICER

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX
OUR CAR driver pulled up in front of a tall gate set in a stretch of solid wooden fence. At the gate was a wire loop, apparently attached to a bell that would ring inside. Grodnik groaned when he squirmed out.

"Just those six names, eh, Carney?"
I nodded at the bell and nodded to Grodnik. Just those six. Later the remaining eight names.

"I guess I ain't a man of great faith, Carney," Grodnik sighed. "What say we knock off?"
"One more," I said. "We haven't got anything else to do with our time." I turned forward and nudged the hat out for the driver to see. "Which is the closest to where we are now?"

The driver ran his finger down the list. He stopped and pointed a gold-tipped grin. "That's the first across the street," he said. "Up a door or two."

Grodnik sighed deeply. He pushed down the latch and got out on his side, moving stiffly and pigging his feet with extreme care. I followed him to a red brick apartment building and we went up a flight of granite steps.

"What's this name?"
"Patton," I read from the list. "L. Patton."
"First door east," Grodnik pointed at the mailbox. He pushed open the outer door and clumped tiredly down the bare echoing hallway. His hand was raised to knock when I nudged his shoulder, mentioning for him to get his gun handy. I slipped mine into my jacket pocket and clicked off the safety. Grodnik followed suit. Then he tapped at the door with his left hand, a private, secretive act at top.

"Inside we could hear slippers feet crossing to the door. 'Who is it?' a muffled voice asked. Grodnik grinned at me. I shrugged.

"Landlord, Mr. Patton," he said in a pleasant tone. "Just got a . . ." He finished with an indistinct murmur.

The door was unlocked, and skillfully Grodnik shoved it wide and blocked it with a wide shoe.

Stewart fired at him through a newspaper he held in his right hand. Grodnik ducked to one knee, shooting through his pocket. I hauled my gun free, leaned in over him, trying to get a clear shot. Stewart fired wildly, three spiteful, scolding shots with that silly air I thought. He ran backwards, firing in wild frenzy. And Grodnik knocked him over with one deliberately aimed shot.

Stewart stared stiff-fingered at the edge of a door, lurched, supported only by that tight grip. Then he crumpled to the dusty carpet. His hair was dyed almost the same color as the floor.

The 22 counted from his limp hand. Six shots. The room was changed against a chair. I crossed the room and picked it up. I straightened to look at a gaudy picture hanging near a grimy old studio couch. It was a black velvet jacket and the screaming scarlet shirt and plaid of the Royal Stuart Isarian.

"It had to be that," I said in a strained tone. "Is he dead?"
He was dead.
An excited babel of jittersy voices sifted in from the hallway. Grodnik straightened from Stewart's sprawled body, muttered something inaudible and tucked his gun away on his hip. He got out his badge folder, lifted out the gold buzzer and pinned it to his lapel in clear sight. Then he pulled open the door and went out. The voice outside ran down to nothing like an unwound clock.

Amidst, I felt the thin cloth of Stewart's Scottish costume. The tunic was cheap, woman's dress fabric, the worst sticky cotton velvet that could never be washed or cleaned without falling apart. I sat on the arm of a chair and looked at the belt.

That was the clue. The Stuart costume would bring Stewart and his girl Mary together.
But fourteen other people had rented Stuart kilts. And there were bound to be others in town who would wear the same thing. Day. What made Stewart's rented costume distinctive enough to be a clear signal to his girl?

Nothing in the hanging tunic told me anything. I glanced around the small sitting room. Except for a pack of cigarettes beside the chair and a small stack of magazines, there wasn't a thing that hadn't been in place. I peered down a short corridor. On one side a peep door led to a tiny cell of a bedroom with an unmade bed in the far corner. On the other side, a bathroom. And at the other end of the hall was a small stove fitted as a kitchen with a gas burner, a wooden table and a tin sink. A bachelor apartment. I fished back a weak turban, including a coffee pot, a saucer and two cracked cups. Two weeks in a place like that would send anyone running to get married—and fast.

I stood to test the joint apart and found the money, but I knew better than to touch anything. I stayed where I was and waited for Grodnik to bring the local police. Grodnik was a prominent member of the fraternity and even in New Orleans, he rated the full treatment. The chief of police came in with him, followed by a five-man crew, one of them a representative of the FBI. All of them were a bit morose.

The investigation of Stewart's death was perfunctory. Because of Grodnik, the chief would probably have skipped even an inquest, except for Grodnik's insistence. What everybody was concerned about was the $200,000 and they tore at the apartment, ripping into everything.

Grodnik bent down to Stewart again and began to strip his pockets. The boy's head lay still and serene against the floor, his profile sharp and delicate like the head on a Greek medallion. His dark hair was a strange contrast against his blond skin. He hadn't shaved today and there was a pale golden stubble along his jawline. He looked to be peacefully asleep, his cheeks a little open, as a child sleep. But there was a burnt blue hole just in front of his ear. That was where Grodnik's slug had entered.

Grodnik pulled out the usual stuff, glanced at it casually and passed it to me. Stewart's wallet still had his honest identification in it. And in his shirt pocket were three letters from his girl, sent to Stewart at his Philadelphia address. Grodnik relayed a handful of loose change, two handkerchiefs and a keyring to me. Then he found a flat leather case in Stewart's hip pocket. Grodnik snapped it open, grunted thoughtfully and held it up.

The case was lined with violet velvet and pinned inside was a big silver locket, round and flat like a saucer and almost as large. In its center was a fat, roughly faceted topaz, and around the stone were ranged several smaller ones in concentric circles. There was something familiar about it but until the chief took the case out of my hands, I couldn't remember. Then I thought of a picture I'd seen of a man with a plaid over his shoulder and pinned securely with large jeweled brooch like with one Stewart had carried in his pocket.

