Hungary's Problem Not Isolated

KRUSHCHEV'S NOTE: Mr. David Kelly, a diplomat since 1949 and British ambassador to Moscow from 1949 to 1953, is one of Britain's foremost experts on Communist affairs. In the following analysis he reports that the execution of former Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy means the return of Hungary to the Kremlin and the end of "separate paths to socialism."

By SIR DAVID KELLY
Written for UPI
LONDON (UPI) — It would be a mistake to consider the case of Hungary as an isolated problem. There is no doubt that when Khrushchev made his famous denunciation of Stalin at the 20th party congress he overplayed his hand. He had very intelligible motives for denouncing Stalin personally, but he never had the least intention of departing from strict Marxist-Leninist orthodoxy, and this has become a practice inseparably linked with the fundamentals of Stalinism as a system.

In Soviet Russia itself the governmental machine is now more subordinate than ever to the Communist Party, while the Presidium of the party itself seems to be completely under Khrushchev. He has ten members of his party secretariat in it — thus disposing of the "restoration of collective team leadership" which was a central point of Khrushchev's attack on Stalin.

Similarly, the professed encouragement of "various paths to socialism" which never did mean as much as wishful thinkers read into it has obviously come to a full stop. Integration Explained

Be Kind to Your Ears When Tuning Hi-Fi

By NORMAN N. BUNDENSON, M. D.

TUNE down that Hi-Fi, Bub! Buying a high-fidelity phonograph doesn't give you a license to blast the ears off everyone in the house and possibly the entire neighborhood, or even of yourself.

Some persons—too many, it seems—think the volume must be turned all the way up in order to appreciate the effects of the music. This, of course, is nonsense. Moreover, it might actually be harmful.

Delicate Mechanism
The ear mechanism, you must remember, is a delicate thing. It is not indestructible. Any noise loud enough to cause your ears to ring, or to cause partial deafness which lasts longer than a few days, has probably damaged this delicate mechanism enough so that it will never function as perfectly as before.

Generally, this is more likely to occur in industry than in the home. But playing a Hi-Fi set too loud might be a contributing factor.

Current Study
A study is underway right now to determine the amount of industrial hearing loss suffered by Americans.

This study points to the possibility that, under certain noise conditions, hearing damage occurs within a few months of exposure instead of after many years as has been commonly thought.

C. D. Yaffe, who is in charge of the Public Health Service study, reports: "With the increasing background of noise to which all

One Million Affected?
The number of workers exposed to hazardous noise levels probably exceeds the number exposed to any other occupational hazard, he says. It might, he adds, be more than 1,000,000 persons.

There is one more thing to consider when playing the Hi-Fi, radio or TV set at home. As persons grow older, their ranges of sound between the audible and the disagreeable become less and less.

Therefore, while loud music might not damage their ears, it does make them very uncomfortable.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
M. L. N.: I am short of breath. Will a change of climate help me?

Answer: It all depends on what the cause of your shortness of breath may be. Shortness of breath may be caused by a disorder of the heart, lungs or blood, or even by an allergic disease such as asthma. You should consult your doctor concerning a change of climate.

Blood Shortage Always Occurs Every Summer

By LOUIS CARROLL
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Somewhere in America, in the next few weeks, newspapers will carry a headline that will shock many readers.

It will say, in effect: "Blood shortage forces local hospitals to suspend all operations except emergencies." It happens every summer," an official of the American Red Cross explained. "The regular donors go away on vacation and the supply of blood falls off. Then the hospitals encounter an unusual run of accidents or surgical cases, and the regional blood bank finds its reserve stocks dropping to the danger point."

The Red Cross usually is able to meet the crisis by appealing through newspapers and broadcasting stations for blood donors to come on the run. And if the worse comes to worst, the temporarily bankrupt blood bank can borrow an emergency supply from another regional center.

But the perennial recurrence of these shortages demonstrates that narrow margins always exist between the amount of blood that hospitals need, and the amount that healthy Americans are willing to give through the Red Cross and other agencies.

Delay Can Be Serious
Even a temporary interruption of supply at the giving end can be serious. Blood can be stored only 21 days before the red cells deteriorate. After that it can be used to produce blood fractions such as plasma and gamma globulin. But it is useless for whole blood transfusions.

Keeping the life line filled has become one of the major responsibilities of the Red Cross since its civilian blood program was inaugurated ten years ago.

