EVERSE FOR TODAY

Under Great Things: The Lord, and serve him in all your heart; for you know great things; both of you. 1 Samuel 12:21.

Money, the next time we money it will be on the plan! Dunbar's Weekly.

Federal treasury complains: It has no surplus. The complain because they do not. Such is life.

Gov. Roosevelt shook with President Hoover this morning, we wonder if the called the latter's campaign as the Governor's "selfish in magnitude?"

Miami News points out, that owing this country $11,000,000 in war debts, payable in only $10,000,000, which to do it. But that's if the story. Besides, the amount which Europe owes us is not an addition to our wealth, but a liability.

City of Miami after from the city government. Their commission, for a while. The commission, not only not eager to have an election and carefully the names on the petition.

Black-feller is one of the very rich who are how to spend his money. He devotes his time and to making money, not even to spending it. He already has for his own use, in steam yachts, race and polo, mansions, but enough to maintain a hospital, and countless other humanitarian projects the world.

New York communists are not paid with money. When they do, they go to the whole. Recently calling upon Gov. Roosevelt, they told the government was great suffering in that he, that $100,000,000 would be given to save people from suffering throughout the winter.

The Miami Herald tells how to save the budget. Cut $1,000,000 from expenditures, make pay her war debts, and let $1,000,000,000 from a tax. It seems easy enough.

The Japanese Fault

The presentation yesterday of the Japanese statement in defense of its Manchurian policy recalls that on December 10 nearly a year ago, as a result of conflicting facts brought before the League of Nations by Japanese and Chinese delegates, a commission was appointed under the leadership of the Earl of Lytton and including in its membership General Frank B. McCoy of the United States, to study conditions in the Far East.

After months of investigation in Japan, Manchuria, and various parts of China, in which public officials, and private citizens of all factions were interviewed, the Lytton report was made public a few months ago and was hailed by everyone everywhere, with the single exception of Japan, as one of the greatest documents yet prepared in the interests of international peace.

Japan alone has held a conflicting view of the report and yesterday charged that its investigation was superficial, its program impractical of fulfillment, and its entire study already antiquated as a result of rapidly changing conditions in the Far East.

He laid special emphasis on the revolt of Panama from Colombia and U. S. acquisition of the Canal Zone. He pointed out that when Panama declared its independence from Colombia in 1903, troops were immediately dispatched to Colon to engage the revolutionists and bring Panama under control.

Yosuke Matsuoka, however, has overlooked two important factors in the comparison he has drawn. The United States was acting entirely within its treaty rights by preventing civil war between Colombia and Panama.

Japan on the other hand violated both of these treaties not only in the setting up of the independent state of Manchuria but also in the hostilities around Shanghai. It is the violation of international treaties which makes the Far Eastern episode an unpleasant background for Japan before the League of Nations.

Consider the editor! A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in town. The physician getteth 10 plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child weigheth the bush at nine pounds.

Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth in the paper a well piece. You, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comeliness.

Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the town fall down and worship. She picketh one and he she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our promising young men and getteth away with it.

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and cancelleth their subscriptions, and they swing the hammer even unto the third and fourth generations.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Forrest Lake, Mrs. May Wickenberg and Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin motored to Orlando Friday morning to spend the day with Mrs. McLaughlin's friend, Mrs. Westcott.

The many friends of Mrs. J. H. Drotter are glad to see her out again after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Grace Barnes entertained the Every Week Bridge Club at the home of her sister, Mrs. T. A. Neal, Thursday afternoon.

Florida in 1909 when the last national statistics were taken had 17,274 miles of road, of which 1,781 miles were improved, a percentage of 10.37. The average percentage of improved roads in the United States is 8.66.

FRIENDLY ORLANDO

In contrast to what H. L. Mencken, he of the vitriolic pen, has to say of the narrow-mindedness and intolerance of the South, the good people of Orlando, the other day, proved that difference in religion and politics have no effect in a community where a broad minded good fellowship prevails.

Reverend Father Cox, of the Catholic Church of Orlando, began his ministry in that city forty years ago. The anniversary was duly celebrated. Ordinarily such anniversary celebrations are reserved for the people of the interested parishes or churches.

