McCollum pitches federal protection for the Wekiva River

SANFORD - U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum visited Katie's Wekiva River Landing on Monday to let environmentalists know he was going to ask Congress in October to consider legislation to place parts of the Weldva and its tributaries in the National Wild and Scenic River System.

McCollum said that President Clinton could sign the legislation this year.

"I'm very excited and happy to hear that the Weldva River could get the lederal protection it deserves," Seminole County Commissisoner Daryl McLain said. Earlier this year, McLain urged the commission to purchase Katle's Landing, a popular Wekiva camp ground that the county would have made a public park. The commission nixed the plan.

Lake Mary coach suspended

By Joe DeSantia Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary high school head football coach Greg Stanton has been sidelined with a five-day suspension from the Seminole County school board for what the board termed inappropriate disciplinary action. Stanton, in his second season at Lake Mary began the suspension last

Stanton paddled players who acted up in classroom

Wednesday and will return to coaching duties Thursday.

"My feelings are that I'm sad and remorseful and the incident was a lack of judgment on my part," said Stanton.

The school district began investigating Stanton, and questioning his assistant coaches and random Lake Mary players after receiving an anonymous tip from a parent that the coach had been paddling players for infractions of team rules, such as arriving late to meetings or disrupting other students during class. Stanton offered team members a choice of paddling or other forms of discipline including trash pick-up, sweeping the stadium, picking up and storing team gear, onelegged hops across the football field, or See Coach, Page 8A

Cashing in on success

Lake Mary Elementary School is one of 14 Seminole County schools with grades of "A" from the state. Principal Gloria Flanagan on Monday accepted a check for $6,122 Monday from the school district for improved student performance on standardized tests. The school had the highest district test scores for CTBS Reading in grade four, FCAT Reading in grade four, and FCAT Math in grade five.

SANFORD — A fire broke out in two units at the troubled Ridgewood Villas apartment complex near Seminole High Monday School Emergency officials were able to contain the fire, and no one was injured.

The fire erupted at about 9:30 p.m. in the second story of building four, which had been vacated by the City of Sanford because of unpaid water bills. Only one of the five buildings in the 60-unit complex remains Inspector Pete Tucker of the Sanford Fire Department said the cause of the fire is being investigated, and appears suspicious in nature.

"There is no power or water to the building," Tucker said. "It's supposed to be vacant. If we had transients, then that's a possibil-

State boosts grades for Seminole schools

Twenty-five schools receive higher grades; 14 score A's

By Bill Kerns

Staff Writer

SANFORD — Fourteen Seminole County schools received "A's" in revised school accountability grades released by the Florida Department of Education on Monday.

The Seminole County school district appealed grades released in June because an error was made by the district in reporting the percentage of students who were tested. No Seminole County schools made "A's" in June's erroneous results.

Twelve Seminole County schools received "B's" in the revised grades, while 17 received "C's" and six received "D's."

"We're ecstatic," said Marion Dailey, director of instructional support services. "We're as happy as we can possibly be."

Seminole County was not alone in appealing school grades. The Department of Education on Monday released the results of 111 school grade appeals in 29 districts.

Appeals statewide primarily related to correcting the data for the number of students tested, submission of inaccurate student grade levels, misclassification of students, and misclassification of schools.

Statewide, in grades released in June, 185 schools received an "A," 317 received "B's," 1,215 made "Cs," 600 received "D's," and 78 made "F's."

Out of the 52 schools originally graded as incomplete, One became a "B," 34 became "C's," 13 became "D's," one became an "F," and three schools were dropped from the list because of low membership or misclassification of the school by a district.

The Washington Post carried a piece on its Sunday Outlook pages about the news no one dares to cover - slipshod and reckless newspaper journalism. On the Style pages were excerpts from the paper's coverage of the August 28, 1963 March on Washington.

Martin Luther King ..... Post, the Star and the Jr., gave the greatest civil rights speech of the 20th Century at the March but there was no mention of King's "I Have a Dream" speech in The Washington Post cov-

The Post noted the orderly turnout of 200,000, and the eloquent statements made by the March leaders for justice and equality.