Through its 31 regional blood centers, the Red Cross collects about 40 per cent of all the blood used in hospitals. The rest is collected by the hospitals themselves, by community blood banks operated by non-profit agencies other than the Red Cross, and by commercial blood banks.

Commercial banks charge from $25 to about $60 a pint for blood. The average price is about $35 a pint. These banks collect blood from paid donors.

The Red Cross never charges a penny for blood. This statement, often made and often challenged, requires some explanation. It costs the Red Cross about $6 a pint to collect and distribute blood, even though the blood itself is given free by volunteer donors. The agency has to pay nurses and doctors who staff the blood centers, for bottles, syringes and other equipment, and for the processing, storage and transportation of the blood.

Few Cents For Juice
A few cents of it goes for the fruit juice with which donors are bribed before they bare their arms, and for the doughnuts and coffee that await them when they finish. For the past several years, hospitals in many parts of the country have been underwriting part of the collecting costs. The rest is paid by the Red Cross out of the funds contributed by the American public in its annual appeal.

Hardly a day passes, however, without some outraged citizen getting the idea that the Red Cross is running some kind of racket with its blood program. What outrages the citizen is the discovery that a hospital has billed him for a blood transfusion. The explanation, which the Red Cross patiently offers over and over, is that the blood itself is free. But the Red Cross has no control over any charge that a hospital may make for administering it.

New programs are being added to the Citywide Summer Recreation program, said Recreation Director Ronald W. Perry. Square dancing will be added to the playground activities, he said, and will get underway tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Youth Wing of the Sanford Civic Center.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government reported today that living costs hit another all-time high in May. Food prices held steady after a five-month climb, but increases in other prices pushed the average to a new record.

The average from April to May cause of higher charges by physicians largely because of a seasonal increase in the supply of fresh vegetables, eggs, and milk, whose prices dipped. Prices of meats, poultry, and fresh fruits advanced.

Repairs and Repairs Up The department reported that rents rose one-tenth of one percent, about the same increase as in other recent months. The cost of home repairs, maintenance, gas, and electricity also went up.

Fringe Residents Will Vote Sept. 9 On Fire Districts

Fringe area residents will be given the opportunity to vote in the Sept. 9 Primary on the setting up of Fire Districts in order to assess costs for fire protection, according to a decision reached at last night's session of the Board of Sanford City Commission.

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham suggested that "in the event Seminole County provides sufficient millage and fire districts are established the City of Sanford will contract with the district or districts for fire protection." Members of the city commission unanimously approved the action.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles told the board of commissioners that it would "be well to consider a second water plant for the City of Sanford instead of pumping water from outlying areas into the present plant."

'Radioactive Rabbit'

By LEON BURNETT
Underground Control Center
DAYSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — In their lighter moments, scientists who introduced the atom age to Georgia's backwoods make jokes about the "radioactive rabbit."

This is mostly in the form of speculation about what would result if a healthy hare wandered onto the grounds of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s new research center for atom - power flight and got himself radioactivated. "His descendants might be six feet tall," was the guess of John Lohan, facilities supervisor on the project. "Or they could break all the reproduction records they already hold. Or, on the other hand, lose their romantic reputation completely."

There is little likelihood this fantastic question will be answered. Because facilities to be used here for testing the effects of radio - activity on aircraft systems and parts will be as remote - proof as high altitude - tests can make it. In the case of the gain entry, Mrs. Rabbit probably would think he had come upon a different planet. The buildings and gadgets here are like nothing that is ordinarily seen.

Odd Structures
For example, final work is being done on a two - story concrete building which will be entirely underground. From here researchers will throw switches and twist dials to operate the center's main reactor, located in a barn - like structure above ground and several hundred feet away.

When not in actual use the reactor itself will be submerged in a deep tank of water as pure as man can make it. Water from which the minerals have been removed is radiation resistant, cheap and easy to handle and store.

At the electronic command of its masters in the control center, the reactor will rise to ground level and direct its beams at tank cars loaded with parts from airplanes. When they have received the same dose of radiation they would likely receive in an atomic powered plane, the parts will be hauled on the center's two-mile railroad to a laboratory.

When the tests are complete, aircraft builders will know which parts will stand up under these deadly rays and which ones will need modification.