"Junk," the chief snorted. "This junker didn't sink any real money in that piece."
Grodnik smiled without flinching. "Yeah," I said positively. "That's the signal to the girl. The rest of the costume could be duplicated, but I'm betting this thing is a family piece."
"Call these catenagrams, I think," Grodnik said. "Sure, that's it. Has to be it." He rose stiffly and dusted his fingers.

Gift Suggestions Given For Soldiers Serving Overseas

What are you sending your soldier overseas for Christmas? "The American Forces Network keeps soldiers supplied with good programs, but we've got to have radios to tune in on them."
"Gifts are fine," adds Pfc. James Clayton of Springfield, Ohio. "But there's nothing like a letter." Clayton, a mail clerk, says: "It's no fault that mail is essential to high morale. When a man doesn't get a letter for several days, and I tell him once again there's no mail for him, I see a change come into his eyes. If his parents and friends could see that look just once—they'd write him every day."

In the Far East where Americans are stationed, Christmas giving will be a two-way street—with perhaps most of the traffic moving toward the United States. More than 6½ million dollars in gift merchandise is going to be made available to soldier shoppers in post exchanges in Korea, Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. And if next seasons are any indication, most of that will be grabbed up by customers before the Nov. 15 deadline for shipping to the states.

Service men will have a chance to buy over the counter at the post exchanges and through an elaborate mail order system set up by the Army. Catalogs and mail order kits have been distributed to units in outlying areas. In Korea some 3,500 Christmas trees will be placed on sale for $15, plus the usual lights and decorations.

The Far Eastern GI also will be able to buy many lavish gifts for himself—at a considerable reduction from prices at home. So the Army advises relatives and friends not to bother sending cameras, watches and radios. Chances are, the Far East serviceman has two or three already.

The home folks can't give the overseas serviceman the present he wants most—a one-way trip to the United States. But personal items like slippers, robes, sporting equipment, sports shirts, comfortable loafers and good pipes are always in demand, especially in Korea.

And don't forget. Packages must be on their way from the United States by Nov. 25 if by air and by Nov. 15 if by the normal sea route. Air parcels must not exceed two pounds and a total of 30 inches length and girth—about the size of a shoebox. Surface parcels are limited to 70 pounds and a total length and girth of 108 inches—equal to the size of a foot locker.

Forest Service Protects County Wooded Areas

The Florida Forest Service in Seminole County performs many valued services to the residents throughout the county. They are on fire call 24 hours each day. A resident may call their towers collect without charge for their services.

To assist in this project are head dispatcher George Otto at the Longwood tower, and as his assistant, Mrs. Otto. At the Chuluota tower may be found Mrs. M. E. Parsons ready to lend help. There are four rangers also on duty in the county. They are: Joe (Ismay), assistant county ranger; Wilbur Tymer, assistant ranger; Monroe Parsons, tractor operator; and Sterling Galloway, assistant tractor operator.

The Florida Forest Service will give a complete report of each fire that they have put out, the exact location, number of acres, how the fire started, and the time required to extinguish the fire.

Anyone wishing to have any acreage burned, having a fire, may call the following number collect that is closest to your location. Longwood tower—Winter Park 28-2048; ranger base—Sanford 199-W or the Seminole tower at Chuluota—Oviedo 441.

Japanese Seek Buried Treasure Of Old "Napoleon Of Nippon"

TOKYO.—A fantastic treasure of 60 million dollars in gold bars, reputedly buried in Japanese mines by a warlord who sacked Korea in the 16th century, was cited yesterday as Japan's best hope for prosperity without American aid.

If there is such a treasure. The newspaper Sanjyo Keizai today said recently discovered documents, certified as ancient and authentic by historians, tell of the treasure buried in a deserted silver mine near the central Japan industrial city of Osaka.

It said the Sumitomo Metal Mining Co. would hunt the gold. Kanichiro Kamei, an obscure former legislator, is credited with finding the documents. They tell the final chapter in the saga of Toyotomi Hideyoshi, a powerful warlord who invaded Korea in 1592.

Hideyoshi, often called the "Napoleon of Japan," overran the southern half of Korea in a few months. But six years later the Hillsborough River State Park, near Zephyrhills in the Tampa Bay area, took its name from the Earl of Hillsborough who was given large land grants in this section of Florida during the English occupation.

The splendid progress made by Florida's medical profession is a tribute to our American way... our freedom to think, to seek scientific truth, to progress. Free of bureaucracy and "socialized medicine," America sets an example for all the world in medical care, in its modern hospitals, in a constantly greater expectancy of a long and healthful life.

America leads in electric power, too. Keeping it that way calls for partnership and cooperation between electric companies, local and federal agencies. With governments and industry joining forces, our world-wide industrial supremacy becomes vastly more secure.

Our Company is pushing ahead on the greatest expansion program in its history... pledged to help make our State, our Nation a better, happier place in which to work and live.

20th ANNIVERSARY

Progress is not a one man job—it is the concerted drive of many. It is the striving for those things we want, the sacrificing and saving to provide additional resources for the future.

The challenge of rendering a community service that prompted the organization of this Association 20 years ago is still a vital force directing the efforts of the staff and the directors alike.

To Savers we recognize our first responsibility of safety for their savings and second, to provide as much in earnings as is consistent with security.

To Borrowers we know we must make funds available with which to buy, improve or build homes—the homes YOU want in the locations of YOUR choice. We know, too, that the loans must cost as little as possible consistent with the money market and the risk involved.

The growth of this Association is one measure of success in fulfilling these obligations and of your increasing confidence in an important element in the economy of the area we serve. But in observing this twentieth year of our growth, we rejoice especially in the fact our community is growing and that we have played a part in ITS progress.

TO ALL OUR MANY FRIENDS we sincerely say "THANK YOU" for believing in us and our policies and sharing with us the faith in the future of our community.

