Cop-shooting accomplice jailed

SANFORD — A Sanford youth who was involved in the shooting of a Sanford police officer last May was sentenced to two and a half years in jail Thursday and placed on probation for seven and a half years.

Kevin Black, 16, pleaded guilty last month to conspiracy to commit aggravated battery and use of a firearm in committing a felony.

Black agreed to the plea and to testify against Gregory Taylor, 17, who was convicted in October of attempted murder in connection with the shooting.

Black admitted he shot a gun into the air last May 27 near Cowan Moughtan Terrace when Taylor fired a shot at a police patrol car.

A 30-30 rifle bullet went through the rear window of the patrol car and hit officer Tim Welter in the neck, causing a flesh wound.

Bank workers respond to plea

SANFORD — Sylvester Chang's efforts to raise money to give the children of Sanford's public housing projects a Christmas party has prompted employees of a Sanford bank to donate money raised for their own Christmas party.

Mark Martin, manager of the Sanford branch of Barnett Bank, said employees at the bank usually have an office Christmas party featuring a gift exchange.

When employees heard of Chang's drive, they decided to contribute the money they would have spent on gifts and refreshments for their own party, about $200, to the children's fund. Many also contributed toys to the drive also, he said.

Chang said First Union Bank in Sanford has agreed to contribute $500 to the fund and that several elected officials and other businesses have also agreed to contributions.

Chang, owner of a Mobile service station, decided to start the fund drive when he learned that efforts by the Sanford Housing Authority to raise money for the annual children's party had only raised $85.

SHA director fired

Board members met by angry audience

By BRAD CHURCH
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sanford's public housing projects have no executive director nor housing manager today following a raucous meeting last night in which members of the audience loudly expressed anger at housing board members, the executive director fired, and police were called.

The Sanford Housing Authority voted 3-2 last night to fire Linda Williams, the SHA's interim executive director and housing manager.

Williams, who was paid $37,065 annually, is the second executive director to be fired by board members in the past two years.

Board member Jim Valerino said today he will request another special meeting for the board to hire a housing manager. He said he will make a motion to hire Williams as the housing manager, the position she held before being appointed interim executive director.

The vote came after the board heard about two hours of comments, all supporting Williams, from an overflow crowd at the Redding Gardens meeting room.

The special meeting to consider Williams' employment was called by board member J. Wain Cummings in a Nov. 21 letter to board chairwoman Terri Boratti. In the letter, Cummings said he no longer had confidence in Williams and asked for the special meeting.

At the end of a meeting interrupted many times with comments from the crowd, Cummings moved to dismiss Williams but the motion was not seconded.

Then board member Shirley Allen moved that Williams be retained with a high vote of confidence and Valerino seconded the motion.

The motion was defeated on a 3-2 vote, with board members Cummings, Boratti and Alberto Detreville voting against it.

Jim Sweeting, the board's attorney, first ruled the motion resulted in Williams' dismissal, then changed his mind when Allen said her motion was not meant to be one of removal or retention of Williams.

Again Cummings moved to remove Williams from her position and this time Detreville seconded the motion and it passed by the same 3-2 vote.

After the vote, Sweeting told the board it has vacancies in both the executive director and housing manager positions and it could vote to fill either. Williams was the SHA housing manager when she was appointed interim executive director. No one has filled the housing manager position since. A motion to make Williams permanent executive director made by Valerino failed by the same 3-2 split.

Cummings then moved to adjourn, and again the motion passed 3-2, leaving both positions vacant and in management for the housing projects. If the board decides to call another

Cocaine blamed for death

By SUSAN LOEHN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said he expects autopsy results to confirm that Annette Dessow, 35, was killed by cocaine.

Dessow died Monday at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. She had been on a life support system since Dec. 7 after she was found unresponsive in her cell at the county jail.

Hughey said Dessow, who was also known as Annette Lawson, was jailed at about 6:27 a.m. Dec. 7 on traffic charges and for battery on a policeman. She was admitted to the hospital later in the day, and preliminary blood tests taken at about 6 p.m. that day showed Dessow was under the influence of cocaine when she was jailed, Hughey said. Autopsy results will be available early next week.

She is the second Seminole County prisoner to die from crack cocaine believed obtained in rural Altamonte Springs since Nov. 28. On Nov. 28, Gary Lynn Reed, 31, of Orlando, was arrested in rural Altamonte Springs and brought to the county jail. Before he was incarcerated, a jail nurse turned him away and told deputies Reed had to be checked by doctors before he could be jailed. The nurse said his eyes were dilated and he was under the influence of a drug when he was arrested.

At the hospital, Reed was in critical care until his death at about 4 a.m. Nov. 29. Hughey said an autopsy showed Reed was under the influence of cocaine, alcohol and amphetamines when he was taken into custody on a burglary charge.

Investigators are trying to determine what was wrong with the cocaine Reed ingested and the source or sources of that cocaine, Hughey said.

State attorney's report clears former county schools warehouse employee

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Edna Mae Keller, a former Seminole County school district warehouse specialist, said this morning she is glad an investigation into her activities while she was employed by the school district is over and she was found innocent of any wrongdoing.

"I always felt that I hadn't done anything wrong," she said.

A report released yesterday by the Brevard Seminole state attorney's office said Keller and Orlando businessman Lee Ferdinando did not conspire to defraud the district. According to the report, Ferdinando sold the school district, through Keller, more than $200,000 worth of overpriced paintball supplies between 1983 and Keller's retirement in April of 1988. Some supplies were, according to the report, enough to last 10 years.

The report concluded, however, that Keller had had no supervision and no training to perform her job properly and that she was an "easy sell" for the

Woman files suit; wants reinstated to GOP committee

CASSELBERRY — A former member of the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee has filed suit against committee chairman James Oeque seeking reinstatement to the party organization.

Geraldine McEwan claims she was removed from the executive committee without just cause. McEwan claims the committee's own rules, as well as state party rules and state laws, were violated in her removal. The suit was filed in Seminole Circuit Court Wednesday afternoon.

McEwan said she isn't seeking money or other retribution, she is simply seeking to be placed back on the executive committee, the governing board of the official party activities in Seminole County.

Now the U.S. Navy is honoring the two men who helped those men and women make the decision to enlist. The Sanford Navy recruiting station, located at 2480 W. Airport Blvd., has been named the top station in the Jacksonville district.

Machinist's Mate, First Class Enrico C. "Rocky" Morris and Signalman First Class Gilberto A. Berrios received the district award in Jacksonville Dec. 2 for their recruiting work in Sanford, Lake Mary, Oviedo and Casselberry.

From October 1988 to September, 63 men and women from the Sanford area joined the Navy. Five of those recruits qualified for the Navy's prestigious nuclear power program.

Nurse's aide sentenced to a year in jail

By SHANE GARDNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A nurse's aide convicted last month of stealing thousands of dollars from an elderly Longwood man in her care was sentenced Thursday to a year in jail by Circuit Judge Robert McGregor.

Patrick Van Dyke, 43, was also spend 15 years on probation and was ordered to pay $30,000 to the estate of her former patient, George Reek, and $1,000 in court costs.

Van Dyke was charged with second-degree grand theft, accused of taking about $44,000 from Reek's bank account in March, 1988. A jury convicted her of the lesser charge of third degree theft, limiting the amount she could be ordered to pay back to $80,000.

with the theft and a bail bondman traced her there and brought her back.

When she failed to appear a second time, the bondman contacted her in New York and sent her an airplane ticket to return to Seminole County for trial.

Van Dyke asked Judge McGregor Thursday to let her go back to New York to live with her aunt and work in the day care center the aunt owns.

However, McGregor told her she does not deserve to get off so easily and go on with her life without paying a penalty. He also ordered her to get court approval before her name is placed on anyone else's bank account or before she acts as a nurse's aide for anyone over the age of 65.

Bob Fisher, assistant state attorney who prosecuted the case, said during the trial that Van Dyke was hired by Reek, then 84, to care for him in his home.

His wife was in a nursing home. In March of 1988 he put Van Dyke's name on his bank account so she could make purchases for him, Fisher said.

He introduced evidence showing Van Dyke withdrew money from Reek's accounts, paid cash for a $30,500 mobile home and bought a $10,000 certificate of deposit. Reek died a few weeks later.

Van Dyke was also convicted of two counts of failing to appear in court. She moved to New York shortly after she was charged her aunt and work in the day care center the aunt owns.

However, McGregor told her she does not deserve to get off so easily and go on with her life without paying a penalty. He also ordered her to get court approval before her name is placed on anyone else's bank account or before she acts as a nurse's aide for anyone over the age of 65.

"aggressive sales tactics" of Ferdinando.