A. Philip Randolph, the head of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, was mentioned in the fifth paragraph on Staff Reporter Robert E. Baker's story. Randolph "drew great applause," Baker wrote.

Good for the Post to fess up 36 years later that it blew the "I Have a Dream" story. Newspapers ought to acknowledge their errors - or as in the March coverage - their omissions. Perhaps, papers should critique one another. Many times if one paper gets scooped or its reporter misses a beat, it pretends nothing important > Daily News. It's too bad The Star and News are gone. I'd like to see what was reported in those papers on August 29. Editions must exist at the Library of Congress.

Was the King omission a result of the reporter or the newspaper not being aware of what was going on at the Lincoln Memorial or not being aware of Martin Luther King's speaking skills? Surely, the Post knew King was speaking that day and knew that he met later with Preident Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon Johnson at the White House.

Kennedy, it has been reported, did not attend the March but watched King's speech on television. Kennedy was said to have been moved greatly by King, and made a statement to the press that was included in Robert E. Baker's coverage. Still no mention of King, however. No mention what King's speech meant to 20 million black Similar omissions in news about blacks had been taking place for years. Newspapers in the south rarely reported the names of blacks until the 1950s. If a black man's picture was used, it was because he had been arrested or convicted of a crime.

The late Orlando councilman Nap Ford said he remembered the news coverage in 1947 when Jackie Robinson broke major-league baseball's color barrier. "Many papers - those in the south - never mentioned Robinson's name," Ford said. "The Orlando Sentinel carried a brief after Jackie's first game. The headline was "Negro goes hitless."

There were few African American newspaper writers at the time of the 1963 March. Most of them were male and assigned to "colored" beats. Jim Bethea covered Howard University (a predominantly black school) and was the boxing writer for the Post. Bethea left the Post for the Washington Star in 1970. He did a variety of stories for the Star's Sportsweek Magazine.

By the late 1970s both the Post and the Star assigned white reporters to cover Howard University's football games. Leonard Shapiro was the Post's reporter and I covered for the Star. For the first time both D.C. newspapers covered Howard's games at home and away. The team won 10 consecutive games, and shared sportspage headlines with the Redskins.

By the late 1970s, Washington reporting had come full cycle from the omission of the "I Have a Dream" speech. Frequently, newspaper pages were filled with things that didn't happen. The Star introuduces a column known as The Ear, which took shots at the Post (OP or opposition paper). The courtship of Post managing editor Ben Bradley's and writer Sally Quinn was recorded daily by The Ear.

Bradley and Quinn married, of course. And the Star ceased publication after more than 150 years and 500 or more Ears of journalistic service. There's a lesson there.

SANFORD — Maybe they should have just taken their paychecks and gone straight home Friday afternoon.

Nine Central Florida men, seven of them from Seminole County, were nabbed in an undercover sting operation aimed at curtailing prostitution activity in Sanford.

The decoy sweep came during a period between 4 and 8:30 p.m. along 4th Street and Sanford avenue.

Employing temale undercover decoys, members of the City/County Investigation Bureau arrested the following individuals and charged them with assignation to commit prostitution:

Paul Arthur Strickland, 28, West 20th Street, Sanford; George Cornules McCray, 29, West 9th Street, Sanford; Christopher Ray Hargrave, 20, Valencia Road, DeBary; Oscar Alicea Ramirez II, 33, Peachtree Lane, Altamonte Springs; Morris Sellers Frenney, 36, Bethune Circle, Sanford; Carl Herve Blain, 36, Sunridge Place, Altamonte Springs; Rafael Leonides Lebrow, 42, Krassner Drive, Palm Bay, Florida; Willie Howard Davis, 52, Georgia Arms, Sanford; and Robert Lee Alligood, 30, Credo Street, Longwood, who was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of cannabis, and possession/use of drug paraphernalia.

Seven of the nine men arrested are married.

that appealed their original grades, 25 remained unchanged, and 28 moved to a higher grade.

One school was not graded because it was an alternative school, and another was not graded because of low membership. Two previously ungraded schools were added to the list at the district's request. One received a "D," and the other made an "F."

Ten Seminole County schools improving from a "B" to an "A" include Lake Mary, Lawton, Rainbow, Woodlands, Wekiva, Keeth, and Partin elementary schools, plus Jackson Heights, Greenwood Lakes, and Indian Trails middle schools.