Florida Press Association Observes 75th Anniversary At Silver Springs

Silver Springs rolled out the red carpet for the Florida Press Association last weekend, showing delegates a good time upon the organization's observance of its 75th anniversary.

This tourist attraction, for a person who had not seen it before, proved to be even larger and better than expected. Silver Springs actually is composed of several attractions—slight-seeing boats, Ross Allen's reptile show, Vernon Jarvis' Carriage Cavalcade, Tommy Bartlett's deer show and accompanying restaurant and concessions.

In glass-bottomed boats, visitors are afforded a look into the clear, underwater world at the springs, with its rock formations. And talk about fish—at one point it was impossible to see the bottom of the springs because of a multitude of cat fish.

Other boats are equipped with underwater port holes which afford visitors another view of the subterranean world.

The jungle cruise along Silver River is quite enjoyable. Along the banks may be seen water birds and the Springs' monkeys, which beg food from the passing excursion boats.

Shown at the Carriage Cavalcade are buggies and carriages of a bygone era, including a "black maria" and a steam fire engine; plus old automobiles, including a Brush, a Maxwell, a Stanley Steamer, a Rolls Royce and earlier models of other modern-day cars. W. M. "Shorty" Davidson, who is a partner in the Springs' venture with W. C. Ray Jr., during a speech at the dinner Saturday night, jokingly termed the attraction as the "mud hole."

Continuing in the same joking vein, he

Present May Not Match Memories

SPA, Belgium (AP)—When you return in peacetime to a place you knew 10 years before in war, there is often a big emotional letdown. The small landmarks you thought you'd never forget can no longer be found. The landscape looks different. The people seem different, too. They often do not want to be reminded of the past, and you have an uneasy feeling of being lost in time. You are a stranger to the quiet present, a phantom echo from a noisy period better forgotten.

But it wasn't that way at all coming back for luncheon at the Hotel du Portugal here, which 10 years ago was home to some 40 or 50 war correspondents of the American 1st Army.

Mrs. Maria Thonart, widow of the owner of the hotel and her son, Robert, gave me a warm welcome. So did Alice, the chambermaid, whose boast for 25 years has been she never lost a shirt.

"Things have improved and now the world has come again to us," said Mrs. Thonart. "Life has resumed. We are normal again."

Spa, now back to its prewar population of 9,000, is one of Europe's most famous watering places. Members of nobility, including the great King Charles II of England, over the centuries came here to enjoy its bath and mineral springs. It was from here that the Kaiser Wilhelm fled to Dornum at the end of the first World War.

And when the American 1st Army came here in September 1914 it promptly moved into the old German headquarters in the Hotel Britannique. The correspondents then took over the Hotel du Portugal and gay and sad times we had here. It is the best remembered press center of the European campaign.

The weather was grim; the battles were grimmer. Several correspondents were killed in action during our stay here, several wounded. The hardships were many, but it was a time of tremendous vitality. The possibility that a sudden break might lead to a quick end to the war gave each daily trip to the front an air of expectancy.

After writing their dispatches, the correspondents usually celebrated the evenings in a big double room, Chambre Six. Decorated with an enormous captured Nazi flag, it soon became a hangout for generals, visiting celebrities and field cross girls, as well as newspapermen. Some of the greatest campaigns of the winter were fought out in Chambre Six or at least began there. Campaigns Adolf Hitler never even heard of.

Mrs. Thonart, recalling the varied history of Chambre Six then invited me to go up to the second floor for a look at it. I opened the door, and a silence I could with the echoes of a vanished time flooded over me. The red decor of the room had been retained, but a bathroom had been added, cutting the chamber almost in half. There was no Nazi flag on the wall, although I looked—half expecting it would be there.

When I came back down the stairs, Mrs. Thonart looked up with a gentle smile, and said: "Chambre Six—it is different?"

"Yes, it is different." She mentioned some of her correspondents, including Ernest Hemingway and Ernest Hemingway, Of the dead we did not speak aloud, nor had we need to. But suddenly, caught by her own memories, Mrs. Thonart began to weep.

When it was time to go, she poured us an aperitif, and said "They were the best days of a bad time."

Does Your Daily Diet Have Enough Protein?

WITH everyone so diet-conscious these days, I think a word about reducing diets is in order.

Rather than tell you what you shouldn't eat, I'm going to tell you what you should eat, or, at least, what the foods you eat should contain.

Vital Protein Content
Your reducing diet must include sufficient high-value or complete proteins. You don't want vital body tissues being used up for protein your foods fail to supply. Meat, poultry, fish, milk and eggs have valuable protein content.

If you deplete your protein supply, you may suffer from nervousness and weakness, become easily tired and eventually break down completely.

