Hope Fades For Trapped Quake Survivors

MEXICO CITY (UPI) - Volunteers searching the ruins of more than 400 collapsed buildings are losing hope of finding survivors in the rubble where Mayor Ramon Aguirre said at least 2,000 people were believed to be trapped.

In Washington, the White House said first lady Nancy Reagan would fly to Mexico City today to visit a shelter for quake victims and a hospital.

Official Mexican government estimates Sunday put the death toll at 3,461, the U.S. Agency for International Development said in a report to the State Department. The report said 6,700 people had been treated for injuries.

U.S. Ambassador John Gavin estimated 10,000 were killed by an earthquake Thursday that measured 7.8 on the open-ended Richter scale and another Friday that registered 7.3. Five Americans were killed and nine were missing.

As rescue efforts continued, funerals were held for some of the victims already identified. A shortage of caskets prevented elaborate ceremo-

"They are buried in individual shrouds hurriedly prepared, and the ceremony doesn't last more than 10 minutes ... without a funeral prayer, without flowers." the El Universal newspaper said.

In the devastated Colonia Roma neighborhood, bodies that could not be identified immediately were taken to a baseball stadium where they were preserved with blocks of ice and formaldehyde.

A team of French rescue workers using special equipment Sunday pulled three teenage students - two boys and a girl - alive, from the rubble of a technical school.

As they were taken to ambulances, one of the boys could be heard murmuring, "Thank you, thank you."

The three had been heard shouting and crying for three days but workers could not reach them until Sunday, when enough debris had been removed to make the effort safe.

After refusing help for the first two critical days of the disaster. Mexico began accepting offers of relief. The International Monetary Fund pledged $800 million in credits and the Red Cross sent medical supplies and other necessities.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said four U.S. canine teams were helping rescue teams search for 500 to 700 people believed trapped when a 12-story wing of Benito Juarez hospital collapsed.

At the Topeka and Anabel clothing factories just south of central Mexico City, some 70 workers remained trapped beneath massive slabs of concrete.

They could be heard mouning and pleading for help after Thursday's quake. But there was no organized rescue effort until Saturday. And Dr. Roberto Yanez Vazquez, in charge of the rescue effort, sald late Sunday it was not known if they would find anyone alive.

One exhausted worker, gobbling an orange, voiced his fear all will be found dead. But five

"We still have to try," one of the volunteers sald.

"We pulled out 12 people up to now who were still alive," Abraham said at midnight Sunday, more than three and a half days after the building

But, he said, they also removed 36 corpses,

Some 200 men, their faces covered with cloth against the stench of decaying bodies, worked with picks and shovels to break through the tons of concrete in hope of finding survivors.

"It is impossible to calculate how many bodies are still underneath the destruction," the doctor said. "We'll be here until all the bodies are pulled

Money Men Aim To Deflate Dollar

NEW YORK (UPI) - Top monetary officials of the world's five largest industrial nations agreed Sunday to take measures to lower the value of the dollar and stated their "absolute determination" to resist protectionism.

The finance ministers and central bank governors of the Group of Five from the United States, Japan, West Germany, Britain and France - also agreed that a reduction in the U.S. budget deficit is essential if the world monetary balance is to be restored.

In a joint statement issued after a five-hour meeting, the ministers agreed to specific measures to "provide a sound basis for continued and a more balanced expansion with low infla-

The ministers, outlining positive developments since the five nations agreed to cooperate in economic and monetary matters at the Williamsburg Summit, said there nevertheless "are large imbalances in external positions which pose potential problems" including the U.S. trade deficit, the large impact of austerity measures taken by developing countries on the U.S. current account, and "in particular the large and growing (U.S.) current account deficit."

Treasury Secretary James Baker said the ministers agreed that foreign exchange rates "should better reflect fundamental economic conditions than has been the case," and that the United States stood ready to cooperate in active intervention in the markets if necessary.

None of the ministers would give specifics on intervention or any other measures.

The commitment was reinforced by Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker, the only central bank governor to attend a news conference after the meeting.

"Foreign exchange rates are important. Over time there must be correct fundamentals, and intervention may be helpful at times." Volcker volunteered as the meeting was breaking up.

Trifles is the name of the game, but the Seminole County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations is expecting to score significantly with this new fundraiser. The customized game, which is sponsored by local advertisers, features questions on local bits of trivia on Sanford and Seminole County as well as testing the players' knowledge of history, geography, science, entertainment and the arts.

The council has already made a $3,000 profit from selling advertisements for the game board to 35 area businesses, such as Cardinal Industries, the Rich Plan, Sun Bank, and Central Florida Hospital, and the 18 participating Seminole County schools will raise funds

Apartheid 'Heresy' Says Freed Clergyman

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - Reformed Church leader Allan Boesak, returning to his pulpit after nearly three weeks in solitary confinement, condemned apartheid as "heresy."

More than 1,000 people packed the Cape Town church and a neighboring church hall and listened at windows and doors Sunday as Boesak described his detention in Pretoria.

It was Boesak's first sermon since he was detained for 20 days under political security laws. He said he "wrestled with God" about being held in solitary confinement with only 90 minutes a day outside his cell.

But Boesak said his opposition to apartheid -South Africa's policy of racial separation - was undiminished.

"I still firmly believe that apartheid is a heresy ... an inhuman system ... and cannot be defended on the basis of the Gospel," said Boesak, who is of Police reported little new violence Sunday the beginning of the 10th week of emergency rule in 36 of the country's 265 administrative districts. More than 710 people have been killed in a little more than a year of racial violence.

Worthy Of The Ayatollah

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) - Israeli feminists are protesting a rabbinical court ruling that permitted a 60-year-old man to marry a second time because his first wife did not bear him sons. The man and his wife, 56, have three daughters, ages 20 to 23.

The rabbinical court in the Negev desert city of Beersheba ruled that the man deserved another chance to fulfill the biblical injunction to "be fruitful and multiply." The ruling announced during the weekend requires approval by a higher rabbinical court and endorsement by at least 100 Ashkenazic rabbis. Lawmakers and at least one major Israeli feminist group have protested the ruling and called for its immediate reversal.

'This is a surprising and ludicrous ruling," said Mordechai Wirshubsky of the centrist Shinul, or Change, party. "It takes us back thousands of years, and is worthy of the (Ayatoliah Ruholiah) Khomeini in Iran." Masha Lubelski, head of the Nasmat women's organization, said the rabbis have overlooked the man's role in determining the sex of his children. She called the ruling "particularly evil and shocking."

Ex-EPA Chief Burford Charged With Attacking Police Guard

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Former EPA chief Anne Burford attacked and insulted a woman police guard while Burford and her husband were in jail on drinking-related charges. Arlington County Sheriff James Gondles says.

Mrs. Burford was charged by Arlington, Va., police with being drunk in public after causing a commotion during her husband's arrest and clawing and insulting a woman guard and faces a $30 fine, Gondles said Sunday, Robert Burford, a high-ranking Reagan appointee in the Interior Department, faces a hearing today on his arrest Friday on charges of driving while intoxicated and refusing to take a breathalyzer test.

Mrs. Burford was arrested two hours later on a charge of being drunk in public at the Arlington County Detention Center, police said.

The Burfords, who reside in the Washington suburb of Alexandria, could not be reached for comment Sunday.

Timely Conversation

HALLS, Tenn. (UPI) - The brother-in-law of a pilot who collapsed and apparently died in flight calmly crash-landed the light plane near an abandoned airport minutes after a brief conversation about how to fly.

Doctors were unable to revive 55-year-old pilot Ronald Lange of Memphis, but his in-laws, Eugene and Barbara McClendon of Beaverton, Ore., survived unhurt.