"Our staff and teachers work extra hard to help the students who come here," said Gloria Flanagan, principal of Lake Mary Elementary School.

Lake Mary and Oviedo high schools improved from a "C" to an "A." So did Teague and Rock , Lake middle schools.

Eight schools rising from a

"C" to a "B" include Bear Lake, Wilson, Forest City, Red Bug, Sterling Park elementary schools, as well as Milwee, South Seminole, and Tuskawilla middle schools.

Five schools made an incomplete in June, because of the school district's error. Each of those schools received "C's," including Spring Lake Elementary, and Seminole, Lyman, Lake Brantley, and Lake Howell high schools.

However, six elementary schools will still receive "D's," including five in Sanford.

The school board is looking into lowering class sizes and seeking state funding to improve education for students in schools with lower ratings, said Superintendent Paul Hagerty.

The "D" schools performed below expectations in one or two subjects. The "C" schools met minimum expectations in all areas.

To receive a "B," the current reading, writing, and math data must be at or above the state's higher performing standards. No subgroup in the school can perform below the state's minimum standards. In addition, at least 90 percent of standard curriculum students must be test-

To receive an "A," the percent of students absent more than 20 days, and the suspension and dropout rates must be below state averages. Substantial improvements must be made in reading, without substantial declines in writing or math schools. At least 95 percent of the standard curriculum students must be tested. Plus, the schools must meet all the standards for the B schools.

This is the first year for the school grading system. It is part of the same education reform package that created a plan for parents in schools receiving an "F" twice in four years to receive vouchers for private schools.

idential award for his love and unselfish dedication to help those with developmental dis-

The award ceremony began at 7:30 a.m. Saturday morning at a hotel two blocks from the U.S. Capitol Building. The president was not there. Neither was the vice president nor a single senator or congressman. Again, there was no Washington media present.

This did not dismay Chris Drummond.

When he was introduced by Deborah M. Spitalnik from the Elizabeth Monroe Boggs Center on Developmental Disabilities, Drummond looked into an audience of nearly 200. Those who could stand, did. Spitalnik wiped away joyful tears.

"Chiis Drummond, w Spitalnik said, "is the 1999 winner of the Elizabeth Boggs Award for Young Leadership. The award recognizes and honors the late Dr. Boggs, a renowned scholar and trailblazer in the field of mental retardation and disability rights...Like, Dr. Boggs, Chris Drummond is devoted to ensuring that every human being is treated with dignity and respect. He is one of our shining stars."

Drummond, who was born with cerebral palsy, began to speak slowly and with great conviction.

He told the group that he was accepting the award not for in himself but for advocates and volunteers in all areas. "This is n for all of you - all the volunteers me many of you unknown. I thank everyone wherever they

If he had stumbled on a cou-Of ple of words, had forgotten something, it did not matter as the group applauded and Spitalnik embraced Chris Drummond. For the first time, Drummond began to cry. "I could not help that," he would say. "I was so grateful."

Liz Obermayer and James Meadours were grateful, too. Grateful that Chris Drummond was the Boggs award winner. Obermayer had won the award in 1998 and Meadours in 1997. They had helped arrange the 1999 program,.

"Congratulations, Chris," Obermayer said. "We are so happy you are here."

Drummond was a participant in a number of workshops on mental retardation and developmental disabilities his two days in Washington. He listened intently to presentations and frequently raised his hand to contribute. He told one group about the Hamlet housing project in Sanford.

He told another that Florida Gov. Jeb Bush had promised an additional $210 million for developmental services in the coming year. He said that he had invited the governor to an Inclusion Day scheduled in October in Seminole County. (Regrettably, Drummond said Monday the Inclusion Day has been postponed until January).

"I was so impressed with the way Chris spoke at each workshop," said Patti Killingsworth, Director of the Missouri Department of Health (Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities). "He surely spo e from the heart. He's a very loving per-Jane Browning, the Director of the Presidential Committee on Mental Retardation, was also impressed by Drummond's eagerness to help his community. "He spoke of others - never about himself. We knew we had the right recipient for the Dr. Boggs award. How could there be any doubt about that?"