Ground Breaking For Country Club House Held Sunday

CASSELBERRY—Ground breaking ceremonies Sunday afternoon for the new $10,000 air-conditioned and heated Casseberry Country Club-house were held a few minutes ahead of schedule, beating a heavy downpour of rain which chased members and spectators into the Women's Club Building for shelter. Minutes before the rains came building chairman Cliff Overman, club manager Paul McClure, publicity chairman Paul J. Smith and Joseph Pavelchek quickly assembled inside the building lines to officially turn a few shovels of dirt. After the invocation by the Reverend Ralph Brewer, Jr., of Sanford, in the Women's Club Building, simulated ground breaking ceremonies were enacted. Standing on a long table were Edward Christensen, of Orlando, president of the club's men's golf association; Mrs. Robert Carson, also of Orlando, president of the Women's golf association holding an empty shovel. Also in the scene were Overman and McClure. McClure said that construction would begin immediately and in a brief address to the crowd of 150 people assembled for the occasion he expressed his sincere appreciation to the committees and members for their untiring efforts in bringing to a happy conclusion their dreams of only a year ago. The main part of the clubhouse, designed by Overman, will be 40x80 feet and will contain a snack bar, dining room, pro shop and dance floor. Along the front of the building, which overlooks Lake Triplett, will be a large screened porch. McClure said that financing of the building and its equipment is complete and Sept. 1, is the date set for dedication and formal opening. The membership roster lists approximately 200 names, many of whom are from Sanford, Orlando, and Winter Park as well as the immediate area. An organizational meeting held in April officers of the men's association were elected. Besides Christensen they are: Al Vickers and Robert Carson, vice-president; Al Stuart secretary and Don Becker treasurer.

Lutherans Make Tour Of Isles

LONDON, England—Dr. Oswald Hoffman, speaker on the International Lutheran Hour and a chorus composed of theological students from Concordia Seminary in Springfield, Ill., heard over Radio Station WIOD Sundays at 1 p. m., have arrived here for a six-week evangelistic tour of the British Isles and the continent. The chorus will present 30 concerts in 12 countries, and their choral selections and messages will be translated into six languages. Dr. Hoffman will address the concert audiences during program intermissions. Prof. Fred Precht directs the chorus. On June 22, the group presented a program in Dublin, Ireland, at a city-wide rally sponsored by the YMCA. Concerts will also be presented in a number of English cities where the Lutheran Church is represented, and in Cardiff, Wales. Serving as ambassadors for their home city of Springfield, Ill., the chorists will carry gifts from city and state officials to the mayors and lord mayors of each of the English cities they visit. The gifts include a greeting scroll from Illinois Governor William G. Stratton; a specially made gavel from the Springfield Chamber of Commerce; a biography on Abraham Lincoln by Springfield author Benjamin Thomas from the Inter-Civic Club; and a small bronze bust of Lincoln, who is buried in Springfield, from the city's Junior Chamber of Commerce. On the continent, the Lutheran Hour speaker, whose voice is beamed regularly to England and Europe over Radio Luxembourg, will address concert audiences in several famous churches. These include: the cathedral in Bergen and Oslo in Norway; the two churches of Kungälv and Varberg in Sweden; and the 600-year-old Market Church in Hanover, Germany. Other concerts will be given in Hamburg, Berlin, Augsburg, and Frankfurt in Germany; Vienna in Austria; Ede in the Netherlands; and in Strasbourg, France, at the world-renowned Strasbourg Music Festival. The tour will be climaxed with a concert at the Protestant Pavilion in the Brussels Exposition on July 29.