Lange was flying the McClendons to a picnic at Reelfoot Lake in northwest Tennessee on Saturday when he had a heart attack and collapsed over the controls of his single-engine plane at an altitude of 2,500 feet.

When Ron fell over the controls, I reached over and pushed him back and told my wife to hold him. Ron and I had been talking while we were flying — about the throttle and how to keep the bubble level," said McClendon.

"I was not at all scared," said McClendon, a 51-year-old retired policeman. "I knew I couldn't help Ron and I knew that I was going to get that plane on the ground and get my

W. German Official: Spy Scandal Could Be A Plot

BONN, West Germany (UPI) - East Germany may be recalling some of its moles - spies planted in the West German bureaucracy - in a campaign to discredit the Bonn government, an aide to Chancallor Helmut Kohl has suggested.

The suggestion by Wolfgang Schaeuble, who runs Kohl's chancellery, came Sunday amid predictions the spy scandal would soon topple Interior Minister Friedrich Zimmermann.

Schaeuble, in a radio interview, said the communists might have recalled longtime spies from key positions in West Germany to create the scandal and make trouble for the Bonn government.

He said his theory was only a hunch, but that it would explain why some West Germans in sensitive jobs have vanished in recent weeks and resurfaced in the East.

The spy scandal has embarrassed the government at home and abroad, tending to make West Germany's allies question sharing secrets with Bonn, and has prompted demands for the resignation of Zimmermann, who has overall authority for security and intelligence operations.

Rival Militias Trade Fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - Rival Moslem militias clashed in Beirut today and Syrian mediation failed to end Moslem bloodletting in Tripoli where at least 158 people have been killed in eight days of bitter warfare.

The Beirut fighting between the powerful Shitte Amal and Druze Progressive Socialist Party militias of Moslem Cabinet ministers Nabih Berri and Walid Jumblatt joited a dozen west Beirut neighborhoods. No casualty reports were immediately available.

Residents of the largely Moslem area reported that the fighting set shops, apartment buildings and automobiles ablaze.

They said bands of Moslem militiamen armed with jeep-mounted recoilless rifles, mortars, rocket propelledgrenades, heavy machine guns and hand grenades chased each other from street to street.

Militia leaders were at a loss to explain the fighting — the worst in the capital in three weeks.

Farm Aid Concert Raises Millions

Sowing The Seed Of Hope

CHAMPAIGN, III. (UPI) - Rock and country music's elite came to the heart of corn country for the Farm Ald benefit concert, reaping millions of dollars in pledges and sowing a message of hope for the nation's struggling farmers.

"Hang on. We're trying to help," Farm Aid organizer and country music star Willie Nelson said when asked his message to the nation's struggling farmers.

Nelson, following performers such as Bob Dylan, Kenny Rogers, Neil Young and Merle Haggard, brought the nearly 15-hour event to a close early today with a lengthy set that included "On The Road Again" and "You're Always On My Mind."

As the crowd of nearly 80,000 left the University of Illinois stadium to the recorded strains of "America the Beautiful" and a 10-minute fireworks display, pledges continued being made to a toll-free telephone

Gov. James R. Thompson said at least $3 million to $4 million was raised by Sunday night from telephone pledges. No official estimate of money raised was immediately hotline (1-800-FARMAID) will take pledges for a year, Nelson said.

At least one local farmer in the heart of the nation's Corn Belt, however, wondered if the event would really help farmers battling to keep going despite high interest rates, low crop and land prices and falling exports.

"What difference is it going to make?," asked Jerry Wallace who owns a farm north of Champaign. "They (city dwellers) don't care about our problems, and on the other hand, I don't care about their problems." Billy Joel took the stage shortly after 8 p.m. to open the prime-time portion of the concert and drew cheers with "Only The Good Die Young. Many music fans stood to applaud the 60 country and rock stars and to avoid sitting on the wet field at the stadium.

'I grew up next to a farm on Long Island," said Joel. "I saw the problems these people had. ... We'd like to show there are people from the music industry from New York and LA who are concerned about (farmers)

The concert provided music lovers and the few farmers in attendance with a unique blend of country and rock music. Fans keeping time to the Beach Boys midway through the concert shook the stadium press box - perched upon the uppermost level of the stadium.

"I never felt it move like that before," said Tony Lawrence, a guard.

Thompson said his fellow politicians also had seen something special.

"While Congress debates the farm bill, they will be talking about this concert," he said. "They will be talking about it because the whole country has seen it.'

Concert organizers said paid attendance was 78,312. A television feed by the Nashville Network cable company reached 23 million homes.

No serious injuries were reported, although one hospital reported admitting one person suffering from chest pains. Only a few arrests were reported.

'Cagney & Lacey' Big Winner At Emmys

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — of her and made off with the "Cagney & Lacey," the CBS award, which was retrieved series about a pair of female cops that was brought back from cancellation by popular demand, outgunned the favored "Hill Street Blues" and "Miami Vice" police shows and won six awards at the 37th annual Emmy Awards.

"The Cosby Show," the biggest ratings hit of the season, was named best comedy series.

NBC ended up the big winner with 25 Emmys, including those given earlier this month at an off-camera show honoring crafts achievement. CBS trailed with 18, PBS with 17 and ABC, which aired the show, with only eight.

The telecast honoring 1984-85 programs had promised to be a shootout between the gritty "Hill Street Blues" and the fast-paced "Miami Vice." But "Cagney & Lacey" shot down the two favorites and won six Emmys, including best drama series.

Tyne Daly was named best third straight year for her role as nant star, who is more than a week overdue, told the audience.

One of those she beat was Sharon Gless, who plays her partner, Chris Cagney.

The CBS show also won for best directing and writing of a drama series, and for the crafts of film editing and sound mix-

"Hill Street Blues," named best dramatic series each of its first four years, won only one Emmy this year, Betty Thomas as best supporting actress. Thomas nearly missed getting the golden statuette because an impostor walked on stage ahead backstage.

Her win gave "Hill Street" a five-season total of 26, and left it three short of the record 29 Emmys won by "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" in the 1970s.

"Miami Vice," the highfashion, high-tech program that parlayed a music video look into the hottest new dramatic show last season, picked up three awards earlier this month but just one Sunday night, for Edward James Olmos as best supporting actor.

The emotional "Do You Remember Love?" and the lavish 'Masterpiece Theatre' production of "The Jewel in the Crown," a multi-part tableau of life in India under the Raj, were named best special and limited

Winning for best performances in a limited series or special were Joanne Woodward as a woman deteriorating with Alzheimer's actress in a drama series for the disease in "Do You Remember Love?" and Richard Crenna as Mary Beth Lacey. > "The Cosby Show," whose star Bill Cosby withdrew from competition for best actor honors because he does not believe that performers should compete against each other, also won Emmys for best directing and writing of a comedy series.

With the charismatic Cosby out of the running, Robert Guillaume was named best actor as the lieutenant governor in "Benson." He got a laugh when he told the audience, "Thank you. Bill Cosby, for not being Jane Curtin of "Kate & Allie" was named best actress in a comedy series for the second straight year.

Three actors who died after their Emmy-nominated work did not win - Selma Diamond as the chain-smoking matron on "Night Court," Nicholas Colasanto as the bartender Coach on "Cheers" and Richard Burton in "Ellis Island."

Colasanto lost to John Larroquette of "Night Court," Diamond to Rhea Perlman, the caustic barmaid Carla on terman" also were honored.

"Cheers," and Burton to Karl Malden in "Fatal Vision."

"Wallenberg: A Hero's Story," won four Emmys, including directing honors. "Do You Remember Love?" won three, including writing.

The season finale of "Dallas" won the best costume Emmy for fashion designer Travilla, beating out Nolan Miller for the clothes that got bloodied in the royal wedding segment of "Dynastv.