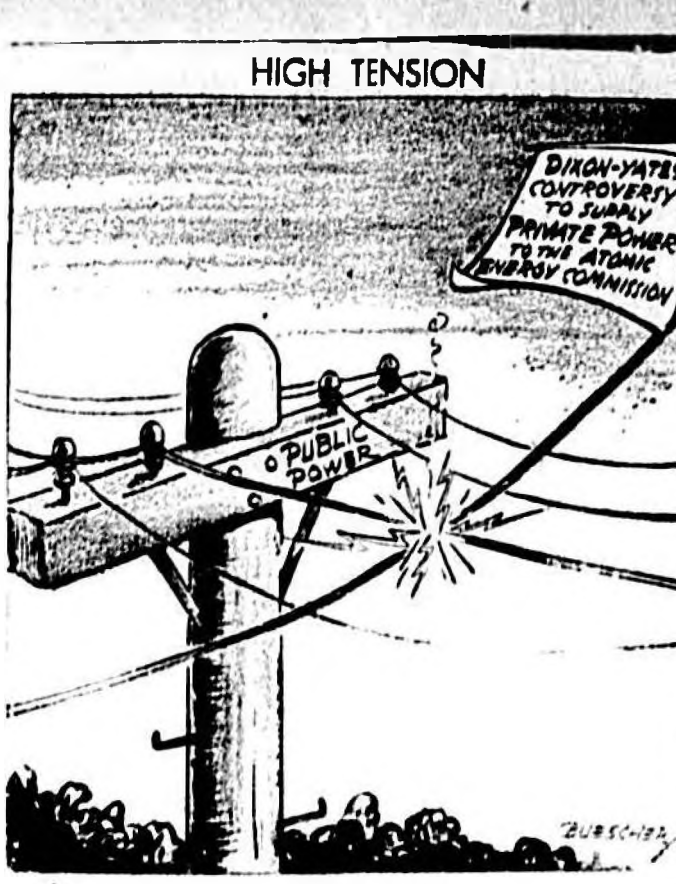

Remembering the Diet
Your diet should also contain sufficient supplies of all necessary vitamins and minerals, and your doctor might advise you to supplement your diet with additional vitamins and minerals in capsule, tablet or liquid form.

Don't Skip Meals
Skipping meals, of course, is not sound dieting. Actually, you should learn proper eating habits while dieting, so you won't put on that unwanted weight again after the diet has been completed.

Thus, you see, dieting is serious business. If you want to lose weight, lose it. But be sure you aren't robbing your body of vital supplies while doing so.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. M. R.: How can I get rid of scabies?
Answer: Scabies is a skin infestation produced by the itch mite. After a thorough bath with hot water and soap, you should apply sulfur ointment.

An emulsion containing DOT and honey balsams, used under the physician's direction, may also be helpful.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I flung down an elevated train at 17th street the other day and took a rattly trip down to the Village, where, in the heart of Ninth street, crisscrossed shops and lamp stores, I found Dawn Powell in an extremely comfortable apartment and put the question to her: Why does the New Yorker grow impatient with any other town when he is in it in its streets?

"I just happen to have what I think is an answer for you," Miss Powell, cutting up on the sofa like a fawn, said. "Here in Manhattan, everybody plays for keeps. Once you get used to playing rough, it's hard to go back to just making motions again."

I figured I was asking the right person. Miss Powell is the most able, ablest, people kind of look-down there I know. "The Wicked Devil" who so often uses New York settings for her books. Further, she and her husband, an adman (that seems to make me respect-able), people kind of look-down there I know when I say I'm a writer, and I hurriedly assure them loudly that my husband is in advertising, I am a member of the unofficial small club of novelists who forever are investigating New York—this Sunday the streets of Throg's Neck; next Saturday the boulevards of Brooklyn and so on. A small, shifty jolly woman, Miss Powell now is a professional New Yorker—she wriggles unceasingly when out of town.

"Just a little while ago," she said, "I went back to my native Ohio. I come from some place around, oh, the center of it and visited relatives, and after three days it got a little tough. They're lovely people and were perfectly nice to me, but life is so much added, cutting the chamber almost in half. There was no Nazi flag on the wall, although I looked—half expecting it would be there."

When I came back down the stairs, Mrs. Thonart looked up with a gentle smile, and said: "Chambre Six—it is different?" "Yes, it is different."

She mentioned some of her correspondents, including Ernest Hemingway and Ernest Hemingway, Of the dead we did not speak aloud, nor had we need to. But suddenly, caught by her own memories, Mrs. Thonart began to weep.

McCarthy Says Will Continue Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even if Senate Republicans work out a compromise to save Sen. McCarthy from censure—and that may not be possible—he will probably continue making the Eisenhower administration for Communists.

He has already spent four profitable years, from the standpoint of his personal eminence, digging into and at officials and employees of the executive branch of the government.

He did it for two years while the Democrats ran that branch.

Lake Mary

By VIRGINIA P. ANDERSON
Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gleason accompanied his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morrow on a weekend trip to Miami and Key West, returning through the Lake Okechobee district.

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Anderson spent Tuesday in Orlando. Mrs. Margaret Atkinson of San Francisco, Calif., was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Bremer at their Banana Lake home. Mr. Atkinson was one of the guests when Mr. Bremer had an orchestra for Paramount.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Skewes were Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Benton of Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Benton is a brother of the late Harry H. Benton, resident of Lake Mary. The Perry Bentons recently moved to Deland where they will make their future home.

Word has been received of the critical illness of Clifford Malosh of Lake, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Malosh are friends of the L. M. Frishys and have spent the last two winters in Lake Mary. They own property here and had hoped to build on it this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Macklin of Michigan were recent guests of their friend, J. P. Uren.

Mrs. William Hines, who has been the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beckley, has returned to Mobile, Alabama, where she makes her home with a sister.

Mrs. Joan Sphibum Green and her daughter, Carol Lynn, have left the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital and are at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sphibum.

Mrs. James M. Thompson, president of the Southwest Fraternity, attended the Institute for the Information of Foreign Mission Leaders in the Synod held Nov. 10, 11 and 12, at the Leesburg conference ground.

Wednesday evening, the Business Women's Circle of the Presbyterian church held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. P. D. Anderson.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. James M. Thompson, Mrs. P. D. Fowler, secretary, presided. Mrs. H. M. Gleason led the devotions. It was reported that the group had over $64 in its treasury.

Mrs. Anderson made a report of the general committee meeting wherein two members from each of the church organizations for mutual plans for the church year to be held Dec. 3. Discussion of items to be donated for the sale was carried on.

The playwater party, to be sponsored by the Business Women at the Chamber of Commerce Nov. 16, was discussed and the refreshment items donated by various members. It was agreed that each member would invite at least one other person.

At the conclusion of the business session, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Fowler served fruit sherbert, cake, coffee and fruit juice and green and white mint.