Longwood CofC Elects Directors At June Session

LONGWOOD—Three directors were elected to the Longwood area Chamber of Commerce at its regular June meeting. Elected were: Mrs. Ruth Hamilton, J. Daniel Screency and Mrs. Ralph Hammond. Rotating directors were Gerard Hanson, who has served two years as treasurer; Charlie Morrison and Ralph Hammond. Directors still serving, in addition to the three new ones are: H. S. Arnold, J. R. Grant, R. W. Zartman, Mrs. John Carhart, Fred Esclavon and Mrs. L. L. Cox. A meeting of these nine directors will be held early next week, at which time presiding officers will be elected for the new year. The year begins with July meeting. At that time not only presiding officers will be installed, but chairmanships will be announced. Mrs. Elizabeth Screency has served as secretary for the Chamber of Commerce for three years. Her resignation was accepted with much regret. A vote of thanks for "jobs well done" was given Mrs. Screency and Mr. Hanson, whose term as director expired. House numbering in Longwood is moving ahead satisfactorily. Volunteers are canvassing the streets, one by one, telling the resident what his house number is, and advising each family that numbers may be bought from the Chamber at a very reasonable price. The house numbering committee found some streets and avenues with the same names. The committee met with the Town Council to ask that this confusion be cleared as soon as possible. A new, complete town census is to be made as the numbers are distributed. Home numbers will begin with 100. Each number will have a letter as the last digit. This letter indicates the section of town, ie: N for north, E for east, W for west and S for south. A motion was adopted that the Chamber of Commerce investigate charges concerning phone and power rates charged in this area. There have been complaints of patrons being charged business rates on 4 and 8 party telephone lines. This investigation is to begin at once. Jim Gamble, local realtor, introduced 2 new members to the chamber, Mr. Young and Mr. Brown. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served by the refreshment committee. Mrs. Olive Burmaster took the group of about 50 on a most interesting tour to South America, via colored slides, which she had made while she was touring South America two years ago. The scenes were truly beautiful. The "Trip with the mind" was greatly enjoyed.

Congress Is Asked To Act On Pest Study

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Wildlife Federation is calling upon the U. S. Congress to authorize detailed "crash basis" investigations into effects, both immediate and long-range, of federal pest control programs. In statements to be presented before committees of both the Senate and House, the Federation will ask that appropriate federal agencies be granted adequate funds to develop information on how new chemicals currently being used in pest control work affect humans, fish and wildlife, beneficial insect and micro-organisms in the soil. The statements point out that the Federation is not opposed to pest control but cannot endorse any program until effects upon humans and wildlife are made known to the public. Even those who developed many of the new chemical controls cannot predict their effects, it is pointed out. Action by the Federation is prompted by mounting evidence of fish and wildlife losses in areas treated by pest control programs. In New England, investigations of areas treated with DDT for gypsy moth control revealed serious losses of birds and fish and other aquatic life. Other losses of wildlife occurred in the Southeast as heptachlor and dieldrin were sprayed in efforts to eradicate the

Little Summer Relief Seen

MIAMI (UPI)—South Florida farmers, still reeling from one of the worst winters in Florida history, will find little relief from their miseries this summer, County Agent John Campbell has predicted. Campbell said summer fruit growers in Dade County, which furnishes the nation's major supply of mangoes, avocados and limes, will be lucky to have more than a salvage yield because of "a combination of every kind of bad weather." "This will be the worst year ever," Campbell said. "Harvesting should have started two to three weeks ago but instead it's barely beginning." Late spring frosts and heavy rains last month may cut the mango yield some 75 per cent, Campbell said, while the county's 9,000-acre avocado crop will probably be down more than 80 per cent from last year's total of 600,000 bushels. He said the Perian lime crop also probably will be down 20 to 30 per cent, giving California lemons growers a big price edge in northern markets that may take years to overcome. "It's very grim, but it should be pointed out that farmers who were lucky enough to out-guess the weather are doing very well because prices are still high," Campbell added.

Plenty Of Changes Have Been Made! A Sure Sign Of Progress

How many of us can — or will — remember back a few years when during the summer, from June to September, hundreds of parking places were available along First Street during the day?

And, when the population was down around nine thousand? And real estate offices were visiting places rather than a booming business office handling thousands of dollars in real estate deals a week?

There's been a lot of progress in Sanford — no doubt about it!

Bank deposits were something that one read in a financial statement rather than being the topic of conversation on street corners and home groups.

There were days, not too many years back, when home building contractors and developers were practically non-existent and building lots were available for whatever a customer might want to pay — why even the city was giving veterans a lot as a gift if one was bought!

Paved streets in several sections of Sanford (inside the city limits, too) were overgrown with grass and weeds and there were some dark wooded areas where now Sanford's heaviest populated areas exist.

Things have changed — don't you think so?

Grocery stores and super markets are doing business six days a week, many of

There's An Old Adage Still True

There's an old saying that goes something like this: "Where there's smoke there's fire." And it seems, perhaps, that the adage is still popular and so very true.

In recent weeks there have been rumblings from various sections of Florida in regards to the giant bolita racket.

One community says "Tis" and the other answers "Tain't".

And then from the Governor's office comes reports that the bolita racket must be controlled at all costs.

