Scandal Topples Brandt
BONN, West Germany (AP) - West Germany's ruling Social Democratic party nominated sharp-tongued Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt today to succeed Chancellor Willy Brandt after Brandt's unexpected resignation.
Brandt, 60, whose "Ostpolitik" policies for East-West détente won him the Nobel Peace Prize during his 4 1/2 years in office, fell victim to a spy scandal on top of state election setbacks for his socialist party.
Foreign Minister Walter Scheel, Brandt's vice chancellor and the leader of the junior partner in the coalition government, took over the caretaker cabinet left by Brandt. He will serve until Schmidt's election by the lower house of parliament.
Heinz Kuehn, deputy chairman of the Social Democrats, told newsmen Brandt himself proposed the 55-year-old finance minister as his successor. Schmidt was nominated by the party's presidium and a caucus of its members in parliament was called for later today to approve the nomination.
Kuehn said Brandt would retain the chairmanship of the party, despite his retirement from the government. The Social Democratic spokesman emphasized that the party would continue its alliance with the Free Democrats, whose 41 seats in the lower house give the government a majority of 46 instead of leaving it 36 seats in the minority.
Word of Schmidt's nomination was immediately sent to a Free Democrat caucus, and no opposition was expected there.
The chancellor's resignation letter to President Gustav Heinemann Monday night said Brandt took "political responsibility for negligence" in appointing a spy for East Germany, Guenther Guillaume, to an important post in the chancellery.
Political experts said Brandt also resigned because of the recent setbacks in state elections and opinion polls that showed support for his policies had dropped to about 30 per cent, down from 43 per cent as late as last October. And one senior American official in Washington said Brandt's customary vigor and enthusiasm had been replaced in recent months by a puzzling and alarming apathy.

Brandt Reaction
LONDON (AP) - West European political leaders expressed shock today at the resignation of West German Chancellor Willy Brandt. They hailed him as one of the era's greatest statesmen and said his departure was a heavy blow for West Germany and for European unity.
His resignation, like his political conduct, marks his total integrity," said Dutch Premier Joop den Uyl. "But without him Europe is impoverished."
Premier Trygve Bratteli of Norway, where Brandt spent the Nazi years in exile, said the news was received with regret and sympathy in Brandt's "second homeland."
Danish Premier Poul Hartung praised Brandt as a good friend of Denmark and said he had made a real contribution to international détente through his policy of reconciliation with Germany's Communist enemies in Eastern Europe.
Former Danish Premier Anker Joergensen deeply deplored Brandt's decision and expressed the hope he eventually would make a comeback.
Former British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart also regretted Brandt's resignation, saying: "He established himself as an eminent statesman of great stature and has done very valuable work in improving relations between East and West."
Brandt's decision was announced too late for editorial comment in London's morning papers. But the political correspondent of the Guardian wrote: "By forcing Mr. Brandt to resign, the East German intelligence service has accomplished one of the most important achievements in the recent history of espionage."
In Brussels, where foreign ministers of the Common Market countries met today, French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert paid tribute to Brandt as a leading European statesman.

City Mourns Death Of E.E. Williamson
Longwood's "grand old man of politics," E.E. Williamson, 73, an 18 year city council veteran who resigned 17 days ago "to bring harmony to the city government" died at 11:32 p.m. Monday at an Orlando nursing home.
The flag at city hall was ordered lowered to half staff this morning by Acting Council Chairman Donald Schreiner. Williamson's protégé, and a period of seven days of mourning was called.
Considered a formidable political force until his death, Williamson last week endorsed Unanimously elected council chairman in January by his colleagues. Williamson attended less than a dozen council meetings before his condition deteriorated and he was bedfast.
With Williamson absent, city council deadlocked on one major issue after another. County Commissioners last year returned to E.E. Williamson Road a section of the old Longwood Markham Road in the county and city council took identical action in the city.
A resident of the city for 39 years, Williamson was born in Grady, Ga. He is survived by his wife of 56 years, Lala, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred (Estelle) Dudley, Mrs. William (Wilma) Pope, both of Longwood; an adopted daughter, Mrs. Gene Langford of Valdosta, Ga., one brother, Joseph Wright Williamson, of Sanford, eight grandchildren, six great grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.
Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church of Longwood with Rev. Jack Lindsay officiating and burial will be at Longwood Memorial Gardens.
Friends can pay their respects at Grankow Funeral Home, Sanford, at 7 p.m. today, all day tomorrow and at the church at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Zoo Walking A Tightrope
The Central Florida Zoological Park is walking a tight rope and time according to Stan Brock who spoke at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's 'Personality Breakfast' this morning at the Civic Center.
Brock, a naturalist who has traveled the world making the Wild Kingdom television series is currently volunteering his time and experience to help develop the 194 acre park three miles west of Sanford, said the only life-saving device under the rope could be money.
"Unless we can raise $300,000 within the next two months the activity is going to stop," Brock said after announcing the walls are going up on the first building at the park.
The urgency of the situation is prompted by the revised federal animal welfare act, said Brock.
Under the new act, the old Sanford Zoo - an "animal ghetto," according to Brock - will be closed down and the animals disposed of.
The old Sanford zoo has survived thus far, said Brock, because despite a stringent state animal welfare act, authorities have turned a blind eye to conditions in the local zoo.
He does not believe the federal authorities will act with similar leniency under the new law.
Brock told Chamber members and their guests an intensive fund raising drive is embarked on the new zoo.
A boardwalk is planned to meander through the swamped area of the zoo site, and the 16 foot boards which make up the walk may be donated at $300 each (or $150 a half-board). The donor's name will be inscribed on the plank.
A fund raising golf tournament is also planned for May 25.
In 1973 alone across the nation attracted 150 million visitors, said Brock. This is more than any other single entertainment, sports included. He stressed the educational and entertainment aspects having a zoo in Seminole County, adding it would also be of great economic importance to the local community.