But not so in Orlando. The people of that city took over the celebration of Father Cox's anniversary and made it a public event in which persons of all shades of religious belief took part.

The celebration was held in a popular clubroom. Pioneers of the city were present and made

VIRILE VOLUSIA

Those acquainted with Volusia county politics can see plenty of fireworks for the next two years in the set-up provided by the late election. Never, perhaps, the variety of this election's flashings with the hold-over period of the one in 1920, plus the fact that the new government of the county is a referendum between the voters.

Roughly, the warring camp in Volusia county have been divided into the so-called DeLand wing and the other factors. In 1920, the group elected a state centrist and two representatives to the legislature.

With a complete record, this time proceeded to validate every local issue in which county politics had been involved during the preceding decade, created such a row that it was almost a week away from the county by the time it was over.

BANKING LIQUIDITY

The remarks of Allen, a former chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, before the New England Council at Boston on Thursday, are a reminder that the financial situation in this country will not improve until the banks will open their doors and lending will begin.

Banking that is not to be a mere paper exercise, but to make loans, which is the function of the bank, is the opinion of the head of the R. F. C. plan for the country. It is not a matter of every day, but it is a matter of every day, and it is a matter of every day.

MAAYA TEMPLE AT WORLD'S FAIR IS BEING BUILT

Will Be Outstanding In Group Of Beautiful, Valuable Buildings

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 22.—Ground was broken last week for the first unit of the great Maya Temple—one of the outstanding attractions at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress.

The building will rise from the summit of a 14-foot terrace just north of Thirty-first St., overlooking Lef Eriksen Drive and Lake Michigan beyond, and will be a replica of one of the finest examples of architecture ever erected.

It is a copy of one of the buildings of the Mayas, or Nunnery, at Uxmal, Yucatan—a striking example of the architecture of the Mayas, among whom aboriginal civilization reached the highest point on the North American continent.

Two years ago an expedition under direction of Dr. Frans Blom of Tulane University, entered the Yucatan jungle and secured measurements, casts, and full details for the reconstruction of this building.

The Monjas consists of four rectangular buildings surrounding a huge court. All stand on a high terrace overlooking the surrounding country, one building fourteen feet above the others. It is this last building on which work was started.

The walls of these structures are covered with elaborate and brightly colored designs of huge mask heads and great serpents carved in stone.

The first unit will be 149 feet long by 27 feet wide, and will be made of a composition laid over structural steel to simulate the lime stone of the original. Modern scampers, steam shovels, derricks and other devices will erect the first unit of the Maya Temple in about sixty days, but the original was built long before the coming of the first white man in what is now overgrown jungle by a people unfamiliar with even the wheel or the principle of the true arch.

Although Maya civilization has produced architecture of rare beauty and sophistication of ornament and though its origin may go back as far as that of Egypt, comparatively little about it is known. Recent research has disclosed that this ancient people had calendars more accurate than those used in contemporary Europe 2,000 years ago, played a native form of "basket ball," and employed the principle of false perspective.

The Monjas is thought to have been the nunnery of the vestal virgins, who appear to have played prominent part in the ancient Maya religion.

North of the replica of the Monjas will be the Indian village in which will be shown the various cultures of the American Indians ranging from the most simple to the wonderful culture of Middle America. Within the Monjas will be shown the culture of the Aztecs, Toltecs and Mayas.

Probably the most unusual form of transportation employed so far by any visitor to the Exposition is the inner tube craft in which "Captain" Joe Bellon, 52, paddled 1,200 miles from Detroit, Michigan, in 30 days.

Unable to swim and inexperienced on the water, "Captain" Joe fashioned his unique craft out of a "big" automobile, inner tubes, some canvas, a few boards and the back of a wooden chair. An old bicycle supplied him with the motive power for a propeller.

Early on his cruise, however, the propeller became tangled in some weeds in the Detroit River and broke. For a whole day "Captain" Joe was compelled to stem Lake Erie with a single oar, until a local overhauler's hand and the owner presented him with a second oar.