On Saturday night, there was another marvelous surprise for Drummond. He was a dinner guest of Fred and Helena Valentine of the District. Fred Valentine is a former Washington Senators ballplayer, equal rights advocate and community leader.

The Valentines took Drummond for a tour of the city · to the White House (where the lights were not on), to the Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument (undergoing repairs) and the Arlington Cemetery.

As he rode on Pennsylvania Avenue - the Avenue of Presidents - Chris Drummond not only felt the history of the great Capital but was very much a part of it.

You and your partner are dealt 26 cards and must work with only them. In theory, it shouldn't be too difficult, but it defeats many. Take this deal as an example. How should the play and defense proceed in three no-trump after West has led the spade queen? How would it vary if West held the ace-nine of hearts, not the ace-three? Assuming a 3-2 club break, South can see 10 tricks via two spades, three diamonds and five clubs. But he knows that after losing the necessary club trick, his opponents are likely to be in a position to cash at least four heart tricks. How should declarer try to deflect them from that course? Probably South should win the first trick with his spade king, cash the club king, and duck the second round of clubs. If West must win the trick, he is less likely to find the key switch than Here, though, East wins the second club trick. Then, confident that the contract is unbeatable if South has the heart ace, he switches to the heart six. not the king, which would block the suit if West had started with ace doubleton. West should win with the ace and return his remaining heart to de feat the contract. It is harder if Wes has the ace-nine of hearts, because he mustn't win a cheap trick with the nine, which again would block the suit. Now suppose declarer immediately plays three rounds of clubs. Wha should East discard? He could pitch the diamond seven, but that might look high, not low, to his partner. #### ASK DR. GOTT

See doctor about breast leak

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is it possible for a woman's breast to leak a milky fluid even though she hasn't breastfed a child in 12 years?

DEAR READER: It is possible, and until proved otherwise — it is ominous. Breast milk is governed by hormones. If the woman is leaking milk, she could have a serious hormone imbalance. But I am more concerned about malignancy. Certain breast cancers will cause nipple discharge. On the other hand, the problem could be no more troublesome than a breast infection that could readily be cured by antibiotics. In my opinion, any nonbreast-feeding woman with significant nipple leakage should be seen by a doctor as soon as possible. To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Breast Cancer and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Do some people generate more static electricity than others? I seem to have a real problem.

If I don't shower, the static is worse. I can't try on clothing in a store without crackling and popping. I try to limit my selection to natural fibers, but the clothes still cling to my body. When I dress in the morning, my slacks cling to my stockings. Can you help me with this electrifying situation?

DEAR READER: Static electricity refers to the charges that often build up on or around our bodles. To my knowledge, this electricity is not produced by the body, but by the environment. For example, if you shuffle across the living room rug on a cold winter day, you may well notice that your clothes cling to your body and you'll experience a spark when you become grounded by touching a metal knob or wallplate. Static buildup is more common in fabrics such as silk and nylon; it is always worsened by low environmental humidity. If you really want to see the effects of static electricity, dry your clothes in a tumble-dryer and then try to fold them.

I suspect that your static cling is more likely to reflect your level of fashion than your physiology. For instance, you're more likely to experience it with leather-soled shoes, which - unlike barefeet or rubber soles - encourage the production of static charges. If you ordinarily wear nylons or pantyhose, this material will readily charge you up by rubbing against the fabric lining your slacks. Because most static cling is caused by such friction between different types of fiber, you may want to experiment Stop wearing pantyhose with slacks: use shorter stockings instead. Avoid wearing a slip when you try on clothes. Add a sheet of Bounce fabric softener to your clothes dryer or use one of the many anti-static products

Fortunately, although static electricity is annoying, it will not affect health.

Spiders: friends or foes?

Contrary to popular belief, all spiders are beneficial because they are good predators of insects and other small bugs.

Almost all spiders possess venom, but only a few are considered dangerous to humans. Some spiders trap their victims with a web, while others rely on their hunting ability to obtain food.

Most people associate spiders with poisonous creatures, but in reality only two spiders can cause serious injury to men in Florida, the widow spiders and the brown recluse spider. Widow spiders are fairly common but the brown recluse is not considered to be an established species in Florida.