Prisoners Examined For TB
Test results are expected by Friday on Seminole County jailers, prisoners, attorneys and others suspected of contact with a 43-year-old Sanford convict transferred to a Tampa hospital last week with an active case of infectious tuberculosis.
Sheriff John Polk said today tests are being administered in jail and at the county health department for all those who suspect they may have come into contact with Robert Lee Erving, transferred by court order April 30.
Erving, convicted in 1973 of attempted manslaughter, had been in jail for a little over two weeks on a parole violation when he took a nurse his mother was a patient in a TB hospital.
The assistant jail doctor T.F. McDaniels contacted the county health department and Erving was discovered to be infected.
A fund raising golf tournament is also planned for May 25.
In 1973 alone across the nation attracted 150 million visitors, said Brock. This is more than any other single entertainment, sports included. THAT'S NOT 'JACK AND THE BEAN STALK'
After a full career with the U.S. Navy, Cmdr. Glenn J. Wimbish of 410 W. Crystal Drive, Sanford retired to a life of fishing and growing flowers. Food costs climbing as they are, Wimbish tried his hand with a vegetable plant and came up with this 15-foot version of Kentucky Wonder Pole Beans. Perhaps not enough to merit a prize, but certainly more than enough to feed the family for quite some time.

How Well Will Incumbents Fare?

By The Associated Press An early indication of how well incumbents will fare in this year's elections may be supplied today as two governors and two senators seek nomination to new terms.

Today is primary day in a number of states. The incumbents were Govs. George C. Wallace of Alabama and John J. Gilligan of Ohio, and Sens. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and James B. Allen of Alabama, all Democrats.

North Carolina voters were selecting nominees to run for the seat of Democratic Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, who is retiring.

In another chamber in the same courthouse Monday, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica delayed proceedings in a subpoena fight between the White House and Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski over tapes and documents covering 64 presidential conversations.

Editorial High Court Ducks Issue

Whether the problem it attacks is in education, employment, accommodations or voting, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 is a clear and comprehensive document. It forbids discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion or national origin if such segregation is supported by law or official action.

The act was a milestone in American history, the first comprehensive civil rights law in the United States since the Reconstruction legislation after the Civil War. Supporting that legislation a decade ago then President Lyndon Johnson said that its goal was "the development of a society in which the color of a man's skin is as irrelevant as the color of his eyes."

It is becoming apparent that one such problem again is looming, a problem that may well be a watershed in the evolution of civil rights. The issue, put bluntly, is whether the law permits discrimination against the majority until the minorities catch up. The principal tool for such practices is "reverse discrimination," it is the quota system which established fixed percentages for hiring or for matriculating in colleges—weighted heavily in favor of the minorities. One aspect of the practice is the so-called Philadelphia plan which establishes quotas in labor. Another is many of the so-called "affirmative action" plans now prevalent in our society. Reverse discrimination was visible, we believe, in Massachusetts where a contractor on a state project had to guarantee that one-fifth of the manpower expended had to be performed by minorities. Perhaps the most dramatic example, however, was the case of the University of Washington student, Marco De Funis, who initially was denied admission to the law school despite his high qualifications in order to admit less-qualified minority students.

The quota system, by any other name, has stimulated a lively national dialogue—one which reached the Supreme Court when it declined to review either the Massachusetts or the De Funis cases. In short, the majority of the court ducked the issue. However, we believe that the minority opinion of Justice William J. Brennan will be prophetic. "Few constitutional questions in recent history have stirred as much debate," Mr. Brennan said, "and they will not disappear. They must ultimately (return) to this court."

It is not surprising that the Supreme Court, as Justice Brennan says, we believe, because it is there anything that the nation has learned in recent years is that no form of discrimination is benign, regardless of whom it causes to suffer.

Inevitably, the preliminary vote-counting of 100 U.S. senators on a possible impeachment vote has begun with respect to President Nixon. It does not bode well for him.

Hey Girls, Is Sister At Home?

By DON OAKLEY
The Herald Services
When Sally Forth, today's liberated Ms., ventures out to make her way in the jungle of male-dominated business or career world, it's forgotten that someone has to come into the home to clean the house, watch the kids, do the laundry or maybe cook.

The fact is that today's liberated woman often depends upon another group of women—the domestic or private household employees—to free her of the household's chores. The fact also is pointed out by Doris McLaughlin, an assistant research scientist with the University of Michigan and a private household employee among other things, in an essay protected workers in the labor force.

"More often than not," she says, "professional women deny that household employees benefit themselves by being employed. They just expect protected workers in the labor force."

Although household workers are now covered by the new statutory minimum wage of $3 an hour, less than one-third of them work full time; many work for a different employer every day; they have no paid sick or holiday days; are unemployed when their employer leaves town for any reason, and although legally entitled to them, often are eliminated from social security benefits.

The end result, says Dr. McLaughlin, is that the movement of one group of women up the economic ladder entails the economic exploitation of another group of women.

In fairness to the career women, she suggests that their lack of concern for their sisters is because of their own economic development that they haven't gotten used to thinking of themselves as employers—a role that until quite recently was reserved for men.

Until they do, says Dr. McLaughlin, "they may not even realize that in treating their household help in such a derogatory manner they are depriving other women of the same benefits that they are fighting so hard to obtain for themselves."

The science of holography may make a thing of the past as such episodes as the hammer by an apparently deranged man on Michelangelo's Pieta, or the recent attempt by a man in Tokyo to spray paint on the Mona Lisa, which was on loan from the Louvre.

A group of businessmen are working toward the day when holographic slides or film strips of valuable art objects or rare cultural artifacts will be in every school or public library.

When a holograph is projected using a special projector, the represented object is seen in lifelike three dimensions. One can even "walk around it." If it is an art object, the view presented to the eye is exactly like that of the original in its display case.

All of which somehow brings to mind the story of the ax wielded King Charles I. Sometime in the 18th century, the ax blade was lost and another one substituted. Ten years later, in the 19th century, the handle was broken and a new one was made.

Visitors to the Tower of London were still told that they were looking at the ax that beheaded King Charles I. In other words, even if you've seen an utterly realistic, absolutely identical replica of the Pieta, have you really seen the Pieta?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Cabinet today considers the purchase of 4,760 acres of Volusia County wetlands described as vital to the area's water supply.