CBS's "Garfield in the Rough!" was named best animated program, and NBC's "Motown Returns to the Apollo" the best variety program.

"Sweeney Todd" on PBS picked up two Emmys, for directing and the performance of George Hearn. The writers of "Late Night with David Let-

Unincorporated Area Residents To Pay Higher Property Tax

Residents of the unincorporated areas of Seminole County will be paying $6.66 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation for flecal year 1985-86, according to Eleanor Anderson. director of the county's Office of Management and Budget.

That tax represents an 18 cent increase over the current year's tax of $6.48 for the county's 120,327 residents in unincorporated areas. The University of Florida's Department of Business and Marketing Research said that population figure is an increase of 8,828 people over the April 1984 figure of 111,499 residents in the county's unincorporated areas.

County taxes for those residents pay for the sheriff, judiciary, administration, maintenance, and social programs with $3.96 of the total tax. Another 48 cents goes toward transportation and road improvement and 21 cents to bond indebtedness, for the jail, libraries, and general obligation bonds. Fire protection gets $2 of the countywide tax for those in unincorporated areas. A special district in the unincorporated areas, street lighting. is taxed either per lot or per front footage and is only applied to those living in one of the special street lighting districts. Those taxed by lot are divided into ten different service levels based on the type of equipment used, Ms. Anderson said. Taxpayers can find out what level they are in by calling the county or the property appraiser, according to Ms. Anderson.

The different levels and the amounts property owners pay per lot are level one, $3.52; two, $15.42; three, $18.08; four. $31.52; five, $28.43; six, 41.97; eight, $49,82; nine, $103.22; and ten, $137.19. Level seven is not being assessed that tax for 1985-86 because "they had enough money brought forward from last year," Ms. Anderson said to cover expenses for this year. In fact, level seven has not been taxed since the 1983-84 fiscal year rate for that level of $49.41. Spring Valley Farms is the only subdivision not in a level that is being charged per lot for street lighting and that is at a rate of $5.87.

Those subdivisions in the unincorporated areas charged taxes for street lighting based on front footage of their lots and the amount charged include Brantley Hall, 23 cents per front footage: Chuluota, 15 cents; Jamestown, 6 cents; Winwood, 16 cents; Beverly Terrace, 11 cents; Meredith Manor, 14 cents; Prairie Lake, 15 cents.

U.S. District Judge G. Kendall the Consumer's plant was Sharp has ruled that Seminole approved at Monday night's County will not have to reserve sewer capacity for Hollowbrook Village while waiting for a final judgment in a $20 million suit filed by the subdivision's developer.

Seminole County Commission chairman Bob Sturm said when developers request sewage capacity from the county. "we tell them capacity may not be available. They have an option of putting in dry lines," in anicipation of county sewer capacty or of using septic tanks. Developers also have the option of contracting with a private utility company, Sturm said.

We're To Blame For Desert Deaths

For most of us, it was probably just anotherstory, lost among all the other stories of folly and tragedy that fill our newspapers. Three undocumented aliens die of thirst while crossing the Anza-Borrego Desert in search of jobs and survival in the United States.

If this story caught our attention, it was only because the three victims were sisters, young wives and mothers from the poverty-stricken interior of Mexico, left alone to die in the 112-degree desert heat. Their husbands had begged them not to make the dangerous journey, but the women believed they had to go to ensure their children's financial future. The returned in three coffins.

We shake our heads sadly, but we throw the newspaper away and forget about it. It is not our fault, we tell ourselves. What can we do?

But it is our fault and we can do something. All of us — we the people and our congressional representatives — are as much responsible for the deaths of Isidra, Audelia and Balbina as the polleros (smugglers) who brought them across the desert without enough water.

Our continuing inability to enact sanctions against American employers who knowingly hire undocumented workers has made El Norte an irresistible attraction to desperately poor people willing to risk exploitation, wretched living conditions and even death to earn a few more dollars a month to feed their children.

They are victims of the disastrous economic conditions of their own country. They are also victims of American hypocrisy.

We won't establish a guest worker program that would provide safe working and living conditions for immigrant workers, but we continue to allow employers here to exploit desperate people who have no other alternatives.

Congress has twice failed in the past two sessions to enact new legislation to correct this appailing situation.

It is true that powerful interest groups have conflicting positions on immigration reform.

It is also true that a general consensus on immigration has not emerged among the American people, despite years of debate.

But there comes a time — and now is that time — when the men and women in Congress must do what they were elected to do — lead us.

Immigration reform is sigh a high priority for the Reagan administration that it is willing to compromise on details to get a new law passed.

Congress must act soon on a just and enforceable law that would establish employer sanctions, admit foreign guest workers, offer amnesty to undocumented aliens already here and protect against job discrimination.

Already this summer, the bodies of six undocumented aliens have been found in the desert, and no one knows whether there are others still out there.

How many more people will die in the desert before Congress acts? Can anyone reasonable argue that the current tragic state of our immigration laws is preferable to reform?

NIE Needs The Axe, Not 'Reforming'

WASHINGTON — Despite the National Institute of Education's tattered history, administration plans are underway to restructure, yet essentially preserve, that waste-ridden arm of the Department of Education.

Only in the "Alice in Wonderland" world of Washington could one witness such a spectacle: Budget-conscious conservatives fighting to save a program that is so wasteful that even a big-spending liberal Democrat wanted to give it the ax long ago.

In an earlier column I detailed some of the wasteful grants being issued by NIE. Additional examples include $57,736 for a study on the social history of reading; $122,588 to study the "illusion of knowing"; $78,759 for a study of "ethnic pluralism" in the United States; and $99,000 for a two-year study of students' ability to make and read maps. Here's the rest of the story:

Earlier this summer, Education Secretary William Bennett initiated plans to divide NIE's functions into five separate offices, all under the control of former Vanderbilt University professor Chester Finn, now the assistant secretary for educational research and improvement.

The reorganization is being sold by Bennett as a "streamlining and consolidation" of the department's research activities, but one question remains: is it worth it to make any attempt to preserve any part of the $52-million-a-year NIE?

Critics within the department say Bennett's reorganization is merely cosmetic and will do little to improve the research functions of the department or solve the problems that have plagued NIE since its creation in 1972 — including a cozy "old boy" network that has rewarded academic allies with big research grants.

In its 13-year history, NIE has wasted millions of hard-earned tax dollars on marginal and esoteric research that has done little to improve the quality of U.S. education.

As far back as 1975, three years after NIE was created, it became obvious just how ineffective the agency was as national test and achievement scores continued their long decline. Its studies were considered so wasteful in the mid-1970s that the Senate Appropriations Committee, chaired by then-Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., tried to zero out NIE's funding, but the House refused to go along.

funding, but the House refused to go along.

The Heritage Foundation's 1980 "Mandate for Leadership," a management blueprint for the incoming Reagan administration, roundly criticized NIE research for being "spotty and inconclusive" and urged NiE's elimination.

Ed Curran, a professional educator chosen by President Reagan to run the agency in 1981, found it so wasteful and harmful to U.S. education that he wrote Reagan a letter advising that NIE be abolished. The letter enraged then-Education Secretary Terrel Bell, long an NIE apologist; he promptly fired Curran, with the White House's support.

Perhaps most fronte participant in the NIE saga is Chester Finn himself. He had worked hard to establish NIE in 1972, only to turn bitterly against it in later years.

In 1983, Finn delivered a scorching indictment of the agency in the Phi Delta Kappan magazine for educators, in which he said it was "time to abandon" NIE.

Sane Voices On Trade

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Restoring a measure of parity to this country's relations with its trading partners is an extraordinarily complex problem that deserves more serious treatment than it has been receiving on Capitol Hill.