There are four spcies of widow spiders in Florida, the southern black widow, northern black widow, red widow. and brown widow. The widow spiders are found mainly outdoors in protected cavaties and around trees. They can be found in orange groves, which makes it necessary to use protective clothing when harvesting. When widows are found around the home, they are usually inside gas and electric meter boxes, furniture, and other protected areas.

House spiders: Several species of spiders live in or around our houses. Many of them construct webs which make them a nuisance to homeowners. The southern house spider is very common in Florida and the males are often mistaken for the brown recluse, but they are really the underside of its abdomen. Their size is about 1 1/2 inches long with legs extended. Females lay about 250 eggs in an egg sac, which is pear shaped measuring about 1/2 to 5/8 inches in diameter. The eggs hatch in 20 days and remain in the egg sac from 4 to 30 days. Females are known to eat the male after mating. They are found outdoors under rocks, boards, and frequently around old buildings.

Southern black widow: This spider is the most widely distributed widow spider in a black glossy color with a dis- varies in color from light gray

Northern black widow: This spider is similar in appearance to the southern black widow, but has two red triangles resembling an hourglass, and a row of red spots on top of its abdomen. This species is found west of Tallahassee, mainly in forests where it produces its webs three to twenty feet above the Red widow: This spider can be recognized by its redishorange thorax and legs but with a black abdomen. The top of the abdomen usually has a row of red spots with yellow borders. The markings on the underside of the abdomen are usually one or two small red spots, lacking the characteristic hourglass marking. The spider is found mainly in sand-pine scrub habitats in central and southeast Florida.

tinct red hourglass marking on to light brown to black. The abdomen has variable markings of black, white, red, and yellow. The underside of the abdomen has an orange or yellow hourglass. It is often found south of Daytona Beach along the coast, and it is also common in orange groves. It usually makes its web on buildings in well-lighted areas.

Brown recluse: This spider can be easily recognized by the distinctive dark violin shaped mark located on the head and thorax. This spider is light tan to deep reddish brown in color, and measures about 1/4 to 1/2 inches in length. It has three pairs of eyes arranged in a semicircle on the forepart of the head (most spiders have four pairs of eyes). They can be found inside the homes in bathrooms, bedrooms, closets, garages, under furniture, behind baseboards and crevices. The bite produced by this spider can produce fever, chills, nausea, weakness and joint pain. A blister arises at the site of the bite followed by inflamation.

The venom usually kills the affected tissue, leaving a sunken sore. Healing may take as long as six to eight weeks and the scars might require plastic surgery.

Control: Sprays containing pyrethrins or pyrethroids are very effective to control spiders. Dust formulations containing diazinon or dursban can be useful in crawl spaces, attics, and utility areas.

DEAR GRATEFUL READER: I agree that the proposal of a secret marriage should not only raise a few eyebrows, but some suspicions as well. And I cannot take credit for that quote. It came from Sir Walter Scott (1771-1832) — and it's certainly appropriate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 32-year-old divorcee who is soon to be remarried, and already I am having trouble with the "in-laws." I have never encountered people so rude in all my life. They refuse to have anything to do with me.

sunrise services where disciplined players met at 5 a.m. Wednesday mornings with position coaches for extra work.

"My intentions were in good faith and my actions must be accounted for," said Stanton.

"I emphatically apologize to the administration and faculty, the members of the football team and their families."

Stanton said the paddling incidents involved 6 to 12 players dating back to a year ago. He took over a team that went winless in the previous season and improved to 4-6 last

"The paddling involved a handful of players. It wasn't like I've been given a second chance I lined up 100 klds. On the team we call it a behavior modification, it was not done to embarrass an individual player, but to build team unity, discipline, and toughness," said Stanton. The head coach said the paddling was never done maliclously, and was always done in the presence of other coaches and players.

"My kids love me and they know I love them. I've cried myself to sleep for the past four days and I've lost 18 pounds." Stanton said.

"I'm sorry for the embarrassment I've cause to the program. and I will do everything in my power to earn back the respect of everyone involved."