The Cabinet also is being asked to approve a contract to restore the top three stories to the new Capitol, which would make it a 21-story structure. The building now under construction had been cut to 18 stories because of escalating prices. The legislature has been asked to provide an additional $5 million, which would make the total cost $30 million.

The General Services Department presented a proposal to increase the contract with Florida Steel Corp. of Jacksonville by $145,000 to provide structural steel for the additional floors.

The Volusia County wetlands were described Monday by Dr. Duden of the Natural Resources Department as a better water area than the Big Cypress and Green Swamps and Fakahatchee Strand.

This is better because it is more confined. It serves an area almost in dire need of water," Duden said.

The Cabinet last month approved the $4.4 million purchase of 24,562 acres of the Fakahatchee Strand in Collier County which is part of the buffer zone around the proposed 560,000-acre Big Cypress freshwater preserve.

The first step in the state's $40 million share in the federal state purchase of the preserve was approved by the Cabinet in March.

The Cabinet gave the go-ahead for 130,000 acres in the swamp. This is expected to cost $15 million to $20 million. The Green Swamp in Central Florida is being considered as an area of critical concern where the state can impose strict development controls.

Alma, Becky Head '74 Hurricane Name List

MIAMI (AP) — Alma has little chance of making the history books as a killer, and it will have to settle for being known as the first storm of the 1974 hurricane season.

Alma leads off a list of 21 female names selected Monday by the National Hurricane Center here. Based on patterns for the past 100 years, there are eight to 10 name storms each season, with two or three hitting land somewhere in the United States.

No major storm has struck the U.S. since 1969 when Hurricane Camille smashed into the Mississippi Gulf Coast with winds of nearly 200 miles an hour and killed more than 300 people.

Agnes of 1973 was not a killer hurricane but fused with a conventional northern storm to produce mass flooding which claimed 117 lives.

After Alma, the other names announced by the hurricane center are Elaine, Fran, Carmen, Dolly, and Wilma.

"We're already keeping our eyes peeled," he said. "It's not impossible to have a name storm in May."

House Panel OK's State Funding City, County Growth Planning

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida cities and counties will be required to formulate comprehensive plans for future growth by the House Appropriations Committee.

The measure, which carries a $50 million price tag, would force every county and municipality in the state to draw up growth plans within five years.

Supporters hail the bill as a landmark act and say it is needed to halt sprawling, unplanned growth.

The funding formula would have the state pick up the tab for 75 per cent of the costs of growth studies with local and county governments paying the balance.

This is probably the major decision that will come out of the Appropriations Committee.

Regents To Consider Relocating A&M Campus

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The chairman of the Board of Regents says a proposal to move Florida A&M University to Tallahassee is being considered.

"Merely jumping more money into A&M will not solve the problem of attracting more students to the school as long as it is located in Tallahassee," said Monday.

The Regents face an order from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to submit an acceptable desegregation plan for the predominantly black school by June 1 or face the loss of more than $70 million in federal funds.

Criser said the existence of Florida State University in Tallahassee severely hindered efforts to attract whites to FAMU.

One possible solution calls for moving FAMU to a large metropolitan area such as Jacksonville or Miami and merging it with an existing state school.

Criser told the Regents that he was calling a special board meeting for May 27 to consider possible solutions.

Howevr, FAMU President Benjamin Perry said the board should upgrade FAMU rather than move it.

Jack Anderson CIA Switched Files On FBI 'gate Probe

WASHINGTON—The Central Intelligence Agency switched files on the FBI, we have now learned, in a deliberate attempt to mislead the G-men who were investigating the Watergate break-in.

The agents had discovered from the grand jury testimony that Mrs. James McCord, wife of the Waterbugger, had burned some of her husband's papers after he was arrested inside the Watergate on June 17, 1972.

According to the testimony, someone named Pennington, who had served with McCord in the CIA, had been present at the burning.

This led a routine FBI request for a CIA file on Pennington, which three CIA officials into a panic. For Lee Pennington, a CIA consultant, not only had been present but had participated in the burning. A faithful CIA man, he had reported the incident to his superiors.

Pennington later testified that he had driven to the McCord home, as a friend of the family not as a CIA informant, after the Watergate arrest. Pennington found Mrs. McCord burning papers and joined in, although he insisted nothing sensitive was fed to the flames.

The last thing the CIA wanted was to be linked to the Watergate incident. So the CIA sent the FBI a file on Cecil Pennington instead of Lee Pennington. By a coincidence, Cecil Pennington once had also been associated with McCord in the CIA.

The FBI quickly recognized that Cecil Pennington had nothing whatsoever to do with Watergate. Still suspicious, the agents asked once more for clarification. But again, say our sources, the CIA dodged.

INVESTIGATION SQUELCHED: Distinguished old Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the Pentagon's foremost Stennis champion, intervened to kill an investigation of Deputy Defense Secretary William Clements.

Sources privy to the incident say Clements privately asked Stennis to intervene.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An elderly man's attempt to substitute for his son on a grand jury resulted in both being declared incompetent.

As Circuit Judge Lamar Wright was about to swear in the new grand jury Monday, Charles H. Starke Jr., 73, raised his hand and told the judge that he had answered his son's jury summons.

Winegart removed Starke from the panel and ordered Sheriff Dale Carson to arrest the son, Charles H. Starke Jr. Both were found guilty of contempt, but were not sentenced to jail.

"Fortunately, you called my perjury to this court's attention prior to the grand jury being sworn," Winegart told the elder Starke. "If you had been sworn as a member, every single thing done by this grand jury would have been subject to question."

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Public Service Commission has ordered hearings next month to investigate services provided by First Florida Utilities Inc., which operates a sewer system on Merritt Island, water and sewer systems in the Lake Conway and Azalea Park areas of Orange County, and the Meadowbrook water and sewer system in Palm Beach County.

TAMPА, Fla. (AP) — Gary Tillman, 20, has been sentenced to life in prison for first degree murder of an 11-year-old Tampa boy.

Earlier, Tillman's co-defendant was sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Tillman and Johnny Paul Witt, 30, were both charged in the mutilation slaying of Jonathan Kushner, whose body was found in a shallow grave a week after he disappeared last Oct. 28.