Congressional debate has been almost totally devoid of rational consideration. Instead, the public is being regaled with a protectionist clamor on behalf of various states' and regions' parochial interests.

At the same time, the Democrats are engaged in a disgraceful attempt to manipulate the issue to gain political advantage over the Republicans in next year's elections.

The existence of a serious problem is documented by the lopsided balance-of-payments statistics: The value of this country's imports exceeded the value of its exports by $123.3 billion last year.

If the current trend continues, that record-setting figure will be exceeded this year.

Marketers of products ranging from costume jewelry to tuna fish are demanding import tariffs, quotas, surcharges and other quick-fix protectionist legislation—all of which fail to deal with the fundamental causes of the trade imbalance.

Emotional complaints are heard about imports of autos, consumer electronics and semiconductors from Japan; shoes from Taiwan, South Korea and Brazil; timber and hogs from Canada; wine from France and Italy; blouses from indonesia, and shirts from the People's Republic of China.

Among the pitifully few politicians resisting the hysteria of the moment are a Republican. President Reagan, and a Democrat, Arizona Gov. Bruce E. Babbitt.

At his mid-September news conference, Reagan used exceptionally strong language to warn that "a mindless stampede toward protectionism will be a one-way trip to economic disaster."

The president noted that "for almost two years now, I have been begging our allies and trading partners" in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade "to join with us in another round of trade talks" designed to produce a long-term solution to import-export problems.

One of the few Democrats who views the current crisis as more than an opportunity to take a cheap shot at the Republicans, Babbitt also proposes working within the GATT framework — but he believes radical reform is necessary.

ROBERT WAGMAN

The Sgt. York Demise

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's said that Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger has never met a weapons system he doesn't love. Therefore, it was remarkable when he halted further production of the Sgt. York mechanized anti-aircraft gun after spending more than $1.8 billion on its development.

The weaponiwhich was designed and built by Ford Aerospace, was named for the World War I hero and was meant to defend advancing troops from attack by helicopters and low-flying planes. The Army had already received 65 of the weapons and had another 600 on order at a cost of $4.8 billion.

For years, critics inside and outside the military have claimed that the Sgt. York wasn't among Ford's better ideas. The simple truth was that the gun just couldn't shoot straight.

The Sgt. York consists of two 40mm rapid-fire anti-aircraft guns mounted on a high-speed tank. The guns are controlled by a sophisticated computer that's connected to the latest in radar systems.

In early tests, the radar unit had a great deal of trouble distinguishing planes from other moving items. In one well-publicized failure, the gun mistook the whirling fan in a latrine for a plane and almost blew away a reviewing stand full of military brass gathered to watch the demonstration.

But the Pentagon has a closet full of expensive weapon systems that don't work, and in 20 years, it never killed one that had actually gone into production.

So why was the York killed? It's a story of disgruntled military officers frightened that they might have to take the York into battle, phony test results, leaked documents — and above all, a single representative who wouldn't let the matter rest.

Testing of a York prototype began in 1978: by 1982, word was out that although production had started, the York Just didn't work. Several members of Congress became interested and began to ask questions.

One was Rep. Denny Smith. R-Ore., a decorated fighter pilot in Vietnam and a hawk who normally could be counted on to support the administration and the Pentagon. However, Smith had become one of a growing number of conservatives who were criticizing the Pentagon for producing too many weapons systems that didn't work under combat conditions.

Some of Smith's friends, with whom he had served in Vietnam and who were stationed at the Pentagon, told him that the York should head the list of weapons systems that didn't measure up. Smith began to badger Weinberger and high-level Pentagon officials with some very pointed questions about the York's performance.

Weinberger and Army officials steadfastly backed the York, but Army personnel — from high-ranking officers to enlisted men — began to supply Smith and his staff with test reports and other data that showed the York to be a technical disaster.

Public Relations Warfare

WASHINNGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has begun disparaging public relations, the very art that elevated him to two terms as governor of California, two terms as president, and to status as the "Great Communicator."

Like the word "propaganda," the term "public relations" is open to interpretation depending on the circumstances. In more contentious Cold War times, everything the Soviets said was deemed in Washington as "propaganda."

Now, with a long-awaited summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev finally set, the White House has cleaned up its vocabulary. The empty promises the White House sees emanating from the Kremlin are being dismissed as "mere public relations."

The president himself got into the act last week, telling Danish Prime Minister Poul Schluter that Western security "will not be secured by wishful thinking or public relations" lt was a pointed response to months of unusually forthcoming statements and interviews by Gorbachev and articles in the state-controlled Soviet press accusing the United States of trying to wreck the summit and offering arms control moves of its own.

The White House, on the other hand, has done everything possible to play down expectations of success while challenging the Soviets' good faith. In one week in August, the administration scoffed at the Kremlin's offer for a moratorium on nuclear testing, announced it would go ahead with testing of an antisatellite weapon and charged the KGB with using possibly cancercausing "spy dust" against American

The notion of a "public relations war" is fully in place — Reagan, the Hollywood charmer against Gorbachev, the young new Soviet leader with a pretty wife, a taste for Western culture and a penchant for talking for American news consumption.

cans in Moscow,

The battle on both sides is appparently aimed at public opinion in America. U.S. Pressure Hinders Bomb Plans

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — If Pakistan's dictator. Gen. Mohammad Zia ul-Haq. decides tomorrow that he wants to explode a nuclear device, it will be only "a matter of weeks" before he can do it.

This is the secret assessment of a top CIA official. In fact, the only reason Zia has not taken the final few steps and started producing the long-dreaded "Islamic bomb" is his desire to keep U.S. military aid flowing in, suggested the high-level CIA source. Zia knows that planes and other sophisticated American weapons would be cut off if he tested a nuclear device.

A candid private letter from President Rengan last September made this clear to Zia, warning that the nuclear weapons issue "could undermine all that we are trying to achieve." The president urged Zia to limit the uranium enrichment being done at the Pakistanis' heavily guarded plant at Kahuta to the 5 percent of U-235 necessary for reactor fuel.

This would be well below the percentage needed for weapons. Last November, the Pakistani foreign minister visited Washington and assured Reagan that the enrichment lid was being kept on as he had urged.

Our intelligence sources confirm that the Pakistani nuclear program has slowed down since Reagan's letter. The key to the situation is the activity of Dr. Abdul Qadar Khan, the Western-trained Pakistani who allegedly stole nuclear secrets from the Dutch in the 1970s and who now heads the nuclear bomb development program at Kahuta.

In the past year, Khan has diversified his military work to include such secret projects as development of a Chinese-style hand-held anti-aircraft missile. He still spends "a great deal of time" on the nuclear bomb program, howev-

From highly sensitive intelligence documents and other sources, we've

Technology exchange with China since at least 1980 has brought Pakistan to the point where it could have a small nuclear arsenal in less than two years. Chinese scientists have been to Kahuta to study the centrifuge technique that Pakistan stole from the Europeans a decade ago. And there is evidence that China gave Pakistan information about the actual design of a Hiroshima-sized bomb that the Chinese have successfully tested.

What makes this particularly alarming is that the bomb would be ideal for delivery by F-16s — 40 of which Pakistan is buying from the United States.

— The Pakistanis' own nuclear bomb is described as crude but effective. It consists of a sphere of enriched uranium about 6 inches in diameter, suspended within a steel sphere about 13 inches in diameter. This in turn is surrounded by more than 100 pounds of conventional "shaped charges," and the whole disaster is encased in curved metal plates to form a 21-inch sphere.

The shaped charges implode, compressing the uranium core until it reaches a critical density and blows up.

— Pakistan's bomb builders have tried to modernize their weapon through the illegal acquisition of Western materials. They succeeded in buying a high-speed Swedish X-ray machine that is crucial to the implosion technique they're using. But the acquisition was discovered in time to stop delivery of the operating manual and the dispatch to Islamabad of a Swedish expert who was supposed to help them use the machine.