Stanton said he has received overwhelming support from his players, their families and his principal Raymond Gaines and that he is looking forward to returning to practice Thursday as the Rams prepare for their season opener by spread into unit 220 of building four. It took 20-30 minutes to put out the flames, Tucker said.

Officials from the Seminole County and Altamonte Springs fire departments assisted the Sanford Fire Department in containing the fire and evacuating residents. The State Fire Marshalls Office is also involved in the investigation.

Because transients are still living in buildings that are supposed to be vacant, city officials said estimates of how many people are living in the complex are difficult to make. Tucker said that it appears at least 15 people snay still be living in the complex.

The City of Sanford is moving forward with plans to condemn Ridgewood Villas, located at 2580 Ridgewood Avenue.

more like, here's the proposal. It's all about calling people, including people, and empowering people. We won't trust a plan unless we feel like we took part in forming the plan."

Hagerty said that the school district spends $1 million more for Crooms Academy than for any other middle school, and that the campus site is too small to be converted into a fullfledged high school.

"I want Crooms to be a firstclass school," Williams said. "I don't like this alternative school business. Whatever it is used for, I want it to be first-class."

The existing capacity at Crooms Academy, without counting the portables, is for 680 students. If the facilities are converted, Crobins Academy would eventually serve 800 elementary school students.

The school's cafeteria will be used for the community meeting instead of the gymnasium because of on-going improvements being made to the gymnaslum, said Crooms Academy Principal Bernedette Hardy-Blake. The cafeteria holds 260 people.

"I hope that's large enough," Hardy-Blake said.

Another community meeting will be held 7 p.m. Sept. 14, at the Educational Support Center in Sanford.

Dianne Kramer, director of facilities and planning for the school district, said that a decision regarding ways to ease elementary school overcrowding in northwest Seminole County will need to be made by Sept. 28. The Board is also considering other options to ease elementary overcrowding in the area.

Kramer said that the estimated costs to convert the facility are $9 million, almost as much as it would cost to build a new elementary school.

Building a new elementary school at an alternative site in Sanford is not a viable option because the area that would serve students the best is zoned as industrial, and is not appropriate for use as an elementary school site, Kramer sald.

The school's gymnasium that is also used by residents of the Goldsboro community would remain intact under the proposal. Crooms Academy would retain its name if it is converted to an elementary school.

High school students now at Crooms Academy would attend available at other high schools. Each high school has its own credit recovery program. The 20acre Crooms Academy site is not large enough to house a full high school, Kramer said.

Rays of Hope Charter School in Sanford would serve at-risk middle school students currently attending Crooms Academy. The charter school is located on West Airport Boulevard in Sanford.

Regardless of any decision on Crooms Academy, Rays of Hope will move into the Country Club Square shopping center for the 2000 school year. The move will allow Rays of Hope to serve 300 middle school students, Kramer said.

There are 20 portables on the Crooms campus, and the portables will not meet state portable standards that will take effect in July of 2001.

There is funding in the board's five-year plan for two elementary schools to be built in Seminole County, Kramer said.

Another option the board will consider to provide additional student capacity is the construction a primary learning center at Wilson Elementary and a primalearning center on the Master's Cove property next to Millennium Middle School. The Master's Cove property would be an annex to Wicklow Elementary School.

The learning centers would serve 500 students in total. In addition, the board will consider expanding the Wicklow annex into a full elementary school in five years, serving another 500 students.

The board will also consider building a new elementary school, then building a primary learning center at Wilson Elementary School.

Tribe trounces Bulldogs

Senior quarterback Garrett Goldsmith (No. 7, left) got his third year as the starting signal-caller for Seminole in fine fashion last Friday night, throwing two touchdown as the Fighting Seminoles crushed DeLand, 48-21, in the Kick-Off Classic at Spec Martin Stadium.

Junior running back Willie Bennett (No. 31, above left) lad a 348-yard Tribe running attack by scoring two rushing touchdowns, on runs of 18 and 40 yards, and catching a touchdown pass of 28 yards.

Senior wide receiver Julius Francis (No. 8, above right) caught Goldsmith's other touchdown toss, of 43 yards, to give Seminole a 19-14 halftime lead. The Fighting Seminoles will open the regular season on Friday against Lake Mary at Don T.

Reynolds Stadium starting at 7:30 p.m.