The rest of the way "Captain" Joe, who is incidentally of French birth, rowed, following the shore of Lake Erie to the mouth of the Maumee River, then up the river to the rapids near Fort Wayne.

Plan Offered For Simple Observance Of Thanksgiving

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—National cooperation of American families in a plan for a simple inexpensive observance of Thanksgiving in order that savings "Urus made" can be shared with the unemployed and destitute is predicted for this week's national holiday.

The plan was recently launched in Brooklyn at a meeting of the Brooklyn Federation of Churches, members declaring they were reluctant to partake of the usual "feast" dinner when so many were on the point of starving. They urged, and themselves signed, a "pledge to a brotherly observance" in which they agreed to give the difference in the cost of their inexpensive Thanksgiving dinner and the customary sumptuous one to the poor, "either directly or through an established agency of relief."

The plan was quickly adopted by the Greater New York Federation of Churches. Large numbers of the pledge were issued this week to church members and representatives of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish groups.

The pledge as adopted is as follows: A PLEDGE TO BROTHERLY OBSERVANCE "Feeling the incongruity in partaking of a sumptuous and wasteful feast as a part of the observance of a day of Thanksgiving to God while many of His children are lacking the bare necessities for living, and in consideration of like action on the part of others, I agree that on Thanksgiving Day, Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-two, I shall eat only simple and inexpensive food, and that the sum representing the difference between the cost of such food and that which I would otherwise buy I shall give to the poor, either directly or through an established agency of relief."

The plan for eating a "sacrificial" meal is one that has been sponsored by The Golden Rule Foundation for the past ten years. Golden Rule Sunday having been first launched as an international observance in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1922, since then it has grown in popularity as a "holiday for giving."

The Foundation is distributing free on request a forty-eight page booklet containing Twenty-One Golden Rule Economy Menus designed for Golden Rule Week, Dec. 11-18. While any of the dinner menus given are adaptable for Thanksgiving, the Foundation has suggested the following Special Thanksgiving Menu, for the total cost of which at current prices is $1.00, making possible a substantial sharing with less for:

DESSERT FOR FIVE
Tomato Souffle 10c
Roast Stuffed Breast of Lamb 10c
Cranberry Sauce 10c
Mashed Potatoes 10c
Baked Onions in Butter 10c
Fruit and Nut Pie 10c

DEBTS BIG ISSUE
LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Angli-American war debt problem will overshadow every domestic issue when the ninth parliament in the reign of George V assembles with legal pomp and ceremony at Westminster today.

The war debt problem is the subject of the most important of the "debts" which are being discussed in the House of Commons today. The "debts" are the result of the American government's borrowing of money from the United States during the war.

portaging to the Elkhart River, following this into the St. Joseph River and down to Lake Michigan. The tiny craft measures, less than six feet in length and about half of that in breadth, and carries a slender mast bearing the national standard and a pennant with the name "Angeline" and the slogan "Detroit to Chicago 1933 World's Fair."

"Captain" Joe was only stockinged and sweatered, who pairs by his side a pair of rubber boots on his unusual voyage, despite squalls and cold.

Traveling Around America

NO MOVING VANS HERE

MOVING day is a simple matter for these native Indiana folk. A basket of brightly colored fruit, a basket of multi-colored pottery. These Indiana still live in almost as primitive a fashion as did their forefathers who were here long before Columbus sailed "grinding" their own corn, weaving their own cloth, making vegetable dye, living in rude huts, fishing and hunting for food.

Indeed, Guasama presents the most true-to-life picture of ancient Indian civilization that can be found anywhere in the world. This is one reason why travelers enjoy visiting the Central American on the cruises sailing between New York and California.

Secret Message Is Offered To Divide 'Black Tom' Guilt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—An alleged secret spy message written across the pages of an old magazine in invisible ink was presented yesterday to the German-American claims commission to support American charges of German complicity in the destruction of the Black Tom Terminal and Kingsland, New Jersey, munitions plant.