The report said it was the lack of internal controls and sloppy record keeping, not a conspiracy between Ferdinando and Keller, that caused excesses in supply purchasing.

For nearly six years, until her retirement in April of 1988, Keller was responsible for all janitorial supply purchases made by the school district. Nearly half of those supplies were purchased from three companies managed by Ferdinando.

Lee Chemicals, All-Chem Company and the JR Chemical Company of Florida were established businesses that were bought by Ferdinando. He admitted, during the state attorney's four and a-half month investigation, that he used the three companies as a selling tactic. However, the report concluded, that is not illegal.

The report concluded Keller did not violate any board policies requiring that she seek sealed bids for purchases of the chemicals because all purchases were in amounts of less than $2,000. According to board policy, purchases of more than $4,000 must be priced through a sealed bidding process. For those ranging from $300 to $3999, a phone quotation from at least three companies is required. No quotations are required for purchases of less than $2,000.

The report said Keller went beyond requirements and took phone bids on all chemical purchases from at least three companies, one of which was almost always one of Ferdinando's other companies.

The report concluded that Keller did the extra price checking "even though she wasn't required to do it."

State attorney's office investigators reported that they contacted the other companies listed in Keller's purchase orders and they all confirmed that the price indicated by Keller was accurate at that time for that product.

Keller said this morning that she had not yet heard from the state attorney's office regarding the conclusion of her case, but she was "glad" if it was, indeed over. "I always felt that I hadn't done anything wrong."

She added Ferdinando was an aggressive salesman who was selling what the district wanted. "They (the district) asked for products by trade name and he had those products at the lowest prices."

In response to negative state auditor general reports in 1985, 1986 and 1987, the district has revised its purchasing procedures so that employees who make purchases do not also have control over warehouse inventory.

Additionally, those employees who failed to tighten controls during Keller's tenure and beyond have, according to district records, either transferred to other departments or taken jobs outside the school district.

Assistant superintendent for business and finance, Carey Ferrell, was not available for comment.

A belligerent act

Greenpeace has every right to express its opposition to the Navy's Trident 3 missile program. But militant encounters such as the one off the coast of Florida are both reckless and counterproductive.

Greenpeace mistakenly seeks to arouse public sympathy by playing David to the Navy's Goliath. This public relations gambit fails for the simple reason that the Navy is no threat to Greenpeace.

According to the spokesman for the environmental group, if the ship Greenpeace had belonged to a foreign government, the two-hour confrontation 50 miles east of Cape Canaveral would have been an act of war. Precisely so. And the Greenpeace, which started the battle, would be at the bottom of the ocean.

The U.S. Navy acted responsibly by declaring a 5,000-yard exclusion zone around a submarine preparing to test launch a Trident 3 missile. The Navy also acted responsibly and with restraint by keeping the Greenpeace outside the dangerous security zone by sending it (or removing it) off its course, using the minimum force necessary.

The Greenpeace, a 150-foot ocean-going tugboat, exceeded the bounds of peaceful protest by sailing provocatively into the exclusion zone and then launching hostile speeches in an unsuccessful bid to disrupt the test launch.

In the past, Greenpeace's combative followers have managed to block temporarily the Navy's scheduled missile tests on the high seas.

The incident off the Florida coast was a calculated, belligerent act that put lives at risk on both sides. The Greenpeace towed the submarine and its support ships from port in an escalation-getting attempt to interfere with the Navy's activities. The Navy dealt with the intrusion effectively, if none too gently.

In her encounter with the Navy, the Greenpeace was damaged above the waterline. Her engines also were put out of action temporarily by sea water holed down the smokestacks by the crews of three Navy vessels that "shouldered" — in the Navy's parlance — the Greenpeace out of the launch area. The Navy's action was necessary both to allow the missile test to occur safely and to protect the lives of those aboard the Greenpeace.

It is pure hypocrisy for the protesters to complain the Navy gave them rough treatment. Greenpeace deliberately provoked the confrontation. The ship ignored at least 50 radioed warnings to stand clear of the exclusion zone, purposefully seeking the confrontation.

Greenpeace is entitled to press its views peacefully and legally. It does not have the right to endanger lives by trying forcefully to obstruct the Navy's nuclear-deterrence program.

Revisiting 'The Rural Renaissance'

Wouldn't you like to live where you'd like to live? Many urban Americans don't. How would you like to be pushed to live where you don't want to live? That happens to many rural Americans. It's a problem, and the seeds of a solution are on the farm.

Polls show that about half of all Americans (not me) would like to live on "farms" in "small towns" or "rural areas." But only about a quarter actually do. There are about 60 million unoccupied ruralians.

Further, more than half the rural counties are losing population. The folks who leave are not usually leaving because they want to.

The cultural indicators are also pre-rural: country music, jeans, toy tractors in the back yard, cowboy movies, cow-operated bucking horses at the shopping mall. There are lots of people who would like to be away from urban crime, drugs, racial tensions, crowding, traffic jams. Some people think trees are prettier than cement.

So why don't the urbanites move? And why do the ruralians keep on moving? There are no jobs in rural areas.

There is the germ of a national policy in this situation. If urbanites feel crowded, and ruralites complain that they need people ...

There was a time, during the '70s when it was happening, it was called "The Rural Renaissance." There were new rural recreation and retirement communities, a booming market for farm exports, factories moving to the countryside, new oil discoveries and high demand for minerals. For the first time, rural areas grew faster than the urban ones.

The big recession in the early '80s wiped it out: oil, mineral and food prices plunged. Manufacturing went overseas. Since 1980, urban areas have grown much faster than rural areas.

The Rural Renaissance dream makes sense. In a high-tech world, urban advantages can be enjoyed in the country. The fix is a messenger service, VCRs and cable television provide entertainment, computers do everything else, including medical diagnostics.

Can it happen? Or will we become irrevocably more urban, more of us living near the oceans and fewer of us in the interior heartland?

Demographer Calvin Beale, of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is mildly optimistic. Farm income is up. The decline in mining and manufacturing jobs has plateaued. Growth in rural retirement and recreation communities never stopped. The rural unemployment rate is now coming down.

Should we try to encourage, via legislation, a renaissance of the rural renaissance? Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., thinks we should.

The answer is obvious. Break the stranglehold of the agricultural lobbyists. Pass out the money from farm subsidies and put it into water supply, roads, sewers, airports, fiber-optic switchboards.

That could create jobs, letting some country boys in the cities get back to the country. It could make it easier for some country boys to stay in the country. And, in the event of another farm crisis, it could help farmers stick it out.

There are about 60 million unoccupied ruralians.

GEORGE F. WILL

Everyone loves a slasher

WASHINGTON — If you relish having your blood curdled, and millions of Americans do, dim the lights and think about this: Stephen King's new novel "The Dark Half" had a first printing of 1.5 million hardbacks. Laid end-to-end they would reach from Chicago to Cincinnati, about 300 miles.

A nation's recreational tastes are important for their effects and symptoms. Anything so many people choose to do is fascinating, especially when what they choose is so unpleasant ("...the man's face almost seemed to be boiled...Sticky, unthinkable fluid ran down hillocks of propped flesh..." — you get the flavor). Unpleasant, but strangely pleasurable, surely, to be worth $21.95.

The plot skids along on a sheet of blood and bursts of the bizarre. That Beaumont, King's protagonist, has a headache. Not surprising, that. He has a brain tumor and the surgeon removing it also removes from Beaumont's brain an eye (and three fingernails, two teeth and a nostril — no partridge in a pear tree, however). They are reminders of what would have been a twin had the fetal Beaumont not absorbed it in utero. This is somehow (a little suspension of belief is required and King, who recently published four novels in 15 months, does not tarry for fine points) related to Beaumont's real problem, which is George Stark.

Under the pseudonym, Beaumont, a serious novelist, writes schlock crime novels of extreme violence. When Beaumont stops writing them, Stark comes to life and is not happy. He carves his way toward Beaumont wielding a razor and a blowtorch with which to torture Beaumont's babies, if that is necessary to get Beaumont to start writing as Stark again.

Savagery erupts with metronomic regularity. Why do millions read it? Well, why do drivers slow down to gaze at highway carnage? There is a pornography of violence, and especially of sadism. Something in us is drawn toward what we are ashamed of being drawn toward. Call that something our darker half.

The fiction of horror and the supernatural has a distinguished pedigree, stretching from Homer ("Ulysses") through Poe and Henry James. Beneath an arresting headline ("Kill! Burn! Eviscerate! Bludgeon! It's Literary Again to be Horrible.") Michiko Kakutani of the New York Times explains today's increase of hideous episodes even in serious fiction as, in part, a post-modernist return to traditional storytelling that yields accessible morals.