And that's where the adage comes in. Whenever there are rumblings, rest assured that something is happening right there.

No community wants a "black eye" because of an uncontrollable racket and so the fact that bolita, or any form of gambling or illegal racket, just doesn't exist.

One of the communities involved in the dispute, several days after the squabble started, announced that two "gangs" had combined their efforts — after many years of competition — and would now operate as one.

Frankly, the bolita racket has gone underground. It is still available to those who know where the sales are being made and if they're willing to take a chance on their money being deposited to the right number, etc., without receiving a receipt.

However, there are a lot of bolita tickets still floating around and thousands of dollars are being placed on the line each week in hopes that "my number will hit next".

United Press International correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make headlines.

LABOR BILL

The labor reform bill passed by the Senate will fall by the wayside. House leaders are for it and will do what they can to push it through. But it's all up to the Labor Committee. And committee members say privately the bill's chances are just about zero.

DEFENSE BILL

President Eisenhower will make a strong plea for congressional approval of his defense reorganization bill at his next news conference. He was all set to plump the bill at his last news conference but the Sherman Adams case crowded it off the agenda.

BROUGHT

Asia is in the midst of a drought that may result in famine and possible food riots next fall and winter. Some areas report the drought is the worst in 30 years. Even such a food-surplus nation as Thailand is worried. Japan is considering restriction on the use of water.

COMMUNIST HANDICAP

The execution of the Hungarian revolution leaders will backfire on the Reds in Finland first. The Reds had to increase the 45 seats they hold in the 200-seat parliament during general elections next month. The opposition is making good use of the executions as a reason for voting against the Communists. Observers now say the Reds may lose out in their bid although they probably will not sink below the 45 seats they now hold.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from former servicemen and their families:

Q: I'm a World War Two veteran. I draw disability compensation of $45 a month. Can I have the VA deduct my GI insurance premiums from my compensation?

A: Yes. You may apply to the VA to have your premiums deducted from your monthly compensation checks.

Q: I have been taking a general science course under the GI Bill, with science teaching as my objective. I have been told I can qualify for a teaching position in the training division of an electronics equipment plant, if I take more math and nuclear physics. Would that be considered a change of course by the VA?

A: No. As long as your final goal remains the same, a change in subjects would not be considered a change of course.

Q: I am the unmarried widow of a World War Two veteran who never used his GI loan privilege. Recently I noticed that the deadline for loan applications had been extended to July 30, 1958. Has my right to apply for a loan also been extended?

A: Yes. Eligible unmarried widows of World War Two veterans have until July 30, 1958, to apply.

Q: I will have to take a physical examination to restate my loaned GI insurance policy. Who should mail my application to the VA?

A: Your examining physician should mail it to the VA.

Will Your Bathing Suit Reveal Leg Blemishes?

NOW that bathing suit weather is here, many women may be embarrassed by dilated surface blood vessels, or bluish-red discolorations on the legs.

Unless various veins accompany these discolorations, they are completely harmless except as far as one's vanity is concerned.

Spider-Vein Types

Medically, we call them spider-vein types of varicose because they often appear in the shape of a spider's web. You probably would refer to them as broken capillaries or veins.

Actually, the blemishes consist of varicose veins in which blood has congested.

Because they appear so close to the surface of the skin, they become fairly obvious. Generally, they occur in the middle of the thigh, below the knee, or around the ankles — the areas of greatest strain.

Not Much Help

Unfortunately, there is not too much we doctors can do to help you this summer if you are seeking our aid in the matter for the first time.

We can inject a solution to block off the veins from further use. We do this by injecting the solution through a needle into the major vessel of the affected group. Then we massage the entire area to force the drug into the radiating and branching venules.

Eventually, the discoloration will fade, but it probably will be long after you put your bathing suit away for the winter.

Electrolytic Treatment

In cases where the varicose veins occur independently, and not in a group, it might be obliterated by electrolysis. This is the same technique that is employed to individual hair follicles to rid persons of excess hair.

You can use cosmetics to tone down the discolorations this summer, but I don't know of any that will cover the blemishes completely.

Meanwhile, I suggest that you take a few precautions to prevent further congestion.

Long hours of standing or walking or sitting with your legs crossed will hamper blood circulation in the legs, producing the bluish or red discolorations around the heel or ankle which apply pressure on the thigh.