The terminal and plant were destroyed by fire just before the United States entered the World War. Claims for $10,000,000 against Germany have been pending for years.

John W. Honnyng, American agent in submitting the secret message, asserted it was conclusive proof German agents were implicated in the fire.

The message was held by Honnyng to have been sent by Frederick L. Hermann, a German agent in Mexico City, to Paul Hilken, an agent in the United States. It mentioned by name Michael Kristoff and Theodore Wozniak, whom the United States has claimed were responsible for the Black Tom and Kingsland fires, respectively.

One of the points made by the commission in a previous decision

Maltbie Gives Rotary Address Upon War Debt

"It is a foregone conclusion," the speaker said, "that we cannot pour our cotton and wheat and manufactured products into Europe and take nothing in return."

In concluding his talk, Mr. Maltbie quoted from "press stories" relating to the "symposium" on the debt question. One of these press stories began "Rejecting complete cancellation as 'neither an economic necessity nor a practical political possibility,' the report suggests extension of the moratorium to give time for negotiations looking toward readjustment of the war debts."

Mr. Maltbie commented on the fact that among the signers of the symposium were: former governor Alfred E. Smith, "whose previously enunciating principle of war debt revision is clearly implicit in the report," Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, George W. Wickham, and former governor of Ohio.

Rev. Wm. P. Brooks, Jr., of the First Baptist Church, as guest speaker before the club, chose as his subject "Thanksgiving Day," a topic which is on the program presented Rotarians every year during the week of observance.

Rev. Brooks chose as his text a passage in Psalms, "Thou openest thine hand and satisfiest the desire of every living thing."

Those present at the luncheon were: Rev. Wm. P. Brooks, Jr., as a guest, and Rotarians Randall Chase who presided, S. O. Chase, Sr., J. C. Chase, W. C. Hutchinson, W. A. Luffie, B. F. Haines, S. O. Mystic Vopdism Claims One Life, Threatens Others

DETROIT, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A fantastic picture of debased voodoo mysticism lay unfolded before police today as they sought to learn how widespread is the cult that claimed one human sacrifice and marked for death Mayor Frank Murphy, two judges, and a woman welfare worker to propitiate strange "gods."

Specifically detectives are investigating reports of an organization that sells the "right" to adopt favored Mohammedan names to superstitious Negroes, for Robert Harris, confessed slayer of one "human sacrifice," styled himself "King of Islam" and chose oriental names for his wife and two young children.

Harris insists, police said, that James Smith, first victim of his mystic rites, went willingly to his death Sunday on an "altar" improvised from a packing box. Smith was stabbed and beaten to death.

Rewards Mount In Hunt For Blasters Of Electric Lines

ATLANTA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The state with an offer of $100 yesterday brought to $3,600 the total of rewards offered for conviction of any person in connection with recent dynamiting of Georgia Power Company transmission lines near here, while Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant announced opposition to a plan to deputize several hundred citizens for emergency service against a wave of holdups.

The state reward was announced by Attorney General Lawrence Camp who told the Fulton grand jury in special session that the offer had been authorized by Governor Russell.

Mayor James L. Key assured the grand jury the city would cooperate against the dynamiters by every possible means.

In addition to the state reward of $100, the power company has offered $2,500 and Fulton County $1,000.

RADICAL MOVE

CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—For the first time in the history of the American Federation of Labor, its executive council last night announced it will recommend nationwide compulsory unemployment insurance, the cost to be supported by industry alone.

WHISTLE DISCORD
MIAMI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Stewart Geesey has 22 days in which to improve on his whistling, which wasn't so good the last time he tried it. Geesey's particular whistling attracted attention of policemen raiding and alleged gambling house last week, and they arrested him as a "tip off man." He was given the alternative, in municipal court yesterday, of a $54 fine or 22 days in jail. He took the latter.

PLYMOUTH SIX IS ON DISPLAY HERE IN WIGHT GARAGE

Car Said To Be Finest Ever Known To Low Priced Auto Field

The new Plymouth Six, sensationally announced in the world's first international radio business conference to more than 75,000 Plymouth dealers and their employees by Walter P. Chrysler some days ago, is now on display at the Wight Bros. Co. showroom at Sanford Avenue and 12th Street, according to R. H. Wight, local Chrysler dealer.