Seminole blows out DeLand in Kick-Off Classic

By Dean Smith SPORTS EDITOR

DeLAND - For anyone who graduated from Seminole High School before 1980, there is no greater thrill than beating Deland in football.

And while this game does not count in the standings it sure gives Seminole grads bragging rights.

The Fighting Seminoles scored two touchdowns late in the second quarter to take control of the game, then slowly pulled away in the second half to rout the homestanding Bulldogs, 48-21, in the Kick-Off Classic at Spec Martin Stadium last Friday night.

Despite losing players like All-America offensive lineman Jeff Faine (Notre Dame), star running back Deon Howard and defensive back Joe Watson, Seminole showed that it has more than enough talent remaining to compete for the championship in an improved district that includes Mainland, Spruce Creek, Pine Ridge, Lake Howell, Lyman and Winter Springs.

Senior quarterback Carrett Goldsmith showed his maturity in beginning his third year as the starting quarterback for Seminole, completing seven-of-14 passes for 132 yards and two touchdowns, both in the final 6:24 of the second quarter when the Tribe railied from a 14-7 deficit to a 19-14 halftime lead.

Junior running back Willie Bennett led an outstanding display by the deep Fighting Seminoles backfield scoring three touchdowns, two on runs of 18 and 40 yards and one on a 28 yard pass, as the Tribe racked up 348 rushing yards.

Senior receiver Julius Francis caught the other touchdown pass on a 43-yard bomb. Bennett scored on an 18-yard

Richardson and Howard return – others still out

Special to the Herald

ORIANDO - With less than a week until its season-opening football game against nationally-ranked Purdue University, the University of Central Florida got some help Monday when starting defensive end Mary Richardson (Belleville, Illinois/Belleville East High School) and backup tailback Omari Howard (Syracuse, New York/Corcoran High School) returned to practice.

The news was not all good as starting receiver Kenny Clark (Ocala/Vanguard High School), starting linebacker Deaubrey Devine (Lakeland High School), and backup receiver Tavirus Davis (Fort Lauderdale High School) had to sit out practice as a result of injuries suffered in the team's final serimmage Saturday.

"It's nice to get people back, but we've got to get everybody healthy," coach Mike Kruczek said. "We have some critical people still banged up that need to be getting some reps that won't get the reps.

"You've got to get on the field and actually do what you are supposed to do in the football game to give yourself a chance."

Richardson had surgery August 16th, to remove a tissue mass in his sinus cavity behind his right eye and was originally expected to miss the Purdue game while Howard is resuming from an ankle sprain suffered in a scrimmage August

Clark twisted his right knee in the scrimmage and was able to do some light running Monday Please see UCF, Page 2B

CONGRATULATIONS TIM

NEW YORK - Sanford's Tim Raines (shown back in his Chicago White Sox days) received his 1998 World Series Championship ring Monday night at Yankee Stadium.

night at Yankee Stadium.

Raines, who is out for the season while he receives treatment for a bout with Lupus, was making his first trip back to New York with the Oakland Athletics since leaving the Yankees after last season.

He got his ring box from Yankees manager Joe Torre as the New York lans gave him a standing ovation, but no ring was in the box as Yankees centerfielder Bernie Williams had removed the ring as a joke.

with 8:31 left in the second quarter. The Bulldogs answered right back with a 90yard kickoff return by Cory McKinney and a twopoint conversion to make the score 14-7 De-Land, but Goldsmith brought his team back, throwing his two TD passes to give the Fighting Seminoles the halftime lead. Bennett scored on a 40-yard run early in the third quarter to make the score 27-14 before the Bulldogs scored their final touchdown three minutes later. After that it was all Seminole as it scored 21 unanswered points to turn the game into a rout. The Fighting Seminoles will play its other arch-rival, since the early '80's, when they travel to Lake Mary to take on the Rams in the season opener this Friday night at 7:30 p.m. at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

In other season-opening games on Friday. Lyman, under new coach Bill Caughell, will travel to Oviedo to take on the Lions at John Courier Field, Lake Brantley will head to Winter Springs to take on the Bears and Lake Howell will host Satellite at Richard Evans Field. All of the games are set for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.