— Perhaps most scary of all is Libya's involvement in the Pakistani bomb. Libya's petrodollars have helped finance the effort, and the CIA is afraid Pakistan would be obliged to share its nuclear technology with Libya as compensation.

Time Runs Out On 'Noles, Titusville Prevails, 20-13

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Friday's torrential showers postponed the Seminole High-Titusville High football game 24 hours. After scoring 13 fourth-quarter points in four minutes Saturday, all the Fighting Seminoles wanted was to postpone the premature end of the fourth quarter.

But they didn't get it. Time wasn't on their side. All they could do was watch angonizingly as backup Titusville quarterback Larry Shivers took one step back and fell on the ball to preserve a 20-13 District 4A-5 football victory at Seminole High Stadulm Saturday night before 850 fans.

It was the second loss of the season for first-year coach Dave Mosure's Tribe (0-2, 0-1) but the mood was nothing like that of a loser in the locker room after the game. Anticipation was running rampant for Friday's Seminole Athletic Conference opener at Lake Howell.

'Bring on Lake Howell," one Seminole screamed. "After the way we played in the second half, we're ready for them."

Mosure agreed. "We had a pretty heated discussion at halftime and a lot of kids grew up.' Mosure said. "They experienced the joys of football - teamwork, coming back and emotion. They were so positive in the huddle, it was a great experience. We played a great second half."

It was quite a second half. Actually, the first half wasn't too bad either except for two plays. Seminole's defense held the Terriers (1-1, 1-0) without a first down but was victimized by two long scoring plays.

The plays, coincidentally, were replicas of Titusville Astronaut's two first-half scores which put Seminole in the hole in last week's opening-game setback.

'We just have to get it together in the first half." Seminole defender Earnest Lewis observed.

It was an astute observation. Last week, Astronaut scored four plays into the game. This week, it took Titusville just three. Leon Hamilton, the only Terrier puzzle Seminole's defense couldn't solve, escaped the line of scrimmage with a trap block, then cut across the grain for a 56-yard TD romp.

"Leon is definitely our best cutback runner," Titusville coach Mike Dickey said about his 5-10, 175-pound junior. "But he has to play linebacker, too, so we don't use him every series.'

Which was another thing in Seminole's favor since Hamilton ran for 127 yards in 12 carries and scored two touchdowns.

The first one came with just 1:45 into the game. The extra point kick was blocked by Horace Knight. Six minutes later, a Jeff Blake fumble gave the Terriers good field position at the Seminole 45.

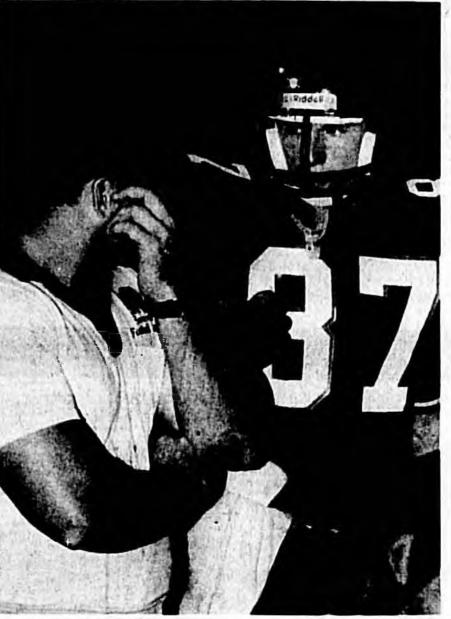

This time, it took four plays. On a fourth and one, quarterback Bobby Guthrie barely evaded a rush by Mike Luster and unloaded to Sheldon McCulium who gathered it in behind the Tribe secondary and dashed in to complete the 36-yard scoring toss.

The pass would be the only one Titusville would complete, except for a short flip on the extra point to Lorance Harris which pushed the lead to 14-0 with 4:02 left in the first quarter.

The two scoring bombs left Seminole defensive coordinator James Paul dumbfounded. "We prepared for it. We worked on it and worked on it," Paul said. "That is what's so frustrating. The defense played a great first half except for those two plays.

Paul said a linebacker had missed a signal to blitz on the touchdown run. He said the secondary was caught looking for the run - like

Howell's Defense Keys Win Bpecial to the Herald

After disposing of their second 1 unfamiliar opponent in two weeks, Lake Howell High's Silver Hawks and coach Mike Bisceglia are looking forward to returning to familiar terrain this Friday for their Seminole Athletic Conference home opener against Seminole High.

Although the competition may have been unfamiliar, success has not. Using a bend-but-never-break defense, Lake Howell continually came up with the key defensive gem en route to a 14-6 victory over the West Orange Warriors before 2,500 fans in the District 5A-5 opener at Lake Howell's stadium Saturday. The game was originally set for Friday but postponed because of the daylong showers.

"Man, the defense looked good tonight," an ecstatic Bisceglia sald after the game. "They won the game for us.

Along with a 23-13 win over Orlando Edgewater in its season opener, Lake Howell is now 2-0 for the season and 2-0 against new schools added to its schedule this year.

West Orange had no trouble moving the ball against the Silver Hawks, as evident of the 294 total yards it amassed. But the Lake Howell defense came up with one big play after another when it had to to stop West Orange from scoring.

"We gave up a lot of yardage, but the defense made some real big plays and held them when we needed it," Bisceglia said. "They (defense) showed a lot of character."

The Lake Howell defense recovered a fumble in their own endzone to thwart an apparent West Orange touchdown run, halted West Orange from scoring on a first and goal situation from the five, and forced three other fumbles in Silver Hawk territory to stall West Orange drives.

The Silver Hawk defense also set up both of the Lake Howell touchdowns with crucial plays on West Orange punt attempts.

In the first quarter, the West Orange offense marched all the way from its own 34 down to the Lake Howell five, largely due to a 32 yard run by Corey Montgomery. On first and goal from the five, Montgomery, a 6-1, 185 pound fullback, again got the call and bulled his way towards the goal line. But he was hit hard by a host of Lake Howell defenders and fumbled the ball into the end zone where it was recovered by the Silver Hawks.

Lake Howell could not move the ball and punted it back to the Warriors, with West Orange taking over at its 36. After a two yard run by tailback Marvin Peterson, the Warriors tried to pass the ball on second down. But quarterback Scott Moorman was intercepted by Lake Howell safety Bill Wasson and the Silver Hawks had a first down at their own 47.

Silver Hawk quarterback Mark Wainwright went to work from that point, running four yards to the Warrior 49 and then hitting slotback Wasson with a 15 yard completion to the 34 for a Lake Howell first down as the first quarter ran out.

On the first play of the second quarter, sophomore tailback Craig Derington, playing in place of the injured Terry Gammons. picked up five yards to the 29. Fullback Mark Schnitker then followed with two carries for 12 more yards and a Lake Howell first down at the 17. West Orange was called for unsportsmanlike conduct on the play and the ball was moved half the distance to the goal at the nine. Schnitker got the call again but was hit and fumbled at the five and the Warriors recovered.

But after a 12 yard run by Montgomery to the 17, Moorman fumbled on the next play at the 24 and Lake Howell took over again. The Silver Hawks could not move the ball though and had to settle for a 41 yard field goal attempt on fourth down by Jeff Philips. But Philips kick hit the left cross bar and the game remained scoreless.

West Orange took over at its 20 but could only muster seven yards on three running plays and were forced to punt. Standing back at the 17 yard line was Warrior punter Eric Larsen. But as soon as Larsen took the snap, Ron Campbell, Nate Hoskins and Jeff Harris broke through the line and all three of them went

A couple nifty runs by Byron Washington and John Curry at the end of Shane Letterio passes and a stellar defensive effort Mitted Lake Mary to a 14-10 victory Saturday night before a crowd of 5,000.