Entirely new from bumper to bumper and from top to tires, the new Plymouth Six represents a finely balanced body design as the low priced field has ever offered.

Deep sloping radiator; wide, deep front and rear fenders constructed to conceal the chassis; a similarly concealed gasoline tank; sloping hood louvers carrying out the lines of windshield and radiator, this new Six is styled in the simplest and most modern manner.

According to F. A. Palmer, sales manager, four body models at an average decrease of $60 under prices on the four cylinder line are announced.

Mounted on a sturdy chassis, the new Plymouth Six has generously ample outside and inside body dimensions. Driver's position has been made more comfortable by a special front seat design and a more nearly vertical steering wheel.

Bodies are of the Safety-steel type, constructed of steel welded into one complete unit with adequate bracing and ribbing at all points where strains might possibly occur.

The new Plymouth Six offers for the first time, a six-cylinder floating power engine in the lowest price field. The new engine is mounted in rubber in two points—front and rear.

The floating power engine mountings differ slightly in design but not in principle. Two point suspension with the front mounting raised to balance the weight of the power plant is continued in the new Plymouth Six.

The new Plymouth Six continues the easy-shift transmission but in a more compact form. The free wheeling unit is of the cam and roller type developed by Chrysler Motors' engineers. The unit itself is housed in the transmission case and is lubricated by the transmission oil.

A cylindrical gasoline tank of eleven gallon capacity is fully protected at the rear of the frame by a wide cross member and is aptly concealed by a shield which joins the rear fenders. There is an electrical gasoline gauge on the instrument panel.

All exposed sheet metal which may be enamel or lacquered is flat finished. Front fenders are double braced for absolute rigidity.

Running boards are of steel covered with molded rubber extending forward beyond the front door opening.

PLANS OFFERED FOR REMOVAL OF TRADE BARRIERS

5 Courses Suggested In Report Of Chamber Of Commerce

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Realizing the increasing importance of action to remove obstacles to inter-national trade, particularly as applied to South America, the chamber of commerce of the United States, through its Foreign Commerce Department Committee has issued a report suggesting five courses of action.

Briefly they are as follows: At the World Economic Conference there should be available for those participating a survey of the actual foreign exchange requirements, with particular data as to the volume of current export and import movement.

As between the United States and certain countries of South America, to whom the United States sells a predominant share of their imports and from whom it buys a predominant share of their exports, it is recommended that discussions be instituted, preferably by the United States government with the assistance of the American chambers of commerce abroad, the foreign chambers of commerce in the United States, and business men.

A committee should be established in the United States in which will be represented the American exporters to and the major United States importers from a particular country. It will then be possible that limited balancing arrangements can be made by the members to repay credits or deposits which otherwise would be frozen abroad.

Vigorous protests should be made against discrimination, direct or indirect, in the allotment of exchange or in any other phase of exchange, control or exchange clearing operations.

Future action by the United States government in relief of the financial situation in debtor nations should be made in conjunction with representations concerning the modification or removal of exchange controls which affect so adversely private trade transactions.

One of the outstanding features of recent trade developments has been the imposition, by a large number of countries, of restrictions on operations of one kind or another, says the Pan American Union report. Latin American nations involved are listed as Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Nicaragua and Uruguay, while in El Salvador, Honduras, Peru and Venezuela, although no official restrictions exist, the exchange situation is difficult.

+ Do You Know? +

THAT large railway companies have to maintain a permanent staff of deep sea divers? They are used to inspect the underwater portion of bridges and piers owned by the companies. The photograph shows a telephone equipped diver's headgear devised by electrical engineers of the Canadian National Railways so that the diver can send and receive messages to the above-water crew while he is submerged. It is suggested this might be used by fishermen in sending his guide down to see what bait fish are taking.