Kakutani notes that fiction dealing with the heightened emotions and bizarre events was mass entertainment in the Victorian era when, as today, journalism supplied stories of lurid real-life episodes. Then as now there was anxiety about dissolving social values and evolving science and technology (industrialism).

Today's popularity of horror fiction and films has occasioned much heavy theorizing, such as that by the thinker who says (with special reference to movies in which folks get eaten), "We don't seem to have gotten used to being at the top of our food chain." The King phenomenon has loosed a torrent of sociology, including one fellow's notion that King is the sort of catharsis required by capitalism:

"We are meant to feel always aroused, always unsatisfied. But even in the most advanced states of capitalism, no consumer is so heady with acquisitive power as to avoid the need to seek respite and expiation from living vicariously." Eastern Europe, he warned: First comes capitalism, then comes Stephen King with razor murders to make it all bearable.

Two academics have studied horror films and concluded that teen-age boys who watch the films stoically are — yep — attractive to girls, who are attracted to the boys when they shudder. That is social science doing what it so often does, stumbling upon the obvious with a sense of discovery.

However, a not-at-all-trivial datum is this: 60 percent of the audience for the "slash" and other horror films are black and Hispanic teen-agers. People whose lives are menaced by everyday violence tend to feel helpless. They combat that feeling by identifying with violent aggressors.

The eyes of those audiences are glued to movie screens, not King's pages, but many young people do read him. There is nothing new about young people being attracted to things that "gross out" adult society. And it is perhaps nice that they are reading something other than cartoon books.

There is a pornography of violence, and especially of sadism.

Maureen Reagan is miffed over memoirs

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan's daughter Maureen and his famous speechwriter Peggy Noonan are about to do battle over Noonan's forthcoming memoirs.

Knowledgeable sources tell us that Maureen Reagan has already sent a letter of warning to Noonan's publisher, Random House, claiming that two references to Maureen in the book are not true. At issue is Noonan's portrayal of Maureen Reagan, which the former first daughter apparently finds unflattering. Maureen, like her stepmother Nancy, has grown tired of being the butt of everyone else's memoirs.

Noonan's book, "What I Saw at the Revolution," is not due out until February. But excerpts were published in The New York Times Magazine in October, including accounts of two run-ins between the speechwriter and the first daughter. We have seen a draft of the book, and there is a third critical reference that Maureen Reagan does not yet know about.

In the published excerpt, Noonan recalls her first meeting with Maureen in the White House mess. Maureen reportedly received a phone call from the office of a top White House aide, cured and left in a huff. Noonan describes her face, "like the face of Bette Davis in 'Elizabeth the Queen' when Errol Flynn did something impertinent."

The second story is more serious. Noonan says that Maureen tried to get her fired because the first daughter didn't like one of Noonan's speeches. Noonan quotes her boss, Richard Darman, as telling her "Miss Maureen Reagan was just over here telling some very important people that you should be fired."

Darman, now budget director for George Bush, told us he doesn't remember saying that. But he vouched for the general accuracy of Noonan's other references to him. Our sources say Maureen Reagan does not remember the conversation and says she never tried to get Noonan fired.

Maureen's husband, attorney and public relations consultant Dennis Revell, wrote the letter of protest to Random House and said that unless the publisher contacted him and his wife as part of a "libel review," he would presume, "that the editorial state of mind of your company is such that it has chosen to act with careless and reckless disregard for the truth and (Maureen Reagan's) reputation." In other words, Revell was laying the groundwork for a lawsuit. The response from Random House, said Noonan, is sticking by her stories, which are "not on their face defamatory." Revell told us the dispute is "a serious matter."

What Maureen Reagan hasn't seen is the most biting reference. Noonan writes: "Once in the early winter of '88 a group of White House people were at a brunch, and one asked, 'How is Maureen?' and everyone told funny stories with a certain edge, and someone said that it was impressive how she always got the old man to back her up on stuff, and someone said, 'Yes, how does she do it?' "A smart woman said, 'Because he's afraid of her.' Perhaps, and why wouldn't he be, and not only of her but of all of them (his children). He must have felt such guilt! He couldn't match their demands or meet the constant unspoken needs, the rebuke of his daughter's doleful gaze; the challenge of that daughter's aggression ..." It is not clear from the chapter whether Noonan means only Maureen Reagan or the estranged daughter Patty Davis.

Maureen tried to get her fired because the first daughter didn't like one of Noonan's speeches.

Pointdexter wants Reagan at his trial

WASHINGTON — President Bush and Ronald Reagan want to avoid the appearance they "are still attempting to hide the true facts regarding their involvement" in the Iran-Contra scandal, John Pointdexter's lawyers told a federal judge.

Pointdexter, Reagan's former national security adviser, is accused of five criminal charges and has subpoenaed Reagan's diaries and other documents to bolster his trial defense that Reagan was an active participant in the Iran-Contra affair.

The Justice Department, representing Bush, and Reagan's personal lawyer are seeking to quash the subpoena, authorized by U.S. District Judge Harold Greene. Pointdexter's trial is set to begin Jan. 22.

In legal arguments to Greene, Pointdexter's lawyers criticized Reagan and the Justice Department Thursday for raising the doctrine of executive privilege in their earlier briefs, without formally invoking it.

Jury convicts Angelo of murder

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. — Jurors who convicted a Long Island nurse of second-degree murder for fatally injecting hospital patients with a paralyzing drug agonized during eight days of deliberations over the defendant's mental stability.

The panel Thursday found Richard Angelo, 27, guilty of second-degree murder and manslaughter for injecting the nerve-paralyzing drug Pavulon into seven patients at Good Samaritan Hospital in West Islip, killing four of them.

Chileans celebrate opposition win

SANTIAGO, Chile — Thousands of people poured into Santiago's streets early today to celebrate the victory of opposition candidate Patricio Aylwin, who will effectively end 16 years of military rule when he succeeds President Augusto Pinochet.

Aylwin, the 71-year-old candidate of a "rainbow" coalition of political parties, handily defeated two other opponents Thursday in the first democratic elections since Pinochet swept to power in a 1973 coup.

"I filed the suit so I can be reinstated and expose all their illegal activity," McEwan said. "People are being taken out without due process."

McEwan said she never received notice that she was to be removed as required by committee rules. She said she was not able to discover when she was taken from her elected office because party officials refused to allow her to see committee records.

"I'm a new committee member," McEwan said. "I was just trying to find out what was going on."

McEwan was first elected to the executive committee during the Sept. 6, 1988 primary. The executive committee is comprised of Republican representatives of each precinct in the county.

Ocque said McEwan was removed in accordance with Florida laws governing parties that allow committee members to be removed after three consecutive unexcused absences. Ocque said the laws do not require a notice be sent to the member being considered for removal.

McEwan said she believes her removal was part of a party effort to remove new, fringe members in the party and re-align their rank supporters of the old-line party members. She said many members have been removed from the committee as a result.

Committee records filed with the Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Office show that of the 68 committeemen and committee women elected in September 1988, 20 either no longer appeared or were replaced in the June 27, 1989 report — the latest report filed with the elections office.

Ocque said the allegation was untrue.

"There was no attempt," Ocque said. "Due to the nature of it, you try to be as squeaky clean as you can be. You start doing things like that and you get yourself in trouble real fast."

Ocque said Thursday evening he had not seen the lawsuit.

Dissident physicist Sakharov, 68, dies

United Press International

MOSCOW — Andrei Sakharov, father of the Soviet H-bomb who became his country's leading dissident and then the voice of Russian liberalism in the new Soviet parliament, died Thursday, the nation was told Friday. He was 68.

The 2,250-member Congress of People's Deputies stood and observed a minute of silence Friday on being informed of the death of the physicist-humanitarian by Politburo member Vitali Vorotnikov presiding at the Congress.

"Respected comrade deputies we have the misfortune to inform you that yesterday Andrei Dmitrievich Sakharov died," Vorotnikov said as Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, who brought Sakharov back from exile, sat to Vorotnikov's right.

Sakharov, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1975, long suffered heart disease, but the cause of death was not immediately disclosed.

Roy Medvedev, a historian and fellow dissident from the 1960s and 1970s and also now a legislator, said, "Sakharov played a great role in the history of Russian liberalism. No one was greater in the history of Russian liberalism. He spoke not as a socialist or as a social democrat, he always spoke as a liberal."

Dmitri Likhachev, who has been called the conscience of the Russian intelligentsia, called Sakharov "an absolutely peerless person."

In Washington, the White House immediately praised Sakharov's tireless devotion to the Soviet Union's long-repressed human rights movement.

"Andrei Sakharov is a historical figure who will be long remembered for his human rights efforts in the Soviet Union," White House spokesman Roman Popadiuk said. "His voice was an important dimension in the contemporary changes under way in Soviet society."