Best thing to do is to avoid such circulation hazards.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Q: J. I. I have had pains in my right heel for the past five months. It feels like I am stepping on a nail. What could be causing this?

A: Answer: Your difficulty could be caused by a spur, or extra portion of bone, protruding from the heel bone. Sometimes an inflammation of the ligaments around the heel or arthritis can also be at fault.

An X-ray will help reveal the cause.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. MCCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A British-Greek-Turkish conference seems to offer the sole hope of settling the increasingly dangerous dispute over Cyprus.

Great Britain has announced a long-considered plan for the administration of the eastern Mediterranean island for the next seven years.

What would happen after that is left for the future.

Under the plan, the Greek and Turkish islanders would be given a great measure of home rule as separate communities.

The Greek and Turkish governments would be taken into full partnership in carrying out the plan.

The plan as it stands now seemed doomed even before British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced it.

Both Greece and Turkey, which had been informed of its provisions, had said it was unsatisfactory.

Plan Rejected

Now Greece has formally rejected it.

Turkey, too, has rejected the plan as it stands. But its rejection was qualified.

Greece is holding out for the island's "self-determination," knowing that the 400,000 Great Cypriote islanders would vote for union with Greece.

Turkey, which for a long time was contented with British rule over Cyprus, now says it must be partitioned between the Greeks and the 100,000 Turkish Cypriotes.

Britain has long been trying to arrange a formal conference with Greece and Turkey over the island's future.

Turkey, too, would like such a conference. Greece, however, has rejected the idea that Turkey should have any voice in the dispute.

Feeling in Greece and Turkey and between the Greek and Turkish islanders, has been getting more and more angry.

About 15 Greek islanders have been killed in Turkish Cypriote riots.

Renewed Violence

The Greek underground organization, EOKA, has resumed violence, after a long truce, against Greek islanders who are not sufficiently cooperative in the union-with-Greece campaign.

Greece has withdrawn its military mission from the southeastern headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation at Ismir, Turkey.

There has even been talk of war between Greece and Turkey, for there is every reason to believe that Turkey would go to war rather than let Greece get the island.

Britain has announced it will try to carry out its plan alone in Greece and Turkey refuse to cooperate. How that would be possible, it is hard to figure.

MRS. EUGENE EARL KRONJAEGER JR.

Loechelt, Kronjaeger Wedding Event Of Saturday, June 21

Miss Marcia Loechelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Loechelt, and Eugene Earl Kronjaeger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Kronjaeger Sr. of Wheeling, W. Va., were united in marriage at 8 p. m. on Saturday, June 21. The Rev. T. C. O'Steen officiated at the service which was held at the First Methodist Church. In a background of fern, palms, baskets of white gladioli, baby's breath, the cathedral-type candelabra lent candlelight beauty to the church. In this setting Bernard Harkey, accompanied by the organist, Roger Harris, sang "With Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." Immediately before the ceremony began the groom sang the ever popular "I'll be true," and "Because." The bride entered the church on her father's arm wearing a traditional wedding gown of imported lace over nylon tulle and satin. The molded bodice of French lace was bordered with scalloped lace. A fine edging of bridal satin, embroidered with seed pearls, finished the neckline. Self-covered buttons extended down the back to a fitted waistline which ended in a voluminous skirt, fashioned of lace over a layer of tulle. Graduated tiers of tulle ruffles cascaded down the back to a chapel length train. Her finically veiled of illusion was attached to a band of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid held in place by a shower of ribbon entwined with baby's breath.

PELON, the crease-resistant 28-woven interlining, shapes this Dorothy Hubbs shirtwaist version of the trapeze, charcoal brown cotton, it has back fullness floating free from a yoke, wide leather belt clasps the front waistline while notched collar and large patch pockets complete the shirtwaist look.

Safety Rules For Parents

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Accidents kill more children every year than the seven most dreaded childhood diseases. William D. Lutes, Extension safety specialist at the University of Nebraska, said doctors can immunize children against disease, but only parents can immunize them against accidents. Lutes made these suggestions: Never leave a small child alone when giving him a bath. Keep articles which may cause injury off the floor. Use care in selecting toys. If there is danger of parts breaking off, or if the toys have sharp edges, keep them away from small children. Keep handles of pans turned away from the edge of the stove. Add: Keep matches and lighted cigars out of children's reach. "You can help your child to safety by providing protection, supplemented with education and a good safety example," Lutes said.