Nationalization Of Banking Urged By Chicago Professor

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Complete nationalization of the nation's banking structure, giving Congress the same monopolistic control over banking that it now holds over the currency, was proposed here recently by Dean W. H. Spencer of the school of business of the University of Chicago at a public lecture at the Art Institute.

"Here is a national problem, which like bankruptcy, calls for uniform, national control," Dean Spencer said. "But what do we have? We have 49 different legislative bodies setting banking standards. The banking system cannot be much stronger than its weakest component parts."

"The collapse of the banks in one state may endanger the banking structure of the whole nation. Again, the situation results in a most unfortunate competition, in the matter of banking standards, between the nation and the states."

While admitting that a proposal for nationalizing the banking system completely would "thoroughly arouse the latent ghost of states' rights" and have against it the weight of many of the 12,000 state banks, Dean Spencer said just as much opposition had been met and overcome in carrying out state bank notes and wiping out the scandals of a system of many different bankruptcies laws in the different states, through enactment of the National Bankruptcy Act.

WHEN You Sharpen

the Pencil too FINE

GROWERS are sharpening their pencils keenly these days. But whittling fertilizer costs too sharp finds growers close to the breaking point, flinching with trouble. All savings must be in proportion to the quality of the fertilizer you buy. You can never afford to take chances. Your fertilizer investment must give you "Most Value per Dollar." Quality crops require quality plant-food. That's why more Ideal Fertilizers are used in Florida than any other brand. Ideal Fertilizers cost no more to buy, but involve much less to use. Don't sharpen your pencil too long this year. Get the extra value of Ideal Fertilizers for your crops. Consult our dealer or write Wilson & Toomer Fertilizer Company, Jacksonville, Florida.

Are You Hesitating About Buying the Things You Need and Can Really Afford?

Does timidity or fear of criticism keep you from doing a real service to the country and to the unemployed?

IT IS TRUE that many people have been hard hit by the depression and are struggling to make both ends meet. We all know it is difficult for them to make many purchases beyond the bare means of existence.

There are many thousands of men and women, however, who are receiving a fair income and who could be of tremendous help in aiding the business revival. All you need to do is to buy the things you need and can actually afford.

That doesn't mean that you should buy extravagantly, wastefully, or recklessly. It simply means buying what you need when you need it in a normal, natural way.

Have you been hesitating about buying because of timidity or a fear that you might be criticized? Exactly the reverse should be true.

"I wish we had a Telephone! nobody asks us to go places"

IN a home without a telephone, this is an often repeated complaint. And the children are not the only ones who feel the need for a telephone. Mother, too, is frequently inconvenienced and even embarrassed when forced to answer to friends who say "I'll call up some time" that "my haven't a telephone."

Why continue to deprive yourself and family of the satisfaction and comfort of a telephone in your home? You too, can afford a telephone, with all its convenience and protection in emergencies, for the cost is no less as to be within the reach of almost every one.

Find out, today, how easy it is to have a telephone and how little it costs. Just call the Business Office, or see any telephone employe.

SOUTHERN BELL

You are doing a real service to the country, to the unemployed and to yourself when you purchase the things you need and can afford to buy. Every purchase that you make now—large or small—helps to create work and wages for those less fortunate than yourself.

When you buy a new dress or a pair of shoes or a new radio or a new refrigerator or a new car you help to give work and wages to people in many sections of the country. When you have the house repainted, rooms repapered or the roof fixed you directly assist other deserving workmen—perhaps in your very neighborhood.

Nothing you could possibly do for those who need help could be more helpful or resultful than this. Sincere, honest, deserving people everywhere would rather have work than charity.

That's the big, broad humanitarian side of it. The other side is what it means to your personally to buy the things you need and can afford to purchase now. Never were such bargains available. Never were prices so low.

But price isn't everything. Today, as always, quality is the important thing to look for. It pays to buy standard, trade-marked merchandise from firms you can depend on. You're almost always disappointed when you experiment with some unknown brand just because it is cheap.

From day to day in this newspaper are advertisements featuring many unusual values. Read them and take advantage of the opportunities they offer. Business revival will be speeded up if people will again buy the useful, necessary things they need and can afford to purchase.