In Los Angeles, former President Reagan called Sakharov "a man of great principle and a true general in the fight for human rights."

"His courage, his eloquence and his unshakable belief in the dignity of man was an inspiration to us all," Reagan said.

Cheney to cut troops

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney will cut U.S. troop strength by an additional 25,000 this fiscal year, but will push for full production of the B-2 stealth bomber in the new fiscal 1991 budget, officials said.

The decision to reduce the nation's 2.1 million troops by an additional 25,000 in fiscal 1990 was made to help meet the Pentagon's $1.7 billion budget cut mandated by a deficit reduction law, defense spokesman Pete Williams said.

The failure of Congress this year to pass deficit reduction legislation on time triggered automatic, across-the-board federal budget cuts, called a sequestration. The Pentagon's share of this was $1.7 billion.

Cheney planned to submit a $292.5 billion defense spending plan for fiscal 1991 to budget director Richard Darman today. President Bush will present the entire federal budget to Congress Jan. 22.

In another major budget decision, Cheney will recommend building all five B-2 planes called for in fiscal 1991 under the multi-year $70 billion program, defense sources said.

Cheney, however, put off a decision on the number of planes to be built in future years, leaving open the possibility that the costly program to build 132 of the radar-evading bombers could be scaled back.

Defense officials who spoke on condition they not be identified said Cheney decided to go ahead with full production of the B-2 in fiscal 1991, rejecting the recommendation of Air Force Secretary Donald Rice.

Original Santa wore skirts, women claim; men disagree

United Press International

SAN FRANCISCO — Equal rights for Mrs. Claus.

"It's about time America admits Santa Claus is really (the Italian legendary figure) Befana, a woman, as Europe has known for hundreds of years," County Supervisor Angela Aloto told an unusual hearing Wednesday.

Aloto told the San Francisco Court of Historical Review and Appeals, a mock court that debates historical questions, that the jolly old elf (or elfette) actually originated from tales of the elderly Befana, who is said to deliver presents to children in Europe each Jan. 6, the Feast of the Epiphany.

Municipal Court Judge Diane Wick also argued that the original Santa wore skirts, attacking the traditional male Santa Claus as "a hoax and a fraud on the people of this country, especially the children." The male Santa image, she charged, is a bad example for kids — fat, a smoker and "a perfect candidate for a heart attack."

Professor Lee Dolson of the City College of San Francisco testified that the legend of a male Santa Claus originated from stories of St. Nicholas, a fourth-century bishop in what is now Turkey.

IN BRIEF

Alarie lifts Bullets again

Mark Alarie has started three games for the injured John Williams, and in two of those games the Washington Bullets forward has produced the game-winning basket.

Alarie, who scored a left-handed hook with 23 seconds left Dec. 9 to beat the NBA's best team — the Los Angeles Lakers — sank a 15-foot jumper with 15 seconds left Thursday night to beat the NBA's worst team the Charlotte Hornets, 105-101.

"Against the Lakers I was just lucky to get the rebound and make the shot," said Alarie, who finished tonight with 20 points and a season-high 11 rebounds. "The play was designed for me tonight. We've run it a lot of times. A man comes down and sets a pick for me. I pop up to the foul line. If the shot's there, I take it."

Former Bull Tyrone Bogues made two foul shots with 1:43 to play to pull Charlotte to within 101-99.

In other NBA action Indiana hammered New Jersey 102-78 and San Antonio tipped Houston 104-100.

Protests

Saltwater licenses now on sale

TALLAHASSEE — The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reminds all recreational fishing interests that effective Jan. 1, 1990, a saltwater fishing license will be required for taking, attempting to take or possessing marine fish from Florida waters.

Licenses are now on sale at county tax collector's offices and designated bait and tackle shops throughout the state.

The cost of the saltwater fishing licenses for Florida residents is $12 per year or $10 for a 10-day license, plus service charge. The cost for nonresidents is $30 per year and $15 for a seven-day license, plus service charge.

There are several instances where a saltwater fishing license is not required. For information about those cases or any other details, contact the Seminole County tax collector's office of the DNR at (904) 488-5757.

Wilander to face Steeb in Davis

STUTTGART, West Germany — Mats Wilander Thursday was drawn to face Carl-Uwe Steeb in the opening singles match of the Davis Cup final, a rematch of last year's upset that helped West Germany upset Sweden.

Last year, the little-known West German who was ranked 73rd in the world at the time, brought down then-No. 1 Wilander in the final in Goteborg, Sweden, and the West Germans went on to claim their first Davis Cup title.

Wilander had said before the draw that he hoped to play Boris Becker in his opening singles but as he will play both players at some point anyway, the draw merely established order.

"I don't think I'll think about last year that much," the soft-spoken 25-year-old said. "I think the draw usually doesn't matter that much."

Steeb whose victory from two sets down was the sensation of the 1988 final, said he was pleased with the rematch.

There's no place like the road

In the NHL, a home game used to be considered an advantage. Lately, it seems to be a liability.

The Philadelphia Flyers, who were virtually unbeatable at home (Remember Kate Smith?), played host to the Hartford Whalers Thursday night. Result: Whalers 3, Flyers 2, dropping the Flyers to 6-8-1 in their building.

Aside from the Buffalo Sabres, who have dropped only one game at home this season, every team in the NHL appears vulnerable on their home ice.

"Teams have a tendency to play more confidently when they're not at home," Philadelphia Coach Paul Holmgren said. "It's part of a well-balanced league. This year, you have to play harder at home."

Elsewhere in the NHL Calgary ripped Quebec 6-2; Pittsburgh tied Minnesota 4-4; and Soviet Khimik topped St. Louis 6-3 in an exhibition match.

Rams, Hawks settle for tie

By MARK SVETNE
Herald sports writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary and Lake Howell scratched and clawed their way to a 1-1 tie Thursday night in Seminole Athletic Conference boys' soccer action at Lake Mary High School.

The Rams, now 3-1-1 overall and 2-0-1 in the SAC, return to action in the Pizza Hut Classic. Lake Howell moved its record to 1-3-1 overall, after dropping its first three games of the year, and will return to action Wednesday at Spruce Creek.

"I thought we played well," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "We're a young team. It was inexperience that set up the penalty kick that tied the score. In time, we won't make that mistake."

The match was evenly played throughout the first half with both goalies keeping their teams in the game. Lake Howell keeper Steve Munnell came up with a pair of nice saves with the Kevin Tyll coasting a web in front of the Ram net.

Lake Mary finally broke the ice in the second half when Bill Governale slipped between the defense and knocked in a corner kick. Chris Doran served the ball in before it was touched off two players. Governale then gained control and rifled a shot into the center of the net, just beating Munnell, for the game's initial score with 32:13 remaining to play.

The game then evened out for the next 10 minutes before Lake Mary began to establish control. The Rams pressured for the next 15 minutes but couldn't convert.

Lake Mary's best opportunity to put the game out of reach came when Travis Betsinger made a run up the middle of the field and took a feed from Justin Walker on a through ball directly in front of the crease. Betsinger played the ball to his right foot before sending a shot just wide.

Lake Howell then retaliated and kept the ball on the Lake Mary side of the field for the next two minutes. A break away sent Chris Brown to the far right where he began a run on the Ram goal before being tackled in the box. A foul was called on the play, setting up a penalty kick.

Brown made good on the attempt as he kept the ball low and to Tyll's left, just getting by his fingertips to tie the score 1-1 with 7:53 to play.

The Rams had a pair of last second chances but again could not finish off on their opportunities.

"The second half was the best we've played all year," McCorkle said. "We just didn't finish. If we begin to finish better, we'll be fine."

LAKE BRANTLEY 4, SEMINOLE 0

SANFORD — Pat Murrain scored two first half goals to carry the Lake Brantley Patriots to a 2-0 lead over the Lady Patriots.

Merthie, Rams stay unbeaten

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — Mike Merthie sank a field goal with three seconds remaining Thursday night to give the Lake Mary Rams a thrilling 62-61 boys' basketball win over Titusville-Astronaut.

Astronaut called a timeout with one second remaining, but couldn't get a shot off.

The Rams were in control of the game early, leading 17-12 at the end of the first quarter and stretching that advantage to 22-14 at the beginning of the second quarter. But Astronaut came right back to tie the score at 30-30 entering halftime.

In the second half, the two teams exchanged the lead several times, neither club leading by more than a couple of points. Lake Mary led by two points, 49-47, at the end of the third quarter.

Chris Davidson led the Rams with a game-high 16 points. Merthie finished with 13 while Jaimon Perry added 12 and Jason Hamelin contributed 11. For Astronaut, Darius Pinder scored 15 points while Tim Parker had 12 and J.R. Richard netted 10.