Lake Mary improved to 1-1 with the win but, more important, the Rams won the District 5A-4 opener for both teams. DeLand fell to 0.2 with its

"Letterio had good zip on his passes," Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said. "He didn't make any bad passes, even the ones that were incomplete."

Letterio's first pass was a 11-yard completion to Steve Hoeft on the Rams' first on its next possession, DeLand possession of the game. That gave Lake Mary a first down on its own 41 yard line but, two plays later. Curry got off to an inauspicious start when he fumbled and Leigh Pope recovcompleted just 4 of 16 passes for ered for DeLand on the Lake Mary 46.

The Bulldogs didn't do much on their opening possession as Robinson kept for two yards on first down but that was on second on a DeLand illegal' procedure penalty. Robinson then threw incomplete and, on third down, Deke Harris was thrown for a seven-yard loss by Lake Mary lineman Shannon Porter.

After neither team could move got a 41-yard punt by Scott

Gattle and Lake Mary took over at its own 14 with 50 seconds left in the first quarter.

After Curry went for three yards on first down, and Letterio for two on second, the quarter ended in a scoreless tie.

To open the second period, Lake Mary had a third and five at the 19. Letterio then went to Washington, who had single coverage, on pattern and Washington shed one defender, picked up a fine block from Dennis Barnes and bolted down the sidelines for an 81-yard scoring play. Mike Renaud kicked the extra point for a 7-0 Lake Mary lead with 11:47 left in the first half.

Boesel Survives Torrid Lundquist

Sanford's Bobby Lundquist and Winter Park's Dave Boesel, two of Central Florida's top amateur golfers, moved their weekly competition to Dubsdread's Golf Course Sunday but the head-to-head battle was nothing that doesn't happen every Wednesday at the Big Cypress Golf Course in Winter

Boesel, 36, who edged Lundquist earlier this year for the Big Cypress Club championship, held off a torrid final-day surge by Seminole High's assistant principal and former Mayfair Country Club champion to win the State Publinx Golf Association State Championship by two strokes Sunday.

The 34-year-old Sanford resident followed up his opening-round 71 with a 68 on Sunday, which except for several lipped putts, could have been much

"I was just playing loose and going for the gusto," Lundquist said about his 5-under 31 on the front nine. "I didn't have anything to lose."

Especially after Boesel's opening round 63. And a 66 from Jacksonville's Joe Pittenger, "I wasn't seriously thinking about them and I don't think they were thinking about me either," Lundquist said before Sunday's round.

Then, he changed their thinking with a torrid start. Lundquist chipped in from 45 feet on the first hole for a birdie. He dropped 5-foot and 20-foot putts on the second and third holes for two more birdies. He lipped a two-footer, however. on the fourth hole.

"That killed me," he said. "But I was still in good shape because Boesel had fallen back to 5 under."

New Orleans Wins War, But Loses Battle On Line

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - The New Orleans Saints found winning harder to withstand than losing.

Coach Bum Phillips, whose offensive line was decimated by injuries last season, must have felt a sense of deja vu as his starting center and both starting guards got hurt in the first half of Sunday's 20-13 victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"I've never had anything like this happen on the offensive line in my coaching career," Phillips said. "I thought last year was bad. But three in the first half is unreal."

Most scriously injured was guard Kelvin Clark, who broke his ankle. Center Steve Korte and guard Brad Edelman both suffered knee injuries.

"I believe I have a partial tear on the same knee that I had injured previously," said Edelman, who said he did not know how long he would be sidelined. "I probably will have the knee immobilized."

Phillips said he would not know how long he would be without the services of the three linemen until doctors examined them.

Despite the injuries, the offensive line held together well enough to give good protection to quarterback Dave Wilson, who responded by completing 16 of 25 passing attempts for 246 yards and two touchdowns.

"I've gained a lot of confidence the last two games and I feel real good about it," Wilson said. The fifth-year quarterback from Illinois threw touchdown strikes of 23 yards to Larry Hardy and three yards to Hoby Brenner. Wilson's performance combined with kicker Morten Andersen's field goals of 37 and 40 yards to give the Saints their first win of the season.

"I'm sure glad that I'm not in the other locker room at 0-3," Phillips said. referring to Tampa Bay's winless record. "It sure feels good to be at 1-2."

New Orleans sacked Tampa Bay quarterback Steve DeBerg four times and intercepted two of his passes while holding the Buccaneers out of the end zone until late in the fourth quarter.

"Everybody felt like we had our back to the wall," said New Orleans linebacker Rickey Jackson, who contributed two sacks. "The rush we had was super today. They didn't know where we were coming from."

The New Orleans defense, which gave up seven touchdown passes in the team's first two games, limited Tampa Bay to two field goals by Donald Igwebuike and a late touchdown pass of 22 yards from DeBerg to wide receiver Gerald Carter.

Tampa Bay coach Leeman Bennett expressed disappointment with his team's performance. "To sum it up, we couldn't move the ball when we needed to offensively and we couldn't stop them when we needed to stop them," he said. "We're 0.3 and that about sums it up. doesn't it?'

DeBerg, whose throws often were hurried, completed 22 of 44 attempts for one touchdown and 252 yards, and was intercepted twice.

Buccaneer running back James Wilder led all rushers in the game, gaining 114 yards on 26 carries.

Gopners Batter Montana; FSU Shuts Down Memphis

The Minnesota offense might have scored two weeks' worth of points Sunday night in a 62-17 rout of Montana. More than the score, Minnesota's next opponent suggests that that's a distinct possibility.

With the second-ranked Oklahoma Sooners looming. Gophers coach Lou Holtz downplayed Minnesota's role as a blowout inflictor.

"If it's a high scoring game against Oklahoma. we don't have a chance," Holtz said of the Sooners, who open their season at the Metrodome Saturday against Minnesota, 2-0. "I guess next week we'll get some idea of what our offense is like going up against the No. 1 defense last year.

'Oklahoma's got some great football players and we could be on the other end of this thing next week if we don't play defense," he said. Sophomore quarterback Rickey Foggie led the offensive charge against Montana, scoring three touchdowns on runs of 1, 3 and 2 yards and throwing a 75-yard scoring pass to Melvin Montana coach Larry Donovan, who has 60 scholarships to offer at his Division IAA school compared to Minnesota's 95, said: "No doubt we are at two different levels of football.

"This was a money game for us. We got the money (gate receipts). I hope we didn't get beat up so much that we can't go back and compete in

The Gophers' preparations for the Sooners began Sunday, and Holtz said he'll concentrate on improving the defense, which allowed 1-1 Montana to put together scoring drives of 80 and 91 yards and draw within 28-17 at halftime.

"I think we scared them a little and they felt they had better play this week and not save it fext week." Donovan said.

He made another stride toward that goal Sunday, battling his way through blustery winds, making a series of crucial putts down the stretch and finally running in a 30-foot putt on the first playoff hole to beat Mike Reld and win the $400,000 Southwest Golf Classic.

Dolphins Find Defense, Squash Chiefs

United Press International

Super Bowl combatants two years ago, the Los Angeles Raiders and Washington Redskins have been looking out of character - in other words.

Meanwhile, the Miami Dolphins and San Francisco 49ers, Super Bowl participants last year, are back to their usual winning ways again after scaason-opening losses.

At Los Angeles Sunday, Joe Montana threw two touchdown passes and linebacker Milt McColl returned a fumble 28 yards for a score, helping the 49ers to a 34-10 victory over the Raiders.