Mrs. Walter L. Piper, Mrs. F. G. Lee, Mrs. H. M. Gleason, Mrs. H. M. Cochran and to Rev. L. W. Scott and Walter L. Piper who had met with Mr. Anderson.

Veterans Day callers on Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Anderson were her aunt, Mrs. Louise P. Wilson and cousin, Mrs. J. V. Richards, both of Enterprise.

Without losing stride, he continued the next two years while President Eisenhower controlled it. And Eisenhower will boss it another two years.

McCarthy has said, win or lose on censure, he will go on with his anti-Communist campaign. So, judging from the direction his attentions took in the past, the Eisenhower administration seems his logical hunting ground.

Besides, the executive branch of the government has an immensely greater number of employees than either the legislative or judicial branches and therefore offers a wider field.

Yet, no Republican senator who votes to censure McCarthy can ignore the political implications.

Censure would be an outgrowth of a series of events put in motion earlier this year when the Eisenhower administration took a stand against the investigation—or the kind of investigation—McCarthy was making of the Army.

He did not show any great concern for harmony last year when he tore into the Eisenhower administration's handling of Communists and communism. There's no reason to believe he'd show any more concern in the future, censure or no censure.

His position has always been that he doesn't play politics in looking for Communists.

Nevertheless, he has a large following—how large and how effective is not known. It did not appear decisive in two states—Illinois and New Jersey—where he most obviously tried to make his influence felt in the last election.

In a tight 1956 election, the McCarthy following, if angered by the treatment given him during the Eisenhower administration, could conceivably mean the difference between victory and defeat for the Republican party.

But how? That's not an easy one. McCarthy's admirers could hardly vote Democratic since he has made the Democrats his main target, calling them the "party of treason." If they stayed home from the polls, they'd be helping the Democrats.

They could form a third party, but no one is seriously suggesting that now. McCarthy and his friends, provided he was still a force and had a following, could probably make their weight felt most at the Republican National Convention in 1956 if Eisenhower didn't run again.

Eisenhower's withdrawal would leave a party vacuum into which the McCarthy team could move as a force, if not the dominant force, in picking the party candidate and shaping the party platform.

Instead of being on the defensive when the Senate censure debate began, McCarthy went on the attack and stayed there. To suggestions he might get off the hook by apologizing for his conduct, he said he would apologize for nothing.

Study Committee Being Formed For Possible Girl Scout Council

The growth of Girl Scouting in this area resulted in the formation of a study committee to explore the possibility of organizing a Girl Scout Council to serve Seminole, Orange, Brevard, and Osceola Counties.

Mrs. Frank Scott of Sanford and Mrs. J. W. Scott of Lake Mary are serving as members of the study committee which is headed by Mrs. Gary A. Stearn Jr. of Orlando. Mrs. Gretchen L. Kidd, a member of the National Girl Scout of the U.S.A., will visit here Nov. 18 to assist in presenting plans for council organization at a meeting of interested citizens in this community. The meeting will be at the Episcopal Parish House at 8 p.m. with Mrs. E. D. Scott presiding.

Mrs. Kidd explained that the study committee has done an outstanding job of surveying needs and making a plan for bringing the Girl Scout program to a community where girls in this area. "The increased population in recent years points to the need for greater facilities, more training opportunities, and the many advantages which a pooling of resources might bring," says Mrs. Kidd. "The group leaders who have given such wonderful service deserve all the assistance possible," she continued, and the national organization plans to help them adjust the cooperation and support of their community.

The agenda for the meeting on Nov. 18 will include the following: report on work of the study committee by Mrs. Gary A. Stearn Jr.; review of the National Organization plan for council coverage by Mrs. Robert Moulton, a member of the Juliette Low regional committee; and presentations of plans for training, camping, and other services which a Girl Scout Council could render the girls of Seminole, Orange, Brevard, and Osceola counties.

Other out of town members of the study committee participating in the program will include Mrs. Theodore Grant, of the Girl Scout Council in Orlando; Mrs. Bob Ayres, executive secretary of the Osceola Council; Mr. Ralph Hadley, president of the Winter Park and Lake County Council; Mrs. J. Don Haggerty, past president of the Winter Park Council; Mrs. Guy C. Gage, executive secretary of the Ralph J. Baker Council; and Mr. Ralph J. Baker, president of the Winter Park Council.

Stephen Rockwell of Longwood had the third highest average while Joseph Wolfe of Orlando placed fourth.

Leather on Hand for Yuletide Glamour

You may be wearing a new Paris fashion for the Christmas holidays, festive, or perhaps you're making that costume from last year. In either event, leading fashion authorities have a good tip on how to achieve that elegant and well-groomed look. They say fine leather gloves provide a touch of luxury and convey a feeling of elegance that can make or mar your appearance. This winter there is a new crop of gloves in new leather textures and colors, from butter-soft, distinctively grained pigskin to silky-thin cashmere. The season's glove leather colors are warm and glowing, and impart a festive touch to dark, subdued ready-to-wear colors. Leather gloves range in color spectrum from polished pine and golden wheat to brilliant shock colors like clove, green and purple. To be in the fashion forefront this winter, you'll wear your leather gloves in lengths from brief to luxurious long.

Perfect Fudge Made New Way

Trudy, a young girl, has a high opinion of her own recipe for fudge. "I've tried many different recipes, but this is the best," she says. "It's so easy to make and it tastes so good." The recipe is simple and uses common ingredients. Trudy's fudge is made with butter, sugar, and cocoa powder. She says that the key to making perfect fudge is to use good quality ingredients and to follow the recipe carefully. "I've made this fudge for my friends and they all love it," she says. "It's the perfect treat for the holidays." The recipe is as follows: 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup cocoa powder, and 1/2 cup milk. Melt the butter and sugar together, then add the cocoa powder and milk. Stir until the mixture is smooth and thick. Pour into a greased pan and let it set for 24 hours. Cut into squares and enjoy!

