Little Opposition Offered To Make Committee Assignments Today

Warren Nomination Expected To Be First Action Today; World Court Will Come Up

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7 .- The Republicans, commanding a working majority in the senate for the tirst time in two years, proceeded Friday to reorganize that body with precision and dispatch.

They were given the support of three of the four senators they have dismissed from their councils, and had only nominal opposition from the Democrats, who, in a con-ference carlier in the day, decided against the employment of any obstructive tactics.

Assignments Delayed Although action on the assignments of senators to the standing committees went over until Saturlay through an agreement between the Republicans and Democrats, senate approval was given to a reslution of eight committees so that a regular Republican can be appointed to the places made vacant by the removal of the insurgents from their present committee rank.

More and more people throughout the state are beginning to realize the many advantages of Sanford over other Florida cities.

DeLand is organizing a tourist club. All Florida cities which enter to northern visitors have tourist clubs. Sanford will need a tourist club.

Building permits in Lake Worth during the month of Januar reached $200,000, It's hard to think of any Florida city which is not growing and growing rapidly.

"Grassy Point tract bought by Mr. Bodwell.-Sanford Herald. It doesn't matter what Mr. Bodwell bought. As long as he bought in Florida, it was a good buy .- Clermont Press.

The Clermont Press and the Dade City Banner have been doing some philosophizing on the waffle and the pancake and seem to have come to the conclusion that a waifle is a non-skid and sometimes puncture proof pancake.

The Sanford Herald says, "We don't know how he knows but young Pantagruel, a columnist up North, writes, 'A girl in the cab is worth two in the bus.'" We don't know about that. We remember very thing happened not so long blessed should be happy. But this "bussing" one in our young days ago. was worth a dozen anywhere else, -Dade City Banner.

Most of the members of the visiting ball team are also golf players and might appreciate being asked to play in foursomes at the country club. Why doesn't some enterprising young golfer arrange a tournament between the Milwaukee Brewers andtho Chamber of Commerce, for instance?

The New York World has discovered the tendency of the present generation through an advertisement of a Washington Street con-cern, which read: "Girls wanted for stripping tomatoes; must be fast." Which reminds us that ladles of modern society seem to be striving to outstrip each other.

.A Tale With A Moral. Find It

Entered as Second Class Matter. Cotober 27, 1919, at the Postoffice at Sanford, Florida under Act of March 3, 1897.

Ine alternoon bridge of a dozen women in an important florida town was utterly spoiled the other day by four little girls. Two small daughters of the hostess and two little guests placed a table on the last specific property of the hostess and two little The afternoon bridge of a dozen women in an important guests placed a table on the lawn over the parapet of the terrace where the big party was in progress, and were playing bridge with a deck of heterogeneous cards.

The women on the terrace watched the children's splendid "take-off" of fashionable women at a bridge party with much amusement, and as the children's high, treble voices began their bridge-table talk, the women at the three tables within hearing stopped their own talking, to "listen in."

And then the terrible happening! "Oh my deah," gurnotices, dards of thanks, resolutions and notices of entertainments where (mentioning one of the smiling women listening) will wear that hideous pea-green frock to my pahty. She looks positively sickening in it!" (The lady had on the dress referred to, and looked the part just then.)

"And, Oh my deah," said another child as she spread out her cards with a great flourish for a dummy hand," have nation." you heard that the shave put off their divorce. The nation will welcome his again?" (One of the swas at the table with the lady statement that the best way "to of the pea-green frock.)

"Ah, you must have failed to see my spade signal," warbled another child, "I declahr you are playing almost as bad as Mrs.——. How the women hate to see that woman at a bridge. But we all HAVE to ask her."

Only three of the twelve women "listening in" were spared. And they might as well have been referred to by the youngsters, so far as their embarrassment went. Some of the talk indulged by the children was amazingly "raw." 4-Batension of local amusements They repeated bits of scandal with as little understanding -awimming pool, tennis courts, etc.

5.—Acquisition of a municipal of an unknown tongue. They exchanged secrets in loud That's true and the secrets in loud to t stage whispers, using the names and reputations of their gram-houses, hotels, apartment mother's guests, their mother's neighbors, their mother's list of acquaintances who had not been invited to this special function.