At Miami, Dan Marino threw two second-half TD passes and the Dolphins recorded their first shutout since Nov. 20, 1983, slowing the hot Kansas City Chiefs 31-0.

At Washington, rookie Randall Cunningham passed to Earnest Jackson for a fourth-quarter TD and Paul McFadden connected on four field goals to pace the Eagles to a 19-6 upset of the Redskins.

Montana was not devastating, but his usual efficient self. He finished 14-of-24 for 255 yards with TD tosses of 20 yards to Roger Craig and 14 yards to Dwight Clark to help San Francisco to its second straight triumph after a season-opening loss to Minnesota.

Montana's counterpart in the last Super Bowl, Dan Marino, is apparently back to form after a contract holdout which ended just before the season. With a struggling Marino, the Dolphins split their first two games.

Marino was 23-of-35 for 258 yards and TDs of 9 yards to Bruce Hardy and 27 yards to Woody Lundquist parred the fifth hole and made an eight-foot birdle putt on six. He parred seven and chipped in from 20 feet on eight. On nine, he lipped out another birdle putt, this time from 20 feet.

"If I make the putt on four and that one goes in. I'm sitting at 29." Lundquist said. "Then. they (Boesel and Pittenger) have something to worry about."

About this time, Lundquist passed Boesel on an adjacent fairway. With neither knowing the closeness of the tournament. they joked about the scores.

"How are you doing?" Lundquist asked.

"Oh, okay. How about you, are you under par?" Boesel replied. "Yeah. I'm under," Lundquist Boesel then pressed further but when he found out Lundquist was 5 under, Boesel didn't believe it. "We always lie to each other at Big Cypress because we don't want each other to know what we have." Lundquist laughed. "He didn't know whether to believe me or not."

Seeing was believing several holes later, though, as Boesel made the turn at 6 under and the tournament turned into a real-live, tightly-contested event.

"That was one great effort on Byron's part," Nelson said of Washington. "It was just a little 10-yard pass that the kid (De-Land's defender) overplayed him (Washington) on. Byron reacted and Dennis Barnes made a great block downfield."

Although it might have been a bit shellshocked after the Lake Mary TD, DeLand came right back with a nice drive after the kickoff.

Senior running back James Taylor did almost all of the work on the drive. On the first two plays, the rugged 190-pounder carried for seven and 19 yards for a first down on the Lake Mary

A holding penalty temporarily put the drive on hold, but Taylor got the Dawgs out of the hole with a 12-yard gain on second down. Taylor went for 14 more on two more carries as DeLand had a second down on the Lake

After a short gain by Robinson on second down, Taylor got the ball back and exploded for 12 yards to the Lake Mary seven. Taylor got the call two more times but was stopped short of the goal line the second time. DeLand then faced a third down and the one-foot line. But DeLand made a big mistake when it was called for illegal procedure and that backed the Bulldogs up to the six. On third down, Taylor was held to two yards by the Rams' stingy defense. The Buildogs then had to settle for a field goal and Brian Roney split the uprights to trim Lake Mary's lead to 7.3 with 4:43 left in the half. That lead stood up haiftime.

Penalties and a a 60-yard punt by Gattle plagued Lake Mary in the third quarter until a short Lake Mary punt gave DeLand a first down on the Rams' 28 with 7:44 left in the quarter.

DeLand knew whom to go to when it was so close to paydirt as Taylor carried for three yards on first down, then burst for 16 on second for a first down on the Pope picked up two yards on first down and Taylor then went the final seven for the TD. Roney's conversion kick gave the Bulldogs a 10-7 lead with 5:51 left in the quarter.

With 3:59 left in the quarter, Lake Mary had a first and goal at the four. But the DeLand defense then rose to the occasion and held Brett Molle to no gain on first down and Curry to just one yard on second. Letterio then tried to pass for the TD on third but Washington just missed the DeLand couldn't get out of the hole though and Gattle came in and let loose with a 40-yard punt to the DeLand 47.

Lake Mary took over with 31 seconds left in the quarter. On first down at the 47, Letterio hit Curry with a screen pass over the middle. The powerful sophomore stiff-armed one would-be tackler away then picked up some key blocks downfield and rambled 47 yards for the touchdown. Renaud's kick gave Lake Mary a 14-10 lead as the third quarter ended. "The screen pass Curry scored on was set up by two great blocks down the sideline." Nelson said. "One was by Mitro and one by (Marty) Hopkins. I still don't know how he (Curry) got in the end zone. He just kept on going."

Would-Be Candidate Misses Deadline, Kicks City Hall

MIAMI (UPI) - An angry ex-Miami city commissioner who missed the deadline for entering the race for mayor was arrested after trying to kick in City's Hall front door to file election qualifying papers, police say.

Otis Shiver, 66, a city commissioner from 1955 to 1959. tried to get into the building after it was locked at 6 p.m.

Saturday, police said. "I'm going in there," he shouted, as three police officers tried blocking him. He stepped forward and smashed his foot into the door, police said. Sgt. Ervin Garriga arrested Shiver on charges of trespassing after a warning, which is a misdemeanor.

By late Saturday afternoon, 25 candidates had filed papers to run in November for the mayor's office and two commission seats. Shiver showed up at 5:25 p.m. to file and pay the $100 qualifying fee.

But the retired grocer's papers weren't notarized and he didn't have the required cashier's check. The city clerk refused to swear him in, citing non-compliance with the

Storm Threatens Carolina Coast

MIAMI (UPI) - Hurricane Gloria's 75 mph winds whipped toward the West Indies Sunday, while forecasters waited to see whether a depression off the North Carolina coast would become Tropical Storm Henri.

Hurricane warnings were issued for the northern Leeward Islands from Antigua through the Virgin Islands. Gloria was centered about 160 miles northeast of Antigua and about 380 miles east northeast of San Juan. Puerto Rico. The hurricane was centered near latitude 19.0 north,

A tropical depression off the North Carolina coast was becoming better organized and was expected to reach tropical storm strength sometime today. Forecasters said the storm's center could pass near the outer banks by then. and warned small craft in the Carolinas to stay in port.

Early today, the depression was centered about 100 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N.C. moving north at 10 to 15 mph. Highest winds were 35 mph with squalls up to 50 mph in the open water east of the center. If its sustained winds reach 39 mph, it will be given the name Henri.

Drug Kingpin Runs Out Of Luck

MIAMI (UPI) - A high school athlete who authorities say grew up to become a fugitive drug kingpin faces trial in Illinois next month after getting nabbed when he walked into a restaurant where FBI agents had been eating.

Richard Dial Thorpe, arrested July 25 at the Acapulco Mexican Restaurant in Fort Lauderdale, is now in Clinton County Jail in Illinois and scheduled for trial Oct. 7 in Alton, Ill., on 41 drug-related felony charges.

Thorpe, one of America's most wanted drug fugitives, had walked into the Mexican eatery, and ordered a margarita. An FBI party had just broken up, but one agent who lingered behind recognized Thorpe and stepped to a phone. Moments later, the partygoers reappeared, with

If convicted, Thorpe could be sentenced to up to 213 years in prison.

There has been only a minor increase in absenteeism among students and teachers in Seminole County's school system, a spokesman said.

Dr. Robert J. Smith said he has not treated a large number of flu patients this season at his Orlando Drive Medical Center. 3505 Orlando Drive, Sanford, and sees no signs that the malady has reached epidemic proportions.

'We are not quite into the season," he said, "it is about three weeks away.'

Smith said some of the flu symptoms include aches all over, cough, cold and sore throat. Treatment prescribed is bed rest and fluids and for secondary infections, antibotics and antihistamines.

Smith said flu vaccine became available to his patients on Sept. 1. He said flu shots are 75 to 80 percent effective. Do they work? "I take them myself." he said.