Tillman changed his plea to guilty Monday and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Heriberto Ryder.

Hell's Angels' Funeral

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — Two slain Lowell Hell's Angels were to be buried today as members of other motorcycle troupes look on.

George Hartman, 38, and Edwin Riley, 34, were found shot to death last week in a Broward County, Fla., rockpile. Their bodies were brought back to Lowell and Monday night, some 100 persons paid their respects at a local funeral home. The two caskets were draped with red and white banners and bedecked with flowers from Hell's Angels in California and Buffalo, N.Y.

Police said Tuesday they had counted some 60 out-of-town motorcycles but said there had been no incidents overnight. A spokesman said the Angels had requested—and were to receive—a police escort to the cemetery.

Nicaragua Ends Censorship

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the Nicaraguan strongman, lifted censorship of newspapers, radio and television after a strike of hospital employees was settled Monday. The government put military censors into the newsrooms on April 26, at the start of the 42-day-old strike, to censor all mention of the strike, charging that some media were encouraging it. The opposition newspaper La Prensa did not appear several times during the censorship period.

Portugal Is Classic Case Of Communism

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Portugal provides a textbook case of how Communist parties benefit from the suppression of political rights by dictators. In the new provisional government promised by the military leaders that toppled the dictatorship. Of all suppressed parties, the Communists appear to have emerged as the most tightly unified, organized and disciplined.

This is not new. In other countries, moderate elements often were blinded by the sudden light of freedom and had to grope, while the Communists had long prepared for the emergence from underground.

Cuba, for example, suffered a heavy-handed dictatorship that permitted the Communists to make common cause with elements of the center and moderate left. When the dictatorship's police power disappeared, the Communist party was organized and ready to operate.

When the Nazi Occupation suppressed political parties in France during World War II, the Communists' tight organizational unity helped them stake a claim to being the chief anti-Nazi force and gave them a leg on postwar political influence.

Today the party is assumed a role in the government. In Francis Mitterrand, the Socialist presidential candidate it is backing, wins the runoff election May 19.

Warlike Italy similarly had many underground opponents of the Mussolini dictatorship, but the Communists' discipline permitted them to emerge from the war among the strongest of parties.

The Portuguese Communist party is 53 years old, and all that time it has been unswervingly faithful to the Bolshevik model. When Portugal became a tightly ruled dictatorship, the party went underground and has existed that way for 48 years.

However, the more oppressive a dictatorship, the more the Communists hope to persuade moderates and leftists to make common cause with them. By 1969 the Portuguese party already had achieved something akin to a united front with the Socialists and even some Catholic organizations. The technique is classic.

Spain's Communist party, numbering only about 7,000 hard-core members, also has been working to achieve a united front while it labors underground for influence among youth, trade union and other social groups. It has been encouraged lately by a wave of unrest that followed the assassination of the prime minister last December by Basque terrorists.

Butane Blast Spews Fire On Women

DUBOIS, Wyo. (AP) — "The flame just came out whoof — and then it was gone," said a young cowboy.

He said he witnessed a butane gas tank explosion that left eight women and girls critically burned at a branding operation this weekend.

Six of the victims were flown to the Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio, Tex., and two others to the Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City. Another woman was in serious condition and authorities said more men and women were also injured.

British Airways Strike

LONDON (AP) — A strike by stewards and stewardesses of British Airways cancelled 20 of the line's foreign flights today, including all service to the United States. A spokesman said the 2,000 passengers were being put on flights of other airlines, and he did not think anyone would be stranded. The strike is expected to ground all British Airways international flights within 48 hours, but the airline's European service is not affected. The stewards and stewardesses are demanding reductions in hours, extra pay for working "unsocial" hours and increased overseas allowances. The airline estimated the strike will cost it $1.68 million a day.

Cyprus Site Of Mideast Talks

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Cyprus today to discuss with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko the prospects for a disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces battling on the Golan Heights.

Gromyko, who came to Cyprus after a two-day visit to Syria, requested the meeting. The hastily arranged session was viewed as an effort to give the Russians a visible presence in the Middle East diplomatic effort—and to forestall Soviet obstruction as Kissinger pursues his shuttle diplomacy between Israel and Syria.

A senior U.S. official told newsmen Kissinger hoped his meeting with Gromyko would "make disengagement along."

Although U.S. officials claimed Kissinger was making progress, they also said there was "a distinct possibility" he would go back to Washington without a disengagement agreement and would return to the Middle East in three or four weeks.

The surprise meeting was announced Monday after a full day of talks between Kissinger and leaders of the Israeli government about Israel's terms for withdrawing from some of the Syrian territory she captured in the last two Arab-Israeli wars.

Gromyko has been meeting with Syrian leaders in Damascus since Sunday.

Sources said Kissinger wanted to ask Gromyko's aid in restraining Syria's armed forces on the Golan front.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey emphasized that the Kissinger-Gromyko meeting did not mean the United States and the Soviet Union were trying to impose a Middle East settlement. He said the meeting had the "full understanding and approval" of the Israeli government.

Israeli Information Minister Shimon Peres said two of Kissinger's aides would meet with Israeli officials while Kissinger was in Cyprus. The secretary was to return to Jerusalem Tuesday night, confer some more with the Israelis and fly to Damascus on Wednesday.

Golfing A - Round

By John Cherwa

Without question Seminole County has been put on the golfing map by a group of high school students at Lyman who first won the Metro Conference title. The district crown and finally emerged as state champions.

It wasn't luck they won by 21 strokes.

Led by Gene Jones, the golf team completed in the state tourney in Ocala the past weekend and came home with it all. Along with Gene was his brother Mike and two seniors Terry Copeland and Steve Powell. Gene is a sophomore and Mike a freshman.

Individually Gene was second with a 74-74-76. Terry took eighth with a 151 and Steve finished at 155. This is quite an accomplishment and these boys' deserve a tremendous amount of credit.

I can't resist the chance to answer the letter to the editor comment by Mrs. R.L. O'Neil.