14 FSU Ballplayers Earn Letters In '58

TALLAHASSEE (Special)—Fourteen members of Florida State's baseball team that won 21 of 25 games earned letters during the 1958 campaign, Athletic Director Tom Nugent announced today.

The Seminoles set a school record by winning 18 games in a row from April 23 through June 6.

The lettermen include four pitchers, four infielders, four outfielders and two catchers. Seven are seniors, four juniors, and three sophomores.

Pitchers Frank Sussler, Jack Bristol, Fred Kenney, and Tom Garcia; All-American shortstop Dick Howser; and outfielders Owen McCarron and Jerry Philip have completed their baseball eligibility.

Howser and McCarron recently signed bonus contracts with the Kansas City Athletics and Detroit Tigers, respectively. Philip, a sure-fingered halfback, last week signed a professional football contract with Toronto.

Returning next season are third baseman Dale Koch, second baseman Ray Bassell, first baseman Charlie Rodgers, outfielders Mike

Howser Again Named To All-America Team

TALLAHASSEE (Special)—Florida State's dynamic little shortstop, Dick Howser, has done it again.

A senior from West Palm Beach, Howser was named today to college baseball's All-America first team for the second year in a row. The 10-man first team, which also includes second baseman Bernie Parrish of Florida, was announced by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

A diminutive whisp who stands 5-4 and weighs but 147 pounds, Howser only last week signed a bonus contract with the Kansas City Athletics for a reported $32,000. He currently is playing shortstop for Rochester, Minn., in the Class B Three-I League.

Howser was named to the first-team All-America squad as a junior in 1957. The Florida Sports-writers Association last March voted Howser the state's "Amateur Athlete of the Year" for 1957.

Howser's .666 batting average and 28 hits in 1956 and 29 RBI in 1957 still stand as Florida State school records. He compiled a dazzling .375 three-year batting average for 77 games as a Seminole.

This year, Howser sparked the Seminoles to a 21-7 record with a .337 batting mark. He led the club in runs (32), doubles (7), triples (4) and walks (23). He bagged the 100th hit of his college career in his last appearance at the plate, ninth-inning triple high off the right center field against Clemson in the NCAA District 3 playoffs earlier this month.

Whatever Happened To

Coach (Babe) Dye
By United Press International
Babe Dye, an all-around athlete, starred in both hockey and baseball but his greatest reputation was in hockey. The Toronto-born son, who wound up his National Hockey League career in 1927 with the Chicago Black Hawks, capped a great career by joining the exclusive "900-club." He finished with a total of 903 goals. In addition, Babe played several minor league baseball seasons with the Buffalo club of the International League.

Player Of The Day

By United Press International
DON LARSEN
Ever since he broke into the big leagues in 1953, big Don Larsen has waited hopefully for that "big year"—and it begins to look like this is it.

The 26-year-old Yankee right-hander not only is enjoying a fine year on the mound but also at the plate.

Take Sunday's game against the Tigers, for example.

He hurled a masterful two-hitter to make his pitching record 8-1 and also blasted a tremendous double in the first inning that figured in a six-run rally. The Yankees won with ease, 15-0.

Up to now, the most victorious Larsen ever has compiled in one season is 11 during 1954. He slipped to 10 last year and there was talk that his days with the Yankees were numbered.

But he's firmly entrenched now. Casey Stengel insists he has all the necessary equipment to be a 20-game winner. Arm troubles caused Larsen to miss a couple of weeks not so long ago but he's headed in the right direction now.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALAY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Jack Kramer, the rajah of the racquet, has winged to London to arrange details of the first pro tennis tour of Russia with the firm belief that "The Soviet within 10 years will be the tennis leader of the world."

Kramer, whose sack and carry troupe currently is performing at Forest Hills, has another reason for his flying visit. He will try to get Wimbledon dates, thus cracking the last amateur stronghold which has withstood the pro assault.

The Russians installed tennis as a state-subsidized sport four years ago and Fred Perry has been helping them get organized for two years," Kramer explained.

"They want to get into the Davis Cup and feel we can create tremendous interest for them."

Wang To and competitors.

"Like in all other sports, money is no object for them if they can turn out a world leader," Kramer added. "With thousands of players to select from, there's no doubt in my mind but what they will be tough to beat within 10 years. Right now their best players are in their 20's but a big youth movement is on."

every move of the frenzied fish. Wings, tall, and webbed feet were brought into play. The chase was short-lived before the killer struck.