What are the side effects of the vaccine? "For one to two days the patient is not up to par and may run a low grade fever.

Two shots are given the first year, followed by one shot annually thereafter, he said. Cost of each shot is $15.

He does not consider the "intestinal flu" going around the true flu.

Florida Hospital/Altamonte has had an unusually high number of summer flu cases, sald Fred Moore, spokesman. "We've had two or three reported every night. There hasn't been a sudden increase, it's just been steady all summer.

Florida Hospital offers flu shots for employees through their health program, but not to the general public. Moore said.

"We offer flu shots as a free service to our own employees," said Kay Bartholomew, public relations, Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. However, she suggests that members of the public get their flu shots from their own physician or a county health center.

Central Florida Regional Hospital had no cases of flu Friday. but Ms. Bartholomew said they usually tell people to treat the flu "just about like a cold. Get plenty of bed rest, drink fluids and take aspirin," she said.

"We do a variety of public education programs here." said Guzman, Guadalupe Loza stood wearily atop a South Seminole Community Hospital. "In the future we may offer a program on how to care for yourself during the winter" which may include information on preventing or getting rid of South Seminole Community Hospital had only 3 cases of flu reported in 1985 and none in 1984 since their opening in May of that year.

In addition, South Seminole receives packages on public information programs from the American College of Physicians that may be of assistance in teaching people how to avoid colds and flu during weather changes and in the winter months, Ms. Clark said.

There has not been an upsurge of the influenza virus in the Sanford area yet this school year, according to Dr. Dean cember and tapering off in Feb-Gallupe, medical director of the ruary. Bible Camp's Raid Makes Mockery Of Christianity

DEAR ABBY: Our son recently returned from a Bible camp sponsored by our local church where the following incident occurred:

It was late evening when 25 to 35 kids, aged 13 to 14, were in the main dormitory with the lights out. Suddenly a dozen or so men in camouflage uniforms burst into the dorm with lanterns. One was armed with a shotgun, another had a rifle. They said they were an anti-Christian organization. No one was allowed to leave and several children were shoved and cuffed to indicate that they meant business. At first some kids laughed, then they became terrified and began to cry. Several children managed to slip out through a side door and duck into a school bus where they hid under the scats. Two girls were known to be held by the man who was carrying the rifle. Two shots were fired, and some of the kids assumed the girls were dead. Meanwhile, three other girls ran to a nearby cabin inhabited by some locals who became frightened and called the police.

The police arrived and contacted the camp counselor who. by the way, was a respected teacher and wrestling coach. He admitted it was a mock raid to show the kids what could happen to Christian children in some non-Christian countries! My wife still thinks this was a good "educational experience" for our son, and that I missed the point. I am angry, to say the least. Would you say this was educational? Your comments.

DEAR ABBY: I am the swimming supervisor for the Elmira Heights (N.Y.) Swimming Program. Earlier this week, I discussed a letter in your column with my Basic Water Safety class. It concerned the women whose husband (a nonswimmer) fell out of a boat and nearly drowned because he wasn't wearing a life jacket.

Because of this, the lifeguards in our area urged me to write and thank you for reminding non-swimmers to wear, life jackets. But, Abby, please stress that life jackets, vests and cushions are important not only for non-swimmers, but for every person who gets into a boat.

Many tragedies could be avoided if everyone who gets into a boat would wear a life

Cancer-Prone Patient Fears Use Of Estrogen

DEAR DR. GOTT - Three people in my family died of cancer. Now I have a burning in my vagina. Estrogen helps, but I am afraid to take it, since I heard that it causes cancer. What can I take or do for this problem?

DEAR READER - As long as you have a periodic gynecological exam, the use of estrogen creams to relieve your symptoms won't harm you. Use only what you need and for intermittent courses of therapy.

Estrogen pills are another matter. Your gynecologist can review your particular problem in detail, but I share your concern about estrogen and your family history. Some specialists recommend the combined use of two female hormones: estrogen and progestin. This dual treatment seems to carry much less uterine-cancer risk than the taking of estrogen alone. I am certain that your doctor would be willing to discuss this with you, and he or she may recommend this after examining you completely.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I had a pain in my left arm that went way down into my left breast. All I could think of was cancer. I had my breast X-rayed and all turned out OK. The doctors say the pain may be caused by arthritis. Can you explain this?

DEAR READER - It's hard to explain. Arm pain can stem from a variety of conditions, ranging from bursitis to muscle inflammation. Pain that radiates into the chest wall suggests an origin within the chest: heart, lung or esophagus. I would have to know the kind of pain you are experiencing, what makes it worse (or better) and its characteristics.

A mammogram is one test that should be performed; I'm glad yours was normal. However, you do need other investigation. As your doctor told you, arthritis in the shoulder can cause arm and chest pain because the shoulder muscles attach to arm bones and to the chest wall, and they can spasm when the shoulder is inflamed. If you still have pain, ask your doctors to re-think the Issue and to look further for an

has gynecomastia (breast swelling), does it mean that he has a hormone Imbalance? What should be done?

DEAR READER -Gynecomastia in an adult male - enlarge as a result of medicine. is never normal. It always results from a hormone imbalance: either the man is losing his own supply of testosterone or he is

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When the opponents open the bidding at the nasty level of four or five, you will need good judgment. You will also have to hope that your partner won't hang you for doing the right

At rubber bridge, your nonvulnerable right-hand opponent (RHO) opens with five diamonds. If you're like me, you bid five spades. Now North erroneously believes that since you bid at the five-level, you must have 11 tricks and that A-K-Q of clubs are icing on the cake. If you don't already know it, make a note right away that a game bid over an opponent's pre-empt usually needs whatever help the companion hand can give it. Be glad that you've got some tricks when partner decides to bid a game in the dark.

West led the king of hearts. Despite the abourd bid by North declarer had some chances, but bear in mind that he had a much stronger hand than he might have held to bid five spades under the pressure of East's pre-empt. If both black jacks come down. South would actually make a grand slam. First he tried trumps. Alas, West had four to the jack. What now? The answer is that declarer must engineer four heart discards on dummy's clubs to make the slam. There's only one club combination to allow that -J-x-x-x in West's hand. Declarer finessed dummy's club 10, which held, but West had only three clubs to the jack. West trumped in on the fourth club and cashed the queen of hearts for down one.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY BEPTEMBER 24, 1985

In the year ahead you will find yourself more deeply involved than usual in creative endeavors. Your efforts will produce both success and pride of accomplishment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Bargaining, bartering, buying or selling should be your cup of tea today. You'll make good deals for yourself, but you won't take advantage of anyone in the process. Major changes are ahead for Libras in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodlac sign.

BCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) You're experiencing a rather fortunate trend where money is concerned. Something unusual could develop today that may latest hopeful interest that has lead to a small windfall.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be extremely adept today at putting yourself in the right spot at the just the right time without making your moves or motives obvious to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't toss in the towel today. even if you think everything is going against you. Conditions will make a switch and you'll suddenly end up on top.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll perform best today if you do things of your own choosing. Don't be lax to the point of letting others do your planning for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're in a favorable cycle where the good you do is more readily noted and appreciated by your peers. Follow the dictates of your charitable instincts.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Temporarily shelve your older projects and devote as much quality time as possible to the captured your fancy.

TAURÚS (April 20-May 20) An important objective can be achieved today, but bold measures may be required on your behalf. Don't be timid once you commit yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You and your special someone will be in accord today on most major issues. This is a good time to use your collective ideas productively.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You should be rather lucky today, but not necessarily from your own efforts. People who love you will be doing all they can to try to please you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll have an uplifting effect today on people with whom you'll be associating. You'll know exactly what to say to make them feel good about themselves.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you speak from the true "inner you," listeners whose attention you desire will respond favorably to everything you have to say.