The win kept Lake Mary perfect on the young season at 3-0. The Rams will put that record on the line tonight when they host the Lake Howell Silver Hawks. Astronaut fell to 2-6 with the loss.

In the junior varsity game, Lake Mary romped over Astronaut 79-41.

LYMAN 61, COLONIAL 50

ORLANDO — Lyman's Greyhounds finally notched their first win of the 1989-90 boys' basketball season on Thursday night, defeating the Colonial Grenadiers 61-50 at Colonial High School.

The Greyhounds improved to 1-4 while Colonial dropped to 1-5.

"I'm glad we won for a change," said first-year Lyman coach Norm Ready. "We finally put it all together. Everyone got their job done. We did it all for four quarters. We played hard the whole way and that was the difference."

Colonial led 14-12 after one quarter, but Lyman outscored their hosts in each of the next three quarters to post the win.

Lyman's Heath Greenlee was the game's high scorer, netting 16 points. Octavius Holliday added 13 for the Greyhounds. Colonial was paced by Ray Fuller's 15-point effort.

The Greyhounds are now off until next Tuesday, when they will play Bishop Moore in the first round of the Central Florida Classic tournament at Seminole Community College.

ORANGEWOOD 88, MELBOURNE CC 61

MELBOURNE — Freshman Daniel Parke, starting at point guard in place of injured Colby Arrow (sprained ankle), scored a career-high 25 points as the Orangewood Christian Rams hammered Melbourne Central Catholic 85-51 on Thursday night.

Parke was 12-for-15 from the floor and 1-for-1 at the free throw line for his 25 points. Chris Winkler.

Top-ranked 'Noles beat Brantley

By MARK SVETNE
Herald sports writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Seminole's trio of Sheri Reddicka, Kocin Kennon and RuthAnn Williams carried the Tribe to an 80-57 over Lake Brantley in girls' Seminole Athletic Conference basketball action Thursday night at Lake Brantley High School.

Seminole, the top-ranked team in Class 3A, improved to 7-0 overall and 2-0 in the conference. They return to action Jan. 2 at Lake Howell. Lake Brantley fell to 3-5 and 0-2 in the SAC and will return to action Monday in the Lady Patriot Christmas Tournament.

"Again, the bench came through for us," Seminole coach John McNamara said. "We had just eight players tonight. The rest were out sick."

Reddicka led the Tribe with 27 points, 15 rebounds and four blocked shots. Kennon had 21 points with eight rebounds and seven assists as Williams netted 19 points while handling just seven assists and coming up with four steals.

Lori Dunce led Lake Brantley with 15 points, with Kelly Hartman contributing 14 and Christy Schroffel chipping in 10.

Lake Brantley stayed right with Seminole through the first quarter and trailed 22-19. Seminole held just a 34-30 lead at the intermission. The Tribe then exploded in the second half, outscoring the Patriots 46-27 to blow the game wide open.

Reddicka, who was in foul trouble most of the first half, scored 23 second half points to get the Seminole offense clicking.

"Being limited in players meant the bench had to come through when we got in foul trouble," McNamara said. "I was concerned when Sheri (Reddicka) picked up her second foul and when RuthAnn Williams had to come to the bench. Reddicka played just half a quarter in the first and Williams came out midway through the second period."

Seminole's bench players kept the Tribe in the lead as Yolonda Baker, Jewell Simmons and Julie Francis all came on the floor to aid in the victory.

"Reddicka opened things up in the second half," McNamara said. "She really played well."

Seminole, who has played five games in the past eight days, welcomes a rest which gives them nearly three weeks off.

"The girls have worked hard and are deserving of a break," McNamara said. "They've earned a rest over the holidays."

SCC hits road to Christmas tourney

By DEAN SMITH
Herald correspondent

The Seminole Community College men's basketball team has its work cut out for it this weekend as the Raiders travel to Winter Haven to compete in the Polk Community College Christmas Tournament.

Seminole will take on No. 8-ranked St. Petersburg Junior College at 6 p.m. in the tournament opener tonight. St. Petersburg is currently undefeated at 5-0.

According to one of the coaches that has played St. Petersburg, "This is the best team I have seen, and I've seen Polk, Lake City, Daytona and Miami-Dade North (the top four teams in this week's coaches poll)."

St. Petersburg returns four starters from last year's 23-5 team and is led by 6-8 sophomore center Rod Solomon and 6-5 forward David Fletcher. Solomon currently leads the state in blocked shots. Fletcher is a leaper who local fans may remember from his days in the Oviedo Christmas Tournament while prepping at Clearwater-Countryside.

If SCC is good enough to come out on top in this one, they will probably play the No. 1-ranked team in the state, Polk, in the finals Saturday at 8 p.m. Polk plays its opener at 8 p.m. against North Florida. Should the Raiders lose tonight, they would play this evening's 8 p.m. loser at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Polk, 11-1, took the top spot away from Miami-Dade North when they avenged an earlier loss to the Falcons

Jordan leads Bulls in rout over Magic, ex-teammates

United Press International

CHICAGO — The Orlando Magic came into the Stadium Thursday armed with a force of four ex-Bulls, but Michael Jordan said it only worked against them.

"I guess that I get up for games against ex-Bulls," said Jordan, the NBA's leading scorer. "Of course, there seems to be a lot of them around."

Jordan scored 38 points in 25 minutes, including 23 in the first half, as the Bulls made short work of Orlando, 124-113, for their seventh straight home victory.

Orlando coach Matt Guokas is a former Bull as are Magic players Dave Corzine, Sam Vincent and Reggie Theus.

"It was a very nice game for us tonight," said Bulls coach Phil Jackson. "A blowout like this takes away the crispness and tight play of a close game. We get loose and sloppy with a 15-point lead."

Nonetheless, Jackson admitted that the one-sided score "presented us with some good opportunities."

Chief among them was much-needed playing time for the bench. Will Perdue had 6 points and 6 rebounds, Craig Hodges 7 points and B.J. Armstrong 12 points and 4 assists. Each played at least 20 minutes.

Scottie Pippen had 20 points and eight steals, and Horace Grant added 16 points and 8 rebounds.

"This is a good sign," said Jordan, who nailed all three of his three-point attempts. "This will help us build a killer instinct."

After Orlando's Terry Calledge sank a 10-footer to open the contest, Chicago ran off the next 11 points, 7 of them by Jordan, to take a permanent lead.

Jordan connected on 10-of-14 field-goal tries and four consecutive free throws in the first half, in which the Bulls hit 55 percent from the floor to take a 66-52 advantage.

Behind Jordan's dozen points and Pippen's 10, the Bulls twice pulled ahead by as many as 27 points in the third period. Orlando pulled no closer than 11 points in the last quarter.

IN BRIEF

Alarie hits Bullets again

Mark Alarie has started three games for the injured John Williams, and in two of those games the Washington Bullets forward has produced the game-winning basket.

Alarie, who scored a left-handed hook with 23 seconds left Dec. 9 to beat the NBA's best team — the Los Angeles Lakers — sank a 15-foot jumper with 15 seconds left Thursday night to beat the NBA's worst team the Charlotte Hornets, 105-101.

"Against the Lakers I was just lucky to get the rebound and make the shot," said Alarie, who finished tonight with 20 points and a season-high 11 rebounds. "The play was designed for me tonight. We've run it a lot of times. A man comes down and sets a pick for me. I pop up to the foul line. If the shots there, I take it."

Former Bullet Tyrone Bogues made two foul shots with 1:43 to play to pull Charlotte to within 101-99.

In other NBA action Indiana hammered New Jersey 102-78 and San Antonio tipped Houston 104-100.

FISHING

Saltwater licenses now on sale

TALLAHASSEE — The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reminds all recreational fishing interests that effective Jan. 1, 1990, a saltwater fishing license will be required for taking, attempting to take or possessing marine fish from Florida waters.

Licenses are now on sale at county tax collector's offices and designated bait and tackle shops throughout the state.

The cost of the saltwater fishing license for Florida residents is $12 per year or $10 for a 10-day license, plus service charge. The cost for nonresidents is $30 per year and $15 for a seven-day license, plus service charge.

There are several instances where a saltwater fishing license is not required. For information about those cases or any other details, contact the Seminole County tax collector's office of the DNR at (904) 488-5757.

Wilander to face Steeb in Davis

STUTTGART, West Germany — Mats Wilander Thursday was drawn to face Carl-Uwe Steeb in the opening singles match of the Davis Cup final, a rematch of last year's upset that helped West Germany upset Sweden.

Last year, the little-known West German who was ranked 73rd in the world at the time, brought down then-No. 1 Wilander in the final in Goteborg, Sweden, and the West Germans went on to claim their first Davis Cup title.