Needless to say, the children were absolutely unconscious of the fact that their play-talk was being over-heard by the people on the terrace. They preened and they flounced, they lolled and they slouched, in imitation of the "society' they had observed. But they were no longer "funny" to the unhappy gathering of women who could not get out of the range of their voices. Then bridge playing on the terrace went doggedly, silently on. Several of the thoroughbreds managed to introduce some small talk, and every woman at those three tables made a perfect imitation of cordiality when the hostess came around to pay her pretty respects—but the day was quite ruined.

There's a moral to this tale.

The Bringer of Light

Wintering in Florida each year are so many celebrities and men of unusual achievement that we become quite accustomed to rubbing elbows with the builder of the Panama Canal or the richest man in the world, almost unaware of his presence. There is Barron Collier, who probably owns more land than any other individual in the world. There are Henry Ford, W. J. Bryan, Nina Wilcox Putnam, William Lyons Phelps, John Ringling, Ring Lardner and hundreds of others all more or less equally famous throughout the

That Florida appreciates having these men and women winter here, there is little doubt, yet it is very seldom that native Floridans take the trouble to say so. Only once in a while do we see any tribute paid these people who are making Florida and who have done so much for the world at large. Recently the Miami Herald adequately expressed the sentiment of the people of Florida regarding the world's greatest inventor, Thomas Edison, The Herald said:

"One of Florida's regular winter residents, Thomas A. Edison, has just celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday at his home on the west coast. Florida is glad to count this bringer-of-light among its residents.

"Mr. Edison is one of the greatest exponents of the modern use of science who is living or has lived. Science has had to justify its existence of late by the practical applications which it can make of its discoveries to the art of living. In this Mr. Edison has done more, perhaps than anyone has ever done to make life pleasanter, safer and more comfortable for everyone.

"There was a time when science, such as it was, was not far removed from philosophy. It was largely speculative. It sought out facts, but instead of putting them at work, it talked about them and theorized about them. It is different

A letter of apology for having omitted Sanford by name from an article which appeared some time ago in Library, one of the better known weekly magazines, has been received by R. W. Pearman, secretary of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, from Paul L. Kin-kead, who is really Hugh S. Fuller-ton, according to Mr. Pearman.

The article in question appeared in the Feb. 21 issue of the magazine under the caption of "Overnight Millionaires of Florida". Considerable space was devoted to the celery industry but the name of Sanford was not brought into the

Mr. Kinkend, or Mr. Fullerton, has been writing for national publications for many years and is noted as a sports writer.

Following is Mr. Kinkead's letter:
"My Dear Mr. Pearman:
Many thanks for your letter and enclosures and for calling my attention to the omission of Sanford by name in the recent article in Liberty. I can only explain that the subject was so big it was impossible to mention even a small fraction of the towns of Florida that are booming. The Sanford omission, however, was probably carelessness as I had Sanford in mind, knowing the district well and intending to go more into detail as to celery but checked up because of lack of space. I could have written a book much easier than an article on Florida.

I may confess, confidentially, that I spent a year around Orange Park and came near buying at Maitland 15 years ago, and have played around the whole central section. In fact, I prefer the inner cities far above either coast. I don't know whether I ever will write another article on Florida but if I do, I'll try to do more about Sanford. I think, as far as real agricultural value, the land of your dis-

"BREWERS" HOLD FIRST WORKOUTS ON CITY DIAMOND

Long Hours But Easy Work

Is Schedule Adopted For First Few Days Here; Have Week Before Senators Game

Under the eyes of Otto Borchert and Harry Clark, the Milwaukee Brewers Friday had their first real workout since arriving here for their spring training. The first contingent of players arrived on the field shortly after 9 o'clock and the work was continued in relays until in the afternoon.

Though the hours indicate the players are being driven at a hard pace to make up for what may be considered lost time, closer examination shows no lost time and no driving. The coolness of the weather; the fact that this was the first practice and other factors were considered and as a result, the practice brought no strain on any of the men.

Batting and pitching served in a burst of speed in the outfield to overhaul a fly and throwing about

The schedule worked out for the team is on the nature of an all day picnic, in the matter of hours and having lunch on the ground.