Other naturalists have reported the birds working in flocks to herd fish into shallow water, where they deliver a combined assault. After such a hunt the cormorants are frequently too gorged to fly.

"The cormorant pest had to come sooner or later," said a spokesman for Fisheries and Games Department in Europe, America, and even Egypt, they are recognized as pests. But this is the first time the matter has become serious in Australia."

THE LONE DEPUTY

CHAPTER 20
THE CLIFFS was a steep one, and hardly a path, crossing and recrossing the creek that tumbled down from the plateau to the north in a series of falls. Price stopped often to let his horse slow each time checking the trail for tracks. There was very little trail, so he felt reasonably certain that Bruce's horse had made the tracks he was following. The boy had been here not very long before, judging by the signs.

A little over a mile later Price came out on top of the valley of the Yellow Cat stretching south toward Elk River, a deep twisting cut, the walls widening at the points which held the farms, then coming together so close that at this distance they gave the appearance of actually meeting.

The Mohawk spread was to the east. Price could not see the buildings. He didn't even know their exact location. From here he could see a few stoves carrying the Broken Ring iron, but no riders were in sight. The country consisted of a series of ridges and gullies that were deep enough to hide a man and horse, the ridge tops covered by cedars that in places grew in tight little clumps capable of hiding several men.

Price cracked spurs to his horse's flanks and went rocketing down the slope, gun in hand, shouting, "Hook the moon! You're under arrest."

But the Mohawk boys had been born to violence; they were incapable of submitting to arrest even if the shock of surprise had not set off their hair-trigger tempers. They both fired, quickly, snap shots that came uncannily close, and Price knew at once there was no chance of taking these men alive.

Sea Lion Helps Herring Fishermen

TOMALESE BAY, Calif. — (UPI) — A friendly sea lion has made life easy for herring fishermen here. The big seal and his harem of females have built a nest nearby, and they systematically herd the herring into a cove where they are easily netted.

In past years herring fishing has been a difficult and tiresome job.

Litwhiler To Start Baseball Program On Aruba Island

Firemen To Discuss Control Law

CASSELLBERRY—A law providing for the establishment and creation of fire control districts in certain parts of counties having an official population of less than 20,000 inhabitants will be the chief topic for discussion at a meeting here at 8 p. m., tonight at the municipal building, of the Seminole County Firemen's Association, according to Paul Bates, Casseberrry fire chief and vice-president of the county association.

Bates said that all fire companies in Seminole County had approved the law and cooperated in having it passed by the legislature. Bates also said that because of the importance and need for fire control districts he hoped a

Man Charged With Assault Of Two Youths

A 22-year-old Sanford insurance man was jailed last night following a sexual attack on a 14-year-old youth and a 16-year-old boy. The attack, which took place in the SanLando Springs area, occurred in the late afternoon yesterday. However, Adrian Allen Armour, a former Air Force man with a wife and two children, wasn't taken into custody until shortly after seven o'clock when deputy sheriffs followed the trail of the man to his home in Sanford.

Armour was identified by the two youths after he was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs L. J. Kriz and Verne Brewster. Brought to the jail shortly after nine o'clock last night, Armour was silent except requesting an attorney.

Walters Taken Into Custody On Five Forgery Counts

A 51-year-old Lake Mary man was taken into custody yesterday on five counts of forgery. Albert L. Walters, a former Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department chief, was lodged in the Seminole County Jail when warrants issued by Seminole County Judge Wilson Alexander were served on him.

Under the law no fire control district could become operative until a petition is filed with the board of county commissioners bearing the signatures of more than 25 per cent of the registered freeholders entitled to vote in each district. Fire control districts will be established under the law, including one or more election precincts, exclusive of property lying within municipalities.

Health Dept. Once Dungeon-Like Jail

This is the first of a series of editorials in which we hope to bring to the people of Sanford and Seminole County both pictures of existing conditions in county facilities and the reasons why citizens should demand a progressive program of planning and building.

The Seminole County Health Department is located in a building used first as a livery stable, reportedly before 1900, and then when Seminole County was formed in 1913 renovated into a jail and space for equipment storage.

There had been no progress — no building program — for the past 48 years. The same old story of "let's patch up this and patch that to make it do for another month or another year". And when that period of grace runs out Seminole County is in the same position it was in when the patching began.