Wilander had said before the draw that he hoped to play Boris Becker in his opening singles but as he will play both players at some point anyway, the draw merely established order.

"I don't think I'll think about last year that much," the soft-spoken 25-year-old said. "I think the draw usually doesn't matter that much."

Steeb whose victory from two sets down was the sensation of the 1988 final, said he was pleased with the rematch.

There's no place like the road

In the NHL, a home game used to be considered an advantage. Lately, it seems to be a liability.

The Philadelphia Flyers, who were virtually unbeatable at home (Remember Kate Smith?), played host to the Hartford Whalers Thursday night. Result: Whalers 3, Flyers 2, dropping the Flyers to 8-8-1 in their building.

Aside from the Buffalo Sabres, who have dropped only one game at home this season, every team in the NHL appears vulnerable on their home ice.

"Teams have a tendency to play more confidently when they're not at home," Philadelphia Coach Paul Holmgren said. "It's a part of a well-balanced league. This year, you have to play harder at home."

Elsewhere in the NHL Calgary ripped Quebec 8-2; Pittsburgh tied Minnesota 4-4; and Soviet Klitschik topped St. Louis 6-3 in an exhibition match.

Rams, Hawks settle for tie

By MARK SLYVNE
Herald sports writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary and Lake Howell scratched and clawed their way to a 1-1 tie Thursday night in Seminole Athletic Conference boys' soccer action at Lake Mary High School.

The Rams, now 3-1-1 overall and 2-0-1 in the SAC, return to action in the Pizza Hut Classic. Lake Howell moved its record to 1-3-1 overall, after dropping its first three games of the year, and will return to action Wednesday at Spruce Creek.

"I thought we played well," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "We're a young team. It was inexperience that set up the penalty kick that tied the score. In time, we won't make that mistake."

The match was evenly played throughout the first half with both goalies keeping their teams in the game. Lake Howell keeper Steve Munnell came up with a pair of nice saves with the Kevin Tyll casting a web in front of the Ram net.

Lake Mary finally broke the ice in the second half when Bill Governale slipped between the defense and knocked in a corner kick. Chris Doran served the ball in before it was touched off two players. Governale then gained control and rifled a shot into the center of the net, just beating Munnell, for the game's initial score with 32:13 remaining to play.

The game then evened out for the next 10 minutes before Lake Mary began to establish control. The Rams pressured for the next 15 minutes but couldn't convert.

Lake Mary's best opportunity to put the game out of reach came when Travis Betsinger made a run up the middle of the field and took a feed from Justin Walker on a through ball directly in front of the crease. Betsinger played the ball to his right foot before sending a shot just wide.

Lake Howell then retaliated and kept the ball on the Lake Mary side of the field for the next two minutes. A break away sent Chris Brown to the far right where he began a run on the Ram goal before being tackled in the box. A foul was called on the play, setting up a penalty kick.

Brown made good on the attempt as he kept the ball low and to Tyll's left, just getting by his fingertips to tie the score 1-1 with 7:52 to play.

The Rams had a pair of last second chances but again could not finish off on their opportunities.

"The second half was the best we've played all year," McCorkle said. "We just didn't finish. If we begin to finish better, we'll be fine."

Merthie, Rams stay unbeaten

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — Mike Merthie sank a field goal with three seconds remaining Thursday night to give the Lake Mary Rams a thrilling 62-61 boys' basketball win over Titusville-Astronaut.

Astronaut called a timeout with one second remaining, but couldn't get a shot off.

The Rams were in control of the game early, leading 17-12 at the end of the first quarter and stretching that advantage to 22-14 at the beginning of the second quarter. But Astronaut came right back to tie the score at 30-30 entering halftime.

In the second half, the two teams exchanged the lead several times, neither club leading by more than a couple of points. Lake Mary led by two points, 49-47, at the end of the third quarter.

Chris Davidson led the Rams with a game-high 16 points. Merthie finished with 13 while Jaimon Perry added 12 and Jason Hamelin contributed 11. For Astronaut, Darius Pinder scored 15 points while Tim Parker had 12 and J.R. Rickard netted 10.

The win kept Lake Mary perfect on the young season at 3-0. The Rams will put that record on the line tonight when they host the Lake Howell Silver Hawks. Astronaut fell to 2-6 with the loss.

In the junior varsity game, Lake Mary romped over Astronaut 79-41.

LYMAN 61, COLONIAL 50

ORLANDO — Lyman's Greyhounds finally notched their first win of the 1989-90 boys' basketball season on Thursday night, defeating the Colonial Grenadiers 61-50 at Colonial High School.

The Greyhounds improved to 1-4 while Colonial dropped to 1-5.

"I'm glad we won for a change," said first-year Lyman coach Norm Ready. "We finally put it all together. Everyone got their job done. We did it all for four quarters. We played hard the whole way and that was the difference."

Colonial led 14-12 after one quarter, but Lyman outscored their hosts in each of the next three quarters to post the win.

Lyman's Heath Greenlee was the game's high scorer, netting 16 points. Octavius Holliday added 13 for the Greyhounds. Colonial was paced by Ray Fuller's 15-point effort.

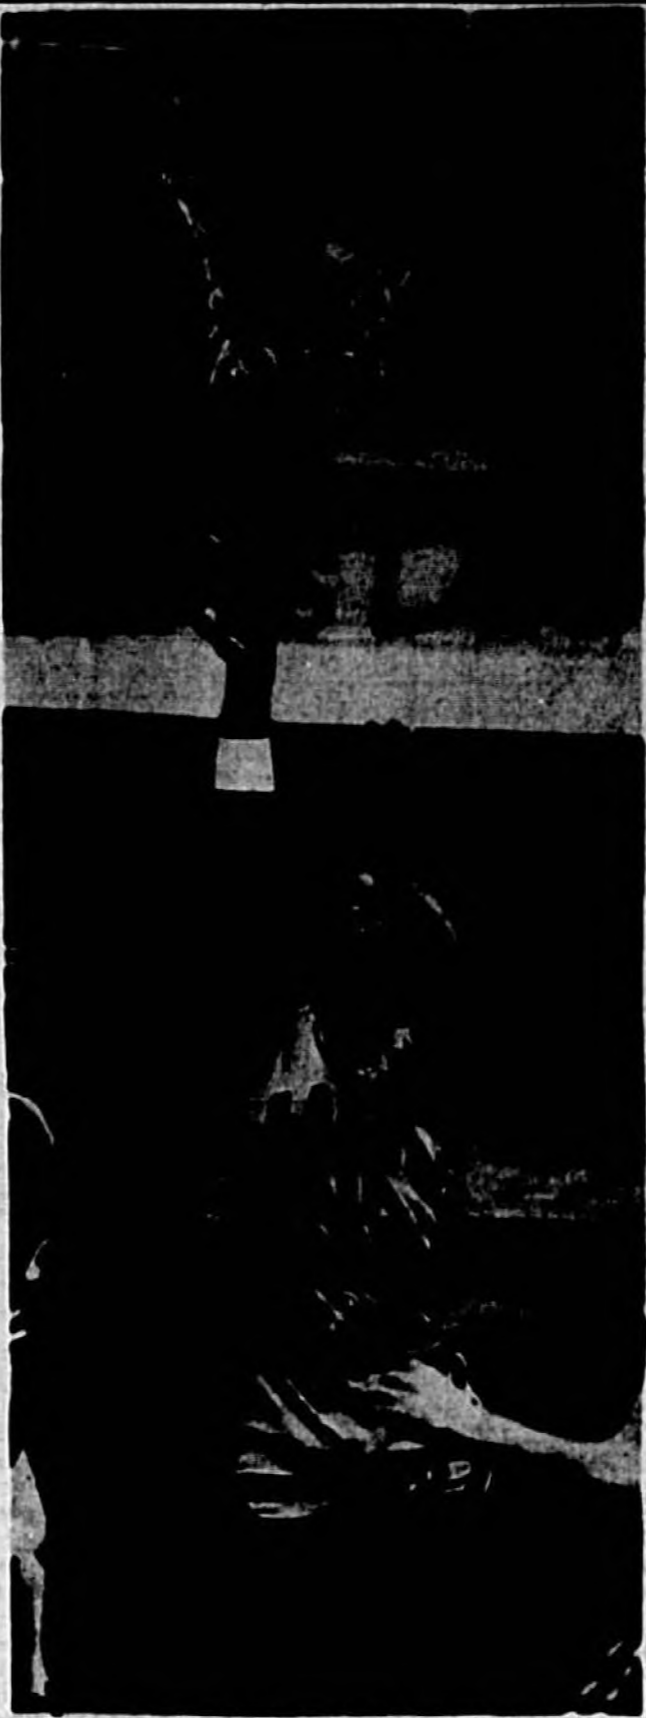

The Greyhounds are now off until next Tuesday, when they will play Bishop Moore in the first round of the Central Florida Classic tournament at Seminole Community College.