I guess I offended some people, namely Mrs. O'Neil, with my observations on the Dinah Shore-Colgate Winners Circle Golf Championship. As a matter of fact I went back and re-read my comments looking for all the terrible accusations this dear lady said I made.

Since I couldn't find anything wrong with what I said let me reestablish my point. All I'm trying to say is that when the quality of women's golf becomes that of men's golf then their pay should be equal.

In golf, unlike tennis, you are playing against the course. Theoretically you are not playing against anybody; it's just you and the course.

Down to the fine print she said that, to paraphrase Mrs. O'Neil, women never said they were as good as men. Well, it seems to me that everyone from Walter Cronkite on down the line has commented on the ERA and women's lib.

Since you don't get the press releases that come in the sports business gets let me say that one of the purposes of the O.D.S. WOGG was to bring to the attention of the people that women play golf and deserve big salaries.

All I said was "equal work deserves equal pay."

At Valley Forge the foursome of Laurie Clark, Jane Montgomery, Betty Lynn, and Elaine Bodine had an unexpected visitor on the fifth hole. It seems a "streaker," streaked—as a matter of fact the unknown "phantom" streaked around someone upsetting most, but not all, of the ladies on ladies day.

For all the mathematicians, break out your slide rule and try to figure the probability of getting two holes in one in two weeks.

Once you know the answer relate it to Chris Hansen who did just that. Two weeks ago he aced a hole at Winter Springs and this last week he aced another hole, the 145-yard long 14th hole at Sheesh with a seven iron.

For the record book, in 1964 Norman Manley aced two par four holes in a row. We'll give Manley the world record but Chris certainly has the city of Winter Springs record.

At Rolling Hills Chris Hughes scored an eagle on the 18th hole using a four wood and three wood. Bill Bower had the only other eagle of the week when using a driver and putter he eagled the fourth hole.

From the best ever scores come the following: Rudy Radigan 43-55, Ron Russell 35-37-72, Peg Gordon 41-46-87, Naola Carey 49-46-56, Bill Martin 42-41-83, Walt Bliss 39-45-54, Chris Hughes 46-44-80, Bob Howells 40-40-80, and Dottie Rucker 44-44-89.

In a points tournament for the women Cary Strong won the championship flight with Barbara Priving taking second.

In the A. Gloria Williamson came away on top with Dottie Tucker in second. From B flight Trudy Edmunds was the winner followed by Myrle McClung, and finally in C flight Mary Ann Davis was the winner with Cookie Claus taking second.

From The Mailbag

Editor, The Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sir:

The following information is to correct the misinformation presented by Martin P. Bacon Sr. in his May 9 letter to the editor.

Seminole Baseball Inc., operates a chartered boys baseball program, and has nothing to do with Little League baseball as quoted by Mr. Bacon.

This program is entirely self supporting and all field maintenance, coaching, umpiring, scorekeeping and even our concession stand is operated by volunteer help from the parents of boys involved in Seminole baseball.

This incident just related is not based on hearsay. I was present and witnessed all of it. This incident had a direct bearing on young Martin's eventual dismissal from the team. After all, why should a volunteer coach have to put up with that kind of hassle from a child and his parents.

Mr. Bacon also contends his grandson missed only one practice and then only because he was sick. Mrs. Edwards maintains Martin missed three practices and walked off the field during a fourth, and never gave her any reason for leaving.

Our league rules require boys to attend practice and to provide the coach with a reasonable excuse when they fail to do so.

Seminole Baseball also limits all teams to 15 players. The Lake Mary Pee Wee had 16 players practicing at the time. When I handed the league officer a 16 player roster he informed me one boy would have to be cut from the team.

Considering all that had happened it came as no surprise when Mrs. Edwards picked Martin Bacon as the player to be cut. She also picked me as the one to tell the Bacon family.

When I went to the Bacon residence Mr. Bacon handed me the uniform and I promptly dismissed me before I had a chance to explain anything.

While it can be easily understood why Mr. Bacon is so upset over his son's dismissal from the team, in fairness to Seminole Baseball and the involved parents who make our program possible, I would like to point out that Mr. Bacon's letter is more emotion than fact.

Prekness Split If Too Big

BALTIMORE (AP) — Should the $50,000-added Prekness Stakes unexpectedly attract an oversized field next week, General Manager Chick Lang of Pimlico promises a simple solution.

"The easiest and fairest thing to do," Lang said today, "is simply to split the field and run two divisions. That's a lot better than the 'Rube Goldberg' way of doing things at the Kentucky Derby."

Lang referred to a ruling by the Kentucky Racing Commission last week, three days before the Derby, forbidding a split field and limiting the number of starters to 24.

"What if they eliminated a horse that came back to win the Prekness or the Belmont?"

Lang said he would like to see the Stakes expanded to 28 runners. "That is not so," he said, "because that would mean the field would be 28 instead of 24. That would mean the field would be 28 instead of 24. That would mean the field would be 28 instead of 24."

Yankee, Indians' Trade Shows Its Worth

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The best baseball trade is supposed to be one that helps both clubs. For the time being, then, the recent seven-player swap between the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees is a good one.

Fritz Peterson, who went from New York to Cleveland, yielded eight hits but only three runs in six innings and notched his second victory since the April 26 deal as the Indians whipped the California Angels 5-3 Monday night.

Dick Tidrow, who came from Cleveland to New York, made his first start for the Yankees and scattered nine hits in eight innings, picking up a 4-4 triumph over the Texas Rangers.

The results weren't too surprising. Tidrow always beats Texas—he's a 4-4 lifetime against the Rangers—and Peterson almost always (16-6) beats the Angels.

Elsewhere on an abbreviated major league schedule, the San Diego Padres edged the Philadelphia Phillies 7-4 in the only National League contest for unbeaten rookie Dave Freiseleben's third victory, the Baltimore Orioles downed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0, and the Detroit Tigers nipped the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Two National League games were rained out—Los Angeles at Montreal and San Francisco at New York.

Peterson batted Texas back until the fifth when Dave Chalk doubled, Bobby Valentine singled and Frank Robinson homered. He gave way to Milt Wilcox at the start of the seventh.