Magnolia Circle Tours Gardens Of Mrs. Russell

The Magnolia Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. W. K. McRoberts with Mrs. P. O. Hart as co-hostess. After refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served the business meeting was opened by Mrs. Charles Meeks, vice chairman with a few minutes of silent prayer for the chairman Mrs. J. E. Nichols, who is in the hospital, and the Lord's Prayer was prayed by all.

After the business meeting members went to Mrs. Jack Russell's home for a tour of her gardens. Mrs. Russell presented each member with a philodendron and various other cuttings.

Those attending were Mrs. Leslie Clark, Mrs. L. P. Hagan, Mrs. P. O. Hart, Mrs. R. W. Herron, Mrs. W. E. Kirehuff Jr., Mrs. W. K. McRoberts, Mrs. F. D. Leske, Mrs. Charles Meeks, Mrs. J. W. Messier, Mrs. D. B. Middleton, Mrs. Bralley Odham, Mrs. Fred Perkins, and Mrs. Harry Robson.

Gingham Dance Well Attended

The publicity chairman of the Sanford USO reported this morning that a good turnout enjoyed the gingham dance at the Navy Hotel Saturday evening.

Hot coffee and cookies were served to the guests by Mrs. Troy Ray, senior hostess from the Pilot Club, and junior hostess Miss Susie McLaughlin.

Add mint extract and ground sweet chocolate to vanilla cookies for something deliciously different or frost vanilla cookies with mint-flavored chocolate frosting.

Add a little lemon juice and sugar to tomato juice when you are serving it as a first course.

Another good thing about this recipe is that it makes a lot of fudge, not just a small pan of it. You can make a little bit of fudge to give to your friends, and this recipe with its generous proportion and well makes it possible to carry it to have good spread pieces. As a special of the recipe, I have everyone will want it. Don't forget when making fudge to scrape the sides of the pan, or you are roasting the mix and you will not have sugar or butter make a grainy texture.

Krider Is Reelected Head Of FSL

Jax Beach Presents Question

DELAND, Fla. — Florida State League directors yesterday re-elected John Krider of Sanford president and secretary-treasurer and changed the player setup for the 1955 season.

Next year, teams will be limited to two veterans, five limited service players and nine rookies in a move to cut expenses, usually a great burden on the Class D circuit.

Teams last year had three veterans, six limited service men and seven rookies. Salary scales range downward from the veteran classification.

Krider was elected unanimously on the second ballot. In the first voting he polled four and Julian Jackson three with Gainesville abstaining.

Jack Dempsey of St. Augustine, a former league president, was named vice president succeeding Jackson.

It developed that the league has nine clubs since the Jacksonville Beach team, of which Jackson is co-owner, has not officially withdrawn.

Former Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy has a few words for Otto Graham, who caused him many anxious moments as a Northwestern football star. Leahy and Graham were brought together recently before 'Cavalcade of America' cameras for filming of 'Saturday Story' via ABC-TV and spot stations from November 9-23. Leahy introduces and narrates the program while Graham, now a Cleveland Browns star, plays himself in the story of his high-school football coach, Mark Wilson.

Sports Roundup

By GAVLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, N.Y.—We have a feeling, amounting practically to an obsession, that the track coach at Oxford University, Franz Stampfl, was talking through his topper the other day when he said to a reporter as follows:

"A year ago the four-minute mile was called 'the magic mile.' It was nothing of the sort. The four-minute mile was run four times last season and in the next few years it will be run 40 times. In 20 years I expect the record to be 3:50—possibly lower."

The Vienna-born mentor is the man who taught Roger Bannister how to run, and so must be granted a high standing in his profession. He's entitled to make predictions, too. But we are of the firm opinion that his is one time he was talking when he should have been listening.

Stampfl is not going to live long enough to see 40 four-minute miles listed in the record books. He probably will not personally ever see another mile run under that figure, since Bannister has asked to be counted out. And there never will be a 3:50 mile run by a human being without the use of afterburners.

That last statement is taking in a lot of time, but we're willing to stick with it if anyone wants to call this out and confront us with it 50 or 60 years from now. We'll even toss in the prediction that this generation will not see two men break four minutes in the same race, as Bannister and John Landy did last summer in Vancouver.

Our feeling, stated simply, is that there must be, sometime, an absolute limit to human endeavor. The fact that 32 track and field records have been broken this year, and that boys are growing bigger and stronger from eating fortified breakfast foods, does not make this any the less true. Some time it's got to stop, and we think that in the case of running the mile that point has just about been reached.

Upsets Again Rule SEC Games As Tech Cripples Crimson Tide

By MERCER BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1954 Southeastern Conference football season has been filled with upsets and oddities, but none of the unexpected developments is more surprising than the fact that Alabama has lost its once-potent scoring punch.

The Crimson Tide lost 20-0 to Georgia Tech Saturday, stretching its string of scoreless quarters to 14. Tech, Tulane and Georgia refused to let the Tide cross the goal line and Mississippi State did not allow a "Bama" score in the last half.

Not since 1916 had an Alabama team been held scoreless in three consecutive games. And, oddly, it was the same trio—Tech, Tulane and Georgia—that turned the trick back then.

It's not that Alabama has lost the knack of moving the ball—the Tide has averaged better than 250 yards in their last three games. It's just that the end zone has become No Man's Land as far as Tide ball carriers are concerned.

And to underscore the surprising turn of events, here's the way Coach Red Drew sized up his team before the season opened:

"Our team could be somewhat improved on offense and probably not as good on defense (as in 1953). Yet Bama went into the Tech game as the nation's top defensive team."

Auburn is another example of puzzling football reversal. The Plainsmen were picked as one of the powers of the conference and got off to a good start with a 45-0 rout of Chattanooga. Then, boom-boom-boom, straight losses to Florida, Kentucky and Tech.