ORANGEWOOD 85 MELBOURNE CC 81

MELBOURNE — Freshman Daniel Parke, starting at point guard in place of injured Colby Arrow (sprained ankle), scored a career-high 25 points as the Orangewood Christian Rams hammered Melbourne Central Catholic 85-81 on Thursday night.

Parke was 12-for-15 from the floor and 1-for-1 at the free throw line for his 25 points. Chris Winkler.

Top-ranked 'Noles beat Brantley

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Seminole's trio of Sheri Reddicks, Koena Kennon and RuthAnn Williams carried the Tribe to an 80-57 over Lake Brantley in girls' Seminole Athletic Conference basketball action Thursday night at Lake Brantley High School.

Seminole, the top-ranked team in Class 3A, improved to 7-0 overall and 2-0 in the conference. They return to action Jan. 2 at Lake Howell. Lake Brantley fell to 3-5 and 0-2 in the SAC and will return to action Monday in the Lady Patriot Christmas Tournament.

"Again, the bench came through for us," Seminole coach John McNamara said. "We had just eight players tonight. The rest were out sick."

Reddicks led the Tribe with 27 points, 15 rebounds and four blocked shots. Kennon had 21 points with eight rebounds and seven assists as Williams netted 19 points while handing out seven assists and coming up with four steals.

Lori Bunce led Lake Brantley with 15 points, with Kelly Hartman contributing 14 and Christy Schroefel chipping in 10.

Lake Brantley stayed right with Seminole through the first quarter and trailed 22-19. Seminole held just a 34-30 lead at the intermission. The Tribe then exploded in the second half, outscoring the Patriots 46-27 to blow the game wide open.

Reddicks, who was in foul trouble most of the first half, scored 23 second half points to get the Seminole offense clicking.

"Being limited in players meant the bench had to come through when we got in foul trouble," McNamara said. # Circus comes to Sanford

Animals, acrobats to perform

By SANDRA STEWART
Herald People editor

SANFORD - The circus is coming to town. The Birchfield and Liebel Great Traveling Big Top Circus, billed the "Happiest Show in the World," is bringing their special Christmas edition Sunday to the Lake Monroe Holiday Inn. It is being sponsored by the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees. The theme is "Don't Worry, Be Happy."

Performances by 15 international circus stars, clowns, jugglers, pianists, miniature cows and Baby Noisy, the 1 1/2-ton elephant, are sure to thrill the audience.

The union three years ago of former Las Vegas Showman Bill Birchfield, who has performed his magic acts for many years at the Sanford Civic Center, and Hungarian Circus Owner Tomi Liebel, whose family circus history extends back 300 years, is no less dramatic than that of the marriage of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey who created a circus labeled "The Greatest Show on Earth."

This one-ring European-style circus is on a much smaller scale, but nonetheless "it's about as good as any circus you have in town," Liebel said. And he has no desire to see it grow any larger. A circus can be too big. So big that "the little people get lost. They don't know what clowns to smile at," Liebel said.

Liebel, whose accent shows his Hungarian heritage, has a past that could easily make a great film. His circus showman father started Liebel out in the industry at the age of two. Apparently, it was something he grew to love.

When in the 1960s the Soviets decentralized the privately-owned circus business and made it state-run, Liebel was sent to Western countries like Sweden to perform and was required to send back Western currency to Hungary.

At 19, Liebel joined the Ringling Bros. circus as a clown, and also as Uncle Sam on other occasions. To this day, Liebel finds a bit of humor in that. "A guy from the Communist country, and I was Uncle Sam," he said.

Liebel enjoyed the freedom he found in America, and decided not to return to Hungary. After listening to the National Anthem before a show, the words "Home of the Free" held special significance for Liebel. He said he knew at that point that "this is my country."

Sometimes, he said, he has

mixed emotions about his career, but he usually decides this is what he wants even after difficult trials.

"It's hard when you're in the middle of the highway in a broken-down truck, up to your knees in mud and think 'I got to be an idiot to do this.'"

That feeling quickly disappears when the lights shine on a smiling audience. That's when Liebel said he thinks, "I am the happiest man in the world."

Now living in Davenport outside of Kissimmee, Liebel has been a United States citizen for 10 years.

The circus features many European showpeople like Miss Lillian Hergatova of Czechoslovakia, who has mastered the art of foot juggling. From France are aerialists J.P. Theron and his wife, Doris. Miss Franciscka of the Netherlands is the graceful ballerina and Liebel's ten-year-old son Tomi will perform an acrobatic routine known as the Bola Bola.

Keeping alive the tradition of the great American circus will be Birchfield with his Birchfield Magician and Co. Birchfield, an acclaimed magician and illusionist, will astound everyone with his sleight of hand. He and his sons, Anthony and Sean, will perform incredible feats as featured on the television program, "Alive at Five."

The Sanford show is the opening day of a seven-day tour to include Clermont, Winter Garden, Fruitland Park, St. Cloud and Kissimmee. The Fruitland Park show will feature the matrimonial ceremony of the animal tender and his wife.

The two shows at the Lake Monroe Holiday Inn will be at 2 and 5 p.m. under a heated big top that can accommodate 1,000 people.

Liebel describes it as a clean show - "Something clean that mom and dad and the kids can enjoy," he said.

Ticket prices are $6 at the door and $5 for children 12 and under.

New Rotary members
The Rotary Club of Lake Mary inducted three new members into its club recently. President-Elect Brent Carl (left) places a Rotary lapel pin onto Charles "Chuck" Roser, making him an official member. In the background are Roser's wife, Holly, and daughter, Christine. The other new members are Ernie Cavallaro and David Norman (not shown).

Violent films make negative impact on children

DEAR ABBY: Last night, my husband and I went to an R-rated movie. It was a big box-office hit and had a lot of publicity. There was a lot of graphic sex and violence. What disturbed me more than anything was a little boy, about 4 years old, sitting behind us. His comments broke my heart: "Daddy, why did he kill that lady?" "Is the other man dead?" "Why are they hurting him?" "Is it over yet?" "I want to go home."

His daddy couldn't make his son understand that what he was seeing was only make-believe - it looked so real. That child might as well have witnessed 25 live murders that night. Is it any wonder our children are revved up emotionally, acting up at school and using foul language at such a young age?

ADVICE

What I witnessed last night was a passive, yet very dangerous form of child abuse.

A WITNESS IN ORANGE, CALIF.
DEAR WITNESS: Yours is a very significant letter, and I thank you for it. Too few adults realize how easily influenced 4-year-old children can be. Parents would never knowingly feed their children garbage, yet they expose their impressionable young minds to the worst examples of brutality and man's inhumanity to man - believing they're too young to be affected.

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who drives me crazy. She's a nice person, but she is never on time. Every time I meet her somewhere, she is always at least half an hour late. Her excuses run from "Just as I was leaving the house, my telephone rang..." to "The traffic was terrible..." blah, blah, blah. I suppose it's silly for me to ask you what I can do about this, but I just had to get it off my chest.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: If you're going to meet this woman at 1:00, make the date for 12:30. And, since you know that she is always late, be prepared to wait for her. Do not let your anger build. Always carry something to read. It will make the waiting more tolerable, reduce your blood pressure - and you may learn something.

Vatican warns against non-Christian, Eastern meditation

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Vatican, in a letter approved by Pope John Paul II, warned Wednesday that Roman Catholics who turn to Eastern methods of prayer and meditation such as Buddhism risk deviating from Christian doctrine.

"With the present diffusion of Eastern methods of meditation in the Christian world and in ecclesial communities," the letter to the world's Catholic bishops said, "we find ourselves faced with a pointed renewal of an attempt, which is not free from dangers and errors, to fuse Christian meditation with that which is non-Christian."

The 25-page document, "Letter to the Bishops of the Catholic Church on Some Aspects of Christian Meditation" was released at the Vatican and made public in the United States by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. It is dated Oct. 15, the feast day of St. Teresa of Avila, the 16th century Carmelite nun who wrote extensively on spiritual and mystical subjects.

It was written by the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, the Vatican's watchdog agency for doctrinal matters headed by Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger.

Ratzinger said his agency has long been concerned that use of Eastern meditation runs the "risk of altering fundamental elements of our faith."

The letter said some Christians who use Eastern meditation techniques merely as an aid "for a truly Christian contemplation," while others are seeking mystic spiritual experiences similar those experienced by St. Teresa.