"Technically, I think the Indians have a better team than the Yankees put on the field. I think the trade helped make this team," he said.

The Indians are 7-2 since the deal, with Peterson winning twice, Steve Kline once and Fred Beene and Tom Buskey each notching a save.

The Yankees won when Jim Pregelio, who batted Texas back on an early four-run deficit with an RBI single and a three-

Milwaukee To Go With Same Lineup

Down the line runs a Sanford Atlantic little leaguer in Sanford against the Petroleum opponent. The try was good for a base hit, but it didn't help all that much as the Petroleum people took a 5-3 win with two runs in the fifth inning.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Bucks' Coach Larry Costello has tipped his hand, but the pressure will be on the Boston Celtics tonight to react. Costello said Monday he will challenge the Celtics with the same three-forward alignment the Bucks had used to win 97-89 Sunday, equaring their 3-1 B.A.S.E.T. basketball championship series at 2-2.

By starting 6-foot-7 reserve forward Mickey Davis at guard in place of Ron Williams, the Bucks created a size mismatch against Celtic guards Jo-Jo White and Don Cheney. With Davis working the 6-3 White inside for easy shots that produced 15 points, the Bucks harassed the press Boston had worn in earlier games to wear down 35-year-old Oscar Robertson.

Sunday's victory organized the home court advantage for the Bucks. Winner of tonight's nationally televised game (9:30 p.m. EDT) can clinch the best-of-seven series by winning at Boston Friday night. A seventh game, if needed, will be here Sunday.

Davis repeatedly took White to the baseline Sunday and scored eight points in the first quarter. Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn later used Cheney, Paul Westphal or forward John Havlicek on Davis, but the shifts took pressure off Robertson and Buck forward Bob Dandridge.

Robertson, asked to advance the ball more quickly to the Bucks' frontcourt, helped set up 7-3 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar for 34 points and Dandridge for 21.

"If it switch Havlicek from forward to guard, they have to come up with somebody on Dandridge," Costello said. "In that situation, we can play Mickey and not get hurt."

Pop-Ups Put Pinehurst In Dutch

Sanford city commissioners agreed Monday that pop fouts from home plate at Pinehurst Park on W. 24th Street near danger near residents, and took emergency action to start looking for a new baseball diamond site.

Dayton Hudson Jr., of 2309 Lisa Court West, in the 20 West Subdivision, produced 22 baseballs that have landed in his back yard in the last two weeks and renewed a two-year-old request for screening to protect his back yard.