But the Plainsmen regrouped, shelved the X and Y two-team system, and Saturday's 35-0 romp over Georgia was Auburn's fourth straight victory and fourth shut-out of the season.

Also in the realm of the unusual: In seven games Saturday involving SEC teams, six of the losers held scoreless—Tech over Bama 20-0, Auburn over Georgia 25-0, Mississippi State over Louisiana State 25-0, Mississippi over Houston 26-0, Florida over Tennessee 14-0 and Tulane over Vanderbilt 6-0. Kentucky whipped Memphis State handily but State managed one TD, bowing 37-7.

Auburn's victory over Georgia knocked the Bulldogs off the SEC pinnacle and returned Ole Miss to the top spot. Tech and Florida are tied for second. Mississippi can clinch the championship by beating Mississippi State Nov. 27. If Ole Miss loses, the winner of the Tech-Georgia game would get the title.

Half of the SEC teams—Tech, Georgia, Florida, Ole Miss, Mississippi State and Tulane—are idle this weekend, resting up for their traditional intra-state rivalries the following Saturday.

Alabama has a Friday night engagement with Miami in the Florida city. Auburn is host to Clemson, Kentucky is at Tennessee, Villanova visits Vanderbilt and LSU and Arkansas meet in Shreveport in Saturday contests.

Eleven Selected For Stetson Hatters Basketball Squad

Eleven men, including four lettermen and six freshmen, were chosen Saturday by head coach Richard B. Moreland for the varsity basketball squad of Stetson University.

The eleven were selected from those answering the first call for practice on Nov. 13. The varsity will play two games in Jacksonville during the Thanksgiving weekend in preparation for the opening of the collegiate season on Dec. 1.

The lettermen include Big Ted Cassidy of Daytona Beach, 6-9 Crumpton, both of Jacksonville, guards, and Dave Howard, Cape Girardeau, Mo. forward.

The six freshmen are Mel Gregory and Dick Lajer, both of LaGrange, Ky.; Vernon Higgs, Live Oak; Keith King, Orlando, and Jim Kitchens and John Wilson, both of Jacksonville.

Up from the junior varsity of last year is But Reynolds of Miami.

Reynolds is 6-4 as are Wilson and King. Kitchens is 6-2½, Gregory is 6; Higgs, 5-10½, and Lajer, 5-9.

Army, Navy Plan For Annual Clash

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Monday's Football Wash:

Two of the easiest jobs in college football at the moment are those listed by Joseph Cahill of West Point and John T. Cox of Annapolis, the two gentlemen who supply press, radio and television with information in support of Army and Navy athletic teams.

Both the Cadets and the Midshipmen are in seclusion at present, preparing for their annual football classic at Philadelphia Nov. 27. And the promotion necessary to build up interest in that game matches the encouragement needed by your favorite nephew to accept a chocolate soda.

Most of the Army-Navy clashes have been thrillers. But this one is a natural. The Cadets and Midshipmen have been building up for it all season with a look of mayhem in their eyes when they met mutual opponents.

Dartmouth, Penn. Duke and Columbia were the underdogs when Columbia and Penn. met the most recent victims. Army bashed Columbia 67-12 earlier and last Saturday Navy mauled the Lions 51-6—rolling up a ground net of 512 yards and a 629-yard total offense. Both were Navy records.

Penn. meanwhile, was blanked 35-0 by Army last weekend after an earlier 52-6 pasting by Navy.

And Dartmouth lost to Army 60-6 and Navy 42-7 while Duke collapsed before the Cadets 28-14 before Navy steamrollered the Blue Devils 42-7.

Krider said Jacksonville Beach has not informed the league in writing of its intentions and for the time being remains a member. Jackson, however, said several weeks ago he will not field another team.

Members who plan teams are Cocon, Daytona Beach, DeLand, Gainesville, Lakeland, Orlando, Palms and Sanford.

Administration Meets Chiefs Today For Fasron 51 Lead

First place in the Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron Fifty-One (FAS-51) Volleyball league will be at stake tomorrow afternoon at NAAS, Sanford when league-leading Administration tackles the second-place Chiefs.

Administration is leading the pack with a perfect 9-0 record while the Chiefs are close behind with 10-2. The Chiefs swept a three-game set from Supply last week while the Administration-Electronics game was postponed because of the Veterans' Day holiday.

In other games last week, Operations lost to Maintenance I and the Officers lost to Maintenance II by the same score. Electronics will play the Officers this afternoon, and the make-up game with Administration will take place on Wednesday. Maintenance I will meet Maintenance II on Wednesday also, and Thursday Operations is scheduled to meet Supply.

The league standings as of today are:

Team	W	L
Administration	9	0
Chiefs	10	2
Operations	1	1
Maintenance I	1	1
Supply	3	0
Maintenance II	1	1
Electronics	0	1
Officers	1	1

Carter, DeMarco In Return TV Bout Wednesday Night

Jimmy Carter, the return bout champion, aims for a record and a title Wednesday night when he faces lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco in a television fight in San Francisco.

The 30-year-old New Yorker lost the 135-pound crown and regained it once before. He's done the same thing often enough in non-title scraps. If he beats DeMarco—and he's favored to do so at 115 odds—Carter, of New York, will become the first lightweight champ to lose and regain the crown twice.

In May 1952 he yielded the crown to Larry Belar but took it back in October.

DeMarco, a 36-year-old Brooklynite, outlasted Carter all the way to take the title in 15 rounds in New York last March. Their return bout was twice postponed when DeMarco suffered a virus at

Senator Green Gets Third Term

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Rhode Island's 87-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green, newly re-elected to his fourth consecutive term, likes to think about becoming the first man to serve in the United States Senate at the age of 100.

"But there are plenty of other jobs to do," he says cheerfully.