Find love for God in your hearts

By SHIRLEY BERRY
Guest columnist

As the song goes, "What the world needs now, is love sweet love."

Have you ever felt that the church also needs "love sweet love?" There comes a time in every Christian's life when they feel the pain and ache of another Christian. When any part of the Body of Christ suffers, we all suffer. We are one, and we all feel the pain.

It is sad when the Body of Christ cannot get along. We have become "spiral twins," instead of co-workers for Christ. We are at war against one another. This should not be.

We are disobedient. Jesus commanded us to love one another. He said of all the Commandments, this Commandment centered around them all. If you obeyed this Commandment, it would be simple to obey the others. Not only did the Lord tell us to fulfill His command. He said that if we did not love one another, and had hate in our hearts, the offense was against God, not man, in other words, we hate Him and not man. Furthermore, Jesus went on to tell us that if we obeyed what He commanded, we were His friends. If we don't love that love for someone, we are not His friends, but our enemies. That includes you, for Jesus is the closest friend I have ever had, and I don't want to lose Him.

Many years ago, when the Lord put His love within me for others, I learned that the more I loved God to give me "more love," the more He loved me. His created experiences, I learned a song and now when that old demon of anger tries to overtake me, I sing it.

"Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God, and everyone that loveth is born of God and knoweth God. He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love...Beloved, let us love one another." I John 4:7,8.

If we, as Christians, cannot show love amongst ourselves, how can we show love to those who need to know Jesus as their Savior? How can we have compassion for one in need? You are the love of Christ that dwells within us. In Jesus' name, in the power of the Holy Spirit, we are quenching His Spirit when we don't let His work through us. We are to look at people like our Lord looks at people. God loved us so much that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. Who can deny that this was the greatest act of love that has ever occurred?

Let us rise above our hatred of hate, bitterness, envy and all the other fleshy fruit, which brings about divisions and sin. Let us not hate and devour one another for by the same token, we too, will be devoured.

We must apply the word of God to our daily lives. Let us judge the Gospel of Christ, instead of gossip. If some of the people in the church would stifle off the "hell-a-phone," (my version of the telephone), and spend more time on their knees, maybe they would see some changes in their lives.

Today is a great day to begin. Tell someone you love them, even if you don't know them. Better yet, even if you don't like them, tell them that you love them. I guarantee that love will begin to blossom, and as will you.

I close with this message to unconditionally, you. Remember, I love you, but Jesus loves you more.

Thanksgiving money

The Sanford Ministerial Association gave the Christian Sharing Center a check for $337.55. The money was raised at the community Thanksgiving service at Central Baptist Church and will be used to buy food for needy families. Irene Brown of the Christian Sharing Center accepted the check from Steve Gilmer (center), pastor of Church of God of Prophecy and president of the ministerial association, and Charles B. Pitroff, chaplain at Seminole County Correctional Facility.

Christians are traditionally skeptical of reincarnation

The headline over the story on reincarnation said, "Maybe next time you'll be the boss."

This, I suppose, is what we all like to think — assuming we believe in reincarnation. It probably never occurs to us that we may just as likely get the comeuppance we deserve the next time around.

Such may very well be what is in store for many of us, according to a writer on reincarnation. "The simple laboring man of today," wrote Emmet Fox, "may have been a prince in days gone by but because he failed to learn certain lessons that are necessary for the growth of the soul — like humility, for example — he came back into the world as a member of the rank-and-file where he would be more likely to learn these lessons."

Today's affluent businessman may be a pauper in his next life if he doesn't make good use in this life of the prosperity he has. Fox said. The white man who is a racist may be black in his next incarnation.

It is probable that a majority of the people in the world have always believed in reincarnation. This majority up to now, however, has not included many Christians. Reincarnation — the idea that we have lived before and will be born again into this world after we die — has been largely an Eastern belief.

New Thought — a New England cult which combined Christian beliefs with Eastern mysticism — introduced many Americans to reincarnation in the middle of the 19th century. But it is Shirley MacLaine and the New Age movement that are responsible for most of the current interest in reincarnation.

Between the rise of the New Thought and New Age movements, reincarnation captured public attention on several occasions. "A Search for Bridey Murphy" — the 1956 Morey Bernstein book in which Ruth Simmons, while in a trance, recounts her previous existence in a little town in Ireland — whipped up a flurry of excitement about reincarnation.

Nicotine stimulates secretion of acid

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband and I quit smoking six months ago and have been experiencing heartburn almost daily since quitting. Is there any relation between the two?

DEAR READER: I am not aware that cessation of smoking and heartburn go together. Indeed, the reverse is usually true, because nicotine stimulates gastric acid secretion.

People who stop smoking often experience an increase in nervousness and tension, which in turn may cause excessive stomach contractions. These contractions can eject acid into the esophagus, causing heartburn, indigestion and gas.

I urge you and your husband to bring your symptoms to your doctor's attention. You may need testing for ulcers or hiatal hernia; also, the physician may choose to treat you with antacids and antispasmodics to control gastric acid and stomach contractions. In any case, stay off the cigarettes.

DEAR DR. GOTT: About five or six months ago, I began noticing small, round, flat red spots, or spots, on my skin. I've been a sun lover all my life, so I wasn't surprised to have a basal cell carcinoma removed eight months ago. About five months ago, I completed two years of gold shots (32 in all), along with three daily doses of Zorprin for arthritis control.

Can the cause of the red spots be from what I've described, or is it from being a senior citizen in her late 60s? The red spots are very different from the basal cell, so I'd be pleased to hear your opinion on what they are and what causes them.

DEAR READER: Your rash may be due to the gold shots you received. Gold therapy is often associated with skin lesions; in fact, the appearance of a rash may indicate that the gold is producing its greatest therapeutic effect.

Unfortunately, a rash usually means the patient has developed an allergy to the gold, so this therapy must be stopped immediately if a rash appears. You have completed your course of gold treatments; however, the last shot or two could have triggered the skin reaction.

Obviously, there may have been another cause for your rash. Skin diseases, such as psoriasis, are more common in patients with rheumatoid arthritis. Therefore, you should show the rash to your doctor and follow his or her advice. Perhaps you are reacting to the Zorprin, which has been reported to cause hives, rashes and skin swelling.

The bridge beginner learns that tricks should be won as economically as possible. Experts know that there is a time for extravagance. Willy Nilly wasn't wasting any spots in today's deal. He played low from dummy on the opening lead and won with his 10 of hearts. He cashed the A-K of diamonds and led the queen of spades. East took the ace and returned a heart. Willy ducked. West won the king and cleared the suit. Later on, after declarer had taken eight tricks, West gained the lead with a club and cashed the rest of the tricks. Down one. What would an extravagant expert do? He would realize that to ensure taking enough tricks for the contract, he had to get to dummy. Therefore, even though there was the danger that East had played the nine of hearts at the first trick from a holding of K-Q-2, he would go with the percentages and assume the opening lead was away from the king. So Mr. Extravagance would win trick one with the ace of hearts, cash A-K of diamonds and knock out the ace of spades. Later, when hearts were again played, he would expect to reach dummy with the heart queen. With his expectation realized, he would make three no-trump. Lesson: Don't be afraid to waste a high card for a needed entry.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Dec. 16, 1989

The more ambitious aspects of your personality will be emphasized in the year ahead. This will enable you to set a promising course for yourself and tenaciously see it through to its conclusion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Instead of profiting from a past experience, there is a possibility you might repeat an old mistake today and suffer the same consequences you did previously. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be careful in joint ventures today so that someone with whom you're involved doesn't make things more of a problem for you both than need be. This could occur if you're not vigilant.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't let an associate make decisions for you today that affect your work or career without first talking things over with you and getting your full approval.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A poor attitude will make what you have to do today much harder than it really is. Tell yourself you can do it, instead of thinking you can't.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have authority over a project today, it's best to let those involved know you have laid down certain rules for the endeavor and you intend to enforce them. Be firm, but fair.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not depend upon your mate today to take care of things which are your responsibility. What you leave undone is not likely to be completed by your spouse.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In a relationship with a close friend today, be sure to give your pal the benefit of the doubt regarding this person's abilities.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you are too concerned with your own interests today it could be self-defeating, especially in business situations. Your desire for protection might stymie the whole effort.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be disappointed today if you expect everyone to do your bidding in exact accordance with your demands. In fact, if you are too harsh they might not even make an effort to comply.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Guard against tendencies today to view the outcome of events in a negative fashion. If your outlook is too dismal, you could be defeated before you even try.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your value judgment is a bit questionable today both where people and material things are concerned. Be careful you don't make poor decisions in either area.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Important objectives can be achieved today, provided you don't use tactics or methods that are counterproductive. Try to make things easier on yourself. If more difficult.