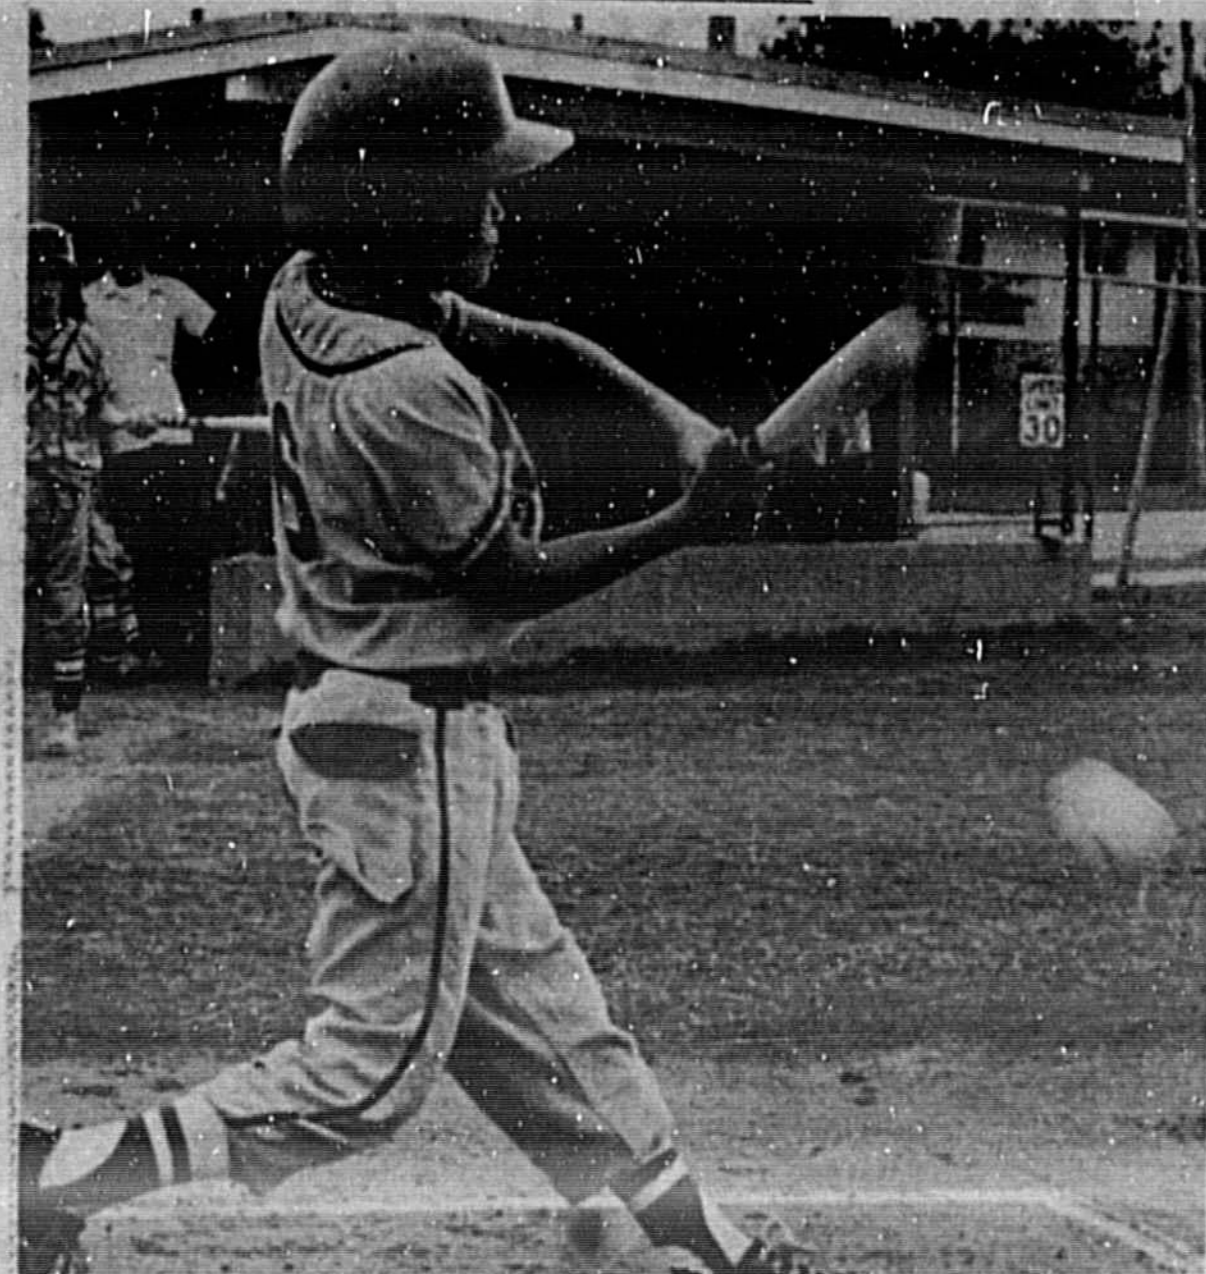

Hudson said his family is deprived of use of the rear yard

City commissioners voted to install a 600-foot-long, 30-foot-high screen as soon as possible that hopefully will protect the homes from line drive-type fouts, but noted the $154 temporary effort won't stop them in 120 days.

"I hit my boat with enough impact that paint from the boat was left on the ball," Hudson said, displaying the baseball. He said the ball had hit his son "then I'm afraid the imprint would have been of blood instead of paint."

Hudson, a state fish and game commission employee, said other children in the neighborhood are endangered in their yards and the street by the foul balls.

Commissioners told Knowles to investigate possibilities of using Memorial Stadium, leased by the city to the school board, for night baseball games. He was also instructed to make cost analysis on building a new lighted baseball park on city-owned Celery Avenue property and at Sanford Airport.

At B & E Furniture Go On A Treasure Hunt

If you're looking for that unusual item of furniture to furnish your home, or if you just like to browse around looking for an "unclaimed treasure" then B & E Furniture, 232 S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry is the place for you.

Overlooking the premises are thousands of items including new and used furniture, glassware, dishes, jewelry, cut glass, antiques, paintings, and gold, silver, brass, copper and bronze decorator pieces — you name it, it's probably there.

The "B" of B & E Furniture is Betty Smith from Maryland, and the "E" is Ethel Bart from Pennsylvania. Both are licensed appraisers, and have operated shops in the Mallard Flea Market before combining their businesses and talents in January of 1973. They stock their store by buying out estates, attending auctions, and take two or three buying trips every year around the North East United States. All unknown items are thoroughly researched for authenticity, identify and price.

While some of the furniture at B & E is brand new, most of it is good, clean, used furniture. If you have a light budget, but plenty of good ideas and a stock of sand paper, basic carpentry tools and paint, this is the place to do your furniture and accessory shopping. A little fixing that most amateur homemakers can handle, a touch of paint, and you will have yourself some useful, unique and attractive furnishings.

B & E Furniture is probably best known for the outstanding array of antique glass Betty and Ethel have collected over the years. Both girls are depression era glass enthusiasts.

Whether you are a seasoned glass collector, or have never seen depression glass in your life, a trip to B & E is well worth it.

Browse in the glass shop, examine the colorful depression pieces, and also the beautiful old pressed glass in Royal Oak and Royal Ivy patterns. You are sure to find something to add to your collection or complement your home's decor.

One of the beautiful furnishings on hand is a custom built, glass-front bookcase, perfect for storing and displaying your favorite books away from dust and accidental knocks and bumps.

B & E Furniture also has a charming French Provincial bedroom set with dresser, canopy bed, mirror and night stand. These elegant items are so popular they are hard to come by, and never remain in the store long. So if you are interested, stop by today; tomorrow may be too late.

Also waiting for you at B & E Furniture are such varied items as herb and spice containers, Indian Arrowheads, old and new lamps including two decorator lamps with custom built tables. There are coffee tables, end tables and old chairs, decorator chairs and a Spanish Dining Room suite. Some glass pieces offered for sale are over one hundred years old.

Most of us have been searching for specific articles of furniture or decorator items for years. Why not conduct your treasure hunt at B & E Furniture, where unclaimed treasures await the lucky finder. — Adv.

Even The Bag Is In Short Supply

By DON OAKLEY
The Herald Services

Consumers are getting used to being left holding the bag. The trouble is that now even bags are in short supply. Grocery stores around the country are asking customers to bring their own bags. Some are offering two cents of trading stamps for each one. Not only is there a scarcity of bags, but paper products of all kinds, napkins, tissues, toilet tissue and towels, are frequently conspicuous by their absence from supermarket shelves.

There are all kinds of reasons for the paper shortages, but basically the explanation is a simple one says Food Marketer magazine: demand exceeds supply.

In 1973, the paper industry produced 27 per cent more paper than in 1972. In the 10 years before that, however, production increased 4.6 per cent annually.

There are two reasons for the production slowdown. First, a shortage of natural resources; second, minimal profits in the paper industry which prohibit the expansion required to meet present demands.

Canadian pulpwood producers increased their prices in 1973 and plan two more increases this year. The pulp producers blame the price increases on dwindling forest supplies and labor and transport problems.

Then there's the energy crunch. Several paper mills have been forced to shorten working hours and workdays to conserve natural gas. Some major critics, says Food Marketer, develop into paper shortages.

That's the bad news. Now for the worse news. The paper shortage, far from being just a temporary inconvenience, promises to develop into a major crisis, says Food Marketer.

Through 1975, woodpulp production is expected to increase only 1.5 per cent a year, about a fifth the average annual increase in the previous 10 years.