"If the voters ever decide I'm too old," he blinched, momentarily taken aback. Then he wowed the ladies by reciting this jingle:

"There was a young man so bright,
He never knew when he was slighted.
He would go to a party
And eat just as heartily
As though he were really invited."

Awed by his undeniable vigor and bounce, Rhode Island voters ignore the opposition plea that Green was too old and ought to be retired for his own good.

On Nov. 2, they swept him back into office by a thumping majority over his Republican rival, Walter Sweeney, a mere youngster of 64.

Shortly before the election, in an interview at his 150-year-old home in Providence, Green was asked about rumors of a purported "deal" whereby, if re-elected, he would soon retire and Gov. Dennis Roberts of Rhode Island would take over his Senate seat.

"I hope and expect to serve out my term and I like fair warning, that doesn't commit me in any way as to what I may do in regard to a further term six years from now."

With a gleam in his eye, he added:

"If I finished two more terms, then I'd like to serve at least another year to make it 100."

Roberts apparently has few illusions that Green might step aside because of the encroachments of old age.

"We were out posing for campaign pictures at the beach a few weeks ago," Roberts recalled. "It was a chill, overcast day and the water was cold as ice."

"Sen. Green showed up wearing form-fitting swim trunks like Gorgon George, the wrestler. I was amazed at his physique. It was too cold for me but the senator stayed in the water about 25 minutes."

But some Rhode Island Democrats, impatient for Green to retire so they can move up the political ladder, are privately resentful of his long-range ambitions.

One of them, asked to comment on the senator's extraordinary vitality, inquired with gloomy sarcasm:

"What are you trying to do—prove the old boy is still alive?"

A life-long Democrat, bachelor and millionaire, Green closely resembles the late actor Roland Young in the role of "Topper." He has twinkling blue eyes and a broad Boston accent and wears gold-rimmed pince nez clipped to the bridge of a strong Roman nose. His mustache is a puff of white festooning a long upper lip.

Green is proud of his physical and mental vigor. Friends recall that a few years ago, when opera singer Rosa Ponselle asked how he kept so trim, Green astonished her with:

"Until recently, madam, I wrestled."

At home in Providence, Green lives in a huge three-story brick house, shaded by ancient elms. The house, high on a hill overlooking Narragansett Bay, has been in the Green family for five generations.

Except for a handyman-hitter, caretaker, Green lives alone in the old house during his infrequent visits away from Washington. He prepares his own breakfast—usually a slice of orange, two pieces of whole-wheat toast and a glass of milk—in the old-fashioned kitchen.

Nimble at climbing stairs, Green scours long-empty bedrooms on the lower floors and climbs to his own room at the top of the house. He sleeps in an 18th Century four-poster bed topped by a yellow canopy.

By way of accounting for his long life, Green said:

"I'm not a vegetarian. I eat anything anytime. I'm not a teetotaler either. At cocktail parties, I'll take a glass or two. It's pleasant."

"The secret of longevity is moderation. I don't get worried and don't get excited. It would take more or less of a comb to upset me."

He's even taken precautions against that possibility.

He had a bomb-proof shelter constructed beneath his 100-year-old carriage house a few years ago, but he doesn't like to say much about it.

"If the neighbors heard about it and bombs began to fall, they'd crowd me out," he said.

One of the richest men in the Senate, Green reportedly owns scads of real estate in Providence, Woonsocket and other Rhode Island towns. In addition to his law practice, he was president for 10 years of the big J. & P. Coats Thread Co. with 5,000 employees at Pawtucket, R. I., and organized the Morris (loan) Plan in his state.

"Twice governor of Rhode Island (1932-36), Green likes to recall how, in a single afternoon of "bloodless revolution," he swept out his long-entrenched Republican foes and cleared the way for his own program to reorganize the state government. Among other things, he fired the entire Republican-managed state Supreme Court.

Green won his first political spurs at 40 when he was elected to the Rhode Island Legislature in 1907.

A quarter of a century later, after repeated failures, he was elected to his first term as governor at the age of 61—a time when most men are ready to retire.

A native of Providence, Green was only 15 when he entered Brown University, a few blocks from his home on College Hill in Providence. He won a Phi Beta Kappa key at Brown, majoring in mathematics and Greek and went on to take his law degree at Harvard Law School.

known cancer specialist, Dr. Alton Ochsner: "It is frightening to speculate on the possible number of lung cancers that will develop as a result of the tremendous number of cigarettes smoked in the past two decades."

Ostman said that the cigarette-cancer scare has caused tobacco sales to dip for the first time in 21 years.

The advertising agent now is on the filtered cigarette, he said—"frank admission of the poison that waits within each 'killeless' white cylinder."

"As Seventh-day Adventists," Pastor Ostman added, "we abstain from tobacco in any form as well as liquor, but we owe it to our fellowmen to tell them why."

The minister said that the denomination's temperance department is sponsoring an educational film on the subject, which is being scheduled in high schools, colleges, and civic clubs through North America.

CHICAGO (AP)—The once-delayed Chicago run of George Bernard Shaw's play "Saint Joan" was canceled yesterday because of the continued illness of actress Jean Arthur who was to play the title role.

Miss Arthur, 46, suffered a relapse and flew to New York yesterday after a doctor ordered her to "stop working and get a complete rest of at least a month."

Pastor Hits Cigarettes

"The threat of lung cancer in smokers as recently revealed by the American Medical Association is nothing to be lightly shrugged off, warned Pastor W. J. Ostman addressing a recent morning service of the Seventh-Day Adventist church on the subject of temperance."

"Careful research has disclosed that deaths caused by cancer of the lung in the United States rose 144 per cent in the ten-year period 1938-48," the Adventist minister pointed out. "Statistics prove that there is a definite parallelism between the incidence of lung cancer and the size of cigarette sales between 1910 and 1950."