Lake Forest Pet Supply House Of Good Grooming

Your pets, no less than their human masters, deserve the look and feeling of well being that comes with good grooming. Expert dog grooming, as well as other services and supplies, is available at Lake Forest Pet Supply, Highway 436, Semoran Realty Building, Forest City.

The business is owned and operated by Joanne and Robert Shook and daughter, Kathy, who hail from Michigan. Mr. Shook has worked with animals "all his life," and is an experienced trainer, groomer, and boarding kennel operator. He and Mrs. Shook are assisted by Donna Turrell, who has had four years grooming and training experience through only twenty years old. Donna has a special rapport with animals—she talks to the dogs. No medications are used during grooming, and no muzzles are needed.

Personalized attention is given to each animal. The people at Lake Forest Pet Supply have a deep love for animals which is displayed in the meticulous care taken in grooming your pet, be it a Pekinese or St. Bernard. Each pet is kept separate in an immaculate cage with water available while awaiting his appointment.

The bath tub used for washing the dog will accommodate even the largest comforters. They are bathed with medicated, but pleasant smelling shampoo, which leaves the dog with a clean and shining coat. Special driers are optional, but most pet owners find these beneficial in combating fleas and ticks.

The dogs are carefully examined for signs of infection, causing ear mites. Any indication of infection, disease or injury is reported to the owner so that necessary treatment can be obtained.

The grooming table has a non-skid surface to prevent accidents. A comfortable neck yoke keeps your dog standing in the proper position, and allows the groomer to have both hands free to work on your pet. The blow dryer is designed to dry your pet thoroughly, swiftly and safely, delivering air at just the right temperature and velocity. Combining is done painstakingly, with each dog receiving as much time as is possible.

Paw pads are carefully cleaned, and excess paw hair is clipped to prevent picking up thorns, sandspurs, etc. Bows are applied to the ears or hocks if suitable for your particular breed, and color coordinated toe polish may be applied.

In addition to grooming, Lake Forest Pet Supply sells a full line of cat litter boxes. Here's something cat owners have been looking for! A special cat litter box engineered so the cat can't scratch litter outside the box. You'll also find a full line of carrying cases for transporting pets, and a pet register for those who want to buy and sell pets.

Oil Companies Are Big Money Makers

NEW YORK (AP) — The oil companies haven't always been the great money makers they are today, but they've never been paupers either.

In 1972, a year most analysts agreed was a poor one for the industry, nine oil companies ranked among the 25 most profitable industrial corporations in the land, based on the total number of dollars earned.

Even by the yardstick most commonly used, return on stockholders' investment, the oil companies show only a slight depression from industry as a whole, when the high 1973 profits are included.

In recent months, as the companies' profits have soared over levels set the previous year, oil executives have urged that their earnings be placed in perspective.

"The profits are being compared to a poor quarter of a year," says the typical oil executive today, who finds his firm coming under increased criticism from the public and Congress. "Our return on investment is still inadequate for the exploration and development of energy the nation so desperately needs."

Security analysts generally agree that the oil industry is emerging with a bang from a period of poorer profitability several years ago. They say that performance then was caused by fuel surpluses, increased competition from the independents and a reduction in the federal depletion allowance from 27 percent to 25 percent in 1969.

Because 1972 was a down year for the industry as a whole, earnings gains in 1973 were somewhat deceptive, analysts say. They say that profits began to improve in the first part of 1973, so percentage figures this year should be much more meaningful.

Likewise 1973 was the industry's worst year in the past 10 in terms of return on investment. This rate, a comparison of net income to shareholders' total investment, is considered important because it indicates an industry's ability to attract money needed to expand and grow.

In 1972, according to figures compiled by the Federal Trade

Commission, the oil industry's return on investment fell to 8.7 per cent, compared with a 10.8 per cent rate for all industry.

Returns for the 12 largest oil companies in 1973 were 10.7 per cent, the FTC says, as against a 15.9 per cent for the auto and a 5.4 per cent return for the steel industry.

If an entire 10-year period through 1973 is examined, FTC figures show the oil companies' return on investment at a median 11.38 per cent, compared with 11.38 per cent for all manufacturing.

Analysts and economists say a major task in assessing the overall profitability of the oil companies is knowing what measure to use. Percentage gains over previous years, returns on investment, profit as a percentage of sales, earnings per share and just plain stock prices are a few of the many indicators employed.

New York's First National City Bank keeps return on sales figures for various industrial groupings — and these are much more favorable to oil.

For the last 10 years, the oil industry's profit margin or income as a percentage of sales has a median of 8.3 cents to the dollar, Citibank says. This compares with all industry's 5.5 cents on the dollar.

"The profit margin shows the best of the industry covers its costs," says Robert Lewis, Citibank's vice president who compiles the figures.

In a recent newsletter entitled "The Profit Situation," John Winger, an energy specialist for New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, utilizes yet another figure to measure profits.

Winger says that for the past five years, including 1973, earnings of 24 domestically based oil companies and four foreign ones "achieved an annual growth in earnings of 12 per cent." For the past 10 years, the average increase fell far short of the growth required to provide the capital funds needed to keep pace with expansion of petroleum demand, the specialist says.

Within the United States, the longer term growth of profits has been even less favorable, Winger says. "Although the country's earnings in 1973 were 19.1 per cent higher than in the year before, they were only 11.3 per cent higher than five years earlier. And the average annual growth rate for the past five years has been only 2.2 per cent.

"Clearly the United States cannot possibly achieve the higher rate of petroleum self-sufficiency it so urgently needs if profits continue to grow at such slow rates," Winger says. Only if the industry maintains the 15.8 per cent rate of return attained in 1973, will it be able to generate the required capital funds, he says.

And there, it seems, is the rub. The oil industry, some argue, is different than other industries. It is capital intensive and carries heavy risks. It needs more money than other industries to build new refineries and drill new wells, proponents say.

Then there's the question of whether the current high profits will continue. Security analysts and oil men are mixed. Some see a drop off as the unusual circumstances of the past year fade, taxes increase, government policies change and new producers come on line. Others, like Chairman H.L. Haynes of Standard Oil of California, are more hopeful. Haynes hopes to "match or improve" the 15 per cent 1973 rate of return.
